Tragedy Hemorrhage Killed Worker Hit By Stud

By LEE DANCY
Herald Staff Writer

A massive hemorrhage of the heart was what killed a 56-year-old construction worker on the site of the new Central Florida Regional Hospital after he was struck by a three-inch-long steel stud accidentally discharged by a .22 magnum-powered stud gun, the county medical examiner said today.

Estel Brown Naylor, of Ormond Beach was pronounced dead at Seminole Memorial Hospital at 11:30 a.m. Monday. Naylor was struck by the stud in the lower left back at about 11 a.m., according to Herbert Shea Jr., assistant to the Sanford police chief.

According to Dr. G.V. Garay, chief medical examiner for Seminole County, the stud struck Naylor with its pointed end in the lower left back. Once entering his body the stud traveled upward in a tumbling motion, lacerating his spleen, liver, left lung and heart. Severe bleeding from the heart, caused by a perforation of the pericardium, a membrane covering the vital organ, was the actual cause of death, Garay said.

At the time of the accident, Naylor, an employee of the Otis Elevator Corp., was standing in a room on the future hospital's first floor reading blueprints. In a room adjacent to the one where Naylor was, two construction workers were trying to release the safety device on the jammed Ram-Set stud gun.

To release the safety mechanism, Shea said, the gun must be pressed up to a hard surface. The two workers had been using the gun to drive the studs into steel beams for bracketing steam pipes to the beams, he said.

Each stud has a sharp point at the front, where the instrument is approximately one-quarter inch in diameter. The point tapers to a threaded end on the stud, which is used for bracketing purposes, Shea said.

When the workers pressed the stud gun up to the non-load-bearing plaster wall, they thought that only a .22 magnum blank cartridge was in the gun, not a stud. The gun discharged, sending the stud through the hollow wall and two sheets of plaster wallboard, Shea said.

The man who pulled the trigger of the stud gun that fired the steel projectile, accidentally killing Naylor, is Richard Redenbo, 20, or Brandon, a suburb of Tampa. Redenbo works as a pipefitter for Wildcat Systems, of Seffner, Shea said.

No charges have been filed against Redenbo because the incident is being treated by police as an "industrial accident," Shea said.

"When something like this is classified as an industrial accident, we rule out any criminal intent in the matter," he said.

Shea said he was certain insurance companies representing Otis Elevator and Wildcat Systems would investigate the accident thoroughly. Investigators from the federal Office of Safety and Health Administration are also expected to look into the accident.

Naylor had been working for Otis Elevator about one year, but it was his first day on the site at the hospital, said Fanny Naylor, the victim's wife.

Another Delay Due In Hookup Payments

Seminole County builders currently holding 1,075 sewer-line hookup permits probably will be granted another postponement of the County Commission's "use or lose" policy today.

At the commission's Monday afternoon work session, four of the five commissioners tentatively agreed to grant a second extension on a moratorium postponing the required payment of more than $500,000 in sewer hookup permit fees by builders holding them. Commissioner William Kirchhoff was not present at the end of the meeting.

A resolution passed by the commission in October required builders then holding unused permits to either pay the $25 fee on each hookup permit or return them to the county.

The county-owned Consumers Utilities Plant's one million-gallon-a-day capacity is all allocated currently, even though approximately 375,000 gallons of the total one million is not being used, said County Administrator Roger Neiswender.

Arrangements for acquiring another 500,000 gallons of daily sewage capacity are mostly finalized. The South Seminole-North Orange County Wastewater Transmission Authority agreed Dec. 28 to enter into a short-term bond anticipation note agreement to raise $7 million for building the necessary pipelines connecting Seminole County and various municipalities within its borders to the new Iron Bridge Regional Sewage Treatment Plant.

Neiswender said pipelines to supply Seminole County with its extra 500,000-gallon-a-day sewage treatment service from Iron Bridge must be complete within 12 months, according to its construction contracts.

"The county's portion of the pipeline must take no more than 12 months," Neiswender said. "But the contractor told me it should be done within six to seven months."

Home builders in the County originally wanted representation on a proposed committee to oversee future sewage-treatment development. They wanted some decision-making power on the formation of future regulations regarding available sewage-treatment capacity, Neiswender said.

The County Commission essentially rejected the proposal made by the Seminole County Home Builders Association. The builders then opted not to press for their original request for representation on the proposed committee, but said they did want some input on future decisions made, Neiswender said.

"The commission made it pretty clear that the running of utility systems is the board's responsibility," Neiswender said, "and that responsibility should not be delegated to any other authority."

A meeting has been scheduled with a state Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) representative at 1 p.m. Thursday. Various alternatives to prevent the complete lack of available sewage-treatment capacity between now and the time the Iron Bridge transmission lines are completed will be discussed, Neiswender said.

Two alternatives include either advanced permitting from DER for future Iron Bridge capacity or forcing builders to relinquish their permits if a building permit is not requested prior to the time the permits expire. Each sewer hookup permit is granted for one year, Neiswender said. — LEE DANCY

Involving Suspended Officer

Arson Case To Be Heard

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

The case of two women charged with arson of a Sanford police officer's home on Dec. 30, 1980, is slated to be heard in Circuit Court, Sanford, within the next week. The police officer continues to be suspended without pay since last Oct. 14, pending the outcome of further investigation of the incident.

Sharon Lee Meeker, 31, of 806 Park Ave., Sanford, and Patricia Williams, 34, of 176 E. Wilbur Ave., Lake Mary, pleaded not guilty Monday in a court appearance before Judge Robert McGregor. The two women were arrested last Oct. 9 and charged with arson of a home owned by suspended police officer Walter Jones, 46, of 1404 Lake Ave., Sanford. The burned structure, at 839 Jerry St. in the Goldsboro section of Sanford, was valued at $30,000 to $40,000, Jones said.

Attended charges are expected to be filed against the two women following Monday's court appearance, according to Assistant State Attorney Randy Kramer, prosecutor for the case. The exact charges are not known at this time.

No charges have been levied against the 11-year police veteran, but Jones is still suspended without pay pending the probe's outcome, said a Sanford police spokesman.

James Michael Williams, 35, of 2037 Mon Repos St., Orlando, was also arrested in the incident, but no information has been filed by the state attorney's office against him yet.

Williams and Patricia Williams were married at the time of the fire, but were later divorced, said Ray Pippin, Seminole County Fire Department arson investigator.

Chris Ray, chief assistant state attorney, said earlier that once the investigation involving Jones is completed either the officer will be reinstated to the department or the matter will go before a grand jury.

The fire was discovered at Jones' Goldsboro home by a sheriff's deputy on routine patrol early in the morning of Dec. 30, 1980. The Seminole County Fire Department extinguished the blaze.

At the time of the incident, deputies could not find any witnesses to testify as to how the fire started. Early reports also say Jones said he had last been to the residence on Friday, Dec. 26.

Railroad Work Goes On

Airport Blvd. Reopening Today

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Airport Boulevard, closed for the last two days while crews from the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad (SCL) have been replacing tracks at its crossing there, will be reopened to traffic at 7 p.m. today.

A.B. Hall, SCL trainmaster from Palatka, said the work at the crossing will be completed today. However, the SCL crossing on Sanford's 11th Street, west of French Avenue, will be closed Wednesday and possibly Thursday while track replacement is being done there.

Motorists wishing to go to Sanford Airport have been using the Wylie Avenue entrance while Airport Boulevard has been closed, said Sanford Assistant City Manager Steve Harriett today.

Hall said the railroad crossings on Sanford Avenue, Ninth Street and 20th Street already have been improved, and Elm and Myrtle avenues are scheduled to be closed next week while work at the intersections are completed.

The SCL recently replaced conventional trackage between Sanford and Oviedo with "ribbon rail" — continuous welded tracks.

Hall said continuous rail requires less maintenance and the rails last longer.

He said the work on crossings from Sanford to Oviedo should be completed in the next two to three weeks.

Harriett said the replacement of old tracks has greatly improved the intersections. Hall said the tracks at all the crossings between Sanford and Oviedo will be replaced unless work was done on them during the past year.

Resolutions Many Plan To Lose Weight

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

It's 1982 — a new year and a time for setting goals and shaping up. To that end, some well known area residents have made New Year's resolutions.

After indulging in holiday goodies, losing weight has top priority on many of the lists of resolutions.

"I've got to lose 30 pounds for medical as well as physical reasons," said Jim Jernigan, director of the Recreation and Parks Department for the city of Sanford. His diet will be low-starch, low-calorie, salt-free, sugar-free and high-protein. He also plans more sit-ups, golf, and a little handball to get in shape.

Jernigan also resolved to be more effective this year as chairman of the Golden Age Games, which he hopes will be bigger and better than ever, and also predicts "a bright future for the Sanford Recreation Department, with new activities for the public."

Jack Horner, executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, also has vowed to lose weight by cutting down on calories and getting back in shape by utilizing the Heart Park for exercise. He says all those holiday parties and having fruitcakes around the office were his downfall.

Irene Brown, vice president of Flagship Bank of Seminole, said, "I have made up my mind not to stay in bed and make excuses, but to get up and do my exercises every morning."

Longwood City Commissioner June Lormann has already started her exercise program. "I'm going to eat breakfast (my favorite meal), have a light lunch and skip supper," she said.

Mrs. Lormann hopes to start the new year by being elected mayor by her fellow commissioners when they convene next Monday night.

The Rev. Leo King, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Sanford, resolves to "pack into the year all that I can for family, friends and others. People count more than anything else."

Vic Arnett, vice president of First Federal Savings & Loan of Seminole, said he never makes new year's resolutions. "I'm far from perfect. There are a lot of areas where I need improvement, but I work on them all the time rather than just at the new year."

Seminole County Commissioner Sandra Glenn resolves "to work real hard to get reelected in 1982." She added, "It's not a resolution; it's a fact I realize when I get on the scales that I'm going to have to lose weight if I'm going to get into the clothes I wore last year."

Creation-Science Statute Stricken; Appeal Pledged

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — A federal judge today struck down Arkansas' creation-science law, saying it was a deliberate effort to require religious teaching in the state's public schools.

"No group, no matter how large or small, may use the organs of government of which the public schools are the most conspicuous and influential to force its religious beliefs on others," U.S. District Judge William Overton said in his 38-page opinion.

State Attorney General Steve Clark, who defended the law, said in advance he would appeal if the state lost.

What To Do About Poland?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Divided on how to react to the crisis in Poland, West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and President Reagan met today to try to limit the damage the issue could cause the Western alliance.

Space Exploration Backed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the concern among scientists about the health of the nation's planetary exploration program, President Reagan's science adviser says the administration will continue to support robot probes of the solar system.

"We have every intention of continuing support for a strong planetary exploration program," Dr. George Keyworth said Monday at a special session of the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

In Seminole Narcotics Crackdown

Another Major Drug Suspect Arrested

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A Maryville, Tennessee man, suspected of involvement in a recently broken Seminole County-based drug ring, is being held today in a Tennessee jail.

Gary Hamilton, was arrested by Tennessee law enforcement officers Monday and charged with conspiracy to traffic in marijuana and Quaaludes, according to Herb Shea, assistant to Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler.

Shea said Hamilton will be held in Tennessee until it is determined by the U.S. Attorney and state attorney's office whether federal or state charges will be levied against him.

"We're not sure yet if the federal charge of smuggling or the state charge of trafficking in narcotics is going to be the charge," Shea said. "We should know in a couple of days. They'll go with whichever is the stronger charge, but really they are about the same."

Hamilton is one of six men suspected to have been involved in what police are calling a multi-million-dollar drug operation. Police said at least five more arrests are pending in the narcotics trafficking crackdown.

Among those who have been arrested are: Arthur C. Price, 38, of 2903 S. Park Ave., Sanford; Alex L. Tindall, 42, of Oviedo; Johnny B. Jones, 46, of Cochran Road, Geneva; Fred J. McConeghy, 38, of Oviedo; Buford "Buddy" Higgs, 27, of Oviedo; and Hamilton.

Price, Tindall and Jones have been released on bond from the Seminole County jail. However, McConeghy and Higgs are currently being held in the Cass County Jail in Fargo, N.D., on charges of illegal delivery of cocaine.

"We're a little slow in catching up with the other two men from this area who are suspects in the drug ring," Shea said, referring to Robert Collier, of an unspecified address in Seminole County, and Aubrey Clark, of Oviedo.

"They've sold their property here in Seminole County so it's hard to locate them right away," he said. "But, they'll turn up and when they do, we'll arrest them."

Shea added that police have not yet arrested three other men suspected of involvement in the drug ring because, "only their first names are known and it's difficult to locate them because they're from West Palm Beach." He added that he is optimistic the men will be apprehended soon.

$100 LIFTED

Fred Bussey, 30, owner of the Sanford Paint and Body Shop at 118 Myrtle Ave., lost $100 to thieves over the New Year's weekend.

According to Sanford police report, sometime between 3 p.m. Jan. 1 and 12:10 a.m. Jan. 2, unknown individuals removed the padlock from the east sliding door of the business and entered the shop.

A cash box containing approximately $100 in currency was taken from Bussey's desk drawer. The padlock which had been attached to the sliding door where entry was made could not be found, according to the police report.

The instrument used to either break or unlock the padlock also was not found, the report said.

A SIMPLE "NO"

When three armed men forced their way into Robert E. Walker's home at 1320 West 9th St. in Sanford, they probably did not expect much resistance.

Walker, 29, refused their demands for money, however, and the three left empty handed, according to a Sanford police report. The last man vented his anger by striking Walker in the face with his fist.

At approximately 2 a.m., Jan. 1 the trio, one of the men carrying a small black revolver, entered Walker's home and demanded all his money. Walker told police that after he refused their demands, the three men ran towards the door.

Walker chased the would-be thieves out the door and was punched in the face. All three of the men were last seen running towards Seventh Street.

ALARM FOILS BURGLARY

A burglary alarm triggered by would-be thieves at an Altamonte Springs CB store apparently frightened the intruders away early Saturday morning.

After gaining entry to the bathroom at Gabriel's Sub Shop, 1349 East State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, an unknown person or persons punched a hole in the bathroom sheetrock wall to gain entry to the restaurant's kitchen, according to a sheriff's report.

Once inside the kitchen, the burglars removed a plywood ceiling opening and climbed through the attic to gain entry to the Discount CB and Car Stereo store next door. The burglars climbed down to the CB store's stockroom, and broke into the office, setting off the alarm, the report said.

No merchandise was stolen, but owners of the two businesses said about $250 damage was done to the bathroom wall.

Christmas Sales Worst Since '74; Construction Industry Posts Gain

United Press International
The last-minute Christmas shopping rush was heavier this season than ever, but procrastinators' purchasing was not enough to offset the overall slow buying in the worst season for major department stores since 1974.

Things were a little more encouraging in the construction industry, however, where office, paving and hospital projects helped construction spending post a slight gain in November.

Looking at those figures Monday, Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said the slump in home building is "nearly at an end."

But other analysts disagreed. Analysts expect earnings of most major stores to slump by from 3 percent to 12 percent in the final three months of 1981 compared to levels a year ago.

"Only a few retailers are looking for a rise in earnings in the fourth quarter of this year," Fran Blechman, vice president and retail industry specialist at Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., said Monday. "Most will have down quarters."

"This will be the first down-earnings final quarter since 1974," Daniel Barry, vice president and senior retail trade analyst at Kidder, Peabody & Co., said.

Barry said the sales bulge in the final week before Christmas — as consumers made a last minute dash in gift buying — was larger than expected.

"The final rush is stronger, and later, every year," he said. "Also we had an extra shopping day since Christmas fell on a Friday instead of Thursday like last year. The strong final week means department stores probably will report a December sales rise slightly higher than in November, which was the worst sales month this year."

But one strong week doesn't make a season. The Commerce Department estimated the value of new construction completed in November increased 0.2 percent, to an annual rate of spending of $230.3 billion. It was the first increase after seasonal adjustment since September's 0.5 percent gain.

"There are signs the home building slump is nearly at an end," Baldrige said after the construction figures were released.

"I wish I could believe that," responded a leading industry analyst, Michael Sumichrast, chief economist of the National Association of Home Builders.

"You can't make that statement. We have the whole winter ahead of us. I don't know anybody who's smiling," said Sumichrast.

On Wall Street, the stock market kicked off its 1982 session with a big blue-chip gain Monday but trading was relatively slow because of investor concern about rising interest rates.

Treasury bill yields dipped slightly to an average of 11.656 percent at the government's auction Monday, the latest switch in direction for short-term interest rates that have fluctuated in a narrow range for weeks.

Legislature To Consider Everything From Sex To Car Restraints For Kids

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A definition of fornication, a new state animal and mandatory car restraints for young children will be among the issues considered by the Legislature this month.

A potpourri of pre-filed bills awaits lawmakers when they settle down to business Jan. 18. Many are filed for political posturing, particularly in an election year, but a good number will receive attention, at least at the committee level.

Sen. Alan Traak, D-Winter Haven, wants to restore a state law banning fornication and has offered a new definition to replace one struck down as too vague by the state Supreme Court several years ago.

Fornication, Traak's measure (SB 91) proposes, "means human sexual intercourse other than between a man and his wife." If convicted of a second-degree misdemeanor, offenders would face up to 60 days in jail.

Two bills are pending in each house, sponsored by a total of seven lawmakers, that would make it mandatory to place young children in seat restraints when riding in cars.

One set of bills (HB 154 and SB 290) would apply to children aged 4 and younger; the other (HB 61 and SB 101), for 3-year-olds and under.

The very first bills filed in both houses (HB 1 and SB 1) propose naming the polar bear as the state animal. But the polar bear was chosen before school children across Florida picked the panther as their favorite.

The Florida panther will now be amended into the legislation by its sponsors, Sen. Joe Carlucci, D-Jacksonville, and Rep. Bill Bankhead, R-Jacksonville.

Casselberry Awards Bids For New Well, Fencing

Drilling of a new water supply well in Casselberry is expected to get underway within the next 30 days following the City Council's unanimous action Monday night to award low bidder Meridith Corp., 2911 W. Washington St., Orlando, with the $122,339 contract.

"They have 160 days by contract to drill the well, but they won't need that long," said Ed Keuling, city utility director. "They'll probably begin drilling in about 30 days and should finish up within about 60 days."

The Orlando-based company was the lowest of three bidders for construction of the well to be drilled at the city's north water treatment plant. The bid was $22,860 less than the budgeted $145,000, Keuling said.

The City Council also voted unanimously Monday to accept the low bid of $6,573 from Tobias Fence Co. for fencing the areas around Witz, Lake Hodge and Secret Lake parks.

Tobias Fence Co. presented the lowest of three bids for the work and is expected to begin construction of the fences immediately, according to Mayor Owen Sheppard.

The bid was $1,220.78 less than the budgeted $7,800.

Americans In Peruvian Jail On Hunger Strike

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — One of 13 Americans imprisoned in a Peruvian jail on drug charges said the inmates will remain on a hunger strike begun Christmas Day until they are either freed or are repatriated to the United States.

"We are going all the way until we eat in the street or in the U.S.A.," said Richard Stein, 36, of San Francisco.

The U.S. citizens said five Canadians, Frenchmen, two Italians and two Germans have joined them in the strike.

The prisoners want to be repatriated to their home countries or immediate release from Lima's Lurigancho prison, where suspected and convicted drug violators are incarcerated. They are also protesting alleged mistreatment and torture in the overcrowded Lima prison.

Most of them are being held on cocaine trafficking charges. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said Monday an embassy doctor would see the men today. He said the embassy's vice consul visited the prison Saturday and found the hunger-strikers to be in good health.

"We are trying to make sure at the highest level of the consulate that everything be done to protect the health of these men," the spokesman said.

He said the Americans were taking liquids, vitamins and protein supplements provided by the embassy. He added that prison doctors were monitoring the inmates' conditions.

Besides Stein, the embassy said those on strike were Daniel Carreira, 35, Boston; Oscar Perez, 49, Miami; Michael Coney, 33, San Diego; Kaydon Brandenburger, 37, Wichita, Kan.; John Charles Pierce, 22, of Michigan; William Joseph Chebba, 54, Boston; Louisa Masso, 39, New York City, and Vincent Arias, 42, of Florida.

The inmates told UPI they were joined in the strike by Bill Pasiecki, 63, Chicago; R.J. Montgomery, 26, Los Angeles; Dale Lynn Ray, 40, of California, and Martin Vincent Whalen, 36, of Florida.

Peru operates under a prisoner exchange treaty the United States, but the treaty cannot be applied until inmates are sentenced.

No Second Chance For Drunk Drivers

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Drivers found intoxicated far beyond the legal minimum would be automatically sent to jail under a proposal to be considered by the Legislature.

Rep. Dick Batchelor, D-Orlando, told a news conference Monday he will file a bill providing for a mandatory three-day jail term for any driver found to have a blood alcohol count of 0.15 percent or higher. A second conviction would carry a 30-day term.

$ Asked For Fire Fighting

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Florida had a record number of woods fires last year, and Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner hopes that will convince the Legislature to give him an extra $8 million for fire fighting.

Conner asked for money for new equipment and personnel training Monday, calling last year's wildfires experience a near disaster.

Refugee Leader Threatened

MIAMI (UPI)—A Haitian, screaming epithets directed at the Rev. Gerard Jean-Juste, stormed through the refugee leader's headquarters Monday night brandishing a clawhammer.

Police said Jean-Juste heard the commotion and the threats when the refugee used the hammer to smash through the window of the front door and slipped out through a door in the rear of the building. No one was injured, and the unidentified assailant was arrested a few minutes later.

Brain Damage Suit Settled

MIAMI (UPI)—Three physicians and a hospital have agreed to a $3.9 million settlement for the family of a 4-year-old boy for brain damages allegedly suffered as the result of a tonsilectomy.

The settlement by Dr. Silvano A. Hernandez-Herrera, Dr. Oscar Gonzalez, Dr. Isabel Creagh and International Hospital was made to the family of Luis Melo moments before jury selection was to begin in a suit the Melos had filed.

Kelly Takes Fifth Wife

NEW PORT RICHEY — Former Republican U.S. Rep. Richard Kelly, convicted of bribery and conspiracy earlier this year in the Abscam scandal, has married for the fifth time.

Kelly, 57, recently married Clara Thompson, 36, an employee of the St. Petersburg Social Security office, friends of Kelly said Monday. Thompson is the ex-wife of Tampa attorney James Thompson who was a character witness for Kelly at his trial.

Kelly, who faces up to 25 years in prison for his Abscam conviction, divorced his fourth wife in June.

Jury Selected To Consider Atlanta Child Murder Case

ATLANTA (UPI) — The jury that will hear the case against Wayne Williams, accused of two of Atlanta's child slayings, includes a silver-haired former policeman, a long-haul trucker and a Daughter of the American Revolution.

After only four and a half days of questioning, attorneys spent a mere 20 minutes Monday selecting eight blacks and four whites, nine of them women, from a pool of 60 potential jurors.

Superior Court Judge Clarence Cooper ordered the jurors to report late today to be sequestered, and ordered opening arguments for Wednesday morning. The swiftness of the jury selection amazed observers, who had expected the process to take weeks.

Williams, 23, a black freelance photographer, is accused of killing two of the 28 young blacks slain in Atlanta during a 22-month period, and police have made clear he is suspected of at least 10 more of the murders.

Four alternates — all black — were also chosen, three of them women.

Also selected for the panel were two young white women who live with their parents; two women who work for the telephone company; a seamstress; two state employees; a woman who works for Western Electric and a retired black woman on disability.

Cooper has banned publication of the names and addresses of jurors.

The family status of several of all the jurors was not brought out in questioning. Only two were known to have young children; the DAR member emphasized she lived alone with her two cats; the retired Detroit policeman has seven grown children.

AAA Members Voice Opinions

Higher Speeds, No Seat Belts

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — Florida's AAA motor club members favor raising the speed limit on the state's toll roads and interstate highways and are against mandatory wearing of seat belts.

The opinions were voiced in a poll of selected master members of Florida's three Triple-A auto clubs conducted by Suncoast Opinion Surveys. Questionnaires covering a wide range of auto transportation subjects were mailed to 5,878 Florida AAA members in October and November and 2,772, or about 45 percent, responded. The three Florida clubs have a combined membership of more than 1 million, club officials said.

The survey results will be incorporated in the Triple-A's recommendations to the Legislature.

When the lawmakers convene next month, the motor club will tell them 55 percent of its members want highway funding to come from sources other than the gasoline tax and two-thirds oppose use of gasoline tax revenues for building or operating mass transit systems.

Responses showed 57 percent favoring a proposed citizens board to set policy for the Department of Transportation. Florida's no-fault insurance law won 58 percent backing and most favor compulsory auto insurance for drivers (95 percent), compulsory property liability insurance (87 percent), and compulsory insurance coverage of pedestrians, passengers and other drivers (84 percent).

The survey determined that 91 percent of motor club drivers want a state law requiring that service stations post per-gallon gasoline prices on signs legible from the highway. Two-thirds are against the metric pricing system.

More than 60 percent rated Florida's toll roads and interstate highways good, but a larger majority opposed building additional toll roads.

The motor club's respondents favored by 85 percent or more stronger safety regulations for motorcycleists such as requiring helmets, safe driving courses and road testing.

The survey found that 52 percent have curtailed their weekend and vacation pleasure driving because of inflation.

Avoiding Fatty Foods? Think Again

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Before you put that New Year's resolution into effect and eliminate fatty foods from your diets, listen to what a University of Florida food scientist says about the need for fats.

"Fat supplies the most concentrated source of energy in the human diet. Furthermore, vitamins A, D, E and K are found primarily in fats," Dr. James Oblinger, of UF's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences, said Monday.

"It's necessary for people to take in fats, and they'd be lost without them."

According to Oblinger, the reason dieters worry about fats is because they provide twice as much body energy — in the form of calories — as any other kind of food. Most Americans lead sedentary lives, and if the energy isn't used up it turns to flab.

The average person gets about 40 percent of his body calories from the intake of fats, Oblinger said. For many, even this is too much and the individual who gets a lot more — say, 60 percent — needs to cut back on fat intake.

Since the government regulates the amount of fats manufacturers can put in many foods, the wise consumer can often keep an eye on fat intake by reading product labels.

Mayonnaise, for example, is required to contain at least 80 percent fat, but salad dressing may have as little as 30 percent. Margarine must be at least 80 percent vegetable oil, but "diet imitation margarine" may have as little as 40 percent. Hot dogs may contain no more than 30 percent fat, but breakfast sausages may contain up to 50 percent.

Oblinger said fad dieting — in which people are permitted only a very limited variety of low fat foods — probably isn't a good idea. Dieters who severely limit fat intake may risk real health problems from vitamin deficiencies.

"The simplest and safest way to lose weight," Oblinger said, "is to eat a variety of foods but just don't eat as much. That includes fats, carbohydrates, and protein."

Sanctions And Warnings

The relatively mild sanctions President Reagan recently imposed on Poland's martial law government, and the failure to order any penalties whatsoever against the Soviet Union, led us to wonder whether the administration was prepared to offer the Polish people anything more than sympathy.

Our fears, we are pleased to report, are fading. The series of economic sanctions Mr. Reagan announced later against the Soviets offer tangible evidence that the President intends to do more than simply wring his hands over the brutal end to hard-won new freedoms in Poland.

More to the point, the administration clearly intends to place most of the blame for Solidarity's fate where it belongs — on Moscow. As President Reagan correctly noted, "For many months, the Soviets publicly and privately demanded such a crackdown. They brought major pressures to bear through non-public letters to the Polish leadership, military maneuvers, and other forms of intimidation. They now openly endorse the suppression which has ensued." Exactly so.

Only the hopelessly naive could have interpreted the Kremlin's blistering denunciations of Solidarity and repeated calls for the Polish Communist Party to restore "discipline" as anything less than an ultimatum: To wit, crush the Polish workers' movement or the Soviet army will do it for you.

The seven economic sanctions Mr. Reagan imposed against the Soviets fall short of the more comprehensive measures that will be advisable should the Kremlin continue to insist on Stalinist measures in Poland.

Nonetheless, Mr. Reagan has made a good start. He has tightened restrictions on Soviet-American trade, and most especially on the high-technology items Moscow covets. He has postponed negotiations on a new purchase agreement for American grain, a move we hope leads to reimposition of a grain embargo that should never have been lifted in the first place.

The President also expanded the list of oil and gas drilling equipment that may not be exported to the Soviet Union without a license the Commerce Department will now have ample reason to deny. It is worth noting that the success of Soviet oil and natural gas exploration in Siberia depends in part upon a steady supply of specialized drilling bits manufactured only in the United States.

The Polish people will no doubt be heartened to learn — via the expanded Voice of America broadcasts that should now be beamed at Poland — that Mr. Reagan has also suspended the issuance of licenses for American pipelaying equipment the Soviets were counting on for use in building the Siberia-to-Western Europe natural gas pipeline.

The pipeline, expected to yield the Kremlin nearly $50 billion in natural gas purchases by West Germany and other NATO states, can still be built but it will take longer and cost more without American help.

As important as these sanctions are in themselves, their paramount significance lies in the fact that they validate the warning issued by Mr. Reagan to Soviet leaders. He said that if the suppression of Solidarity by a Soviet-backed military dictatorship continued, the United States would not hesitate to make life more difficult for Moscow.

Having carried through on his warning, Mr. Reagan enhanced the credibility of a similar caution contained in his sanctions statement made later. Soviet leaders now know that their continuing violations of the Helsinki agreement's provisions on human rights and the independence of European states will incur ever rising economic and political retaliation by the United States.

If the sanctions already imposed against the Soviets and against their proxy dictatorship in Warsaw fail to lessen repression in Poland, there is much more that the Reagan administration can and should do. Refusing to refinance the U.S. portion of Poland's huge foreign debt would almost certainly place the Polish government in default and force the Soviets to assume a staggering financial burden.

Plant Research Ending

By JOHN W. FRECE

BELTSVILLE, Md. (UPI) — America's 20-year effort to find plants containing anticancer chemicals appears doomed.

The prospects might be brighter if only the medicinal effects of the Madagascar periwinkle had been discovered in some other fashion.

The periwinkle, from which a highly effective drug used in treating childhood leukemia is derived, was discovered almost by accident during a test for its effect on diabetes.

"That is the most important plant in the world for plant-derived anti-cancer drugs," said Dr. James Duke, a research botanist who for the past three and a half years has headed the plant collection portion of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's "natural products" research program. That's the government's attempt to find natural substances that can kill cancer cells.

To Duke, the Madagascar periwinkle illustrates the promise his program holds for medicine in general and cancer victims in particular, but also the failure of a program that has not made even one discovery equalling the importance of finding the periwinkle.

Like gamblers at a slot machine hoping the next pull of the lever will hit the jackpot, Duke and his associates have looked throughout the world for plants that will provide a cure for cancer, the number two killing disease in the United States.

"Enemies of the cancer program say, 'You've been (messing) around here for 20 years and haven't come up with anything bigger than this (the periwinkle) and this was an accident,'" Duke said.

His response: "We've only looked at 10 percent of the plant kingdom and, if we looked up on one 'biggie' in the first 10 percent, then there must be nine others out there waiting for us."

But Duke and his staff of about 15 botanists may never get the chance.

When he and University of Maryland botanist Dr. James Reveal returned in early September from a month in China searching for exotic plants that could provide the cancer breakthrough researchers have been looking for, they encountered a discovery of another kind.

The National Cancer Institute had decided to cut Duke's $480,000 research program for fiscal year 1982 by more than half. NCI's Dr. Matthew Suffness, asked about funding for Duke's program in fiscal year 1983, said, "If I had to guess, I'd say, 'Zero.'"

The $200,000 left in the program this year will be barely enough to bring back, separate and categorize the specimens Duke and Reveal found in China and that other teams collected from the wilds of Venezuela, Madagascar and Australia.

"The periwinkle is already worth the cost incurred to date," said Duke. "Tomorrow's periwinkle should more than repay (the cost of the program for) the next 25 years."

Suffness said the program has cost taxpayers about $1.2 million in each of the last two or three years.

Jews Being Made The Scapegoats?

WASHINGTON — An ugly development is being monitored in the confidential cables from Poland. The military regime might be setting up Poland's tiny Jewish population as scapegoats for the misery that is sweeping across that tragic land.

The estimated 6,000 Jews remaining in Poland — mostly the elderly, pitiful survivors of the Nazi Holocaust — represent no threat to the regime. But they can be useful in the historic role of Jewish minorities in Europe — to deflect attention from corrupt, repressive regimes during times of public discontent.

The evidence so far is inconclusive. But the Polish authorities appear to be playing the Machiavellian game of blaming Solidarity for the anti-semitic attacks, thus discrediting the labor union, while at the same time suggesting that Solidarity is itself a nest of "Zionists."

Just 10 days after martial law was imposed upon Poland, the State Department cabled U.S. embassies in Warsaw and Vienna to watch for indications that the reported anti-semitic incidents were centrally coordinated.

"We would appreciate your giving Polish publications and Warsaw radio broadcasts special scrutiny for signs of anti-semitism," the cable requested.

The next day, the Vienna embassy cabled back a report that anti-semitic leaflets indeed have been circulating in Poland. The leaflets were described as inflammatory.

One leaflet tried to hit the Polish masses where they live. It contained "a reference to Jews not having to stand in line to receive seven pounds of Kosher meat a week," the embassy cabled. The pathetic Jews in Poland are more likely to be found at the end of the food lines, but the report would cause resentment among a populace that has to stand in line for hours in hopes of getting its meager meat ration.

The confidential diplomatic cables disclose that a major distributor of anti-semitic leaflets is the so-called "Grunwald Group" — ultranationalist, possibly neo-Nazi organization that surfaced last year as a counterforce to Solidarity.

Sources told my associate Lucette Lagnado that the Grunwald Group was set up with the approval of the Communist authorities — not the first time Lenin's disciples have set aside ideological purity for the sake of expediency. Anyway, it is obvious that its recent activities have the military regime's blessing.

Grunwald's anti-semitic propaganda leaflets have been sent abroad bearing a Gdansk postmark, "in an apparent effort to discredit Solidarity," the cable from Vienna reported. (Gdansk was the birthplace of Solidarity.) Since the declaration of martial law, the embassy cabled noted, "this could not have been done — because of censorship rules — without the connivance of hard-liners in the

Poles: Again Captives

A year ago, the people of Poland believed they were emerging from communist thralldom. They had hope of a better material life and a gradual return to freedom.

Today, those hopes are shattered. Poland is in the iron grip of totalitarian communist rule. Thousands of Poles are under arrest. The dark night of Stalinism has returned.

These tragic events are a fresh, albeit cruel, reminder of the nature of communism. The system permits no mellowing or departure from the ideological rigidity of a police state apparatus. The brutalities directed at the Polish people should wake Westerners to a new realization of the tyranny they face.

For 15 or more years, many Westerners have persuaded themselves that communism comes in many forms, some of them less oppressive than others. A few years ago, there was academic talk of Euro-Communism, a variant that allegedly retained Marxist economics but lacked Moscow's iron fist. Poland proves that was an illusion. The East Bloc countries are what they were termed in the 1940s and 1950s, namely satellites of the Soviet Union. If there is any relaxation of communist control in the East, the USSR insists that the dictatorial system be reappplied.

Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the great Russian novelist and chronicler of Soviet tyranny, told us this long ago. Many in the West didn't want to hear his message. They termed him obsessed. Today, no one can challenge the validity of Solzhenitsyn's warnings.

Many Western businessmen, such as David Rockefeller, believed that the Soviet empire would mellow as a result of trade between the East and West. They encouraged the offering of huge credits to the East Bloc. Today, the lending institutions are in jeopardy.

If there is any step that the U.S. should take at this time, it is the imposition of an absolute ban on strategic trade with the Soviet Union. The rulers in the Kremlin must pay a price for crushing the attempt of the Poles to regain some measure of freedom. There are reports, however, that the Reagan administration has assured Sen. Charles Percy (R-Ill.) that sale of Caterpillar pipe-laying equipment to the USSR will proceed, despite the latest conquest of Poland. The Siberian gas pipeline, to be built with West European funding, will lock them into the energy system of the Soviet empire. This is an intolerable development.

At this time, there is no reason to believe that the Poles will be allowed to escape captivity in this century. Their fate, however, should re-invigorate anti-communism in the Western world. It should make West Europeans, including Britons, alert to the danger of the expansion of the Soviet Empire into their lands. Americans should gain a new determination to prevent Central America from becoming a Soviet fiefdom. In our own hemisphere, we are in a position to use our power, including military power, to prevent the transformation of Nicaragua and Guatemala into Soviet satellites.

We should not hesitate to do whatever has to be done to stop communism on this side of the Atlantic.

Poltiburo . . .

As for the source of the anti-semitic poison, the Vienna embassy cabled that the leaflets emanate from "a neo-Nazi movement in Sweden, which smuggled the leaflets into Poland."

The State Department investigation is being pursued primarily by the Human Rights Bureau under its newly appointed chief, Assistant Secretary of State Elliott Abrams.

The department's experts see no signs yet that Poland's Jewish community is in any physical danger, but they can't be certain whether respect for world opinion would lead the Communist regime to protect its Jews in the event of "spontaneous" outbursts ignited by the anti-semitic hate literature. In its attempt to paint Solidarity as both anti-semitic and Jewish-dominated, the Polish government may have sown the wind — but it is Poland's Jews who will reap the whirlwind.

Raiders

By the tone of Monday afternoon's practice session, it's clear that Joe Sterling's Raider basketball squad has quickly left behind the fun and frivolity of the holiday season.

For the Raiders, now ranked second among Florida's junior colleges, Monday's workout was blood, sweat and defense, especially defense.

"We're coming into the tough part of our division schedule," pointed out Sterling, whose Raiders chalked up a healthy 10-1 mark in the first half of the 1981-82 campaign. "Going up against some of the teams we play this half of the season we can't sit back and play zone defense all game, we've got to go out and put pressure on our upcoming opponents."

"The people we play down the stretch have too much talent to sit back and relax against."

With one eye on Saturday's upcoming clash against third-ranked Lake City, SCC gets one shot at honing up its already impressive defense Wednesday night when the Raiders lift the lid on the start of the second half by hosting Central Florida Junior College with a 7:30 tipoff.

"They've got some real good size," said Sterling of Wednesday night's opponent. "Central Florida has a couple of big, husky people, but I think we'll do all right. I think we can out-quick them."

When the usually stoic Sterling lets slip a comment even faintly tinged with confidence, you know he's got to be feeling good about his horses.

On Wednesday night, a new thoroughbred will break into the starting lineup for the run-and-gun Raiders. Wingman Lonnie Jones returns to the fold after being sidelined in the first half with academic difficulties.

As a freshman on last season's 29-3 squad, Jones chalked up a 17-point plus scoring average, rebounded well and played a key role in the Raiders' press and trap defense set ups. Sterling feels his return is like adding a turbo charger to an already impressive high performance engine.

"Lonnie will start Wednesday night," affirmed Sterling, quickly putting aside speculation as how he would fit into the lineup in view of the impressive performance of A. J. Jackson, called on to fill the hole left by Jones during the first half of the season.

Jackson, a sophomore out of Boone High School, looks more like a lost middle linebacker by physical stature. But the 6-0, 185-pounder did plenty for the Raiders in the first half, including tossing in a game winning 25-footer at the buzzer that spelled last second victory for SCC.

While averaging 10.9 in the first 11 games, Jackson also hit the boards for almost six rebounds per game and dished out 51 assists, second only to point guard Eric Ervin. In short, the former Brave standout did a little of everything for the Raiders.

"A. J. is invaluable to us coming off the bench," pointed out Sterling. "And I think he knows that better than anyone on the team. He's a team player, a role player, and he responds to what we ask him to do exceptionally well."

"Going from a starter to a sixth man would leave a lot of players pouting, but A. J.'s not that kind of basketball player. We know when we look down the bench and call for him, it will give us a boost."

Sterling will be looking for the same kind of boost he got in the first half from the front court duo of Bruce McCray and Travis Filer, the two leading scorers for the Raiders.

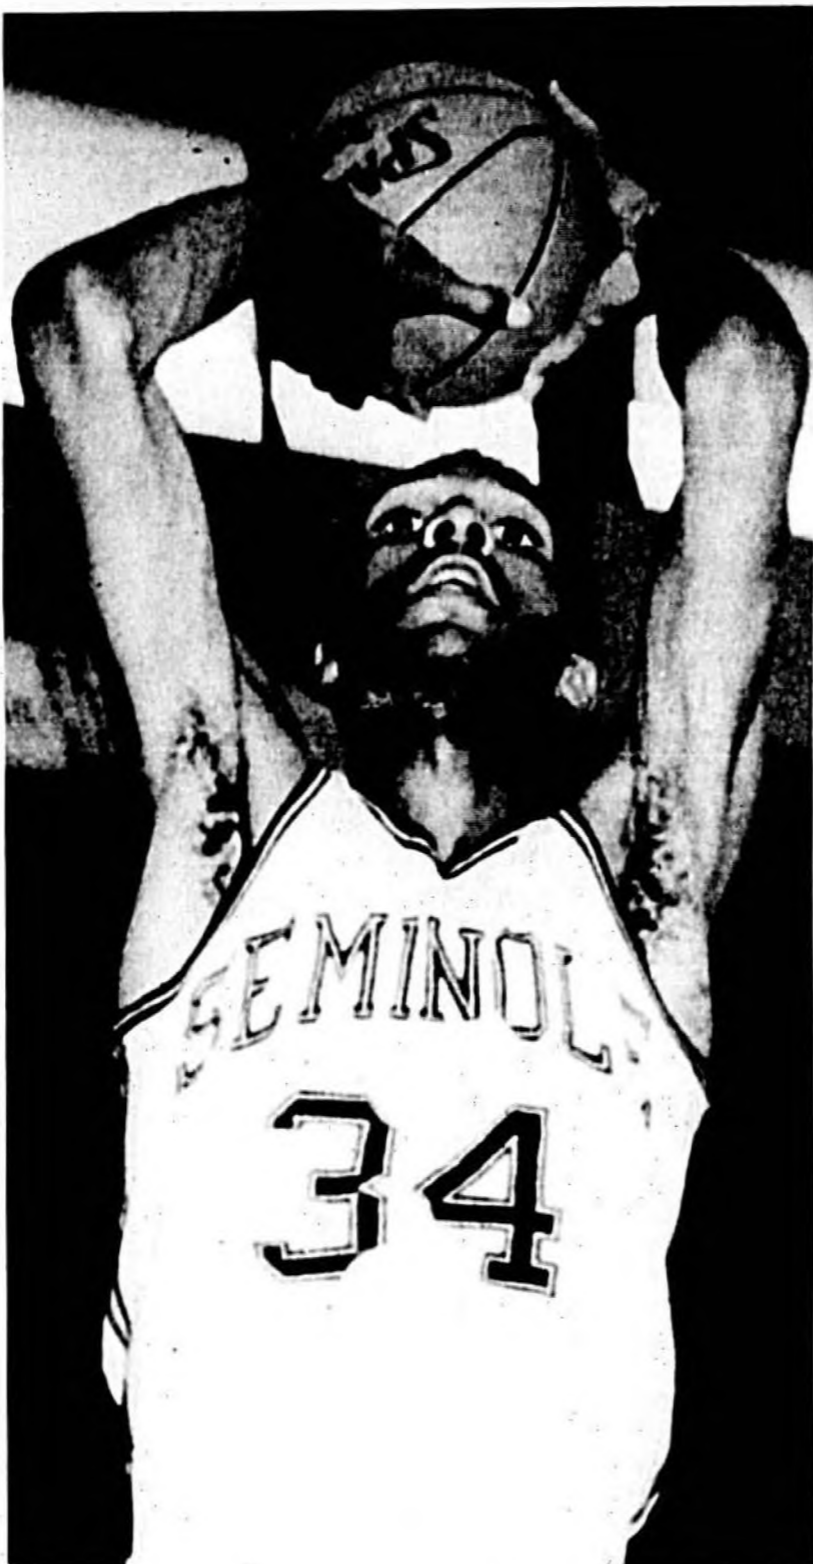

McCray leads the squad with a 21.2 average, reflected by his 53 percent field goal effort. The 6-3 all-state sophomore is also connecting on 74 percent from the free throw line and also leads the squad in rebounding with a 7.4 average.

Filer is close behind, averaging 17.6 points per outing to go along with 28 assists.

Point guard Eric Ervin, slowed by a bout with the flu, is sparking the passing game with a team high 61 assists while center Reggie Butler has been coming on strong, averaging just under 10 points and seven rebounds per game.

Through the first half of the season, the Raiders have played solid team ball, and if Sterling gets even more defense than he's already shown, SCC appears up to the challenge of a tough second half.

At the holiday break the Raiders hold a margin over their opponents in almost every category. Through 11 games SCC has outscored opponents by an 82-67 average, out-rebounded opponents by a Seminole Community College's Lonnie Jones returns to the Raider lineup Wednesday night when SCC entertains Central Florida Community College at 7:30 p.m. The 10-1 and second state-ranked forces of Joe Sterling should get a nice boost from the smooth sophomore who had academic difficulties which kept him out of action the first semester.

35-29 average, out shot opponents from the field at an average of 50-46 percent and has out performed the opposition at the charity stripe by 64-63 percent average.

But Sterling knows that one-half does not a season make. And he'll be expecting even more from his Raiders when they tip things off Wednesday night in the SCC gym against Central Florida.

Panthers

Coach Chris Marlette's Crooms Panthers picked up 1982 right where they left off 1981, destroying the Lyman Greyhounds, 63-43, for their ninth victory without a loss at Longwood.

The awesome inside play of the Panthers' James Rouse dropped Lyman from the unbeaten ranks to 6-1. Rouse hit 14-of-19 floor shots and added four free throws for a career-high 32 points. He also snatched 17 rebounds and grabbed four steals.

"We didn't expect to beat them that bad," exclaimed Marlette after the game. "They (Crooms) keep surprising me every game."

The Panthers take on Fred Little's Lake Brantley freshmen Wednesday at 5 p.m. at Seminole Community College. The matchup will be a preliminary to the Raiders return to action against Central Florida Community College at 7:30 p.m.

Crooms quickly showed their game plan as Rouse muscled the Panthers to the top at 16-6 at the end of the first period.

Rouse continually powered in his teammates missed attempts by posting up on the inside.

In the second quarter Marlette turned loose the Panther zone press, which out-smarted the 'Hounds and led to turnovers and breakaway layups for Crooms.

These layups combined with Rouse's steady scoring blew the game open as the Panthers ran to a 38-18 bulge at the half. Lyman came out pumped up in the third as they traded buckets with Crooms with outside shots, pulling as close as 15 midway through the quarter.

But this would be their last gasp as Rouse and company got back under control at 46-29 going into the final eight minutes.

Both clubs came out running in the fourth period, which led to a sloppy track meet, marred by turnovers and fouls. Crooms installed the subs midway through the quarter as the Panthers eased to victory.

Marlette couldn't say enough about his club, "James Rouse had his best game."

"If they keep playing like this, maybe so," replied the Panther Boss, when asked if he saw an undefeated season in his squad's future.

Aiding Rouse's 32-point effort was Sam Redding with 10 points. The chunky guard also turned in five assists on several dazzling passes.

Donald Grayson and Fred Brinson had six points each. Grayson and Kenny Gordon collected eight boards apiece.

Leading the way for coach Dennis Bowler's Greyhounds were Bob Russell and Mike Stewart with 10 and seven points, respectively.

Payne Plucks Sophomore Wynn For Rebounding Help

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Prep Basketball

Sanford's Fighting Seminoles are young ... and getting younger.

Tribe basketball coach Bill Payne reached into his junior varsity team over the holidays and extracted a rough rebounding, high-leaping power forward.

His name is William Wynn. He's 6-1. He's strong and he's a sophomore. "William should really help our rebounding," said Payne about Wynn, who was a main cog on Crooms' 18-2 championship team of a year ago.

Wynn will fill the sixth or seventh man role for the Seminoles tonight when they travel to DeLand to take on the Bulldogs of John Zeuli, who took over for veteran Art Parisi, who stepped down after last year. JV tipoff is 6:15 p.m.

Payne's starting five is getting younger also. Juniors Vernon Law and Torie Hendricks will open in the backcourt with senior Richard Grey taking over the sixth man role. Law is averaging a whopping seven assists a game, while Hendricks, a fine shooter, will play swing man as Payne goes with a one-guard offense.

Upfront, senior Stuart Smith starts at the pivot along with sweet-shooting Calvin "Kiki" Bryant and sophomore Willie Mitchell.

Bryant, a junior, is averaging 17.1 per game, while Mitchell is the Tribe's leading rebounder with over seven per game and second in scoring with just over 11 per game. He is averaging over 20 points his last two outings. Smith gets seven boards a game.

"We looked great over break," said Payne. "I think we'll really start coming on now."

"I don't think we're really playing a bad ball game. Just lost a lot of tough ones," he said about Seminole's 4-8 record.

Speaking of tough ones, Lake Brantley coach Bob Peterson has a corner on the market. The Patriots have been buzzed twice by game-winning shots and lost several others down the stretch.

Tonight at 8, however, Peterson expects that to change when the Pats take on coach Greg Robinson's Silver Hawks at Lake Howell. The Hawks are 0-7.

"Of course anything can happen," said Peterson. "But we expect to go over there and win tonight."

Leading the Brantley charge is hard-working senior Tim Heath. The 6-3 Heath is scoring 16.6 per game and averaging 7.3 rebounds. He is complemented by guard Billy Powers with 14.4 a game. Both are excellent foul shooters.

The Hawks counter with their "Lone Ranger," Mark

Bulldogs Hand Seminole Gals First 5 Star Setback

DeLand's Bulldogs handed Seminole its first Five Star Conference setback, 58-46, Monday night in girls basketball action at DeLand.

"You know how it is when you play on the road," said coach Ron Merithie Tuesday morning, whose squad dropped to 7-3 overall and 2-1 in conference. "They had a pretty decent team, but the fouls killed us."

The Tribe was whittled for 30 discredits and the Bulldogs 27 in foul-marred ball game. Sanford's Tony Hardy, Robin Riggins, Johnnie Bennett and Sabrina Mellon all fouled out.

DeLand jumped on top early behind the scoring punch of Karen Cook and Loretta Pate. It seized a 14-9 first-quarter lead and never trailed thereafter.

Hardy, who averages in double figures, had a particularly poor evening. The senior speedster missed all 12 of her field goal attempts and hit just two free throws. "We got down and with everybody in foul trouble we couldn't come back," lamented Merithie. Senior Cathy Jones paced the Seminole scoring with 18 points, while Riggins hit 11 points before heading for the pine.

In junior varsity action, Sharon Jenkins and Beatrice Smith hit crucial baskets in the last minute of play as coach Beth Corso's JV nipped DeLand, 42-40.

Bears Send Armstrong In Permanent Hibernation

Pro Football

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Bears have sent Neill Armstrong to the showers, and the big question now — besides who will replace the fired head coach — is whether General Manager Jim Finks will join him.

Armstrong got the word from Finks and Bears' owner George Halas Monday, but it was not clear if that also meant Finks had resolved his differences with the often unpredictable owner.

Finks, who hired Armstrong, reportedly has chafed under the short leash Halas has kept him under this year, and wanted assurances he will be in charge of at least the club's day-to-day operations.

There has also been speculation Halas would like Finks' resignation, because firing would mean Halas would be obligated to honor the general manager's contract, which has 3 1/2 years remaining.

The unceremonious elimination of Armstrong as head man on the field apparently cleared the way for Halas to hire Dallas assistant coach, Mike Ditka, for the top Chicago coaching job. "It was a very short meeting," said Armstrong, 55, whose four-year record with Chicago was 30-34, including a disappointing last place 6-10 finish this year. "I was given my pink slip and that was it."

"I don't have any bad feelings or regrets," he said. "I don't think I was treated poorly."

Armstrong said he had no specific plans for a new job.

"But I am confident I will be able to stay in pro football," he said. "I'm sure there are some teams that will want me."

received permission from Dallas owner Tex Schramm to talk to Ditka about the Bears' job. However, Halas and Ditka are not expected to meet until Dallas is eliminated from the playoffs or after the Super Bowl.

Reached in Dallas, Ditka expressed surprise at the Armstrong dismissal.

"It makes no sense to me that he would be fired," said Ditka, a former tight end with the Bears. "I think he is a fine man and I certainly was not hoping he would be fired."

But Ditka reiterated he is very interested in the job.

'You get a feeling about these things (retirement) and I've got that feeling. I guess it's time.' — Vern Den Herder

Den Herder Plans Retirement, Shula Wants Him To Stay

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami Dolphin defensive end Vern Den Herder says he is retiring, but apparently if he wants to change his mind, that'll be just fine with Coach Don Shula.

"I'm confident that he could play another year if he wanted to, so I'm not closing the door completely," Shula said after learning of Den Herder's decision.

"This is one of the finest individuals I've ever had the opportunity to coach. A real class person on and off the field," Shula said. "He was one of our quiet leaders that everybody looked up to."

Den Herder is the last of the Miami Dolphins' defensive holdovers from the Super Bowl years and announced his retirement just two days after the numbing 41-38 playoff loss to San Diego in the Orange Bowl.

"If I go by what I feel now, I'm going to retire now," said Den Herder, who was a starter throughout most of the year, despite warnings before the season he might end the season as a reliever.

UPI Names Dorsett Tops

NEW YORK (UPI) — In becoming the first Dallas Cowboy to be named UPI's NFC Player of the Year, running back Tony Dorsett now knows what hard work can accomplish.

"This is the first year I can really say I reached my goals," said Dorsett, the NFL's second-leading rusher behind New Orleans' rookie George Rogers with 1,646 yards on 342 carries. "I came in as a loud-mouthed rookie saying I could gain 1,500 yards. But I didn't know what it took to do it."

Dorsett, 5-foot-11 and 190 pounds, received 29 first-place votes from a panel of 56 sportswriters — four from each NFC city to easily outdistance San Francisco quarterback Joe Montana, the league's top-rated passer who totaled 14 votes. San Francisco rookie cornerback Ronnie Lott was third with 6 votes, followed by Bengals' (8 votes) and Detroit running back Billy Sims and 49ers' defensive end Fred Dean (2 votes each).

Dorsett, who also caught 32 passes for 325 yards for the NFC East champions, averaged 4.8 yards per carry and after five seasons with the Cowboys, the speedster with the shifty moves is the team's all-time leading rusher with 6,270 yards. He has rushed for over 1,000 yards in each of his five pro seasons — the first player ever to accomplish that feat — and was named a co-captain this season by Coach Tom Landry.

Dorsett's finest season may be linked with his decision to participate in the Cowboys' extensive off-season conditioning program.

Johnson, Scott Lead Howell

Lake Howell's Mary Johnson and Christy Scott combined for 32 points Monday night as the Silver Hawks upended Lake Brantley, 53-48, in girls five star basketball action at Howell.

Johnson totaled 17 points and sophomore Scott 15 as Howell jumped to a 20-22 halftime edge. Linda Trimble has 14 points and Rhonda Vasquez 12 for Brantley.

player.

Of course, that player is The Player — Ronnie Murphy. The 6-4 junior dominated the county in rebounding and finished second to departed teammate Bill Burgess in scoring during the regular season last year.

This year, Murphy is atop the scoring list with 24.9 points a game and out of sight on the rebounding ledger with 18.50 boards a game.

The Lions are fresh from two wins in three tries at the Vero Beach Tournament held last week. "We did better than we expected," said Phillips about narrow victories over Ft. Pierce Central and the host school after losing to Ft. Pierce Westwood.

Murphy hit four foul shots at the end of the 50-57 upset of Vero Beach. Oviedo blew a 17-point first-half edge, but pulled the game out at the line, outscoring Vero, 17-1. Murphy had 26 for the day.

In the Ft. Pierce game, Phillips threw a "horseshoe" at Central. The 3-2 zone forced Pierce into numerous outside shots which Murphy and Tom Johnson picked off the boards.

"They played man-to-man full-court pressure which scared us to death," Phillips said. "We tried to go for the percentage shot, but we can't shoot too well. I think the experience helped us, though."

The 8-3 Lions are at New Smyrna Beach tonight.

While coach Tom Lawrence's Lyman club is dominating the county statistically, the 'Hounds take a night off tonight before getting ready for a big conference battle with Daytona Beach Seabreeze in Longwood Friday.

Antoine "Pop" Lemon (22.1), center Eric French (15.4) and guard William Scott (14.6) lead the "Hurrin' 'Hounds" run-and-gun attack.

French is also a terror on the boards with 7.4 per game, while the 6-2 Scott is a surprising 6.5 a game off the glass. French has hit 30-of-36 free throws for 77 percent.

In the county's other game tonight, Lake Mary hosts Lake Highland. The girls of Bill Moore tipoff the action at 6:30 p.m. with Willie Richardson's boys immediately following.

Moore's talented girls are led by sophomores Michelle Schwartz and Lisa Gregory along with freshman Kim Averill.

Richardson's boys took their jumps in the recent Kowboy Classic at Ocoola against varsity competition. The 1-4 squad is paced by freshman Darryl Merthle along with sophomores Greg Shatto and Fred Miller.

Margie Combs, co-owner of Second Image, Sanford, shows dollhouse to be given away in benefit.

Second Image Slashing Prices During Clearance

During the January Clearance Sale hundreds of items of quality consignment clothing at Second Image are being offered at 25 to 50 percent off the regular price.

Second Image is located at 3104 South Sanford Ave. (at Airport Boulevard intersection in the Cumberland Farms Plaza), Sanford.

The shop specializes in women's and children's wear and since co-owners Margie and Aubrey Combs opened Second Image nine months ago the stock has increased 10 fold.

While at Second Image be sure to check the special clearance tables where you will find items priced from 25 cents to $3.

For brides-to-be Second Image has marked down two-thirds of its stock of wedding gowns by 25 percent. There is a large selection to choose from in new and used gowns in sizes up through size 18. Gowns are also available for rental.

There is also a good selection of gowns for bridesmaids and the mother of the bride. Second Image has women's clothing from size 3 to 56 and children's sizes from infant boy's size 20 and girl's size 16. Women's fashions range from long and short formals to sportswear including designer jeans, sweaters, coats, jackets, skirts, suits, blouses and lingerie — many with famous name brand labels.

They also have accessories to complete your outfit such as handbags, scarves, jewelry and shoes.

Second Image will hold a drawing for a modern A-frame doll house on Valentine's Day. Proceeds from the project will go to the Florida United Methodist Children's Home, Enterprise. Tickets are available at the store for a $1 donation. Unsold clothing is also donated by Second Image to the children's home.

You'll always find sale items at Second Image. Consignment items on the racks after 30 days are reduced up to 25 percent and after 60 days may be reduced up to 50 percent.

Second Image is designed to take surplus family clothing and accessories in consignment from local individuals and retailers. The price is agreed upon by Second Image and the consignee, with Second Image receiving 60 percent after the sale. Any items not sold in 90 days may be picked up by the consignee within one week from the time their 90 days are up.

They are looking for designer styles in recent or current fashions in like new condition. Second Image is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. For information call 323-9421.

Bickering Stalls Effort To Move Alaska's Capital

By TOM TIEDE
WILLOW, Alaska (NEA) — The selection of Juneau as the government seat of Alaska is one of those matters that seemed like a capital idea at the time. When America acquired these northern reaches last century, Juneau was the largest, busiest, most conveniently located community in the possession.

But all that has long since changed. Given altered circumstances and population shifts, the city has become the most isolated capital in the United States. It is 700 miles from the heart of its state, and accessible only by air or boat; it's cut off from its mainland, actually, by Canada.

So it's natural that Alaskans have tried for years to remedy the problem. And twice last decade they thought they had. In 1974, Alaskans voted to move the government complex from Juneau, and, in 1976, they specifically decided to build a whole new capital here in the forested wilderness of Willow.

And yet the transfer has not proved to be as simple as that. Nothing ever is in this state of rugged individualists and highly emotional politics. Five years after the voting, Juneau remains the stuck-away center of administrative affairs, and Willow still has more black bears than bureaucrats.

What's happened is that the move has become mired in technical complexities and competing rhetoric. And observers say it is one of the most divisive and thus far futile arguments in the 22-year history of the state. What's more, speculators add that it may remain this way for a long while.

The principal impediment is that many Alaskans are stubbornly loyal to Juneau. They say a capital move would devastate the city and force half of its 20,000 population to pack up and leave. The Juneau forces also believe there is something to be said for tradition; Willow has no tradition.

Besides this, the anti-movers insist the capital switch would be politically detrimental to "grass roots Alaskans. The argument is that Juneau represents the real Alaska, the natives and the working class, while Willow, near Fairbanks and Anchorage, represents big industry and the otherwise privileged.

The otherwise privileged say this is a lot of moose fuz. But right or wrong, the Juneau argument has kept the capital move square on the dime. Alaskans have voted for a change, but with second thoughts, they have not yet voted to appropriate money to implement it; and so the issue is decidedly stalled.

While it is, meantime, Willow waits. And the few people who live here fairly seethe. The few people number Alaska's capital may not stay in Juneau indefinitely, but it's beginning to look as if it will never relocate in Willow. If and when the seat of authority is transferred, it's more likely to be to Fairbanks or Anchorage — the homes of the otherwise privileged.

about 100, and they say they are tired of being knocked around by the endless bickering. Many of them say they did not want the capital to come here in the first place, and, even accepting the worst, their lives and times have been measurably diminished by the endless argument.

The damage is not readily evident, to be sure. The people of Willow live in a wilderness that resembles the cover of a travel brochure. The forests stretch out for hundreds of miles, and elk often come into the backyards to feed. The nearest neighbor is an albino, Mount McKinley, 70 miles north.

And yet the problems in Willow are real. For one thing the residents can't plan their futures. Turk Mayfield, chairman of the area civic association says he doesn't know if he'll be surrounded by trees or traffic in five years; he fears some folks will be forced to leave if their peace and solitude is burgled.

We're a one income family, but that just makes First Federal of Seminole's IRA bigger and better.

"My wife's the best homemaker I know. She's taking care of our kids and the home, while I earn the family income. But IRA has a plan that lets anyone with a non-wage earning spouse establish an account for both with a higher contribution limit of $2,250, tax deferred. The government recognizes the great job she is doing, and I recognize a darn good tax shelter to get ready for later on."

Funeral Need Not Be A Grave Matter

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: "Confused in Indiana" wrote to say she was "shocked" to learn that a friend went dancing the night she buried her husband. You agreed, saying you thought it was "inappropriate" for mourners to dance so soon after burying a loved one.

Who do you think you are to pass judgment in the first place? That woman has the right to mourn her husband any way she wants to!

After my father was buried, we went to my cousin's house where my father had spent many happy hours. He particularly loved the clubroom. Right after the funeral I went down there and found the jukebox playing and all the relatives dancing and enjoying refreshments. On the chair where my father had always sat was a baseball cap made of flowers. (Dad loved baseball.) That was the only floral arrangement that was not left at the cemetery. It was as though my father was there watching everybody do what he loved to do in life.

After all, Abby, haven't you ever heard of an Irish wake? My family is not Irish, but not everyone sits "shivah."

MERRY IN MARYLAND
DEAR MERRY: I've had many surprises in my mail, but one of the biggest was the number of readers who wrote to disagree with me. You're right—everyone has the right to deal with his grief in his own way, but somehow, dancing the day of the funeral seemed inappropriate to me. And it still does.

DEAR ABBY: A very close friend of mine, who is a successful management consultant, has the worst case of halitosis I have ever encountered! Being a professional myself, I am worried that my friend's problem may cost him professionally and socially. He's single as well.

I have polled my friends and no one has come up with a suitable solution. He is such a lovely person and he must be told. But how? And by whom?

HIS FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: He must be made aware of his problem by someone who cares a great deal about him. I nominate you! If you can't find the words to tell him that he needs to see a dentist and/or a physician about his offensive breath, send him this column. It would be an act of kindness. Trust me.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a married woman (early 20s) and this problem concerns my best friend. (I'll call her Lila.)

We are like sisters. Lila has been going with the same fellow (I'll call him George) for three years and they are practically engaged. George's grandmother was sick in the hospital, so Lila went to see her and they wouldn't let her in because "family members only" were allowed to visit. It has caused a terrible rift between George and his family. George sides with Lila and so do I.

Abby, don't you think they should have considered this girl "family"? George's family say that as long as they are not married, she is not family. George's grandmother died a week later, and he is still on the outs with them.

LILA'S FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: Since George's grandmother was seriously ill, it is understandable that only family members were allowed to visit. Lila should have checked before going to the hospital.

DEAR ABBY: You wisely advised "Another Churchgoer" to practice the virtue of tolerance. That caused me to recall the words of the late E.M. Forster in his "Two Cheers for Democracy":

"Tolerance is a very dull virtue. It is boring. Unlike love, it has always had a bad press. No one has ever written an ode to tolerance, or raised a statue to her, yet this is the quality which will be most needed if different races and classes are to settle down together."

ARTHUR H. PRINCE
DEAR ARTHUR: With all due respect to Mr. Forster, to me, "tolerance" has a lukewarm, passive ring to it. To "tolerate" a race or class of people suggests "putting up with them." I would prefer the word "respect" in this instance.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NAMELESS IN ATLANTA: If you're convinced you are hopelessly impotent, you are.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 12000 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

Crooms Alumni Meet For Joint Reunion

Marva Hawkins
322-5118

Crooms Academy, which stands at the end of West 13th Street, Sanford, was and is still in the minds and lives of the thousands of youth who have marched through the hallowed halls of dear ole Crooms Academy.

Students from the classes of 1935 through 1960 gathered to reacquaint themselves with the history of this legend.

Highlights of this three-day event began with religious services, with Dr. Lewis Jones of Philadelphia, presiding last Sunday.

Former teachers Raymond Fields, Tallahassee, Mrs. Zelma Blackshere Johnson, West Palm Beach, Mrs. Angie B. Douglas, Mrs. Katie B. Sandifer, Mrs. Margaret Oliver and Mary Johnson, Eustis, were honored.

Dr. Oswald P. Bronson, president of Bethune Cookman College, delivered the message of the hour. A former Crooms Academy graduate, he gave to this audience of over 300 persons the challenge of the decade.

Others on the program were Evangelist Barbara J. Yancy, Philadelphia, Rev. Ruth Bell, New Jersey and Dr. Vernell Roberts, West Palm Beach.

Special recognition was given to the late Principals of Crooms, the late J.N. Crooms, H.L. Douglas and Roy A. Allen.

Words of honor and appreciation were given to Edward L. Blackshere, former student and present principal of Crooms High. Honor was also awarded to wives of the former principals.

An afternoon of reminiscence was held at the Celery City Elks Home where many friends, teachers and students gathered.

Decades of Reminiscence Banquet featured Dr. Lewis Jones as toastmaster. Dr. Elmer Jenkins, Pensacola, gave the invocation. "Lift Every Voice and Sing" was sung by the audience. Charles Roberts, former principal of Goldsboro Elementary, gave words of welcome.

Mrs. Lillie R. Hall explained the purpose of the gathering. Mrs. Evelyn R. Clark, soloist, was accompanied on the organ by Earl E. Minott.

Edward L. Blackshere, principal of Crooms High and classmate and friend, of The Honorable Wallace Orr, secretary of Labor of Florida, presented the speaker of the hour, Mr. Orr.

Mrs. Alfreda Wallace introduced the classes. Presentations were given by the committee chairman, Mrs. Juanita G. Harold.

The highlight of the evening was the entering of the special guest and honoree, Mrs. Wealthy R. Crooms, former assistant principal, teacher and dynamic leader of Crooms Academy, who has helped to mold the lives, mind and has taught thousands who will never forget her.

Surely Crooms Academy will never die, for it lives in the lives of many students who have become, successful lawyers, doctors, teachers, parents and leaders in many communities over these United States.

Decades of Reminiscence will live in the souls, minds and hearts of those who attended this meaningful event.

In Sanford for the holidays were Joan Tooley, California; Leroy Clark, New York; Melvin LaFair, Newark, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wright, Massachusetts; Mr. and Mrs. Rivers McCreary, Washington and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson and family, Flagstaff, Ariz.

HOROSCOPE

By BEHNICE BEDE USOL

For Wednesday, January 6, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY
January 6, 1982

This coming year you are likely to be given some heavier responsibilities and you'll have to work a bit harder than you did in the past. Don't let this disturb you. The rewards will be commensurate to your efforts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Keep persons out of your business affairs today who are not directly involved. You'll do well acting on your own, but a noisy intruder could gum things up. Predictions of what's in store for you in each season following your birth date and where your luck and opportunities lie are in your new Astro-Graph, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may be called upon to manage a difficult situation today. You should be able to do so with comparative ease, as long as you use methods which worked previously.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your greatest rewards will not come today through satisfying selfish ambitions, but by being helpful to those you love. Put their interests above yours.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Something disruptive could occur today between you and your mate. If each keeps a cool head, love will prevail and smooth things over.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today will be more profitable if you stay in your own ballwick and out of situations over which you have little or no control. Don't gamble on benefits from others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't let outsiders influence you today in matters which are strictly between you and the one you love. Their lack of understanding will cloud issues.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Once you set your agenda today, it's important to stick to it if you hope to achieve desirable results. Disruptions that threaten to throw you off-course could pop up.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your friends will be supportive today, and willing to do your bidding, provided you make requests of them and not demands. Be tactful and diplomatic.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions look promising for you today careerwise and financially. However, things may not go exactly as you plan. Be flexible.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Follow through on plans today as you initially envision them. Making last-minute changes will lessen your possibilities for success.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're good at managing things today for others, provided there isn't money involved. Be helpful, but should cash outlay be required let them look elsewhere.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Greater strides will be made today from arrangements where you work with others than from that which you do independently. Team up.

Getting Diet Help For Hypoglycemia

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have been having dizzy feelings for the past two or three weeks. I work very hard in a bacon plant. Our line averages 20 to 22,000 pounds of bacon in eight hours. My job is to keep the meat straight on the cardboard and pick all the ends and pieces from it. Sometimes I pass out or almost pass out. I went to the clinic for a glucose tolerance test. It showed I have low blood sugar. Please tell me about it. What food can I eat and the amount per meal? Am I allowed to eat bananas and apples? I'm 56 years old. The diet the doctor gave me doesn't help much. What kind of meat can I eat?

DEAR READER—To correctly diagnose hypoglycemia—low blood glucose (sugar)—you must demonstrate the low values at the same time a person has the symptoms. If you did not have faintness or dizziness (your symptoms) while you were taking the test, I doubt your diagnosis is correct. These standards for the diagnosis are those recommended by the American Medical Association.

Assuming your diagnosis is correct I can say that hypoglycemia can cause dizziness and can even cause fainting. The latter is associated with insufficient glucose in the brain cells, in contradistinction to the adrenaline symptoms of sweating, heart irregularities or rapid pulse and nervousness.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 18-B, Hypoglycemia: The Low Blood Sugar Problem, which separates the two types of symptoms and explains the management to you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

You will probably feel better if you eat several small meals rather than one to three larger meals a day. And you should avoid all sweets and concentrated starches as found in baked products. You can eat raw apples and perhaps other raw fruit. You'll have to try out what works best for you. Use raw and leafy vegetables.

Most meats are usually recommended for reactive hypoglycemia as they contain no concentrated sweets and because their fat and protein content slow the emptying of the stomach.

At work you might get some benefit from wearing support hose or pressure garments or bandages on your legs. That will prevent blood pooling and sometimes prevents dizziness.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I need some information on how to improve speech. I'm only 16 years old but I stutter badly at times. Sometimes I talk perfectly but then again I can hardly get the words out. At times after talking I am breathless. I have a problem reading now. I am a good student in school I could do better but I won't read orally or do reports orally in class. During my senior year I am going to have to do a lot of oral reports to pass so I want to be prepared.

DEAR READER—I understand your frustration and am pleased with your initiative to try to do something for yourself. Stuttering is a complex problem and I would urge you to get some professional help from a speech therapist.

To be sure you get in the hands of one qualified to help with your problem, write to the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association, 10801 Rockville Pike, Rockville, Md 20852. Ask them for a recommendation for someone in your area. You can send along this column with your letter if you wish.

Others who need to know where to find a qualified speech therapist or audiologist can get recommendations from the same source.

WIN AT BRIDGE

South and after his partner started proceedings by a ridiculous takeout double of one club the Hog felt impelled to bid a lot and to finally suggest a grand slam. Of course, North's jump to seven spades was a real overbid and left the Hog flying blind at 20,000 feet with one motor conked out. Still, everything good happens to the Hog and he brought in the contract.

See if you readers can work it out before you read further.

He took dummy's ace of clubs, ruffed a club high, led a diamond to dummy, ruffed another club high, led another diamond to dummy, ruffed a third club high and led his carefully preserved deuce of trumps in order to finesse dummy's eight.

He cashed the J-10 of trumps to discard two diamonds. Since trumps were now exhausted, he cashed dummy's last club to discard his last diamond. East had started with just two diamonds so West had to chuck his nine of hearts to guard against dummy's diamond deuce and the Hog's three hearts took the last three tricks.
