Judge Releases 15 Prisoners To Spend Christmas At Home

J. C. Reynolds Named Assistant County Ranger

Joseph C. Reynolds, a veteran of 22 years with the Washington, D. C. Fire Department and Florida Forest Service Ranger in Sarasota County was promoted and transferred to Seminole County. Reynolds assumed his duties here as assistant county ranger last week and is located at the Longwood Tower.

The ranger is well known in Sarasota County for his work in pioneering the South Trail Volunteer Fire Department. He was first resident manager, first assistant, and second chief of the department from Aug. 1933 to July 1935.

Joining the Florida Forest Service in July 1935 as assistant ranger, he was later promoted to ranger in Manatee County but turned it down due to the illness of his wife, Georgia.

Reynolds immediately appealed to Seminole County citizens to be extremely careful during the holiday season.

"This is the time of year when we should all be reminded that Christmas is the birthday of Christ, a time for joy and happiness," said Reynolds. "Yet to many of our citizens it becomes a time of heartache and tragedy due to fire, which is more prevalent and more likely to occur at this time."

Carelessness, says Reynolds, causes more than 80 per cent of the fires which occur in our community.

Reynolds and his rangers fought 770 fires last week, one of them more than 40 acres. All but one, he said, started from a trash pile left unguarded.

Market Report Shows Increase

"We are thankful the housewives did not let us down in purchasing their holiday dinners," said Sandy Anderson, manager of the Sanford State Farmers Market today as he reported on the week's activities.

There were 20 varieties of produce and fruit, totaling $1,706 packages from Dec. 15 through Dec. 21, at a gross valuation of $208,818.50, he reported.

"A comparison of business for the preceding week revealed an increase of 37,996 packages and a valuation gain of $96,657.25," said Sandy Anderson.

Spaak and 3087.1g of tao sa fan All produce and fruit were very much in demand and practically all varieties moved out at satisfactory prices, with the exception of cabbage, green onions, and radishes. They were in the low price bracket, Sandy Anderson reported.

The report concluded, "As usual, this time of the year, our citrus was heaviest in volume followed by celery, cauliflower, cabbage and lettuce."

Dean Littleford Speaks At Session; Cub Lions Named

By MRS. RAYMOND MORRIS CASSELLBERRY—Two new Cub Lions were announced at Thursday night's meeting by president Paul McClure, with the Very Rev. Osborne R. Littleford, Dean of the Church of St. Luke's Episcopal Church as guest speaker.

The Cub Lions are mayor-elect Donald Willson and William J. Blinn Sr. They will be inducted to working Lions at the first January meeting.

Dean Littleford, speaking on the true meaning of Christmas, stressed his hope that the general spirit of the American people expressed at this time of each year, would continue throughout the years ahead. The Dean based his hopes for greater happiness in the home as a basis upon which continued and widespread happiness could be founded.

Dean Littleford, presented to the club by program chairman, Joe Weimer, accepted an invitation (Continued On Page Twelve)

Fifteen prisoners in the Seminole County Jail were freed yesterday morning by Seminole County Judge Ernest Householder in order that they might spend Christmas with their families and friends.

Addressing the group of prisoners brought before him, Judge Householder said "I have placed sentences against each one of you for some violation in accordance with justice comparable to the act which you committed. We are now reaching Christmas and regardless of what you have done I have decided to amend the penalty which I have imposed upon you—and today you are to be released," said the judge.

Said Judge Householder: "Likely none of you have had the opportunity of reading the words of President Eisenhower at the time he turned on the lights of the Capital Yule Tree and I feel it very aptly expresses the sentiment we should have, that I want to quote to you a part of his statement:

"There are particularly manifested during this season those spiritual qualities of freedom and honor and neighborliness and good will—a great virtues that make all people one. Through them, and the faith in them we see how men can live together in peace; for one glorious moment we sense progress toward that aspiration of every religious faith—'peace on earth, good will to men.' The true testing of the Christmas spirit, will come when the trees are down and the lights put away by the success in keeping alive the inspiration of this moment: We must proceed by knowing the light of Christmas is eternal, though we cannot always see it. We must believe that the truth of Christmas is constant; that men can live together in peace as Lincoln said 'with charity for all, with firmness in the right'."

In the spirit as expressed in the words of the President, the Seminole County Judge said, "I hope that in my feeling for you that I will turn on in your hearts and minds, Love, Charity and a desire to do your part by respecting our laws in your future life. May God help you and Bless you and I am sure if you will do your part that you will always find that you will have the assistance of our God in the future."

And now, with the hope that you remember in the future not to violate the laws of justice, I am giving each one of you a dollar," Judge Householder said as he passed a bill out to each prisoner as he stepped forward.

And in response to the judge's gift, each man spoke out firmly: "Merry Christmas Judge and thank you sir."

Judge Householder said that last year he had presented a dollar to nine prisoners and released them "During this year only one of that nine has returned to our jail," he said.

Airman Narrowly Escapes Death In Auto Crash

A 25-year-old Patrick Air Force Base airman narrowly escaped being crushed to death in his car last night or early this morning as it went out of control for 150 feet rolling over and turning end for end.

Jeff Lee Bell, whose home is in Seminole County on Route 1, received bad head injuries as his car came to a stop on its top at the end of South Sanford Ave. at Lake Jessup.

"The car is a total loss," said Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway who investigated the accident.

Apparently traveling at a high rate of speed while going south on Sanford Ave., the 1955 Studebaker convertible crashed into the underbrush on the east side of the road.

Constable Galloway said that Bell was alone in his car at the time of the accident. "He was sitting on the front bumper when I arrived at the crash scene," he said.

Deputy Sheriff James Singletary assisted in the investigation.

Man Lights Up To Protect Self

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — That object there is not a walking Christmas tree, but only Will Benton, lit up to protect himself from the hazards of crossing the street.

"It's just a little contraption I rigged up to keep some dang ornament from running me down," said Benton, 25, in explaining the flashing light on his coat-tail.

The light operates off a battery and a flasher breaker he carries in his pocket.

"We've had so many requests to repeat the display," said Mrs. Stone. "That we're going to do it again this year."

The Illuminaroles is a Christmas scene depicting the birth of Christ with the candles to light the heaven, lighting the way for Him to come.

To set the display which covers the rooftop, in the yard, and surrounding the entire property, 500 candles and bags are used.

"We use the 15-hour hurricane type candles," said Mrs. Stone, "and this year we have secured 1,500 candles to use in the display."

Bags are folded twice in order to make them stand open, they are then placed in the sand.

"The custom is to light them only on Christmas Eve," Mrs. Stone explained. It will take Lt. and Mrs. Stone, with the help of a neighbor, about a half hour to get all of the candles lit.

"Thousands of cars passed our house last year to get a glimpse of the unusual scene," said Mrs. Stone, "and this year we would like to give everyone an opportunity to see the 'Illuminaroles' during the Christmas season."

Advisors To Check U. S. Security Program

7-Week Study Planned

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's special advisory committee on foreign aid leaves this week for a first hand check on America's far-flung mutual security program.

When it returns seven weeks hence it will advise the President on what future course it believes the program should take. Officials say this may lead to drastic overhauling of the multi-billion-dollar project.

The committee, called the President's Citizens Advisors on Mutual Security, is headed by Benjamin F. Fairless, former board chairman of U. S. Steel Corp. He and four of his committeemen will leave on a special Air Force plane Thursday on the first leg of their tour.

The 22,000-mile survey will take them to Spain, France, Germany, Austria, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey, Iran, Pakistan, India, Burma, Thailand, Viet Nam, the Philippines, Hong Kong, Formosa, Korea and Japan.

In each nation the committee will talk with both American officials and representatives of the foreign government to ascertain whether continued aid is needed and if so, how much. In addition, U. S. aid officials from neighboring nations not being visited will be summoned to meet with the advisory group.

The committee was appointed by Mr. Eisenhower last Sept. 5. He asked it to report back by March 1. This will not be in time to help the administration with its aid program for the coming fiscal year because a budget figure must be set late this month.

Besides Fairless, committee members are Dr. Colgate W. Darden Jr., president of the University of Virginia; John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America; Jesse W. Tapp, vice chairman of the Bank of America; Whitehall Reid, board chairman of the New York Herald Tribune; Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, vice chairman of American Machinery and Foundry Co.; and Richard R. Deupree, board chairman of Proctor & Gamble.

Funeral Will Be Here Tomorrow For Lt. R. Roth

Funeral services will be held in Sanford tomorrow for Lt. Robert D. Roth who died when his F8U jet crashed into a wooded area near Laureldale, N. J. Thursday.

Lt. Roth was awarded the Air Medal and two oak leaf clusters for heroism in Korea.

Lt. Roth is the husband of the former Lila Moore Lefter of Sanford.

The services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 11 a. m. at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church with military escort and with the Rev. John Thomas officiating.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Lila Moore Roth, a small son, Robert Roth Jr., his mother, Mrs. Fred Roth Sr., Milwaukee, Wis., and two brothers, Fred Roth Jr. of Milwaukee, and Charles Roth of Philadelphia.

Charles Roth is accompanying the body from New Jersey to Sanford.

Irish Girl Sends Christmas Letter To Uncle Sam

BERLIN — The U. S. Army has ordered a stuffed toy animal and a tricycle for a little Irish girl who addressed her Christmas letter to Uncle Sam instead of Santa Claus.

Screea Little of Dublin said she heard U. S. soldiers here, were on tending 3,500 orphans, refugees and other children at Christmas parties. She wrote to "The U. S. Army Chief in Berlin" asking "please, do you think you could share one of your parties with us?"

She said her five-year-old crippled sister Sherman has undergone three operations on her legs and will soon go to London for another. "She is very good and we all love her," the letter said.

"Mummy calls her our little blessing. She is dying for a saucer dog and a truck to ride. She has a bed since Saturday with a

Injured Pilot Is Airlifted Home For Christmas

The Christmas lights are burning a little brighter tonight for the Caton family of 123 Pinecrest Drive in Sanford, "Daddy" has finally come home. For little eight-month old Clarice it will be the first time she has ever seen her father. Twelve-year-old Ransly and eight-year-old Gary haven't played with their dad since May. For Mrs. Caton this Christmas will be a turning point in four months of worry and heartbreak.

It was last May that Lt. Roy Caton said goodbye to his family and left with Heavy Attack Squadron FVE for a overseas tour as a plane commander. On Sept. 8, while still deployed with VAH-7, Roy was involved in a serious plane accident aboard the USS CORAL SEA and was critically injured.

As soon as he was able to be transported, Roy was transferred to a military hospital in Germany and finally in mid-October he was further transferred to the Naval Hospital in Bethesda, Md. There he has been visited as often as possible by his wife whose encouragement and attention contributed largely to Roy's remarkable recovery from his severe head and body injuries.

Auto, Train Collide Near Goldenrod; 2 Hurt

A passenger automobile and a Seaboard Airline Train collided yesterday morning about a half mile east of Goldenrod.

Both the driver and his wife were injured in the crash and taken to the Winter Park Hospital. Two children of the couple were uninjured.

Shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning the automobile, a 1955 Oldsmobile driven by Dave W. Wetherington 34, an aeronautical engineer, of Mims, was traveling west on the Ocala Winter Park road at about 40 miles per hour, when it crashed into the front end of the engine moving east at approximately 20 miles per hour.

Wetherington, reported FHP Trooper T. Mark Mack, received multiple contusions and abrasions to both legs and head. Janice Wetherington, 21, the driver's wife is reported to have suffered multiple lacerations and possible fractures of the nose and ribs, and possible back injuries.

Damage to the automobile is estimated at approximately $1,000. Train damage was set at $600.

The train crew, aboard the engine and one car train, were: R. H. Mann, engineer; J. R. Milton, conductor; H. J. Slaughter, brakeman, of Wildwood; and T. R. Webb and Clint Madison of Orlando.

Children of the injured couple are Ransly, five-year-old girl and Jeffery, three-year-old boy.

The Christmas Story

By RAYMOND A. LAJOIE
Central Press Association Correspondent
(Last of a series)

No one thinks of Christmas without the feast. To everyone, Christmas is a means of enjoying, and, good food!

It's no wonder. The happy holiday gives us tasty stuffed geese and juicy turkey, egg nog, mince pies, plum pudding, a hot, bubbly wassail bowl, wafel cakes and lebkuchen. It is many other special treats as well, depending on where you come from and what your inherited family customs happen to be.

But one thing is sure. Christmas is truly a spicy feast, mingling homes with the taste of childhood, powdered cream, ginger, nutmeg, anise, allspice and aromatic bitters, all brought to bear on the food which will give your festive mood.

Christmas was, and in many countries still is, preceded by a day of fasting and abstinence, in preparation for the birth of Christ. But on Christmas day, in the course of time, each nation developed its own treasured traditions in connection with the Christmas dinner.

In the time of Elizabeth I, a Christmas dinner often lasted as long as nine hours, with further meals of oysters and pheasant served throughout the evening. One of the main dishes of the period was a goose, served on a golden platter, the roasted head and neck and tail gracefully upturned. As a companion there might be a steaming bear's head, with a bright, red apple set between the sharp, gleaming teeth.

What Christmas dinner would be truly complete in the merry England of Queen Anne (and today) without plum pudding? The origin of this festive dessert are lost in history but popular legend handed down explains it this way:

Once upon a time, an English king went hunting on Christmas Eve. He soon became lost, however, when a blizzard blocked the path of the forest. One of the hunters, the cook, very quickly found himself charged with the task of preparing Christmas dinner from whatever food he could find.

So he literally threw everything into the pot—the remains of a stag chopped into fine bits, flour, a few dried plums, some dried eggs, ale, brandy, sugar and meat from some wild game. Soon, to his surprise, he had a delicious, hot "pudding" and to this day, true plum puddings have all of these ingredients which our quick-witted hunter put into his cooking pot.

Still another favorite is mince meat pie. This tasty dish was originally devised by the Puritans as a religious offering and served with a tiny figure of the Christ child in its center. The earliest known recipe dates from the reign of James I in the early 17th Century. At that time the pie was filled with beef tongue, chopped chicken, eggs, raisins, oranges and lemon peelings, sugar and various spices.

The custom of inviting friends and relatives in for cocktails during the holiday season, so popular in America today, dates back to the old English practice of "wassailing."

In Elizabethan times, no celebration was complete without the wassail bowl filled to the brim with hot punch—a cheery invitation to all to come in and help celebrate the Yule. Then, as the guests raised their steaming mugs in a toast to Christmas, the merry cry of "What Ho!" "Wassail!" would ring joyously through the hall.

It wasn't until the 18th Century that the mild wassail drink was gradually supplanted by a punch, made up of stronger spirits. The punch bowl finally replaced the wassail bowl and is now a traditional feature of Christmas in America.

The Spanish, French and Italian enjoyed, and still do, their customary wine with the Christmas feasting. In northern Europe, beer is the favorite drink. In Sweden it is glögg. Ireland too, has an old-time Christmas drink called "Lamb's Wool" which is made by bruising roasted apples and mixing the juice with ale or milk. It is then served with juicy apples and fresh-roasted nuts and is considered an indispensable part of the Yule festivities.

Early Christmas dinners in this country, modest and simple compared to the lavish, boisterous English fare, bring some the fact that it was not the royalty and nobility, but poor, common folk who brought their European habits and customs to the original thirteen colonies.

The good Lord even had turkeys ready for them and wild geese too. They were dry, tough, and cheerless morsels in those early days. But Americans stood by their native birds, righteously refusing to return to the engerated feasting of the lands from which they came, even when they later could afford it. Instead, they slowly developed and continually improved the strain of both geese and turkey until they became the meaty delicacies we enjoy today, the golden centerpiece of our own Christmas meal, 1946.

There is a lovely old European custom celebrated during the Yuletide on St. John's Day, Dec. 27. This is the day when the church bestows a special blessing on wine. An old rite of misty origin, it is done in honor of St. John the Evangelist, who, according to early legend, drank a glass of poisoned wine without suffering harm.

It's true that the melting pot that is America has borrowed its Christmas customs from countries the world over. But it has added some that are typically its own.

The egg nog of Christmas and the hot rum punch and old-fashioned are ours alone. The aromatic apple pie that crowns the Christmas turkey or goose and the cranberry sauce is not traditionally served at holiday time in any other country. There is also mulled elder simmered with spices and served with floating orange slices.

Conservation News

By: BEN WIGGINS
Soil Conservationist, USDA

The Seminole Soil Conservation District accomplished much in 1956. Thirty-two basic or complete soil and water conservation plans, totaling over four thousand acres, were worked out with farmers, growers, and ranchers of this District. Since the District was organized, about seven years ago, 329 of these basic plans have been prepared and signed by cooperators of the district. Of the total number of prepared plans 280 are active; that is one or more of the conservation practices as set up in the plan have been applied on the land. The 280 active plans cover over 39,000 acres. According to the U. S. census report there are only about 475 individual farm units in Seminole County.

Some of the major soil and water conservation practices that are being applied in this district are: cover cropping, mulch tillage, crop rotation, pasture planting, wildlife improvement, private fish ponds being stocked with bream and bass, woodland protection by constructing fire lanes, ditch construction to remove surplus water, furrow or seepage irrigation, irrigation water management, well location and construction, and the practice of tilling which is used for both drainage and irrigation purposes in this district.

There are now over 2700 Soil Conservation Districts in the Nation. Their main job is to provide technical assistance to farmers, growers, and ranchers in preparing farm plans and establishing the needed conservation practices on their land. Each plan is prepared according to land capability and is designed for a particular farm. A complete soil survey, up to a depth of 60 inches by a trained soil scientist, is used as the basis for working out the farm plan.

Every farmer knows that his farm is different from every other farm. His land is different. In fact the land is not exactly alike on any two fields on a single farm. That is the primary reason why individual farm plans are necessary.

Every farmer that lives within the boundaries of a Soil Conservation District can obtain a farm plan, free of cost, on application to the district governing body. After the application has been approved by the supervisors your plan is on its way. The plan consists of: an aerial photograph with land capacity map, a conservation plan map showing what each field will be used for, and a set of guide sheets or instructions as to the best methods for establishing the practices set forth in the plan. The farmer tells the technician the type of farming he wishes to do and the technician discusses with the farmer the capability of his land to do that type of farming. Together they work out a farm plan whereby each acre will be planted to crops, citrus, or pasture grasses that it is best capable of producing.

The governing body is made up of five supervisors who are elected by the landowners within the district. The present supervisors are: Henry Wright, Ralph Hammond, C. A. Wales, W. W. Linn, and Banner Carter. Cecil Tucker, Seminole County Agricultural Agent, was recently elected by the supervisors to serve as secretary to the board. These supervisors, who serve without pay, devote much of their time towards the supervision and promotion of the conservation practices that are needed and will benefit all farmers and citizens of this District. Any land owner desiring technical assistance with their soil or water problems should contact one of the supervisors or the local technician located in the Sanford Atlantic National Bank Building.

Farm Good Place For City Girl To Find Husband

WASHINGTON UP—The place for a city girl to look for a husband is down on the farm. Almost one out of every three men of marriageable age on farms is a bachelor, compared to only one of five city men.

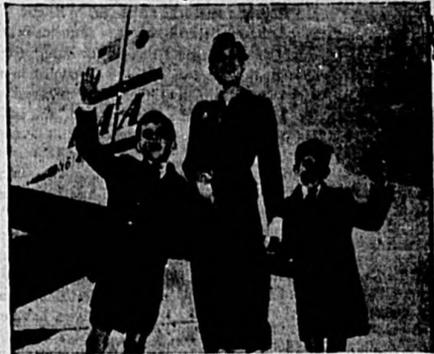

The plain fact, is, according to a Bureau of census report, the proportion of single, marriageable men has declined in the past six years from 26.2 per cent to 23.8 per cent of the total male population.

The proportion of single women, however, is just about the same on farms as in the cities—19 per cent. Actually, changes in the marital status of women have varied only slightly since 1950, the report said.

The flag was a gift by Post 53 in recognition of the track's services to charity, as characterized by the more than $3,000 raised through Thursday night's program.

the Snapshot Guild

Last minute snapshot before beginning of the plane trip, with the camera going along for interesting shots to be made from the air.

Up in the Air With Your Camera

The other day we spotted this item in a winter vacation booklet put out by one of the nation's leading commercial airlines: "There's room beneath your seat for briefcase, vanity, or camera."

But we're willing to wager that if you're aloft with your camera, you won't leave it idling "beneath your seat" for long! There's just too much excellent picture material around that no self-respecting snapshotter will want to miss. Rivers, mountains, massive cloud formations, dams, bridges, harbors, farmlands—an everchanging kaleidoscope of views and patterns invites your camera to action as you cruise the sky.

We'll concede that a camera with a good fast lens and a high-speed shutter enjoys a definite advantage. But, under ideal conditions and at relatively high altitudes, even a simple camera can take memorable pictures from the air in both color and black-and-white.

Here are a few basic points to remember whenever you use your camera in flight: (1) Be sure you don't let your camera touch any part of the plane, or vibration will blur the picture. (2) Minimize the effect of the plane's speed and motion by shooting "oblique" views, with the camera pointed ahead of the plane or to the rear rather than straight down or straight out the side. (3) To avoid reflection, hold your camera at an angle to the window or shield the lens. And (4) Use a filter to cut through atmospheric haze.

American People Heralds Of Peace, Good Will In Hearts, Lives Of Many

Those who sadly find in the world situation only mockery of the Christmas theme of peace and good will need to remind themselves of two points in this regard.

First, when Jesus was born in Bethlehem in Judea, in the days of Herod the King, there was even less peace, freedom and good will on earth than there is today.

Roman totalitarianism held in subjection all people within reach of Roman legions. Greek democracy had failed of the strength needed to withstand weakness from within and aggression from without. The hour was dark for those who believed that man is the Son of God, and by God endowed with an inalienable sovereignty over his individual destiny.

As a substitute for this sovereignty, state sovereignty, state domination of the individual is in greater or less degree a form of subjection.

Second, peace and good will do exist in this sorry world this Christmas time in spite of the many denying evidences. And in a most particular manner the people of the United States of America are the heralds and preservers of both peace and good will in the hearts and the lives of many people.

Keep Christmas Right Way

As the seconds hurtle us toward Christmas every imaginable story of childhood passes in review.

And reviewing—so it were—the Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol" most readers will remember that it was said of Scrooge, after his conversion by an array of most persuasive ghosts, that if any man knew how to keep Christmas, it was he. During the generations since that time, the Christian world has been pretty well agreed that Dickens hit the nail on the head; Scrooge did indeed know how to keep Christmas.

The question arises: Do we keep Christmas the way Scrooge did in his more mellow years? Do we give generously to the poor and unfortunate in the name of Him whose birth the season celebrates? Do we do all in our power to help the world's Bob Cratchits and Tiny Tims—who, in our globe-conscious times, may have much more heathen-sounding names than that?

Those are questions that test how nearly we keep Christmas as Scrooge did after Jacob Marley's ghost had shown him the way.

Japan To Reassess Foreign Policy

By CHARLES M. McCANN, United Press Staff Correspondent

Japan, Asia's most dynamic country, is about to start an important reassessment of its foreign policy.

The ancient kingdom whose history goes back 2,600 years was admitted to the United Nations Tuesday.

Probably, Japan will undergo a radical change in its political leadership.

Tanzan Ichiishi, the incoming premier, will then decide Japanese policy toward the United States, Communist China and the Asian-African bloc of nations.

Seeks Trade Increase. No sensational decisions are expected. But it is fairly certain Japan will adopt a more independent attitude toward the United States and will move promptly to increase its trade materially with Red China.

When he gets around to it, Ichiishi is likely to provide Ichiishi is expected to ask the United States to set a final date for the withdrawal of troops it now has stationed in Japan.

Since the end of World War II, Japan has been led by a succession of premiers who have based their policy on close cooperation with the United States.

Began Fighting MacArthur. Ichiishi, however, takes a more critical attitude toward the United States. As soon as he entered politics after the war, and was made finance minister, he started fighting Gen. Douglas MacArthur's occupation policies.

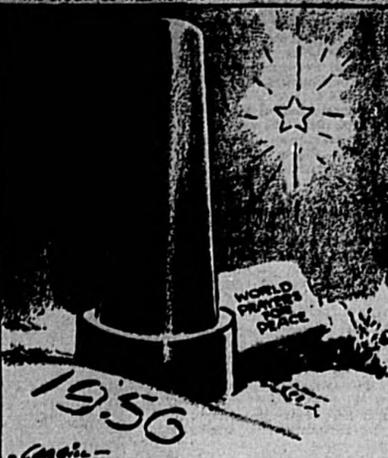

A change in the Japanese prime ministry has been long pending. Outgoing Premier Ichiro Hatoyama is 73 and semi-paralyzed. Members of his dominant liberal-Democratic Party have felt that he could not give Japan the forceful leadership they wanted.

Ichiishi is likely to provide that kind of leadership. At 72, he is only one year younger than Hatoyama. But he is in good health, looks much younger and has decided ideas on a lot of things.

Round-faced and serious-looking, Ichiishi is the son of a Buddhist priest. He started out as a newspaper man and became a leading publisher, specializing in economics.

Christmas Story

"WHEN IS CHRISTMAS?" It was a time of good news just as the angels proclaimed to the shepherds, saying "fear not; for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people; for unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Savior, which is Christ." It was a time when all people praised God for His great gift saying "glory to God in the highest and on earth peace good will to men." When is Christmas? For the Christian, Christmas has already come because Christ is here - and He will continue to come to those who really want Him to come into their life. When is Christmas? So much depends on us. He has promised saying "Behold I stand at the door and knock and if anyone hears my voice and opens the door I will come unto him." Philip Brooks wrote - "No ear may hear His coming, but in this world of sin where meek souls will receive Him still, His Christmas come to you? Let us make this our Christmas prayer - O Holy Child of Bethlehem descend on us we pray; cast out our sin, and enter in, be born in us today - Amen"

Allergies In Children

IT'S a good idea to try to protect your children from allergic reactions right from the start. Heredity, it appears, plays an important part in allergies. So if one of the parents has an allergy, you should watch slowly for allergic tendencies in children. Careful feeding is especially important. Avoid overfeeding, for one thing. Certain Foods. And introduce certain foods known to cause allergy into the child's diet very slowly. Some of the foods which might cause reactions are whole eggs, chocolate and raw fruits and vegetables. Plain fluid milk may sometimes cause allergic reactions. Maybe it will help keep the child from becoming sensitized if you give him dried milk, evaporated milk or boiled fluid milk instead. You should, of course, have your youngster immunized against smallpox, tetanus, diphtheria and whooping cough. This is even more important for youngsters subject to an allergy. I've previously given you time-tables for these inoculations. Always be alert to any symptoms of allergy. Sometimes manifestations like rubbing the eyes or the nose, wrinkling the nose and sniffing, might indicate an allergy has started. Stuffed Toys. Children with allergic tendencies should not be permitted to sleep with teddy bears or other stuffed wool toys which might contain horse hair, rabbit hair or other allergic substances. The youngster's room should be kept clean. There should be no rugs on the floors and upholstered furniture, drapes and other dust catchers should be eliminated. A foam rubber mattress and pillow might be advisable, too. And as much as I favor pets for children, any youngster with an allergy probably is better off without a dog, cat or bird. QUESTION AND ANSWER Q. T.: I heard that people having migraines have a warning sign. Is this true? Answer: In the majority of migraine cases, there is a warning of an oncoming attack. The sign may be a depression, irritability, restlessness, loss of appetite, spots before the eyes, blindness, numbness and weakness of one side of the face like rubbing the eyes or the body.

Demos, GOP May Cut TV Use In '60

By VINCENT J. BURKE, United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON UP — Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said that both the Democratic and Republican parties will consider cutting down their use of television in the 1960 election campaign.

Hall said that maybe viewers were swamped with too much politics in the last campaign. He predicted the networks will not carry as much of the national conventions in 1960 as they did this year.

Hall told a special House committee investigating campaign spending that "You can assure television with too much politics." The Republican and Democratic parties spent more than $3 million each on TV this year.

Hall's statements filed with a view expressed earlier this week by Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler.

Hall also joined Butler in calling for an increase in the $ million dollar limit which may be spent by any national political committee, in a campaign.

However, the GOP chairman opposed Butler's recommendation that Congress clamp an overall limit, say $10,000 or $15,000, on the amount that any individual can contribute to a political campaign. He said present high tax rates are an effective top limit on the wealthy.

Butler's proposed limit on overall spending by an individual would be in addition to the present law against contributions of more than $1,000 to any one political committee.

Frank J. Graham, president and publisher of the Washington Post and Times Herald, told the committee that political parties in 1960 may get the benefit of millions of dollars in free advertising.

He said the ads would urge the people to contribute money to the political party of their choice. Graham said the Advertising Council planned to launch such a campaign this year but never got around to it.

"I believe we'll try it again," he said. He said the plan called for the campaign to be supervised by a bipartisan committee headed by former Presidents Hoover and Truman.

Barbara Jean Evans Is Engaged To Marry Jack LeRoy Harrison

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Evans, of Loch Arbor, announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Barbara Jean, to Jack LeRoy Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, of Wichita, Kan.

The wedding will take place on Dec. 28 at the Evans home, with a reception following. All friends of the couple are invited to attend.

Miss Evans was born in Indianapolis, Ind., and is a graduate of Seminole High School. She is presently employed by the Florida State Bank. Mr. Harrison is with the U. S. Navy, stationed at S. N. A. S.

The newest color weighing in at baggage counters is a frosty white that stays white with just a quick sudsing before and after every trip. This is made into soft-sided, lightweight plastic-covered luggage.

Faithful Workers Honor Shut-Ins At Class Party

OVIEDO—The members of the Faithful Workers' Sunday School Class had a meeting and Christmas Party at the home of Mrs. G. W. Alford on Thursday evening.

The affair was a turkey dinner, prepared and served by the members of the class.

The dinner table was attractively decorated with Christmas decorations.

The class honored their shut-ins for this special occasion, gifts being presented to each.

Those enjoying this affair included: Mrs. W. F. Jackson, Mrs. E. M. Hill, Mrs. C. A. Buchanan, Mrs. D. B. Gammage, Mrs. Alvah King, Mrs. O. M. McGuire, Mrs. Daisy Farnell, Mrs. G. W. Alford, Mrs. Arthur Metcalf, Mrs.

Students Decorate Building For Party Of Oviedo School

By Marian Jones

OVIEDO—The Senior High School Christmas party was one of the prettiest affairs held during the holiday season. The City Hall memorial building was the scene of much gay festivity.

Mrs. Milton Gore, Youth Chairman of the local P-T-A, left the decorating up to the students themselves, and they were gorgeous. A decorated Christmas tree, floating balloons, Santas, holly, reindeer, and many other Christmas decorations were arranged attractively throughout the spacious room.

Games and dancing were enjoyed by the students, who were also allowed to invite.

Miss Kay Estes was in general charge of most everything during the evening, even the serving. Delicious homemade cookies, candies and other dainties were made by the students themselves.

Those enjoying this affair included: Joe Battle, Tom Mikler, Julie Gore, Benna Wainright, Ruby ee Trowell, Mary Webb, Donnie Malcolm, Norman Hicks, Ann Lundy, Virgil Wilson, Freddie Alford, Ronnie White, Patricia Jackson, Julie Fleming, Gordon Horton, Tyra Kelsey, Betty Stevenson, Freddie Wheaton, Margaret Fortson, Dick Fracey, Myron Willis, Carl Fabry.

Adults who came in shifts during the evening were: Mrs. John Evans, Mrs. W. H. DeShazo, Mrs. James Parlin, Mrs. Elsie Fleming, Mrs. Ferdinand Duda, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Hart, Mr. and George Means, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Jackson, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Ulrey.

The elbow areas usually need special attention while a sweater is being washed. "Massage" these soil spots with well-soused fingers. Then go ahead with sudsing and rinsing the entire sweater.

Daisy Farnell, Mrs. G. W. Alford, Mrs. Arthur Metcalf, Mrs. Mollie Alexander, Mrs. G. G. McMahon, Mrs. L. C. Waters, Mrs. Knight and Mrs. Smith, the latter from Geneva.

Mrs. Daisy Farnell and Mrs. C. A. Buchanan were co-hostesses for this affair with Mrs. Alford.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Dishman, Kenneth Malcolm

By Marian Jones

OVIEDO—Miss Georgiana Dishman and Kenneth Malcolm were united in marriage last Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. at the Oviedo Baptist Church, the Reverend Louis L. Day officiating.

The candlelight ceremony was performed against a background of white gladioli in white baskets and greenery, with Mrs. Louis L. Day furnishing the nuptial music.

The bride wore a white lace dress over taffeta and her corsage was a white orchid. Her accessories were also white.

Miss Peggy Fleming, maid of honor was attired in a suit of light blue jersey, with which she wore a pink rosebud corsage. Her accessories were pink.

Keith Malcolm acted as best man for his brother.

Mrs. Charles Dishman, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue silk. Her corsage was formed of pink carnations. Her accessories were white.

Mrs. J. L. Malcolm, mother of the bride, also wore navy blue silk. A pink carnation corsage and white accessories.

Following the wedding, a reception was given in the annex of the church.

The bride's table, centered with tiered wedding cake, was overlaid with a linen cloth. On either end of the table was placed a crystal punch bowl surrounded by white carnations and fern. Crystal candelabra, holding white tapers, flanked the cake. Baskets of white gladioli were placed at points of interest.

Cutting the cake were Corrine King and Mrs. W. A. Ward, Jr. Mrs. Theodore Aulin, Jr. and Mrs.

Ethel Root Circle Has Party At Home Of Mrs. Schmah

By Grace Thurston

The Ethel Root Circle of the Congregational Christian Church had a short meeting and Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schmah, Lake Monroe.

The living room was tastefully decorated with Christmas decorations of pine, holly and candles.

After a short business meeting, Mrs. Herbert Thurston turned the party over to Mrs. Robinson, who conducted several Christmas games, prizes being won by Mrs. Ed Simpson, Miss Helen Witte, and Miss Gertrude Vining.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Bonner Carter, Mrs. Lucille Robinson, Mrs. Ralph Loring and Mrs. Gus Schmah.

Later in the evening, presents were exchanged by Mrs. Ed Simpson, Mrs. Herbert Thurston, Miss Gertrude Vining, Mrs. J. W. Billingsley, Mrs. Oscar Zittrower, Mrs. McMillan, Miss Helen Witte, Mrs. Clyde Stinson, Mrs. Bea Alford, Mrs. John Jones, Mrs. Lucille Robinson, Miss Mary Jo Robinson, Mrs. Ralph Loring, Gus Schmah.

Wyatts Finish Year As O.E.S. Officers

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Wyatt finished their year as Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron, respectively of Seminoles Chapter No. 2 O. E. S. at their regular meeting Thursday night at the Masonic Temple.

The chapter room was beautifully decorated with white candles tied with tiny bows of red ribbon. The flickering candles cast a soft glow over the holiday setting. A large basket of red and white poinsettias enchanted the setting. Completing the decorations was a Christmas tree in the East decorated in red, white and green lights, the Worthy Matrons colors for the year. Later in the evening members exchanged gifts.

A very impressive report was given on the Rainbow Girls by their Mother Advisor, Mrs. W. A. Reynolds.

On behalf of the officers, Mrs. Wyatt and Mr. Wyatt were presented a gift by Mrs. H. E. Cordell, the Matron elect. Mrs. Wyatt lit a candle in recognition of their work. While Mrs. Robert Cole sang "Star of the East", the Worthy Matron gave a resume of her years work and wished for the

Hobbs Becoming Uoff's Basketball By-Word

By JOHNNY JONES
"Joe Hobbs" is fast becoming the basketball by-word at the University of Florida.

Gator basketball fans have been captured by the roundball wizardry of junior guard Joe Hobbs who has continued to thrill them where he left off last year.

Currently, Hobbs is leading the Orange and Blue in practically every offensive department. The Sheridan Indiana whiz has shown early that he will be one of the outstanding players in the Southeastern Conference this year.

Through the first seven games Hobbs has scored 141 points ripping the nets on 55 per cent of his shots.

Hobbs is sparking a team which has been picked by many sports writers as a serious SEC championship contender.

"In Joe Hobbs, Florida Head Basketball Coach John Maurer, has the best two-handed set-shot in the league," reports the Official Basketball Record Book of 1937.

The annual record book is the major press organ of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Hobbs is a crowd-pleasing ball player who can usually always give spectators something to talk about after the game. His most recent gem came in a game against the Florida State Seminoles a staunch Gator rival.

The Seminoles had tied up the score, 65-65, with seven seconds remaining to be played in the game. The ball was thrown into the Gator net. He promptly dribbled the ball through three defending Seminoles across the half court line. Eluding the last of the three with two seconds left on the clock, he unleashed a 35-foot left-handed jump shot. As the ball reached the height of its arc the buzzer sounded. The ball floated gently toward the back-center section of the backboard where it rebounded and swished into the netting of the goal. Final score: Florida 67, Florida State 65. Hobbs was high point scorer of the game with 20 points.

The Seminoles were so astounded at the impossible shot they could do nothing but stand and stare at the scoreboard. Jubilant Gator fans swarmed onto the floor and surrounded Hobbs lifting him to their shoulders.

ALBERT LUNDAY
FARM FORESTER
Mrs. Louise B. Bills, a long time resident of Seminole County, now lives in Winter Park. She ordered pine tree seedlings from the Florida State nursery, and at present is participating in the planting of these pines with her own hands. Hand planting pine seedlings is a job more easily done by younger residents.

She has done some planting in the past and now says she only wishes it had been on a larger acreage. Many of us would do well to learn from her experience.

There are many acres of land lying idle which should be put into pines. They provide an income from the land, prevent erosion, control the water table, and in general put the idle hands to work. Whether on a small acreage or a large tract pines can be established cheaply and maintained for almost nothing. You can also get a government payment for planting which will aid with the cost of planting.

Besides these present advantages, in planting pines you become a part of insuring the presence of trees for our children and grand children.

COLD CASH
SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif., 67—Waitress "Bert" Barton told her businessmen customers she preferred "cold cash" for Christmas. So they gave her $25 in coins frozen into a 25-pound cake of ice.

2,000 POUND CRATE FOR CHRISTMAS
DETROIT 47—Ray Eichler, who got a gift wrapped telephone booth from Al Amos, of Warren, Pa., last Christmas, received a 2,000 pound crate this year which Amos shipped collect for $75.

Eichler said inside was a 1942 Crosley station wagon which works fine "if someone runs alongside and pours gasoline in the carburetor."

DR. ROBERT F. GOHEEN (above), 37, an assistant professor of classics, was named president of Princeton University, New Jersey. Dr. Goheen will succeed Dr. Harold W. Dodds, who reaches the university's compulsory retirement age of 63 in June, 1937. The new president, a 1940 Princeton graduate, will assume his duties at the end of the academic year. (International)

"It sure gave me a big kick to see those points go up on the scoreboard," said the Gator hero. "I believe it was one of my greatest thrills in basketball."

Hobbs, a 67-175 pounder, is versatile at the guard position. He has a deadly set-shot which he scored on more than 60 per cent of his attempts last year when he broke the school seasonal field goal record making 141 two-pointers. He has the ability to befuddle the defense with exceptional dribbling, ball-handling, and passing.

Hobbs has perfected a "change of pace" which he uses in driving for the basket which gives him an advantage over others much faster than himself. The Hoosier often passes up easy shots to set up and assist his teammates.

"Joe is a very important factor in our chances for the SEC crown. Anyone can see his ability as a basketball individualist, but only a coach and a team can fully appreciate the unseen leadership in unifying our offense," said Gator Coach John Maurer.

Hobbs is a dependable performer who usually plays his better game against better competition as his record from last year shows. The Gator guard hit 21 points, a single game high for the season, against a strong Vanderbilt five. He scored 20 points against Alabama, the SEC champs and 30 against runner-up Kentucky. While the team had a long season, it was young and inexperienced. All of the above games mentioned were lost but the showing of a predominantly sophomore Gator aggregation so impressed the sports writers that preseason polls nominated the more experienced Florida team as contenders for the SEC championship along with favored Vanderbilt and Kentucky.

"My father is largely responsible for any success that I may attain—either on the basketball floor, or off," said Hobbs. "He coached me from the time I was old enough to play until I graduated from high school. During the summers of my sophomore and junior years he took me to the gym to practice almost every day. He was always there to tell me how to improve myself. He worked as much as I did; everytime I practiced he was there to coach me."

Hobbs' father has been coach at Sheridan High School for about 30 years. Larry Hobbs is also principal of the school. He has been father, coach and principal to both of his sons.

Coach Hobbs also coached Harry, his first son who later played varsity ball for Tulane. It seems SEC teams are partial to Hobbs-produced athletes.

In the Gator ace's three years in All-Sectional and All-Regional teams every season. He was a member of the Indiana All-State first ten in his senior year.

"The only game I can think of that might rival the Florida State game for personal thrills would be the sectional championship between Sheridan and Tipton in my junior year," said Hobbs.

Earlier in the regular season Tipton had beaten Sheridan by 12 points and were favorites to repeat the performance. However, Sheridan did not play dead as they were expected to.

Hobbs led Sheridan to a 70-57 personally freezing the ball most of the last half. He did not make one field goal attempt during the final half but scored 15 points in 17 attempts at the free throw line.

Hobbs' team spirit is expressed in his goal as a college basketball player. He is majoring in physical education and wants to become a coach when he graduates from college.

The Gator court ace said "I think I speak for the whole team, as well as myself, when I say our major goal is to bring the Southeastern Conference Championship to Gatorland; anything less than this will not be good enough."

SYNOPSIS
Priscilla Paige is bored with her job in a New York office, yet doesn't want to get married. An opportunity to escape presents itself in a trip to a distant Florida town. She leaves the city left unexpectedly to her by a great-uncle. Priscilla's friend—her lover—claims the mysterious mansion located in the remote town is rumored to have a secret passage which leads to themselves. Priscilla and three strange men seem curiously interested in a writer, Ned Gallagher, a fisherman, Luis Alvarez, a wealthy playboy.

Priscilla and Rita just made it to Mr. Todd's office by ten the next morning. Both had overslept and had had time only for a cup of coffee.

Rita told Mr. Todd they had their car and would follow him. They drove through the quiet, dreamy streets, past galleried houses, old-fashioned and unimpressive with their tangled-looking gardens.

Rita turned into Bay Avenue. They could see sparkling water where little shrimp boats rocked in the swell.

"Rita," Priscilla said contentedly, "regardless of whether I get much out of the old house, I'm glad I came down here. I still have that feeling of unreality, and yet I'm exhilarated and happy. I feel wonderful!"

"Well, I wouldn't say that I feel wonderful," Rita said, "I slept only in snatches. I suppose the strangeness was partly responsible and then there seemed to be a bird chorus about dawn. And I could do with some breakfast. I wish we had all this business behind us and were on our way toward Miami!"

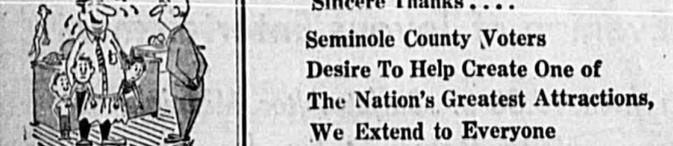

Priscilla said nothing for a moment, then, "I like it here, Rita. I don't know why. It's something I can't explain. There seems to be no hurry about anything—as if time were standing still. It's almost like a ghost town. And I keep thinking about the town in connection with the past, and the gay life that went on here and at Fort St. Joe. Did you ever read 'The Wrath and the Wind'?"

"Yes, I did. And I remember that Fort St. Joe was St. Joseph in those days."

"And the hurricane—or the tide or something—wiped the town completely out. And I think of what the people went through in carpetbagger days when all their property was confiscated. . . . Why Aunt Rachel was here then! I do wish I might have known her. Oh, Mr. Todd is stopping. . . . Heaven! Is that the place?" Her voice was completely awed.

Week Before Christmas Busy One For Methodist Children's Home

ENTERPRISE— During the week before Christmas at the Florida Methodist Children's Home:

Tuesday, the M. Y. F. of First Church Orlando came to visit and had a regular Christmas party with Francis Roberts in charge; having directed recreational program, worship program and gifts for all the children.

Thursday was Christmas as far as the dinner was concerned with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Greene and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Allison of Orlando, who gave $250 for the meal as special guests for the dinner. Many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Greene and Mr. and Mrs. Allison for the dinner which was wonderful. The regular house parents could not attend the party.

Friday, the Men's Club of the First Methodist Church arrived and enjoyed dinner at the home—approximately 50 men—with Boyd Coleman in charge of their part of the program. The children of the home presented a program of music and scenes of a tableau using costumes from Palestine.

Santa Claus appeared at this time and presented each child with a huge stocking filled with fruits, nuts, candies, etc. and two crisp new $1 bills. The Kiwanis club of Sanford assisted financially with this program. Later the children attended the musical program at the church.

Friday evening a group of approximately 15 young people, from Southside Church, Jacksonville, arrived with a gift for each of the children.

Saturday and Sunday several children left to spend the holidays. Sunday evening several members of the M. Y. F. and Adult class went caroling around the community and finished up at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Richards for refreshments.

Monday evening was the annual staff party at the home of Supl. and Mrs. Bascom Carlton, which was a most enjoyable affair.

Games and contests were under the direction of the Rev. and Mrs. Walling and comical gifts were exchanged from the tree, with each having drawn names earlier. The gifts were to represent some characteristic or trait of the receiver and the giver had written a poem or explanation of that gift. Each person, as they marched around the Christmas tree in a group singing, added his own personal gift, in the form of money, to the tree for overseas relief, which today amounts to the sum of $83.

Mrs. Francis Glenister was in charge of the decorations and Mrs. Bascom Carlton served refreshments.

Thanks also to Mrs. J. V. Richards, Mrs. Hahn and Mrs. Anderson of De Bary who substituted for house parents in order that the regular house parents could attend the party.

Hollywood Highlights

HOLLYWOOD UP— A youthful New York clothing tycoon made a big splash this month when he dived into a swimming pool and came up with a big part in a new movie.

Unlike other movietown Cinderella stories, the newcomer needed an acting job like Jayne Mansfield needs padding.

He's Robert J. Evans, an extremely wealthy individual, who was spending the last day of his vacation at the Beverly Hills hotel swimming pool when he was "discovered" by Norma Shearer. The former star took one look at Evans and decided he was a ringer for her late husband, Irving Thalberg.

"I started a chain of events that landed me a part in 'Man of a Thousand Faces,'—the story of Lon Chaney," Evans said, still in a state of shock.

Gave Chaney Start

"Irving Thalberg was the man who gave Chaney his start in movies.

"But I'm getting ahead of my story," Evans went on. "I'd just come out of the pool that day when Martin Aronow, Miss Shearer's present husband, approached and asked if I was an actor. I told him I wasn't. Then he wanted to know if I would like to become an actor.

"I said no, and thought that was the end of it. Later Miss Shearer called and asked me to do her a favor. She said she was dissatisfied with the people who had been tested to play Thalberg in the picture.

"Because it was the first time he was to be depicted on the screen she wanted someone with a great physical likeness and similar projection to play the role. She thought I was a natural for the part.

"Miss Shearer was so sweet about it, I agreed to take a screen test."

A dynamic young man in a hurry, Evans is something of a Thalberg himself.

Partners with Brother

At 27 he is a partner with his brothers, Charles, and Joseph P. Evans in the firm of Evans-Picose, a multimillion-dollar men's sports wear concern. Thalberg was the production genius who ran Universal Pictures at the age of 19, and took over MGM when he was only 24.

"My screen test at Universal International seemed to be just what the producers were looking for," Evans said. "So I agreed to play the role. It probably will be my first and last picture."

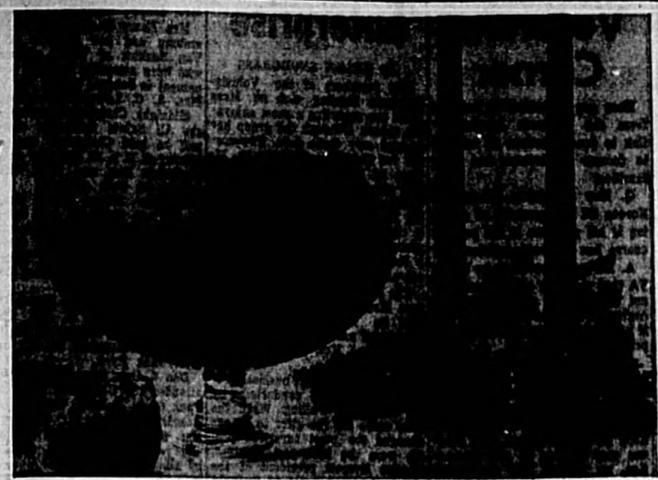

The studio offered Evans a long-term contract with two pictures per year. "But I had to turn it down. I'd lose money working in movies," he grinned.

It figures. Evans hauls in more loot in a year than half a dozen stars.

"I'm in the manufacturing business to stay," he concluded. "It's profitable and I enjoy it. I'll leave movie-making to guys in on my business."

SABLE AND CAMEL HAIR are combined for this fitted coat from Originals' collection. Inverted pleats form fullness above and below the waistline. The belt is a gold metal link chain.

EGGNOG FOR THOSE HOLIDAY GATHERINGS can be made delightfully different with the addition of coffee to the basic recipe. Not only does it taste wonderful, but it has a lovely tawny color and creamy texture.

Coffee Comes To Party Spruced Up For The Yuletide Holidays

Christmas is coming! Time to trim the tree and hang the wreaths. . . and best of all, it's time to give a party! Gaily, friendly faces and lifted cups all surround a brimming punch bowl. This year, the punch bowl features something deliciously new and inviting — Coffee Eggnog.

When served in your very best crystal or silver, Coffee Eggnog makes a striking focal point for any party spread. Its rich tawny color lends exciting contrast to holly greens and reds. But when it is ladled into cups, then tasted for the first time — the party really begins. For here is a nog that not only looks festive, but also tastes festive. It's ever so smooth, a delightfully new combination of old, friendly flavors. So well blended is this eggnog that each ingredient is barely discernable, while the outcome is a glorious surprise.

COFFEE EGGNOG

8 eggs, separated
1 cup powdered sugar
2 cups light cream
2 cups milk
4 cups strong coffee
Few grains salt
2 cups light rum

1 cup brandy
2 cups whipping cream
Nutmeg

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Beat in sugar. Add light cream, milk, coffee and salt. Mix well. Add rum and brandy and pour into punch bowl. Beat egg whites until they form soft peaks. Whip cream. Fold egg whites and cream together, then fold into punch. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes 24 punch cup servings.

COFFEE EGGNOG (1)

2 cups double-strength coffee
1 tablespoon broken stick cinnamon
8 whole cloves
8 allspice berries
2 quarts dairy-bottled eggnog
1 tablespoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream
1 quart vanilla or coffee ice cream

Simmer coffee and spices 15 minutes, strain and chill. Combine eggnog, vanilla and spiced coffee in large bowl. Chill well. Whip cream and fold in. Pour over ice cream in punch bowl. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes 18 servings.

COMPLAINTS have reached the Postoffice department that many postage stamps have no glue on 'em. Wonder who gummed up the works—or, to be exact, who DIDN'T!

Those losing football coaches who are being hung in effigy probably wish the student body would settle for just a quiet vote of no confidence.

One place where even the least of persons don't like to tattle, points out Alth Kay, is a dentist's office.

See where a surprisingly large number of women representatives will be members of the new Congress. Just as we've always contended—a woman's place is in the House.

A bank bandit who stole a car to make his getaway, later phoned the owner where he could find it. Probably decided he'd rather have a later model.

Because of greater air resistance snowflakes fall more slowly than raindrops—science item. But they stick around a lot longer.

A court has decided an Illinois man need not pay his divorced wife $10 a week for the support of her four cats. Ten bucks per— that does sound like a lot of scratch!

General Electric Postpones Planned Plant Construction

GAINEVILLE, Mo.—General Electric has "indefinitely postponed" planning construction of a 4 million dollar plant at Wayne, near here.

H. Van Aken Jr., general manager of the communications products division of General Electric made the announcement at a called meeting of the Gaineville Chamber of Commerce.

"In a dramatic industry such as ours," Van Aken said, "there is a constant requirement for flexibility and reappraisal of plans to meet shifting business trends."

"Overall consideration of factors, such as optimum use of present facilities, employes, financing and timing, indicate that construction of a GE plant in Gaineville should not be undertaken at this time."

Van Aken said he was "deeply disappointed" at the change in plans and knew that other top GE executives were too. He said no plans have been made for the land.

Several days ago, the Hudson Pulp and Paper Co. announced abandonment of immediate plans to build a pulp and paper mills at Palatka.

Mrs. ESTER KUFAYVER (D-Tenn.) examines a display in Newark, N.J., that illustrates how a woman, allegedly mixed up in the confidence game, can change her appearance. The Senator is heading a subcommittee investigation of juvenile delinquency. The hearing was told by witnesses that presents, sex and gay night life are used as lures to recruit young girls for confidence game work. (International)

Yule Cheer Through the Ages

In Medieval times, knights and ladies gathered round the Wassail Bowl to toast in the Yule season. Forerunner of today's punch bowl, the wassail was a formidable concoction of hot pungent ale and cider.

American colonists were particularly fond of Egg Nogg braced with Jamaica or New England rum. In the South it is almost indispensable at Christmas time, and in the North, it is a favorite all through the year. In Scotland they call Egg Nogg "auld man's milk."

Modern Americans have adopted an international favorite for informal gatherings during the holiday season. Called Kijafa Zabaglione, it's quick and easy-to-prepare.

How To Make KIJAF ZABAGLIONE (Serves 4). Ingredients: 4 egg yolks; 3 tablespoons water; 1/2 cup Cherry Klisje (Danish wine specialty). Directions: Beat egg yolks until light; add Cherry Klisje and 3 tablespoons of sugar. Cook in double boiler or hot water, heating constantly until mixture coats a spoon. Set in pan of cold water and continue heating until cold. Sprinkle with nutmeg and serve in ice-cold individual glasses.

3-Year-Old Boy Found Locked In Dirty Room

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — A three-year-old boy, kept locked in a fifth-storied room for possibly two years, was under hospital care today. His parents face charges of cruelty to children.

Police went to the home of Grady Hickman, 46, and his wife, Doris, 33, at the complaint of a neighbor and found the couple's three-year-old son, Stephen, locked in an "incredibly foul-smelling" room.

The boy was found sleeping in light underwear on a bedspring without a mattress and was taken to a nearby hospital where doctors examined him.

Police said the neighbor learned of Stephen's captivity from his six brothers and sisters.

A sister, Linda, told officers, her brother had been locked in the room for "a year, maybe two."

Stephen's parents refused to tell police why they kept the boy penned up in the room. The door was wired shut from the outside. Hickman's only comment was "my wife takes care of the kids."

Authorities said they would issue a warrant Monday charging the Hickmans with cruelty to children.

New Polio Stamp

THE THREE-CENT polio commemorative stamp (above) will be placed on sale in Washington, D.C., on Jan. 18, 1939. Portrayed on the stamp are figures of a woman, a boy, a girl, and an emblem, symbolizing the achievement by the American people and the medical and scientific professions in bringing forth an effective vaccine to prevent paralytic polio. Christmas

G is for Christ who was born on this day.
 H is for the hay on which he lay.
 I is for the innkeeper who sheltered them.
 S is for the Shepherds who came to see him.
 T is for the tears they shed for joy.
 M is for the manger in which he lay.
 A is for the angels who sang at his birth.
 S is for the Savior, which is the meaning of Christmas.

Junius J. Allen brought out the need for a teen-age center, and supported by the members, it was announced by president McClure that further discussion on the subject would continue at the next director's meeting.

Ben Evans, chairman of the annual Christmas food basket project, announced that collection stations had been in operation for more than a week. Evans also said that clothes collected by the Community Church would be turned over to the Lions for distribution, along with the food baskets.

The committee, under the direction of the Welfare chairman, Miller Evans will pack the baskets and distribute them Monday.

AN EDITORIAL

Herald Staff Wishes All Merry Christmas

The Publisher, Editor, and entire Staff of The Sanford Herald takes this opportunity to wish everyone a Merry, Merry Christmas!

There have been heartaches and problems, there have been breakdowns and slowups, but each day The Sanford Herald has been published in the interest of a more prosperous, a happier, and a bigger Sanford and Seminole County. It is with these thoughts that The Sanford Herald wishes for each and every person in Sanford and Seminole County the Merriest Christmas of all time.

Wouldn't it be wonderful on this day before Christmas—as greetings are sent to each other everywhere—to think about something other than the possibility of war? To believe in all truth that peace had come to this earth.

That there was an end to human greed, envy, malice and hate. That each person, wherever he may be, is secure in his own environment, to do his own will if it be good will.

Today all the things hoped for are far from realization. In these United States we are an anxious people instead of a happy people. While we continue to care for those who suffer we are preparing for the next. Not from choice, but necessity, because hate and greed rule where there should be faith and understanding.

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." That was true when Burns said it nearly 200 years ago. It is, unfortunately, true today.

The situation, however, is far from hopeless. It has been the history of the world that the powers of righteousness triumph over the powers of darkness, although years may be required for the achievement of victory.

But it would be wonderful to return to the ways of peace, when life would be more simple and less confusing.

In the commandment that came when into the most humble of settings was born the helpless infant, whom kings and angels came to adore, there is the key to peace in the world. There in that commandment is the magic formula for the alchemy that can change the hatred in men's hearts to friendship, that can transform distrust into faith, strife into peace.

Now, as another Christmas dawns, the peoples of different nations—given faith and good will—can live peaceably side by side.

Mrs. Cora Russell Succumbs Sunday

Mrs. Cora M. Russell, 78, widow of the late H. T. (Joe) Russell, died at 1:55 p. m. Sunday in a nursing home in Orlando following a short illness.

Mrs. Russell was born Feb. 26, 1878 in St. Louis, Mo. and had lived for 13 years in Lake Mary and prior to that time lived six years in Sanford.

She attended the Church of Christ in Sanford.

Survivors include: one brother, Robert Miller, Dallas, Tex.; one step daughter, Miss Olive Russell, Crown Point, Ind.; five step sons: Herbert E. Russell, Crown Point, Ind.; Cloyd H. Russell, Reynoldsburg, O.; Bryce M. Russell and Henry A. Russell, both of Sanford; and Jack C. Russell of Orlando.

NAS Fund Limited To Chest Members

"Local voluntary agencies which do not solicit as members of a Community Chest or a United Fund are not to be eligible for on-the-job solicitations within the Federal establishment under the approved policy and program," Captain Robert W. Jackson, Commanding Officer of the Sanford Naval Air Station told the president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce in a letter quoting a directive published by the President's Adviser on Personnel Management.

Captain Jackson, in his letter to Clifford W. McKibbin, local chamber of commerce president, explained that contributions from the once-a-year drive at the Naval Air Station for the combined appeal for funds for charitable institutions would be limited to organizations which are members of a community chest, united fund or similar funds.

In a recent directive published by the President's Adviser on Personnel Management, a current list of voluntary fund-raising agencies eligible to solicit within the Federal establishment was issued, he said.

"This list includes 11 national agencies, most of which were supported in the Naval Air Station Sanford Combined Charities Drive of last year," Captain Jackson said.

In the past year the civilian and military personnel of the Naval Air Station raised a total of $4,765.52 in their drive, and

New Snags Develop In U.N. Efforts To Clear Canal

PORT SAID (AP)—New snags developed today in United Nations efforts to begin clearing the Suez Canal.

U. N. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, the U. N. salvage chief, had hoped to begin actual clearance today but was faced with Egyptian refusal to accept British salvage crews.

Wheeler, after conferences with Egyptian officials, ordered one group of salvage vessels today to El Qanlara through a passage already cleared by Anglo-French salvage workers.

Need Further Negotiations But actual work appeared to depend on further negotiations with Col. Mahmoud Younes, head of the Egyptian Suez Canal Authority, and Tewfik El Dib, director of the Suez Canal Authority in Port Said.

United Nations sources said Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld remained in close touch with the situation. He stayed at his office all day Sunday in hopes of straightening out the snag over use of the British salvage vessels.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today Hungary's fight for freedom has handed international Communism "a mortal blow from which it cannot recover."

Nixon made the statement to reporters at Washington National Airport on his return from Austria, where he personally inspected the plight of Hungarian refugees. He returned convinced that America "must do more" to help the refugees.

Nixon's plane landed at 8:55 a. m. EST, Mrs. Nixon and their two daughters were on hand to give him a joyous Christmas Eve "welcome home."

"We hear a great deal of talk today to the effect that the Hungarian refugees pose a difficult problem for the United States and the free world," Nixon said in his prepared arrival statement.

Soviet Problem "I am convinced, as a result of a first hand study of the situation that the courageous people who fought for freedom in Hungary should be considered a problem only to the Soviet Union.

"As a result of their sacrifice, international Communism has suffered a mortal blow from which it cannot recover. It has been exposed as a gigantic failure. For 10 years the Communists had complete control of Hungary. They concentrated their efforts on the intellectuals, students and the workers. However, it was these three groups who led the revolt against them."

School Situation Serious

The number one issue before the 1957 session of the State Legislature is Constitutional Revision, Senator Douglas Stenstrom and Representative Mack N. Cleveland Jr. explained recently as they commented on the problems coming before them in April.

"I would favor taking up constitutional revision either before the session or during a definite period set aside for such discussion," Senator Stenstrom said. "I am opposed to taking the issue up after the regular session for I think we would then have another extraordinary session which would result in the same fight we were faced with on the reapportionment problem."

Representative Mack N. Cleveland Jr. felt that the first two or three weeks should be devoted to constitutional revision.

"Reapportionment died Nov. 6," said Senator Stenstrom and it is "rather a moot question as to whether or not it will be brought up again in the next Senate."

Then Representative Cleveland, on the long-discussed question said "As a separate problem it won't come up but necessarily it is and will be an integral part of the constitution revision."

Casselberry Street Improvement Work Nears Completion

By MRS. RAYMOND MORRIS CASSELBERRY—A new mixed-in-place asphalt street, the second street-paving program embarked upon by the town during the past four months, has reached the half-way mark, and according to mayor Junius J. Allen, the job will be completed within the next thirty days.

The street involved is Lake Triplet Dr., from its juncture with Highway 17-92 and extending approximately one-half mile to South Lake Triplet Dr.

Financing for the street improvement work was accomplished through the efforts of mayor-elect Donald Wilson, heading a committee appointed by mayor Allen. Funds for the work were provided by property owners living on the Lake Triplet Drives.

Grading and stabilizing operations were done by J. D. Manley, road contractor who is four-lane highway 17-92, and application (Continued on Page Two)

Funeral Services Are Set Friday For Mrs. M. Beach

Mrs. Beach was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford. Survivors are: one sister, Mrs. Ora H. Stryker and one niece, Mrs. Clifford Penton, both of Trenton, N. J.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Friday at Brison Funeral Home with the Rev. A. G. McInnis officiating. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Yule Accident Death Toll Expected To Soar

By UNITED PRESS A Christmas Eve scramble on the highways today was expected to further mar Florida's Christmas holidays by sending the accidental death toll soaring.

However, Seminole County Sheriff J. Luther Hobby reported that there were a few minor traffic violations. "Traffic over the weekend was heavy but reasonably slow," he said.

"People seem to be rather cautious here," the Sheriff commented and again emphasized that arrests would be made in instances where motorists fail to abide by regulations that are intended to save lives.

There was one minor accident early Sunday morning about 3 a. m. on the old Orlando Highway-Florida Highway Patrolman Lawrence Coffman investigated the accident. However, no details are yet available.

"We have had a few excessive speed and reckless driving arrests," commented Deputy Sheriff James Singley in Sheriff Hobby's office. Traffic is very quiet and "we are well satisfied with the traffic situation at present."

A United Press count early today showed 19 persons dead in the state since the long Christmas weekend started at 6 p. m. Friday. There were 13 highway deaths, three drownings and one miscellaneous death.

When the weekend started Friday, 1,148 persons had died on the highways in the state in 1956, compared to only 915 at the same time last year. The nation's traffic death toll climbed relentlessly toward a Christmas holiday record today, and safety experts warned it is "increasingly evident" their estimate of 650 fatalities will be surpassed.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, said the toll going into the second half of the four-day holiday is running ahead of estimates. He pleaded with motorists for a "drastic improvement" in their safety habits.

A United Press survey at 4 a. m. EST, showed 352 persons killed in traffic. Another 22 were killed in fires, 6 were killed in plane crashes and 36 died in miscellaneous accidents for an overall total of 416 killed.

The council had estimated 600 persons would lose their lives on the highways during the long holiday. During the three-day Christmas period last year, the council reported 609 persons killed in traffic for the previous record high holiday fatality toll. United Press figures were higher than the council's totaling 521.

Bad weather contributed to the high weekend traffic count, with fog, freezing rain and snow blanketing various parts of the eastern half of the country.

Airlines were forced to cancel flights to many Eastern and Midwestern points, and railroads and bus lines reported a heavy rush of business due to the slippery, murky weather.
