FEBRUARY DRUMS

This silver quietude of snow— And yet a low insistent sound Comes faintly through to ears that strain

King Leopold, the new ruler of the Belgians, is only 32 years old. But Alexander the Great was younger than that when he died.

Another kidnaper has committed suicide. They seem to be getting so they know what it means to get caught.

As we get it some of these foreign sugar interests are trying to sweeten U. S. officials into giving them the American market.

The City of Chicago is trying to organize itself into a regular state. As if there were not enough opportunities for graft in the city already.

We can tell any German or Austrian how to secure for himself a safe place in history. He is the one to be killed that starts another World War.

Sorry to see that this fellow Sandino has been killed. He was the kind of a two-fisted, trigger-fingered revolutionary that we like. No soap leaves for him.

So much gold has been pouring into New York of late from exporters and investors abroad that clerks in the Assay Office have been unable to keep up with their job of weighing it. Since Friday of last week, more than $250,000,000 in gold is said to have come into that office.

Four more Army fliers are killed carrying the mail. That makes seven since the contracts were cancelled. Good men, too. Capable fliers. We wonder whether it's worth it. Just as a letter may be received today instead of tomorrow. Or more than likely as that a stamp collector can increase his collection.

It is probably true that even in 1933 the public debt of the U. S. government will not be as much as it is in England today, but it is as true that in England the $3,000-a-year man has to pay an income tax of $311 a year, whereas in this country he has to pay only $80 a year. What he will have to pay in 1934 is another story.

We may damn big business in the summer but in the winter big business moves to Florida and rescues many a little business from the specter of bankruptcy. Among big business men visiting in Florida this winter are Harvey Firestone, Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller, W. T. Vanderbilt, Edward F. Hines, E. T. Stansbury, and at least one more, practically all the rest.

Expenditures by the federal government during the past year, month by month, were as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Month and Amount. Rows include January 1933, February 1933, March 1933, April 1933, May 1933, June 1933, July 1933, August 1933, September 1933, October 1933, November 1933, December 1933, January 1934, February 1934.

The Wilcox Bill

The people of Sanford are particularly interested in the progress of the Wilcox municipal bankruptcy bill through the United States Congress, and the recent announcement that the measure has received the support of the Administration is immensely gratifying.

This so-called bankruptcy bill does not enable a city to repudiate its obligations, nor does it provide an opportunity for paying as little as the taxpayers may wish, but it does provide a vehicle for reaching a consolidation of conflicting taxpayer and bondholder interests.

Up to the present time it has been impossible to effect any settlement with bondholders which did not have the unanimous approval of all the bondholders. On this account a tentative agreement in West Palm Beach which had the consent of 98 percent of the city's creditors was upset by bondholders representing only two percent of the claims.

The Miami News points out that Florida particularly will be benefited by the Wilcox bill. "In this state alone," the News says, "there were, on Jan. 1 of this year, a total of 824 political subdivisions in default on bonds."

Opponents of the bill insist that the measure furnishes an incentive to cities and counties to default on their debts, and that it in effect encourages repudiation. Taxpayers, hoping to get their taxes reduced, might bring pressure on governing authorities to default on interest or principal payments.

No doubt in theory such an argument is good, but in practice, governing authorities would find that there are other interests than the taxpayers which have to be protected. Going through bankruptcy can have no better effect on the credit of a city than on the credit of an individual.

In the case of Sanford and most of the other political subdivisions of Florida which have already defaulted, loans could be no more difficult to obtain than they already are. Resort to bankruptcy now could hardly affect this city's credit standing adversely.

The great mass of the people know that on a city's capacity to borrow depends its ability to finance paving and sewer projects, parks and playgrounds, sidewalks, auditoriums, and practically all other municipal improvements.

Cancer Researches

Invention may be the cause of much of our unemployment, as the Technologists insist, but nobody will suggest that the invasion of scientists in the field of medical and surgical researches be discontinued.

The year of 1933, a rather unproductive year for most of us, saw four discoveries in the field of science which according to the Literary Digest, are more important for the future study of cancer than anything else ever learned about it since man first began to observe the disease.

"One, of particular significance," says the Digest, is a general survey being conducted by Prof. William H. Woglom, of the Crocker Institute, which has resulted in the discovery that rats produce a substance that cures tumors grafted on them.

"The second discovery, made by Dr. James B. Murphy of the Rockefeller Institute, relates to the effect of certain tissue extracts on tumors. The third is the work of Drs. Mayne R. Curtis and Wilhemina Dunning and Prof. Frederick D. Bullock of the Crocker Institute, which indicates various means of avoiding cancer.

"This discovery," said Dr. Frances Carter Wood, director of the Crocker Institute of Cancer Research at Columbia, "places in our hands a means of studying the earliest stages of cancer, which is rarely possible either in human beings or animals—of seeing, so to speak, the cells take on their malignant qualities. It also will have far-reaching effects, he believes, in providing protective sanitation."

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Ramsey this morning placed in the Kays Drug Store window a lamp post drawing placed there for criticism by the citizens who are interested in the proposed improvement which is already covered by ordinance.

REPUBLICANS IN NOTED SPEAKERS DISCORD ON NEW TO APPEAR AT CAMPAIGN PLANS ROLLINS SUNDAY

Senate, House Groups Split With National Board To Go On Own

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Falling to agree on a program of action with the national committee, the Senate and House Republican campaign committees decided yesterday to combine and proceed alone in the party drive upon the Democratic Congressional majorities this fall.

Senator Hastings of Delaware, head of the Senatorial committee and Representative Bolton of Ohio, chairman of the Congressional committee, announced in a joint statement the plan to conduct the campaign without the assistance of the national committee headed by Everett Sanders of Indiana.

The statement said the joint committee would have the "full cooperation" of the national organization but it added the latter would "take no part in the campaign activities of the combined Senatorial and Congressional committees."

Hastings would not elaborate on this statement, but other Republican leaders said there had been a failure on the part of the Senate and House groups to "get together" with the national committee.

Sanders, about whose continuance as national chairman there has been some factional dispute, was said to authorize his quarters to have advised beginning the campaign this year in June. The Senate and House chiefclerks, however, thought it should start sooner.

Also there were said to be differences over financial aid, the national committee having little to offer in that direction. The joint statement announced a publicity bureau would be set up here under the direction of Warren W. Wheaton, for 10 years a Washington correspondent for the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

It also announced a bureau of economic research was analyzing Administration moves with a view to placing "factual" information before the people. There will be no "political ballyhoo in the findings of this bureau," it said.

Sanford Forum

Editor of The Sanford Herald, I enjoy reading your editorials in the Herald—all of them. In fact I think that they are as good as any I have ever read in either small or large newspapers.

But could I presume to carry your editorial of last evening on, "What DO WE KNOW" a little further? Of course there are many things that we can never fully know in this life, but surely there are some things even in the realm of religious truth that we can know. I cannot agree with the philosopher who said that, "I only know that I am."

For there are some things that we know and know that we know. We may not be able to set them forth in a logical or mathematical formula—but we feel that we know them just the same. A little child knows that he loves his parents—and he can prove it—and he can only do it in his actions—maybe these actions do not fully reveal the depth of his love—but it is the only way he can prove it.

So in the realm of religious truth, there are a lot of speculative questions upon which many disagree but there are some things I think we may be able to know. For if you submit a series of questions to a thousand laymen or doctors or scientists you probably will get a variety of answers, probably if the questions are of a speculative as well as to the fine quality of the Florida stock. The middle west today is in the grip of the worst storms of the winter and telegraph and telephone lines are demoralized all over Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri. Many trains are stalled in snowdrifts over a wide area, and Indianapolis street car traffic is tied up.

Farley Denies Apathy Over Air Mail Probe

DURHAM, N. C., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Postmaster General Farley yesterday issued a flat denial that he had made a "personal remark" about Chairman Black of the Senate committee investigating air mail contracts, and also that he had said he was not in "sympathy" with the probe.

"I made no remark and I said nothing on the occasion of Mr. Brown's visit to my office that in any way be construed as against Senator Black personally or the activity of his or any other committee," Farley told the Associated Press here.

Herald Staff Enjoys Zernovean's Lettuce

Through the courtesy of Nick Zernovean, prominent local grower, The Herald staff was privileged today to enjoy several heads of exceptionally choice lettuce cut from Mr. Zernovean's seven-acre lettuce patch, and presented with his compliments.

Mr. Zernovean stated that this area has been fortunate in having had some fine weather this year, and as a result crops of all kinds are abundant and rich in appearance. The lettuce market is not at its best, Mr. Zernovean stated, but there appears to be a good market for fine lettuce, such as that which Mr. Zernovean brought to The Herald office today.

Music Festival Given At Woman's Club

A chorus of over 30 voices from Seminole County participated in the presentation of the music festival, "The Rose Maiden," given last night at the Woman's Club before an audience of over 100 persons. The affair was sponsored by the Sanford Kiwanis Club and the Sanford Woman's Club and proceeds were used for the former's fund for under-privileged children and the latter's building fund.

Novelties, sheet, shimmering, thrilling novelties, are the rule rather than the exception in EKO—Radio Pictures' musical extravaganza, "Flying Down to Rio" and the chap who said "there is nothing new under the sun" is dead wrong.

First, the story starts out with handsome Gene Raymond darting about the country in a "flying piano" (if flies, food seeking, so-called spots to compose heavenly music).

Forming a party spending Friday at the Central Florida Exposition in Orlando, were Mrs. J. B. Coughlin, and the Misses Margaret Coughlin, Lillian Adams, Nancy Rosetter, Hazel Whitburn, Ella Macdon Jones, and Cecelia Ludwick.

NEW BLIZZARD SWEEPS OVER EASTERN U. S.

Northeast Section Is Again Covered Over By Heavy Snowfall; 6 Deaths Reported

A blizzard, swirling over the United States from Indiana east to the Atlantic coast, today buried almost a quarter of the country under a blanket of snow.

Six deaths are attributed to the blizzard which has added five inches of snow to that already piled high in the northeast section and bids fair to add a couple more inches before it abates.

At Portland, Maine, the mounting snow blanket reached a depth of two and one-half feet.

In the Ohio Valley and the Virginia it averaged eight inches. Fatalities included a woman found dead from exposure at Chicago, and an engineer who died in a train wrecked by a snowbank in Maine.

The storm, which had its origin in northern Texas, moved eastward leaving an area over the Mississippi river snow-free.

Weather almost as dangerous and more widespread than that which attended the Army's military debut a week ago, hampered government aviation today.

Sleet, snow, and freezing temperatures over the eastern section of the United States kept many of the planes on the ground and interrupted schedules on others.

Snow, the heaviest of the winter in some sections, blanketed most of the northern half of the country yesterday, slowing down traffic and halting army air mail activities.

From the Nebraska plains to the Atlantic ocean, most of the territory above and some below the Mason and Dixon line was painted deep white.

Roads in central and southern Illinois were travelled with difficulty as a fall of two to eight inches hit that state. It snowed most of the day in Chicago, laying a cover five inches deep by evening.

Commercial airplane service was curtailed and no army mail planes had left or arrived at a late afternoon hour. At St. Louis, where the snow reached seven inches, airplane service was cancelled.

Eastward over Indiana, Ohio, lower Michigan, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York and New England, the snow continued. It extended into the southland with Richmond, Va., reporting the heaviest fall of the season with a maximum of 16 inches.

Beginning about noon, a swirling snow storm thickened New York with a reputation of last week's blizzard which tied up transportation in the metropolitan area Tuesday. About 35,000 men were still at work there clearing the tracks of last week's storm as the new snow fell. Temperatures were moderate, though there was a brisk wind.

The food and fuel problem became acute for many families in (Continued on page four)

WALLACE ASKS PUBLIC HEARING ON CELERY PACT

Agriculture Secretary Names Lakeland As Site Of Meet Mar. 5

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Secretary Wallace announced Saturday a public hearing on a proposed marketing agreement submitted by the Florida celery industry will be held at Lakeland, Mar. 5. The agreement seeks to increase returns to growers through regulation of the market supply.

W. G. Mead, farm administration official, said a control committee for the industry, authorized to determine market requirements with a view to obtaining the best prices to producers with out unduly increasing costs to consumers, was to be set up by the pact.

The regulation of supplies, he said, would be accomplished by prorating the volume shipped among the growers and shippers on the basis of the celery they had available for market when proration became effective. Both growers and shippers will be represented on the control committee.

National proration of shipments between Florida and California also was contemplated whenever such regulations of shipments may be needed to stabilize markets.

Carelessly Tended Furnace Blamed For 9 Deaths At College

HANOVER, N. H., Feb. 26 (AP)—A furnace tended by an unskilled hand was blamed today for the death of nine students, the worst tragedy in the history of Dartmouth college.

They were killed by carbon monoxide gas as they slept early yesterday in the Theta chi fraternity house.

The explosion apparently had disconnected a chimney pipe and the deadly fumes crept through the 16 room house.

A statement issued by Dr. R. E. Miller, medical referee, said "The position of the shaker arm and check draught lever indicated that the furnace had been fixed the night before by someone who was not entirely familiar with the furnace."

The dead were: William S. Fullerton, 20, of Cleveland Heights, 11 Edward F. Oldenke, 21, New York City.
William M. Smith, Jr., 21, Massachusetts, N. Y.
Edward M. Wentworth, Jr., 21, Mt. Hope, Pa.

NAZIS SWEAR ALLEGIANCE TO ADOLF HITLER

Million Persons Vow Unquestionable Fidelity To Dictator In Unique Ceremony

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, because of the fact of sovereignty of Germany, yesterday when in a ceremony equal in pomp to an ancient Roman triumph, more than 1,000,000 Nazis throughout the Reich swore allegiance to him personally.

A day of trumpets announced the arrival, shortly before 10 A. M. of Rudolf Hess, Hitler's chief representative, who presided at the ceremony.

In Munich's famous Olympic Stadium, not far from the beer garden where Hitler started his political "speaking" career, a million people gathered to witness the ceremony. Three hundred Nazi banners waved in the light of a sun which shone brightly.

The whole Reich was covered with Munich by radio. The 100,000 to 200,000 Nazi leaders of the Reich followed and some 1,000,000 others, in other cities, accompanied some other radio broadcast.

The ceremony was held in the afternoon, Hitler and Hess presiding. The ceremony was held in the afternoon, Hitler and Hess presiding.

GREEN FINDS 11,690,000 AS IDLE IN U. S.

Industrial Unemployment Increased In January But Not To Other Year Levels

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Industrial unemployment increased again in January, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said yesterday, but not so much as in other departments.

Green estimated there were 11,690,000 persons unable to find employment in normal industrial pursuits in this number, 1,600,000 had obtained emergency relief while nearly 7,100,000 were without any means of earning a livelihood.

The number who lost their jobs from December to January in each of the four divisions on which Green said was 1,600,000 in 1933, 1,800,000 in 1932, 2,000,000 in 1931 and 2,100,000 in 1930.

Green said that the unemployment situation in January was not as bad as in 1932, but that it was still a serious problem.

Tornadic Winds Hit Southwest Of City; Many Dead In South

Industrial Unemployment Increased In January But Not To Other Year Levels

DAYTONA, Feb. 26 (AP)—Tornadoes striking suddenly on the Sabbath and early this morning, left 16 dead in three Southwestern states, scores of injured, and heavy property damage, with Florida included in the wake of the torrid winds.

Storms late Sunday extended from Louisiana to North Carolina, with Mississippi reporting 10 dead, Alabama three, Georgia two, and Louisiana one. Many persons were injured as the storms, spread over the wide area, dipped into residential sections to destroy homes and buildings.

North and central Florida and portions of the southern end of the peninsula today experienced high winds which at times reached tropical proportions. The winds were accompanied by heavy rainfall over almost all of Florida, and colder weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

Rumors of widespread damage and death at Tallahassee, Fla., were dispelled when an investigation revealed that only two persons there received serious injury, although several were cut by glass and flying debris. Several homes and buildings were partly or entirely destroyed.

The "tornado belt" of Alabama, where storms in March 1932, killed more than 300 persons, reported the heaviest loss of life last night with early a tomatoe plating the death toll.

Non-Moridian, in Western Mississippi, not far from the Alabama line, a family of six was wiped out as a tornado dipped into a rural section. The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Calvert and their four children at Center Hill, Miss. A negro was reported killed at Keawane, two miles distant.

The storm struck there about 2:30 P. M. Heavy rains and high winds accompanied black clouds. The Calvert family was killed as the storm tore their house apart. Several other homes in the community were damaged, and communication facilities were impaired.

The storm then swept eastward through Central Alabama. Early reports said nine had died in Clay county. Apparently cutting a zigzag course the storm hit other communities, mostly rural, and nothing another death for a total of 16.

Keeping on a northeasterly course, the storm then dipped into Georgia, hammering communities about Atlanta. A score of homes were destroyed in surrounding rural communities, and several were injured.

At Deland, three airplanes and a large bungalow were destroyed at Sky Harbor airport.

Pulitka reported several thousand dollars worth of property damage from tornado winds which unroofed houses and blew down trees.

Orlando reported almost the same kind of damage. Trees uprooted, signs and tinny shacks destroyed, and many systems cluttered with leaves and debris.

Some of the windows of the Anapelt Hotel were blown in, while a window in a downtown florist shop was shattered by the force of the wind which swept into Orange Avenue in the business district.

Reports from many sections of the state were meager due to a disruption of telephone and telegraphic communication. Lines were down in all directions from Orlando, but repairs were being made rapidly.

Property Damage Here Estimated At $2500; Scores Frightened By Sudden 'Twister'

The near torrid force winds which swept into this county from the southwest this morning at about 6:45 o'clock brought property damage totaling nearly $2,500, frightened scores of persons, and gave rise to numerous rumors, including a story that C. J. Lamb, Lake Mary resident, had been killed by a falling tree.

Estimate of the amount of property damage was made early this afternoon, before telephone communication had been restored in outlying towns, some of which are believed to have been in the path of the queer storm that came suddenly out of the southwest.

The estimated $2500 damage includes losses suffered in Lake Mary and southwest Sanford residential, business and municipal property.

George Phillips of Lake Mary reported that one of three buildings comprising the Lake Mary Casino was blown away by the winds. He estimated losses about $100.

Frank Evans and H. D. Durant, Lake Mary residents, together with Mr. Phillips, reported that George Wilson, chicken farm operator suffered about $500 damage when the wind destroyed a portion of his hen houses and other property.

The homes of Mr. Mary Vaughan and J. T. Foster at the western end of Geneva Avenue, suffered damage to roof and gutters, with probable loss at those homes reaching $200.

The new municipal cemetery in which the winds dipped recently, estimated as being in the north-horizon of $1000. The roof of the tank pavilion at the cemetery was twisted off and tossed into a clump of bushes about 100 feet south of the building.

Scores of tombstones were moved from their foundations, while grave markers, flower pots, vases, and various types of shrubbery were strewn in every direction.

The Mulberry cemetery to the east also suffered considerable damage when huge piles of earth and debris, snapping off smaller trees and crushing tombstones, fell in a haphazard and shattering manner.

The wind appeared to have lifted after passing through the cemeteries, for there were no other traces of storm damage, but as was evident in a 100-foot by 200-foot well beginning just west of the Van Horn residence and extending to the eastern boundary of the Mulberry cemetery.

Numerous other properties suffered slight damage, according to all available reports early this afternoon. Disruption of telephone service to Ocala, Geneva, Longwood, Forest City, and other points made it impossible to gather additional information as to the damage.

Mr. Phillips painted a vivid picture of the storm which he witnessed from his residence on the shore of Lake Mary.

"It was one of the most beautiful yet awful sights that I have ever seen."
