State Count Means More School Funds

By ED CRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

Due to increased student enrollment in summer school, Seminole County will get about $1.4 million of the State's predicted additional $2.3 million to run the county's 36 schools next year, Asst. School Supt. Roger Harris said today.

Though the number of students is decreasing in Seminole, Harris said 3,660 students are enrolled in summer classes. Only about one-third that number enrolled in summer school last year, he said.

"We're going to receive an increase in state dollars," Harris confirmed. He said the final FTE count being readied to send the state is for 39,478 weighted FTE's, a number greater than school officials had anticipated two weeks ago when state funding was first announced.

At that time the state said Seminole County would get a $2.3 million increase over last year's $21.1 million budget. But Harris said then that figure was based on a growth factor of three per cent, which Harris says "just won't happen."

But summertime enrollment gave Seminole and additional 500 FTE's, Harris said.

Both Harris and School Supt. Bud Lauer cited the slowed economy as the prime reason for decreasing enrollment. Parents were forced to move out of Seminole in search of jobs. Naturally, they took their children with them when they left.

An FTE, simply explained even though it's not simple, is the method the state uses to disburse funds. For example, Florida pays $745 for each student attending school fulltime, or in the state's terminology, for each FTE (full-time equivalent).

Harris says the local effort has been increased this year, also. It's costing the county $1.9 million dollars in local taxes to participate in the state's funding formula, Harris noted.

"That means there is going to be a substantial increase in the value of property next year," he said. Harris is coordinating his efforts with county tax officials. He said the local effort could "float" by as much as $300,000 "and that's not peanuts."

Harris said additional money from increased FTE's "went to

Fire Jury Nears Probe Windup

By GLENN McCASLAND
Herald Staff Writer

The three-week investigation of the June 9 fire that claimed 11 lives at the Seminole County Jail is moving towards its conclusion, the Evening Herald learned today.

Sources close to the probe said the Grand Jury, looking into the circumstances surrounding the fire, may wrap up its investigation this week and begin preparation of its findings next week.

The jurors resumed the investigation at 9:30 a.m. today with Sheriff John Polk joining them behind closed doors for what Assistant State Attorney William Staley indicated "could be an all-day session."

Polk called for the investigation of the fire shortly after his return to Sanford on June 10 to meet with newsmen and tour the damaged jail. Polk had been attending courses at the FBI Academy in Quantico, Va. at the time of the fire.

Staley would not confirm or deny that the probe was nearing its end, nor would he say if the jurors would take testimony from four Seminole County Commissioners, who are standing by to appear if called.

Polk carried a large sketch of the second floor of the Seminole County Jail into the jury room this morning, apparently to refer to during whatever testimony he might offer.

The jurors have been working on a two-day basis each week since the probe began. They recessed last Wednesday after hearing testimony from County Attorney Tom Freeman and County Commissioner Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr.

The jury has reportedly listened to a number of tape recordings of County Commission hearings during which either Sheriff Polk or Jail Administrator George Proutfoot appeared to request funds for repairs to the jail.

Polk — the target of several lawsuits since the fire — has contended the responsibility for the maintenance of the jail lies within the jurisdiction of the County Commission, while he (Polk) is in charge of the housing of prisoners within the jail.

Questioned by reporters about the repair work at the jail, Polk said the facility was "moving along on schedule" towards reopening.

"The repairs are coming along fine as far as we can tell," he said. "I think they may be a little ahead of schedule."

Specialists Sought To Handle Taxpayers' Complaints

By MICK LOCHRIDGE

Anticipating as many as 700 petitions from property owners dissatisfied with their 1975 tax reappraisals, the county property appraiser has recommended the tax adjustment board hire special appraisers to handle the majority of the petitions.

Both Harris and School Supt. Bud Lauer cited the slowed economy as the prime reason for decreasing enrollment. Parents were forced to move out of Seminole in search of jobs. Naturally, they took their children with them when they left.

WINTER SPRINGS — The city's request for six additional employees under the federally funded program, handled by the county, to employ the unemployed (CETA) has been turned down.

Councilman John Daniels said Winter Springs' request for more employees as well as requests from all other Seminole County cities for assistance under the program, were declined by the county. However, Daniels said, the county is continuing currently allocated CETA positions for the city to June 30, 1976.

Daniels, the city's designated CETA coordinator, said he asked the county on the city's behalf for a planner at $10,000 annually; two firefighters at $1,200 each; a grounds maintenance man at $7,200; a police patrolman at $8,200 and a police-fire dispatcher at $5,000.

SURVEYING SR 46 RAILROAD CROSSING

Henry H. Fuller, corridor studies engineer for the Florida Department of Transportation (DOT) was in Sanford yesterday, surveying the amount of traffic that crosses the railroad tracks west of Sanford on SR 46. Fuller's study is to determine the need for an overpass at the site. He surveyed the site for 24 hours and at times it must have been frustrating, as these pictures show. Starting at the top left, Fuller prepares for the arrival of the Auto Train yesterday afternoon and sees the traffic begin to build once it arrives, above. Lower left, he seems to be saying, "Where's all the cars," but he soon finds out, below right. At times the intersection has been blocked off for 45 minutes or longer, much too long for a vehicle rushing to an emergency or an ambulance on its way to a hospital emergency room. Eight Die In Fire Of Skid Row Hotel

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Eight men died Monday night when flames raced through an 80-cent-a-night skid row hotel. Fire officials called the blaze arson.

Twenty-five other men and one woman were injured, eight of them critically, authorities said. The injured included three firemen with noncritical injuries.

None of the dead or injured was identified.

Residents of the building said most of the hotel's 100 rooms were occupied at the time of the blaze.

Fire officials said there was no doubt that the blaze which severely damaged the three-story brick building was "incendiary in origin." They would not elaborate.

Ford To Announce Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is formally announcing his candidacy for election, but in a low-key manner that he hopes will project the image of a president rather than a campaigner.

Officially, Ford's aides declined to confirm that he plans to make his long-promised announcement today. However, two White House sources said the President would enter the 1976 race during the day.

It was learned that Ford has adopted the advice of White House assistants who argued for making the announcement without fanfare. They contended a simple, businesslike statement of candidacy would permit Ford to continue emphasizing his presidential role rather than that of office-seeker. With the national nominating conventions still more than a year away, they urged Ford to avoid getting tagged early as a campaigning partisan.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence has received reports that about 3,000 Soviet specialists are manning a growing Russian military complex in strategically located Somalia.

The gist of these reports became available after Sen. Dewey F. Bartlett, R-Okla., and Pentagon technicians returned from Somalia over the weekend. Bartlett said he had seen a Russian military base and other evidence of a Soviet military presence there.

CALNO, Lake Mary Councils To Meet

By DONNA ESTEE
Herald Staff Writer

The CALNO Council of Local Governments meeting, normally held the first Wednesday of the month is set for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Casseberry City Hall.

And Lake Mary's regularly scheduled monthly City Council meeting will be held also at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at its city hall, thus making several months in a row that Mayor Walter Sorenson has not been able to attend a CALNO meeting because of CALNO scheduling.

The City Council faces a full agenda including an amendment to the building code setting finished floor levels, two ordinances on zoning reading calling for social security benefits to be given city employees and bid procedures and two public hearings on zoning changes.

The zoning changes involve the proposed Lake Park Mobile Home park, across Rinehart Road from the Stromberg Carson plant and a replat of Sanford Substantial Farms to Rep. B-ber Hattaway (D-Alamonte Springs), in his role of government meetings.

Delegation has named a committee to determine if double taxation exists in the county. The cities contend the county taxes city residents for services they do not receive. The county contends no double taxation exists.

Medical Clinic Bids To Be Advertised

LONGWOOD—The county's new $90,000 medical clinic to be built in this city will be sold to the city's historic district, city council member June Lorman, the city's project commissioner for the facility, told The Herald today.

"It's the greatest news I've heard. We have waited so long," she said.

The clinic, designed to conform to the city's historic district, is to be located at Church and Wilma Streets at the site of the old clinic, she noted in the ground many weeks ago.

Ellis said finally gained necessary federal government approvals for the facility was a real "milestone." He said after all work had been done in accordance with federal requirements for medical facilities, new requirements were adopted and the environmental impact statement for the facility was rejected.

Ellis said this necessitated an entirely new 12-page narrative to the government, which he hand-delivered to Atlanta. In addition, letters from the city were required, noting its willingness to accept a septic system, and from the city's historic commission, noting it would accept the facility's plans.

"I'm quite relieved we finally made it," Ellis said.

The maximum amount to be used for the clinic construction and furnishings is $90,000.

The old building, which housed the Seminole County Health Department's unit in Longwood for 15 years, was closed by order of the City Council Oct. 1, 1973.

Terry Reich, 31, of 881 Via Laguna, Winter Park, reported the theft of light fixtures and compactors from a construction project at Sweetwater Oaks, Lot 2, Block 3, during the night.

Officers said the light fixture and compactor was valued at $22.40 by the Decca Textile Corporation, owner of the property taken.

Askew Names Black To Supreme Court Post

TALLAHASSEE, (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew today named U.S. Magistrate Joseph W. Hatchett to fill a vacancy on the Supreme Court. Hatchett will be the first black to ever occupy a seat on the court.

Hatchett, 42, was picked by Askew to fill the Aug. 30 vacancy of Supreme Court Justice David McCain, who resigned after a House committee recommended his impeachment.

A native of Clearwater, Hatchett graduated from Florida A&M University and received his law degree from Howard University in Washington, D.C.

Human Volunteers Used

MIAMI (AP) — An unemployed circus clown, a furniture construction worker and an idled machinist are throwing their bodies into the fight against the recession by volunteering as humans guinea pigs for risky, experimental drugs.

Lured by fees of $50 to $250 for tests of two to two weeks, they are among several people who answered an ad for "Healthy males needed for medical research project."

"There's always a risk," admits Dr. Albert Cohen, head of Peninsular Testing Co., which tests drugs for pharmaceutical companies before the U.S. Food and Drug Administration will accept them for marketing.

Airline Rule Opposed

TALLAHASSEE, (AP) — A proposed state rule on air transportation of the handicapped would make it even easier for airlines to refuse seats to the disabled, a wheelchair lobbyist charges.

Denny Wood, president of the Florida Council of Handicapped Organizations, attacked the proposed Florida Service Commission rule Monday.

He charged that it "meets the needs of airlines, which is to make travel as difficult as possible for the handicapped."

Wood said that the airlines do not want to fly handicapped passengers because they fear the sight of the disabled will drive away other passengers.

Economic Slump Not Over

MIAMI (AP) — Greed and poor judgment have caused a Florida real estate depression that will take two years or more to pass, economist Charles Kimball says.

"The present shakeout is unprecedented in Florida history," Kimball said Monday. "The real estate recession is over but the depression has just begun."

Kimball told The Economic Society of South Florida about growing numbers of mortgage foreclosures and unsold condominium units in the Miami and Fort Lauderdale areas.

Garbage Haulers Expected To Hike Rates

Seminole County officials say they expect commercial garbage haulers to pass on to customers increased rates to be imposed upon the haulers within two months by the county.

The county plans to increase the commercial haulers' rates by approximately 10 per cent for the county's providing of arthropod services — properly disposing of the garbage and trash picked up by the commercial firms.

The county also plans to hike the cost for disposing of rubber tires from $2 a ton to $10 a ton. County officials said they hope the high increase in price for dumping the tires will discourage anybody from dumping tires in the county dump.

Current rates of 50 cents for dumping of three garbage cans of trash by individual citizens will remain the same, Bob Andrus, director of Public Works, recommended the rates be increased 50 per cent.

Other rates to be increased include rates for pick-up trucks hauling truck loads of trash and garbage to the transfer station.

Commissioners said that board philosophy was to either maintain the same rate or reduce the charge for individuals dumping their own garbage at the dump.

The rate increase proposals were presented to the board members in a work session yesterday.

In some cases, rates for trucks will increase up to 50%.

Commercial haulers' rates will increase from 60 cents per cubic yard of trash to 65 cents per cubic yard.

The rate increase proposals were presented to the board members in a work session yesterday.

Failure To Appear Brings Arrest Order

By GLENN McCASLAND

An Orlando man, facing trial with an FTU coed on two felony charges, was ordered arrested today by a Seminole Circuit Court judge after the defendant failed to appear for his court hearing.

Gerald Fay Clary, 40, of 1415 E. Amelia St., was not present yesterday when his case was called before Judge Joe A. Cowart Jr. Clary is charged with possession of a stolen motor vehicle and possession of a controlled substance.

Judge Cowart ordered Clary's $3,000 bond revoked and issued a bench warrant for his arrest, directing that no bond be allowed upon the arrest.

Clary was arrested on June 10 at Butler Plaza on Howell Branch Road by agents of the Florida Department of Criminal Law Enforcement.

A second person, Diane Isola Cowart, was dismissed at the request of the state attorney's office and a fourth defendant failed to appear for trial.

Michael Lee Prater, 22, of 109 Jay Dr., Altamonte Springs, charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit a misdemeanor, in the May 21 break-in of the State Road 436 Imperial Oil Station in Altamonte Springs, failed to appear and Judge Cowart ordered his $1,000 bond revoked and a bench warrant issued for his arrest.

Gordon Hayes, 19, of 1802 Colquhoun Dr., Sanford, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 18 months probation after Judge Cowart accepted his plea.

Hayes was charged with buying, receiving and concealing stolen property after his arrest May 27 by Sanford police.

Patry Jean Polk, 22, of 20 Higgins Court, charged with aggravated assault, entered a plea of guilty to a reduced charge of assault and battery. Judge Cowart accepted the plea and placed Miss Polk on three years probation with conditions.

Miss Polk was charged in the May 31 shooting of Richard Bagby of 18 S. Higgins Court, who was discovered near his apartment early May 31 wounded by a shotgun.

A charge of possession of controlled substance against Kenneth Carson, 19, of 1301 Suwannee Blvd., Daytona Beach, was dismissed at the request of Assistant State Attorney James Figgatt.

Carson was arrested on April 4 by Sanford city police following an April 13 raid at 1300 Summerlin Ave, in which a number of marijuana plants was seized.

In other court action, arrangements were held in Orlando, was arrested at the same time on the same charges. She appeared before Judge Cowart yesterday, but her case was ordered continued until Aug 4 on a motion for continuance from Assistance State Attorney James Figgatt.

Clary and Miss Bennet had been scheduled to be tried jointly, according to circuit court records.

Deputy's Home Burglarized

By GLENN McCASLAND
Herald Staff Writer

An Orange County sheriff's deputy returned to his Longwood apartment yesterday and discovered his home had been burglarized with all his departmental equipment stolen.

C.D. Buchannan, 35, of 107A Springwood Village Apartments, Longwood, told Seminole County investigators that all of his equipment, issued by the Orange County Sheriff's Department, had been taken.

Buchannan listed two revolvers, handcuffs, a hand-uff case, ammunition case, ammunition, a mace holder, a mace can, night stick holder, belt keepers, a sheriff's badge, identification case and his personal identification card as missing from the apartment.

In addition, some $35 in cash was also reported taken in the break-in.

Officers said a double glass door at the rear of the apartment had been forced to allow the burglars to gain entry.

Buchannan, who is a shift commander for the Orange County Sheriff's Department, said he had been on a brief fishing trip and returned to find the apartment entered.

Zoo Road Paving Proposal Heard

By MICK LOCHRIDGE
Herald Staff Writer

Bob Andrew, director of the county's public works, said today that the County Road Department could pave the road leading to the new Central Florida Zoo for approximately $17,000.

He said the paving could be completed in two weeks. The Board of County Commissioners (BOC) took no action on the matter this morning and asked Andrew to make a complete report for consideration next week.

Andrew reported to the BOC on the paving project, which has caused a standoff between county and Central Florida Zoological Society officials.

Meanwhile, county and zoo officials are attempting to schedule a meeting to iron out differences over the development of the more than 80-acre park adjoining the newly opened zoo west of Sanford off U.S. 17-92 near I-4.

The development of the park is being funded with $100,000 of zoo trustee money and $100,000 in matching federal funds. The county, however, is acting as agent for the federal grant and door at the rear of the apartment had been forced to allow the burglars to gain entry.

Buchannan, who is a shift commander for the Orange County Sheriff's Department, said he had been on a brief fishing trip and returned to find the apartment entered.

operate the schools," but he agreed some of the money can be held back and used for other purposes. "It wasn't a windfall," he said.

For example, Harris, the school system's veteran chief of financial affairs, said principals must pay teachers and operating costs during summer school operations.

Florida school superintendents have issued warnings concerning the level of funding ever since the state realized revenues from sales taxes were falling because of a sagging economy.

But both Harris and Layer were gambling the economy will shake itself out of its doldrums and people will begin moving back into Seminole County.

Economists say an upswing in the economy is underway. And many jobless workers will be back on payrolls before the year ends, officials predict.

Turf Club Concerts Gain Approval

By ED PRICKEIT
Herald Staff Writer

CASSEBERRY — If you want to rock 'n roll, listen to your favorite country singer crown the latest western tune or perhaps look to fiddle music, Casseberry is your town.

Though the City Council has been advised of the exact type of music envisioned by promoters of Seminole Park & Fairgrounds, approval to hold music festivals was granted last night as long as the sound is less than 81 decibels.

Councilman Charles Glascock, who said he favored granting permission to promoter Al Grillo, because Grillo is a resident of the city, said music festivals "won't necessarily mean rock 'n roll."

Grillo has been quoted as saying the concerts at the Seminole Turf Club may be of the rock variety, as well as country music.

"As long as they keep the sound down, I don't care," Councilman Chairman Edith Duerr said. And Councilman Sal Orlando added, "If they (promoters) cannot contain the noise, the city will."

The city will receive a flat $250 fee per concert, plus 1.5 per cent of the gate receipts. It's not unusual for 5,000 to 6,000 music fans to crowd through the doors at the turf club during a popular concert, or swoon as a country singer hoots him or her patron.

The resolution also stipulates music will shut down at 10:30 p.m. on weekdays, and a half-hour later on weekends. Turf Club concerts were okayed, beginning Nov. 15 to April 15. No more than two concerts per month may be held.

Glascock said the city means an interest rate of 6 1/2 per cent, as opposed to the 7 1/2 per cent paid to Henann.

City officials are raising additional funds, Duerr says, to purchase General Waterworks, Corp. a deal which will cost the city $2 million. Zacco says the purchase is unnecessary because of the slow growth rate in Casseberry.

He said 150,000 gallons — or sufficient water to service 400 homes — are unaccommodated at present. Last year, Zacco said, the city provided 80 new connections. "There's no growth; they're not building," Zacco added.

But Duerr said Zacco doesn't know the entire story. She said various apartments and homes in the city are nearing completion and will need to hook up to city water and sewage.

Democrat's Lack Strong Leadership

When political analysts put pen to paper in the future to assay the fortunes and the vicissitudes of the Democratic Party in 1976, they cannot help but reach one universal conclusion: Rarely in the history of the United States of America has one party with such power, wealth and number of individualists who aspire to be president had such a penalty of leadership.

The leadership problems of Democrats at the present time can be summed up with two proper nouns — Kennedy and Wallace.

Opinion polls all indicate that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts is the overwhelming favorite of his party rank and file for the office of president. The most recent public taking indicates that if Sen. Kennedy had Sen. John Glenn of Ohio for a running mate the Democratic ticket would start the race with a popularity base larger than that of a Ford-Rockefeller ticket.

But Sen. Kennedy has been saying since last fall that he will not seek the nomination. Again, if opinion polls are correct that leaves Gov. George Wallace of Alabama at the head of a pack of presidential aspirants.

The reason for Mr. Wallace's popularity is easily discernible, if not as easy to counter. The Alabama governor appeals to the dissatisfactions and resentments of Americans, and at the moment Americans have many of them.

The basis for Mr. Wallace's appeal also may be precisely the reason why he probably will never be the president of the United States. Americans may vote their resentments in primary elections to register their discontent. However, when the chips are down, the nobler instincts of citizens are likely to prevail. They do not take the office of president lightly.

All of this begs the contemporary fact: As Mr. Wallace himself said recently, "The thing is that the Democratic Party does not know what to do with me... I ain't serious."

Indeed he isn't. However, the party itself is straining, to counter the Wallace appeal. They also are seeking to reverse the situation they created when their primary and convention rules were made up for candidates like Mr. Wallace inordinate power as political brokers.

In the meantime the Republicans "ain't strainin'" either. There still is vitality to the two-party system, even if it is only for the all-American reason that excessive political success has the seeds of its own failure.

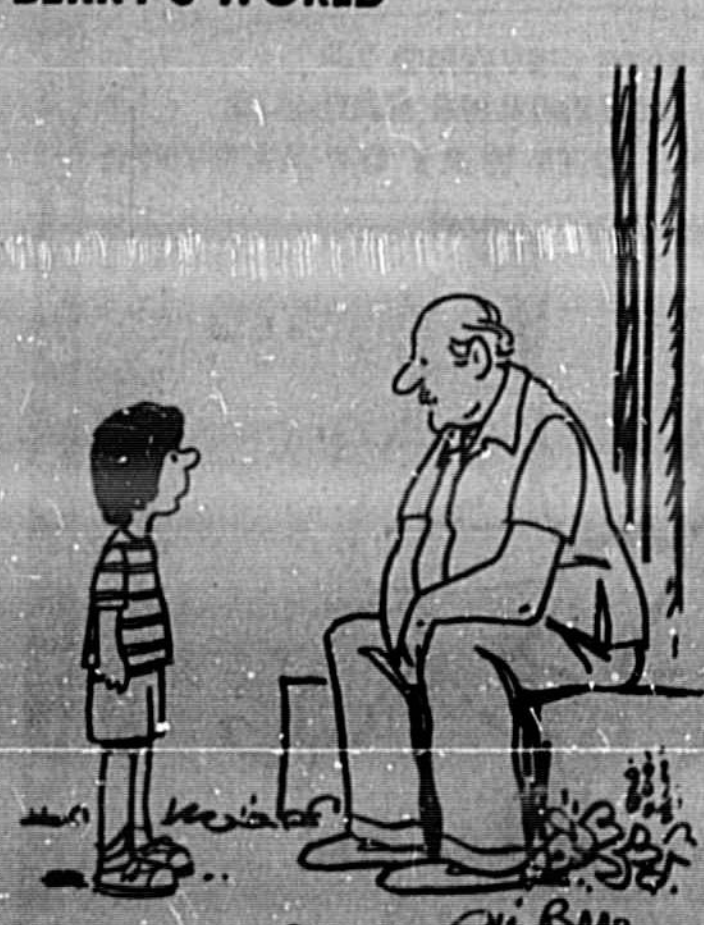

Asleep At Switch

How much the federal government wants to spend on improving the tracked in American railroads has no connection with the grocery bills of 500,000 veterans going to school under the GI Bill. However, in the curious way that Congress lets controversial issues lie by action on noncontroversial ones, the House and Senate could not agree on the issue of rebuilding railroad tracks.

Funding of programs like GI education benefits should not be lumped into appropriation bills carrying new and debatable programs. Congress should have put the railroad assistance question on a siding and cleared the track for passage of the veterans appropriation before student-veterans were faced with another of those snafus with their benefit checks.

BERRY'S WORLD

"When I grow up, I want to be a firman, or a policeman, or a sex therapist!"

Well, our gals of the Central Florida Chorale made it safe and sound and are now happily in Poland, singing to their hearts' content.

We received a card from Warszawa (more commonly known as Warsaw) yesterday, dated June 29, saying: "Thanks to you, we're here."

Naturally, we're sure the gals meant these kind words for everyone who contributed to their drive that enabled them to make the trip.

They're due to arrive back here in the wee hours of the morning on July 18. Meantime, they're singing their way across Poland.

Vic Gishler, chairman of the Sanford Fourth of July celebration called and offered this to our readers:

"It'd like to take this opportunity and this means to express my sincere appreciation and thanks to everyone who has a hand in making our July Fourth celebration in Sanford a success."

"In this, I include everyone who had a booth, every civic club, and organization that participated...

Jim Thorpe: Legend, Man Is Revisited

Even when he died Jim Thorpe had troubles. Refusing to bury him until a permanent monument was erected, Thorpe's widow wandered the nation peddling various proposals to mostly disinterested entrepreneurs. Then, in 1884, learning that Mauch Chunk and East Mauch Chunk, Pa., were combining community interests and choosing a new name, the widow popped the question here. The citizens voted 10-1 to become Thorpe's final resting place and namesake, thereby presumably ending the heavy misfortunes of the most gifted athlete in the nation's history.

Two decades later, however, it's clear the Thorpe saga has not ended. Factions once again are arguing over deeds done more than a half century ago, and this time Congress is in on the squabble. Thorpe, a Sac and Fox mixed-blood Indian, was stripped of $50,000 worth of 1912 Olympic medals when amateur officials determined that he had disqualified himself by playing professional baseball prior to the games.

Two dozen congressmen have resurrected for the umpteenth time the question of whether or not are pressuring the International Olympics Committee to at long last restore the man's victories.

It is if anything a debate fraught with confusion, contradiction and popular emotions. Through Thorpe himself is not remembered by many Americans, his image is Burt Lancaster portrayed the athlete in a film version of Thorpe's life, and over the years its showing on television alone has no doubt converted more fans to Thorpe's side than ever cared for him in real life. If a national vote was held, Thorpe vs. the Olympics committee would be no contest.

And perhaps Thorpe does deserve a win over the generally skippy and sanctimonious mind that control the world's amateur athletics, if only in deference to the Indian's magnificent ability. Yet there is a counterpoint: If Miss America must be disqualified when her pregnancy is discovered, so too was it right to strip Thorpe of his indiscretions. The rules were clear, Thorpe clearly broke them and perjured himself early on by saying he hadn't. True, his punishment was excessive, perhaps even contributing to the terrible waste of his final life. Yet there is no saying it was unjust.

In any event, one wonders if the Jim Thorpe argument has an end at all, if the divers Thorpe loyalists will ever be satisfied. His family by itself has all along been divided so to what would constitute appropriate vindication.

Jim Thorpe has been buried for two decades now, in a proper tomb north of town. But still he doesn't rest. The foos continue to argue his old wars; one of his sisters talks of having his body moved back to the Indian country where he was born. No doubt Burt Lancaster's dramatic performance is enjoying revival on the late night show as death as in life the man remains the greatest athlete of his country's time, but also, more is the pity, its most abused.

Letters to the editor are always welcome. They should be as brief as possible and comment on matters of general interest.

The letters should deal with issues and avoid personalities.

The editor reserves the right to edit those letters for reasons of space but will exercise great care that the thrust of the letter is not lost in the editing.

All letters must be signed with a mailing address and, when possible, a telephone number so the editor can be checked and contacted. However, the Evening Herald will respect the wishes of writers who do not want their names to appear in print.

We reserve, of course, the right to reject any letters this newspaper considers to be libelous or slanderous.

Everyone should be proud of the picture of the ladies. Those who make us our faculty already know it's value. But for those who do not use our library, there is a world of entertainment and knowledge waiting for you to take advantage of it. No wonder they are the busiest place in town!

Cats Are Missing

Several weeks ago, two cats were lost in the vicinity of the oil companies during the text clearing according to confidential sources. This would allow the producers to nearly double their already huge profits.

The analysis, prepared for Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., by the staff of his House Energy and Power subcommittee, is written in scholarly language. When it is reduced to plain dollars and cents, however, it declares that the oil companies stand to reap great riches at the expense of their customers.

"The sub-section of the oil industry involved in the production of domestic crude," claims the study, "will experience a bonanza of new revenues. This great surge of new funds will be at the direct expense of the remainder of our country's economy and the public."

"The study criticizes these adverse economic effects which oil prices will drain more money from the rest of the economy than they will bring in from oil companies' private projects."

Decentralization will cause the further concentration of economic power in the oil industry, particularly "those involved in production."

"Higher prices will stimulate exploration for new oil, all right, as the President hopes. But production costs will also go into orbit because of equipment and material shortages."

"Decentralization of domestic oil will only bolster the foreign oil cartel, since domestic producers will be parallel beneficiaries of the foreign-dictated price."

"Once domestic oil prices are taken out from under controls, the study warns, it will become 'increasingly difficult to re-establish a reasonable new position on oil prices. Such a future revision would likely be characterized as a rollback by the oil industry and heavily lobbied.'"

The study, putting the great oil windfall in perspective, notes that the profits of the international oil industry have been $60 billion over the four years from 1970 to 1974. "Although some of this is returned to governments in taxes, the analysis points out that 'oil producers' revenues are lightly taxed.'"

It should be added, in fairness, that the analysis presents the worst situation for the U.S. consumers. A compromise may yet be worked out in the decentralized future. Congress and the President, meanwhile, are engaged in a $12 billion game of brinkmanship."

WASHINGTON WHIRL. The Food and Drug Administration has given its blessings to a plastic disposable bottle which, if burned in a hot campfire or bumper burner, emits hydrogen cyanide. This is the deadly poison used in gas chambers. The FDA says the gas, caused by incineration, is not that dangerous. "That's not what I'd like to see," said Rep. Phil Hart, D-Mich. "If it's that safe, why not let the industry and government go on with their production surveillance for the Food and Drug Administration, is moving to Sterling Drugs Corp., one of the firms whose drugs she is supposed to monitor." "I'm looking for more of a challenge," he told us.

The Senate committee, which is investigating the CIA and FBI, has quietly purchased five electronic devices for its most sensitive telephones. The committee selected a $20 model — which, ironically, was designed by a former top CIA electronics expert — from Ashby and Associates of Washington. "We recently reported that William 'White Bull' Miller, the colorful former House doorman, kept $2 million from each page as a 'deposit' for their small gene identification badges. After our story appeared, Miller paid a quiet visit to Capitol Hill to turn over $478 in cash to the House Clerk. This was the deposit money he had collected, he explained.

Regulation Bitter Foe Of Business

Economists have discovered that government regulation of one industry, once considered a relatively simple, straightforward problem, creates distortions which spread through the economy in ways no one is able to foresee.

These distortions may do far more damage than any immediate good achieved by the original regulations.

Edwin M. Zimmerman, of the law firm of Covington and Burling, sees a growing belief that "even a well-motivated regulating agency will inevitably pursue policies inconsistent with consumer welfare."

The problem is that much of the regulating is based on theory untested by either experience or common sense. Both conservative and liberal scholars are learning that regulation in all too many cases does not achieve the ends for which it was designed. It comes to have a life of its own.

Worse yet, according to Pennsylvania University's Almarin Phillips, "the typical response of regulatory agencies to failure in regulation is to extend and compound their own regulations. This criticism... may have the effect of making regulation still more perverse."

There is not even a tendency among one body of theorists, not all of them conservatives by any means, to turn back to once-discarded principles. For one, a number of recent scholarly studies promote competition as a more efficient device for regulating prices and for increasing service to the public in many cases than governmental regulatory agencies.

The concept is not new, of course. It's the traditional economic mode in this country, nibbled away bit by bit since the past 50 years.

One rather startling example of the new "radicalism" — or return to competition — will suffice.

For decades it has been assumed electric utilities are natural monopolies which should be guided by the strictest of regulations, with rates, profits and operating conditions determined by government agencies.

This was necessary, it was held, to protect the public, prevent expensive duplication, provide better service at lower rates.

Now comes Walter J. Peineaux Jr. of the University of Illinois, working in cooperation with the prestigious Brookings Institution. The ideas are his, not necessarily Brookings.

"As Almarin Phillips puts it, 'using a set of largely ignored data from communities where consumers have a choice between two suppliers, Peineaux compares costs per kilowatt hour in cities where there is competition with rates of similar companies where... electric power is a monopoly.'"

His results suggest that competition could provide cheaper rates and better service in upwards of 3,200 of this nation's 3,600 electric power utility systems, more than half of which are publicly owned.

Studies of a variety of other industries likewise suggest that in the real world competition may have a great deal more going for it than many economists, consumer advocates and lawmakers have been willing to admit.

You'll recall she was responsible quite a few years ago for making it illegal to read the Bible or to pray in public schools.

Now she's out to have the National Aeronautics and Space Administration publicly ensure our astronauts and to force them to refrain from quoting on the Bible during their Apollo Soyuz mission which is set for launch next Tuesday (July 15).

"I know I've left some people off this list inadvertently, but there are just too many to get all of them in."

"Too, I'd like to thank all the people who came down to support our endeavors, for their orderliness and for their genuine concern. It's gratifying to be associated with a group that is so nice."

"To everyone, my thanks."

Okay, Vic, and a couple of kudos to you for a job well done in conjunction with the celebration. Next time it comes around, we'll know where to look for a good chairman.

We see Mrs. Madeline O'Hague is up to her old tricks again.

Boxing Daniels, Vincent In Action

Mitchell has stopped Perer, Kip Braden, and John Tanner, among others.

Early last year, Mitchell took on Glenn Morgan and put the Tampa KO artist on the canvas in the second round. Later he fought it out with Terrence Morgan. An all-out late rally by Morgan clinched the win.

Vincent's record is 13-1-2 and 10 KOs. The junior middleweight's only loss was to Floyd Patterson, John Conte and Cleveland Williams.

This is LeDoux's first trip to Florida, but he has already stopped two of Florida's better heavyweights, John L. Johnson and Larry Renaud.

LeDoux is the biggest box office attraction in Miami, and he has a record of 19 wins in 20 fights.

Football Meeting Tonight

Anyone interested in playing for the Sanford entry in the Central Florida Amateur Football League should meet tonight at 6 p.m. at the practice field, which is located across French Ave. from Sanford Middle School.

Persons 18 years or older are eligible for the team, which will complete an eight to 10 team league with other Central Florida teams. The season starts in early September. The team also is looking for a sponsor.

Dodger Trio Named To NL All-Star Team

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mike Marshall, last year's Cy Young Award winner, and two other Dodgers have been named to the nine-man National League All-Star pitching staff to face eight American League hurlers in the July 15 All-Star Game.

Los Angeles Manager Walter Alton on Monday announced his choice of Marshall, honored last year for his consistent relief pitching efforts, along with Dodger starting pitcher Andy Messersmith and Don Sutton, 12-4, to the National League All-Stars, who have won three straight mid-season classics.

Alton, manager of 12 National League All-Star teams, also named Tom Seaver and southpaw teammate Jon Malacko of New York, left-hander Tom Seaver, Philadelphia's left-hander Steve Carlton, San Diego's southpaw Jerry Reuss of Pittsburgh and Phil Niekro of Atlanta.

The four National League southpaws and five right-handers will face an American League pitching crew including Vida Blue and Rolfe Fingers of Oakland, Catfish Hunter of New York, and Steve Bue of Kansas City.

All but two of the National League choices are repeaters on the All-Star squad. The exceptions are southpaws Jones and Reuss. Seaver's selection marks his eighth return to the squad.

Of the American League All-Star choices for the midseason classic at Milwaukee's County Stadium, Fingers, Hunter and Bue are repeaters from last year.

Seaver had the best winning percentage among pitchers with a 12-4 record and an ERA of 1.85. Messersmith was 12-5 with a 2.00 average and Jones showed an 11-5 record and a stingy 1.77 ERA.

Messersmith leads the league in strikeouts with 127, followed by Seaver's 120 and Sutton's 118.

Marshall, who has a 2-5 record with four saves, and McGraw, 3-4 with eight saves, are the only two relief specialists representing the NL.

Seaver's record is 9-6 and Niekro's record is 8-7.

Marshall was named to the team with two other Dodgers. The team will complete an eight to 10 team league with other Central Florida teams. The season starts in early September. The team also is looking for a sponsor.

When the spade bid comes around to South he can not trump and jumps to two with his 12 high-card points.

North raises to game. West opens his fourth best spade and South raffles off his nine tricks and wins the rubber.

Since might-have-beens are worth discussing we must point out that if West had passed, North would have bid one notrump. South would have raised to three and East would have been on lead.

East might well have led the jack of spades, rather than his fourth best club, and the hand would have collapsed.

College Receives Grants Of More Than $500,000

By ED PRICKEIT
Herald Staff Writer

Trustees at Seminole Community College (SCC) were told last night that the college has received six federal grants totaling more than $500,000 for the 1975-76 school year.

The largest grant, $287,704, is for construction of the school's fine arts building, which SCC officials hope to let out for bids in August. School officials also must complete an environmental questionnaire before construction gets under way.

The office of veteran affairs, Schrieber says, assists veterans with applications for federal awards from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). The first, for $124,000, provides scholarships for the disadvantaged. The second HEW grant for $34,267 is for continuation of an office of veteran affairs at the college.

Schrieber says "more and more" students each year apply for financial assistance. Under the HEW grant, a student must first apply. His application is sent away for evaluation. If it is substantial, money can be provided for housing, as well as cost of classes.

The office of veteran affairs, Schrieber says, assists veterans with applications for federal stipends and provides various other services for veterans.

Anita Harrow, the school's director of academic affairs, said SCC also received $35,000 to run the school's cooperative education program. Under that program, students receive college credit for working — when the work is related to a student's major field of study.

Also, $22,861 came in for continuation of the 21st Century Woman program. The non-credit course deals mainly with women's changing role in today's society.

Lastly, Mrs. Harrow said a small grant, about $4,000, has been received for purchase of

Grand Jury Mulls Next Step

The grand jury investigation of the June 9 fire at the Seminole County Jail that claimed 11 lives reached a standstill this morning.

The jury panel was released until this afternoon after bearing testimony from four county commissioners and Sheriff John Polk yesterday.

Appearing before the jury were Commissioners Dick Williams, Mike Hataway, Harry Kwiatkowski and John Kimbrough. Kimbrough, the last to appear, was the only commissioner to have an attorney present when he went into the grand jury room.

After the jury session concluded, Assistant State Attorney William Soley, the grand jury foreman and Chief State Attorney Investigator Jack Fulenwider met behind closed doors, apparently to determine what the next step will be in the investigation.

"We may call one or two more people," Fulenwider said shortly before the jurors broke for the night.

Should the grand jury choose not to call additional witnesses, sources close to the probe said expected to take at least a week to prepare, according to informed sources, regardless of the direction which it might choose to take.

As the grand jury recessed, the county commissioners set a work session today to review a fire safety study on the jail as prepared by Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser.

Commission Chairman Sid Vilhen Jr. indicated the board wanted to be certain that all possible safety precautions have been taken before giving approval for the reopening of the jail for housing prisoners.

The fire safety study is being prepared with input by the Sanford Fire Department, the State Fire Marshal's office and the Seminole County Fire Department. According to Vilhen the report will examine two areas: basic fire safety requirements and elements beyond the minimum requirements which would provide additional safety.

Meanwhile, repair work on the burned jail is scheduled and Sheriff Polk said yesterday that the general contractor has

Sanford Police Still Searching For Clues In Murder Case

By GLENN McCASLAND
Herald Staff Writer

Twelve days ago the body of George W. Helmdoll Jr., 5410 Lee Ann Dr., Orlando, was found in front of the Sanford Greyhound Bus Depot.

The discovery touched off one of the most intensive murder case investigations in recent history at the Sanford Police Department.

Now, almost two weeks after Helmdoll died from "three or four shots" from a small caliber pistol, police are still sitting at "dead zero" in the case.

"It's so complicated and involved that we're running up blind alleys," Capt. C.B. Fagan said today.

Fagan knows why the Orlando man was in Sanford and why he had stopped his late model automobile at the bus station just before the fatal shooting, but he doesn't have a motive nor a positive man on the suspect in the killing.

"Helmdoll stopped to call a friend from one of the bus station telephone booths. He had completed the conversation, setting up an appointment to visit the friend, and stepped from the telephone booth when our suspect walked up and shot him," Fagan said.

The gunman fled the scene after firing the fatal shots, Fagan said, because of the arrival of an unidentified man and his wife, who had driven into the bus station parking lot just as the shooting occurred.

"We don't know if the gunman attempted to rob the victim and fled when the two witnesses drove up before completing the robbery or if there was another motive for the shooting," Fagan said.

The gunman, described as a young person with shaggy blonde hair, has not been located despite the efforts of the Sanford Police Department's detective division over the past 12 days.

Fagan and his men have interviewed 150 persons in connection with the slaying and still have drawn a blank in finding the suspect.

"The way we're looking for was seen leaning against the bus depot building when Helmdoll drove up, but the witness was too far away to make an identification," Fagan said.

During the course of the investigation, four weapons have been seized by officers for bullet comparison tests at the Regional Crime Lab in

Linguists Asked To Aid Sheriff

Speak a foreign language? If so, the Seminole County Sheriff's Department can use your help under a new plan being set up by the department.

The plan calls for compiling a list of translators to be available should an emergency arise and there is need for persons who can speak foreign languages.

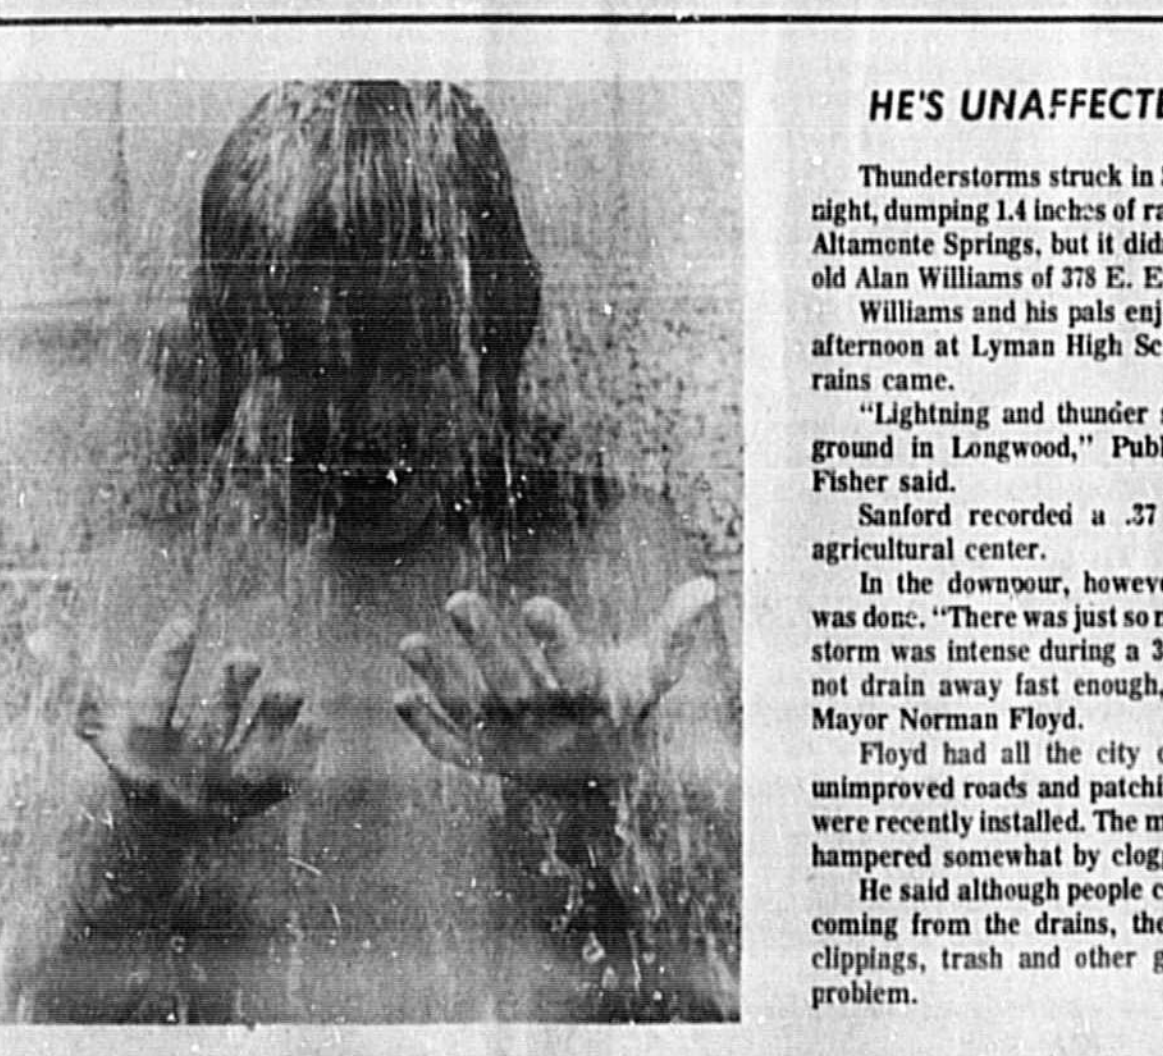

John Spolski, supervisor for the 9-1-1 Emergency Communications system, said from time to time officers find it helpful to have "someone available to translate" when they contact a person who cannot speak English, or cannot speak English well.

"Also these people would be of service to foreign visitors and tourists who might be in need of assistance because of a language problem," Spolski said.

The project is on a volunteer basis and those involved need not be an "expert" in the language involved. Age is no barrier either, Spolski said.

"There are many people who are qualified to assist in a language problem situation, but we have no centralized list available from which to contact the people," Spolski explained.

To volunteer as a "translator," persons are asked to contact the sheriff's department by telephone and ask for Spolski.

Electric Bill Shocks Board

By MICK LOCHRIDGE
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners received an electric shock yesterday. They learned of their June electric bill: $12,306.74 for providing electricity to the county courthouse.

And, while county officials say they expect power bills to increase during summer months with additional use of the air conditioning, the June bill still was a big jump over the May billing of $1,811.20.

Abby Jones, deputy clerk of the Circuit Court, yesterday reported the figures of the recent six month billings from Florida Power and Light Company to the Commission. He said he did it to draw commissioners' attention to the bill.

And he succeeded. Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski has dispatched a memo to department heads, elected officials and maintenance officials suggesting methods to conserve electricity in the building such as raising the thermostat on the air conditioner to 72 degrees and turning lights out when leaving the room.

He also requested county employees in the courthouse to individually conserve electricity.

According to Jones, the Commission can expect an over-penditure of $5,000 at the end of the year because of the cost of electricity. $100,000 was placed in the general fund budget for all courthouse utilities, including gas and water. But now, Jones reports only $10,169 remains in the general fund for utility payments.

The $12,307 billing includes a fuel adjustment of $1,132.17 and reports the use of 413,200 kilowatt hours. The June 1975 billing compares to the June 1974 billing which was $8,369.

Jones said the bills are paid each month and do not require Commission approval because the funds are budgeted. However, if the over-expenditures are needed the Commission will have to approve the action.

This Burglar Picked On The Wrong Car

Sanford City Policeman John Foster had the unusual experience early today of witnessing the attempted burglary of his own automobile — and he arrested the suspect to boot.

Police Chief Ben Butler said Foster booked Earl Leon Burke, 1512 Melville Ave., Sanford, into county jail on charges of attempted burglary, prowling and possession of burglary tools about 1:30 a.m., shortly after Foster arrived at his Ridgewood Arms apartment following a tour of duty.

Bond for Burke was set at $10,000, according to records at the Seminole County Jail.

Foster said he had just arrived home, parked his 1972 Cougar in the westside parking lot at the apartment complex and started inside his residence when he saw a young man walk from a wooded area towards the parking lot.

Foster, still in uniform, watched the man approach the rows of automobiles until he reached Foster's car. The suspect then attempted to open the passenger side door, and failing, walked to the driver's side and tried the door.

Foster said the man appeared to be "attempting to put something in the car door lock" when he (Foster) approached, identified himself as a police officer and arrested the man.

A search of the suspect revealed a set of car door keys, which Foster took into custody.
