State Investigation Of Center Is Sought By Parent

(Second of two articles)

Whatever happens at Wednesday's School Board meeting on the state investigation of the Rosenwald Exceptional Child Center is "probably inevitable," Seminole PTO President Dick Skaggs said today.

Skaggs, who has discussed the Rosenwald situation with officials in Tallahassee and Washington, said he believes the school's curriculum "amounts to a clear violation of the children's civil rights."

The School Board has on its agenda for its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday the selection of an architectural firm to prepare a seven-classroom addition at Rosenwald. While some parents are in favor of the addition to relieve severe overcrowding that no one disputes, other parents have expressed the view the Rosenwald facility is not worth adding on. Parent Dr. Gordon Carver said a new facility should be built, using up-to-date technology for care of the handicapped.

Skaggs, Dr. Carver and at least four other parents plan to lodge a formal complaint against Seminole County Schools with the Florida Department of Education's Bureau of Educational Examinations.

"It is in the best interest of the children that we get specialized people to look into this thing to tell us what's wrong," Skaggs said.

Panucci Haskey Team To Sell, Build Heathrow

Two Seminole County powerhouses in land development—Jeno Panucci and Joseph Haskey—announced today they have teamed up to develop a $90 million Heathrow planned unit development.

The project, encompassing 1,298 acres, is west of Interstate 4 and north of Lake Mary Boulevard.

Panucci, a Sanford land developer and investor, through his new corporation, Heathrow Land and Development Corp., will develop the property while Haskey, a developer in Winter Park, will handle marketing and sales of the project.

Panucci said the first house is expected to be ready for sale in the spring of 1984. Houses in Heathrow will sell in the $200,000 to $10 million price range, the two men said.

Heathrow is expected to take 10 years to complete. The development is slated to have 4,832 single family houses and condominiums ranging from patio homes to townhouses. Also to be included within the development are an 18-hole golf course, designed by Tom Clark of Lakeland; a water and sewer system; recreation facilities; sheriff's department and fire department substations; and three 15-acre sites for school development.

Referring to Lake Mary as the "crossroads of Florida, Haskey said those with vision should keep an eye on the project and its development over the next decade and the next century.

Heathrow is expected to have easy accessibility to key points in the state from Daytona Beach to Tampa.

Panucci also said he will be negotiating with the state to develop international rights to Miami and Orlando.

The idea revealed that he is moving many of his corporate employees to Haskey's site in the Sanford area in the next few years, Panucci said as he deals in quality projects in another of his corporations, he will be dealing in a

Work Progressing On Sanford's Newest Park

A completed date of Aug. 14 is being worked toward on the development of the new Amway Park at West 25th Street, according to the Sanford city parks and recreation director, Jim Jernigan.

Some $27,000 is budgeted for the development of the equipment. Jernigan said, noting Sanford is spending $25,000 on this park, a total of $52,000.

The park at this point is about 90 percent complete. The packing lot is in

Dick Skaggs Donald Ricci

Seminole County's director of Exceptional Education, Donald Ricci, was unavailable for comment today, but he told Rosenwald parents at a meeting last week that he feared the overcrowding at Rosenwald is too

Skaggs, however, said the problems at Rosenwald go far beyond crowding. From what he has been able to learn on the state and federal level, Skaggs said the curriculum is not adequate.

He said he will tell the School Board Wednesday night the absence of up-to-date curriculum for the profoundly mentally handicapped and trainable handicapped is totally inappropriate, as is a lack of vocational training.

"The curriculum is not designed for a curriculum that was designed for pre-1970s era. It's different. That's why we're having a hearing," he said.

Since the Rosenwald curriculum was established other curricula have evolved from university studies which would be using.

In vocational areas, Skaggs said trainable students should be taught such skills as folding extra boxes, sorting nuts and bolts, using a clothes washer and dryer, simple woodworking and horticulture so that they can have some hope of getting jobs when they leave the school.

"We have 35,000 motel rooms in this area that need taking care of on a daily basis, but there's no bedroom set up at the school," he said.

"Anytime you have things up one of the administration people jumps up and says 'Oh, we're doing this.' But when you look at it they're not doing that at all. It's a whitewash."

Skaggs said he has discovered that the director of exceptional education in Escambia County has been sued by parents for letting just such deficiencies persist.

Rosenwald, he said, even with a seven-classroom addition that will house 70 students will still have the following shortcomings:

- Lack of toilet facilities in classrooms.
- Lack of hot water in classrooms where teachers must continuously wash the children.
- No gymnasium.
- No swimming pool when the therapeutic aspects of swimming for the handicapped are well documented.

quality product at Heathrow. Ministering the general air of support and cooperation for the Heathrow project were representatives of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and all five Seminole County commissions.

At the press conference held at S Sweetwater Oaks by Panucci and Haskey, County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn said she and her colleagues are pleased with the development.

Glenn said the county is currently has a population of 100,000. The county is currently gaining 1,000 to 1,300 new citizens monthly. Mrs. Glenn said these new citizens need housing.

The first phase of Heathrow is planned to include 1,298 subdivisions, the first containing 25 lots of one acre or more and the second containing 82 one-half acre lots, said Tom Stevenson, director of real estate operations for Panucci Corporation.

A four-lane divided boulevard entrance to Heathrow is planned from Lake Mary Boulevard. The entranceway will feature a circular driveway.

Planning for Heathrow, to be the largest development of its kind in the county, began in 1971. The County Commission granted final approval of a planned unit development for the project in 1974.

A year later, on petition from Jeno Panucci and other family members, the project was annexed by the city of Lake Mary. However, the county filed an appeal of the city's annexation because of errors in the legal description of the property. The county court granted the appeal.

Meanwhile, Lake Mary appealed the decision. Ultimately, the appeal court affirmed the county court ruling against the city. The Lake Mary City Commission considers the county's decision to be the Florida Supreme Court.

An appeal proceeded for the development.

Vans in Seminole To Monitor Shuttle

Donna Bates

Seminole County will play a role, although it will be a minor one, in the final landing of a space shuttle, at Kennedy Space Center, scheduled for mid- to late June.

Two of seven vans containing electronic equipment designed to monitor the sonic booms created when the Challenger space shuttle breaks the sound barrier as it approaches its landing at Cape Canaveral will be in place at the Ernest Southwest property off Park Road in Lake Mary and on the Jerry Puccio property in Ocala.

Other vans are to be located in Ocala, Ocala, Weirsdale, Titusville and Mims. Mrs. Southwest said a representative of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) requested and was given permission to locate the vans on the family Lake Mary property about a month ago.

"We were told the spacecraft would be descending rapidly at a sharp angle and the

Some doors and ramps at the school, he said, are not large enough for wheelchairs and the chairs must be stored outside in the heat or cold and rain. And the school is set up such that moving students through the outside necessitated so much dressing and undressing for the teacher the valuable teacher side time is lost to classroom teaching.

Skaggs also said the school has, in his hiring practices, "pushed away" teachers with degrees in special education in favor of others. He said hiring practices at Rosenwald are another area that bears investigation.

He said one special education expert expressed surprise when told Rosenwald, which has a student population of 227, has only two physical therapists and two speech therapists.

Mrs. Kay Carver said her profoundly handicapped daughter, Mandy, age 6, receives only one hour of physical therapy a week at Rosenwald. In St. Johns County, where she went to school before February, Mandy received 10 hours of physical therapy a week, she said.

Mrs. Carver added her daughter's room at Rosenwald is "a mess." She said everything that's done for her is done in one room.

"She's fed, diapered, toiletied and taught in the same room," she said.

TODAY Designer-Clothing Case To Trial

By Michael Bohn

A jury selection continues today in the Seminole Circuit Court trial of an Orlando man charged with selling counterfeit designer clothes to undercover agents.

Assistant State Attorney Linda Jackson and Deputy Attorney Jerry Janger began questioning Monday the 30-year-old defendant, Joseph J. Starnes, Jr., in front of Glenn Starnes, 28, owner of Jackson's Fashion in Orlando. They jury selection was scheduled to resume at 9 a.m. today. Starnes' trial will be heard before Circuit Judge Dennis J. Voss.

Starnes is accused of selling counterfeit designer clothes. He was arrested along with two Miami men in a warehouse at the 1-4 Interstate Park near Sanford.

A five-member crew will miss the shuttle, including the first American woman in space, Dr. Sally Ride of Los Angeles, who holds a doctorate in physics, and a native Floridian, Dr. Norman Thagard, who was born in Matanzas, but who considers Jacksonville his home.

Dr. Thagard, a medical doctor, will conduct medical tests and collect data on space adaptation syndrome — space sickness. A Marine Corps veteran, he won 163 combat missions in Vietnam.

Dr. Ride, the first American woman in space, received her doctorate in physics from Stanford University. Considered a mission specialist, she will conduct space experiments, operating the arm on the shuttle's pallet stowage to manipulate the West German payload beam-like structure that fits into the shuttle's payload bay.

Let's Not Dim The 'Golden Age'

'Glowing predictions about the dawn of a golden age of information have been made by many intrigued by advances in computers and information technologies. Some foresee a more democratic society. They speculate that citizens will be better informed because their access to information will be almost unlimited.'

However, some contemporary events demonstrate that those who hold certain kinds of information often seek to tightly control its dissemination.

The information policies — or more properly, the non-information policies — of Reagan administration are illustrative of the point. At almost every turn, this administration has put obstacles in the way of the free flow of information from government to citizens.

Consider President Reagan's recently issued executive order, which imposes limits on the entire executive branch the same tight secrecy that already prevails at the CIA. All employees who handle classified information — a very elastic concept — are required to sign a "very elastic" agreement that will be binding not only while the employees are in government service but also after their departure. Such employees must promise that speeches and manuscripts — forever after — will be cleared in advance of delivery or publication.

In one worrisome provision, the order permits the firing of someone simply suspected of leaking information if the person refuses to take a lie detector test. It treats the polygraph as if it were such a system puts an innocent person in a very awkward situation; refuse the test and be fired or risk a lie detector test and having your career jeopardized.

In addition, government agencies will be required to establish censorship panels. That's a prescription for bloated bureaucracy, as well as curbs on the public's right to information.

There is also a provision that requires agencies to refer officials, are particularly odious. Such requirements were imposed by earlier administrations. Such employees must promise that speeches and manuscripts — forever after — will be cleared in advance of delivery or publication.

Libyan Pipeline

Wishful thinkers like to believe that the war clouds over Central America would go away if only the Reagan administration would stop helping the anti-communists. But talking about U.S. aid to El Salvador and alleged CIA help for anti-Marxist guerrillas in Nicaragua ignores some fundamental realities in the region.

One such reality was dramatically underscored recently when Brazilian authorities pecked inside-four cargo jet transport planes during a refueling stop. The Libyans had said they were flying medical supplies to Nicaragua. But what the Brazilians found was more than 100 tons of arms, ammunition, and explosives.

Then too, it's worth asking why Libya — long a conduit for Soviet arms destined for communists and terrorist movements throughout the Third World — thought it necessary to lie about the cargo jet transport planes were carrying. The likely answer is that the Soviets and their Libyan clients are not eager to provide yet more evidence that the Reagan's Marxist regime is being sustained by Moscow.

Inasmuch as Nicaragua manufactures no arms of its own, the weapons that come from the pipeline. The Libyan transport planes loaded with enough arms and munitions for a small army would be a major boon to the Marxist regime. Peace and stability would prevail in Central America were it not for what the Sandinistas are pleased to call "massive interferences."

ROBERT WAGMAN Kiddiegate Is Latest Scandal?

WASHINGTON (NSA) — The Reagan administration seems to have found an answer to unemployment — at least on paper. It's called "Kiddiegate," the latest scandal to hit the White House. The probe is calling "Kiddiegate" — the practice of giving children of high-level officials high-paying jobs for which they are not qualified. And, say critics, it proves that Reagan's ethics rules are not being followed and well in the Reagan administration.

These charges focus on one agency in particular, the United States Information Agency, whose aim is to disseminate information about the United States and its policies to other countries. Its been known component at the worldwide level. The probe's findings indicate that many of these political appointees had been in the past, were always held by career personnel. In addition, several of the appointees are either the children of high-ranking officials or relatives of administration officials.

According to congressional sources, a Capitol Hill staffer, J. son of the secretary of defense. He has a television background and is doing television work for USA, with an annual salary near the top of the possible range.

Another appointee, a former aide to the former secretary of state, who is an assistant in the Office of Counsel at USA in Washington.

— Anne Collins, who congressional sources identify as a close family friend of the president. She is a former USA officer in the U.S. Embassy in London, although she is on the USA payroll.

— Catherine Smith, whose background is in Texas Republican politics. She is a former USA officer in the U.S. Embassy in London, although she is on the USA payroll.

— Steve Gergen, nephew of White House communications director Dan Gergen. He is a student and has been employed by USA in intern during vacations.

Congressional investigators say these are just a few examples and believe that many more of USA's political appointees have personal or political ties to the high-level officials. The probe also notes that at least some of those named are not well-qualified for their positions and will regard to work on.

— In other cases, USA's political appointees are not well-qualified for their positions as "highly utilized" the fact that positions in major embassies are being filled by career personnel of by career Foreign Service officers.

Disinflation: Reagan's Every

WASHINGTON — The older man elected for president in 1980 says the States has turned out to be the worst economy that elderly poor Americans have ever had in the United States.

President Reagan has not only stung out the low-income elderly to the top, but he has also put the elderly in a heartless. But the budget cuts he and his administration have made are hurting those elderly people the most.

An unpublished study prepared by the prestigious Urban Institute in Washington documents the situation. It is titled, "Disinflation and the Reagan Era."

The study, reviewed by my assistant, Tony Caputo, says that the basic contradiction in the Reagan administration is that the administration's programs that affect the elderly. The cuts have not focused on issues of age but on issues of income. There have been protected the aged more than

WILLIAM MUSHER The White House Battle

WASHINGTON (NSA) — The sound of muffled uproar below stairs at the White House is getting louder and it is reasonable to expect that before long now we will see one or more of the gladiators being tossed out on his ear.

Reagan is one of the most patient and long-suffering men, but even his patience has its limits, and they are surely being severely tested these days.

Bein in mind that Reagan is by nature a conservative, and enjoys having other conservatives around him. But he is also emotionally secure, his conservatism not being the kind that needs constant external reinforcement, and he is therefore probably comfortable being surrounded by those who have a different point of view.

has resulted in a White House staff that includes such dedicated conservatives and fundamentally "pragmatic" operators who are regarded as an executive devotion to political principles as one of the most alarming of all diseases.

The Washington press corps early on in the Reagan administration was shocked by the firing of a prominent conservative, a pragmatist, and — since that time Washington journalists are generally liberal — they seldom give their favorite. He had, after all, been Reagan's campaign manager.

Lease members of the Reagan White House's pragmatic wing include: communications coordinator Dick Deming, Reagan's liaison chief Ken Duberstein and presidential assistant Dick Dorn. Broadly sympathetic to their fondness for political moderation is Mike Deaver, whose title is deputy chief of staff, but who has served Reagan longer than all four — and is already mentioned put together.

On the other side of the controversy field is the presidential communications counselor Ed Meese, a soft-spoken but determined conservative, whose tenure as Reagan's chief of staff is also being questioned by the early days of Reagan's presidency.

SPACE WORLD Study Leads To Space Firm

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A young man who looked into private investment opportunities while he was at the Harvard Business School two years ago has formed a company to develop a commercial satellite program for the space shuttle.

Orbital Systems Corp. signed a cooperative agreement with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to study the feasibility of developing a commercial satellite program for the space shuttle.

NASA will provide technical monitoring and advice and the corporation will proceed with the development, expected to cost about $20 million, at no cost to taxpayers.

A similar study was conducted by the manufacturer of a smaller rocket stage during the development of the space shuttle.

Orbital Systems Corp. has eight people on the payroll. It was formed last year by David W. Thompson, 30, Scott L. Webster, 30, and William F. Ferguson, 29.

Their plan, Webster said, is to serve as "fund-raisers and marketers" for commercial ventures in space operations while contracting out the actual systems development work to aerospace companies with proven technical know-how.

Orbital Systems Corp. signed a preliminary agreement in January with the Marine Corps. Marine is to design and build the stages and Orbital Systems will contract out the development and sell them for between $1 million and $2 million each.

The rockets are designed to propel relatively large satellites, weighing between 1,000 and 6,000 pounds, into their final orbit, from where they are left by space shuttles to a final orbital orbit reaching 23,000 miles high.

Smaller rockets in the satellites' orbit would be used to deliver their payload into a circular orbit 23,000 miles high, where they are left by space shuttles to a final orbital orbit reaching 23,000 miles high.

Thompson said his rocket stage, the company's first, will fill a gap in the ability of NASA's space transportation system to push large payloads into orbit, says an industry official beyond.

He said the stage will be much less expensive than the complicated two-section rocket of the type that went away in the flight of a $100 million tracking and data relay satellite launched from the space shuttle Ariet 4.

Thompson said his company's rocket stage is designed to be used for delivering a satellite into the path toward the stationary orbit desired for communications and some weather satellites.

His first flight is scheduled for 1986. The company's first customer is May and forecasts 30 missions for the transfer orbit stage between 1986 and 1990.

benefit the old-coin. "As the work for the population overall, the Reagan tax cut has had a significant impact on those with lower incomes, and the spending cuts have affected the low-income elderly the most in the middle and upper-income aged," the study says.

"Despite the stated intent of the administration to preserve the 'safety net' under the incomes of the elderly, elderly income has declined and they suffered a net loss overall as a result of the policy changes under the Reagan administration."

The study points out that "the oldest members of the group lose age 72 and more were affected the most by budget cuts."

The principal author of the Urban Institute study, which will review its findings at a special hearing this week chaired by Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., said:

Elimination of 26,000 community service jobs had the largest impact on the elderly. Cuts in real-dollar budget for social services grant 111 percent and mass transit 100 percent are the largest. The national characteristic of the cuts is that they are not

'Shoo-in' All America Impedes Issac's Progress...

Williams' pickup by Andy ...

Isaac Williams took a drink during the Carroll and Gold game. The ex-Fighting Seminoles has a tough task in front of him — potential All-America Alphonso Carreter — if he wants to earn a starting job as a defensive tackle for the Florida State Seminoles.

By Mike Redgate
Florida Sports Correspondent
TALLAHASSEE — Isaac Williams can't rest easy now. It's all over until August.

The former Seminole high offensive lineman has survived his first spring practice with the Florida State football team.

Williams, lining up at defensive tackle for the former squared in FSU's annual Gmet and "G" intrasquad scrimmage two weeks ago, was just as effective as every other player on the team that spring workouts had finally come to an end.

"It wasn't bad as the guys made it out to be," said freshman Williams, who has grown into muscular 6-3 and 255 pounds, about his first spring scrimmage season as a Seminole.

Williams lined up against 285-pound offensive tackle Herb Harty of Winter Garden's West Orange High School and usually successful in applying pressure to Gold quarterbacks. Whether he will start at tackle in the fall still remains to be seen. It seems the gentleman currently occupying the position Williams desires is a also-in for All-America honors.

"Who's going to play at tackle... potential All America like Alphonso Carreter, I can't say," Williams said about his chances.

Head coach Bobby Brown was just as cautiously optimistic in assessing Williams' chances of moving into a starting role when September rolls around.

"Isaac made some plays out there," observed Brown. "But his best football is ahead of him."
(Meaning what's one to do when caddying for an All American?)

Yes, in just his first season as a Seminole last fall, Williams made the switch from offensive tackle to defensive lineman to fill in for some guys who went down early in the year with injuries — most notably Len Chavers of Deland.

Then, when starting nose guard David Ponder contracted the flu midway through the season, Williams took over the controls at the open position. He prefers deliberate tackle, however.

"I think I did pretty well moving from nose guard to tackle," he said. "I like it better than nose because I can get in a better pass rush."

Health-wise, his knees should survive better at tackle than nose, too, since offensive linemen like to gang up and apply painful chop blocks.

"He plays better at tackle," concluded Brown.

Which will probably be the final word.

Terry. The Cat. Miller hurled a no-hitter and struck out 15 batters Monday night as Moose debauched unbeset Rotary, 3-1, in Sanford Junior League action at Chase Park.

Miller and Rotary's Craig Dixon locked up in the best pitching duel of the season as Dixon held Moore to just one run. Dixon was then called for a balk, sending Miller home with the eventual winning run. With two outs, Miller singled to left, second and went to third on an error. Dixon was then called for a balk, sending Miller home with the eventual winning run.

It was the second time in the game that Dixon had balked. The victory gives Moore a 2-2 record while Rotary falls to 6-1. Miller, who absorbed the loss last time Rotary and Moore met, raised his pitching record to 2-1 while Dixon's was 1-1.

Moore got off to a quick 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first as Gary Derr singled with one out and went to second on a wild pitch. Miller then leaped a double down the right field line to knock in Derr. Miller took third on a throw but scored as Dixon failed the last two batters of the inning.

Rotary had his chances to tie the game up but stranded runner on third base in the second, third, fourth and fifth innings. Rotary finally tied the score at 1-1 in the top of the sixth. Mike Edwards led off by drawing a walk and he stole both second and third. One out later, Eddie Kergan grounded to shortstop to knock in Edwards.

Dixon broadened through the first two hitters in the bottom of the sixth, as both John Lewis and Derr went down on strikes. Miller then singled to left to keep the inning alive for what turned out to be the turning point of the game.

Miller's 15 strikeouts was a season-high and he walked four and hit one batter. Dixon struck out 11 and walked only one. Both Miller and Calvin Davis had two hits each for Moore, while Edwards walked three times and stole the bases for Rotary.

In Monday's first game, Knights of Columbus erupted for 11 runs in the second inning en route to a 18-0 rout of Hall Moore. KOC now stands at 3-4 while Bill Moore Line falls to 0-7.

David Roper and Altona Gansley had two hits each for Roper and Roper also pitched the pitching victory, allowing six hits while striking out eight and walking two. Chris Williams had two hits for Bill Moore Line.

In other Little National action, Poppers Jay's won its fifth straight game, 18-10, over Dwindled American Veterans.

Harry Christensen led Poppa Jay's at the plate with three hits. Steve Johnson, Mark Giles and David Roberts added three hits each. Jeff Blake added a pair of doubles and Willie McCloskey also added two hits to the team's 19-10 win over the Cardinals.

D.A.V. managed only four hits off of two pitchers. Poppa Jay's won by best record collecting two hits. Ponders managed to close by taking advantage of eight errors and 16 walks.

Sanford raised its record to 8-2 with a 17-0 rout of Cardinal Industries. Tim Graham went 4 for 4 with a home run and three RBIs to lead the way for Sanford.

Sanford's Mike Mierle picked up the pitching victory, allowing just two hits while striking out five and walking four.

Anthony Merziah added three hits for Sanford while Paul Collins had a 3 for 2 with an RBI for Cardinal who led to 3-0 with the loss.

Bucks Ride Celts, Complete Sweep; Denver Stays Alive

By United Press International

The Boston Celts, with the most championships in the history of the NHL, kept up talking themselves in. It couldn't happen there. But it did.

Before a raucous crowd of 17,092 in Milwaukee Monday night, the Celts' season came to a crashing end when the Bucks completed a four-game sweep with a 107-61 rout. When the Bucks go on to meet Philadelphia in the Eastern Conference finals beginning Sunday, the stakes could be said to vary little. It's something "I will be doing some soul-searching."

It was the first time Boston had been swept in a series since 1991.

"I've seen 'I want to rest my feet. It's something I want to rest for a long time.

NBA Playoffs

This summer is going to be nothing but 'I'm going to punish myself for what happened so we can get back where we belong. It was embarrassing and I won't forget it."

Celics guard Danny Ainge, who was booed loudly throughout the game because fans were upset over his alleged rough play in the series, gave more credit to the Bucks.

In the Western Conference, Denver saved off elimination with a 124-114 victory over San Antonio.

At Denver, Kim Vandeweghe scored 37 points and reserve Mike Evans got 21 and just didn't have it in all five cylinders in any game. We only had two or three guys playing good."

Bird led the Celtics with 18 points, 11 rebounds and eight assists, but it wasn't enough to overcome the Bucks, who were paced by Marques Johnson with 35 points and Sidney Moncrief with 25.

The triumph was particularly sweet for Milwaukee coach Don Nelson, who spent most of his playing career with Boston.

"This is my biggest win as a coach," Nelson said. "It's just so weird. I usually come in second."

The winner of the series will meet the survivor of the Los Angeles Portland semifinal, which resumes tonight with Game 5 in Indianapolis. Califf, with the Lakers leading 3-1.

suggests off to a quick start with 17 as the first ball as Denver moved within 3 of the Spurs. Game 5 will be played Wednesday night in San Antonio.

The sweep with a career-high 25 points and the Nuggets survived run-off injuries performed by Dan Issel and Alex English, who, playing with minor ailments, totalled 35 points. Johnny Moore, who has led the Spurs throughout the series, scored 22 of his 26 points in the second half and kept the Bucks alive for 24.

The winner of the series will meet the survivor of the Los Angeles Portland semifinal, which resumes tonight with Game 5 in Indianapolis. Califf, with the Lakers leading 3-1.

Trinity's Austin Wins With Youth And Potential

By Stan Cook
Florida Sports Editor

Some coaches rave about youth and potential — George Austin wins with it.

Austin, Trinity Prep's track and field coach, trounced earlier this track season that it's a "rebuilding year." Last Saturday his Lady Saints came within two points of winning the district.

That was quick. "We've got a sophomore, a junior and a senior," said Austin, who leads the girls' team in eighth graders and ninth graders.

"Never mind that he doesn't tell you one of those sixth graders was the best 800, mile and two-mile runner in the state last year. He doesn't have to. Freshman Adrienne Pollowitz was running step-down with the best for two years."

Interestingly, she wouldn't have been a triple Class A State champion had it been for an injury to Shannon McElroy before last year's state meet. McElroy, a state champion as a freshman who has followed in the footsteps of brothers David (graduated) and Paul (at Harvard University), went down with a torn tendon and missed the state meet.

Austin's girls came in second due to the spirited performance by Pollowitz

Pollowitz stands. She's at the top and probably will be for three more seasons.

In Saturday's district meet, which was won by Mount Dora Bible at St. Johns Lutheran in Ocala, Pollowitz swept the 800 (2:07.6), mile (5:22) and two mile (12:14). "And she did without being pushed too much," recalls Austin. "A push could result in a stink record or two for the former prep coach."

The push comes from eighth-grade teammate Katie Sams, who was second in the mile (5:37) and the 800 (2:31.8). It's not inconceivable she could do the same at the state meet.

Sophomore Beth Shuffly was third in the mile (6:46.5) and the two mile (13:13.0).

Junior Pat Archibald was Saturday's standout with victories in the high jump (5-4), long jump (19-10), 100 hurdles (17.2) and 200 hurdles (58.3). She also joined Sams, senior Holly Eggenstein and Susan Suwaski to win the mile relay in 6:30.5, a time that didn't excite Austin.

"We won't run that poorly again," he growled. "I'll guarantee you that."

The Saints also qualified the mile medley relay with Fay Archibald, Danielle McCloskey, Suwaski and Gustin in 4:43.0.

Trinity's boys won two qualifiers, mile Tony Matthews, and 100 hurdles Gerard Sutton, who is three-time district champion. Matthews put together a 4:32.4 mile while Sutton ran the 100 in 17.60.

Austin set Mount Dora Bible and Lakeland Christian as the teams to beat — end of county, Trinity Prep.

Carnival Set 'Spring Fling'

The PTO of Palmetto Elementary School is sponsoring a "Spring Fling" carnival at the school on Saturday, May 7. The fun and festivities will include game booths, pony rides, hot dogs, drinks, ice creaming and a dunking booth.

The school is still trying to get teachers to volunteer for the pie throwing booth and dunking booth. A hamster house has been set up with guest Donor Drive from T.V. Channel 50 arriving in a house.

Admission to the carnival is free and open to the public, but tickets will be needed at the game booths. Tickets will be on sale at the school's office, May 5-6.

The carnival is the only fund-raiser for the school and the funds raised will go into the PTO account to be used to purchase school equipment as needed.

Sabal Point Elementary School has had some interesting cultural arts programs lately, according to Mary Simon, cultural arts chairman. The "World Players Young Theatre Club" presented two special plays for the students and General Anderson Andre Ferrier from Switzerland was featured in a performance.

Coming up on May 10 the students will be treated to a special puppet show put on by Jo Davile.

May 11 will be the final meeting this year.

The Sweetwater Oaks Garden Club will hold its final meeting this year on May 5. They will hold installation of new officers at their luncheon at the Harley Hotel in Ocala. Cocktails will be served at 11 a.m., followed by luncheon.

The Spring Oaks Garden Club will also hold an installation luncheon on May 5 at the lounge of outgated president Pat Randall.

Longwood Elementary School certainly has its share of young gymnasts and most of them were on hand April 21 to perform in a gymnastic show put on by P.E. coach Mike Peate. Two performances were presented: Children from all grades had a chance to demonstrate what they have learned. There were tire drills, bamboo dances, rope, rolls, cart wheels and tumbling of all kinds. The highlight of the show was when the boys and girls advanced, tumbling and gymnastic stunts performed. These students worked very hard and did a splendid job.

The Longwood Elementary School's File and Drums Corps just returned from a trip to Williamsburg, Va. They traveled via AmTrak and were accompanied by school principal Mrs. Culbert and media specialist Evelyn Towler.

On May 5, from 6:30 to 9:30 a.m., Longwood Elementary School has an Art Show planned for area residents as well as students. The school's art teacher, Laura Oakes, has gathered together works of art from all the students in each grade level and with a little help from the fifth graders, all this art work will be hung up in the school for display.

In conjunction with the Art Show, music teacher Gail Stiles will present her group of "Chorales" consisting of about 30 boys and girls who will sing medleys of folk and patriotic songs from 7:30-8:30 p.m.

Free Surgery Booklet Offered

Dear Abby: Thank you so much for printing the government's Second Surgical Opinion Hotline. The hotline number is 1-800-824-6833. In Maryland, it is 1-800-402-6003. It's easy to see why you entitled your column "Second Opinion to Offer Doctor." It's been my experience that taking your original doctor for the name of a second-opinion specialist poses no problem for him. We simply refer you to someone down the hall, in the same building or belonging to the same country club who will averterly corroborate his own opinion.

I cannot stress enough the importance of not second-rate opinion independent from one another or second, third and fourth opinions in surgical or medical matters. Find a different doctor who will really take an objective look at your case, without regard to ego, fear or time cost of over-reliance. (Buyout laws.)

WRIBED UP BY SANTA BARBARA: Dear Abby, I deserve no credit for blends for the headlines — they're either dreamed up by my syndicate editors or local editors.

Concerning second opinions: The Department of Health and Human Services offers you a booklet titled "Thinking About Surgery?" If you don't see your care about as considering any kind of surgery, educate yourself by writing to: Surgery, Department of HHS,

Dear Abby

Washington, D.C. 20201.

Dear Abby: I don't know why someone has written to you asking about this. We know that doctors are famous for being people wailing, but what about psychiatrists? Have you ever wailed around all day for a man to fix your dishwasher? He shows up at home late and tells you he was held up on another job. Has he never heard of the telephone?

Was told last week that a republican would be at my home between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. to fix my '78 Ford Escort. At 2:30 p.m. they did not show up.

He called the next day, telling me that because he was at my lower at 8 p.m. and probably was honest. A housewife's time is valuable too.

Please print this with a good answer; and I'll have a couple of dozen copies run off for pass around.

Tired or Waiting: Dear Abby: I've had only one service company in my town that can repair my dishwasher, you're at my mercy. Same with TV service. But if you have a choice, give a small business a break; the owners usually try harder to establish a reputation for dependable service.

Dear Abby: Will fiancee and I are planning our wedding for this year. I know it's customary for the bride to have her closest friend for her maid of honor, but Abby, my closest and dearest friend happens to be a man. My fiancee doesn't know him very well, but understands how much this man means to me, and he agrees that he should be a part of the wedding party.

He can't be both my best man because my fiancee's brother is going to be best man, so where would it be appropriate to put my friend in the wedding party?

Dear Abby: Your maid friend could be an usher or a groomsman, or instead of "maid" or "matron" of honor, he could be a "man of honor." A "best man" is a because, but it's your wedding and it doesn't hurt to bend the rules a bit to show love and respect for your dear friend.

Problem? Everybody has them. What are yours? Write to: Abby, P.O. Box 398223, Hollywood, Fla. 33023. Personal replies, please. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Orlando Area Home Building Permits Up

ORLANDO (UPI) — Single-family and multifamily housing construction permits in the Orlando area last month jumped more than 100 percent over the same period in 1962.

Permits for 861 single-family dwellings in Orange, Osceola and Brevard counties were up 105 percent in March 1963, builders told our permit on 433 single-family homes.

Multifamily building permits increased 107 percent from March 1962 to 542 in 1963. Builders' permitting figures released by the Orlando Area Chamber of Commerce Economic Development Department.

K-Mart Starts Life, Health Insurance

ORLANDO (UPI) — K-Mart Corp., the nation's second-largest retailer, has opened life and health insurance booths in five Florida stores as part of a new-market project.

The retail chain also opened insurance booths in 10 stores in the Dallas-Fort Worth, Texas, area. K-Mart officials said it sells go well in the Texas and Florida stores. Insurance booths will be opened in all 217 stores nationwide.

The Florida stores included in the test market are located in Daytona Beach, Margate, Orange Park, St. Petersburg and Fern Park. The spokesman said.

Red Ball Movers Give Discount To Elderly

MIAMI (UPI) — The American Red Ball Warehouse Movers has filed a 5 percent reduction in transportation costs for people 50 and older.

This is when children have out of college and people have more disposable income available to acquire a second home or to move into a condominium, said Elmer B. Ostermeyer, president of the Indianapolis-based carrier. All is an annual convention.

It also assures relief retired people on fixed incomes who want to relocate," he said.

American Red Ball was the first household goods carrier to offer a rate reduction for senior citizens following the deregulation of the moving industry.

Few Minorities On Big Company Boards

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A nationwide survey shows very few blacks and other minorities on corporate boards. The survey, conducted by the Urban League, shows that representation has declined dramatically since 1960. The group said minorities were on the boards of 21 percent of the companies surveyed in 1960 but were only on 12 percent of the boards in 1961 and 6.3 percent in 1962.

The group also found 44 percent of the 201 companies surveyed reported at least one woman on their boards. Whites outnumbered blacks by almost three to one.

Three-quarters of the industrial companies surveyed by Hay are in the Fortune 500, and many of the financial concerns surveyed also are among the largest of their kind. Hay says representation for black members has declined sharply since 1960. The survey showed compensation for outside members of boards of directors has almost doubled and the traditional pay gap between board members of industrial firms and those of financial institutions continued to close.

The survey found total compensation for outside board members last year averaged $21.16 in industrial companies and $15,553 in financial concerns.

The figures represent the average compensation for industrial directors, compared with 12.6 percent for the 1960-61 period, and a 7.8 percent rise for financials, down sharply from the 19.6 percent increase in 1960-61.

Industrial board members, who had been paid 61 percent more than their financial counterparts in 1976, received only 37 percent more for their services in 1962.

The average total compensation for board members, not counting chairman's fees, is $220,570 in financial institutions and $196,988 in industry.

Oil Firm's Earnings Drop

By United Press International

Occidental Petroleum Co., the nation's ninth largest company, Monday reported its first-quarter earnings dropped 72.1 percent from the same period last year as discontinued operations and lower oil profits.

DuPont Corp., the parent, had a 38 percent after-tax operating income from its energy divisions was down 33 percent in its first quarter from year-earlier, revenue down sharply from the 1962 period.

In the three months of 1963 Occidental earned $17.3 million vs. $62.1 million, or 42 cents a share, in the same period last year. Occidental's latest earnings fell far below preferred dividends of 16 cents a share, so there were no earnings per common share.

Revenue rose 10 percent from the same period last year. Occidental, which acquired Citic Service Co. in 1962, had an 86.5 million loss on discontinued operations in the latest period, reflecting losses from the sale of domestic exploration and production activities. Oil earnings fell because of weak demand and included lower gains from asset sales.

Occidental also had reduced profits from its refineries operations in New York. Refineries had a 10 percent loss. The company had a gain, however, on the sale of Zonolite Corp. Its chemical business, which benefited from lower raw material costs and cost reduction programs, had a 10 percent gain in the fourth quarter vs. a loss in 1962.

Oil and gas production rose 10 percent in the first quarter and production of oil and gas rose 10 percent in the first quarter from year-earlier, revenue down sharply from the 1962 period.

DuPont's oil earnings declined 11.3 percent to $26 million from $44 million.

Total revenues for DuPont's exploration, production, refining and marketing unit, net division rose to $4.9 million from $4.4 million.

Japanese Suppress Individuality

TOKYO (UPI) — Last April, 15-year-old Retsu Iwashi dropped her plans and fled her school and started going to a "crim school" on Sundays, leaving her school week to seven days.

If paid off on Feb. 14. She passed an all-day five-subject examination and got into the senior high school at the top of her class, one of four to which she had applied.

She was one of the lucky ones. Thirteen-year-old Aoko Yoshikawa wasn't facing an exam for a new school, just one marking the end of the school year. But combining with the death last year of his grandfather, it proved to be a year that would change the life of his grandchild.

"I did my best in this dear life, but it's no good," read the suicide note on the desk next to his chair. It was a middle schooler of Tokyo, where Aiko had hanged himself Feb. 22.

The suicides each year are an accepted part of the student scene in Japan.

More troubling this year has been a spate of violence including attacks on teachers at schools that draw the attention of everyone up to and including the prime minister and a wiper of newspaper and television specials.

"The boys and girls of Japan, garbed in blue uniforms, were carrying notebooks, but instead of books to have words, figures and facts stuffed into their heads in perhaps the most regimented school system in any of the industrialized nations.

Japanese students attend school 240 days a year, compared to 180 in the United States. Ninety-five percent graduate from high school, compared to about 75 percent in the United States.

Japanese students, known as "exam rats," have a reputation for their ability to do anything. Japanese children join teachers in helping clean the classroom. Educators say the purpose is to instill respect for manual labor.

The students listen to what the teacher says. They don't ask questions unless ordered to do so. They bow respectfully at the start and end of class.

And every few years they are tested to see which one they will enter for junior high school, high school, college. Even for kindergarten.

The ideal result is a well-informed, disciplined student, motivated by a legion of facts, spurrier of creativity or innovation in a homogeneous society — in what the bad that stands out gets hammered down."

The good students are also fodder for the factories of Japan, cops in the wheels that propel "Japan, Inc."

"The uniformly high quality of training provides Japan with an unexcelled supply of generally competent labor power prepared for company life and receptive to training in the specialized skills in the workplace."

Japan-watcher Ezra F. Vogel wrote in his book, "Japan as It Is."

But Vogel and others also have noted the absence of fun, the disregard of student creativity and the incredible pressure of the examination hell that causes student suicides every year.

The system takes its toll of the teachers, too. The number of educators committing suicide each year is increasing.

Last year the principal of a school in China prefecture, near Tokyo, committed suicide after leaving a note taking the blame for students who broke school windows and set fire in a school building.

The series of incidents was due to the lack of appropriate measures by the principal and a topologist.

Democratic Field Seems Complete

By Clay P. Richards
UPI Political Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic presidential primary of the New Hampshire primary, the only one for the Democratic presidential race appears set — four senators, a former vice president and an ex-governor.

Sen. Edward Kennedy could be the front-runner, but he has not made any public statement. Sen. Gary Hart — The Colorado lawmaker who ran George McGovern's 1972 presidential campaign in Massachusetts, he can raise the money he needs, and is becoming increasingly popular among voters for his emphasis on the nuclear freeze issue. Despite being a sprinter, he looks his 68 years, and that is a liability he cannot overcome.

Sen. Ernest Hollings — The South Carolina senator is looking a little better than he might be. Much of what he says is scurrilous and more than others he offers a fresh approach to the issues, often more moderate than the others. But the southern drawl evokes memories of Carter.

Reubin Askew — The former governor of Florida has done one of his best runs in Ohio is pursuing a quiet career of turning on the same grass roots, midwestern American vote that elected Dwight

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Sexually active male and female teenagers have their first sexual intercourse at an average age of 16, says a study by a team of researchers at Johns Hopkins University.

A study by the university showed that 25 percent of females and 15 to 19 and 80 percent of males ages 15 to 21 have had premarital sex. Of those, the males had their first sexual intercourse at an average age of 15.7, and the girls at an average age of 16.7, the study said.

And every few years they are tested to see which one they will enter for junior high school, high school, college. Even for kindergarten.
