Threatened Suicide, Requested Isolation

Teenage Inmate Who Hanged Himself Feared Jail Rape

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Although a 17-year-old murder suspect who hanged himself in the Seminole County jail Aug. 27 threatened suicide and repeatedly asked jail officials to be put into isolation, away from other juvenile inmates who harassed and threatened him, state prison officials, in an investigation concluded last week, found no fault in the care and treatment given the boy by jail officials, except for the four guards who were fired for neglect of duty in the case on Sept. 4.

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk, who fired the guards who were on duty the night Edwin Paul Bateman of Forest City hanged himself in his single-man cell, said today that neither he nor

Department of Corrections investigators found fault with the treatment by jail officials of Bateman while he was an inmate, other than the neglect of duty by those four guards.

The state investigators also concluded that the lighting in the cell area was adequate for Bateman to have been seen by guards as he lay hanging by a sheet attached to his neck, which was tied to a table-high shelf in the cell. At least one guard had claimed that lights were turned out in the cell block and the inmates could not be seen, even if the check on the juvenile prisoners had been made every 15 minutes, as required by Polk and the state.

Polk fired the guards for failing to make the checks and for falsifying a log which reported the checks were made. Bateman was dead for about four hours before another guard bringing food into his cell block at about 6 a.m. Aug. 27 found his body after another inmate yelled out "Bateman."

Included in the state report is a suicide note found in Bateman's cell, along with statements from other juvenile inmates saying he had threatened to kill himself. That initial suicide threat was reported to jail officials July 30 and Bateman was evaluated by a psychologist who recommended he be returned to his cell and not kept on suicide watch, which he had been assigned to for a few hours.

On suicide watch prisoners are isolated and are checked every 15 minutes. The juveniles at the jail are also to be routinely checked every 15 minutes, officials say.

The psychologist reported seeing Bateman Aug. 4, 7, 8, 15 and 25. On the 25th the psychologist wrote that Bateman was "worried about losing his confidence," but was not depressed as he had been in earlier meetings. The psychologist wrote that on Aug. 4 Bateman called himself dumb and said his smile was his con, but it wasn't working as it had in the past.

Before his suicide Bateman is said to have whistled taps, the military funeral song, and he also fought off the usual advance of another juvenile the day before he died. Other inmates told him he could expect to be raped in state

Grand Jury Indicts Man In Murder

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford man was indicted Monday on charges of first-degree murder and kidnapping in connection with the shooting death in August of a Sanford woman.

Indicted by a Seminole County grand jury was Willie Edward McCloud, 32, of 2570-D Park Place Apartments. Killed was Marie Hamilton Smith, 69, of 2025 Jones Ave.

Smith's body was found 7:20 a.m. Aug. 14 in a parked, 4-door Buick on the shoulder of State Road 414 just east of State Road 434. Less than 12 hours later, McCloud was arrested in connection with the case.

According to police reports, just before 7:20 a.m. on the 14th, an unidentified woman bicyclist stopped at a convenience store and told a deputy there was a woman in a car nearby and she looked hurt. The deputy investigated and found Smith in her car in the passenger seat. The front of her blouse appeared to have blood on it. An autopsy would later show that she had been shot.

A homicide investigation was started by police in Altamonte Springs, the city where the car was located. A day earlier a missing person report had been filed by Smith's brother describing the woman and her vehicle.

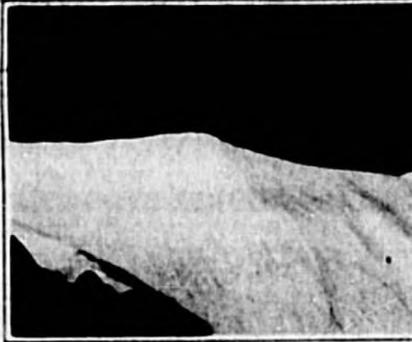

In the car, police found an eviction notice with McCloud's name on it and spent .38-caliber bullets. Tracing the notice and using descriptions given them by Smith's brother, police located McCloud's girlfriend.

She told police she owned a .38-caliber handgun and the last time she looked at it, two weeks earlier, it was loaded. She got it for the officers. It was empty. Police questioned McCloud, then took him into custody.

Police believe after interrogating McCloud that Smith picked him up the day before her car was found. They believe he ordered her to drive him to a VA hospital in St. Petersburg. Once at the hospital, they believe he took the car keys and spent several hours at the hospital, ordering her to stay with the car or be harmed. Police believe he then returned to the car and he and the woman drove back toward Sanford.

Near the Maitland interchange, the woman may have told McCloud she was going to tell the

Sanford, Longwood Adopt City Budgets

Longwood Votes 3-2 For Adoption

By Jane Caselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood's $8.95 million 1987-88 fiscal year budget was adopted Monday night in a 3-2 vote. Commissioners Dave Gunter and Lynette Dennis voted against the budget, which is effective Oct. 1, in protest. The tax rate of $3.15 per $1,000 assessed property value passed unanimously, however.

Voting to adopt the budget were Mayor Ed Myers, Deputy Mayor June Lormann and Commissioner Harvey Smerlison.

Gunter told the Herald two weeks ago that he felt compelled to vote against the budget without an accounting of public funds in the local Police Benevolent Association and SWAT Team Fund accounts. He said, "These funds should definitely be looked at. The commission is responsible and they don't even care about the responsibility."

Gunter also objected to salaries paid members of the Land Planning Agency and the city's agreement to pay Police Chief Greg Manning to use his own car instead of a city car.

Dennis said her reason for voting against the budget was salary increases for city employees included in the $4.5

Sanford Budget Vote Unanimous

By Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford City Commission Monday night unanimously approved the city's budget for 1987-88 by a 4-0 vote. City Commissioner John Mercer, who is on vacation, was not present at the meeting. The budget goes into effect Thursday, the beginning of the city's fiscal year.

There was no one at the final public hearing to speak in opposition to the budget. The only public input on the budget came at the first hearing on Sept.

14. At that hearing, one taxpayer questioned the need to raise the tax rate.

The budget calls for a tax rate of $4.85 per $1,000 assessed valuation, which will generate $2.3 million based on an estimated $489.5 million tax base for 1987-88. The current property tax rate in Sanford is $4.16 per $1,000 assessed valuation and generates $1.8 million based on the existing $456.2 million tax base. For a home appraised at $100,000, property taxes will go from $312 to $363, taking the $25,000 homestead exemption into consideration.

The tax base projection for the coming year is just an estimate. City Manager Frank Falson said. It includes new

Animal Control Chief Fired, Department Head Resigns

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

One of the Seminole County animal control officers suspended by County Administrator Ken Hooper last week was fired Monday and the other resigned.

Hooper said Bob Young, who became head of the department last year, resigned rather than be disciplined. David Murray, chief animal control officer, was fired after he refused to resign.

Hooper suspended both men last week after he started an investigation of allegations from the department's advisory board of animal cruelty and mismanagement. Murray, who denied any wrongdoing, said he will appeal his dismissal to the county's personnel board.

Hooper said his investigation found no evidence of intentional cruelty to animals, but said some mistreatment evidently occurred when struggling animals were being restrained to give them lethal injections. The injections are administered to ill or unwanted animals.

Hooper said Young and Murray were removed from the department because of

Sex Education Survey Planned

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Parents of some Seminole County school children may be getting surveys in the mail later this year asking them what topics they think are appropriate for use in the instruction of sex education for district students.

The Curriculum Advisory Council of the Seminole County School Board has begun a plan to develop a survey it wants to send to parents of 10 percent of the students in the district on a random basis. The parents surveyed would be selected by the school district's data processing system.

Jim Dawson, coordinator of physical, health and driver education for Seminole schools, said the council hopes to use the results of the survey to help plan a definite sex education curriculum for the school system.

The school district now offers information on three topics relating to sex education, according to Karen Coleman, Seminole schools spokeswoman. Fifth grade girls and boys are separately shown media material on what happens to the male and female body as it gets older. Seventh graders receive two weeks of instruction in sexually transmitted diseases as part of their science class. Other sex education related discussions are part of the curriculum in the life management skills and biology courses taught in county high schools.

Dawson said the survey is a starting point from which the council hopes to make recommendations for the development of fixed sex education curriculum. "Currently we have no clear guidelines on the subject in the district," Dawson said. "Board policy is very vague on it."

The survey is being modeled after a similar one conducted by the national Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity earlier this year. Dawson said the survey includes a list of topics in the area of

Rain Went Away, What Can We Say

Based on great meteorological prowess, intrepid weather prognosticators indicated that rain would fall yesterday, today and tomorrow. Readers would have drawn the conclusion that that prediction was for Seminole County since it was so implied.

Wrong! It rained in Oklahoma instead, Texas, also.

In fact, Miami got a waterspout. And a similar air to water disturbance bounced an Eastern airliner so badly that about 40 people suffered varying degrees of injuries. Had to land in Bermuda.

Farmer's Almanac indicates that these days will be wetter than usual. Yea, sure. Wetter than the drought last spring. Oh well, there is the possibility of late afternoon showers. Temperatures will be tepid with the humidity in the 80s and 90s. No you know how to interpret weather-talk. So go with us now to the land where it is wet.

Texas and Oklahoma bailed out from flooding caused by storms that dumped up to 12 inches of rain in one spot, but more soggy weather was forecast along a cold front stretching to the Great Lakes.

"Most of the rain will be over the southern part Texas," said Hugh Crowther of the National Weather Service. "The areas that got a lot of rain yesterday will be getting some more water today."

"The (cold) front will cut across the nation but the temperatures shouldn't be that far below normal. Around the Great Lakes, there'll be some cooler temperatures but the real effects of the front will be the rain," he said.

Working in rain Monday, Austin, Texas, city workers restored electricity to the last of some 1,600 homes that lost power during a violent thunderstorm the day before. That storm blew down trees and utility lines, damaged houses and airplanes and caused 150 traffic accidents, authorities said.

Some 6 inches of rain fell Monday over parts of Montgomery, Harris and Galveston counties, prompting the weather service to issue flash flood watches. Flash flood watches were also called for Robertson, Leon, Madison, Brazos, Milam and Burleson counties.

In Oklahoma, the Chikaskia River flowed across U.S. 177 north of Blackwell Monday before cresting at 32.7 feet. Flood stage is 26 feet. Other roadways around Blackwell and Ponca City were closed as families in rural areas voluntarily left their homes.

Some of the heavier rainfall totals reported in north central Oklahoma included 12 inches at Renfrow, 10 inches at Newkirk, 9.2 inches at Ramona and 9 inches at Waukita. Authorities said the floodwaters caused no major damage in the communities.

"It's not really too bad. We had some streets flooded. (The authorities are) still working on it," said Newkirk police Officer Tom Jones. "We've got two flooded streets downtown, but nothing up in the businesses."

The rain-swollen Chikaskia River brought minor flooding in south central Kansas Monday. The river crested a foot and a half above flood stage at Corbin.

Showers and thunderstorms plagued the Carolinas through Georgia into Florida. A waterspout, which is a tornado on water, moved on shore in the Biscayne Bay, Fla., area but no damage was reported.

The eastern part of the nation experienced partly cloudy skies and unseasonably warm temperatures Monday with highs ranging around 80.

School Board Eyes Land Buy

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School District has arranged to purchase more than 22 acres across the street from Jackson Heights Middle School that administrators hope will provide for more parking facilities and physical education classes.

The Oviedo school, which serves sixth, seventh and eighth graders, is located on 40 acres adjacent to Academy Drive, but the figure is deceptive, said Benny Arnold, assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation.

"The site the school is located on is very confined because only approximately 15 of the 44 acres is usable, the rest being in swamps and wetlands," Arnold said.

Arnold asked Supt. Robert W. Hughes to recommend approval of the purchase at the school board meeting Wednesday at 3 p.m. The closing date for the sale of the property by W.H. Martin and Evans Groves, Inc. to the school board is scheduled for Oct. 18. Martin owns 10 of the acres and Evans Groves Inc., the remaining 12.

Bobby Rainey, Jackson Heights Middle School principal, said the land is the biggest individual physical need the school has right now. "The most significant thing is we need it (the 22 acres) desperately," Rainey said.

He said Jackson Heights, with 1,185 students, is one of the fastest growing secondary schools in the county. "We're extremely overcrowded from a land standpoint," he said.

Rainey said he's using every available room in the school for every purpose under the sun. "I need five additional portables right now," he said. The school already has eight portable classrooms for its students.

Even if the school had gotten more portables, it still would have faced the problem of losing physical education space to the portables. With the new land, the school will be able to move P.E. activities away from areas needed for classrooms. "There's no physical way we could expand on our existing school property," Rainey said.

The school's future new property is across the street, Arnold said. Both he and Rainey said all school facilities and buildings would be kept on the same side of the street the school is now on.

Rainey said the purchase of the land will be a big help in the school's parking problem. "Right now some of our staff are having to park on the street."

The property is the only choice the school district has in its attempt to relieve the growth and crowding situation at the school, Arnold said. "In lieu of the fact that's all there is in the way of purchases, we have to go with it," he said.

Death Toll Exceeds 100

MEDELLIN, Colombia (UPI) — Rescue workers shoveled through tons of mud and debris today, working "under dark clouds of death" in a search for more victims of a mud slide that buried a hillside of squatters' huts.

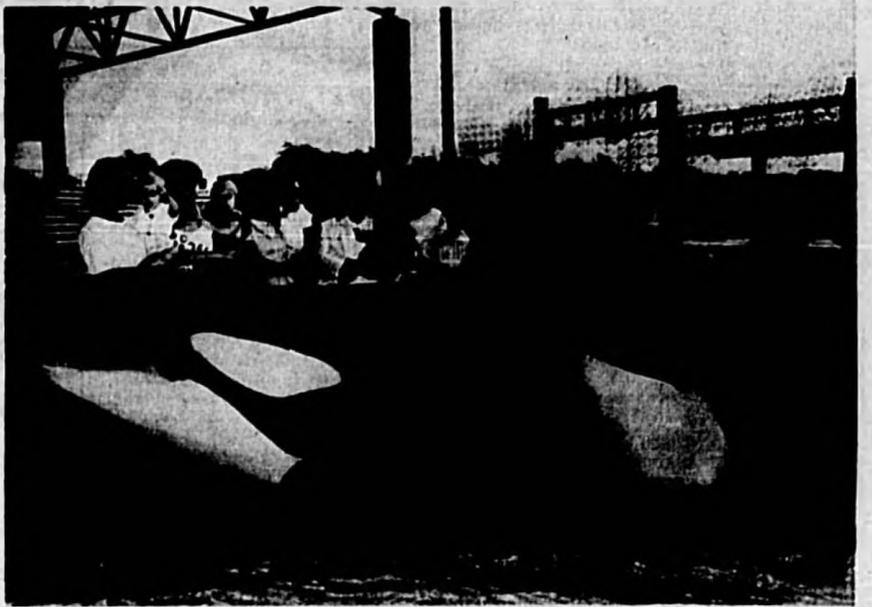

Rescue workers have recovered 107 bodies from Sunday's mud slide and another 80 people have been hospitalized, Medellin Mayor William Jaramillo said.

"According to calculation by survivors, the final death toll could reach 300 since an average of five persons lived in each of the 80 shanties buried under the mudslide," Jaramillo said.

Civil Defense and Red Cross sources earlier said the final death toll may surpass 150 people.

Among the bodies recovered were those of 35 children attending a holy communion party, a Civil Defense spokesman told United Press International.

"What we are most worried about now is another landslide next to the area on Sugar Loaf Peak that collapsed on the squatters area called Vailla Tina," Civil Defense coordinator Fernando Ramirez said.

From Cabinet To White House

U.S. Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole has resolved her conflict between job and marriage. She's opted for the marriage. Does that mean the Reagan administration's best-known female official plans to tend the home fires? Hardly. She'll be out on the hustings, running for first lady.

Her husband, Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., is a top presidential contender, and it's no surprise that his wife left her Cabinet post to help him with his bid to move into the White House. Her decision isn't likely to hurt either the senator or the U.S. Transportation Department. Dole's record suggests her political acumen far exceeds her administrative accomplishments.

Liddy Dole, of course, is no lightweight. She is an energetic Harvard-educated lawyer, who has held a variety of government positions, ranging from consumer advocate in the Johnson administration to federal trade commissioner during Nixon's presidency. Her detractors, though, say that she has used her charm and good looks to snow an image-conscious Washington society.

Her policy positions are skin-deep, they complain, and change according to the prevailing politics of whoever is in the White House. In the Reagan administration, she has become a feminine power symbol. The symbol was nurtured at a cost. Dole evolved from the nation's safety secretary into its popularity secretary. The 6,000 speaking invitations a year she received, and her guest appearances on the Washington circuit, surely must have distracted her from her transportation duties.

Dole's endurance, her ability to say what's politically right, her organizational skills and her image as a powerful yet feminine Republican figure may well boost her husband's presidential campaign. Some Republicans even talk of her as Dole's vice-presidential candidate. A Dole-Dole ticket, the ultimate glamour couple.

Beyond the glitz is the grittier reality of a Transportation Department in dire need of leadership. Dole may have lobbied for airbags in cars, but she also leaves a legacy of turbulence in the airline industry, and inadequate air traffic-control system and weak action to correct car, bus and truck defects. The agency needs to be run by a professional for the rest of President Reagan's term - someone more interested in transportation safety than in photo opportunities.

Gipper's Quipper

Now that he has settled into the job, the current White House spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater, is showing a somewhat surprising gift for the apt quip. A couple of recent quotes give the flavor of his remarks.

Fitzwater was asked if there was any reaction to the news that Daniel Ortega of Nicaragua was planning a trip to Moscow for the anniversary of the Russian Revolution in November, about the same time that the Central American peace plan would have its acid test deadline.

"Back to the homeland," fired off Fitzwater, disposing of the subject in minimal time, while underlining communist Ortega's made-in-Moscow government style.

The following day the press wanted reaction to a report from three Democratic congressmen that the huge Soviet radar installation at Krasnoyarsk in the far interior does not violate the 1972 ABM treaty, though experts consider it a forbidden battle management ABM defense radar, not an early warning one.

"The basic fact is, we consider it a violation, period," Fitzwater responded. "They didn't build it to show drive-in movies."

But what about the claim of three members of Congress that while the purpose is unclear, the radar has not been turned on and so there is no violation?

"This is a difference without a difference," he replied. "You don't build a structure like that out in the middle of Siberia with the idea of making a tourist attraction out of it. You build it to turn it on."

Fitzwater could prove too slipshod for some tastes, but it's nice for now to have a White House spokesman who echoes the joy of living that the injured James Brady exhibited when the administration started.

Why Professional Politicians Self-Destruct?

By Arnold Sawalsh
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Why do they do these things?

Both Gary Hart and Joe Biden are experienced public figures who knew very well that people who run for president are going to have their private lives examined under a media microscope.

It happened to Hart himself and to Geraldine Ferraro in 1984; it has happened to Ted Kennedy every time since 1972 that he even hinted he was interested in seeking the White House.

When it happened to Hart and Biden this year, they should not have been surprised.

Hart, confronted with the long-standing Washington whispers about his private life, literally invited the press to investigate him. Biden basked in his high-profile position as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee and in his reputation as a forceful, charismatic speaker. That the media and rival candidates would pay more than passing attention to his legal education and to the content of his speeches should have been expected.

Yet both men crawled boldly out on limbs that simply begged to be sawed off.

Why? There was considerable amount of amateur psychoanalysis about Hart, including the theory he was unconsciously begging for help by inviting exposure.

Here is another suggestion, based more on observation than scientific inquiry, that might help explain why politicians, not restricted to Hart and Biden, seem to walk open-eyed into pits of their own digging.

Politicians, young or old, Democrat or Republican, seem to share one characteristic: massive, armor-plated egos that make it possible for them to stand up before perfect strangers, announce they have solutions to everyone's problems and confidently expect not only to be believed but to be rewarded by election to public office.

In this unquenchable thirst for approval and applause, politicians resemble actors. But most people who make a living in the professional theater can separate the make-believe of their jobs from the reality of their lives. Politicians, especially those who have had an early run of success, often cannot discern the line.

Teri Calabrese came to a congressman's staff some years back after working for a Hollywood producer. After a few months of watching the political species at work and play, she observed, "In Hollywood, when they're finished work, actors relax and behave like themselves. Here, everybody is on stage every moment."

The political ego often is accentuated by feelings of omniscience and ayatollah-class self-righteousness. While many professional politicians pride themselves on the ability to "disagree without being disagreeable," some of our best-known officeholders are so convinced that they alone possess the revealed truth that they see all opponents in the role of Devil's agents.

This makes for a "them and us" mentality that, like the role-playing noted above, can distort reality. People in that frame of mind tend to really believe that, being on the side of the angels, they can do no wrong.

Felled By Dirty Tricks?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Democratic Party officials are frantically trying to assess the damage that has been caused by the back-to-back withdrawals of Gary Hart and Joe Biden.

To say the very least, party professionals are not happy. Some believe what has happened over the last months points up a weakness in the current nominating process, while others deny what they see as a progressively more vicious campaign between the remaining candidates.

One source, who asked not to be identified, said, "I can't remember in 25 years of presidential primary politics a climate as nasty as this one is becoming."

Questions still linger over exactly how details of Hart's extramarital affairs and Biden's plagiarizing and law school problems found their way into the public press.

Many insiders still think that a political dirty trickster told the Miami Herald that Donna Rice was on her way to Washington to spend the weekend with Hart.

Apparently Rice herself did not keep the situation a secret; she bragged to a number of her friends about her weekend plans. Since the Herald says its tip came through telephone call from a woman, the supposition is that one of those friends blew the whistle. But the question being asked is whether that "friend" might have had ties to one of Hart's political rivals.

One rumor making the rounds here is that Rice's friend Lynn Armandi — who was aboard the yacht "Monkey Business" on the trip to Bimini and who accompanied Rice on her trip to Washington — is linked to a prominent Democratic campaign consultant with ties, ironically, to the Biden campaign.

The consultant denies the story — and denies that he has ever met Armandi — but the fact that the rumor is in such wide circulation shows the extent of mistrust between competing Democrats.

There is little doubt that Biden's downfall was orchestrated by one of his opponents. A professionally edited videotape showed up on the desk of a Des Moines Register political reporter, matching Biden's stump speech with one given by British Labor Party leader Neil Kinnock. It showed clearly that Biden had borrowed liberally from Kinnock's speech without attribution.

The NRC's Gulag Archipelago

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — How do you tell the Nuclear Regulatory Commission from the Gulag Archipelago? Sometimes it isn't easy.

Three well-intentioned NRC employees testified before a Senate committee last April about problems in the agency, which regulates nuclear power plants. One was subsequently ordered to meet with a psychologist and the other two were referred to the Justice Department for possible prosecution on allegations that they had lied under oath.

Despite this Soviet-style response to criticism by the workers, NRC officials insist that there was nothing retaliatory in their treatment of the three "disidents."

Shannon Phillips was the one who was ordered to see a psychologist. Phillips testified to a committee headed by Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, that he had made a highly critical report on the Comanche Peak nuclear power plant near Dallas, where he was chief resident in-

Good Guys Score 1

Attorney General Edwin Meese and a lot of anonymous American agents in the eastern Mediterranean deserve a 21-gun salute for their recent capture of a Lebanese hijacker, who will now stand trial in the United States.

Every time an airliner is hijacked by the usual suspects, or an American is kidnapped in the Middle East, a lot of Americans who ought to know better suddenly lose their minds. President Reagan and his administration are denounced furiously for "doing nothing," and all sorts of actions are proposed, many of them impossible, most of them ineffective, and all of them unwise.

President Reagan, being human, is not totally immune to such pressures, and they undoubtedly played a large part in his secret effort to enlist Iran's help in freeing our hostages in Lebanon — an effort that many of the above-mentioned critics have, of course, coolly condemned in the cold, clear light of hindsight.

At bottom, however, the Reagan administration knows that revenge in these matters is a dish best eaten cold. Over the years I have been at some pains to inquire from time to time, in appropriate quarters, as to whether steps were indeed being taken to track down and prosecute those who have kidnapped, hijacked and otherwise tormented Americans abroad. I have always been assured that the matter was very definitely being pursued, though it was, of course, a lengthy, complicated and stealthy business.

Now it begins to appear, not only that it was being pursued, but that we are getting somewhere. Early this year American intelligence agents discovered that Mohammed Ali Hamadei, one of the hijackers who seized TWA 847 in June 1985 and murdered an American passenger, Robert Stethem, in cold blood, was visiting his girlfriend in West Germany. They notified the German authorities, who promptly arrested him and will prosecute him.

Our Justice Department tried strenuously to extradite him to this country, but this bid was thwarted when Hamadei's friends in Beirut kidnapped two German businessmen and threatened to kill them if he was turned over to the United States. Even so, Hamadei presumably faces a long prison term in Germany.

Then, just a couple of weeks ago, American intelligence agents struck again. Fawaz Younis is smaller fry than Hamadei, but he was one of several Lebanese Shittes who hijacked a Jordanian airliner in 1985 and forced it to fly all around the eastern Mediterranean with 70 innocent passengers (including four Americans) aboard, before escaping themselves under a hail of bullets in Beirut.

But the Justice Department hadn't forgotten about Younis. A couple of weeks ago U.S. agents, apparently posing as drug smugglers and willing women, lured him aboard a yacht in international waters somewhere in the eastern Mediterranean. There he was promptly arrested and quickly transferred to the carrier Saratoga, whence he was flown direct to this country, thus avoiding any legal complications of the German variety. He will stand trial — and serve time — here for his crimes.

Academic Pursuit: Shopping

By Eileen Doh

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nobody ever said shopping for clothes was easy.

But a new study on personality and shopping gives credence to the notion that the process can play havoc with an insecure psyche.

Miriam Tatzel, a professor of social psychology at Empire State College, told a recent meeting of the American Psychological Association that she studied 73 adults of differing sex, age and buying power to try to understand the "enduring differences" in the clothes shopping experience. Her report is one of the first to identify anxiety in the shopping experience.

"I got interested in the shopping experience by thinking about stores as public places for women," Tatzel said.

"Then I started to focus on apparel shopping as an activity in itself for both men and women. I wondered how it related to sense of self and the sense of one's body."

Tatzel identifies skill and motivation as key factors in shopping, with the concept of motivation referring to both the need for clothes and pleasure in the process of shopping.

The truly "anxious shopper" is motivated by a yearning to shop, but is frustrated by lack of skill. About 25 percent of shoppers experience consistent discomfort during the shopping experience, Tatzel said, and most consumers experience anxiety at some time.

Typically, the anxious shopper is plagued by feelings of impending failure during the shopping episode. Garments meld together in a jumble of color, shape and style. No decision seems right.

For many an anxious shopper, the study found, feelings of inadequacy are linked to body difficulty — a hard-to-fit body, the need to lose weight or general poor body image.

Here, the store environment threatens self-esteem, the shopper cringes at the idea of emerging from a try-on room in new garb and preening in front of a mirror before strangers.

"There is an image of the proverbial woman who goes out to buy a hat when she is depressed, but for many women and men that same process would make them even more upset," Tatzel said.

The psychologist says stores could do more to make customers feel comfortable.

few weeks after it was written. We were unable to reach Hayes before going to press.

George Mulley was the investigator assigned to look into Phillips' complaint about the Arlington office. He told Glenn that he wrote a critical report on management problems there, and that his report, like Phillips' before it, was heavily edited before being released.

Sharon Connelly, chief of investigations and audit at the NRC, was the official who sent the allegations against Mulley to the Justice Department for possible perjury prosecution. Through an agency spokesman, Connelly would not say what it was in Mulley's Senate testimony that prompted her action.

Mulley said he stands by every word of his testimony, but refused further comment.

Footnote: NRC sources said Glenn has demanded an explanation from the agency of its treatment of Phillips. Hayes and Mulley, Glenn's staff would not show us the letter.

IN BRIEF

Birds in B-1 Engines Cause Plane Crash; 3 Killed, 3 Injured

LA JUNTA, Colo. (UPI) — Birds sucked into the engines of a B-1B bomber on a simulated raid sent it crashing into an eastern Colorado mesa, killing three of the six crewmen aboard a $280-million warplane that, despite past design problems, remains the Air Force's replacement for the aging B-52.

Just seconds after a crewman radioed "multiple bird strikes" had hit what the Air Force calls "the brow plant in the world," the gray-green bomber crashed and burned Monday morning about 4 miles southeast of La Junta.

Three of the bomber's six crew members parachuted to safety and were picked up by a La Junta police officer, but three other officers were killed as the military's newest operational long-range bomber went down in flames.

Since its deployment Oct. 1, 1985, the B-1B has been plagued by leaky fuel tanks in its wings, problems with its defensive radar and unreliable terrain hugging radar, which is considered vital to its ability to penetrate enemy airspace undetected.

Court: Schools Desegregated

BOSTON (UPI) — A federal appeals court ruling declaring the public schools officially desegregated ends a "sad chapter" in city history, but does not mean 13 years of court-ordered busing has brought racial balance to all schools, officials said.

The 1st U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals declared Monday that the public school system was desegregated, although it identified 13 schools as still "racially identifiable" — having more than 80 percent of students of one race.

The ruling allows the federal judge who approved student school assignments for 13 years to remove himself from the landmark case that led to the mobilization of the National Guard to quell school violence and came to dramatize racial tensions in the North.

Bork's Watergate Role Queried

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With a vote on Robert Bork's Supreme Court nomination now delayed for the near future, senators settled in for their second trip to the recent past of Watergate in an 11th round of his confirmation hearings today.

The question of Bork's role in the Watergate "Saturday Night Massacre" is one of the issues that has charged his nomination with all the "characteristics of an election," in the words of Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd.

Byrd, of West Virginia, emerged Monday from his previously low-key stance on Bork to reveal that he had advised his colleagues on the Judiciary Committee to conclude the hearings by sending the nomination to the Senate floor without a recommendation, allowing more time for appeals to undecided lawmakers.

Jury Awards Model 'Millions'

NEW YORK (UPI) — A jury awarded model Maria Hanson $78 million in damages for the razor attack that left her face scarred, but it is unclear if she will ever be able to collect the money from her attackers.

Jurors who made the award Monday said they wanted to send a message that the people in New York City "value the health and safety of its citizens."

Hanson, 28, may have trouble collecting from her two attackers and the man convicted of hiring them. Although they did not contest the suit she filed against them, all claim they have no money to give her.

But "money isn't the important thing," Hanson said outside state Supreme Court in Manhattan. "The statement was enough."

Sought Man Thought Not Linked To Slaying

Look-alike, Threat Cloud Priest's Murder

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A 25-year-old Orlando man who is on the Orange County Sheriff's Department "10 most wanted" list as a suspect in a robbery which occurred three days after the Orange County murder of a Brevard County priest on Sept. 23, 1986, is still being sought in connection with the robbery.

But an Orange County sheriff's spokesman said the man is not a suspect in the murder of the Rev. Louis Bamundo, although the robber referred to the Bamundo's killing during the robbery and looks like the man who is on trial for the priest's murder.

The man sought in the robbery of the Kaley Adult News store, 2012 S. Orange Blossom Trail, Orlando, a few doors away from where the Bamundo's body was found, was arrested by Altamonte Springs police Oct. 5, 1986. That man, Timothy Howard, was charged with resisting arrest without violence and criminal mischief outside an Altamonte Springs bar.

Howard was released from the Seminole County jail Oct. 14, 1986. He did not have to post bond and failed to make a follow-up court appearance.

During the Orange County robbery, the thief allegedly told the store clerk, "Hurry

Feclakonin

up, or I'll do to you what I did to the priest."

Seminole County jail administrator Capt. Jay Leman said Monday that Altamonte Springs police checked with an Orange County detective on the morning of Howard's arrest to see if he was wanted for questioning in Orange County. They were told he was wanted in connection with the robbery. But an Orange County detective told them he was not assigned to the case and said Seminole County lawmen should check for a warrant through the Orange County sheriff's computer system.

Such a check was made twice by Seminole County, Leman said, and there was no report of Howard being wanted in Orange County, so he was released in Seminole County. A few days after the release, Leman said, Orange County lawmen contacted Seminole County officials and said they wanted to question Howard. It was too late. He had been released from jail, Leman said.

Howard is said to be a look-alike for David Michael Feclakonin, 24, of Delray Beach. Feclakonin is scheduled to be tried this week in Orange County on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the killing of Father Louis Bamundo, of Titusville.

Although Feclakonin's public defender says Howard is the real murderer of Bamundo, whose stabbed body was found in the sexually-oriented area of the South Orange Blossom Trail, where Bamundo reportedly frequented homosexual hangouts, Orange County sheriff's spokesman Jim Solomons said Monday that sheriff's investigators do not consider Howard to be a suspect in the murder of Bamundo.

Howard is wanted in Orange County in connection with the book store robbery and other robberies. He is considered dangerous, Solomons said, and is one of the 10 most wanted criminal suspects in Orange County.

Book Alleges That Reagan OK'd CIA Assassinations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan "never did, never has, never will" authorize assassinations, his spokesman said Monday in seeking to repudiate an explosive new book on the CIA by Washington Post editor Bob Woodward.

Spokesman Marlin Fitzwater refused to comment on most of the revelations in the new book, "Veil: The Secret Wars of the CIA, 1981-1987," Woodward's research included four dozen interviews with CIA Director William Casey.

Woodward writes that Reagan signed a national security decision directive authorizing the spy agency to set up anti-terrorist hit squads in Lebanon that could strike pre-emptively.

With that, Woodward says, Casey solicited help from Saudi Arabia, which then financed an effort to assassinate the head of Sheik Mohammed Hussein Fadlallah, the leader of the radical Hezbollah (Party of God), who was suspected of directing terrorist attacks on U.S. facilities in Lebanon.

A car bomb was set off March 8, 1985, in the attempt to kill Fadlallah. He escaped injury but 80 other people were killed and 200 were wounded.

Woodward writes that career CIA officials opposed agency involvement in such activities, but Secretary of State George Shultz backed Casey in winning Reagan's support.

Fitzwater said Monday: "The president never did, never has, never will authorize assassinations. Indeed, he has an executive order against it."

Fitzwater refused to disclose the subject or details of the national security decision directive Reagan signed and, "I won't comment on most of the book. I won't comment on intelligence matters."

Asked if Reagan was ever briefed on the March 1985 bombing, Fitzwater refused comment: "We won't go into it. We won't say what he authorized. We just aren't going into all those cases."

Reagan has been unavailable for questions about the Woodward book.

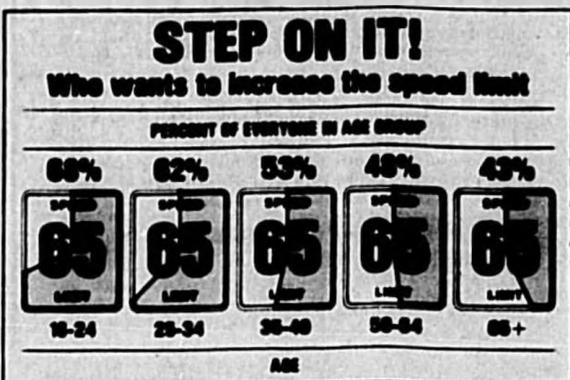

Fitzwater, in a job at "Veil," said, "Ben Bradlee (executive editor of The Washington Post) is in charge of publicizing the book. I'm not going into it."

But he also said, "Mrs. Casey has answered rather eloquently."

Sunday night, Sophia Casey, the CIA director's wife, charged that Woodward — as he recounts in the book's conclusion — never got into Casey's room at Georgetown University Hospital earlier this year.

"It's a lie," Mrs. Casey said. Woodward writes that in that last interview, a dying Casey acknowledged that he knew from the start about the diversion of Iran arms-sales profits to the Nicaraguan rebels.

Casey resigned as CIA director Feb. 2; he died May 6. Fitzwater was unable to provide details of how Casey's resignation was obtained when Attorney General Edwin Meese and White House chief of staff Donald Regan went to see him, but would only say Mrs. Casey signed the resignation letter.

"I don't know if they (the administration officials) ever had a conversation," he said, acknowledging that he was "gravely ill."

To dismiss further questions about "Veil," Fitzwater said, "That's history."

Schroeder Announces Nominational No-Go

DENVER (UPI) — Rep. Patricia Schroeder, her voice breaking with emotion and dabbing tears from her eyes, announced Monday she will not seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1988.

"We rubbed two sticks together and we started a political brushfire," Schroeder told supporters in reference to her exploratory campaign that took her across the country and sparked surprisingly powerful grassroots support.

But, amid reports she had not reached her money goals, the momentum was apparently not up to Schroeder's own expectations and she decided against a try at being the first woman from a major political party to be nominated for president.

Schroeder, her chin quivering and voice halting to hold back tears, said she has learned a lot about America and herself during her travels across the nation and that knowledge led her to decide not to run.

She said she had learned "Americans are ready for leaders who tell the truth." They are "ready for a rendezvous with reality."

Recent polls have shown Schroeder third among the announced and unannounced Democratic candidates.

Sources close to her exploratory campaign effort said the Colorado Democratic made her decision after consulting with her family and advisers over the weekend.

Since June, Schroeder has traveled 75,000 miles crisscrossing the country to determine whether she had the support necessary to mount a campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Although grassroots support was strong, Schroeder was only able to raise about $1 million in the last four months.

"There was no question that the polling data was encouraging,"

WORLD IN BRIEF

Britain Joins In Task Of Ridding Persian Gulf Of Iranian Mines

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — British mine sweepers began operations in the Persian Gulf hours after the discovery of a suspected Iranian minefield in a busy sea lane off the coast of the United Arab Emirates, British and U.S. sources said.

A Ministry of Defense spokesman in London said hunt-class Royal Navy mine sweepers were operating Monday in the gulf for the first time but gave no details. Shipping sources said they were clearing a narrow international seaway between Dubai and an Iranian Revolutionary Guard base at Abu Musa Island.

The mine sweepers began operations after shipping sources reported the U.S. Navy early Monday found mines in a busy shipping lane between the United Arab Emirates coast and Abu Musa in the southern Persian Gulf.

The sources said Iran may have planted the mines during the weekend in response to a U.S. attack on an Iranian mine-laying ship off Bahrain in the central gulf a week ago and a series of Iraqi missile attacks during the weekend on oil tankers in Iranian service.

Shultz Challenges Nicaragua

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary of State George Shultz has called on Nicaragua to move beyond rhetoric in implementing a Central American peace plan, urging the Sandinistas to hold direct talks with the Contra rebels to negotiate a cease-fire.

Shultz made the remarks in a speech for a dinner Monday night for the heads of Latin American delegations to the opening of the U.N. General Assembly.

Today, Shultz was to turn his attention to Middle East issues in a series of meetings with his Arab counterparts, including separate talks with Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz and Syrian Foreign Minister Farouk Shara.

Bush Advises Pole Leaders

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Given an unprecedented public forum, Vice President George Bush wound up the official portion of a four-day visit to Poland by gingerly pressuring its communist leaders in full view of a body politic rife with discontent.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new book brings federal agents into what is read as the final chapter of Jimmy Hoffa's life, alleging that they went to a Detroit-area restaurant to lure the former Teamsters union president to his apparent death.

Joseph Franco, who worked 30 years for Hoffa as an organizer and a strongarm man, asserts he was an eyewitness when Hoffa voluntarily got into the back of a black Ford LTD after two men showed him identification cards July 30, 1975.

The car was driven toward the Pontiac, Mich., airport, Franco writes, and he speculates Hoffa's body was dropped from an aircraft into a nearby lake. The union leader has not been seen since.

"Hoffa's Man," published by Prentice Hall Press, also contains accounts of widespread Teamsters corruption and ties to organized crime, to singer Frank Sinatra, to President John Kennedy and to Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

In alleging Hoffa was lured away by "federal marshals or federal agents," Franco has broken a long silence on the subject and has contradicted the theory of Hoffa's presumed death at the hands of organized crime figures.

His eyewitness account, according to the book's co-author, former New York Times reporter Richard Hammer, "points to a criminal conspiracy reaching into the very highest levels of the American government."

Hoffa disappeared as he was preparing to challenge Frank Fitzsimmons for the presidency of the nation's largest union. Hoffa had arranged for Fitzsimmons to become a caretaker Teamsters president when Hoffa went to prison in 1967.

Hoffa was plotting a return to power, and revenge, after Fitzsimmons would not step down when Hoffa left prison. Fitzsimmons had grown to enjoy the money and the power of the Teamsters presidency, according to the new book.

Fitzsimmons got Attorney General John Mitchell and other members of President Nixon's administration to impose restrictions barring Hoffa from resuming union activities for eight years, Franco wrote, and in return the union gave Nixon the support of its extensive political network. Some of the people "who had courted and married" Fitzsimmons stayed in President Ford's administration and did not want Hoffa to return to the Teamsters then either, he added.

Franco said he was able to witness the events of July 30, 1975, because he was at a shopping center on "some personal business" while Hoffa was waiting outside his car near Manchu's Red Fox restaurant at the same mall.

Hoffa, Franco recalled, was walking around his car clearly "waiting for someone" — and a black, four-door LTD drove up.

"There was a black driver and two white guys, and these guys got out," Franco wrote. "They were typical Ivy Leaguers, with sports jackets and shirts and ties, and you could see that they were either federal marshals or federal agents, one of the two."

"These two white guys got out and they went into their pockets and they came out flashing their wallets, and you could see the identification tags were coming out from both of them. It was all

Man Hurt By Garage Door Files Suit

A suit has been filed against a Lake Mary man and an Orlando company over the installation of a garage door.

The suit, filed by Douglas Merlin, no address listed, names James E. Wolfe, of Lake Mary, and Architectural Specialties Co. of Orlando.

The suit is seeking unspecified damages in excess of $5,000.

In the suit, Merlin states Wolfe invited him to his house on April 9, 1986. He was asked there to inspect a garage door and its installation.

Merlin states that when he touched the plate that anchored the garage door spring to the wall, the plate "exploded" off the wall striking him in the hand and arm. He states in the suit that the injuries were serious and permanent.

Merlin also states in the suit that Architectural Specialties did not install the door properly and that Wolfe was negligent in allowing the situation to exist or should have known the situation existed.

The case has been assigned to Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr.

Technicality Gets Man Retrial

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Tall man found guilty of burglarizing a Longwood police officer's home will get a new trial because there is no record of a meeting between the judge and attorney's on the case regarding a jury's question.

Stephen William Bradley, 34, who had a dozen aliases and more than 20 previous offenses attributed to him before the burglary arrest, was sentenced in October 1985 to 15 years. The sentence was to start after Bradley finished a four-year sentence outside of Orange County for aggravated battery stemming from a knifing.

The circuit court in Sanford ruled that the meeting was not recorded and thus does not exist. The court found no error with Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize's judgment on the question.

When jurors had asked to see the police report, Mize had conferred with the attorneys for the state and defense, then told the jury "no" because the police report had not been admitted as evidence.

Since there was no record of Mize's meeting with the attorneys, by legal standards it does not exist. Therefore, by the record, Bradley's rights in the trial not met. A new trial has been ordered.

Bradley was accused of breaking into the officer's Casselberry home on Nov. 29, 1984.

The victim and his wife discovered a man rifling her purse when they entered the home at about 8:15 p.m. The man ran with the purse, which he dropped outside of the couple's home. The off-duty officer pursued the man and caught him in a wooded area near the home. He held him at bay with a gun until other officers arrived.

According to court records, Bradley has been convicted or charged, with theft and escape in North Carolina; an escape, two marijuana charges and loitering in Miami; theft and burglary in Texas; burglary in Tennessee; and burglary, theft and aggravated battery in Orange County. He has been charged with hitting a guard in the Seminole County jail, two counts of disorderly conduct and four other loitering charges.

Bradley was acquitted of a rape charge logged against him involving another inmate while he was in the Seminole County jail.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Millions Awarded To Upgrade, Renovate Belle Glade Housing

PALM BEACH GARDENS (UPI) — Florida's impoverished migrant farmworkers living in the squalid Belle Glade area have been awarded $3.5 million in federal funds to upgrade and rebuild substandard housing.

The $3.5 million will be used to build concrete block houses to replace some of the existing, dilapidated wood-frame homes used by the area's 20,000 to 40,000 residents, officials said Monday.

A 1986 report, funded by the Ford Foundation, described impoverished alien workers in the Belle Glade area as among "the worst fed, least healthy and most despairing in our nation."

Belle Glade, 40 miles west of West Palm Beach, also has the second-highest AIDS rate of any U.S. city — behind San Francisco — according to a 1986 Centers for Disease Control study.

Woman Dies From Sniper Fire

LAKE WORTH (UPI) — A woman has died from a sniper-inflicted gunshot wound, just after she exited off an Interstate 95 ramp, the second shooting to occur near that ramp in two weeks.

The shooting late Sunday occurred at the 10th Avenue North ramp off I-95 as the victim's car was stopped, police said.

Tina Johnson Bank, 38, of Lake Worth, died at Doctor's Hospital in suburban Lake Worth shortly after midnight Monday.

Seminole Fines On Georgian's Land Stack Up

The Seminole County Code has filed a $37,250 lien in circuit court against a Georgia man to collect fines that have accumulated since his property's condition was judged to be in violation of a county code.

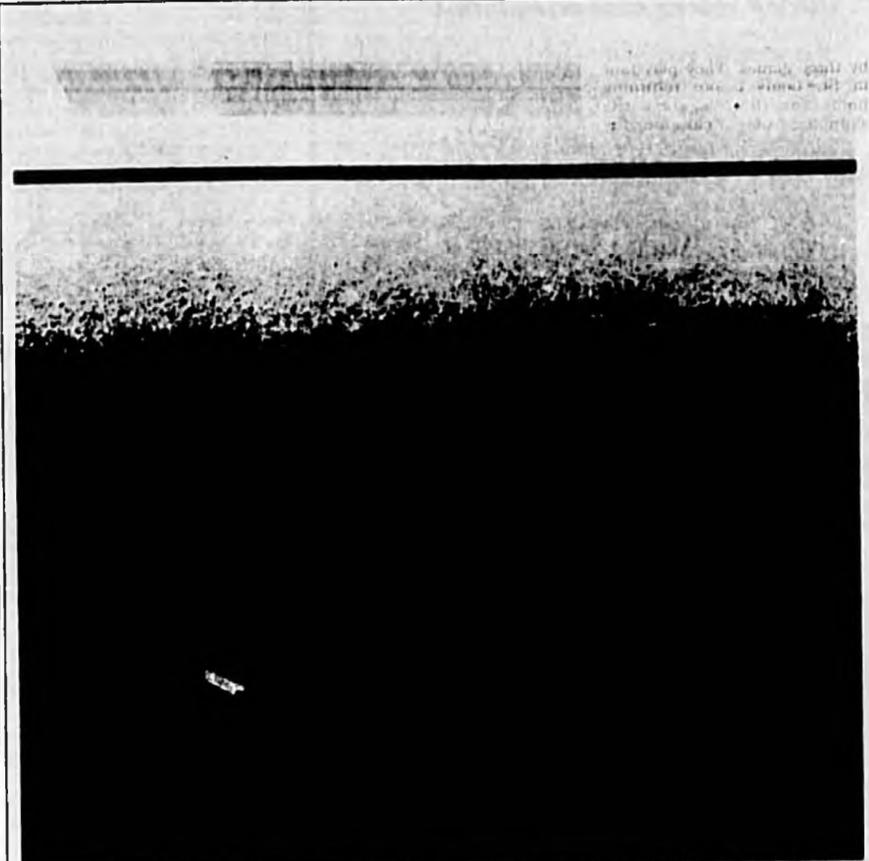

The amount due is a combination of three fines of $25, $50 and $100 levied daily from various dates in 1986 to July 14 of this year, the day the Seminole Board of County Commissioners agreed the lien should be filed. According to the suit, the county had demanded that Garland S. Baker, of Marietta, Ga., pay the fines in full but he has not done so.

The property is located in the Midway area.

Records show that the county code enforcement board ordered the $50 fine on Feb. 25, 1986; the $25 fine May 16, 1986; and the $100 fine May 22, 1986.

According to the county, Baker's property has high weeds, plant refuse, scraps of lumber and junk on it.

Sunday Herald, Sanford, Fla. Tuesday, Sept. 29, 1987-7A

Raines Relishes Role In The Race

His chances of a second batting title went up in smoke long ago with Tony Gwynn's scorching bat. The silver shoe award will again be worn by Vince Coleman.

Timothy Raines is a man without an award for the 1987 major-league baseball season. His numbers are still good — .329 batting average and 50 stolen bases — but not good enough.

Still, he's a happy man. Although very goal-oriented, Raines said recently it does not bother him that he'll finish behind Gwynn. And he's only a little perturbed that he won't steal 70 or more bases for the seven consecutive season.

For Raines, though, the race is still on. It restarts tonight when the Montreal Expos play the St. Louis Cardinals a doubleheader at Busch Stadium. For the first time in six years, the Expos are alive in the National League East on Sept. 29.

And the division blood is boiling.

"It feels great," Raines exulted. "It's been a long time since we've been in a race. Not since my rookie season when we lost to the Dodgers in the playoffs. You feel like it's important. When you're out of a race, you go to the park and it doesn't matter if you play or not unless you're going after a goal."

And now? "Now, you can't wait to get to the park. You want to get into a game and play a big part in it," he said. "There is a little more pressure, but the good guys want the pressure."

"And I feel I'm one of those guys."

The Expos trail the Redbirds by three games. They play four in St. Louis before returning home for three against the slumping Cubs to close out the season. The Mets, meanwhile, battle the Phillies today and Wednesday before closing the season with three games with the Cardinals.

Montreal, accordingly, is the underdog. The Expos have been all year. No one expected them to contend after losing Andre Dawson to free agency and Raines who missed April because he played out his option and could not sign until May 1.

But they have. Getting timely hitting from Raines, Tim Lincecum, Andres Galarraga and Hubie Brooks along with strong pitching from Dennis Martinez, Bryn Smith, Tim Burke and newcomer Pascual Perez has kept Bob Rodgers' club among the leaders.

The Expos are still the longshot but Raines said his team relishes the underdog role.

"The Cardinals are pretty much in the best position," he said. "They're at home. Even without Jack Clark healthy, they can still win. They got four guys with over 90 RBI. They're all having good years."

In the same breath, Raines does not count out his club. "We have to win the rest of our games, but we can do that," he said. "The pitching is going to be the difference and I think we have the best pitching."

Martinez (11-3) and Smith (10-8) are throwing tonight. Martinez, reclaimed from the scrap heap, has been brilliant. Montreal has won just about every time he takes the hill. Smith has been the Expo ace for the past few years and is reliable in clutch situations.

"We didn't play very well against the Mets, but we're still going to have to win it on the road," Raines said. "If we sweep the Cardinals, and get help from the Phillies, we can be one game up going into the final three games against the Cubs."

"Now, that would really be something special."

More special than a batting title or a silver shoe?

"Of course," Raines said firmly. "The pennant race is why we play the game."

NOTES — Raines said the reason he won't get 70 steals is due to more attention from the pitchers. "Every pitcher we've faced is speeding motion to plate against me," he said. "Against anyone else, they wind up. Seventy bases is not that big of a thing. All I worry about is having a consistent year."

84 Changes Later, Giants Wave Flag

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — In the San Francisco Giants' march to their first division title in 16 years, Manager Roger Craig used 46 players, 20 pitchers and 117 lineups, and the team made 84 roster changes.

That was nothing compared to the moves employed by Craig Monday night in the Giants' 5-4 victory over the San Diego Padres that clinched the National League West crown.

In the 3-hour and 20-minute marathon at Jack Murphy Stadium, Craig sent pinch hitter Jeffrey Leonard to the plate to bat for Eddie Milner in the fourth. Leonard hit his 18th homer, a two-out, two-run shot, for a 3-1 lead.

Craig called on Chili Davis to bat for Mike Aldrete leading off the fifth. Davis responded with his 23rd homer of the season for a 4-3 advantage.

The pair of pinch-hit blasts in one game tied a major-league record set by many teams, and gave each player 100 career homers. But the best move Craig made Monday night was a move he did not make.

Baseball

Rather than call for another pinch hitter, the San Francisco skipper allowed reliever Don Robinson to bat leading off the eighth with the score tied 4-4.

The former Pirate, acquired July 7 in exchange for Mickey Sasser, then belted a 1-2 pitch from Lance McCullers well over the 370-foot sign in left-center, and the Giants had their first division crown since the days of Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Juan Marichal in 1971.

"I told (Craig) before I went to the plate that he was going to hang me a slider," said a champagne-drenched Robinson, who also hurled the final five innings to improve to 11-7.

"I knew it was gone the moment I hit it."

TWINS AVOID IRONY
ARLINGTON, Texas (UPI) — The Minnesota Twins avoided the irony of celebrating their first title in 17 years after a loss.

Minnesota entered Monday's game needing either a victory or a loss by Kansas City to clinch the American League West. The Twins overcame a 3-0 deficit to defeat the Texas Rangers 5-3. They would have claimed the title Monday even if they lost as the Seattle Mariners beat the Royals 5-1.

"We didn't want Seattle to do our dirty work," said Minnesota's Steve Lombardozzi, who hit a three-run homer to tie the score and drove in the winning run. "We didn't want to lose this game and then come in the clubhouse and win it that way."

The Twins, who last won the the division title in 1970, will open the AL Championship Series at home a week from Wednesday night.

"We wanted to do our celebrating on the field," said Lombardozzi, with a half-empty champagne bottle in one hand and an unwrapped cigar sticking out of the corner of his mouth. "In the last inning it was tense and quiet on the bench. We just wanted to get that last out."

Kent Hrbek doubled and Tom Brunansky walked in the fourth before Lombardozzi hit his eighth homer of the year.

"I had Gene Larkin on the top step of the dugout ready to pinch hit for Lombardozzi, but something told me to let him hit for himself," said Minnesota Manager Tom Kelly. "I don't know, but it just seemed like an omen."

UCF quarterback Darin Slack discusses strategy with coaches Rick Stockstill and Paul Lounsberry, left, during Saturday night's game against Eastern Kentucky. Slack, a Lake Howell High product, hit 18 of

Gators' Receiving Corps Catches On

By Mike Dome
Special to the Herald

GAINESVILLE — At long last, the Florida Gators (3-1, 2-0 SEC) have laid the foundation of a strong receiving corps.

While it may not resemble the likes of last year's group of receivers, anchored by All-America Ricky Nattiel, this year's bunch of youngsters proved it can be effective as it caught 10 passes in a 38-3 victory over Mississippi State this past Saturday. And the receiving corps can't wait for Saturday's big SEC showdown at Baton Rouge, La. against Louisiana State.

Leading the way for the unit was sophomore Stacey Simmons, who hauled in three passes for 67 yards to delight 74,421 patrons (sixth-best in Florida Field history). One of Simmons' receptions was a 34-yard TD pass from quarterback Kerwin Bell which beat halftime buzzer by 30 seconds.

The catch capped off a seven-play, 92-yard drive which began at the 2:04 mark. The big play in the drive was a 21-yard end-around which set up the Bell-Simmons perfectly-time score.

"That wasn't really a two-minute drill," Simmons said about the drive. "We just got some big plays right after another and moved it down the field."

The touchdown catch was also the first of young collegiate career for Simmons, a 5-foot-10 180-pounder from Clearwater who played his prep football at Dunedin High School. As a senior, Simmons was a USA Today All-America running back and a member of The Sporting News' Top 100. He ran for 1,472 yards and scored 14 touchdowns his final prep year.

Needless to say, Simmons was one happy Gator following the game. "When you see stuff like that, you go, 'Man, this might be thrown to me, you know?'" Simmons said as he described the play. "I turned and saw a wobbling ball coming toward me. It was on the numbers, but it was wobbly."

Bell's pass may have wobbled that time, but he steadily tossed his way to his best performance of the season, completing 11 of 18 for 205 yards and one touchdown. The game always marked the first time this year that Bell did not throw an interception.

"Kerwin Bell had a pretty good game," coach Galen Hall said. "He missed a couple of receivers who were open and we had one or two dropped passes. But the overall performance was better today than anytime this season."

Three other wide receivers also caught passes. Junior Willie Snead hauled in three passes for 42 yards, sophomore Darrell Wouillard caught two for 46 yards and sophomore Tony Lomack snagged two for 38 yards.

"Our receivers are improving every game," Hall said. "And I said that they would be a good receiving corps by the middle of the season. Stacey Simmons probably played his best game today."

Once again, however, it was the overpowering presence of freshman tailback Emmitt "Big E" Smith which freed Bell's receivers. Smith rushed for a quiet 173 yards on 20 carries in less than three quarters of action. It is a performance which has come to be expected of Emmitt.

"I really feel like I'm on a roll right now," Smith said. "But anyone could have scored through holes like that.

"This team is coming together real well. Defenses have to worry about both the run and the pass."

Defense, accordingly, has improved step for step with the offense. Coach Zaven Yarralan's defenders have allowed just 17 points in the past three games, while the Gator offense has amassed 113 points.

One major reason for Florida's defensive success is the intense it puts on the quarterback. The Gators have continually taken control of the line of scrimmage during the past three games. Against Mississippi State, the unit recorded three sacks for a combined 31 yards of losses.

The pressure forced MSU's quarterbacks into two interceptions and nine broken up passes.

"We have a pretty good defensive front four," Hall said. "When they (opponents) have to throw to get back in the game, I think we can put pressure on their front."

The victory over MSU leaves Florida in a position it hasn't held in quite a while: first place in the Southeastern Conference.

"You're got to get off to a quick start," Bell said. "When you have Auburn and Georgia back-to-back the way we do later on, you really have to be 3-0 after the first three (SEC) games. "We're on our way."

NOTES — Junior defensive back Bill Lang played on punt and kickoff teams against MSU. The former Lake Howell High product played the fourth quarter at strong safety. At the 2:36 mark in the fourth quarter, Lang creamed MSU's Eddie Myles on a punt return, limiting him to a two-yard return.

Florida Teams Flex Muscles

NEW YORK (UPI) — The state of Florida is challenging the Big Eight for national superiority in college football.

Big Eight powers Oklahoma and Nebraska maintained their holds on the Nos. 1 and 2 positions Monday in voting by the United Press International Board of Coaches. Miami and Florida State settled in at Nos. 3 and 4.

"For about the last 10 years whoever has won the battle of Florida has been in the battle for the national title," Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden said. "The last two years Miami has been in it. Florida would have been in it in 1984 if it wasn't on probation. Miami won the national title the year before and there were two seasons in which if we win our bowl game maybe we win the national title."

"I hear about the Big Ten, the Big Eight. But maybe the Big Florida is the toughest league you can get in."

Like Miami and Florida State, Notre Dame has made steady progress up the Top-20 chart since preseason. The Irish were No. 5 Monday. In preseason, Miami was No. 9, Florida State No. 14 and Notre Dame No. 16.

Luciano: Imposters Stay Home Tonight

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

CASSELBERRY — Coach Jo Luciano did not know who those imposters in the dark blue uniforms were Monday night but she does know the real Lady Silver Hawks had better show up tonight before Lake Howell's Seminole Athletic Conference hopes start slipping away.

On Monday, Luciano said the Lady Hawks were "outhunted, outplayed and outplayed." In a 15-10, 15-11 loss to previously winless Orlando Dr. Phillips before 51 fans at Lake Howell High.

Lake Howell, 5-5 overall, must regroup tonight as it takes on powerful Oviedo in a big SAC match at Lake Howell. Lake Howell and Oviedo are tied for second in the conference at 3-1, one game behind DeLand.

"We can't play like we did tonight or Oviedo will rout us," Luciano said. "We have to use this as a learning situation and be ready when we come out tomorrow."

Volleyball

Dr. Phillips, a first-year high school, picked up its first victory Monday after seven consecutive losses.

"It's nice to finally get the first win in," Dr. Phillips' Sharon Bonaventure, who played at Lake Mary last year, said. "And it's definitely nice to get it against a Seminole County team."

While Bonaventure had her moments, the most powerful influence for the Lady Panthers Monday night was Sareesa Seltzer. Seltzer, who did not play in an early loss to Lake Howell, connected on 4 of 5 kill opportunities and also had an ace serve to close out the first game.

Lake Howell led by the hitting of Carey Manuel and the setting of Tammy Lewis, took a 6-5 lead in the first game but Dr. Phillips regained the lead on Seltzer's serve and went on to build a 10-7 lead. Dr. Phillips had a 13-8 lead when Stormi Littrell's spike gave Lake Howell a side out and the Lady Hawks scored two points to pull within 13-10. A missed serve gave the ball back to Dr. Phillips, though, and Seltzer served out the game.

Dr. Phillips raced to a 9-4 lead in game two before Littrell and Manuel served two points each to make it 9-8. Littrell later served two more points as Lake Howell stayed within 13-11, but Seltzer nailed a spike to give Dr. Phillips a side out and Seltzer's block accounted for the 14th point.

Lake Howell had the serve one more time by Bonaventure, who was 3 for 7 in kill opportunities, got in a well-placed dink to return it to Dr. Phillips and the Lady Panthers got the last point for the victory.

"All night it was like we would take one step forward, then two steps back," Luciano said. "We'd have a nice hit or a good save and then not do anything with it."

Lyman Snares First Victory

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

After seven matches of playing well in spurts but not well enough to win, Lyman's Lady Greyhounds put it all together Monday night in a 15-6, 15-7 victory over West Orange's Lady Warriors at Winter Garden.

Lyman, 1-7 overall, goes after its first Seminole Athletic Conference victory tonight at home against league-leading DeLand. DeLand is 4-0 in the SAC while Lyman is 0-5.

"We would have times where we would look good for six or seven points in a game but couldn't put it all together," Lyman coach Karen Newman said. "Tonight we had everything clicking."

Lyman's attack was at its best Monday as Shelly DeLuca and Wendy Fretwell made nice passes from the back row to setters Emily Rosenfeld and Tracy Brown who in turn set up Dana Garrett and Julia Callarman for several kills.

"Our strongest point was our offense," Newman said. "The setters did an excellent job and Dana (Garrett) and Julia (Callarman) were putting the ball away. I was also impressed with our movement. We only let three of West Orange's balls hit the floor in the entire match and we were digging up their hits and in turn setting our offense up."

Newman was happy to get the victory in Monday since the midway point in the season is tonight against DeLand.

"I was hoping to at least get a win sometime during the first half," Newman said. "This is a real good time to start peaking and now the girls can believe it is possible for them to win."

OAK RIDGE TOPS TRIBE

Seminole and Oak Ridge engaged in a match that lasted almost two hours Monday night and it was the host Lady Pioneers who finally came away with an 18-16, 12-15, 15-9 victory over the Lady 'Noles at Orlando.

Seminole, 3-5 overall, is idle tonight and returns to action Wednesday at Orlando Bishop Moore (junior varsity 6, varsity 7). The Lady Tribe's next Seminole Athletic Conference game is Thursday at Lake Brantley.

"I was very happy with our movement and overall team effort," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "The key was to

Unlikely Lombardozi Provides Minnesota's Championship Drive

United Press International An unlikely hero emerged to help the Minnesota Twins cap an improbable season with an American League West title.

Steve Lombardozi, a career .188 hitter against Texas, smashed a three-run homer and drove in the go-ahead run Monday night to lead the Twins to a 5-3 victory over the Rangers and their first division title since 1970.

The Twins finished sixth in the AL West last year and were not expected to be much better this year. But Frank Viola, Bert Blyleven and Jeff Reardon anchored a solid pitching staff and Kent Hrbek, Kirby Puckett and Gary Gaetti paced a potent offense for rookie manager Tom Kelly.

Lombardozi almost did not get a chance against the Rangers. Trailing 3-0, Kent Hrbek doubled and Tom Brunansky walked in the fourth. Kelly considered using a pinch-hitter for Lombardozi.

"I had Gene Larkin on the top step of the dugout ready to pinch-hit for Lombardozi, but something told me to let him hit for himself," Kelly said. "I don't know, but it just seemed like an omen."

Lombardozi followed his eighth homer of the year. Larkin was ready to pinch hit again in the eighth with a runner on third and two out, but Lombardozi was left in and he singled to right scoring Hrbek with the go-ahead run. Minnesota's fifth run came later in the eighth when Texas reliever Mitch Williams belted home Brunansky.

Reliever Juan Berenguer, 8-1, went 1 1/3 innings for the victory and Reardon picked up his 31st save. Jose Guzman, 14-13, was the loser.

The Twins would have won the division even if they had lost Monday night as the second-place Kansas City Royals fell to the Seattle Mariners. Minnesota won its game moments before the Royals lost.

"We didn't want Seattle to do our dirty work," Lombardozi said. "We didn't want to lose this game and then come in the clubhouse and win it that way. We wanted to do our celebrating on the field."

Elsewhere, Baltimore blanked Detroit 3-0, Milwaukee stopped Toronto 6-4, New York rallied to beat Boston 9-7 and Seattle downed Kansas City 5-1.

Philadelphia Phillies. Philadelphia captured the division by taking the first two games, with Schmidt hitting the game-winning homer in each.

At Toronto, Dale Sveum smacked a three-run double in the fifth inning and Bill Wegman evened his record at 11-11. Toronto remained 2 1/2 games ahead of Detroit in the AL East. Mark Clear, the third Milwaukee pitcher, got the last two outs for his sixth save. Mike Flanagan, 6-8, was the loser.

At Kansas City, Mo., Lee Guetterman and Jerry Reed combined on a six-hitter and Phil Bradley knocked in two runs. Guetterman, 10-4, earned his first victory since July 29. Reed went three innings for his sixth save. Mark Gubicza, who has been supported by just 26 runs in his losses this season, dropped to 12-18.

At Detroit, rookie John Habyan limited Detroit to five hits over 8 1/3 innings and Pete Stanek, Fred Lynn and Eddie Murray all singled in runs.

At St. Louis, the Cardinals won their eighth straight game. The Cardinals' offense was led by Willie McGee, who hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning.

At Cincinnati, Barry Larkin slammed a three-run homer and Buddy Bell cracked a two-run shot in a six-run fourth inning, rallying the Reds. Jeff Montgomery, 2-2, pitched the fourth for the victory. John Franco pitched the final inning for his 30th save. Zane Smith, 15-10, took the loss.

At Atlanta, the Braves won their eighth straight game. The Braves' offense was led by Fred McGriff, who hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning.

Milwaukee's Mark Clear, left, and Tom Niedenfuer each earned saves at the Blue Jay and Tigers, respectively, last Monday. Toronto maintained its 2 1/2-game lead.

Seattle Mariners. Minnesota won its game moments before the Royals lost. "We didn't want Seattle to do our dirty work," Lombardozi said. "We didn't want to lose this game and then come in the clubhouse and win it that way. We wanted to do our celebrating on the field."

Don Robinson, a mid-season acquisition representing one of 84 roster moves the Giants have made this season, allowed three hits over five innings and homered Monday night to snap a tie and lift San Francisco to a 5-4 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Robinson Lifts Giants To West Division Flag

United Press International The San Francisco Giants clinched their first National League West title in 16 years on the strength of players that joined the team this season.

Don Robinson, a mid-season acquisition representing one of 84 roster moves the Giants have made this season, allowed three hits over five innings and homered Monday night to snap a tie and lift San Francisco to a 5-4 victory over the San Diego Padres.

San Francisco Manager Roger Craig said he never considered pinch hitting for Robinson, who carried a .176 average with him to the plate in the eighth.

"He's the guy I wanted them to pitch to in that situation," Craig said. "He went up there and said the guy's gonna hang a slider."

Jeffrey Leonard and Chili Davis also homered for the Giants, each connecting as pinch hitters. The blasts were the 100th of their respective careers.

"I told (Craig) before I went to the plate that (reliever Lance McCullers) was going to hang me a slider," said Robinson, 11-7. "I knew it was gone the moment I hit it."

For the former Pirate, one of the best hitting pitchers in the majors, the homer was the seventh of his career and first of the year. The blast over the 370-mark in left-center was reminiscent of the homer knuckballer Phil Niekro hit at Jack Murphy Stadium in 1982 that clinched the NL West title for the Atlanta Braves.

San Francisco last won the NL West in 1971 with long-time stars Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Juan Marichal. Monday night's triumph gave them an 88-70 record, seven games better than second-place Cincinnati with six to play.

After Davis and Leonard allowed Benito Santiago's routine fly to fall between them for a triple that tied the score 4-4 in the seventh, Robinson led off the eighth with his homer on a 1-2 pitch from McCullers, 8-10.

Before tripling, Santiago beat out an infield single in the second inning to extend his rookie record hitting streak to 30 games. Only 29 players have ever had a string of 30 or more.

Elsewhere, New York tipped Philadelphia 1-0, Cincinnati edged Atlanta 6-5 and Houston pounded Los Angeles 11-5.

In the American League, it was New York 9, Boston 7; Baltimore 3, Detroit 0; Milwaukee 6, Toronto 4; Minnesota 5, Texas 3; and Seattle 5, Kansas City 1.

New York starter John Candalaria, 2-0. But Von Hayes popped out to shallow left, Mike Schmidt flew out to left, Lance Parrish grounded out and Samuel never moved.

"(Hayes) got jammed and popped up and we had no movement," Phillies Manager Lee Elia said. "It's a lot easier to look back nine innings later but the sign of a good team is to score after a leadoff double. More times than not, that should be done."

The squandered opportunity was only the first of many for the Phillies in the game. Philadelphia had runners on base in every inning except the third, stranded 10 men on base and was 0 for 11 with runners in scoring position.

"We were 0 for 11 but we did hit the ball hard," Elia said.

San Francisco Manager Roger Craig said he never considered pinch hitting for Robinson, who carried a .176 average with him to the plate in the eighth.

Jeffrey Leonard and Chili Davis also homered for the Giants, each connecting as pinch hitters. The blasts were the 100th of their respective careers.

Schmidt: Be Wary Of Mets; Santiago Runs Streak To 30

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Mike Schmidt, who has learned his way around a pennant race during a 15-year career, warns against counting out the New York Mets.

He says he likes their chances, even if they did enter the final week of the season 2 1/2 games out of first place. He cites pitching as a reason New York could emerge from its three-way tangle with St. Louis and Montreal.

"The easiest thing to predict in a short series," Schmidt said Monday, "is good pitching will stop good hitting. You don't know who is going to hit the big home run. You don't know who is going to get the breaks."

To illustrate, the Philadelphia third baseman indulged in one of his more pleasant memories. Relaxing in his locker hours before game time, he cited the race of 1980, the only World Series the franchise ever won.

"We go up to Montreal and whoever wins two of three wins the National League East," he recalled. "We're going into their ballpark."

Philadelphia captured the division by taking the first two games, with Schmidt hitting the game-winning homer in each. "My home runs don't mean squat unless we get that fabulously pitched game," he said.

Baseball

made Philadelphia mad enough to sweep a three-game series. Now, some of that feeling seems gone. Maybe teams hate the Mets less. As Phillies reliever Kent Tekulve says, "They haven't been 15 games in front since May 15. Those seasons don't come along too often."

More likely, the Phillies are feeling the discouragement of their own season. Viewed in spring training as possible challengers to New York, they fell from the race in August and entered the final week with no chance of finishing in the first division.

"Obviously, we expected to do a lot better than we did," Tekulve said. "It's a classic case of a good team on paper, but we haven't played that way."

"I'm just mentally tired," Schmidt said.

Philadelphia Manager Lee Elia hinted the club's inconsistency has made the season seem longer.

"When things have looked bleak, they've risen to the occasion," Elia said. "And when you expected something good to happen, it didn't. I think we're feeling it this time of year. I believe we'll be giving it our best shot."

Astros Dodgers

At Houston, Terry Puhl blasted a grand slam and Glenn Davis added a three-run homer to lift the Astros. Jim Deshaies, 13-8, collected his first victory since Aug. 16. Jeff Heathcock worked four innings to record his first save. Orel Hershiser, 16-15, was the loser.

At Los Angeles, the Dodgers won their eighth straight game. The Dodgers' offense was led by Fred McGriff, who hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning.

At Philadelphia, the Phillies won their eighth straight game. The Phillies' offense was led by Mike Schmidt, who hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning.

At San Francisco, the Giants won their first National League West title in 16 years on the strength of players that joined the team this season.

IN BRIEF

Topsy-Turvy Weekend: Howell Moves Up In Cross Country Poll

It was a topsy-turvy weekend for Seminole County's cross country teams as one moved up in the FACA State Poll this week while two dropped out.

Lake Howell's girls improved one spot in the FACA State Cross Country Poll as the Lady Silver Hawks moved from seventh to sixth. Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots maintained their No. 8 spot in the rankings while Lake Mary, sixth last week, dropped out of the top 10.

The biggest movement made in the girls poll was by Orange Park which finished second to Pensacola Washington in last weekend's Florida State University Invitational. Previously unranked, Orange Park moved into the No. 4 spot.

In the boys poll, surprising Pensacola Washington, winners of FSU, went from unranked to third in the state. Lake Mary's boys dropped from fourth to fifth. Lake Howell went from seventh to 10th and Lyman High dropped out of the top 10.

In the individual boys rankings, Largo's Pat McDonough is ranked first, followed by Lyman High's Teddy Mitchell. The two have not went head-to-head yet this season.

In the girls rankings, Brandon shows why it is the top-ranked team in the state as it has the top two individuals in Veronica Hansen (11:15) and Sherry Driggers (11:34).

Mayotte, Leconte Bow Out Early

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — This could be an easy week's work for top-seeded Ivan Lendl at the $283,000 Transamerica Tennis Open.

John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors were among the big names who pulled out of the Cow Palace tournament before it started and second-seed Tim Mayotte and fourth-ranked Henri Leconte fell in first-round shockers Monday night.

Jim Pugh, no stranger to upsets, ousted Mayotte, 7-5, 6-7 (2-7), 7-5, in a 2 hour 47 minute match. Pugh said afterwards, "In the middle of the match, I had no idea who was going to win it."

Pugh had match point in the second set leading 5-4 and 40-30, but Mayotte hit a sizzling forehand volley for a winner.

Local favorite Matt Anger ousted Leconte, 7-6 (7-0), 4-6, 6-4, in a match that went well past midnight.

Tyson's Assault Dismissed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Misdemeanor charges were dismissed against heavyweight boxing champion Mike Tyson, accused of trying to kiss a Greek Theatre employee and hitting her supervisor during a rap concert by the groups Run-DMC and Beastie Boys.

The assault and battery case against Tyson was dismissed Monday by Municipal Court Judge Marj Kirakosian after both victims said in sworn affidavits that Tyson had paid them monetary damages and they did not wish to pursue the criminal charges, prosecutors said.

The judge ordered lawyers in the case not to reveal how much was paid by Tyson, 20, of Catskill, N.Y., who was not in court. Deputy City Attorney Tracy Webb said.

Tyson, the undisputed heavyweight titleholder, had been charged with assault with a deadly weapon — his hands — and battery.

Duffy Remembered For Humor

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — Duffy Daugherty, coach of Michigan State's 1965 national champion football team, was remembered Monday for his sense of humor and love of life.

About 500 people, some forced to stand when all seats were filled, attended services at the Old Mission. Daugherty died in his sleep early Friday at Santa Barbara Cottage Hospital. The 72-year-old had retired to Santa Barbara in 1975.

Daugherty was Michigan State's coach from 1954-1972. He compiled a 109-69-5 record while coaching such heralded players as Charles "Bubba" Smith, George Webster, Gene Washington, Earl Morrill, Carl "Buck" Nystrom and current Spartans coach George Perles.

Platak Upsets No. 7 Fernandez

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Mary Lou Platak of Munster, Ind., upset No. 7 seed Gigi Fernandez of San Juan, Puerto Rico, 6-3, 6-1 Monday night in the first round of the $150,000 Virginia Slims of New Orleans tennis tournament.

Dollar Shoots Up; Gold Comes Down

By United Press International

The dollar opened sharply higher in active trading on major world money markets today. Gold fell slightly.

Earlier in the Far East, spurred on by heavy buying triggered by the reaffirmation of policy coordination by Group of Seven industrial nations in Washington, the dollar closed sharply higher against the Japanese yen in Tokyo, climbing past the 148-yen level to hit a 40-day high.

The dollar closed at its highest level since Aug. 19, finishing the day at 148.08 yen, up 1.83 from Monday's close of 144.22 yen.

Traders in Japan noted the currency market would remain bullish for the time being in view of the agreement reached by major industrial nations on policy coordination to stabilize exchange rates.

In European trading, the dollar began the day in Frankfurt at 1.8405 German marks, up from Monday's close of 1.8253.

The dollar opened in Zurich at 1.5275 Swiss francs, up from 1.513, and in Milan at 1,326.50 lire, up from 1,317 on Monday.

In Brussels, the dollar began at 38.335 Belgian francs, up from Monday's close of 38.04, and in Paris at 6.1265 French francs, up from 6.0725.

The dollar also strengthened by nearly 2 cents against the pound. In London, the pound opened at $1.6245, down from Monday's close of $1.642.

The opening in Amsterdam was not available.

In early New York trading, the dollar was higher against key foreign currencies in moderate trading.

T-Bill Interest Rates Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Yields for Treasury securities rose at Monday's regular weekly auction to their highest rates since March 1986.

The Treasury Department auctioned $6.410 billion worth of 13-week bills at an average discount of 6.59 percent, up from 6.32 percent at the last auction on Sept. 14.

The government also sold $6.418 billion worth of 26-week bills at an average discount of 6.83 percent, up from 6.64 percent on Sept. 14.

The rates were the highest since March 3, 1986, when three-month bills went for 6.92 percent and the rate for six-month bills was 6.87 percent.

The discount rates understate the actual yields to investors. The investment, or coupon-equivalent, rate was 6.81 percent on the 13-week bills at an average price of $9,833.40 per $10,000 face value. The investment rate on the 26-week bills was 7.19 percent at an average price of $9,854.70 per $10,000 face value.

The Sept. 21 auction, which had been postponed because of uncertainty over whether the government would extend or enlarge the federal deficit, has been rescheduled for Thursday. A temporary deficit bill was signed over the weekend. The rescheduled auction, however, will be for 80- and 171-day bills.

prison, where he expected to serve time.

In his suicide note Bateman expressed his concern and love of his 16-year-old girlfriend and co-defendant, Susanne Phillips of Forest City. Both Bateman and Phillips were charged with murder, robbery and kidnapping in connection with the June 23 murder-robbery of Forest City florist Diane McGinnis, 58. McGinnis was killed by a single shot to the head in woods behind her workplace at Hunt Club Corner, about one mile from the home where Phillips and Bateman lived with Phillips' parents.

The day Bateman died Phillips pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of manslaughter and is scheduled for sentencing Oct. 9.

Along with the two-page suicide note, in Bateman's cell were three Bibles. On the cover of the Bible found closest to his body, Bateman had written "Edwin Bateman - Susanne."

In his suicide note, addressed to "To whom it may concern," Bateman wrote that he was not admitting guilt by committing suicide. "I had no other choice, I could no longer take the pain that has been afflicted upon me. The mental stress my fellow inmates have caused me is like no other I have ever had to endure. My will has been slowly crushed. I have no way of proving my innocence (sic). I have only tasted a small piece of the fear and violence I face. I would sooner face death than become as violent as the people who are already in prison."

He wrote that police told him, "If you really love Susanne you wouldn't let her take the rap.... If you really loved her you would do or say anything to save her."

"I really love Susanne," Bateman wrote. "And she means more to me than anyone or anything that I have ever known. I thought I was protecting her. The police twisted everything to their own advantage."

"...I can't take the violence I have seen any longer. I am not a violent person. My personal hell is over," he concluded.

Bateman wrote that fellow inmates had "hit me, burned me, they threw human waste at me and they destroyed me emotionally."

In Bateman's cell he also had newspaper clippings reporting on the murder and the court appearances of he and Phillips. Phillips was in the Seminole Juvenile Detention Center next door to the jail when Bateman died. A couple of weeks ago under a court order, because she was said to be suicidal, she was moved to the private West Lake Hospital, a mental health facility.

million general fund budget. She said they should have been held up until the new personnel director position funded in the budget is filled and the director could determine the salary for different department heads and employees. She said she objects to individual departments such as the police, fire and planning and zoning departments doing their own survey and making their own salary adjustments.

She said Longwood can't compete salary-wise with larger municipalities such as Orlando and Orange County for police and firefighters. "We must recognize our salaries will be lower," she said.

Fire department salaries were raised to be equivalent with the police department's at the request of Fire Chief Charles Chapman. The total police budget is $1.4 million and the fire department budget is $999,243.

It was Mayor Myers who voted against another ordinance Monday night that will amend the Personnel Policy and Procedures Manual to include the city administrator, city attorney and city clerk as employees eligible for merit bonuses. The motion by Lormann passed 4-1.

Dennis also complained that City Administrator Ron Waller did not guide the commissioners through the budget process, which she found confusing.

There were no comments from the public during the final public hearing on the budget prior to adoption.

The tax rate adopted is 8.8 percent above this year's tax rate of $2.90 per $1,000 property value. The tax is expected to generate $193,387.

Myers said, "I can't go along with the ordinance. I'm against it because the city administrator, city attorney and city clerk are well compensated and shouldn't be included in the merit bonuses. They should be for the hourly employees."

Smeritson said, "They all come under the direct control of the commission and it doesn't necessarily mean they would get them. This is the only reward and punishment we have. It is a way to reward good employees."

Also Monday night, the commission voted unanimously to approve after the fact Waller's naming occupational license clerk Mary Triplett as acting finance director to replace former finance director Barry Weeks, who resigned under fire Sept. 18.

Waller said the move was approved by the city's auditing firm of Kane & Associates, which has just completed a study of the city's various departments in an effort to get bookkeeping procedures in order and evaluation of the various jobs.

As recommended by Kane & Associates the six employees in the data processing department (water fund) have been put under the finance director's supervision, but no new personnel have been hired and these persons doing the same tasks they were doing before. The auditor has recommended the $65,380 data processing department budget be moved to finance department in the general fund since this staff has the responsibility for accounts payable and payroll. The recommendations add, "Other specific recordkeeping task will be assigned and solving computer problems and relief of water administration department will be removed."

The report also suggests removing the new position of accounting clerk from the finance department at a savings of $19,442 since the data processing staff will provide this staffing need.

The commission is scheduled to meet with Kane & Associates representatives at 7 p.m. on Oct. 12 in a work session to go over all the recommendations for computer procedures and personnel responsibilities.

sex education and parents will be asked to indicate if they feel each individual topic is appropriate for inclusion in district curriculum.

Those topics include AIDS, birth control, venereal disease, biology of reproduction, premarital sex, nature of sexual intercourse, abortion, homosexuality and teen pregnancy.

According to Dawson, the topics of pornography, dating, teen rights, decision making (on whether to be sexually active) and human growth and development may also be included as topics on the survey.

Both Dawson and Coleman stressed that the survey would be available to any parent in the county interested in expressing their opinion on the sex education curriculum to which students are exposed.

"This issue will not be developed in some back room and railroaded into the school system," Dawson said of sex education curriculum. He added that Supt. Robert W. Hughes and Marion Dalley, assistant superintendent for instructional services, had both made the same promise about the development of that type of curriculum.

Dawson said he hopes the survey will give the community an opportunity to act as a reference point to establishing guidelines for sex education in local schools. He indicated the survey would also be available to any church or community organization wishing to express its views on sex education in schools.

"The survey may lead to the development of a public forum on the subject," Dawson said, "where we can say, Here's where we are now: How do you feel?"

Coleman said the feeling the school board already gets from the community is that no matter what the final results of the survey are, parents still will have the final say about whether their children should be exposed to any part of the sex education curriculum the school system should offer.

"Thus far very few, if any, parents have asked their children not to be involved in the sex related instruction we now provide," Coleman said.

Walter Cooper, a parent member of the advisory council, said he thinks the survey is the surest way of getting the most information possible about attitudes on the issue.

"We were originally talking about contacting PTAs (parent teacher associations) and LSACS (local school advisory committees) with the survey, but we decided that wasn't a good enough cross-section," he said.

Cooper said he feels the most improvement in sex education in Seminole County classrooms needs to be at the elementary school level. Cooper said the younger children are when they are started on sex education, the more they'll understand and be able to make better decisions as they age.

Cooper's daughter, Amy, a junior at Lake Mary High School, said she feels it's important for sex education to be taught in the schools. Just because students are taught sex education doesn't mean they'll become more sexually active, according to Amy.

Students should be informed about the possible dangers of having sex so they can make their own decisions on whether they want to have it, she said. "At least now they'll (students) be aware of all the diseases, she said, and that most protection is probably not 100 percent effective."

"Usually the bad things outnumber the good," Amy said of the possible problems involved with sexual activity. She added that with sex education students could make decisions on the subject that are best for them.

The teaching of abstinence is the one sure thing any sex education curriculum developed for Seminole County schools will include, according to Dawson. He said that both he and other people involved in the development of the curriculum feel very strongly that is the most important aspect of the issue. According to Coleman, abstinence should be taught to students as the only sure way to avoid sexually transmitted diseases.

The Curriculum Advisory Council consists of Dalley, Dawson, Cooper, elementary school teachers Judy Sledge and Harriet Laban, middle school teachers Ernie Nichols and Debby Whitmire, high school teachers Tom Barnes and Rebekah McCloud, parents Sandy Traegar and Phyllis Richardson, school principals and administrators Rick Mossman, Darvin Boothe, Rita Ramsey, Jack Heister and Marion Snell, and School Board Member Pat Telson.

The proposed budget is $1.4 million more than this fiscal year's $16 million. Most of the proposed spending increase will go to pay for additional or expanded services brought about by additional growth, according to city administrators, merit raises for some employees, hiring five new employees and meeting state and federal mandates in performing various planning tasks required of cities.

"The proposed budget reflects both Sanford's needs and priorities," Falson said in the budget introduction sent to the commission. "The rapid rate of growth being experienced in Central Florida demands attention—not only bricks and mortar improvements, such as the wastewater (treatment) improvements, but preparation of extensive and competent long range plans as dictated by the Florida growth management act."

Personnel officer Fran Diedrich said there are no across-the-board pay increases in the 1987-88 budget for city employees, department heads, city commissioners, or the city manager.

"Any increases in salary will be merit increases or an increase based on how long they have held their job," Diedrich said. There are 347 full-time employees and 6 part-time employees on the city's payroll.

There will be a decrease of $208,558 in state funds in the next fiscal year. Projected state revenue for Sanford is $2.1 million with $120,805 from the 2-cent cigarette tax; $995,437 from state revenue sharing; and $1 million from the half-cent sales tax.

failure to follow proper procedures, including inadequate supervision of employees, using improper euthanasia methods, misdiagnosing animals as ill, not allowing enough time for adoption and allowing supplies to run out.

Lorin "Tom" LaCrosse, an animal control officer who has been among the critics of the two supervisors, was named acting director. Hooper said both vacancies will be advertised within and outside the county.

Young, who had worked at the department for about seven years, said he resigned because of disagreements with Hooper about management of the department. He said he thinks he was treated fairly by Hooper, but that some members of the advisory board have been overzealous and too critical of the department's management.

The board has called for additional staff at the animal shelter—located at the Five Points complex—and a larger shelter. Hooper said the county has plans to build a new shelter near the present one when money is available, but funds for the new shelter were not included in next year's budget.

to the governor, reiterated that Martinez' plan to repeal the tax without trimming the budget or raising replacement revenues would violate the state constitution. Martinez had asked Butterworth to reconsider a similar opinion issued last week.

Legislative leaders said the prospect of specific cuts might help propel lawmakers toward a resolution of the tax mess. "The more specific this kind of thing gets, the more personally members take it," said House Speaker Jon Mills.

Leaders are not sure the Legislature will act by Friday, when the special session is scheduled to end.

Martinez wants to repeal the services tax effective Jan. 1, midway through the budget year. He previously had refused to recommend specific budget cuts, or to consider any replacement revenues unless the Legislature gives him more power to set spending priorities — something lawmakers are reluctant to do.

Martinez announced he would take $150 million from the $253 million working capital, or "rainy day" fund to help balance the budget. He would also cut nearly $70 million in construction and repairs for state buildings and trim $170.8 million from agency budgets.

State aid to schools would be cut by $71.7 million and other education programs by $27.8 million; social services by more than $41 million; and the Department of Corrections by $9.7 million. Every state agency would feel the pinch.

Hairdresser Pulls Wool Over Girlfriend's Eyes

DEAR ABBY: I met this guy when I accidentally got a wrong telephone number. I asked for Larry and got a Gary. He liked my voice and I liked his, so we decided to meet. We liked each other a lot, and since then I've been seeing him.

All I know about him is that he is a hairdresser who owns a car with a phone in it. I know all his numbers - his home, his car and the beauty salon, which he owns.

He never talks about himself. When I ask questions, he changes the subject to how much money he makes or how tired he is.

Abby, how can I find out more about this man? I don't even know how old he is or if he's married. I have really fallen for him, but I don't want to fall any deeper until I know more about him. Can you help me?

FALLEN ANGELO

DEAR ANGELO: You could have him investigated by a detective agency - but it's not inexpensive. My best advice would be: If you have to ask Dear Abby how to find out what kind of man you're dating, perhaps you shouldn't be dating him.

DEAR ABBY: My son has been dating a girl (exclusively) for two years. Recently I introduced them to friends of mine as follows: "This is my son, Jeffrey, and his friend, Karen."

I was informed later that Karen thought she should have been introduced as Jeffrey's "girlfriend" instead of his friend. My thinking was, since she was physically present, it was obvious that she was a girl, so that word was redundant. Or was I being insensitive in not making her feel "special" enough?

JEFFREY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: These days, the word "friend" covers a multitude of relationships. I suspect Karen was piqued because she felt that you were attempting to minimize (or deny) the seriousness of her relationship with Jeffrey. Were you?

DEAR ABBY: This is my first time to write. I, too, am one of those "pop in" preachers. I always try to make it at a convenient time. I thought perhaps you would like to share the following with your readers: OUR MINISTER NEVER STOPS "Occasionally someone will say, 'Our minister never stops by to visit us.'"

"If your minister never stops at your home, you should probably thank God. It means death has not struck, that no serious illness has laid you low, that the surgeon's knife has not been necessary, that you have no serious family problem, or that you are not a spiritually delinquent member. "As a rule, your minister does not have time for a 'social call.'"

Not that he wouldn't enjoy it: It's just a matter of priorities - putting first things first.

"However, you may be sure of this: Your minister is willing to come to the hospital or your home, the jail, the street corner, or anywhere at any hour of the night or day - wherever or whenever he is needed. So, call him if you need him. Otherwise, he will not know of your need until it is too late."

PREACHER IN NORTH LITTLE ROCK

DEAR ABBY: In response to your fidelity survey: My husband of six years told me a year ago that he had been unfaithful "once." I was devastated, and decided to "get even" with him, so I had a four-time affair with another man.

I told my husband about my affair some months later, and he was not the least bit jealous. He hardly reacted at all - as though he didn't care. I had expected him to harp on me about it like I still harp on him. Let me tell you, Abby, his lack of jealousy hurt me as much as when I learned about his one-nighter.

FURIOUS IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR FURIOUS: I don't know the reason for your husband's reaction, but it's entirely possible that he doesn't value fidelity as much as you. Not all men (or women) are fiercely possessive of the one they love, but women have a tendency to be more possessive than men.

Governor Names 'October As Deborah Center Month

Gov. Bob Martinez helped to kick off a statewide Deborah fund-raising campaign by proclaiming October Deborah Heart and Lung Center Month.

More than 17,000 Deborah Hospital Foundation member volunteers from 49 local chapters around the state will be participating in this major campaign to reach out to the community as both an awareness program and fund-raising effort. Deborah continues to save lives like 2-year-old Gage Slaughter, this year's poster child who needed life-saving heart surgery.

Contributions raised through this major program go to support the internationally respected Deborah Heart and Lung Center in Browns Mills, N.J. The center specializes in the diagnosis, research and treatment of heart and lung diseases. In 1923, Deborah started out as a tuberculosis sanatorium changing over to heart and lung diseases in the 1950s when antibiotics eradicated tuberculosis. For 65 years, Deborah has treated patients and their families at no cost. This includes more than 380 residents of Florida.

"Deborah counts on the support of compassionate people everywhere to ensure that there can be no price on life," said Arlene Trister, director for the state of Florida. ## Hillhaven Honors Employees

Hillhaven Healthcare Center, 950 Mellonville Ave., Sanford, recently held a surprise "Superior Rating Party" to honor employees for their service that earned the facility a Superior Rating by the State of Florida.

According to Sue Swinehart, Hillhaven's activities director, the HRS Office of Licensure and Certification sends teams of surveyors to Hillhaven and all other health care facilities annually to inspect each department - Nursing, Dietary, Housekeeping, Activities, Business Office, Social Services, Administration, and Maintenance - for the quality of care and service each gives to residents.

In order to qualify for a Superior Rating, a facility must exceed minimum standards set by the state on an ongoing basis. Swinehart said. During the survey, each department is carefully checked and staff, residents and family members are interviewed by surveyors.

After the 3-day survey, Swinehart said each department at Hillhaven was recommended for the Superior Rating. "The most frequent comment we hear about our facility," said Edward W. DuRant, administrator, "is that the atmosphere here is so warm and friendly, very much like a family thanks to our dedicated and caring staff."

Hillhaven employees, expecting a general staff meeting, gathered in the facility dining room and each was presented with an engraved plaque and individually thanked by DuRant. Refreshments were served following the presentation to employees by their department managers.

Stick's Southern Glass Tinting For Quality Solar Control Film

Stick's Southern Glass Tinting, 425 W. Airport Blvd., Sanford, is an authorized dealer for Martin Processing, Inc., Llummar quality auto and solar control window film.

Stick's offers trained technicians, who care about the appearance of your auto, home, office or business, plus the finest quality film offered in the market today. Together they ensure quality solar protection, workmanship and neatness that will last long after the work is completed.

Florida Power & Light recognizes the importance of solar film and includes it in their Watt-Wise Program.

Here are some of the important reasons why Llummar film can enhance your life and help keep Florida residents cool.

Martin Processing, Inc., America's pioneer creator of solar control window films, offers a wide selection of professionally installed films that increase comfort, cut energy requirements, beautify windows, reduce glare and improve safety.

Llummar reflects the sun's heat and absorbs most all of the incident ultraviolet rays. Your furniture, drapes and carpets fade less and last longer. You save on energy costs plus you save the cost of replacing carpet, upholstery and even paint.

Ordinary glass will break and splinter possibly causing injuries. Llummar helps hold broken glass and reduces splintering.

Llummar reflective films are available in nine color and transmission combinations, and the deluxe color both sides series is available in bronze or gray.

Martin leads the industry with the addition of its new splattered Llummalloy window films which exhibit a soft gray color and incorporate in their construction tough, corrosion resistant metal alloys.

Auto-Tint, the sun filtering film for auto windows, allows you to have tinted windows at low cost. Auto-Tint screens heat from the sun to reduce the inside temperature of your car by as much as 10 percent and gives you more privacy.

It also protects upholstery and carpeting from the sun's damaging ultraviolet rays, filters out ultraviolet rays and glare to reduce visual fatigue, cools your car reducing the amount of air conditioning needed and saving fuel.

With strength one-third as strong as steel, Auto-Tint reduces shattering in the event of an accident.

The owner Dale Stickney is assisted by three technicians, his son, Dale Jr., John Tullo and Nina Baker.

Protect your investment, please call 321-4848 for a free estimate and appointment today.

Motorists Rack Up Record Mileage

DETROIT (UPI) — U.S. motorists racked up a record 3.65 trillion miles on their odometers last year, mostly for pleasure and mostly in a car or truck, the latest Hertz Corp. study shows.

The record distance, measured in passenger miles, is up 13.5 percent from the previous year, and translates into nearly 42 miles per day per person, the giant rental and leasing company said in its fourth annual "Mobile America" survey.

The study, which calculates its overall figures among the nation's 239.3 million people, showed Americans' travel spending, whether for business, pleasure, or around-town trips and errands, rose 19.4 percent to a record $1.26 trillion or $5.521 per person.

Outlays include food and lodging away from home, but another $193.6 billion — or $1.055 per person — was spent on travel-related items. That is a substantial 40.9 percent jump from 1985, the report said.

The Hertz study covers all forms of transportation, from walking to commercial flying. Private flying and pleasure boating are not included.

Pleasure trips accounted for one-third of the nation's travel. More Americans took fewer vacations than in 1985, but traveled further and spent more, the study showed. While commuting was also up, other forms of business travel showed a much smaller increase.

About 138.1 million Americans traveled nearly 1.16 trillion miles for pleasure, and took an average of five vacations or weekend-type journeys last year. This compares with 104.8 million Americans who traveled for pleasure in 1985, for an average of nearly seven vacations.

Miles traveled on such jaunts last rose 27.6 percent from 1985, Hertz said.

Outlays associated with such trips amounted to nearly $315 billion, compared with $245.1 billion in 1985. Cars and trucks accounted for 84 percent of all vacation mileage traveled last year, with airplanes accounting for 13 percent and other forms of transportation making up the rest.

Commuting to and from work rose in time, distance traveled, and of course, expense, the study showed.

Gerry Thibodeau, owner of Gerry Thibodeau Florida Gun Builders, custom gunsmiths.

Thibodeau Florida Gun Builders Offer Gun Building And Repair

With hunting season upon us, it's time to get those rifles and shotguns out of the closet to make sure they are in good, safe working condition. If they haven't been used since last year, oil could have turned to a glue-like substance that will gum up the works and cause the gun to malfunction.

Gerry Thibodeau owner of Gerry Thibodeau Florida Gun Builders of Longwood, advises you to bring your gun in now to avoid the last minute rush when the business goes from working on 30 guns a week to 150 guns a week.

Thibodeau is an authorized Florida agent for selling hunting and fishing licenses and offers good tips on where to find the best places for fish or game. They have all types of ammunition and do custom reloading.

The only one in this area doing all in-house repair and gun building, Florida Gun Builders does refinishing, bluing, nickeling and parkerizing. They do all custom machine work on pistols and rifles and restore antique guns.

This is a unique gun shop which gives the kind of special service you'll find at very few places.

Located at 609 N. County Road 427, Longwood, one-fourth mile north of State Road 434, this "mom and pop" gun store has an old fashioned atmosphere where they take care of their customers' problems on an individual basis.

The walls and shelves are decorated with artifacts... a dugout canoe from Ecuador, collectibles, snowshoes and proud trophies from hunting and fishing trips gone by.

Not far away, also in Longwood, Thibodeau has a 2,000 sq. ft. workshop where all the work is done. With an inventory of parts valued at $20,000 to $30,000, they have most parts in stock thus eliminating delays.

Gerry has been in the business for 20 years. He has been working in Longwood for eight years and in business full time in Longwood for two years. There is an experienced and knowledgeable four-man staff.

Florida Gun Builders does work for several area law enforcement agencies.

They sell new and used rifles, shotguns and pistols as well as golden oldie favorites - old Colts, Smith and Wessons and Winchester.

Most work is completed in two weeks.

Thibodeau said for the most part, older model guns are better built than the new ones. If necessary Thibodeau reconditions and warranties used guns unless marked "as is." All guns repaired by Thibodeau are test fired before they go out of the shop.

Hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Phone 332-7012.

Type Of Hip Surgery Depends On Patient

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT - Several of my friends have had hip replacements. Some had steel sockets, some plastic. Which is better?

DEAR READER - The type of hip prosthesis and the precise technique of implanting it are highly individualized decisions that are made by the doctor, depending on the patient's needs, and the skill, experience and preference of the surgeon. I do not know which artificial hip is "better"; that is a choice best left to you and your orthopedic surgeon.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I have been diagnosed as having a non-cancerous cyst in my scrotum. The internist and urologist both say that surgical removal of the cyst will leave scar tissue which may cause as much pain as the cyst itself.

DEAR READER - Scrotal cysts are common and usually require no treatment. When small, they are painless and resemble the benign sebaceous cysts that can occur anywhere on the body. If your cysts are painful, they must be either large or infected.

I do not know whether scar tissue from surgery would be as painful as the cysts themselves. Because your situation is somewhat unusual, you evidently have a difficult decision to make. Perhaps a third opinion would help you to make up your mind.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I often use frozen dinners. The one I had last night listed 1,165 milligrams of sodium for the 10-ounce dinner. Is this a reasonable amount?

DEAR READER - Frozen dinners, like all prepared foods, contain a lot of salt, which is added during processing. Although some nutritional experts believe that Americans eat too much salt, for the average person (of any age), this does not present a problem because the kidneys can select the amount of dietary salt that is needed and will excrete the rest.

However, patients with hypertension may have to monitor their salt intake. Sodium chloride tends to make high blood pressure rise higher, so these patients often must restrict dietary salt. For most hypertensive patients, frozen dinners must be added to the list of prohibited substances, which includes cured meats, salted nuts and pretzels, junk food, dill pickles and similar foods.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

It's common knowledge that a high card signals encouragement. That's fine, as long as you can spare that encouraging card. But if the suit you want led will be played anyway, it's better to save your high cards to take tricks. How do you define a high card? Would you believe a six-spot?

Today's auction was simple and competitive. Although East-West might have taken a lot of tricks in a club partial, they allowed South to play in three spades. That contract was safe if declarer guessed the heart position, but an overtrick came about in an interesting fashion. Diamonds were led and continued. Declarer ruffed, played a spade to dummy's jack and drew trumps, discarding two clubs from dummy. He played ace and a heart, and made the right

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Ooel
YOUR BIRTHDAY
SEPTEMBER 30, 1987

Favorable changes will occur in the year ahead pertaining to conditions that affect you and your family. Be patient, however, because Rome wasn't built in a day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The feelings of a relative or a member of your family will be hurt today if this person thinks you are more considerate of outsiders than you are of him or her. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to restore the relationship. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH, 44101-3428.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A direct approach is your best route in a delicate situation you have been reluctant to face.

Bring it into the open instead of beating about the bush.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be careful how you handle yourself in career situations today. If you make the wrong moves, there's a chance you'll lose something you've already gained.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try to handle important assignments as early in the day as possible. In the afternoon, you are likely to be less effective and determined.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) After you've had time to review a recent happening, you may see that you weren't entirely blameless in a misunderstanding with a loved one. Make amends.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A collective venture can be carried off successfully today, provided both parties involved make an equal contribution. If they don't, it might fizzle.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Things will go smoothly today, provided your key word is cooperation. It will be up to you to set the example for others to follow.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you are decorating your personal surroundings today, don't use materials or designs that are more trendy and artistic than they are functional.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be kind to others today, but in a critical situation, don't let your heart rule your head. Do that which is most practical for all concerned.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A sympathetic friend of yours may not be the wisest one from whom to seek advice today pertaining to a family matter. This person's watiful solutions won't help.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today, it's best to maintain some distance between yourself and people working for you. Establish a cordial employer-employee relationship.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If your present budget has accumulated a little surplus, it makes sense to use it to pay off old debts before splurging and buying something new.
