Ford To Visit Mississippi

In Search For Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford, continuing to pick up delegate support as he nears the magic 1,130 mark, is traveling to Mississippi to make a personal pitch to the state's GOP convention delegation, an uncommitted group large enough to clinch the Republican nomination

The President was flying to Jackson, Miss., today for five hours of campaigning. Challenger Ronald Reagan plans a similiar trip next week.

Ford gained seven delegates Thursday - four from Pennsylvania and three from Louisiana - to bring his total in The Associated Press convention preference tally to 1,104. The survey shows Reagan remained with 1,023 delegates, and 132 delegates still are uncommitted. If Ford wins Mississippi's 30-vote delegation, he would have four more votes than the 1,130 needed for the nomination when the roll is called at the national convention in Kansas City on August 18.

Big Three Report Profits

DETROIT (AP) - Auto industry profits rose to a record $1.5 billion in the second quarter, as the Big Three car makers parlayed a robust market recovery into recordshattering financial performances.

Ford Motor Co. on Thursday reported that its net profits in the April-June period hit an alltime high of $442 million, more than four times its depressed earnings of a year ago. General Motors and Chrysler reported new profit marks earlier in the week. The industry's return to prosperity following a two-year slump provoked demands by the United Auto Workers for a fair share of the profits "which are bulging the companies' pockets."

Hoffa Missing For One Year

DETROIT (AP) - In the year since former Teamsters President James R. Hoffa vanished, the federal government has put the kind of effort into looking for him that it once put into sending him to jail.

The ambitious union boss, 62 at the time, dropped from sight a year ago today. Federal investigators have concluded he was slain, and that the motive had something to do with his desire to return to the presidency of the nation's largest and richest union.

More than half a dozen reputed Mafia figures and dozens of Teamsters have appeared before a federal grand jury that has heard perhaps 100 witnesses in all.

Howe To Be Arraigned

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Rep. Allan Howe, convicted of trying to buy sex from two police decoy prostitutes, is being arraigned anew by a higher court, a step toward an appeal trial before a new jury. A press aide, Michael Whitney, said the Utah Democrat would be arraigned today in absentia. Howe will remain in Washington while an attorney enters a plea for him here. No date for the new trial has been set.

Howe's misdemeanor conviction was in city court. Utah law says such convictions can be appealed in state District Court, where the defendant can get a new trial. In effect, the whole process of pleading to a formal charge and trying the case starts from scratch.

Carter Like Ford On Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) - His early statements on defense show that Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter generally parallels broad Ford administration

Carter even has adopted Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld's term "rough equivalence" to describe the U.S.-Soviet military balance. Talking with newsmen in Plains, Ga., Carter said earlier this week that the United States is not in second place. That is what the Ford administration has been saving.

Harris Jury Gets Case Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) - With codefendant Patricia Hearst absent but not forgotten, William and Emily Harris have asked jurors to forget their terrorist ties while judging them on charges of kidnaping, assault and robbery

The seven-woman, five-man panel was to receive the case today. "You cannot convict us because of our politics," Harris told jurors in closing arguments Thursday.

Myers, a shift supervisor at Seminole County Jail at Sanford, was arrested by Orlando police on April 9 on West Church Street. Police arrested 14 other persons that night in a crackdown on prostitution in the downtown Orlando area.

Seminole Sheriff John E. Polk said earlier that his department had completed an internal investigation in the case and that Myers' suspension was effective pending outcome of the Orlando trial.

Polk said Myers has the right to appeal his suspension to the Sheriff's Department Civil Service Board.

Polk said today he hadn't received official notification of the outcome of Myers' trial.

with the program during the month of intensive immunizations. Persons with many skills will be needed, he said including record takers, crowd controllers, RNs and LPNs, telephone checkers. Anyone can who can volunteer a day, week or month. Daehn said, should call the health department at 323-8940 and leave their name, address and telephone number. Inoculation stations have not been finalized but in all probability, Daehn said, will include most of the public schools, area civic centers and health centers. According to scientists, the hypersensitivity testing done by Dr. Morris means that if a person gets a flu shot and then is later exposed to the flu, he will come down with an even more severe case than he would have gotten had he not taken the flu shot at all. This could mean that insurance companies could be faced with millions of dollars in claims for years to come. According to Associated Press, executives of the drug and insurance industries are meeting with government officials in what most agreed was a last-ditch attempt to rescue the swine-flu vaccination program. Insurance executives were to report today on the results of their two-day effort to sell about 350 insurance carriers and subcarriers on the idea of writing millions of dollars worth of liability protection policies for the four drug companies manufacturing swine-flu vaccine. David Mathews, secretary of health, education and welfare, sent a telegram to 24 key insurance officials underscoring what he called "the importance and urgency of this request. "It is essential, if the flu immunization program is to be undertaken at all, not only that insurance be available for the manufacturers but that this fact be definitely known at the earliest possible date." Merrell-National Laboratories, the company which has produced the largest number of vaccine dobes, says it will shut down production lines immediately if there is no assurance that it will have insurance to cover lawsuits arising from the immunization program.

Federal officials have been urging the insurance industry to write liability policies for the vaccination program. Dr. Delano Meriwether, director of the HEW vaccination program, said that to the best of his knowledge only $5 million in insurance had been pledged by late Thursday.

O'Neill Says Reprimand Will Be Election Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) - The reprimand of Rep. Robert L.F. Sikes by the House is certain to be raised when he runs for reelection to his chairmanship of a House subcommittee, says House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass.

"There's no question it'll be an issue when he (Sikes) comes up for re-election" to his chairmanship of the House military construction appropriations subcommittee, O'Neill said Thursday while speaking in Atlanta to the Association of Trial Lawyers of America. Sikes called the reprimand given him Thursday for financial misconduct "one step short of exoneration." The House voted 381 to 3 to reprimand Sikes - the mildest punishment it could give him and one that carries no penalty.

Amendment Due Vote

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Gov. Reubin Askew says the first sentence of his proposed Sunshine Amendment to the Florida Constitution says it all: "A public office is a public trust."

He announced Thursday that the proposed ethics and financial disclosure amendment will be on the Nov. 2 ballot, the first time in the state's history that the people have put a constitutional issue on the ballot by signing petitions.

"Above all, this is a victory for the people," Askew said. "For the first time in the history of Florida, the people, by their initiative, have spoken directly and sucessfully on an issue of public concern."

Counselors Useful

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Elementary school pupils who received counseling showed significant improvement in grades and attitudes, a three-year study

"This study shows that the value of a counselor to an elementary school far outweighs the cost," Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington said after releasing the study Thursday.

The study by IBEX, Inc., a non-profit research corporation, said that counseled children "tended to make average grades, but when their grades were compared to the previous school year, there was a significant improvement."

Blue Cross Rates May Rise

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Insurance Commissioner Phil Ashler says he will scrutinize a request by the state's largest insurance company to hike rates an average 25 per cent for 280,000 Floridians.

The requested increase was filed by Blue Cross-Blue Shield, which has two million Florida customers, and comes after a $32-million hike granted the company Jan.

Both hikes would affect the same policy-holders, groups of less than 25 persons and those under 65 who have individual policies with the company.

Lies Claimed In Loudd Trial

ORLANDO (AP) - The state's chief witness in last year's narcotics trial of former Orlando pro football executive Rommie Loudd was pressured by prosecutors to lie, Loudd's attorney charges. Ellis Rubin of Miami said the state attorney's office and sheriff's officials cooperated in getting Alfonso Cain to testify falsely against Loudd, serving a 14-year prison sentence for delivery of cocaine to an undercover officer. Asst. State Atty. Donald Lykkebak, trial prosecutor, called Rubin's allegations "absurd."

Realistic Approach Needed On S.S.

The Senate's Special Committee on Aging headed by Sen. Frank Church of Idaho has proposed that Social Security benefits be increased twice a year instead of once a year to cover increases in the cost of living. This, of course, would give the senior citizen some added protection against inflation, and there is no question that inflation remains the greatest threat to the economic security of anyone on a retirement in-

We only wish that giving retired people more protection against inflation were as simple as the Church Committee makes it sound.

As it is, Sen. Church and his group are proposing that a Social Security program already on the brink of insolvency move over the edge a little sooner. That would be the consequence if Congress adopted its proposal without treating the underlying financial problems which now beset the Social Security system.

President Ford pointed out in his annual economic message to Congress six months ago that Social Security expenditures are exceeding income at a rate that will deplete the system's trust fund by the early 1980s unless there is a major reform in the method of financing and of calculating benefits. He proposed a stop-gap increase in the payroll tax to cover the deficit - an increase which Congress so far has refused to act upon.

Some members of Congress want to start paying Social Security benefits out of the government's general funds - which means adding another item to the federal deficit. Since that would add to inflationary pressures in the economy, this poses the ironic possibility that the government would try to help senior citizens cope with inflation by creating more inflation.

The Church Committee chose not to concern itself either with the Social Security funding crisis or the causes of inflation. It also failed to make a case that annual cost-of-living adjustments in Social Security benefits are inadequate. The fact is that average monthly benefits have increased by 26 per cent in the last five years - in real terms, after a allowing for inflation.

No one would argue that retired people relying entirely on Social Security are on easy street. But their struggle with the rising cost of living is only one side of the coin. Congress has responded promptly to appeals from senior citizens for Social Security increases. The future of the system is now threatened because it has responded too late or not at all to warnings about the impact of those increases on long-term financing needs.

Safety First

From the outset the project to bring Alaskan crude oil from Prudhow Bay to Valdez for trans-shipment to the United States has been plagued by trouble. Lobbying by environmentalists delayed the project of several years, added millions to its costs and reduced the energy flexibility of the United States during a critical period. Later labor scandals plagued the developing project and added an untold treasure to the price of the pipeline, which has nearly doubled to $7.7 billion. Now it develops that an unknown number of the 31,000 pipeline seams may be faulty because the welding was poor and record-keeping so inadequate that x-rays cannot be matched to the welds themselves. Moreover, some 700 of the seams are buried deep in permafrost or under rivers and can be re-tested only by untried technology.

It is a sorry mess and a black eye for both the government and the contractors. If delivery of oil is delayed by a year, the added cost to industry, the state of Alaska and the federal government will be an estimated $4.5 million.

Nevertheless, there is no alternative to spending as much as has to be spent and taking as much time as needed to assure that the pipeline seams are secure - even as responsibility and damages are being assessed. To do otherwise and risk spills would be compounding the he suggests, how could one help but make a wise, decent and penny pinching president? Now it may be Rickover's turn to piggyback. As the hero of the man whom millions suddenly presume will be the next commander in chief, the four-star gadfly of the Navy Department may be due for a rebirth of his own, influentially. And the prospects come just in time. At age 75, with enemies to his port, stern, starboard and aft, Rickover sorely needs a boost; his once full flame is not yet out, but as Shakespeare said in another time, it is flickering low.

Assuredly, there have always been those who would blow out the light in Rickover's Pentagon office. Never a company man, he has been a knot in the Navy's anchor line for nearly half a century. For example he once said that if Columbus had followed the management principles now employed in our sea service, "We'd still be Indians." Carter Strategy Detailed NEW YORK - Jimmy Carter's strategy is clear: To convince labor leaders he would be willing to see a destruction of right-to-work laws and simultaneously to reassure non-union working men and employers he would not work to abolish those laws where they exist. To convince the anti-abortion groups he

To convince liberals he is heart and soul with them by the selection of Walter Mondale, Hubert Humphrey's protege from Minnesota as his vicepresidential running mate and by repeated assertions he sees eye to eye with Mondale on every important issue the two have discussed while reassuring Southerners in particular and conservatives generally with repeated reminders that he grew up in one of the most conservative communities in the South and by insistent references to the importance of private industry, financial conservatism, budget balancing and efficiency.

Peace Agreement Reached

BEIRUT, Lebanon (ap) - Lebanon's civil war raged on today despite an agreement between Syria and the Palestinians on a peace plan.

Damascus Radio announced Thursday night that the Lebanese Christians' Syrian protectors and the Lebanese Moslems' Palestinian allies agreed on procedures for a cease-fire and political negotiations. The Christians' radio indicated they might accept the plan.

The agreement calls for a nationwide cease-fire supervised by a committee of Syrians, Palestinians and Lebanese Moslems, an Arab League peacekeeping force, a roundtable conference of the right-wing Christians and left-wing Moslems to work out a new political system in which they would share power equally, and a national unity government.

Sex At Olympics: Old College Try Often Not Enough

By VICTORIA GRAHAM Associated Press Writer MONTREAL (AP) - A handsome Middle Eastern athlete sauntered past an Olympic Village bus stop and caught the eye of a winsome guide named Mary.

"We go out. We eat. We make love. Yes?" he importuned after the briefest of introductions.

"Don't you want to make love to an athlete "No. My Olympic fire is out."

Throw together 6,000 men and women with a common demoninator - the world's best athletic bodies - and there's bound to be a chemical reaction of Olympian proportion. "The Olympics is the world's greatest meat market," said rower Jim Dietz, 27, from Philadelphia. "We got the best put-together women in the world. They got wheels on them you wouldn't believe."

But he added: "There are no orgies. It's more like good times. There's a lot more talk than action.

"But the Olympic ideal is to try.' Love and sex at Olympic Village is more flirtatious than fevered. There's more good-huinored hustle than tumble. Competition it is, a race of sorts, although the rivalry is not among nations. At Olympic Village, the biggest sport may be boy and girl

MONTREAL (AP) - U.S. Olympic athletes, including high jumper Dwight Stones, triple-jump hopeful James Butts and runner Jan Merrill, compete today as ABC-TV continues its coverage of the Summer Games. Stones, who owns the world indoor and outdoor high jump records, will be in a qualifying round. Butts, from Los Angeles, is among three Americans in the triple jump finals. The others are Tommy Haynes of Murfeesboro, Tenn., and Ryfield Dupree from Lynwood, Calif Miss Merrill, from Waterford, Conn., broke the American record in qualifying Thursday for today's finals in the 1,500-meter run.

ABC-TV will televise 334 hours of the Olympics, from 7:30 to 11 p.m., EDT. There will be a 15-minute wrapup at 11:30 p.m. Exact events to be shown won't be known until shortly before air time because much of the programming is live.

Also in track and field, there will be finals in the men's 5,000-meter run where Finland's Lasse Viren is favored. New Zealander John Walker, world record-holder in the mile, will run in a 1,500-meter semifinal. There also will be finals in field hockey, lightweight judo, men's and women's volleyball, and six finals in canoeing.

How long does a face lift last? Again, this depends on the individual's skin and the care given the skin after surgery. Excessive sun exposure will cause a person to regress to a worse condition than before a face lift at the end of a year.

Twitchings, straining necks, laughing, crying, lack of sleep, skin massages, obesity, etc. will affect a face lift the same as before the correction. A face proper care, should last from five to ten years.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - What may be the largest religious gathering in U.S. history, the 41st something like a 10-ring circus. International Eucharistic Congress, takes place But it's a festival of faith, focused on the bread starting Sunday in Philadelphia, flooding the city with people and pageantry. It's the first such affair in this country in 50 years.

A global Roman Catholic concourse of church leaders and laity, it is expected to draw more than a million people for an eight-day round of liturgies, performances, exhibits, parades and seminars. A "spiritual Olympics," it has been called. With events going on simultaneously at halls and

"IS SOMETHING BOTHERING YOU?" Question: Life seems so empty and meaningless. The older I get (I am 65), the less there is to look forward to. Isn't there something more to life than old age and death?

Answer: Yes! There certainly is. One of the best things about God is that He gives us something to love for. Dag Hammarskjold said it very well, "On the day I first really believed in God, for the first time life made sense to me, and the world had meaning." There's no better time than today to find out who God really is and what life is really all about.

You may not be as physically active as you have been, but you can be very active spiritually. Somewhere I remember reading that childhood is the time for becoming a person, adolescence is the time for learning to like and accept yourself, early adulthood is the time for testing and proving who you are, but the best time is late life, when you find out what it's all about, what life really

I think it takes just as much effort to live well at your age as at any other age. Each stage has its own problems and frustrations. Each stage demands growth and adjustment. And I know adjustment can be painful. It's not easy, but then it's never easy to do anything that's really worthwhile.

before. He has time to take stock, to reevaluate, to change, to grow. He has time to find out who God really is, time to experience the joys of spiritual relationships. This can be exciting, a striking out in new directions. Now he knows more about what is truly important and what is not. He appreciates more of the things

It's good to remember that David said, "The Lord is my strength" (Psalm 28:7). It's good to live every day as if it were the first, the best, the last day of your life. It's good to feel that you're somebody by getting out of yourself. How can you do that? By giving first, planting a seed of understanding first. By smiling first and being happy even when there seems to be nothing to make you happy. By loving somebody. By praying for those you know who need help with their lives. It's good to know you have special tools for helping others. . . the experience and wisdom of

I promise you God will multiply those seeds of love back to you. You will reap the happiness you have sown. And you will know a happiness you have never known before. Growing old can be beautiful. I know, because I've seen it in the lives of older people, the ones with the smiling faces and the giving hearts.

Southern Baptists Pastors Urged To Be World Prophets

GLORIETA, N.M. (AP) - Southern Baptist pastors, many of whom have been against speaking out on social issues, were urged here to be "prophets to a broken and weary world" in the 1976 election campaign. The Rev. A. Douglas Watterson Jr., of Dallas, told a denominational conference that pastors must "find their voices and speak out clearly on human rights, armament, world hunger, unconscionable costs of health care, root causes of crime and corruption." If Christian leaders become vocal on moral implications of these issues, he said "those who are running for public office will hear and be responsive." He said that many pastors have opted out of dealing with the "nasty, old world," as though preaching about how to be saved and get to heaven is their only task, but he added. "The time has come for more than just pious talk." A Southern Baptist, Jimmy Carter, is the Democratic presidential nominee.

"Do not worry or be anxious about tomorrow. . ." (Matthew 6:34 The Amplified Bible) Our humanity seems to have taken over prehension

Most creatures of the field and forest live in a constant state of fear and watchfulness. In the measure that man outgrows this primitive habit of anxiety he reaches the levels of self-control and reedom to which Christianity points the way. There is an attitude of proper forethought which is to be commented. But the apprehension which breeds only worry and weakness is inconsistent with the spirit of confidence which prevades our holy faith. Even though we express that faith we do not demonstrate it n our decisions and acts. Whether it be the stepping out in a building program; or the adoption of a program for promotion and growth in the reaching, teaching ministry; or standing personally for a deep spiritual conviction; or even, the exercise of the courage to become a personal witness by sharing our faith

The Apostle Paul reminds Christians, "Don't worry about anything, but in all your prayers ask God for what you need, always asking him with a thankful heart, and God's peace, which is far beyond human understanding, will keep your hearts and minds safe, in Christ Jesus." (Philippians 4:6, 7 TEV) Paul is saying in nothing be anxious, do not worry.

It behooves us to remember that God has saved us from many dangers of the way. We have trusted him in the past and he has not failed us. Therefore, we should ask him to save us from the troubles that our fears alone make real. We need that faith to rely on his arm of power, and to put out of our souls all fear and misgiving

This approach should save us from most of our anxieties which are for ills that never come. This is the way to calmness and serenity in Jesus, our Lord. First Baptist Church is a great church.

The first campaign stop for Aunt Sissy was Maine, which in January is about as non-Georgian as you can get with several feet of snow and minus-20-degree temperatures. She visited many small, snow-swept towns where citizens told her that no representative of any political candidate had ever stopped before.

The schedule only called for Aunt Sissy to spend one week in Maine, but she "felt I was really doing something for the campaign up there, talking to those people who had never been reached before," so she pressed on through the tiny northern and eastern communities, then swung south through Bangor, Augusta, Lewiston and finally Portland the state's largest city.

She met and was extremely impressed by Maine Democratic Senator Edmund Muskie, and she met with the leaders and membership of local caucuses in each area she visited. A Carter family joke now holds that Aunt Sissy carried Maine.

"Muskie called Jimmy after I'd been up there about three weeks," she said, "and he told Jimmy that I'd done more campaigning in three weeks than he had done in three years. So that's why Jimmy laughingly says that I carried Maine for him." After Maine, Mrs. Dolvin went through 14 other states and a wealth of experiences both interesting and humorous - and sometimes a little

She got used to addressing various types of audiences and to tailoring her remarks to fit their backgrounds and interests. And she got used to dealing with reporters and interviewers on a "one-to-one" basis. But that still left her with some strong misgivings before she faced a group of combined media representatives at her first press breakfast in Mon-

"Fortunately, everythin ended up going just real well,' Mrs. Dolvin said. "Every state I went to I figured, 'Well, I've done it all now.' But even when got to a state, you know, where I thought that, why, there would always be some kind of a new angle on things. Something I

tgomery breakfast, Aunt Sissy landed about midnight at the airport in Mobile, Ala., some 225 miles to the south. Nobody was there to meet her, but she was used to waiting for envoys who had been held up in traffic or had gotten airplane arrival times mixed up.

However, when nearly a hour passed and no one arrived, Aunt Sissy decided to call Carter's campaign headquarters which was operating 24 hours a day in Atlanta. "Sissy!" the woman at the campaign office exclaimed.

"Where are you?" "I'm in Mobile," Mrs. Dolvin replied. "Why, what in the world are you doing there?" the woman asked. "You're supposed to be
