Benefit for Chandler set

SANFORD — A benefit concert and barbecue has been planned for Sunday, Aug. 29, at Jack's Draught House, 2400 N. Volusia Ave., Orange

The event will benefit Philip Chandler, the young man who was the victim of a carjacking on July 17.

He was brought to HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital after he was found comalose and suffering from hyperthermia in DeBary after his abductors left him in the parking lot of the local campus of Daytona Beach Community College.

He had been stuffed in the trunk of his car and left there for up to five hours, police said.

Chandler has been transfered from HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital, in Sanford, to Florida Hospital, Orlando, where he is said to be doing well in rehabilitation.

The benefit will begin at 1 p.m.

There will be live music, an all-you-can-eat barbecue for $3, an auction, a raffle and much

Twins to undergo operation

PHILADELPHIA — The parents of Siamese twins with a shared heart have agreed to a surgical separation that will mean certain death for one baby and will probably kill her sister.

Without surgery, doctors said, both 7-weekold Amy and Angela Lakeberg will die. With it, the chance of survival is as low as 1 percent for the twin who is chosen to get the heart.

Dr. James A. O'Neill Jr., chief surgeon at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, told the twins' parents Wednesday that doctors were ready to try to separate the bables. He said the surgery could occur as early as Friday.

SANFORD — The Seminole County school district is always looking for ways to reduce the number of days students are out of class without permission.

To that end, district administrators have applied for a Community Juvenile Justice Partnership Grant. The grant could bring $75,000 to the district to establish a pilot program at Sanford Middle School and Lakeview Middle School in Sanford.

According to Dr. Marion Dailey, Executive Director for Instructional Support Services for the district, the purpose of the grants is to construct a program that will reduce truancy, out-of-school suspensions, expulsions and juvenile crime.

According to Dailey, school truancy is less than five percent, but that any student out of school is one too many.

How do men pick mates?

By SANDRA ELLIOTT Herald Staff Writer

Eyes like limpid pools and lips the color of a pomegranate are the poets' ode to beauty and love. But one modern day researcher claims its a woman's waist to hip ratio that attracks a man when choosing a prospective mate.

As a first impression, one new study says, men are attracted by the lower half of a woman's hourglass figure. That's right, the LOWER half.

The research is the latest in a long-standing effort to figure out how men and women choose each other for marriage.

When it comes down to the final choice, a second study says, the selection process is surprisingly random.

In the August Issue of the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology. Devendra Singh of the University of Texas at Austin suggests one important first inticement for men may be women whose waistlines are small when compared to their hips. Singh suggests the attractiveness of the low ratio of waist to hip measurements may have been a way for early humans to assess a woman's fitness to produce and rear children. Research has

Drought? Sanford still soggiest!

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Although droughtlike conditions continued into the fourth month in July, Sanford continues to be the officiallysoggiest location in the 19-county St. Johns River Water Management

Sanford was in great shape when measured by the accumulated rain for the year beginning in August 1992 and ending in July 1993. Rainfall for the period exceeded the 30-year normal by more than 13 inches. The water district tracks 12 rainfall guages monthly throughout the district. The guages are placed and monitored by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Shorter-term comparisons show rain has been on the wane for several months.

Only 2.56 inches of rain was recorded in the Sanford guage in July. That's 3.66 inches below the NOAA July norm established during the 1961-to-1990 period, which was 6.22. During the past three months, overall Sanford rainfall was 6.93 inches below normal. During the past six months, rain was 7.47 inches below normal.

Lake Mary still considering basketball courts

By NICK PFEIFAUF Herald Stall Writer

LAKE MARY — Basketball courts will be back for more city commission consideration tonight. At issue are two courts in the residential area, which the city had previously decided to eliminate.

Citizens had complained about the double courts located at Country Club Road and Lake Mary Avenue. Their objections were to the noise and profanity caused by late night play, and the distraction caused by lights both at the courts and from parked automobiles.

The matter first came to light when it was discovered one of the courts had not received site approval when it was built.

Following lengthy discussions during the past few months, the commission voted to close the courts. Parks and Recreation Director John Holland was asked to speak on new courts originally proposed for Phase II of the major sports complex.

Plane crashes at Guantanamo Base

MIAMI - A civilian plane under contract to the Navy crashed and burned short of the runway at the Guantanamo Naval Station, critically injuring three crew members

The DC-8's three crew members were flown to Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami and listed in critical condition

Conrad Kalitta, president of American International Airways Inc. in Ypsilanti, Mich., identified the crew as flight engineer David K. Richmond. 35, of Ypsilanti, Va.; pilot James Chapo, 54, of Fayetteville, Ga.; and co-pilot Thomas Curran. 48, of Peachtree City, Ga.

The Navy said the plane was carrying mail and perishable foods from Norfolk to the base in Cuba. The crash occurred about 5 p.m. EDT.

Lt. Cmdr. Kevin Wensing, spokesman for the Norfolk-based Atlantic Fleet Naval Air Force said the Wednesday crash was under investigation.

Coast Guard suspends search for men

FORT MYERS - The Coast Guard suspended a search for two crew members missing after their shrimp boat caught fire and sank in the Gulf of Mexico 50 miles southwest of Cape Romano.

The crew of a passing fishing boat sighted the fire aboard the 69-foot Alene K of Fort Myers early Tuesday, and Coast Guard aircraft were dispatched to search for survivors.

A patrol boat from the Fort Myers Beach Coast Guard Station arrived on the scene around 6:30 a.m., and the crew attempted to fight the fire, but the Alene K sank at 7:58 a.m.

The missing men are Hilbert Kiesel, Jr., 24, and Ryan Kiesel, 21, sons of Alene K's owner, Hilbert Kiesel Sr.

Coast Guard planes and boats searched about 660 square miles Tuesday, and a jet from the Miami Coast Guard Air Station scoured another 400 square miles Wednesday before the search was called off.

Smith faces 17 years in prison

ORLANDO - The founder of Bolt Aviation Inc., Richard G. Smith, faces up to 17 years in prison on guilty pleas to defrauding Florida investors.

Smith pleaded guilty to 83 counts of grand theft, fraud, selling unregistered securities and selling securities without a license. The surprise plea agreement Tuesday ended a circuit court trial in Orlando.

Prosecutors alleged that Smith cheated investors out of about $600,000 by wildly inflating sales figures and lying about his products. At one time, he claimed $18 million in sales, mostly to commercial airlines. A review by the state comptroller's office found sales of only $112,347 from 1988 to 1991.

Circuit Court Judge Lon Cornelius set sentencing for Aug.

Rape suspect nabbed in four hour chase

FORT WALTON BEACH - A teen-age rape suspect eluded police for four hours by swimming into the Gulf of Mexico and then led officers on a brief highway chase before crashing in a stolen van.

Okaloosa County sheriff's deputies charged George Christopher Powell, 17, of Kenner, La., with sexual battery and kidnapping and said they will send two other Louisiana teens. both panichkers in the van, back home to face unrelated shiringts there formalatesi said sheriff's spokesman Rick Hord. The van was stolen Tuesday in Louisiana and had tags stolen in Florida. Inside, deputies found credit cards and other property stolen in Biloxi, Miss., and Mobile, Ala.

The chase began when a citizen reported a woman was being robbed at a beachfront motel near this Florida Panhandle city. When deputies arrived at about 2 a.m. CDT the suspect began swimming. Instead of a robbery, two 15-year-old girls reported they had been accosted at gunpoint and one of them was raped, Hord said.

School exposed to toxic spray

TALLAHASSEE - The state's top health official confirmed students and teachers were exposed to a toxic chemical sprayed on the roof of a Florida Panhandle school by workers clad in space suit-like protective gear.

Neoguard, a foam scalant containing toxic isocyanates, was sprayed three times on the roof of Baker School in the town of Baker with what Health and Rehabilitative Services Secretary Jim Towey called "troubling disregard for the safety of students and teachers."

Towey, however, said an investigation by his agency showed the school now is safe and can reopen on schedule for the new school year next week.

Isocyanates can cause irritation to mucous membranes, skin and respiratory systems. Exposure also can induce asthma and cause neurological damage.

St. Johns River Water Management District proposing 55% increase

By Associated Press

PALATKA - St. Johns River Water Management District officials are recommending a 55 percent tax increase next year citing unfunded legislative mandates and cuts in state funding.

The district's nine-member governing board tentatively approved the increase in the agency's current property tax in July from .358 mills to .555 mills, Ed Albanesi, a district spokesman, said Wednesday.

The 55 percent tax increase, the first in three years, is drawing some fire because the water management board is appointed by the governor and is not accountable to taxpayers.

"That's phenomenal. That's eight to 10 times faster than personal income growth in Florida this year." Dominic M. Calabro, president of Florida TaxWatch, a governmental watchdog and taxpayer research agency, said Wednesday.

fif another agency announced they were going to raise their property tax rate 55 percent, they (taxpayers) would hang them up at the courthouse and shoot them. -Dominic M. Calabro

"There's no method for anyone who is accountable to the voters to control how these districts spend their money," he said.

"If another agency announced they were going to raise their property tax rate 55 percent, they (taxpayers) would hang them up at the courthouse and shoot them." he said.

Calabro said all five water management districts need to come under the scrullny of the Legislature in coordination, the budgets and their activities.

Albanesi said despite the fact that the board is appointed, it is aware of taxpayer concerns. "They are very responsive to what they consider their constituency - the taxpayers." Albanesi said.

Taxpayers are welcome to speak at budget hearings on Sept. 7 and Sept. 22, Albanesi said. The final budget will be considered at the Sept. 22 meeting. Both meetings are at the district headquarters in Taxpayers may also send letters about the proposed budget to the governing board.

Under the proposed Increase, a homeowner with property assessed at $100,000, who claims a $25,000 homestead exemption. would pay $41.63 in taxes to the district next year, an increase of $14.78 over this

DAYTONA BEACH SHORES - About 100 Midwestern families will spend next week trying to forget their recent travails with flood waters by enjoying the hospitality of this Florida beachside community.

Businesspeople and residents of this town of 2,500 are footing much of the bill, expected to total more than $200,000.

The vacations are the result of an idea by Mayor Don Large to help some of the flood victims.

"I kept seeing the television pictures of the people and the damage. I felt sorry about the people crying. My heart went out to them," Large said on Wednesday.

He first thought of bringing one family into his own home and then decided to present the idea to city officials and invite 100 families - the number just flew into his head.

TALLAHASSEE - A grand jury indicted two former state workers after months of investigating allegations of wrongdoing in the purchase of the state's welfare computer.

Attorneys for Viann Hardy, former deputy of secretary of management systems for the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, and Judy E. Mitchell, former director of the computer project, consirmed their clients were named in the indictments, which were scaled Wednesday until the women were in custody.

The report criticizing how the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services handled the purchase of the computer will be scaled for about three weeks to give the people whose names appear in it a chance to respond.

Link: Moms' diets, kids' tumors

By The Associated Press

BOSTON - Mothers who eat plenty of fruits, vegetables and vitamin C during pregnancy appear to lower the risk that their children will develop brain cancer. researchers reported today.

The scientists set out to test the idea that eating smoked meats and other foods high in nitrates, nitrites and nitrosamines during pregnancy raises the risk of this cancer.

However, they found no sign that these substances were bad. In fact, a high intake of nitrates actually appeared to reduce the risk of childhood brain cancer called primitive neuroectodermal tumors.

While the study did not identify any foods that convincingly seemed to raise the risk, it identified several that appeared to lower it. However, such studies cannot actually prove cause and effect, and some hidden factor other than food could have accounted for the differences. "Our results nonetheless suggest that some aspects of maternal diet influence the children," the researchers wrote. The study was directed by Dr. Greta R. Bunin at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and published in the New England Journal risk of primitive neuroectodermal tumor in of Medicine.

It was based on interviews about eating habits during pregnancy with 166 women whose children had the brain tumors. Those findings were compared with the diets of mothers whose children remained free of the disease.

The study found roughly a 75 percent reduction in the risk of this cancer among children whose mothers consumed the largest amounts of fruits, vegetables, vitamin C, nitrate and folate. Taking multivitamins early in pregnancy as well as iron supplements also seemed to help.

OAKLAND, Calif. - Dione Wells, already battered and bloody, was fleeing for her life from a knife-wielding woman when she ran into a group of teen-agers hanging out on a street corner. What happened next surprised even veteran police officers.

"She was knocked to the ground ... several people in the crowd stomped and kicked (her) on the ground, one person hit her with a bottle, they all were yelling." said Detective Sgt. John McKenna, who is investigating the case.

"They were all yelling ... 'Kill her! Kill her! kill her!'"

Wells was stabbed to death as she lay where she had fallen.

"I haven't seen anything quite like this and I've been doing this a long time," McKenna said.

McKenna sees the Aug. 11 stabbing as a ominous twist on the infamous case of Kitty Genovese, a New Yorker whose screams for help were ignored by neighbors as she was stabbed to death in 1967.

"People usually stand by and do nothing," he said. "This case is unique.

AT&T cites computer advances in decision to close 40 offices

By EVAN RAMSTAD AP Business Writer

NEW YORK - AT&T ched new computer advances in cutting up to a quarter of its operators Wednesday as the long-distance carrier continues a consolidation begun last year.

American Telephone & Telegraph said 3,000 to 4,000 out of its 17,000 operators could lose their jobs between April 1994 and early 1995, though many will be offered other positions. The company will close 40 offices in 26 states as it consolidates work into large centers in six cities.

The company attributed the cuts to its adoption of computers that recognize voice commands. which will go into service nationally next year. In addition more callers are dialing direct or using calling cards. AT&T said.

The cuts follow the closing of 31 operator offices in 21 states that began in March 1992 and is to finish early next year. AT&T had said up to 6,000 jobs would be lost by that action but now estimates the number will reach only 2,000.

So far about 900 positions have been eliminated and about 70 percent of these people have found other jobs within the company, AT&T said.

The announcement came two days after AT&T said it would acquire McCaw Cellular Communications inc., the nation's largest cellular company, for $12.6 billion. Executives said

Church keeps faith downtown

Throughout history, churches have been responsible for the creation of cities. Once a church is built, homes start to spring up nearby. Soon, a residential area is flourishing and commerce and industry expands.

Eventually, towns began to show signs of aging and some businesses ceased operation. People began moving to more modern outskirts. As a result, new churches would spring up in the suburbs, pulling the memberships from the downtown churches.

While the number of churches near residential areas outside the city limits of Sanford and Lake Mary has been expanding rapidly. one church is ready to show it intends to stay in downtown Sanford.

First Baptist Church at 5th Street and Park Avenue apparently has enough faith in the continued prosperity of Sanford. It is planning to undertake a massive building expansion program.

Ground breaking is scheduled for February of 1994, on the present church property. The first project will be a new sanctuary. Later, expansions are planned for the educational building and fellowship hall.

Pastor Floyd Blake, the members of the building committee, and approximately 600 members of the church have planned this with considerable consideration and fore-

They are not predicting doom and gloom for the city. They believe Sanford will continue to grow and prosper, attracting outstanding church-going families.

A few other churches have fought to stay in the city and are continuing to serve its residents.

This is a true showing of faith in the future.

More on Tiger's Eye

Recently, the 11 o'clock TV news ran a story concerning the closing down of Tiger's Eye Productions. This is a school dedicated to the education of the public, about the endangered wildlife of this planet. This is an issue that is vital to everyone. The balance of nature ultimately affects the humans of this planet. For without the other animals life itself will cease to exist.

I feel the Seminole County commissioners don't realize the importance of having such a valuable school in our community. I personally have watched this program many times. I invite all the commissioners to watch their program next time they are at the Winter Park Mall or Flea World in Sanford, (last weekend of each month), and see for themselves what this school is about. It's sad and shocking to see how many people do not know a tiger from a lion or the importance of snakes and lizards in the role as rodent and insect controllers. Am I wrong in feeling that Seminole County is not concerned about our wildlife and the environment? The Florida panther, the Florida manatee and the Gopher tortoise are native to this state so the issue does concern us like it or not. Time is not far off that like dinosaurs, our wildlife will only be seen in books, or by visiting a museum. This is a fact.

I strongly suggest the Seminole County board of commissioners reconsider the importance of Tiger's Eye Productions and let them stay at their present location. They are not a threat to the community, they are in fact a very valuable resource. Why have they done this? What is the reason? I would like to hear their response.

Tuning in

For the past several weeks I have had difficulty tuning in to Channel WMFE Channel 24 (2). Everytime I tune in Channel 24 (2) I get a dialogue other than the dialogue of the program that is being televised. However, I accidently discovered that if I tune in Channel 24 (2) thru my VCR, then I can pick up the dialogue of the program that is being televised. I thought that I would pass this on to you for the benefit of those that don't know how to tune in. Of course, if you don't have a VCR. there is no way you can tune in. It is a shame because Ch. 24 (2) carries many excellent programs.

How much should we tax the rich?

bill, President Clinton enthusiastically revived the grand old Democratic tactic of class warfare, assuring everybody that practically all of the new taxes would come out of the hides of "the rich," who were not paying "their fair share."

Just what "their fair share" might be Mr.

Clinton didn't say, but he implied that, whatever it was, it would simply be a suitable punishment for the way they allegedly made out like bandits during those awful Reagan years.

I suppose there are some Americans meanspirited enough to actually enjoy seeing their wealthy fellows citizens stripped of a larger chunk of their earnings, and if so Mr. Clinton has presumably won their support. But I suspect that most people, hearing that the new taxes were going to fall almost exclusively on "the rich," felt something more akin to relief than to pleasure -in much the way that many Americans are relieved that AIDS, thus far, has impacted primarily male homosexuals and IV drug users. They wish no one ill, but are grateful that they are not personally at Ground Zero.

But there is a fairness issue here, and we ought to have the courage and magnanimity to face it squarely. Just what have "the rich" been paying, and what should they pay?

liberal contention that during the Reagan years "the rich got richer and the poor got poorer" is simply a Big Lie. In constant 1989 dollars, according to the Census Bureau. the average family income of every quintile (or fifth) of the population, from top to bottom, grew larger.

Now, what propor-tion of all federal income taxes do you personally think it would be fair for the top 1 percent of taxpayers to pay? In 1981, that top 1 percent was paying 17.6 percent of them. Not enough, you say? Squeeze 'em harder? OK - by 1988, when Ronald Reagan got through with them, that top I percent was

That is the share that Mr. Clinton, without actually specifying it, described as not high

Of course, there is a big difference between the way President Reagan got more tax money out of the rich and how Mr. Clinton proposes to do it. Mr. Reagan's technique was to cut tax rates, so that a person who earned more money could keep a bigger share of it, even though his actual tax payment increased. And that was what actually happened: The average income of the top fifth of American families rose from $75,903 in 1982 to $92.663 in 1989 (in constant dollars). The federal government was thus able to peel the top 1 percent for over a quarter of all the income tax revenues it collected, instead of only 17.6

Mr. Clinton proposes to be more blunt about it. Forget cutting tax rates (even for the middle class, as he promised to do). Instead, raise them sharply on "the rich." After all, they haven't been paying "their fair share." And so it has

Putting more cops on streets

There are guerrillas in our midst. Make no mistake: Those are enemy troops street gangs and drug-thugs armed with Rambo-style assault weapons - who are seizing blocks of America and murdering innocent folks who stray into their spray. All statistics say we are at war at home.

THE WALL

Yet, to watch Washington's politicos do-se-do around the crisis of crime in our streets, you'd think it was just another non-urgent matter, like our $4 trillion national debt.

Last spring, you'd have been stunned to have eavesdropped upon White House meetings as President Clinton and his strategists reviewed upcoming policy initiatives. On crime, the advisers wanted to just back the bill of House Judiciary Chairman Jack Brooks. D-Texas, when someone asked how many new cops it would put on the streets.

None, came the reply. Zero cops. Brooks never liked the idea of the Police Corps idea. the plan to pay college tuition for students who commit to serving four years on a local police force after graduation. It wasn't in his bill. Clinton advisers, then mourning the sudden death of their economic stimulus plan, mainly wanted an easy win. Also, the Police Corps wasn't a priority of Attorney General Janet Reno. So, never mind that President Clinton long had championed the Police Corps.

Fortunately, an influential outsider, Democratic Leadership Council president and founder Al From, pressed for the Police Corps concept: Clinton domestic policy deputy Bruce Reed searched for funding from within. "The most important policy Bill Clinton can enact on crime." argued From. "is to put police on the streets. And the best thing politically for Bill Clinton is to have people look out their window, see a cop on the corner and say: 'Bill Clinton put that cop there."

Now Clinton proposed a crime package that includes at least a dollop of dollars, $3.4 billion over five years, to add 50,000 cops to our streets. He calls it a "down payment" on his campaign pledge of 100,000 new cops. The word "paltry" also comes to mind. Still, it played as good news. The New York Daily News localized the news with a blaring front page headline: "5,000 COPS; What Bill's crime bill could mean for New York."

Op-Ed idiocy, meanwhile, is also in our midst. In The New York Times, a professor at the State University of New York in Albany, David H. Bayley, argued that "the sad truth is that hiring more officers will have no effect on the amount of crime in our society.'

Wrong. When Los Angeles increased its street patrols in high-crime areas just before last April's Rodney King police brutality verdict, homicides dropped by 20 percent: assaults and robberies by 10 percent, police reported. In their book, "Commissioner," former New York City top cop Patrick V. Murphy and journalist Thomas G. Plate cited a Kansas City patrol study showing crime declined significantly after a very high and very visible increase in police patrols.

So here's another way of rethinking our real priorities: First, recall that Clinton plans to cut by attrition 100,000 jobs from the federal bureaucracy in four years. And I've argued he can cut 100,000 Jobs In EACH of four years - by filling three of every four of the 400,000 plus vacancies that occur annually.

Now ask yourself: Would you rather have 100,000 more cops patrolling your streets or 100,000 more new bureaucrats filling old vacancles? And finally, ask: What would our politicians be saying if those guerrillas I said were in OUR midst were, more poin tedly, in THEIR midst - and especially in the neighborhoods of their big contributors? What if the drive-by shootings and random slayings were happening not in our meanest city streets, where most of the innocent victims are racial minorities, but in the white-on-white cul de sac streets of our suburbs? What if terrorist gange roamed and ruled there?

All statistics

say we are at war at home.

Answer: Our leaders would be discovering billions more for new cops. And they'd be voting - by acclamation - a domestic declaration of war.

The real skinny about the deficit

All parties in the recent budget battle seem to think they have at last dealt honestly with the deficit. (I'm not counting the Republicans, of course. The only thing they agree on is their solemn obligation to disagree.)

Dick Darman's bogus books are a thing of the past, they say. You might not like the taxes or the spending priorities, but by gum, you can finally trust the bottom line.

I say hogwash. The measure the Congress agreed on ought to hide its face for pretending to be a "deficit reduction" bill. It's more a "deceit enhancement"

I take that back. It isn't just the deficit reduction bill that should slink away in shame. It's any discussion of "budgets" and "deficits" that is conducted inside the Washington Beltway, where resides a mosquito that carries a virus that inflicts politicians with the dreaded Double.

Tongue disease.

lt isn't just the deficit reduction bill that should slink away in shame.

Start with the misnomer, "deficit reduction." With all the huffing and puffing and preening and posturing, you would think that our sagacious leaders had devised a giant blotter that's going to soak up all the red ink. wouldn't you? Think again and think of it this way: The Atlantic Ocean is a shimmering crimson sea of debt and we just stuck in a medicine dropper and extracted some. That's how much reduction in real debt we got.

If all economic predictions prove accurate and everything goes exactly as planned, the deficit will still be going up at the rate of $200 billion a year. Without the compromise, it would be $300 billion a year. That's your "reduction."

Now consider the $496 billion we have reduced the budget by -- $241 billion of which will be raised with new taxes and $255 billion of which will come about through spending cuts. What programs were eliminated? Who took the hits?

Well, let's see. There's $44 billion in budget cuts that were agreed to during the 1990 summit, which were counted again this time. There's a pile of spurious revenue from rescinded tax breaks (which are likely to be renewed down the road) and some welfare and Medicald "savings" that were pushed off on the states. There are tens of billions saved by "freezing" programs, which postpones both the results and the political pain.

Let's put it another way: The lawmakers who "reduced" the deficit are betting that future legislators will have more guts than they do. I think we can take that to the bank,

Finally, consider the national debt itself, the accumulation of all past deficits, which now stands at $4 trillion plus and cats up $300 billion a year in interest. This surreal figure will still be growing, and by 1998 it will be fatter by $1 trillion plus. Given the rosiest possible scenario, the United States will owe its creditors well over $5 trillion and will be paying them interest in excess of $1 billion a

Those are the "gross" figures. The government uses different language and numbers. They define the national debt as "debt held by the public" and refer to the money it takes to service it as "net" interest. Purely by coincidence, of course, these figures are much lower: The "debt held by the public" is about $3 trillion and the interest on it comes to $200 billion.

How do the bureaucrats come up with the lower numbers? They simply do not count the money they borrow from themselves. You thought there really were "trust funds" for Social Security, government pensions, airports and highways? Guess again. The trust funds are bookkeeping devices.

SARASOTA - Kimberly Mays has won the court battle to get her biological parents out of her life — for now.

Only hours after a judge ruled Wednesday the 14-year-old switched at birth cannot be forced to visit birth parents Ernest and Regina Twigg, the couple's attorney promised appeals all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

"It means at least another year of legal maneuvering." attorney John Blakely said, maintaining his clients are "entitled to have contact with their own offspring."

And he hinted the battle over Kimberly wouldn't necessarily end when the child turns 18 and becomes an adult in the eyes of

"If Kimberly has children of her own, the Twiggs will be the biological grandparents, Blakely said. "They have some rights to those children too."

Kimberly's attorneys said all they want is for the Twiggs to simply let go and allow the blond, bespectacled ninth-grader to enjoy what childhood she has

"I hope everybody just lets her be a normal teen-ager and get on with her life ... that's all she wants." said attorney Arthur Ginsburg, adding Kimberly was "yipping and yelping" for joy when he interrupted her vacation at an undisclosed location to phone her with the Judge's berly's request for a "divorce" from her birth parents. Dakan affirmed Robert Mays, the man who raised her since birth, as her legal father.

"I'm very happy today. It's been a long five years," Mays said of the legal fight. "It is over. I almost feel like I've had cancer for five years and they found a cure. They've cut a big bad thing out of my life."

The Judge also said it would be harmful to Kimberly if she were forced to visit the Twiggs.

"The evidence is clear Robert Mays is her psychological parent," Dakan wrote. "Any forced contact with the (Twiggs) ... is likely to produce mental, physical or emotional harm of a lasting nature to her."

Connecticut Judge Charles Gill. founder of the National Task Force for Children's Constitutional Rights, praised Dakan's decision.

'The best interest of children should be paramount, and this will go a long way in helping other Judges reach the same conclusions," he said.

Even though genetic tests showed the Twiggs to be her biological parents, the judge said it would be detrimental to Kimberly to give them that standing legally. He declared her "divorce" request moot.

The case began at a rural Florida hospital in 1978 when delivery room identification tags at Hardee Memorial Hospital were switched, sending Kimberly and another baby girl home with the wrong parents.

The swap came to light in 1988, when the girl the Twiggs took home and named Arlena died of a heart defect. Genetic Circuit Judge Stephen Dakan tests showed Arlena wasn't restressed nurture over nature in a lated to the Twiggs and that ruling that came eight days after Kimberly was their biological daughter. The two families have been fighting over the girl ever

Court reverses Gregory K.'s adoption, upholds 'divorce' from mother

By Associated Press

DAYTONA BEACH - The attorney for Gregory K.'s blological mother hailed a state appellate court's decision for family preservation in a ruling that said children cannot sue on their own to terminate parental rights.

The 5th District Court of Appeal on Wednesday ruled the 13-year-old boy should not have had legal capacity to "divorce" his biological mother, Rachael Kingsley. But on a procedural error, the termination of rights was upheld.

"For the preservation of the family, that is marvelous," said

Jane Carey, Ms. Kingsley's attorney. "Because to preserve the family you cannot have children being able to sue their parents to destroy their family."

The appellate court ruled Orange County Juvenile Court Judge Thomas Kirk's Sept. 25 termination of the woman's parental rights should stand because evidence showed she had abandoned the boy.

However, the court reversed the adoption of Gregory, now known as Shawn Russ, by his attorney saying Kirk erred in handling the termination and adoption proceedings at the same time.

Clinton may ease pesticide limits in processed foods

BY RITA BEAMISH Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - In a move and chemical industries, the Clinton administration is proposing to undo a blanket ban on cancer-causing pesticides in processed foods, according to interest groups who have been juices. briefed by officials.

Instead the administration seeks a standard that would allow small amounts of carcinogens if the government determines they do not pose a significant health risk.

Administration officials "described to us that they would support a negligible risk policy," said Sherwin Gardner, senior vice president for the Grocery Manufacturers of America. "Negligible risk" would be defined as one added cancer case for every million people.

It is the most controversial aspect of a broader food-safety pesticides out of the food." legislative package being prepared by the administration. If enacted by Congress, it would long sought by the agriculture overturn the so-called Delancy Clause of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmette Act, which prohibits even negligible amounts of carcinogens in processed foods such as applesauce, ketchup and

> Already, environmental and consumer groups who were priefed by government officials fuesday and Wednesday are condemning the move, while industry representatives who attended separate briefing sessions praised it.

"We cannot accept a reform package that undermines a central public health concept embodied in the Delaney Clause," said Jay Feldman of the National Coalition Against Misuse of Pesticides. "If we allow that provision to be repealed, we getting cancer-causing developed.

"We feel strongly that carcinogens should not be in the food supply," said Polly Hop-pins, director of World Wildlife Fund's agricultural pollution prevention project. But she applauded some other aspects of the administration's plan as a "good start."

Mark Nestlen of the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture said the administration was moving in "a positive direction to make the changes in pesticide regulation that have been needed for several years."

The Environmental Protection Agency, Agriculture Department and Food and Drug Administration are working together on the food safety legislation, which is to be presented in congressional hearings on Sept. 9.

EPA spokeswoman Loretta Ucelli refused to comment on the undermine the longterm goal of package, saying 0 was still being

Can Ali-Erickson 'Canes continue winning ways?

BY STEVEN WINE AP Sports Writer

CORAL GABLES - No one will accuse Dennis Erickson of squandering his inheritance.

Erickson's predecessor as coach at the University of Miami. Jimmy Johnson, left behind a wealth of talent when he departed for the Dallas Cowboys in 1989.

Over the next four seasons, Erickson coached the Hurricanes to a 44-4 record with two national championships. Last year Miami finished 11-1, losing only to Alabama in the Sugar Bowl.

In 1993, for the first time. Erickson will coach a team made up almost entirely of players he recruit last winter. recruited.

A milestone? "It's trivia," Erickson says. "I don't even comment on it.

because I think it's ridiculous. "The guys were my guys from the first day I got here. They'll always be my guys, and all those guys that played in '89 were my guys, because I coached them." Erickson may bristle at the implication that he has been winning with another coach's players, but there's no denying Johnson had a lingering impact on the Miami program. The '93 Hurricanes must replace 15 starters, most of them members of Johnson's final recruiting class. That group of seniors went 25-0 at home and won the Orange, Cotton and Sugar bowls.

Now, Erickson will rely on his own recruits, and the question is whether they're good enough to make another run at No. 1. The Hurricanes have finished in the top three seven consecutive years.

Miami's new quarterback will be junior Frank Costa, a 6-foot-4 Philadelphian who spent the past two seasons as an understudy to Heisman Trophy winner Gino Torretta. Costa moves into a job that has produced four NFL starters since 1982.

"He has a chance to be as good as any of them," Erickson says. "I look for him to have a great усаг.

The Hurricanes appear deep at running back. Sophomore chance to be very good on tailbacks Danyell Ferguson and r pounds, led by immense sophomore tacklennett and Larry Jones can run, block and catch the ball well.

The abundance of ballcarriers, coupled with Costa's inexperience and the departure of three top receivers, prompted Erickson to revamp a playbook that helped Miami win 29 consecutive games during the past three seasons. The one-back offense Erickson brought to Coral Gables will remain part of his arsenal. But he plans to have two running backs in the game about half the

"Because of personnel, we're pretty much forced to do it." Erickson says. "We have to get our best players on the field." Costa's most dangerous target might be freshman Jammi German, a speedster from Fort Myers, who was perhaps the nation's most highly regarded 'I would expect Jammi to play a lot," Erickson says. "Coming out of high school, he was probably as talented as I've seen. Up front, Miami will be much bigger this fall. Four starters weigh at least 295 pounds, led by immense sophomore tackle

Ricky Perry (6-foot-7, 310 pounds). "We could be better in the offensive front than we've ever been." Erickson says. Defensively, Miami will look much the same as in the past that is, fast. The primary concern is at linebacker, where last year's talented threesome of Micheal Barrow, Darrin Smith and Jessie Armstead have departed. "That's our biggest question mark," Erickson says. Likely replacements include freshman James Burgess of Homestead and 5-foot-8, 205-pound Rohan Marley, son of the late reggae star Bob Marley.

The front four should be one of Miami's best yet, and that's saying something at a school that produced Russell Maryland. Cortez Kennedy and Jerome Brown. Six linemen who saw considerable action last season return, including starting ends Darren Krein and Kevin Patrick. and 280-pound sophomore tackie Warren Sapp.

probably our defensive front," Erickson says. "How the linebackers play is the key. If they come through, we have a defense." When Erickson's lirst two recruiting classes signed with

Miami, they received only fair

"The strength of our team is grades from most experts. He declines to assess them now. "I guess we'll find out," he says, "when we play this year."

the Late Model division, and Jeff Burkett were battling hard in the evening's 30-lap finale' when the two locked sheet metal on the final lap. Thomas then slipped by and had to sprint to the start/finish line ahead of Ronnie Burkett to take the checkered flag. But Thomas didn't find the last lap CABY "All three of us were out of control," said Thomas of his bird's-eye view of the wreck. "I was hanging on just as much as they were. I was just lucky. It was slippery out there.' Rogers did work his way back to finish fourth behind Thomas and the two Burketts. Kevin Gillum claimed fifth. David Ponder trailed Apopka's Rusty Ebersole by 17 points in the Sportsman track point standiongs heading into Saturday night's competition. Bit with his win and Ebersole's fifth-place finish. Ponder reclaimed the points lead, moving out in front by nine points. Ponder seized the lead during the fifth lap of the 15-lap feature. then ran ahead of the pack for the rest of the race, leading Karl Stairs, Bill Morris, John Warrington, and Ebersole across the finish line.

Lawrence stopped Jeff Miller's run in the Street Stock 15-lap main event and cut into the margin that separates the two in the points' standings. Lawrence didn't make up many points as Miller held tight anf finished second behind Lawrence.

Defending Street Stock champion Scott LeCates claimed third ahead of Ray Fulford and Bruce Baker.

Fairbank, the points leader among the Mint Stock pilots. held off a strong challenge from Phil Orr. They were trailed across the finish line by Rod Butcher, Marshall Baker, and Jay Johnson. Letter was followed J.D. Clark. Alexander Kelly, Jim Butler, and Robert Milam in the Hobby Stocks feature event. Completing the top five behind Cormican in the Florida Modifieds main were Wray Shaffer, David Indiveri, Jerry Yarbrough, and Bob MacKenzie.

grandson has a very peculiar way of eating - he will eat only one thing at a time. BYNITALELYVELD Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - All day long they get question after question: "Where's the bathroom?" "Where's the Hope Diamond?" "Have you seen my 5-year-old son?" Sometimes their feet hurt. Sometimes they get headaches. Still, many Smithsonian museum guards say nothing beats peak tourist scason.

"I love it, I love it, I love it." said Martin Slydell, a guard at the National Museum of American History. "I mean - Arizona, Texas, Georgia, Alabama, California, Chicago, New York - there are people from everywhere.'

In the summer months, the paths along the national Mall fill with rivers of people, cameras dangling from their wrists, money pouches around their waists, sneakers on their feet.

The museums of the Smithsonian often are their first destination in town. And the museum guards among the first people they met.

So protecting precious artifacts is only a small part of each day's work for the guards: They're also part tour guide, part Dear Abby. They explain how to use the city's subway system, tell visitors where to find exhibits they came to see, point them toward landmarks like the Capitol, and make them feel welcome.

Many visitors zigzagging through the dimly lit American History lobby fail to notice Slydell - a 50-year-old man standing tall and proud in an immaculate guard's uniform.

But he takes everything in. In the year he's been at the museum, he has methodically memorized everything. Whatever the question, chances are he'll have the answer.

Those who ask about the Foucault Pendulum, a top attraction, are told:

"There are 64 pegs up there. One is knocked down every 20 minutes. When one is knocked down ... it means the Earth has rotated 15 degrees. ... In a 24-hour period, all of them will be knocked down. The museum is rotating beneath the pendulum."

Slydell talks to curators when they set up new exhibits. He reads all the pamphlets. When he offers facts and figures, visitors often stare in wonder. "A lot of people are expecting security to say, 'Don't do this, Don't do that," he said. "They don't expect us to be educated." When 22-year-old Elaine Slay got a from chronic sinusitis and nasal polyps. One Actifed daily keeps my allergies under control, but I'm concerned about the longterm side effects. I've experienced general fatigue, lethargy and a decrease in sex drive. Are my symptoms a result of the overuse of an antihistamine? DEAR READER: Actifed, an over-the-counter antihistamine/decongestant, is generally safe when taken according to the manufacturer's directions. It does not have significant side effects and ordinarlly does not cause the symptoms you describe.

More likely, your complaints stem from your chronic sinus infection. Nasal polyps are often associated with such infection because they may block the strus openings. Therefore, I believe you ought to consider having them removed; this simple operation might solve your problem.

As an alternative, ask your doctor to prescribe stronger medicine, such as Seldane or cortisone nasal spray. Perhaps you may have become resistant to Actifed.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Two weeks ago I began feeling dizzy, nauseated and suffered headaches. My doctor said it was due to high blood pressure and put me on water pills. Is this enough medication or should she have given me something to lower the pressure also?

DEAR READER: Diureties (water pills) do lower blood pressure, in part because they reduce the volume of blood by causing the kidneys to extract more fluid from the bloodstream. Therefore, your doctor prescribed appropriate "first step" medication for your problem.

Whether she will be successful in lowering your blood pressure depends on future pressure readings. In many instances. diuretics suffice. In others, additional medicine - such as betablockers, calcium-channel

If this was true, East had made a very light raise. Surely this suggested that East had a singleton somewhere. So Tarek crossed to hand with a diamond to his ace and led the heart jack. taking the finesse when West played low.
