Senate Calls For Another Oil Probe

WASHINGTON, Apr. 30.—(INS)—A new oil inquiry into the leasing of the government's rich Salt Creek fields in Wyoming, was authorized today by the Senate. A resolution, sponsored by Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, was adopted by unanimous vote. It carried a $10,000 appropriation and directed the Senate Public Lands Committee to conduct the inquiry. An amendment was added at the last minute, instructing the committee to take legal action against recalcitrant witnesses.

CANDIDATES WILL TALK TONIGHT AT ALTA MONTRALLY

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen among aspirants listed to speak at third of meetings being conducted through County. Seminole County's political aspirants will rally tonight at the Altamonte Springs Community House to ask citizens of that town for support in their races for various local and state offices. In addition to the candidates for local posts there will be several aspirants for higher offices, among them Ruth Bryan Owen, who is running for a place in Congress from this congressional district. An unusually large crowd is expected to turn out to hear Mrs. Owen and the other candidates speak. The daughter of William Jennings Bryan has attracted nationwide notice in her campaign in this district. All the speakers will be limited to five minute talks, according to E. J. Holly, chairman of the county Democratic executive committee who will preside at the meeting. This will be the third rally held so far this year in the county. It will be followed by others at intervals of a week in all sections of the county which have not yet been visited.

Many Sanford residents are expected to attend this meeting to hear Mrs. Owen speak. She drew a crowd of close to 600 persons when she spoke here a month ago at the National Defense Day program at the City Hall. She is also scheduled to speak at the rally at Chuluota next month.

U. S. Vessels Go To Assistance Of Ship Adrift In Midocean

NORFOLK, Va., Apr. 30.—(INS)—Three government vessels are drifting with the helpless steamer, Western Ocean 380 miles east of the Virginia capes. The Western Ocean has been adrift since April 18 and has been twice in tow of government boats and twice within 200 miles of the Virginia Capes only to be caught in storms, have the tow line parted and be cast adrift again. She broke away from two vessels yesterday. The Coast Guard Cutter Mascoutin and the Navy tug Keywaydin. She broke away from the Cutter Carabasset last Monday.

The Cutter Seneca left New York yesterday afternoon and will probably come up with the helpless craft and the government boats standing by her tonight. The Western Ocean ran short of fuel on April 18 and was unable to make port. Then her fuel supply gave out and the Mascoutin landed a small boat with provisions and sent them to her with a volunteer crew in charge. The steamer is 34 feet overboard and she is loaded with general cargo from Bremen for discharge at Norfolk and Baltimore.

Rickenbacker Predicts Biggest Year In History Of Automobile Industry

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(INS)—Eddie Rickenbacker, ace of the American Flying Corps during the war, predicted today that 1928 would be the "biggest" motor car year in the history of the industry. After a tour of virtually all important industrial and business centers Rickenbacker, an official of General Motors, said that conditions in most lines of activity are healthy with every indication of a general pick-up. In some localities Rickenbacker found what appeared to be the end of a season slump but he said that most of the unemployment is found in the unskilled labor class and that in many localities a strong demand

SOLONS STATE CONGRESS MAY ADJOURN SOON

Republican Leaders Of House Indicate They Will Be Able To Meet Senate Demand Of Early Business Cessation

Upper Body Wants Quick Adjournment

Several Of Its Members Are Potential Candidates For Nomination At Kansas City

WASHINGTON, Apr. 30.—(INS)—Adjournment of Congress on May 19 became a strong possibility today when Republican leaders of the House indicated that they could meet the demand of the Senate for an early cessation of business to prepare for the national conventions. Rep. John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, majority floor leader, today declared for the first time that the House would be able to wind up its business within three or four weeks. Although Senator Curtis (R) of Kansas, majority floor leader of the Senate, has urged May 19 as adjournment date for some time, the pilots of the business in the House have heretofore predicted that the House could finish its business in time for adjournment on May 19—or one week later at the most," said Rep. Tilson.

"The House will be ready and the matter depends entirely on the Senate. We have disposed of most of the major legislation and all that remains is to be disposed of quickly if the House so desires." The time for adjournment is a considerable period before the national conventions in June have been particularly strong in the Senate, which has several active and potential candidates for the Presidency.

The death of Rep. Martin B. Madden, one of Illinois' members of the House Appropriations Committee, was last night's latest casualty. He died at his home in Chicago, Ill., after a long illness. He was 65 years old. He had been in the House since 1905. He was a member of the House of Representatives for 23 years.

The regular run of cases included traffic violations and liquor. Andy Johnson was fined $5 for drunkenness and Tony Singleton was fined $10 on the same charge. Ben Johnson was fined $3 for violating the through street ordinance.

After his speech at the Jackson Day Dinner here in Jacksonville, Fla., he will be in Jacksonville, Fla., where he will give his election as keynote speaker. Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the committee, today announced that the committee was generally agreed upon in getting Bowers ready for the convention and announced that the convention hall is about complete. Asked by one of the members what the seating capacity was, Jones said, "If the press were not present I would say 13,500 or 14,000 for publication we put it at

SENATE VOTES TO HAVE PROBE OF CAMPAIGNS

Authorizes Sweeping Investigation Of Expenditures In Current Drives To Acquire Presidential Nominations

Robinson Sponsors Passing Resolution

Vice-President Dawes Will Appoint Committee Of 5 Senators To Lead Investigation

WASHINGTON, Apr. 30.—(INS)—The Senate today authorized a sweeping investigation of expenditures in the current campaigns for all Presidential nominations. A resolution of inquiry was introduced by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, referred to a committee, reported favorably and adopted within an hour. The resolution authorized vice President Dawes to name a special committee of five Senators to conduct the investigations.

Robinson sponsored a resolution, authorizing Dawes to name the special committee of five Senators. His resolution was modeled after the one sponsored by Senator William E. Borah in 1920, which revealed heavy expenditures in behalf of former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, ruining the latter's chance for the Republican nomination. The resolution was referred to the Senate committee on control of contingent expenses, a routine step. It probably will be adopted tomorrow. Robinson's actions were prompted by reports, circulated around Capitol Hill, that huge sums have been spent in behalf of one candidate for the Republican nomination.

"These inquiries have served a welcome and useful purpose in the eyes of many," said Robinson. "They will help to bring to light the true state of affairs in the campaign and will help to bring about a more honest and open campaign." Robinson said.

Gangsters Murder Theatre Cashier In Wild Holdup Scene

CHICAGO, Apr. 30.—(INS)—The greatest manhunt of recent years was in progress today in search of four bandits who last night shot and killed a 16 year old girl cashier and during a motion picture theatre holdup.

The girl was shot through the heart when she screamed from fright. A girl assistant fainting at her side. The bandits calmly stepped over their bodies, scooped up $1,500 in currency and fled. The bandits, armed with shotguns and pistols, held 2,000 persons in the audience at bay as they backed out of the theatre lobby. They escaped in an automobile bearing a New York license. The slain girl was Pearl Egger. The scene of the robbery was the large new Blitz Theater in Berwyn, West Side suburb. More than 2,000 patrons were thrown into a panic by the roar of guns. Hundreds of screaming women started racing down the exits and the booming of guns, aimed point blank at frightened patrons, sent them cowering back to safety. The shots went wild.

Berger Says Power Lobby Is Most Corrupting Influence In Country

WASHINGTON, Apr. 30.—(INS)—Characterizing the super-power lobby "the most corrupting influence" in the country today, Rep. Berger (S) of Wisconsin, introduced in the House today a bill to create a national super-power system under government ownership and control. Under the terms of the bill federal aid would be given states, counties, districts and other subdivisions in the development of super-power systems with service at cost. The bill also provided for conservation of the country's natural resources, coordinating of irrigation, flood control, navigation and hydro-electric power production, and enlargement and expansion of the reclamation service as an aid to agriculture, with service at cost. The next phase of civilization, Berger said, will be based upon the general use of electric power, with the home as well as the factory and farms dependent on it. "If this power be wisely controlled," he said, "it will become the slave of humanity and make slavery unnecessary. If it is not publicly controlled, but left in the hands of a few overlords to be used for their own greed and profit, that power is bound to enslave humanity." Berger declared that fifty percent of the electric power used in the United States

SOUTH ENJOYS RESPITE FROM BAD WEATHER

Rays Of Warming Sun Greet People After Week Of Heavy Rain And Frosty Breezes

Raging Streams Begin To Recede

Communications Have Practically Returned To Normal Today

ATLANTA, Apr. 30.—The South today was shaking itself free from a week of floods and frosts under the rays of a warming sun. In many sections the rivers were receding and the frosty weather of Saturday night was gone. The turbulent streams which washed over their banks in the northwestern sections of Florida last week were reported subsiding and the crest of the flood in Alabama was expected to pass today. Improvement in the condition of the Altamaha, Satilla, Little Flint, and Wilcoochee rivers, valleys of Georgia, where the floods in that state were at their worst, has been noted, and the Apalachicola and Choctawhatchee rivers in Florida are returning to their normal course. After a week of storms which tore down telegraph and telephone wires throughout a large section of the south, communication had practically returned to normal today and schedules were once more being followed on railroads where in some places towns had been cut off for a week. Yesterday 1,000 men won their battle in Arkansas to save thousands of acres of rich farmland from inundation and crop ruin. However, the White River remained above its normal level and work of strengthening the levees continued today.

The snow that blanketed the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia Friday night and Saturday morning practically gave the blizzard a new lease on life. The blizzard was now a mere memory. The snow was melting and the valley air, which had been so cold, was now a mere memory. The snow was melting and the valley air, which had been so cold, was now a mere memory.

Local Farmer Loses Car While In Church

Attending church brings bad luck to A. D. Shoemaker, local celery farmer. Twice now it has led to the theft of Shoemaker family automobiles. The first one disappeared during evening services a month ago and the second one vanished last night. The first car, a shiny new Essex, belonged to Mr. Shoemaker's son, Claude Shoemaker. The elder Shoemaker borrowed it to church several weeks ago. He parked it in front of the First Methodist Church. When he came out to go home, the car was gone. Following the disappearance of the first car, the younger Shoemaker bought another new one and his father followed suit. Last night Mr. Shoemaker drove his new car to church, parked it and went in to enjoy the sermon. When he came out, the car had followed the first one to the place where stolen cars go.

Cleveland Indians And Brooklyn Set Pace In Big Leagues

NEW YORK, April 25.—Uncle Wilbert Robinson's nephews, the Brooklyn Robins, and the Cleveland Indians are setting the pace in the big league races today. The two New York clubs found themselves eased into second place when forced to spend a day of unprofitable idleness yesterday.

After being pounded for five runs in the first inning, George Uhle came to life and beat Detroit, 10 to 6 with the aid of some murderous hitting by the Indians. The Cleveland mound ace chucked up his fourth straight victory and had a perfect day at bat with three hits. Jumbo Elliott, ponderous pachyderm obtained by Brooklyn from Seattle, bore down with each and every one of his 235 pounds and held the Boston Braves to three singles, winning 9 to 0. Hisselotte, Henline and Riconda hit home runs.

Seattle is getting to be a regular cradle of baseball stars, big Ed Brandt, of the Braves, another Seattle southpaw, held Brooklyn to two hits on Thursday. Paul Easterling of Detroit and Purdy of Cincinnati, both hardhitting outfielders, also hail from the Washington City.

Like Dan Howley of the St. Louis Manager Robinson of Brooklyn Browns, has transformed a collection of discarded Major League players who were cast adrift by other big time outfits into Tyson, Bancroft, Hendrick, Broderick, Riconda, Henline, Vance, M. Wemy Dault, Stutz, Garry, Brown and Flowers.

"With Wilbert" is the slogan of Brooklyn fans every four years for Robinson regularly turns out a strong team during Presidential years. He won the pennant in 1916 and 1920, developed a powerful team in 1924 and is again in the thick of the fight in 1926.

The St. Louis Cardinals, only held a game behind Brooklyn, beat the Chicago Cubs by a 1 to 2 count. Jess Haines twirled good ball for the winners. The battering Brooklyn slugger they way to a 14 to 5 triumph over the Chicago White Sox. Sam Gray won his fourth game in five starts.

Was North Africa Real Home of Jazz?

AN ORIENTAL DANCER

NEW YORK, April 25.—The theory that North Africa was the real home of jazz is being advanced by a group of American music advocates.

New York City—That jazz music is of African rather than of European origin is the theory of a group of American music advocates. They believe that the music was first developed in the Congo and then spread to the United States. They point to the fact that many of the instruments used in jazz, such as the saxophone and the trumpet, were first developed in Africa.

Dancer Wins Long Ride

Practically all France paid homage to Miss Gantry, a year-old Hindu dancer, recently covering the hard modern roads in two weeks. So great was her road into Cannes, that for an escort of polo players and other sportsmen she was difficult to be dropped in the throngs of pedestrians. She was closely followed by Mlle. Grosse, and two competitors finished the feat was acclaimed because of the dancer's training.

Justice Handed Out

If the verdict of the Miami jury in the Quigg case has been interpreted by us correctly, it lies within the discretion of the police to say whether a prisoner shall be properly docketed and hailed before a judge for trial, or whether he shall be secretly kept in his cell until such time as patrolmen feel inclined to take him to the woods and beat him up.

It was claimed by the prosecution that Quigg ordered the negro taken out and "worked on," and in the process of this "working on" the negro was killed, shot through the head by one of four policemen who claimed self-defense.

It was further claimed by the prosecution that Quigg's order was illegal and that by ordering an "unlawful act" which resulted in murder he himself was guilty of first degree murder.

The defense admitted that the four patrolmen, all armed with revolvers, had taken the unarmed negro to outlying sections for the purpose of running him out of town. It further admitted that in the process of this operation, the negro was killed, shot through the head by one of their number. But the defense claimed the act was done in self-defense.

Four armed policemen take an unarmed negro bell-boy to the woods for the expressed purpose of beating him up, the negro is killed and the policemen claim self-defense. Four to one, four armed against one unarmed, and it was necessary for them to kill him in order to keep from being killed themselves. Truly the power of the negro must have been great. Such was the decision of the jury.

While we are on this subject let us advise negroes to be careful what they do for their white friends. This particular bell boy worked in a prominent downtown hotel in Miami. One night a "gentleman" guest called him and asked him to take a message to a "lady" who was also a guest in the hotel. The negro complied. The "lady" was insulted. The negro was arrested, taken to the woods for a beating, and there murdered.

And the "gentleman" who was the cause of all this quietly packed his grip and went his way.

The Way It Goes

Last week saw the deaths of three famous men, their manner of dying seeming to show what a fickle thing death is. Not only does one never know when it is coming but almost invariably it comes when one least expects it.

We once knew a man who had served in France with the Twenty-Six Division. He had been through much of the hottest fighting. He had been almost cut to pieces by shrapnel and machine gun bullets. He had been wounded and bleeding in the slime and mud of Flanders fields before Red Cross workers reached him. But he recovered.

Eight years later a sandspur picked him while he was playing golf. Blood poisoning set in. He died. Why is it that a man can risk his neck innumerable times, jumping with parachutes from airplanes and finally kill himself rolling out of bed at night?

Last week Floyd Bennett, famed aviator, died of pneumonia in Quebec. Bennett, it was, who with Commander Byrd, first flew a plane over the North Pole. It was Bennett who was broken up in a crash of Byrd's plane just before the great Atlantic hop, and had to be left behind. It was Bennett who was to pilot Byrd's plane to the South Pole this summer. The icy chills of the frigid Arctic concealed no death traps for him, but Quebec brought forth pneumonia.

Frank Lockhart had driven in hundreds of races. In the circular track at Indianapolis he had driven his car to fame and fortune. He had tempted death a thousand times as he skidded in and out among other speeding cars. But it remained for the smooth, straight surface of Daytona Beach to claim him for its own.

No less paradoxical was the death of Gustave Kolbitz in New York. This gentleman had made a specialty of transfusion operations. In seven years he had shared his blood with 186 others in 180 operations. Last week as the result of an automobile accident, he died, from loss of blood.

FLAG WEEK FLORIDA TIMES UNION

Through the activities of the Florida division of the American Legion, a week has been "set apart" for learning about the proper use of the national colors. The Stars and Stripes, it is said, are frequently displayed in a manner that detracts from their dignity, and the Legion—as well as all other good citizens—would prefer that the flag be used according to accepted regulations. There are state laws on the subject. The details of putting the colors up in the morning and taking them down at night; keeping the blue white-starred field up—unless hoisted on a ship in distress, where it is regarded permissible to fly the field down, and there only—and a lot more information is rather generally spread, and more particularly emphasized in war time.

Few people, if any, would dishonor the national flag, and what ever has been done, since the height of attention passed a few years after the World War discrediting the colors, was no doubt due to carelessness. Flags are sometimes let up all night, which is strictly out of order. But the matter is practically always an accident. Since the Armistice the war-time habits and demonstrations of patriotism have slowly given way to thoughts and action of peace-time.

Many flags, that waved bravely here and there have come down and were not replaced. This was to be expected. And there are no laws or rules requiring citizens to put up flags of any kind. The aim of the American Legion in the present instance, Flag Week proclaimed to include the dates of April 18 to 25, is to secure a revival of interest in the display of the Stars and Stripes and to have the attention of the people once more brought to the facts which go to make this matter of colored cloth more than merely a decoration. The flag represents the United States, and under its protection a mighty people can still look toward the emblem with respect and regard.

State laws, particularly "field" things; they regulate through indicating what shall not be done, and in the matter of the national flag the Florida statutes under flag to protect the flag from different and discreditable use. As indicated, the flag cannot be used merely as decoration. It is not to be an adjunct to advertising schemes, and, while no one is asked or required to use or have a flag, when one is owned and used it must be handled with dignity and treated with respect.

School teachers and officers of all organizations have been asked to take particular note of flag etiquette during the next few days. It is a matter that can be approved by every good citizen, emphasizing the significance of the flag for the benefit of the young and the newcomers. And with the recurrence of this attention maybe many tall staffs now usually standing bare and unmeaning in the Florida sunshine can again be found adorned with the most beautiful flag that flies anywhere in the world.

HAVING THE GOVERNOR ST. PETERSBURG TIMES

Florida is a great state in many ways, one of which is its great area. It is too great a state in area and other ways to confess any consequence whatever in either Jacksonville or Tampa "having the governor."

It would not spell a thing to anybody or anything except a bunch of politicians in the "successful" city and some wholly imaginary prestige to brag about. It is not Jacksonville or Tampa fair to the state that when the votes have been counted the people were found to have disregarded them entirely.

The "big city" newspapers of Florida themselves have often remarked that their influence has counted for little in many state elections, and some day they may really set themselves to considering why. The why is that almost always their real campaign is not for the state welfare but one of rivalry between cities—just as today the struggle of the Jacksonville and Tampa papers is not to help elect the best governor available, but to elect either a Jacksonville or Tampa man.

No wonder the people so seldom agree with the "big city" newspapers. Why should they? They are not as simple minded and credulous as the "big city" newspapers think.

NEW YORKERS CHEER FAMOUS OCEAN FLYERS

 the windows of hotels and skyscrapers in the vicinity. Men, women and girls poked their heads out of the windows and cheered. Office routine was completely disrupted.

Slightly the procession started westward on Forty Sixth Street to the accompaniment of deafening cheers. Passing Broadway the cheering grew in volume and could be heard fully a mile away.

At 11 o'clock the procession arrived at Pier 84, North River, where the municipal steamer, the Macom, gaily decorated with flags, was waiting to receive the flyers for a trip down the harbor between name of craft to the Statue of Liberty.

When the flyers were sighted at the pier the whistles and the din became terrific. Within thirty feet of the Macom lay the Hamburg American liner "Deutschland," loaded with Germans. Hats were thrown in the air, people danced on the deck and the wildest excitement ensued.

A band aboard the "Deutschland" struck up the German National Anthem. Captain Koehl and Baron Von Huenfeld stood at attention. This was followed by lively Irish tunes played by the fire department band which was on board the Macom.

Crowds waved handkerchiefs and cheered from the giant liner Leviathan which was at anchor a few hundred yards up the harbor. As the Macom steamed down the harbor there was an incessant tooting of horns and shrieking of sirens. It began to drizzle slightly but this failed to dampen the ardor of the celebration.

"Drums Of Love" To Be Film Presented By Milane Theatre

"Drums Of Love", D. W. Griffith's latest contribution to the screen is to be the feature attraction at the Milane Theatre for 2 days commencing today. Heading the cast is pretty Mary Philbin, best remembered as the heroine of "The Merry-Go-Round"; the dramatic Lionel Barrymore, Don Alvarado, and Tully Marshall.

The story is based on a historical incident—that of Francesca da Rimini. In the film, Barrymore is seen as the hunchbacked, gnarled ruler of a large dominion, whose only loves are conquests and his younger brother. Never having found anything beautiful in life, he is somewhat at a loss when offered the hand of Mary Philbin in marriage to end the terrible battles he is carrying on with a neighboring lord.

Affairs of state prevent him from calling for his bride-to-be, so he sends in his place his brother, Don Alvarado. The handsome Don calls for the bride and enroute to his brother's castle they fall in love with one another. Returning to the dominion of Barrymore, the wedding ceremony is performed, and then the deformed Barrymore sets out to end a military conflict which has sprung up. He leaves his dearest possession, his wife, in the hands of her lover, Don. The lovemaking that takes place during the elder brother's absence reaches its climax via the court jester. Returning to his palace he finds the rumors true. This furnishes material for what is hailed as one of the most dramatic climaxes ever screened.

Policemen Declare English Court Has Mysterious Ghost

LONDON, Apr. 30 (INS)—The judge's court of the old Bailey, the Central Criminal court of England, is haunted, according to the police, court ushers and other officials.

Forty policemen recently spent the early hours of the morning hunting a "ghost" which is alleged to have stood in the dock of No. 1 court and then vanished.

The mysterious apparition was first seen by the night watchman who in the course of his patrol duty, peering into No. 1 court—the judge's court, where scores of murderers have been sentenced to be hanged—saw standing in the dock a strange man.

The watchman ran into the street and announced to the policeman on duty outside that there was an intruder in the old Bailey. The policeman collected others, and in a few minutes forty of them were swarming all over the building looking for the man.

They searched for six hours with no result. "Seems to me," said one of them, "we've been looking for a spook." The thirty-nine others agreed, and decided to go home.

The night watchman, however, declares that it was no ghost at all, and he is prepared to swear an affidavit that it was a real man and hood intruder.

Fire Causes Hot Words

Following the blaze that destroyed Maison Grosjean, Menton, France, has a war of words over the effectiveness of its fire department. The mayor's confession that the water supply is inadequate brought forth warm replies. One critic says that a municipality which cannot control so vital a public service as its water supply should "go to the most remote part of France and bury its head—or heads" if not to a region more tropical. The hose is said to have "10 leaks per meter," while the fire department band is declared to look well at festivals should play Handel's "Water Music" or Keep the Home Fires Burning at conflagrations. Another suggestion is that the municipality prohibit all conflagrations, under penalty of a heavy fine, or, best of all, see a film showing "what an American fire-brigade can do."

In an article which appeared in The Herald on April 20th, R. W. Deane, local representative of the Atlantic and Gulf Fertilizer Co. was quoted as saying his company had a contract to furnish the Hastings Potato Growers Association with 8,500 tons of fertilizer in 1928. Mr. Deane says this statement should have read his company furnished the Association with this tonnage in 1927.

Eat Vegetables and Fruit Every Day

At least two kinds of vegetables and one of fruit should be eaten by everyone each day, according to the latest dictum of the food authorities. One of the vegetables should be a leafy one, preferably raw, and fresh or canned tomatoes may take the place of the fruit. Clearly the experts have in mind the necessity of balancing the grains and meats of which the average diet mainly consists, with what may be called the "spring" foods that are rich in vitamins and that keep the body functioning properly.

But, except during two or three months of the year, many districts have no fresh fruits and vegetables, and in others the price is prohibitive. Moreover, vegetables, grown in glass houses are not as valuable from a vitamin standpoint as those grown right outdoors in the sunlight as the glass prevents the transmission of the violet rays.

Canned Foods Keep Their Vitamins
 Canned foods quality on 31 these points. They are grown in the full sunlight, packed at maturity, and canned at the place where they are grown because they are processed in air-tight containers they lose little or none of their vitamins, due to oxidation. Even though care is taken to keep a cover on a vessel in which food is cooking, the process is not as scientifically exact as when the food is processed in a factory in air-tight cans.

There is the matter, too, of price. When peas, corn, or tomatoes are available at three cents for twenty for cents, as frequently happens at the cheaper stores, they cost very much less than the same quantity of those vegetables would cost if bought at market prices and canned at home and this makes an allowance for its time and labor involved.

Dr. Royal C. Copeland, writing about canned foods recently, said: "The canned fruits and vegetables of today are wholesome, nutritious and safe for young and old. No case has ever been reported of poisoning from the eating of the well-prepared products of the commercial canneries. The apples, too, to the peaches and pears."

Buffalo trails

For miles they stretched across the prairie and up into the foothills, smooth, clearly marked, beaten hard as rock through the centuries by the hoofs of buffalo on their way to the salt licks. When the railways came, and the engineers were confronted with the great bastion of the Rocky Mountains, these buffalo trails assumed a new significance. It was found that they always followed the easiest gradients, that they penetrated the mountain fastness by the most direct and practical route.

Buffalo trails became one of the greatest assets of the early railway builders. Time, money, energy were conserved; a vast amount of fruitless pioneering and surveying was eliminated, by trusting to the infallible instinct which had led the herds along these obscure and little known ways.

Advertising, like those old buffalo trails, provides a clear and unmistakable path among the perplexities of modern buying. It points the way to the goal of safety and sound value; it avoids the pitfalls of unreliable goods. By following the advertisements in this paper you are following the high road to true economy.

Make it a habit: follow the broad, sure trail of advertising

Dual Rule In Hebrides To End With Trade Between France And Great Britain

WASHINGTON, Apr. 27.—A remarkable experiment in government—an island country ruled by both Great Britain and France—probably will end within a short time if the unofficial Paris pro-posal to trade some Sudan New Hebrides islands in the South Seas meets with English approval.

The story of this strange government, known as "condominium," and termed by some of the New Hebrides colonists "double monarchy," has been issued by the National Geographic Society of Washington.

"The New Hebrides live a double life," the Society said. "The colony has two masters, the British commissioner and the French commissioner, who are required to agree on the conduct of the island's affairs."

"Two languages, French and English, have official recognition. Military forces of the two nations police the New Hebrides and the Spanish frontier. Both French and British steamship lines serve the islands whose citizens honor with equal respect the Tri-color and the Union Jack."

King As Judge
 According to the Geographic Society just as the New Hebrides has still more complications to the joint rule of one Frenchman and one Englishman the King of Spain has been empowered to add a member. The Spanish frontier has a deciding vote at all times.

While the Allied Powers were redistributing the islands of the South Pacific the New Hebrides became involved in joint claims. Unable to agree on which claim was the better, England and France agreed on the "condominium" government.

The New Hebrides are 1500 miles out from Sydney on the sea route to San Francisco. There are 250 miles north of the French colony and 200 miles south of the British colony. The largest of the twelve islands has an area of 857 square miles. In addition to the dozen larger islands there are about one hundred smaller ones.

"The New Hebrides remain one of the last Pacific Islands to be peopled by its neighbors. Until of late a joint government was established in 1906 every native male carried a loaded gun at all times.

"A cartridge belt was 'clothes'."
