

Ex-Oviedo Teacher Sues School Officials For Sex Discrimination

By MARVIN SREEDAN
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board is being charged in federal court with sex discrimination by former Oviedo High School teacher Carol Edwards.

The suit was filed in United States District Court against School Superintendent William F. Layer, the county school board, and Davis Sims, Allan P. Keith, Mrs. Jean Bryson, Jr., Stuart C. Crippen and Robert G. Foster, individually and as members of the school board.

Mrs. Edwards charges that, on or about Apr. 23, 1976, she was informed by her principal, an agent of the superintendent and the school board, that he would not recommend her for re-employment in the 1976-77 school year.

"The refusal to recommend me was based solely upon the plaintiff's sex and was a continuing violation of contract at the end of her third year of teaching because the school principal 'decided to use the teaching slot to hire a teacher who could also be used for coaching duties.'"

Mrs. Edwards is seeking back pay and damages, as well as reinstatement as a teacher, a continuing contract, according to the suit.

She is also asking that the Court enjoin the defendants from their practices and policies which discriminate against female employees because of their sex."

Mrs. Edwards Wednesday issued a statement claiming that she was not given a continuing teaching contract at the end of her third year of teaching because the school principal "decided to use the teaching slot to hire a teacher who could also be used for coaching duties."

She claimed that the school board later upheld that action, and "admitted that I was an ex-DISCRIMINATION, 2A

As Snow Paralyzes Midwest

Winds Hit County; Rains Deluge Panhandle

High winds Wednesday night whipped through Central Florida causing scattered damage to power lines and resulting in the arrival of a cold front that is expected to bring cold temperatures to the area for the fourth weekend, in a row.

Included in the wind damage were electrical lines which were broken in a metal sign at 3:00 p.m. Wednesday near Sun Bank at SR 68 and Oxford Road, according to a spokesman for the Seminole County Public Safety Department.

Florida Power Company repairmen were called to the scene to repair the lines.

A broken outdoor light bulb and bare wires also were reported at 10:00 p.m. Wednesday at Springwood Village Apartments on SR 64, Longwood. Employees of the complex shut off power leading to the wires, the spokesman said.

Winds at 1:30 this morning blew down power lines at SR 68 and Douglas Avenue, Altamonte Springs, and a transformer also knocked out of commission, according to the department.

Repairmen from Florida Power Company were called to the scene to repair the damage.

Two lines into a power line at 2 a.m. this morning at Marler Street and Longwood Avenue, Longwood, and Florida Power repairmen removed the lines, officials reported.

At least one tornado was sighted in Volusia County, according to officials. No injuries or serious damage were reported.

Tornadoes were reported east of Pensacola and near Ocala, but there were no immediate reports of major damage or injuries. Jacksonville reported a slight gust in 30 miles an hour.

Panhandle measured an official 1/2 inch of rain in 30 hours ending at 7 a.m. EST Wednesday and there were unofficial reports of higher amounts in the Panhandle.

Severely Beale of 887 Briarwood Lane, Altamonte Springs, told sheriff's deputies high winds at 12:30 a.m. today blew off the front section of her roof, causing an estimated $2,000 damage.

John Higgins, customer service supervisor of Sanford, Florida Power and Light Company office, said this morning that six homes in the Sanford area lost power for periods ranging from a few minutes to two hours, beginning around 10:15 Wednesday night.

A fierce blizzard paralyzed traffic and closed schools across the Midwest today, putting the Chicago area with a white coating reminiscent of the Great Blizzard of Jan. 28, 1977.

The National Weather Service reported the strong winds were sending wind chill factors to 60 to 65 below zero across the Midwest — and predicted gusts would reach 70 to 80 mph.

Blizzards were covered or impossible from the Dulles to Kentucky and outside and emergency shelters quickly filled with stranded motorists. South of the snow line, rain and tornadoes blanketed the Southeast.

It was 11 years ago today that a surprisingly potent snowstorm dumped 20 inches of snow in one day on the Chicago area.

Today's blizzard covers far expanded Chicago area road crews.

who labored furiously to clear expressways and main streets.

The storm cut visibility sharply and left hundreds of motorists to agonize their wheels in drifts and ice patches that lined the highways. Dozens of schools and businesses failed to open their doors and some school districts that stayed open were unable to provide bus service to students.

In central Illinois, the meteorological staff of the Charleston Times-Courier put the paper to bed and held an all-night party. It wasn't certain whether any of the motorists would be delivered, with all roads closed in the area.

Southern Illinois roads were gloomed with ice and snow and travel became hazardous, if not impossible. State police said visibility ranged from zero to 10 feet in some areas and a 170-mile stretch of Interstate 57 was closed.

The blizzard dumped 6 inches of snow at Indianapolis, closing Indianapolis International Airport. Airport officials said they didn't expect to reopen the airport until Friday.

SEMINOLE COUNTY'S DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY COMMUNICATIONS

County CD Head Opposes Weather Station Shutdown

By DONNA EYTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser said today he will urge the county commission to protest the announced closing of the Orlando Weather Bureau.

Kaiser said he will recommend to the county commission at its regular meeting on Tuesday that it adopt a resolution, similar to one approved by the Orange County Commission, asking that the Orlando office be kept open.

Wayne Brown, official in charge of the National Weather Service office in Orlando, said today he was notified by telephone last Friday that the Orlando and Ft. Myers offices in Florida as well as 17 other weather service offices throughout the nation will be closed on Sept. 30.

The order was issued, Brown said, in compliance with a federal Office of Management and Budget decision in Washington. The decision is in accordance with a directive from the president which says that all agencies must begin zero based budgeting showing justification and priority for operation of all federal facilities.

Kaiser said although he was assured by a federal official in Puerto Rico that the weather broadcasts received via radio and monitored daily in Seminole County and published locally will continue to be made after the Orlando office is closed.

Kaiser said the official told him the broadcasts would be made from either Daytona Beach, Tampa or the Miami office. "He indicated this arrangement will be done remotely from one of those locations and we would still be able to continue with our daily weather bulletins and advisories," Kaiser said.

He added that assurance has also been received that Seminole can have access to additional weather information through broadcasts.

"Our concern," Kaiser said, is that the information from our locale will be analyzed from one of the remote facilities such as Miami. This creates doubt in our minds as to whether they can accurately analyze our local weather predictions equal to the level of accuracy we could obtain from the local weather station.

"We are in one of the highest severe weather and lightning incident areas in the country. Seminole County alone has sustained a considerable amount of damage from lightning to our communications equipment which is highly susceptible to that sort of thing. Just last year, damage from the lightning hit alone exceeded $15,000 in addition to damage from severe weather," he said.

"We have the need to know and anything that affects the ability to accurately determine what the weather conditions are or would interrupt the speed with which we would be advised of changing weather conditions causes us vital concern in our civil defense function," Kaiser said.

Outside Attorney Will Settle Winter Springs Dispute

By DONNA EYTES
Herald Staff Writer

A compromise offered by Mayor Troy Piland Wednesday night stopped a battle between him and the majority of the Winter Springs City Council over whether he must make annual appointments of the city attorney and city clerk.

The council has contended that the appointments must be made annually, while Piland has said that a re-elected mayor can merely continue, without the need of new council confirmation, appointments made in the past.

The question of the mayor's appointments was included on the agenda again at Wednesday night's meeting. But, when councilmen suggested that the mayor be delayed until next week's meeting because the 10 p.m. adjournment time was nearing, Piland offered a compromise.

He said that councilmen could get an opinion from any city attorney on the matter and that he would abide by that opinion.

Several weeks ago, the council in a move to force Piland to bring before the board ratification of Gary Maney as city attorney and Mary Heron as city clerk, voted unanimously to confirm Mrs. Norton's reappointment even though the mayor had not made a new appointment of her.

Piland has said the city charter does not require him to appoint the two officials again since their appointments were made during his past administration.

Piland announced that the Seminole County Bar Association has declined to arbitrate the dispute between him and the council over the appointments.

He said by offering the compromise he was trying to be agreeable, adding there is some confusion in the action of the city charter concerning the appointments.

The council Wednesday also continued until the second meeting in February, the proposed annexation of five lots east of SR 436, including the Seminole Youth Ranch.

During the interim period the city attorney is to discuss with the county commission whether agreement can be reached whereby the county will not sue the city over the annexation.

The delay was brought about when County Attorney Harry Stewart informed the council that if the city annexed the territories, the county would challenge the legality of the annexations in court.

Stewart said the annexations would create an enclave, which he defined as a county area "substantially surrounded by territory of another county."

Maney disagreed, saying an enclave is an area wholly surrounded by city territory, adding that in a recent Broward County court decision a judge there used the words enclave and island interchangeably.

Stewart, acknowledging that the county is keeping close watch on city annexations, said that the county feels it has to continue challenging the annexations or jeopardize its position in court in other annexation suits.

The county is currently suing Lois Mary over two annexations and Camberly over one. In addition it has put Longwood on notice that a suit will be filed against that city.

At the same time, a man in the audience who identified himself as William Hoffman of Longwood, said he had spoken to two county commissioners about his property, considered by Stewart as the enclave which would make the Winter Springs annexations illegal.

Hoffman said two commissioners, whom he did not name, advised him to go to Winter Springs to solve his problems including maintenance of a road which the state had given to the county.

Councilman John Daniels in voting here a delay in action, said the city should not be placed in a position where the county can sue and would prefer to wait until a Supreme Court decision is given defining the word enclave.

Mosquito Warriors Set Date For $ Bid Data

By DONNA REYES
Herald Staff Writer

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Mosquito Task Force Thursday set a goal of two weeks to gather statistics on the economic impact on the area from the blind mosquito problem.

The research is to be conducted by the Agricultural, Research and Education Center of the University of Florida on Colony Avenue.

John Krider and Brad Haddock, co-chairmen of the committee, told the group that they plan to ask Dr. Earl Welden, president of Seminole Community College, to assign students from the school's extension department to assist in gathering statistics for the economic impact statement.

Development Department, grants at the banking meeting at Sanford, Fla., urged the committee to be conservative in estimating dollar amounts of loss because of the insect.

They also emphasized the security of the request for state funding being a joint effort with other counties. They said the economic impact statement should include all available information on the adverse impact to the community from the insect including the erosion of the tax base, automobile accidents which can be attributed to the insect and the loss of tourism money.

They said the report should also show the impact on real estate values, impact on local able services, and description of the economic and negative effects of the problem.

State Aide's Stats Rapped Legislators Fighting Youth Home Closing

By MAX EKKLESTYAN
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Legislative delegation agreed Thursday to oppose any measure closing the local detention center in favor of a larger facility to serve Seminole and Volusia counties.

Alan Eubanks, state legislative program director for Youth Services, explained the rationale for the proposed move. However, he came under fire from members of the delegation and local officials for the use of faulty statistics.

One of the primary reasons for consolidating the two facilities, according to Eubanks, is increasing costs. He noted that for a 30-month period from July, 1976 to December 1977, the local center averaged 118 children in the center. According to center officials the facility was designed to handle 13 youth.

Eubanks said that a 25-bed facility should be built. If the Seminole center is not moved, he added that the cost, per day to pay employees of such a facility would be $1,000.

Combining the Seminole and Volusia centers to create a 75-bed facility would cost $400 per day, according to Eubanks.

"You are coming up with ideal staff patterns, which are not done and in all probability of practice will not be done," said State Rep. Vince Fichtel Jr., R-Leesburg. "That makes these figures fallacious."

Land Of Milk And Vodka?

MOSCOW (UPI) — Life down on the state farm is driving the milk made to drink, a Soviet newspaper reports.

The newspaper Leninistoye Slovo said that milk production has dropped markedly in the Rostovskiy krai province because the milk trucks are broken on the job.

Reported to Ullow said he got word of the sorry state of affairs of the dairy, where milk production was down 2.2 pounds per cow from last year, through an anonymous letter.

"The milk made came to work drunk. Every day, two or three groups of cows are left outside, the heifers the her friends and as a result they don't follow their plan and productivity has decreased," it said.

An older woman told him: "Try vodka to distribute force to the cows, to carry all these heavy milk buckets. Then you will drink not just 100 grams, but the whole bottle of vodka."

Under questioning from State Sen. Larc Wilson, Ind.-Breward County, Eubanks revealed that the local center was built by the county, Sheriff John Polk, in later testimony, said the county had not had a chance to operate the center, "because the day it opened, the state took it away from us."

Polk said that if the center were merged in a new facility to be constructed near DeLand, he would refuse to transport youths to the center. He noted that such transportation is the responsibility of HRK.

MITCHELL: Prison Return Delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The medical furlough granted former Attorney General John Mitchell, now serving one to four years for Watergate covering crimes, is being investigated to learn how much he knew about Korean bribery plans while in office, according to Rep. Lam Pansetta, D-Calif.

Pansetta quoted acting Deputy Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti as saying he believes some Justice Department officials have asked the Korean operation as far back as 1972. He wants to know if Mitchell was informed of it.

They are proceeding with investigations on how much Mitchell knew.

Doctors found other problems and operated at Georgetown University Hospital Tuesday to replace a blood vessel leading from his heart. A plastic tube was inserted in its place during the operation.

Mitchell, initially discharged from prison today, now has until Feb. 28, said a diagnosis of an aortic hip condition.

AMTRAK'S 'FLORIDIAN' IN HAPPIER DAYS
Frozen 'Floridian' Moored In Indiana Town

By MARVIN SHEDDAN
Herald Staff Writer

If you're planning a railroad trip farther north than Nashville, Tenn. — don't get stuck home until the weather changes.

That is the advice being handed out by Amtrak officials today, who said they are temporarily terminating the northbound Floridian in Nashville.

Amtrak Manager John Jacobson said today, "For people who want to go farther north — there is no way, not by Amtrak, by plane, by helicopter or by automobile. Almost nothing up north is moving right now," Jacobson said. "The southbound Floridian became stuck Thursday night in Bainbridge, Ind. Jacobson said, "and in some places the drifts were higher than the train."

Satellite Crash Site

Radioactive Spot 'Lost'

OTTAWA (UPI) — The defense department today said it has lost contact with a highly radioactive spot in northern Canada believed to mark the landing site of at least part of a nuclear-powered Soviet satellite that fell from orbit.

Twenty-five men, including six U.S. radiation specialists and the 11-member Nuclear Accident Support Team, were hurried Thursday to Baker Lake, the nearest settlement to the site. McDonald said it would be unlikely an actual visit to the site would be attempted before Saturday.

McDonald said no one would operate on the danger, but he noted radiation "could be dangerous even at low levels." The danger from radiation increases with the time of exposure and McDonald said low contamination might allow men to protective clothing enough time to place any radioactive material in containers.

Diabetes: More Than One Cause

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am generally involved with a man who has diabetes. He has been diabetic at 25. Is insulin inevitable? Can the diabetes be cured? What are the chances of having diabetic children?

DEAR READER — You didn't say how old your husband is now. I presume he is relatively young. The effects of diabetes have a lot to do with how severe it is. We think there may be more than one cause, or at least more than one factor in causing diabetes.

That means you can't always be sure about the inherited characteristic. Let's say your friend's husband has diabetes and his pancreas was involved. The end result could be diabetes from a simple virus infection that you have a trait for diabetes and have another disease it may precipitate the diabetes. And you yourself that is weak and will not cause you to have diabetes, but it could contribute to the chances of any offspring having diabetes. Genetic counseling is the best way to resolve these problems.

The complications of diabetes, including impotence, eye problems and even changes in the nerves in the feet, may be affected by how well the blood glucose level is controlled. Unfortunately, standard insulin therapy does not provide the normal insulin production by your own body cells. However, there are new developments in the ways you may change the way the pancreas produces insulin. The most careful management of insulin and medication if exercise plus medication is the best bet to accomplish something additional for your family that he or she was unable to bring. The right words can inspire. The right words can inspire. The right words can inspire.

WIN AT BRIDGE

This line would cost him the trick if diamonds were 3-3 and East held the queen. It would give him the same nine tricks as the finesse would have if East held four to the queen or three small, but it gives him that all important trick when West turned up with the doubleton queen.

ANOTHER EXERCISE

Pass

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Beaton

South counts to eight easy winners. There are several ways to get a ninth trick, but the best line must be to start on diamonds.

The ordinary player will lead a diamond to the ace and a second diamond back to his jack. West will win with the queen and continue hearts. Eventually, South will wind up with eight easy winners and a chance to continue the rubber.

The expert will go with diamonds also, but he will try a different approach. He will cash the king and ace of diamonds. The queen will drop and he will have his ninth trick.
