Smog Put Mill Town On Knees; Killed 20

EDITOR'S NOTE—To a general Donora still recall when "it was so thick you couldn't see your hand in front of your face." Donora, Pa., is just a small town in Pennsylvania—11 1/2 miles from Allentown. It is known as the "Smog City" because of the pollution that has been there for so long.

By JAMES V. LAMB, Associated Press Writer
DONORA, Pa. (AP) — At first, it was just another autumn fog that rolled in off the Monongahela River. A little colder, a little denser, perhaps. There was no indication of the choking over for three weeks and the valley beneath a layer of nearly 6,000 others had been smothered for five days and bring this western Pennsylvanian mill town to its knees.

For most of the 12,000 residents on that Wednesday, Oct. 27, 1948, thoughts were elsewhere. Elections were a week away. The baseball season had been over for three weeks and the St. Louis Cardinals had had another fantastic season, leading the league in batting with a 37% average.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reported dispassionately that a high pressure system had created a temperature inversion—cold, dense air was trapped in the valley.

It also trapped the fumes of soot, fumes and smoke that poured out of the stacks of a steelmill and the works from chimneys, auto exhausts, trains and passing boats.

Before winds and rain cleared the air five days later, 20 persons were dead or dying and twenty two years after, some residents still recall the only taste of the air, the queasy feeling in their stomachs, and the fact they could hardly see the annual Halloween parade as it moved down McKean Avenue, the town's main street.

'Adequate Teaching' Is Urged By Educator

By FREDERICK H. TRESHER, Dated Press International

A prominent educator has urged that more attention be given to the "adequacy" of the teaching in our schools to educate large numbers of children.

Dr. Edmund W. Gordon, professor of education at Teachers College, Columbia University, laments that "based on insufficient trials with insufficient evidence, we have been offered the conclusion that black and other disadvantaged children have not responded to compensatory education or that compensatory education has failed."

Dr. Gordon's intent is to bring such conclusions to general attention, and in particular, those of Dr. Arthur Jensen, educational psychologist at the University of California at Berkeley.

In a controversial article in the December, 1966, issue of the Harvard Education Review, Jensen advanced the thesis that compensatory education had failed. Further, he argued that there is a hereditary difference in intelligence among racial groups and that certain races possibly are inherently limited in their intellectual capacity to learn abstract concepts, although they can master skills by rote.

Dr. Gordon, former director of research and evaluation for Operation Head Start, denounces the "heredity" claim in the current bulletin of the Information Retrieval Center on the Disadvantaged at Columbia.

"To assert that disadvantaged children have not responded under this special treatment is like claiming that medication doesn't help when the proper medicine has been unavailable," Gordon contends.

On the matter of heredity, Dr. Gordon says, "In effect, that there never has been a direct effect of a group that is genetically isolated on a specific race, then isolated the genetic factors within the group that account for intelligence, potential ability, educational achievement. In other words, those studies as Negroes were selected by skin color, not gene makeup."

Gordon urges his profession not to be led to premature and irresponsible conclusions and inferences. "Hereditary characteristics are determined by genetic analysis. It can only be determined by adequate teaching."

Impeachment Action Directed To Douglas

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An estimated 100,000 members of both parties today got behind a move to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

The move is a result of a conflict of interest, lack of decorum, fomenting rebellion and writing an article in a level magazine.

Defenders of the controversial 71-year-old civil libertarian justice denounced the anti-Douglas drive as a retaliatory move based on Senate rejection of President Nixon's two "strict constructionist" court nominees, Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. and G. Harrold Carswell.

House leaders saw no way to turn off the Douglas inquiry and indications were that the mood of the majority was to vote an impeachment. This would put the issue of Douglas' alleged mistreatment before the Senate for trial. A two-thirds vote in the Senate would be required for conviction.

Douglas sent a note through the Supreme Court's press office that he would not speak with reporters. But in a brief, stalling interview with NBC as he left his office he said House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford's statement that his book endorsed violent revolution was "further from my thoughts."

"Douglas said in a statement released through his press office that as far as the material in Evergreen was concerned, his New York publisher, Random House, "has under the publishing contract sole and exclusive rights for post-publication of excerpts."

Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Calif., handed the leadership to the only available weapon, and it was a weak one calculated to put the impeachment issue before the House Judiciary Committee rather than before a special six-man committee

Electoral College

By ROY MCGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Judiciary Committee's consideration of electoral reform will delay a Senate vote on the Supreme Court nomination of Harry A. Blackmun—Minnesota until mid-May—two years after the Abe Fortas vacancy began.

The committee is scheduled to vote April 24 on a proposed constitutional amendment for direct popular election of the president. Committee members' direct popular election of the president's nomination with a brief stalling interview with NBC as he left his office he said House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford's statement that his book endorsed violent revolution was "further from my thoughts."

The prime recovery carrier, the USS Two Jims, and a cargo ship, the USS Hall, were in the area, along with rescue planes, to take the astronauts out of their capsule.

Apollo 13's mission wound up early and without a moon landing because of an explosion on the service module Monday as the spacecraft was heading toward the moon.

As the astronauts jettisoned their service module earlier they reported, "There's one whole side of that spacecraft missing... it's a mess." But that damage, outside the command ship would not affect their safe return to earth.

The damage was the result of the oxygen tank rupture that aborted the moon-landing mission Monday night and forced the astronauts to fight for survival with the resources of their lunar lander.

The separation of the service module came at the end of an hour of furious activity in which James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. turned on the electrical power in the command ship and fired a control jet to aim for an afternoon landing in the Pacific Ocean.

The service module damage would present no problem to the astronauts' return to earth.

Following the separation, Lovell said one whole panel, 22 feet long, and part of the engine bell were missing.

Thank You, LORD SPLASHDOWN!

The prime recovery carrier, the USS Two Jims, and a cargo ship, the USS Hall, were in the area, along with rescue planes, to take the astronauts out of their capsule.

Apollo 13's mission wound up early and without a moon landing because of an explosion on the service module Monday as the spacecraft was heading toward the moon.

As the astronauts jettisoned their service module earlier they reported, "There's one whole side of that spacecraft missing... it's a mess." But that damage, outside the command ship would not affect their safe return to earth.

The damage was the result of the oxygen tank rupture that aborted the moon-landing mission Monday night and forced the astronauts to fight for survival with the resources of their lunar lander.

The separation of the service module came at the end of an hour of furious activity in which James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. turned on the electrical power in the command ship and fired a control jet to aim for an afternoon landing in the Pacific Ocean.

The service module damage would present no problem to the astronauts' return to earth.

Following the separation, Lovell said one whole panel, 22 feet long, and part of the engine bell were missing.

The service module contained most of the long-life oxygen and electrical power for the Apollo 13 command ship.

The explosion Monday night rendered the command vehicle useless until today when power was restored with batteries.

The astronauts discarded the service module to expose the command ship heat shield which was to protect them during the blazing re-entry through the atmosphere.

The spacemen used a tricky "push-pull" technique to separate the service module.

Goldsboro Area Selected In Urban Renewal Plan

By BILL SCOTT

Sanford urban renewal took another step forward last night when the city zoning and planning board designated an area in the Goldsboro section to be the tentative project area.

Martin Gaynor, renewal consultant with Gerald Dale's city planning office, pinpointed six areas, including two in Georgetown and four in Goldsboro, in need of renewal.

Planners, after perusing maps and charts, made a decision that would place the city's first project in Goldsboro, bounded on the north by 8th Street, on the west by the railroad, on the east by Maple Avenue and on the south by 12th Street.

Lynn Blamer, city building official, said there are approximately 40 to 45 acres in the selected site.

No official renewal cost estimates have been disclosed but, according to some observers, the expense involved in reclaiming the land after bulldozing the blighted area is expected to be between $2 million and $3 million, with city improvements to be counted by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) as credits toward the overall renewal expense.

The designated area was finally chosen after the planners first selected a Georgetown section where a north-south street paving project is scheduled to commence as soon as legal technicalities are completed but changed after City Manager W. E. Knowles suggested a portion of Goldsboro be selected.

Knowles also suggested that county might be planning to build another school in the site area and, if so, the construction could count as credits toward city's one-third share of the project.

In picking the area, the planning board recommended that city officials get with the school board to determine what improvements are forecast for the vicinity of the renewal project.

Planners emphasized that project area would not be recommended yet to the city commission for final approval.

House Frowns On Sex Ed

Fred Ganas, Seminole County health education director, says at the present time neither he nor the State Department is too concerned over the Florida House of Representatives action yesterday in passing a bill to ban a wide range of sex teaching materials, some of which are used in Seminole's pilot Health Education Program.

Ganas said he had talked with state officials after yesterday's action by the House and it was the feeling that proponents would have greater difficulty in getting passage in the state Senate in the bill's present form.

Yesterday's House action, by a 55 to 50 vote, approved a ban on materials in the SEXUS (Sex Education Information Council) which are not used in Seminole Schools.

Also banned was material used in the Senior Health Education Study (SRES) program, which is used in the county's health education curriculum, Ganas said.

The same House action also banned the use of the Sullivan reading series from state schools. This series which uses cartoons to depict misfortune and violence is not used in Seminole's curriculum.

Ganas said Seminole County is in the Pilot Health Education Program with two other counties, Howard and Invol, and the SHES program provided the materials used in the three counties.

Seminole County has again been honored in conjunction with the recovery of an Apollo mission.

Specialist 5 Carlton McDonald, son of Mrs. I. ex. McDonald, 1806 West 12th Place, Sanford, is serving aboard the two Jims, the ship which is most likely to participate in the recovery of the Apollo 13 crew.

Seaman second class Mitchell Bucklew, Wilbur Avenue, Lake Mary, participate in the recovery of the Apollo 11 crew in July of 1969. As a member of the Navy's Underwater Demolition Team he was one of the first men to reach the Apollo 11 team.

Religious Thought

By LEV. LEROY SOPER
Holy Cross Episcopal Church

One of the commonest things we see a lot of on TV these days is the one in which a child rushes up to his mother or father shouting, "I didn't have any cookies." The setting is usually a hotel or library or gymnasium, and the child is invariably intruding into a situation where he becomes a distraction.

This is just one example of the myriad distractions there are in the world today. No matter what we settle down to accomplish, we can be pretty sure that something is going to come along which will intrude itself into the business at hand or our train of thought. Even if we decide to walk along a quiet beach to contemplate the wonders of God's creation, we probably will stumble across an empty beer can or some other detritus which breaks into our mood and reminds us how much the world is with us.

The religious person is supposed to have his mind's eye fixed upon God. He is the child who has no cookies, things keep falling in on us to take our minds off of other things, far from the throne of God. We go to church, and our minds fly off to the roof in the oven at home. A preacher tries to speak of paradise, and our thoughts wander to a problem at the office. We gather to offer our corporate worship, and we think instead of someone in the congregation whom we dislike. Life is full of these distractions, and the religious person has no exemption from them.

I am not sure there is a guaranteed way of keeping these things from getting in the way of spiritual growth. We are reminded that we must pray without ceasing, but we dislike it if our scheme of prayer is interrupted by outside ideas. We are human beings, not divine. We have thoughts which reach out to the divine, but we also have thoughts which are a far cry from divinity.

The Church itself uses certain devices which keep our minds from wandering when we are in church. The buildings which have stoves and crosses have a point of concentration which can help us keep our eyes, and minds, from wandering. The vestments some clergy wear remind us that what we are doing is important and beautiful. The pastoral prayer of non-secular churches leads our minds into pondering the wonders of God and His Son. The action of the formal liturgy of the Roman and Episcopal Churches leads our minds in a constructive and instructive way.

These things may work pretty well, but then, we don't spend as much time in church. The vast bulk of our waking hours is spent at work or play or home—away from the building which, by its very existence reminds us of God and His holy act. Because of this we have to cope with distraction at least we can.

It comes down to the point where we have two ways of dealing with those things which distract us from the vision of God which we ought to be continually holding before us. One of these is to ignore it. The other is to make constructive use of it.

I am not sure anyone less than a saint can ignore distraction. The fact is that outside things can intrude unless we are near a trance. We can teach ourselves to pray with an intensity that shuts out things outside of us, but not for long. The mind tires, and so do the knees. All of us need to fix our total selves upon heaven every day. The fact is that we can do this for long. It does seem to be a matter of learning so that the periods of concentration upon God and Christ can be gradually lengthened. It takes practice. It takes devotion. It takes a considerable amount of sacrifice to be able to submit totally to the listening for the word of God.

The alternative is to accept distraction and use it constructively. If we can do this, we can stop using the clamoring child like at the sleeve of our attention—and his cavities teeth. We can pray God's blessings on the child and his family. We can thank God for the dentist and his knowledge.

Every time we are distracted from our praying or our vision of God achieved in other ways, we can take the moment as a time for expansion into areas which we might have ignored before. We can see the interruption for growth. Instead of narrowing our concentration down to one fine point, we can broaden our prayers out to include our joy in all that is created and all that goes on around us. We can use distraction to focus to love of God into areas which we might not have thought of.

Many Clergymen Leaving Church

By LOUIS CASSELL
UPI Religion Writer

Each year, several thousand men leave the Catholic priesthood or the Protestant ministry.

Most of these clerical dropouts are highly trained, and once they also were highly motivated.

What causes them to abandon their chosen careers? People who like simplistic answers have a ready explanation: Catholic priests quit because they want to get married. Protestant ministers because they want to make more money.

Beyond doubt, these motives do play a part in some clerical defections. But they certainly are not the only reasons, and perhaps are not even the major reasons, why clergymen leave the service of the church.

Several recent studies have helped to make this clear. The United Church of Christ commissioned a team of social scientists to make a two-year study of men who have dropped out of the ministry. Depth interviews with 37 ex-pastors revealed that the most common reason for leaving was a strong sense of inadequacy. Seventeen per cent of the ex-pastors said they felt they just weren't able to measure up, personally or professionally, to the enormous demands of their calling.

The next most common reason, cited by 15 per cent, was inability to relocate when necessary. In most Protestant denominations, clergy placement is left to a bishop or system.

"Family Problems" were mentioned by 13 per cent of the ex-pastors as the dominant cause of their departure from the ministry. While family problems include the domestic tensions generated by a chronic lack of money, it is significant that only a small percentage of the dropouts said financial pressures were the main reason why they felt compelled to seek other careers.

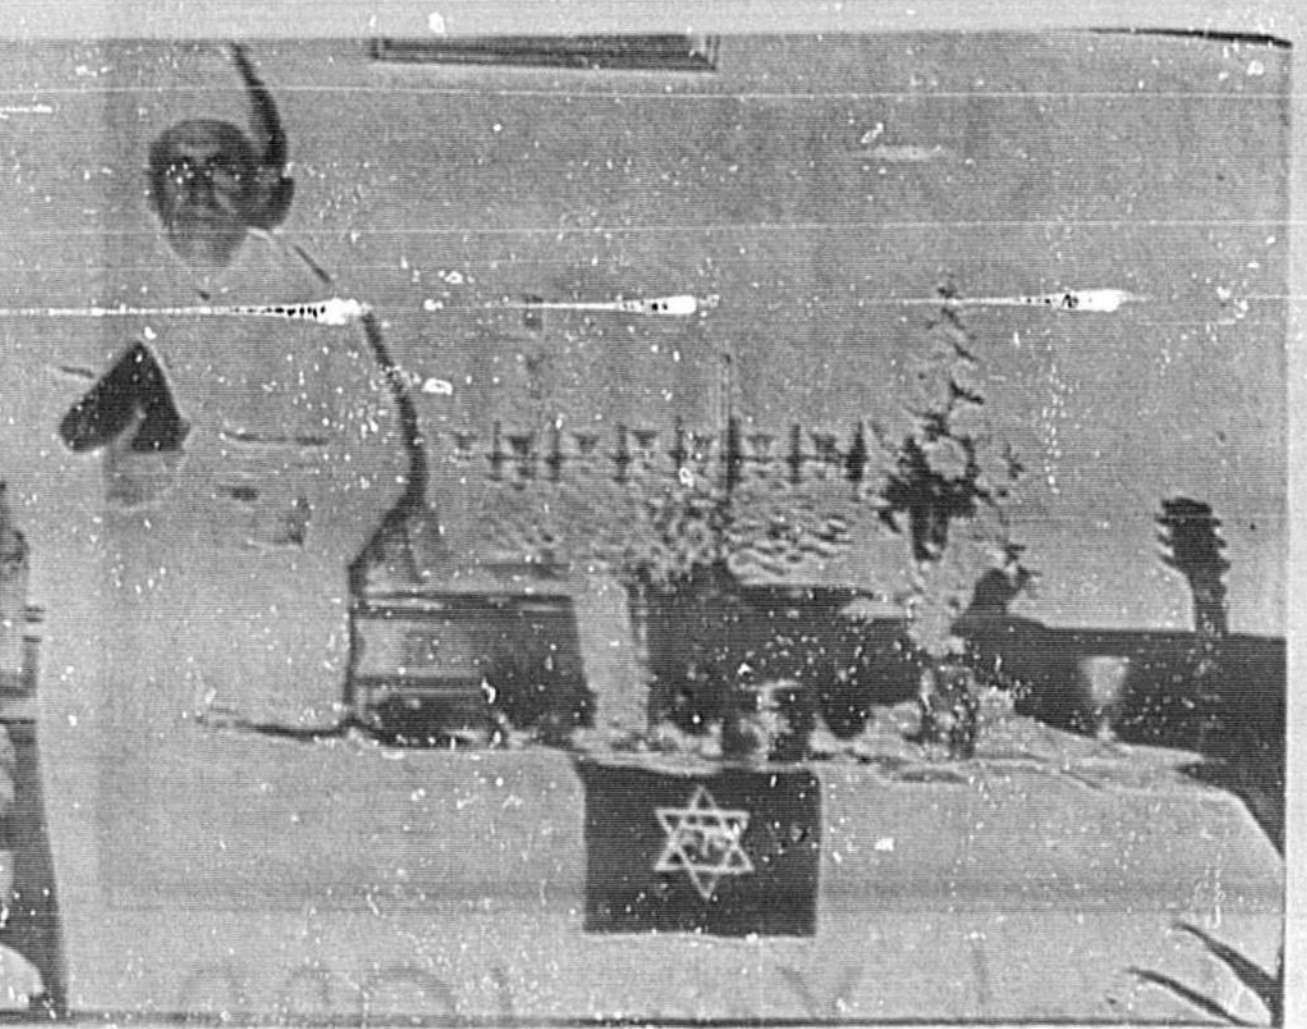

A Harvard psychiatrist, Dr. James J. Gill, interviewed 10 Catholic priests who have left the active ministry. Although most of them have married, Gill concluded it was not libido but the actual act of marriage that defeated them.

They feel that they are taken for granted, and that their hard work and sacrifices are neither recognized nor appreciated. Their emotional frustration makes them highly vulnerable to the actual act of marriage and sympathetic women.

Another factor, highlighted by all studies of the problem, is the demoralization which has been caused among the clergy by the currently fashionable practice of putting down "the institutional church."

There are laws against cruelty to animals. Perhaps we are at least a moratorium on cruelty to clergymen.

Rev. Chance To Speak In Germany

Pastor Fred B. Chance of First Baptist Church of Sanford has been invited to participate in a Simultaneous Revival Crusade in the churches of the European Baptist Convention and the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention (U.S.).

Thirty-eight churches comprise the convention (English speaking). They are located in areas from London to Berlin and from Paris to Rome. These churches minister mostly to military personnel and their families. There are more than a half million members stationed in these areas.

The church in which Rev. Chance will be preaching is the Trinity Baptist Church of Bamboelberg, West Germany. It is estimated that there are 10,000 persons in this area. The Revival effort will begin April 26 and continue through April 28.

Rev. Bill Guess, formerly pastor of Pinecrest Baptist Church of Sanford, is the General Secretary-Treasurer of the European Baptist Convention. On Sunday morning, April 19, the First Baptist Church of Sanford will host a group of 18 students from Valdosta State College, Valdosta, Ga. The group will arrive Saturday, April 18, and will go with the youth of the church for an outing at Daytona Beach.

During the Sunday School hour, members of the team will be speaking for those 18 years of age and above. They will be speaking for those 18 years of age and above. They will be speaking for those 18 years of age and above.

Occasionally a picnic on a warm Spring day will be the prelude to a hike through the woods in search of "interesting" locations. It can be an inexpensive day check full of family togetherness and fun or possibly only ten minutes snatched from a busy, overcrowded schedule to look out a book from the library.

If this sounds like something you might like to do, call George and Gypsy Scott at (22-7181) or Vince and Jan Carr at (22-6977) to find out more about the Sanford Bottle Club. Meetings are held monthly with educational programs, bottle displays and sales, an auction now and then, and information exchange and family style fellowship.

U.S. Dist. Judge C. Clyde Atkins, ruling on the federal government's first challenge of permanent pollution, Thursday ordered discharges from its Turkey Point plant 23 miles south of Miami.

"It is my conclusion that the burden of showing that the present operation of the Turkey Point plant is causing irreparable damage to Lower Biscayne Bay..." Atkins said.

"I do find that the present warm water discharge causes some damage but it is minimal and retrievable."

The judge, however, left open the way for further court action. During hearings last month he denied a plea for a preliminary injunction against dredging of a six-mile, $8 million discharge.

About 100,000 tourists visit the Virginia Island National Park each year.

Rev. Russell Carr, President of the Central Florida Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association announced the organization's annual meeting will be held on April 16 at the Bit-O-Sweetie at 7 p.m. Closing of officers, approval of program of work and honoring of volunteers who serve the association will highlight the meeting.

Facts About Sanford

How well do you know Sanford and the surrounding area? Did you know that Sanford was once a part of Mosquito County? That back around the turn of the century Sanford had a public swimming pool kept clean by filling it with fresh cold spring water no longer exist? That a ferry took cars across the river between Sanford and Debarry before the bridge was built?

It took several hours to drive to Daytona Beach on the "wash-board" road. Several formerly thriving towns no longer exist. Only the most observant will notice the partially exposed foundations of buildings where once stood hotels, railroad stations, general stores and homes. Can you tell a former homestead in the woods of today simply by a tell-tale plant "foreign" to those woods?

Members of the newly organized Sanford Bottle Club find history both interesting and valuable in their constant quest for addition to their collections of antique bottles and related objects. Taking with them a "listening" eye, the old timers is often very rewarding in many ways. In the hurried days of the 70's people take the time to listen to these interesting tales of yesteryear or to visit with the people who "knew Sanford when."

Many people are surprised to learn that bottles, commonly used 50 or 100 years ago, are prized collectors items. They are also amazed that there are many ways these bottles are located. Sometimes the clues fit together like the pieces of a crossword puzzle. A word here, a phrase in the book, possibly an old newspaper clipping or photo.

Two Missing Coeds Found Decapitated

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — A three-month search for two West Virginia University coeds has ended with the finding of their heads in bottles. The remains of Karen Perrell of Kinross, N.J., both 19, were discovered by National Guardsmen and state police Thursday in a remote wooded area about 19 miles from the campus.

The bodies were found in a small ravine about 150 yards from a dirt road described by one resident of the area as a "lover's lane" for college students. Authorities said one body was nude, the other clothed.

The girls had last been seen hitchhiking back to their dormitory the evening of Jan. 18 after seeing a movie in downtown Morgantown.

North Orlando Seeks Revenue

Council 'In Dark' On $5

By MARRION BRETHER Following the April 15 income tax deadline, many are in the dark regarding the advisability of imminent financial ventures. The North Orlando Village Council was literally "in the dark" due to a power failure.

The work session had been called to ascertain ways of increasing village revenue without resorting to ad valorem taxes, which Mayor Clifford Jordan opposes. At the first of the month, the village finances stood at $1,222,000 in the general fund, $415,657 in the road and bridge fund and $1,745,871 in the building fund.

Freeman advised the council that copies of the village ordinances should be made and given to the councilmen and sold to any other desiring them. Freeman stated that the council does not have immediate access to the ordinances it often proves embarrassing. He cited the instance of recent transactions with Gulf American Corporation in which negotiations were almost completed before determining whether the village had an ordinance against open drainage ditches.

Freeman continued that he had been approached by attorneys for other possible developers in the area, requesting copies of the ordinances, and he was compelled to advise them that they would have to visit the North Orlando office to view it. Council agreed that copies should be made, especially with the impending mobile home park which will be located on Moss and Hays Road wishing to study the ordinances.

The meeting was continued until Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., at which time it is hoped council will have more "light" on the subject and can complete the financial discussion.

FP & L Decision In Pollution Case

MIAMI (AP)—A federal judge has ruled that the Justice Department failed to prove that Florida Power & Light Co. is causing "irreparable harm" to Biscayne Bay by thermal pollution.

U.S. Dist. Judge C. Clyde Atkins, ruling on the federal government's first challenge of permanent pollution, Thursday ordered discharges from its Turkey Point plant 23 miles south of Miami.

"It is my conclusion that the burden of showing that the present operation of the Turkey Point plant is causing irreparable damage to Lower Biscayne Bay..." Atkins said.

"I do find that the present warm water discharge causes some damage but it is minimal and retrievable."

The judge, however, left open the way for further court action. During hearings last month he denied a plea for a preliminary injunction against dredging of a six-mile, $8 million discharge.

Methodists Planning International Meet

LAKELAND—Bishop James W. Henley and 24 lay and ministerial delegates will represent the Florida Conference at the special international assembly of the United Methodist Church's General Conference April 20-24 in St. Louis.

The general conference of the 21 million-member denomination's top policy and law-making body, nearly 1,000 elected delegates, the 60-member Council of Bishops and scores of church board administrators are due to attend.

The special session of the General Conference, which meets regularly every four years, was scheduled as a "between" meeting in anticipation of the need to resolve problems arising from the 1968 merger of the Methodist and Evangelical United Brethren denominations.

However, some Methodist ministers believe the assembly is likely to be a turbulent session, marked by denunciations by various reform groups inside and outside the church.

"Our whole denomination is aware of questioning attitudes toward national structures, priorities, funding, and the needs of reconciliation and strengthening at the local level," commented the Christian Advance, national Methodist newsmagazine, in its pre-conference issue.

Rev. Russell Carr, President of the Central Florida Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association announced the organization's annual meeting will be held on April 16 at the Bit-O-Sweetie at 7 p.m.

Scholarship Awarded To J. M. Goerrs

John M. Goerrs, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Herbert W. Goerrs, 215 Ridge Dr., has been awarded a scholarship for the 1969-70 school year from AID Association for Lutherans, a fraternal life insurance society with home office in Apopka, Fla.

He is a ministerial student at the Central Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., having graduated from Seminole High School, Sanford, and Concordia Senior College, Ft. Wayne, Ind. He is a member of Lutheran Church of Providence in Deltona.

Nation Economy Slips Into Worst Recession

By NORMAN KEMPSTER
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's economy slipped during the first three months of this year into the worst slump since the 1960 recession. But the most troublesome inflation since the Korean War continued unabated.

The Commerce Department said Thursday the nation's total output of goods and services declined at an annual rate of 1.5 per cent in the first quarter of the year but prices increased at a rate of 5 per cent.

As a result, there was less to buy in the January-through-March period but it cost more.

The 1.5 per cent decline in economic output was the sharpest since a 2 per cent dip in the fourth quarter of 1966 and it followed a 0.4 per cent drop in the fourth quarter of last year. By some rules of thumb definitions, a downturn that lasts two consecutive quarters is a recession.

"It does not think we are seeing that there was evidence that the mini-recession has ended. The Federal Reserve said

Workers Reaping Nation's Bumper Crop: Litter

By G. DAVID WALLACE
 Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Springtime '70. As snowbirds recede workers fan out to reap a bumper crop of the nation's ugliest harvest: Litter.

Government officials, meanwhile, are proposing new taxes, regulations or research on the NRs—nonreturnable bottles and cans—to cut down the potential source of trash.

Clean-up volunteers, stirred in part by popularization of the environment as a social and political issue, are supplementing highway and park crews which have been gathering the trash for years.

Stone County, Ark., freed children from school to pick up litter. Officials expect 70,000 or more persons to turn out for "Green Up Day" in Vermont Saturday. Huntington, W. Va., residents will be scouring the town for bottles the same day to earn a $20 a ton bounty from Owens-Illinois glass company.

And in Portland, Ore., John Piacentini rows off a pile of cans and bottles outside the warehouse for the 80 Flaid Panty supermarkets he owns.

The pile represents only a few of the 3 million or so cans and bottles turned in to his stores after he offered a half a cent apiece. The project, which lasted 18 days, cost him $15,000.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., estimates that unless the gradual demise of the deposit bottle is reversed, the 25 billion one-way cans and bottles produced in 1969 will swell to 58 billion six years from now.

Nelson proposed Packaging Pollution Control Act would empower the government to levy "packaging charges" on containers "calculated to reflect the level of adverse environment effects."

Oregon and Indiana are considering similar measures.

More immediately, Nelson and other officials like presidential consumer assistant Virginia assured income level. Opponents also argued the incentives would require recipients to train for and take self-sufficient jobs and would be ineffective. But their combined strength was not enough to upset the rule that the House must vote the whole package up or down or send it back to the Ways and Means Committee for more work.

Chillingworth Trial Is Revived

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Frank "Lucky" Holzapfel, who once testified "Hobapfel is to be crushed like a cockroach" as he stomped his foot on a courtroom floor, arrived here Thursday seeking to have his life sentence overturned for the murder of Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth. Handcuffed and wearing leg irons, Holzapfel entered the Palm Beach County Jail about the same time Joseph A. Peck Jr., also serving a life term for the 1958 slaying of the elderly couple, arrived at the jail. He will testify at Holzapfel's new trial hearing Monday. Both men arrived from Raiford Prison, Holzapfel, convicted of kidnapping and drowning the Chillingworths in the sea after abducting them from their Manalapan, Fla., ocean-side home, claims he was duped into going a confession. He was originally sentenced to die in the electric chair, but the sentence was later commuted to life.

Peck, an attorney and former West Palm Beach municipal judge, was accused of masterminding the murders. He was convicted on testimony by Holzapfel and his sister-in-law, Bobby Lincoln. Lincoln was given immunity in exchange for his testimony and is presently free. However, part of the motion which is expected to be heard Monday by Judge James Stewart seeks to remove that immunity.

Holzapfel is also expected to claim he gave a confession after being offered a one-way ticket to Brazil and a 24-hour head start on officers.

72 Persons Killed In Earlier Fall New Avalanche Routs Rescue Workers

PARIS (UPI)—A new avalanche roared down the 27th peak today, routing rescue workers digging for bodies of victims of Thursday's disaster that killed 72 persons in a children's tuberculosis sanatorium.

Pooling off the snowcapped peak at daybreak, masses of mud, granite and snow railed down the slope, stopping only yards from the nurses home of the hospital.

The new avalanche created panic among the rescue workers, who threw their shovels and tried some falling to the ground in their haste. One worker suffered a broken leg from the crushing rock. When the new slide ended, the 30 rescue workers went back to digging into the mass of rock, mud, steel, concrete, and crushed iron in the search for victims of Thursday's tragedy.

Gendarmes posted a lofty ledge on the mountain set of smoke grenades of warning each time a landslide began.

Several minor rockslides preceded the new avalanche, hitting the cabin and air in the shadow of Mt. Blanc, Europe's highest mountain, with an ominous rumbling.

The rescue workers used electronic listening equipment in the search at the chance there were survivors under the heaps of mud, rocks and snow from the mountain.

Public Health Minister Robert Boulin said Thursday the official death toll was 72.

Soviet Pilots, Jets Join Arabs

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union has introduced both Soviet pilots and the latest MIG-23 jets into the Middle East struggle, authorities here said today.

The reports said the Soviets probably introduced the MIG-23s, probably the most sophisticated aircraft in use in the area, into Egypt at the same time they began delivering SAM-3 missiles to the government of President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The reports did not give dates but said it was the first MIG-23 shipment to Egypt and the first known case of such planes being supplied to any nation outside the Soviet Union.

The MIG-23 can attain a speed of 1,800 miles an hour. Western military experts said the MIG-23, as yet untested in combat, is at least as good as the American-built Phantom fighter-bomber. Israel is receiving 50 Phantoms from the United States and generally uses the Phantom with a seven-ton bomb load on a deep penetration into Egypt.

Military experts said the MIG-23 would be used to fly cover over the network of SAM-3 missile sites being constructed in the Egyptian Delta and the Nile Valley rather than for strikes against Israeli warplanes or against Israeli ground targets.

Yank-Viet Military Buildup Reported Along Cambodia

ROUTE ONE BORDER CROSSING, Vietnam (AP) — A massive South Vietnamese and American military buildup is taking place along the Cambodian border north and south of this key crossing point.

There is no evidence of armed American forces across the frontier. But a battalion from the U.S. 25th Infantry Division has moved into the border region to relieve South Vietnamese troops now operating as far as 10 miles inside Cambodia.

The American Infantrymen from the 25th Division have taken over a Vietnamese patrol base called Blue about 3 1/2 miles northwest of the border crossing. There, the Americans are operating advanced radar to track North Vietnamese and Viet Cong rockets and mortar fired inside Cambodia. The radar operators say they relay their information back to the division's headquarters at Cu Chi.

A task force of more than 2,000 South Vietnamese troops plus hundreds of tanks and armored personnel carriers has moved operating inside Cambodia in recent days. South Vietnamese jets and prop planes have been bombing North Vietnamese positions inside Cambodia in support of the task force.

Route One, the highway between Saigon and Phnom Penh, crosses the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon into an area of Cambodia called the Parrot's Beak on military maps. The military estimates more than 10,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are in this region. Early this week they pushed to the outskirts of Svay Rieng, the Cambodian provincial capital about 30 miles west of Route One Crossing but no military take the town has been reported.

The situation is considered so politically explosive that American military police from the 25th Division have been stationed at the border to keep civilians and American military personnel from crossing into Cambodia.

Longwood Bans Duplex Homes

By ANN RILEY

A special meeting of the Longwood City Council to adopt an amendment banning duplexes in R-1 zoning areas was held last night in spite of opposition by Chairman James Browne. Browne, who had expressed his intention to boycott the meeting, stated at 10:45 weeks' session he would be unable to attend.

Councilman E. K. Williamson was elected chairman and presided at the meeting, explaining that the purpose was to amend the present zoning ordinance which allows building of duplexes in R-1 areas.

Councilman J. A. Thompson made a motion that ordinance 229 be adopted on the second and final reading and the motion was carried by a 5-2 vote. A roll call vote was taken and all three councilmen present registered "yes" votes. The ordinance was read by title only by City Attorney S. Joseph Davis Jr.

Mrs. Thompson then made a motion that the ordinance be adopted on the final reading, seconded by Helms. A roll call vote resulted again in three affirmative votes.

Mrs. Thompson said, because the mayor sign the ordinance into law, it was explained by the city attorney that under the present city charter, the mayor does have to veto this bill if he feels that it is detrimental to the city.

If Mayor Brown were to veto ordinance 229, he would have to submit in writing his objections to the ordinance. It could then be passed over his veto by a majority vote of the city council.

Jordan Ousts U. S. Ambassador

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Official sources reported today that the Jordanian government asked the United States to remove its ambassador from Amman, apparently because he advised U.S. Asst. Secretary of State Joseph Sisco to cancel his visit to Jordan.

Foreign Minister Abdel Mo'men Rifai requested the State Department to pull out Ambassador Harrison Mathews Symmes, the source said, because the government "can find no justification for his attitude and inclination as regards the Arab position in the face of Israeli aggression."

A State Department spokesman in Washington said the department had not received word of the Jordanian action and therefore the department could neither confirm nor deny the report. There was speculation that the Jordanian ambassador to the United States would deliver the demand to the department during the day.

Sisco, now touring the Middle East, was scheduled to arrive from Israel today to talk with King Hussein. The State Department canceled the visit Thursday, reportedly on Sisco's advice, after violent demonstrations for two days in Amman against the United States and Sisco.

Rifai protested Thursday night that the cancellation was "unjustified" because Jordanian security forces were sufficient to protect the American diplomat.

County operating briefly in 1965 with harness races and quarter horse races at "Seminoles Raceway." New barns were built.

In 1967, Chicago interests took over with Ralph Choler as general manager of "Seminoles Downs." The old grandstand was torn down and replaced by a modern facility. Racing dates were announced for April 21-July 8 with two firsts—the first night thoroughbred racing in the state and the first summer race card.

Twelve days before the scheduled opening of the $3 million track, the lights went out with Choler announcing that the track had been losing an estimated $12,000 a night since the opening but "planned to re-open in '68." The old grandstand, however, and the track was purchased at a cost of $1.5 million last April by a group headed by Lewis Keller of Virginia Beach, Va. and dubbed "Seminoles Turf Club."

Five years later the track again changed hands purchased by Central Florida group and managed by Samsula rancher Clyde Hart. They were able to put through a referendum and legislature permitting horse racing and pari-mutuel betting in Seminole.

The track was later leased to a Central Florida group and the old structure buildings have all been replaced with the most modern grandstand and conveniences of race fans. The track has been rebuilt to a 1/2 mile racing oval and is well lighted.

All is optimism at Seminole Turf Club and all systems are go for the gala opening of 1970 racing season Monday night.

Takes Affront At Envoy's Attitude

Liberals Supporting Douglas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House liberals hope to stave off at least temporarily an impeachment attempt against Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. Many congressmen said they believe the House eventually will impeach him.

At the moment, the civil liberties of 31 years of the high bench was the subject of a tug of war between the House Rules Committee and the House Judiciary Committee. Each had a resolution involving impeachment.

Impeachment is similar to indictment. It must be voted by half of the House members present and voting. The actual conviction must be voted by two-thirds of the Senate, which would sit as a jury. It was very unlikely the Senate would ever convict Douglas.

A coalition of 105 conservatives from both parties filed a resolution in the House Thursday proposing creation of a special committee to consider impeaching Douglas. The conservatives used this approach because resolutions dealing with creation of committees are referred to the Rules Committee, chaired by Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., a Southern conservative.

Anticipating this, Rep. Andrew Jacobs, D-Ill., a liberal who says he has no bias for or Brumley stated that Officer John Hendy was on patrol on Jasmine Road when he spotted an automobile running a stop sign. The incident occurred at 12:20 a.m. Hendy pursued the wayward car to an area behind the Regency Square shopping complex where he spotted the driver jumping out of the auto.

Peck spotted the driver carrying a sawed-off pump shotgun and, according to Brumley, Peck drew his weap-

Voluntary Sterilization Is Family, Population Outlet

By NOAMI ROCK

NEW YORK (AP)—In a large metropolitan hospital a 33-year-old woman who has just given birth...

Across town in another hospital, an abortion-sterilization committee has voted to deny the sterilization request...

Nearly, in a doctor's office, a 25-year-old man, married to the father of two, undergoes a simple 15-minute operation...

In recent years incidents such as these have become increasingly common across the country...

This is the nationwide sterilization picture outlined by the Association for Voluntary Sterilization...

St sterilization in a man, called vasectomy, usually involves a 15 to 20 minute operation under local anesthetic...

The old standard, which Regan says has been conceived by a Houdini, called for a woman to be sterilized...

Studies done by urologists, the doctors who usually perform sterilizations, have shown that neither in the man nor the woman does the operation interfere with normal sexual responses...

Individuals seeking sterilization are warned that the procedure is considered irreversible—even though studies have proven up to 90 per cent reversibility for men and 65 per cent for women...

In both the male and the female sterilization does not involve the removal of any part of the organ. It merely seals off the passageways which normally bring the sperm and ovum to...

Ballet Guild Off To Regional Confab

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Excitement among the dancers of the Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole is at an all-time high...

Plans now are for the 24 to take Mr. McCoy via Atlanta making their headquarters at the Hermitage Hotel in Nashville...

For the past several months, the girls have been busy conducting car washes at Leonard's Shell Station and selling back goods in front of Publix and the T. G. and Y. Through the generosity of the Yankee and the Sanford Plaza Theatre...

Tickets may be purchased as a donation of money to the Ballet Guild member. These are Pam Galloway, Mary Ellen Van Duyn, Pam Madden, Susan Swain, Debbie Russell, Franck Schools, Kim Roberts, Holly Anna Kurimal, Vicki Acker, Debbie Pharis, Monica Jo Rowe, Sarah Anne Williams, Terry J. Arman, Jackie Greene, Sara Lee Roberts, Debbie Shoemaker, Susan Largent, Debbie Graham, Leslie White, Franck Juras and Nancy Tomlinson.

Culturally minded citizens of Sanford and Seminole County will remember this group in their outstanding performances of the "Nutcracker Suite" for the past two years and their moving portrayal of the Yankee and Confederate soldiers in the production, "The Blue and the Gray," which they performed at several civic functions.

The Ballet Guild would appreciate support of their project to raise money to make this year possible. Let's all see the Sanford, Seminole County and Florida are well represented in Nashville!

Rushton-Peterson Engagement Told

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MISS RUSHTON

Rev. and Mrs. Lewis H. Rushton, 433 Sunset Ave., Arcadia, are announcing the engagement and upcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Ann Rushton...

Born in Tampa the bride-elect attended elementary schools in Sanford and was graduated from North Miami Sr. High School, Miami. She attended Trevecca Nazarene College in Nashville, Tenn., for two years.

Mr. Peterson, born in Orlando attended schools there and was graduated from Lyman High School. He is presently employed with Peterson Service, Inc., Orlando.

The wedding will be an event of Oct. 17, at 8 p.m., at Leckhart Church of the Nazarene, Orlando.

The bride can be as Mod in dress as she pleases until the Big Day—then she goes traditional, say manufacturers of bridal gowns. And the traditional fabrics are white or ivory...

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My stepson is 15. We get along very well and he is really a good boy. But he is really a good boy. But he is really a good boy. But he is really a good boy.

Is it kind? Is it necessary? DEAR ABBY: An acquaintance (I can no longer call her a friend) rang my doorbell early one morning, and after she called my attention to a man who was standing in the doorway, she called my attention to a man who was standing in the doorway.

DEAR ABBY: I have been very resentful of the invasion of my privacy—my room, my desk, my car, my life. I would like to see the worst of that time of day, but I said nothing. How would you have handled that situation?

DEAR ANNOYED: I've asked to see the "cute little camera." I would like to see it. I would like to see it. I would like to see it. I would like to see it.

DEAR DESPERATE: I'm sorry that I'm not a better person. I'm sorry that I'm not a better person. I'm sorry that I'm not a better person. I'm sorry that I'm not a better person.

DEAR ABBY: In the office where I work, and it is a very large one, men are required to wear shirts, jackets and jackets during office hours, but there are no rules about dress for women.

DEAR ABBY: I don't object to men in the office wearing shirts, jackets and jackets during office hours, but there are no rules about dress for women.

Institute those important changes that will make life easier, more pleasant and more filled with a sense of accomplishment. Fine, more interesting way of doing routine chores.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take care of those routine chores early so you have more time for outside interests with which you bring more success. Take the exercise you need. Be more dramatic and charming.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Talking over creative plans with sympathetic persons can produce fine results. Be independent. Go wherever you are able to think without interruptions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make certain you take care of those home chores before you go out. Do not let your friends' desires put any obligations with family. Let them know where they stand with you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you have any decisions to make with others, this is the day to get together with them and do it. Listen to the ideas of a person who can give you the support you want. Have fun with that amusing person you like.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are financially minded and can plan to repair your property as well as plan a more optimistic today could cause you trouble. Get out to services you like. They show understanding and kindness to all.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan how to have greater abundance in the future and how to increase your savings. Support some big person in business who has done in favors in the past. Gain more for the future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Someone you feel that all is wrong around you now, but if you think positively, you find all works out just fine. Avoid that social affair later, or it will give you a headache because of some unattractive person. Be wise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Think along the higher path. That's the way to get out of or questionable fun today. Some friend you have needs your assistance, so be sure you give it. Avoid those who are greedy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be with those bigwigs who are impossible to contend with during busy work days. State your aims clearly. Do your civic work that can help your country or community greatly. Show enthusiasm for it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't be tempted to go out with those persons you associate with. Don't let them get you in a lot of trouble. Don't jeopardize your fine position in the outside world. Be charming with others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show new contacts that you are a person of peace who knows how to keep out of serious arguments that lead to nothing. Listen to what clever persons have to say to help you get a better understanding with romantic life. Much happiness can be yours this evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be sure to assist partners to get their own aims so that they cooperate more with you later on, get jobs' affairs in order. Do your utmost to get that public affair in order. Show that you have finesse.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be one of those fascinating young people who will be very ambitious and very active. This child will change things all the time to suit his needs. Teach your progeny not to touch things that do not belong to him or her. This child had to trouble later. There are many fine talents in this chart that the right college must be chosen early. Give fine spiritual training.

Turf Club Inaugurates Running Races Monday Evening

CASSELBERRY, Fla. — The Seminole Turf Club will launch its inaugural thoroughbred racing season April 20 with 90 nights of thoroughbred racing. The opening will culminate almost a year of frenzied activity which has seen the complete renovation of the track plus the building of a $1.5 million clubhouse. Value of the property and improvements now approaches $4 million.

The club will offer racing nightly with a 7:25 post time. Nine races will be run Monday through Thursday, and 16 on Fridays and Saturdays.

"We think we have one of the most picturesque night racing tracks in the country," Gary Smith, president and general manager, said.

"We have the track three-quarter miles of it, we have some 1,000 of the finest thoroughbred horses, we have excellent facilities, including the grandstands and our new terraced dining clubhouse, we have parking for as many as want to come out and we have a completely revamped road network to and from the track."

"In short I think we have everything necessary for a great racing season and I want to invite everyone in Central Florida to come out and pay us a visit," he continued.

Seminole, a historic Central Florida landmark, must be seen to be appreciated. The owners have completely remade the track using the best ideas from horse tracks around the country.

The glassed-in, air-conditioned clubhouse, named the Osceola Terrace because of the Seminole Indian motif used throughout, can seat 600 diners and 400 spectators on terraces overlooking the stretch. The grandstands will accommodate up to 4,000 additional fans.

The track itself has been lengthened to three-quarters of a mile and size reduced. The track moved 65 feet closer to the stands. Races will be run from one-half mile to a mile and a half. Daylight-like lighting and an illuminated backdrop will insure unexcelled race viewing.

When the new 100-horse barn is completed the Seminole stable area will have up to 1,000 horses, and an additional 200 stalls have been allotted at nearby Ben White Raceway in Orlando.

A revamped road network assures easy access to and from the track. The track has four miles of roads to provide new exit routes. Twenty acres of new parking have been paved bringing the parking capacity to nearly 4,000.

Parl-mutual wagering will feature the old standby—win, place and show—plus the daily double on the first two races, little perfects on the third and ninth races and the big perfects on the sixth and seventh races. Bettors will be able to see why their horse did not come in by viewing each race after on 26 TV sets located at strategic locations in the grandstands and clubhouse.

Some four miles of new paved roads have been added to the road pattern around the track to provide easy access to and from Hwy. 436 and 17-92. From either point, I-4 is just moments away.

The Club has paved Easton, Lake and Park Drives—adding almost four miles of new access roads.

Coming to the races, fans will generally enter the track by Seminola Boulevard, coming in by Seminola and Winter Park Road from 17-92 and 436. At the track entrance, they will find three entry lanes, two for general parking and one for valet service. Parking attendants will direct fans to the proper parking areas. A single entry lane will be from Easton Drive.

After the races, fans will exit via Easton, a new three-laned street leading to Lake Drive, also three laned.

The English novelist Rudyard Kipling once described San Francisco as "a mad city-inhabited for the most part by perfectly insane people whose women are of a remarkable beauty."

New Roads Give Access To Track

CASSELBERRY — Getting to and from the new Seminole Turf Club from anywhere in Central Florida will be no problem with the new road network just completed. Parking will be a snap with an additional 20 acres of new parking insuring over 3,500 parking places.

Seminole opens its inaugural 90-night thoroughbred racing season Monday. Post time is 7:15.

Merchants Welcome Turf Club

Business interests in Seminole County and in its neighboring Orange County are shouting a loud and sonorous "Bravo!" as they inspect the lavish and attractive plant of the "brand new" Seminole Turf Club and are well aware of the economic significance it will have in the burgeoning business climate of the area.

The considerable "coin of the realm" that goes into the turnstiles is deemed to be "eye-opening," but the astute entrepreneurs in the surrounding area are well aware that this is "just the beginning."

The Seminole Turf Club, with its authentic Indian decor and atmosphere will have a payroll that will release a sizeable sum into the local trade establishments. Then, of course, there is the care of the horse, grain feed, veterinarian service and the other little thought of complimentary services that swell the flow into the local economic stream.

The interested investors in this luxurious entertainment center were keenly aware of the inflow of tourists to this territory when the magnetism of Walt Disney World steps up its voltage. These are people who are on vacation, are eager to seek every source of fun, relaxation and festive challenge. And they have money to spend — want to spend it. Isn't that what a vacation's for?

Florida, blessed with sunshine, beaches, fishing waters and luxurious natural growth has long been the favorite vacation site for many years and repeated surveys by experts have emphasized this. The disposable income nationally has moved up consistently from the 7.7 per cent in 1967. More "off time" now exists than ever before, and wages are higher. One survey obtained by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce states "the Orlando metropolitan area, which includes Seminole County, will become one of the nation's outstanding centers of commerce and tourism."

Indications are that the horse tracks to the south of this section of the state are losing some of their favor with the state officials, and perhaps because of this, with the owners and the public. It's possible that the local track will find an unexpected boost from this source. And so will the local merchants both of products and services.

Races Purses To Total $12,000 Nightly

CASSELLBERRY, Fla.—Purses at the Seminole Turf Club will set the purses and announce the field. Gary Smith, president and general manager, said that 10 races are slated for Friday and Saturdays. Sunday will be a dark. The racing season will run from April 20 to Aug. 1. Post time is 7:15 p.m. Entries will be announced 48 hours prior to the scheduled racing card. Stalls of horses entered must be in the secretary's office on the morning of the entry announcement by 10 a.m. The racing secretary will publish condition books each 10 days. Interested horsemen should contact the secretary's office. The claiming races will have a $1,000 minimum claiming price and will graduate upward. The claim box closes 15 minutes prior to post time. Seminole Turf Club will offer a daily double on the first two races, little perfectas on the third and ninth races and a big perfecta on races six and seven.

Cafeteria Serves Horsemen

Windows overlook the track from the Horseman's Cafeteria. In fact, horses are never far away from the people who patronize the Horseman's Cafeteria, figuratively or literally. Riders, trainers, grooms and others who are interested in all phases of horsemanship congregate here, some dressed for the day's work, and others sleepy-eyed and unshaven, to fill over a cup of coffee. Their day began at five, often times, to give the horses a workout on the track. The sterility of the stainless steel kitchen, recently bought by Don and Janet Ewart, is relieved by the lace curtains and flower print drapes.

Vet To Call Races

CASSELLBERRY, Fla.—Richard O. Woolley, track announcer at the Fairgrounds in New Orleans and at Delaware Park, will call the races for the Seminole Turf Club inaugural meeting which opens April 20. C. Gary Smith, president of Seminole, announced the appointment. Historic Seminole, rebuilt this year at a cost of more than $4 million, will offer 90 nights of thoroughbred racing, closing August 1. Woolley is a veteran of more than 15 years of race calling, having begun his career on the Maryland half-mile circuit. He handled the PA system at Shenandoah Downs in Charles Town, W. Va., for 10 years, has been at the Fairgrounds for five, and took the prestigious Delaware Park assignment in 1969. The Seminole announcer is a graduate of the American University in Washington, D. C., where he majored in radio. His voice is well known throughout the Mid-Atlantic and New Orleans areas as the caller of the feature on racing networks. Woolley is married and he and his wife, Patricia, have four children.

Track First Opened In 1924

The track on which the Seminole Turf Club will conduct its 1970 thoroughbred racing first began operations in 1924. It was a thoroughbred track in those days, too, but has undergone many changes over the years. Originally, it was a one-mile track (the old course is still there and can be uncovered any time) with a 1/4-mile chute. It reputedly was used for the personal amusement of R. J. Reynolds, the tobacco tycoon. While official records are vague on the subject, local historians say that it was the first track in Florida to introduce pari-mutuel wagering. In the 45 years of its existence, it has run off just four thoroughbred meetings—or parts of them. The first three were run in 1924, 1925, 1926. More than three decades later, the next one was held. A group operating the track as Seminole Downs scheduled a 57-night meeting in 1967. This was the first night thoroughbred meeting ever held in the state. It got under way on April 20 and closed on June 10 after 31 cards had been presented. The track was closed after the 1926 racing season, but was reopened in 1928 and put to use as winter training quarters for harness horses. After Ben White Raceway became established and the harness horses moved there, the track was used for automobile racing.

CLARABELLE, THE NANNY goat is certainly the belle of the stable area. Clarabelle's function in life is to provide company for homesick horses in the stalls, which are too small to hold two horses. Here she "bunks in" with Pidgeon Mountain.

Racing Secretary Comes Well Qualified

CASSELLBERRY, Fla.—Herman (Stim) Summers, a man with many years of experience in all facets of thoroughbred racing has been named racing secretary at Seminole Turf Club, Gary Smith, president and general manager, announced. The racing secretary's position, one of the most critical jobs for a successful racing program, could hardly be filled by a more capable man. Summers will be filling the position held by Smith at both Shenandoah Downs and Charles Town tracks in West Virginia before coming to Central Florida and launching Seminole Turf Club. Summers, a resident of Clearwater since 1946, has recently been employed as assistant racing secretary at Raceway Park in Toledo. In the racing business for 33 years, Summers served last season as racing secretary at Scarborough Downs in Maine, and has served in official positions for some 10 years in tracks in West Virginia and Florida. The secretary is the horse racing matchmaker. He is the person that matches horses in each race according to their past performance, age, bloodlines and general overall ability. A properly matched race pits all the horses on nearly equal basis. All the paper work concerning the actual racing is processed in the secretary's office including foal papers on the horses and the taking of entries. Seminole Turf Club will run for 90 nights, beginning April 20.

Congratulations on the opening of your fabulous new facility...

We're proud of our part in its construction.

3 State Stewards On Duty

CASSELLBERRY, Fla.—The Florida Racing Commission will be ably represented on the Seminole Turf Club board of stewards by Cecil Harper, of Tampa, who has some 23 years of an official and as a rider. Three stewards will oversee the races at Seminole to make sure all the track rules are obeyed. Two stewards will represent the track racing association and Harper will represent the racing commission. Harper has been with the commission for five years. He has been a steward at Florida Downs and Tropical Park. He has also held inspector and investigator positions with the commission. The amiable steward calls the highlight of his jockey career the setting of the track record in a handicap race at Randall Park, Cleveland, while riding Bally Dan. That horse later was the sire of the famous Bally Ache. Harper rode at tracks throughout the Southeast and the East during his 14 year career. He is residing at Granada Apartments in Casselberry.

Electric Paint

LONDON (AP)—Researchers say an electricity-conducting paint developed for use on American space vehicles may revolutionize home heating. When voltages too low to cause fires or shocks are used, painted walls and ceilings become heat sources. A wall at a London research center has been giving off heat for more than eight months.

'We Hope To Please Everyone'

By TOM ALEXANDER

Seminole Turf Club today is a "beehive" of activity. . . . Set on April 20 at 6:30 p. m., the new spectra of thoroughbred racing will open its renovated doors officially, and at 7:15 p. m. the first of nine races nightly, for 90 straight nights, will break from the starting gate and gallop around the beautiful 1/2 mile track, which encircles a lake completely equipped with the latest in ducks.

the most up to date "electronic bugs" to be found anywhere in the nation. A patron at the club will be able to watch some 36 TV monitors and keep up with each race coming up and watch an "instant replay" of the immediate past race.

From a terrace restaurant, guests enclosed and fully carpeted with a "mod style" effect, the racing patron can dine while watching the horses "hit the wire."

A multitude of racing enthusiasts along with the individuals who just like to see what is going on and why it's going on, are expected to converge on the completely revamped STC grounds before part time, which is set for 7:15 nightly.

President and general manager Gary Smith along with track superintendent Don Martin have seen to every detail. From new roads running to and from the track to a lush and beautifully detailed, trackside restaurant, capable of serving 600 racing patrons while they view the evening's races.

Getting to Seminole Turf Club will be a breeze for today's motorized racing patron. A new road leading from the track will exit cars onto SR 436, while patrons entering the beautifully landscaped scenic club will use Seminole Boulevard from U.S. 17, 92.

Some 4,000 cars can be easily parked at the expanded race track parking center, which encompasses some 26 acres.

A young man, with a "new idea" is mostly responsible for the tremendous progress of the track. Gary Smith, a man who started with just an "idea" has now seen his "dream" take form. Smith, now 31, slightly graying, is in charge of what happens and what doesn't happen at the Seminole Turf Club.

Smith believes that his club is ready to become of age and behind his superior knowledge of racing he has probably built one of the finest spectator tracks in the nation.

Smiling, Smith told this reporter, "We hope that we can please everyone. We're here and we want to become neighbors with everyone in the area."

According to Smith, since the purchase of the former Seminole Downs track, Seminole Management Corp. which bought the track has spent some four million dollars in investments on the Casselberry based racing mecca.

On the 29th of April Seminole Turf Club will open its doors to the public with the philosophy of "you are doing us a favor by coming to see our race, we want you to have a great time and come back."

The 200,000 sq. ft. "idea", glassed-in and completely air conditioned with elevators and escalators to shuttle patrons to and from.

TV Instant Replay At Turf Club

CASSELBERRY, Fla. — A television tape system will give officials and fans at the Seminole Turf Club here an "instant replay" of the action through America's most modern racing patrol system.

The $150,000 TV hookup has been installed at Seminole for the 90-night inaugural meeting which opens April 20.

Using Orbicon studio type cameras and Sony 13 tape monitors, Seminole's system is not unlike network facilities that provide instant replay of sporting events.

The video cameras and tape will replace the familiar motion picture film patrol still in use at many tracks, thereby saving from seven to nine minutes formerly required to process and project film. With the Seminole TV, officials call for an instant re-run in the event of foul claim or inquiry.

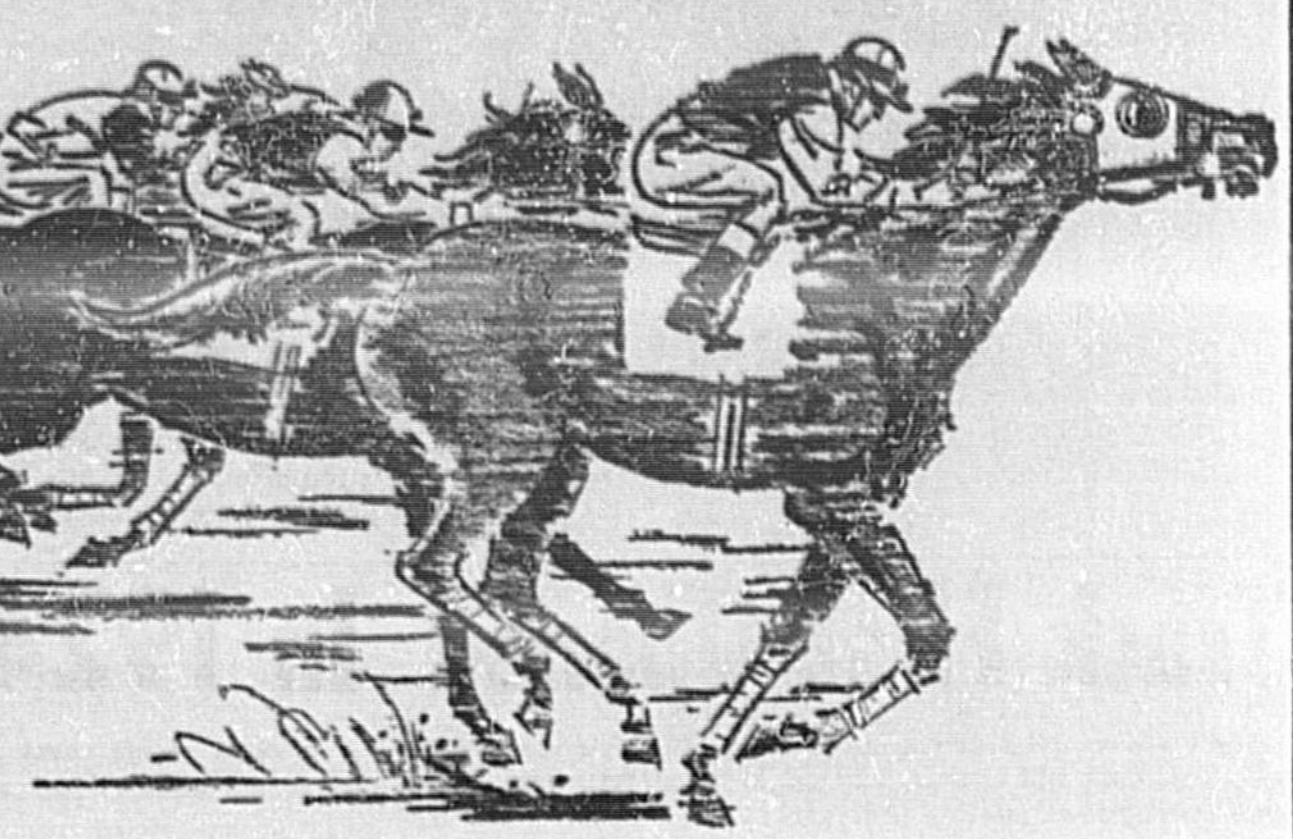

Fans also will get two looks at each race. RCA television sets throughout the plant will carry the race as it is being run. Once the result is made official, the event will be shown via video tape.

Three cameras are used in the Seminole system. One atop the grandstand pans the entire race, others at the head of the stretch and on the backstretch provide head-on views of the running for officials.

Television Racing Patrol, Inc., will operate the Seminole system on contract.

More 'Action' for Casselberry

By TOM ALEXANDER

Casselberry, Fla. — "The new center of attraction and action" in Central Florida, is the home of the completely renovated Seminole Turf Club, which makes its premiere on April 20 with nine thoroughbred races per night for 90 days, until August 1. The lights at the spacious club will burn at night, with post time slated at 7:15 p. m. each night, which assures Central Florida racing patrons an exit by 10:30 p. m. each evening.

Gary Smith, 31, quick to smile, and as quick to answer, masterminds the renovated track, with Don Martin, an Altamonte Springs city councilman handling the duties of track superintendent.

The track, purchased last year from the Seminole Park and Fairgrounds Corporation has taken on a completely "new look" with a "new name". The idea being the addition of a $1.5 million clubhouse, which will seat close to 1,200 and serve some 600 combination restaurant-race patrons.

A Dozen Ovals Operate Under Lights Thoroughbred Night Racing A Novelty

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — When the Seminole Turf Club launches its inaugural meeting April 20, the local track will take its place among approximately a dozen American ovals that offer thoroughbred racing under the lights.

And therein lies one of the paradoxes of the turf sport. While owners, officials, and knowledgeable newspapermen concede that night racing is the answer to ever-mounting competition for the sport's dollar, few tracks have abandoned the traditional afternoon cards. In the past 10 years, in fact, only three tracks have gone to lights.

Most recent of these is Arlington Park in Chicago which installed lighting in 1969 and conducted night racing on an experimental basis under the guidance of Margorie E. Everett, the track's controversial and now departed vice president. Arlington ran the first night racing at a major track. Dover Downs in Delaware opened in 1969 as only the second track built for night racing, others being conversions from existing day tracks. The only other switch to lights in the past decade was made by Charles Town Race Course in Charles Town, W. Va., which converted in 1965.

FIRST TRACK

Shenandoah Downs, also in Charles Town, was the first track constructed for night racing, opening in 1959, and has been spectacularly successful. Other tracks running at night include Scarborough Downs, Maine; Fairmount Park and Cahokia Downs in East St. Louis, Ill.; Teesdale Downs in England; Jim Fretter's Park and Kentucky Downs in West Virginia.

The cost of lighting a track probably is the main deterrent to a mass switch. A one-rate system for even a small track starts at $300,000 and estimates for lighting a mile track could top $1 million.

CATCHES ON

Wherever it has been introduced though, night racing, like other night sporting events, has caught on with the fans. Seminole Turf Club president and general manager Gary Smith, who has been racing secretary at two night tracks, believes there are several reasons for night racing's popularity.

"Night racing is more of a spectacle, people can attend without losing time from work, and it is much more comfortable in warm weather," Smith points out as a starter. "We find more and more couples making a night out at the races and we think it is more fun," he adds.

As for the horses, Smith says that there is absolutely no difference between night and day racing and that, like the spectators, they are much more comfortable at night when the weather is warm.

Seminole will conduct 90 nights of thoroughbred racing, closing August 1.

Dropped Medicine For Racing

When Bob Leavitt was attending pre-medical school at the University of Illinois, he obtained a job in the mutual department of Rockingham Park during his summer vacation of 1953.

That finished his medical education and launched a new life—racing. Over the years, Leavitt estimates that he has "swore" just about every capacity at Rockingham Park.

Currently, he is vice-president, general manager and director of racing at Shenandoah Downs in West Virginia. He has been there since 1958.

When the founders of the Seminole Turf Club decided they needed a man of proven ability in night racing, they engaged Leavitt.

The new construction at Seminole will be nothing new to Leavitt. He supervised most of the construction at the Detroit Race Course and did the final checks on the construction at Shenandoah Downs.

His philosophy over the years has been to cater more to the patron who is out for an evening's entertainment than to the big gambler. Among the innovations he introduced at Shenandoah were colored jockey caps and saddle cloths to keep the horse in constant view at night and a striped pole at the finish line to assure jockeys they had completed the race.

Retirement Funds Increased

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Retirement funds for state and local public employees in Florida were increased by $15.7 million last year, Ronald S. Spencer Jr., executive vice president of the State Chamber of Commerce, reported Saturday.

The chamber's weekly business review lists the three sources from which this sum was derived as employee contributions, $84.5 million; state and local government contributions, $76.8 million; and earnings on investments, $38.3 million.

Together the funds are 63 per cent bigger than in 1964. They increased 252 per cent during the past ten years.

Pension benefits and withdrawals from these funds last year totaled $96.5 million, close to double the 1964 figure.

Assets of these public retirement funds totaled $240.7 million at mid-year 1969, a 96 per cent increase in five years.

A large part of these funds, $47.4 million, is invested in federal government securities; $34.9 million is in state and local government securities; and $12.9 million is in cash and deposits.

"Probably the most important decision concerning these funds in recent years was a change in the law to allow an expansion of investment in the stocks and bonds of private companies," Spencer said. "The Florida funds in these securities amounted to $45.5 million last year, almost five times the 1964 figure."

One Of A Dozen With Night Racing

Racing horses fall roughly into two categories—thoroughbred and standard bred. Trotters and pacers fall into the latter group. The Seminole Turf Club will be one of a dozen or so race tracks in the United States that will race thoroughbreds at night.

Thoroughbreds are known for their long distance running capacities. They are truly the "champions" of all horses, being of an unmixed breed. These magnificent horses are known for their stamina.

Many years of careful breeding have gone into perpetuating the fine qualities of such champions as Man of War, Whirlaway, and Native Dancer.

Florida bred horses have come into their own in recent years. The miles and miles of white fences marking the breeding farms of the Ocala area tell the story better than words. Until the past few years when these Florida farms sprung up, the breeding had been confined largely to Kentucky.

Many of the thoroughbreds at the Seminole Turf Club are well represented in the Turf Club Stable area which now houses 600 horses. Facilities for distant points in the United States, Chicago, Miami, and many of the Western States are

40 Jockeys Race Here

At a thoroughbred horse track, you always hear people yelling for the horse they have tabbed to win, but what about the little guy in the saddle, he's as much a part of the action as the horse is.

Seminole Turf Club will have 40 jockeys guiding thoroughbreds which will be in action at the track during the 90 night racing schedule.

Where do the 'jocks' come from? According to Jottie Palmer, publicity director at the three-fourths mile racing mecca, "They come from everywhere."

In a manner of speaking, a jockey is self-employed. He deals with the owner of the horse, who pays him $25 per race and ten per cent of the "take" if the little guy brings the horse into the money.

Being a jockey sounds like a lot of fun but according to Palmer, these instruments of racing excitement, which could only take place with them in the saddle, are many times forced to "moonlight" as a horse trainer to make ends meet.

The next time you meet a jockey remember, he might be tall, but he's usually a hard worker.

Livestock raising occupies 60 per cent of the land area in Uruguay.

Meeting To Run For 90 Nights

The Seminole race track changed hands in 1969 and will begin its inaugural racing under the new operators, Seminole Management, Inc. on April 20, 1970. The meeting will run for 90 nights, closing August 1. The track will be known as the Seminole Turf Club and will offer night thoroughbred racing.

Major improvements are underway on the property. The most spectacular of these is a clubhouse constructed at a cost of $1.5 million. The air conditioned clubhouse features terraced dining for 600 patrons at tables overlooking the stretch. Twenty-one acres adjoining the property have been cleared of woods and surfaced to provide ample parking. Track lighting and the entire race track have been rebuilt to afford the most glamorous of settings in which to present horse racing. We invite you to come out and look it over.

Seminole Turf Club received its first horses early in January and thoroughbreds are working on the track each morning. The barn area, with accommodations for 900 horses, has been completely refurbished and a modern track kitchen is open for horsemen and employees.

Gary Smith, president and general manager, has moved with his family to Seminole County and, in addition to overseeing the physical improvements, is assembling personnel to operate the track. Don Martin, a City Councilman of Altamonte Springs, has been named track superintendent and to be in charge of much of the renovation. Other local residents are on the job and hundreds more will be employed when the track opens. A top-flight organization is being assembled to run the race meeting.

Racing Under Lights Offered

By TOM ALEXANDER
 Night racing, six nights a week between 7 and 10 p.m., will be offered at Seminole Turf Club, starting Monday. It is one of 4-5 clubs in the nation offering "racing under the lights."
 The exciting spectacle of thoroughbred racing at its best will surely be the sign of STC's success, with success being spelled in capital letters.
 A constant traffic flow will be assured, according to Gary Smith, track administrator, who points to the newly enlarged parking area at the racing arena of some 30 acres and a new road leading from the track to SR 438.
 In the past, the only way racing patrons could arrive and depart the facility was on Seminole Boulevard a winding two-lane roadway leading from the rear law, the departure of 17-62.
 Semitrac officials and the entire municipality have planned in to make sure every convenience for motorists going to the track will be in operation.
 A first night premiere crowd of some 7,000 race fans is expected to toast the first break from the starting gate.
 Paraded windows will be convenient to everyone and Smith points out, "They aren't holding against the track, they're betting against themselves and that's a lot of fun."
 A new tote board has been installed to keep racing fans up-to-date on horses and their odds along with cocktail convenience bars will be easily accessible to all racing patrons.
 36 TV monitors have also been installed to show "instant replays" of each race and to show tote board figures on the upcoming racing action.
 A "beer garden" will probably be one of the features for racing areas in the nation.
 New light towers have been installed, and a "daylight" effect will surprise many of the night racing patrons. The new racing mecca is considered to be one of the best lighted night racing arenas in the nation.

Horse Racing An All-Year Florida Sport

The 90 nights of thoroughbred racing at Casselberry's Seminole Turf Club will provide the completion of the racing circuit in Florida. That is, now there will be racing year-round in the state of Florida.

NOW THEY CAN stay in Florida all-year 'round, said Jim Smith (right). Agent for rider Joe Elgers (left), Smith is delighted at the prospect of staying here all year, omitting working the racing circuits in the northern states each year. (Charner Leone Photo)

Jim Smith, an agent at the Turf Club, is delighted at the prospect. Smith said that he usually participates in the winter meet at Florida Downs in Tampa from Jan. 9 to March 26. From that 66-day period of racing he usually proceeded to New England, Kentucky or Ohio to participate in those circuits.
 "But now I can spend the spring at the Seminole Turf Club," he said with a grin. Smith is originally from Tennessee but plans to settle in Florida now.
 As an agent Smith handles (acts as a manager for) one rider and one apprentice on a full time basis.

Roadrunner was probably frightened by a snake and made off, dragging bed and master behind him. Rose, clad only in shorts, managed to roll off the bed. He stopped a passing car and gave chase, but it took a police patrol car to stop the runaway.

Wide Racing Interests

LEWIS KELLER

Lewis E. Keller, chairman of the board of the Seminole Turf Club, was born in Norfolk, Va., on January 31, 1923. Keller has spent most of his life in the building business and is president of the Grange Point Corporation of Virginia Beach, Va.
 His racing interests are widespread, however. He operates Oakhurst Farms, a thoroughbred operation in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., which offers the services of two stallions—Tywydd Teg, an English stakes winner, and Lenso, a young son of Swaps.
 In addition, Keller serves as president of the West Virginia Thoroughbred Breeders Association—he was elected to the post in 1968—and maintains several horses at two tracks. While he played varsity football at Duke University for two years, Keller's main competitive sport now is golf. He has played in the U. S. Amateur several times. He also has competed in the Bing Crosby Invitational, the Greenbrier Spring Festival and many other events.

Coed Loves The Life Of A Groom
 By CHARNER LEONE
 Racing, "the Sport of Kings," and horses have long held a fascination for Barbara Fisher, an Orlando lass who is a groom at the Seminole Turf Club for the summer. This fall Barbara will return to college.
 Barbara is the daughter of a retired Air Force officer who has settled in Orlando.
 Barbara obviously enjoys her work as a groom for the magnificent horses at the Seminole Turf Club. The horses gleam as the result of her skillful ministrations. Hers is the total care of the horse, from watering and feeding, to cooling down after a race. It is her responsibility to keep the thoroughbreds in her barn immaculate.
 Attractive long tressed Barbara "fell in love" with horses at an early impressionable age. She was 10 when her family was stationed in Scotland. And there her father's enthusiasm for horses caught fire in the daughter.
 Her father's passion for the beautiful animals is seen in Barbara's eyes as they sparkle while she discusses "her" horses.
 She and her dad had owned many horses in the 10 or 12 years since her first acquaintance. Barbara now has two horses which she is training for showing.
 Currently she is participating in a series of three shows that will be held during the spring.
 This fall Barbara will return to college, finishing her last two years for a bachelor's degree in art. She recently completed her second year at the University of Georgia.
 "Art may be my livelihood," said Barbara, her high spirits matching those of the thoroughbreds she tends, "but horses will always be my avocation."

Police Seek Man For Enticing Tot

By BILL SCOTT
 Another attempt at child molesting occurred Saturday in the Eastbrook area of South Seminole. A six-year-old girl was approached by a man driving a dark brown car who offered her candy to get into the car. The child reported a police car drove along at about the same time and the man quickly turned his vehicle into a side road. The girl ran home and reported the incident to her parents who called sheriff's deputies.

The incident happened at the intersection of Seagrape Avenue and Carnation Street, according to a report by Deputy Ronnie Miller. Only description of the man known was he wore a T-shirt and had black hair.

Burglars were busy over the weekend with a break-in reported at a Shell Oil Station at I-4 and SR 46 intersection.

A glass window was broken to allow entry and two vending machines were plundered of their contents. Losses included 240 packages of cigarettes and an undetermined amount of cash.

A number of torches, hose, gauges and an oxygen tank were removed from Ratliff and Son wrecking service yard, 234 Orlando Drive.

Business Trend Shows Upward Swing In County

Business trends for the first three months of 1970 show bank deposits within Sanford and Seminole County up from the same period a year ago.

Figures ending March 31 show Sanford bank deposits at $69,091,586, up from $64,236,841, showing a percentage increase of 7.6. Deposits in Seminole County increased from $44,620,667 in 1969 to $105,842,204 in 1970 for a 119.9 per cent increase.

Bank resources showed an increase both in Sanford and the county with $79,901,022 the first three months, compared to $75,001,549 a year ago. Percentage of increase was 9.5 compared to 12.8 for the county which showed an upsurge to $118,417,687 from last year's $104,967,750.

Sanford postal receipts were up 20.2 per cent over a year ago with $99,043 compared to $82,367 last year.

Electric meters, water meters and telephones all showed increases over a year ago both in Sanford and in the county. In 1969 there were 11,309 electric meters in Sanford and this has increased by 5.3 per cent to 12,534. County electric meters increased 11.6 per cent to 30,069 from 26,946 the corresponding year.

Sanford water meter increase was 9.7 per cent over a year ago with figures listed at 6,182 in 1970 compared to 5,635 in 1969. County water meters were not listed since many private companies sell water.

Telephones also showed a large increase over the first three months of 1969. Sanford showed a 9.3 per cent increase to 23,232 over last year's 21,322, and the county had an even higher growth with a 14.8 per cent increase to 441,153 as contrasted to 35,848 in 1969.

Deeds recorded in Seminole County increased 5.4 per cent to $19,152,890 as compared to $18,179,673 in same period of 1969.

Only decreases came in the number of building permits both in the city and county.

Sanford permits were down 36.4 per cent to $741,592 this year as compared to $1,141,592 in 1969.

County permits also decreased to $8,267,564 this year as compared to $10,411,592 in 1969.

Proposals For Civil Service

CASELBERY — Caselberry's newly created civil service board will submit recommendations to the city council this evening at a regular work session.

The civil service proposals will deal with the establishment of rules governing city employees. This evening the five-member city council will only study the details and outline any changes it may wish to make.

Council is also expected to get the "ball rolling" on the possible takeover of a private utility company in the city and county.

The idea was discussed some months ago and the plan entails a five-year bonded indebtedness which at the end of this period the city could takeover the corporation from the non-profit organizations.

Also up for discussion this evening will be the naming an administrative aide for the city. The council, as yet, has not drawn up qualifications for the post.

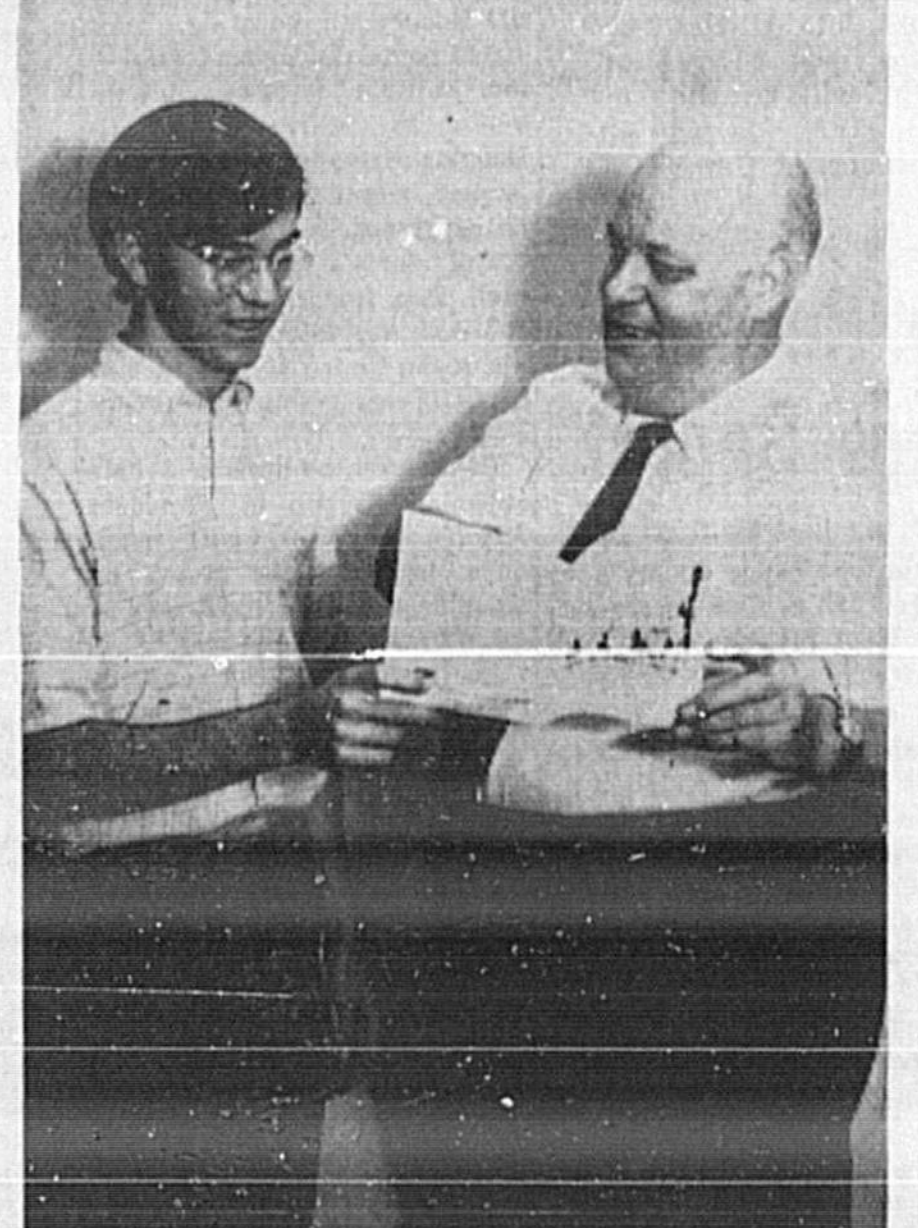

In other consideration the council will discuss taking action at its next regular meeting on zoning recommendations, legal description by city attorney on proposed annexation, report of Sunset Drive paving, and a plat on Lake Katherine Wood.

Passover At Sundown

NEW YORK (AP) — At sundown tonight Jews over the world will sit down to the traditional seder, the ceremonial feast marking the beginning of the week-long celebration of Passover.

The sacred holiday commemorates the liberation of the ancient Israelites from bondage in Egypt. There will be special services in synagogues and temples.

Traditionally the youngest child at the seder asks: "Why is this night different from all others?" The head of the family responds by telling the story of how Moses led the Jews out of Egypt.

Sanford Mother Slated For FTU Ecology Rally

A Seminole County mother of eight will be among the speakers on ecology at tomorrow's environmental rally at Florida Technological University at 11 a.m.

Ruth Riggins, who lives just outside Sanford in the Lincoln Heights area, is expected to voice her concern for the polishing pond and drainage canal located behind her home.

As president of the Westside Improvement Association, Mrs. Riggins is working to bring what they could improve the general area but feel that because of the polishing pond used in the sewage treatment program, they are waging an uphill battle.

A teach-in on ecology is also scheduled at Florida Technological University at 7 p.m. tomorrow and several other local persons are scheduled to take part in the activity.

President To Speak To Nation Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Spokesmen for the three major networks said President Nixon's address to the nation on Vietnam tonight would be carried live on radio and television beginning at 9 p.m. EST.

They said the American Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co. would share pooled facilities for the speech from San Clemente, Calif.

Turf Club Opens

By TOM ALEXANDER
 LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION! will herald the beginning of 90 nights of exciting thoroughbred racing at the completely renovated Seminole Turf Club. 10,000 fans led by Florida Lt. Governor Ray Osborne are expected to be on hand when the trumpet sounds the first race at 7:15 this evening.

For over a year Seminole Turf Club has been building towards "Super Monday" and tonight, all the time, money, and effort spent, should combine to form a "Super Success" for track president Gary Smith and his racing cohorts.

Osborne will get the season off to a very official start by snipping a ribbon at the starting gate, which will be followed by nine races nightly except for Friday and Saturday, when an extra race is added.

A real thrill is in store for distant horse racing patrons as one of the leading female jockeys in the country, Mary Bacon, will be featured in two of tonight's inaugural race performances on the 1/4 mile oval.

Over $4 million has been poured into the centrally-located Seminole County track, to make it one of the finest night racing thoroughbred meccas in the nation.

Highlighting the completely refurbished facility is the new $1.5 million clubhouse, which can serve fine foods to some 600 racing spectators while seating another 1,000 in box seats to view each evening's racing spectacular.

3 Youths Are Caught

Sanford detectives have charged three juveniles ages 13, 15, and 16 with taking $630 in tools after a break-in at Patrick Fruit Corporation in Sanford.

Detective William Lykens Jr. said the tools were also recovered at a Caselberry location.

Lykens also revealed that Detectives Ralph Russell, Tom Deppen and himself captured a man wanted at Marietta, Ohio for burglary. Lykens said Michael David Houston, 23, was located on Second Street.

He will be extradited to Ohio to face charges there, the detective said.
