

FOOD IN PACKAGES MUST BE BRANDED UNDER NEW RULING

MOST OF SANFORD PRODUCTS ARE EXCEPTED

Last year the shippers were obliged to mark all packages that were shipped to New York state as this is a state law, but now it seems that certain vegetables must be marked shipped to all markets and the growers of this section should read the following:

The United States Department of Agriculture has sent out the following warning to shippers of fruits and vegetables, including men making occasional shipments as well as dealers and large truck farmers:

Food in packages form shall be deemed misbranded if the quantity of the contents be not plainly marked on the outside of the package in terms of weight, measure or numerical count. Shippers of farm products are so marked before being shipped in interstate commerce, for inspectors of the bureau of chemistry who encounter shipments not properly branded are instructed to collect official samples of the foods contained and take appropriate action under the terms of the Federal Food and Drug Act. Violations of this rule are frequent among farmers, who are ignorant of it, according to the bureau's Kansas City office.

The following articles may be marked by either weight or dry measure, or when packed in barrels, in terms of third, half or three-quarter barrels:

Apples, beans, cucumbers, grapes, okra, onions, peaches, pears, peas (in pod), peppers, potatoes and tomatoes. Many of these articles, such as apples, cucumbers, etc., may also be marked with the number of articles marked with the number of articles in the package.

For the present, or until further public notice to the contrary, of not less than two months, the following articles need not be marked when packed as described:

Asparagus in boxes and cases. Beets with tops bunched in drums and hampers. Cabbage in crates. Cantaloupes in crates and baskets. Carrots with tops bunched in drums and hampers. Cauliflower in crates and hampers. Celery in boxes and crates. Eggplant wrapped in paper and packed in crates. Kale in barrels, baskets and hampers. Lettuce in barrels, drums and hampers. Onions with tops, bunched in drums and hampers. Radishes, bunched in drums and hampers. Spinach in barrels, baskets and hampers. Turnips with tops, in drums and hampers.

Y. M. C. A. Man Prisoner

Paris, Aug. 29.—Carl D. Lytle, Y. M. C. A. worker, who has been missing since June 4th has been located. He is a prisoner of war in Germany. A postcard carrying this information has been received at the headquarters of the Foyer du Soldat here.

The card is of the regular form issued to prisoners and except for the statement that Mr. Lytle is sound and well gives no clue of the things that his friends would like to know about him. The card bears the postmark of Limburg.

Mr. Lytle disappeared from sight when the Germans entered the village of Mesy during their June push on the Solons-Rheims front. He had safely made his way out of town once but returned to rescue a woman and some children that had been left behind in the precipitate flight. She had been seen entering the village from one side and a German advance guard was coming in from another.

Mr. Lytle's home is in North Brookfield, Mass., and he is a graduate of Brown University and before becoming a Red Triangle worker was a school principal.

Sunday at Congregational Church Services will be resumed at the usual hours this Sunday. Mr. Brower will speak in the morning on "Victory for the Church," and in the evening on "Some Vacation Impressions."

18 TO 45 PASSAYS

Senate Concurs With Some Modifications

Washington, Aug. 27.—The manpower bill bringing within the army draft all men from 18 to 45 years old was passed late today by the senate with a modified work or fight clause.

All efforts to change the age limits or to direct separate classification of youths under 21 failed, and the measure now goes to conference between the house and senate, with no differences for serious controversy except the work or fight provision.

The senate was recorded unanimously for the bill, Senator Gore of Oklahoma who cast the only negative vote on the roll call, withdrew it and was excused from voting.

The "work or fight" amendment as retained in the bill provides:

"That when any person shall have been placed in a deferred or exempted class for any of the reasons in this paragraph set forth, he shall not be entitled to remain therein unless he shall in good faith continue, while physically able to do so, to work at and follow such occupation, employment or business, and if he fails to do so, he shall again become subject to the draft. The President shall make regulations for enforcing this provision.

"This proviso shall not apply in the case of a strike if the strikers have submitted or are willing to submit the dispute to the war labor board, agree to abide and do abide by its decision and do at once resume work and continue work pending such decision. The said board shall take up and decide all such disputes as speedily as practicable."

Speaking in support of the making 18 years the minimum age, Senator Hitchcock declared before peace can come the allies must have a great military triumph.

LEWIS FOOD ADMINISTRATOR

Appointed by Mr. Beacham Last Tuesday

It would appear that the selection of H. B. Lewis, as food administrator for Seminole county is a wise and an appreciated move on the part of Hon. Braxton Beacham, state food administrator. The appointment of Mr. Lewis took effect Tuesday, the 27th and hereafter his services will come under the head of the most patriotic free service that a man can render his government.

While Mr. Lewis has only been a resident of Sanford for the past three years, coming here from his old home, Defiance, Ohio, he has become well known and liked throughout the entire county. He is listed among the independent growers of Sanford and is a director in the Sanford Truck Growers, Inc., and although a very busy man, considers the food administration one of the most essential war works being carried on and in view of his sincerity in the war, the gift of his only son to Uncle Sam's navy, he feels that aside from being a patriotic holder of some of every thing Uncle Sam has had to sell, he should render additional service and with his usual energy has accepted the responsibility of this important service on the basis of many other big men who are giving all for the cause.

R. J. Holly has been holding the position temporarily since Mr. Huff left for the north but was obliged to give it up last week as he expects to go overseas soon.

Under further notice Mr. Lewis can be found at his office in the Seminole Bank building, opposite the Herald office, telephone 48.

Joe Chittenden in Grape

A rumor started by grapevine telegraph said that Joe Chittenden has been severely wounded in France but no one had any direct communication regarding same and it has never appeared in the daily lists. Joe's many friends here hope that the rumor is untrue and that he is still safe and sound on the front lines battling against the Huns.

JOY RIDES ON SUNDAY ELIMINATED

FUEL ADMINISTRATION REQUESTS BUT DEMANDS

Washington, Aug. 29.—The fuel administration today called upon the public in states east of the Mississippi river to cease using all classes of automobiles, with a few named exceptions, motorcycles and motorboats on Sundays until further notice, as a gasoline conservation measure. Only voluntary compliance with the letter and spirit of the request will prevent the issuance of a mandatory order prohibiting the use of gasoline on Sundays, it was declared at the fuel administration. Automobiles for hire are included in the curtailment program. Motor vehicles to which the restrictions do not apply were announced as:

Tractors and motor trucks employed in actual transportation of freight.

Vehicles of physicians used in performance of professional duties.

Ambulances, fire apparatus, police patrol wagons, undertakers' wagons and conveyances used for funeral.

Railway equipment using gasoline.

Repair outfits employed by telephone and public service companies.

Motor vehicles on errands of necessity in rural communities where transportation by steam or electricity is not available.

The action was taken by the fuel administration, it was stated, to meet a threatened shortage of gasoline for shipment over seas created by increased domestic demands and extensive military operations in France.

"The United States fuel administration considers it necessary that a limited conservation of gasoline be undertaken in the states east of the Mississippi river, in view of the increased demand for gasoline for war purposes and the paramount obligation of meeting promptly and fully all overseas requirements, and a statement issued jointly by Administrator Garfield and Mark S. Requa, director of the oil division of the fuel administration.

"An appeal is made therefore to the people of the United States, east of the Mississippi river, to exercise rigid economy in the consumption of gasoline during the next few weeks as a necessary and practical act of patriotism.

"War necessities are being and will continue to be promptly and fully met, but this is the period of the year when consumption of gasoline is at its highest, and the increased domestic demands, together with the extensive military operations in France, have rendered necessary for a limited period, the adoption of safeguards against possible shortage.

"In view of the difficulty, if not the impossibility of differentiating between the various uses to which automobiles are applied the United States fuel administration believes that the greatest measure of economy can be effected with the least interference through the discontinuance of the use of all classes of motor vehicles, motor boats and motorcycles on Sundays.

Appeals to Patriotism

"The United States fuel administration, therefore, requests that in the section of the United States east of the Mississippi river there shall be a discontinuance of the use of the vehicles above specified including all such as are operated for hire, on each Sunday hereafter until notified that the need for such discontinuance has ceased."

After listing the exceptions to the request, the statement makes an appeal "to the patriotic men and women of America, east of the Mississippi river to undertake, voluntarily, additional conservation in the operating of their own automobiles, wherever possible."

President Will Sign It

Washington, Aug. 29.—Final action by congress on the Manpower bill and its transmission to President Wilson for his signature is expected today.

With sincere good wishes I remain,

Very truly yours, Mrs. Arthur G. Cummer, Director Woman's Bureau, Jacksonville Warehouse.

IMPORTANT CENTERS CAPTURED BY ALLIES IN FORWARD MOVEMENT

GUARDS TO DAYTONA

Seminole Soldiers Will Attend Encampment on Labor Day

The big encampment of the guards of every county that will be held at Daytona next Monday, Labor Day, will be the first of the kind during the war and promises to be a grand affair.

The Seminole Guards under Captain Dinger, Lieutenants Turner and Maxwell will attend and it is thought that nearly 100 of them will get over on that day. The number will only be limited by the cars and if sufficient cars can be obtained there will be a big bunch of the husky Seminoles on hand.

The Seminole Guards have been training since they were mustered in last year and nothing has been allowed to interfere with the regular drill night each week.

The squads in other parts of the county have also drilled once each week and the entire company will put up an appearance that is bound to bring honor on them. The encampment will start early Monday morning and the big drill will probably take place about ten in the morning and there will also be drills and parades in the afternoon. The day's enjoyment will conclude with a big dance at the casino in the evening and the boys will also have a chance to take a dip in the ocean while they are at Daytona.

The aeroplanes from Arcadia will also give some exhibition flying that day and altogether it will be a most enjoyable as well as an instructive event.

NOYON AND BAPAUME HAM AND PERONNE

Bapaume, one of the most important centers for which the English have been striving has been captured by Haig's forces. About the same time the French captured Noyon which is equally important on their lines.

The loss of Noyon will be a hard blow to the Germans. It was thought probable they would use the city as a pivotal point, upon which to base a defensive line, in an attempt to check the allied advance in this part of France. One railroad runs through Noyon. It comes up through the Oise valley from Compeigne and turning east at Noyon leads to Chauny and La Fere. A canal leads off to the north and terminates at Nesle. Two small railroad lines north and northeast, the former to Nesle and the latter to Ham.

Noyon is a great highway center. One road runs to Roye on the northwest; one to Ham, to the northeast; one goes up the Oise valley and another leads down into Carlepont to the southeast.

Noyon is an ancient town, being known to the Romans, Charlemagne was crowned king of the Franks at Noyon in 768 and Hugh Capet was elected king there in 987. It was the birthplace of John Calvin, who was born July 10, 1515.

This may mark a crossing of the Oise over a wide front. Along the front to the north of Noyon there was apparently no change from last night. British operating south of the Somme are said to be advancing, but details of their progress do not appear in official announcements.

West of Arras the Germans have launched heavy counter attacks, which were repulsed, according to British official reports, but it is admitted by London that the British forces holding positions at Oppy have been withdrawn to the west of that village. The Germans are apparently fighting rear guard actions along the canal du Nord, from the Oise to the Vesle. They are close to this waterway at Fresnoy wood.

As it stands today, the line closely resembles that in the Marne sector, after the Germans had made a determined stand on the Ourcq. It was feared that their resistance there had permitted the withdrawal of the German army from the Marne salient and here Gen. von Boehm may have an opportunity to try and remove the German army along the Somme river and along the Ham-Chauny line.

The development of the allied advance would seem to indicate the Germans may be unable to rescue their forces there.

No More Foolishness

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 20.—Notification that he would cross the line if other shot was fired by the Mexicans was sent tonight by Gen. De Rosey Cabell, commander of the American forces to Gen. P. Elias Calles, governor of Sonora. The notification was sent Gen. Calles by Gen. Cabell through the Mexican consul and the American consul at Nogales, Sonora, when firing was resumed on the Mexican side of the border after regrets had been offered by the Mexican officials under an armistice effected.

AMUSEMENT

Inside History of War at Star Soon There have been many interesting viewpoints of the causes of war with Germany, and the German ideas and policies of world domination.

But no individual can speak so authoritatively and from personal knowledge of the real facts as Ambassador James W. Gerard.

In the wonderful feature film production made from Ambassador James W. Gerard's book, "My Four Years in Germany," you see scene after scene that eloquently exposes the Prussian menace to America and world freedom.

You see the kaiser tell Gerard, after he had churlishly refused to see him for six months "that America had better look out after this war, I will stand no nonsense from her." You see the over-running of Belgium, the German prison camps, the U-boat warfare, the underground pages of German diplomacy that Germany never intended Americans to find out.

It is a historic document of tremendous importance to every man and woman who would know the truth and stand loyally behind our government.

In this picture you will see why American troops are over there. You will see the real reasons why they went there and why they will stay there to the last man if necessary until German autocracy is broken.

No mere bit of fiction in motion pictures will hold your interest and attention as this most remarkable page in world history which created international sensation in print.

Norma Talmadge at the Star "The Secret of the Storm Country will have a lesson for everyone who sees it," declared Norma Talmadge in discussing the picture. "In my opinion it is every motion picture actress' duty to uphold the sanctity of the home, and inasmuch as the fifth estate plays such an important part in moulding present day public opinion this photoplay will appeal not only to one class but to every rank of society, rich or poor, worldly or home-loving.

"It is because it has this appeal that I think it the greatest picture I have ever done. The story depends for its climax on love's sacrifice. And inasmuch as this is an era of sacrifice, it will teach to every man who sees it a lesson which will make her want to sacrifice herself for a worthy cause, either for home or for country.

"True, 'The Secret of the Storm Country' is melodrama, but the biggest successes in New York this year have been melodramas. The heroine, Tess, runs the gamut of emotion before the story is completed," continued Miss Talmadge. "Mother love is glorified, if there is such a thing as glorifying the noblest emotion of which the human heart is capable. The scenario has heart interest, love, action and sacrifice, and a more complete formula for a screen triumph cannot be imagined.

"OVER THERE"

Coming to The Star Theatre Soon

"Over There," the great war drama which Select Pictures is releasing for distribution will be shown at the Star Theatre soon. The picture which was made by the Charles Richman Pictures Corporation is being hailed as one of the finest of the year's productions, and its co-stars, Charles Richman and Anna Q. Nilsson, set a high standard in motion picture characterization.

The story, briefly told, concerns the lives of Monte Jackson and his sweetheart, Betty Adams.

Monte has an inherent fear of bloodshed, and when war breaks out sidesteps, on one excuse or another, enlistment. In time his friends question his excuses; he is blacklisted at his club, finally denounced as a coward, and dropped by his set. Even his fiancée, in the face of his continued evasions, loses faith and breaks their engagement. Only his mother stands by him.

Horried at the position he occupies, in a revulsion of feeling, Monte joins the service. He is sent to France, where Betty is already serving as a Red Cross nurse. Here he works out his salvation, climbs back into the love of friends and sweetheart, and covers himself with glory. See the picture. It is the sort of thing that might happen to any one of us. It has filled with human interest, and appeals to the innate love of country and flag in every loyal American. It is a red-blooded American play with a great idea behind it.

"Our Little Wife" Has Laughter and Thrills

"Our Little Wife," the new Goldwyn Picture starring Madge Kennedy, which will be seen at the Star Theatre Friday is a splendid screen version of Avery Hopwood's thrilling and hilarious stage success of the same name.

Its first exciting situation finds Dodo Warren, "Our Little Wife," a bride of a few minutes, worried to think that in marrying Herb Warren she has sorely disappointed a number of other men who loved her. Among them are Dr. Elliott, authority on heart murmurs; Bobo Brown, miniature painter, and Tommy Beldon, a free verse writer.

Before the wedding guests have dispersed, Dodo dazes her husband with the announcement that she will take all three defeated candidates for her hand on her honeymoon. So off they go—Dodo, a husband and three admirers. Herb, in an effort to have Dodo all to himself, sends a telegram to himself calling for his immediate return to the city. And of course the three other men would have to go too. But Dodo learns the telegram is spurious, and when Herb returns to get her he finds her being cared for by Dr. Elliott, as his sudden leave-taking had made Dodo hysterical. A scene follows, during which Dodo promises never to look at any other man. She keeps her promise long enough for Bobo to become engaged to Angie Martin and for Dr. Elliott to wed Fannie Weston.

Angered by her husband's neglect on their first wedding anniversary, Dodo grows rebellious. She telephones Dr. Elliott and her message makes his bride jealous. Meanwhile Angie has called on Dodo. She too has been neglected and is going to Tommy's fancy dress party with another man, whose apartment is directly under Tommy's. When Angie goes, Dodo phones Bobo to come and take her to the party to prevent Angie from being compromised. Here trouble begins to fly thick and fast for Dodo. One incident finds her dangling from a fire escape to prevent her jealous husband from following her in another man's room. After numerous other thrilling scenes Dodo and Herb patch things up, she vowing never to flirt again.

GARDEN HABIT ALWAYS GOOD

Writer in New York Publication Comes to the Front With Words of Great Wisdom.

The garden habit, once acquired, will never leave you. Good soil and cultivation are the chief essentials. The back yard is highly taxed property. Why not make it pay for itself in pleasure and profit to you, especially in these war times, when we need to conserve and utilize everything? We are constantly calling for more parks, more breathing spaces, in one congested city. Why not use those we have? This has been done with success in Chicago and Baltimore. Let us do it here.

Encourage your children to make a little garden in your back yard. It will prove safer than the streets and more healthful than the movies. We need more beauty, and here both use and beauty may be combined, for in one back yard in this city enough lettuce, radishes and parsley were grown to furnish the table for a whole summer, and so combined with the plants and flowers as to be harmonious in color. Shrubs, trees and grass spray out moisture into the air, which diminishes dryness and dust and renders the place where they are more healthful. We have neglected our back yards too long. Shall we improve them now?—Frances Peters; in New York Sun.

CENSOR SCIENCE NEWS

Popular Articles Divulge Secrets to the Foe.

Even French Academy of Sciences Innocently Gives Facts Useful to Enemy.

Paris.—How popular science discussed in the daily and magazine press conveys information to the enemy and how even great national institutions like the French academy of sciences sometimes innocently divulge secrets which this enemy finds useful is told by a writer in La Liberte, who protests against the indiscriminate propagation of technical information. The writer comments on the fact that the academy of sciences has suggested that the censorship be rendered more effective by the addition of a few savants who will be able to recognize valuable scientific information when they see it. In the view of the academy the press has been allowed, more by negligence than ignorance, to print much scientific information the importance of which escaped the editors and which should have been kept secret. The columns of matter relating to the German long-range gun form a case in point. M. Charles Le Goffic, a scientific writer of note, writing on this subject, says that the press has indulged in a veritable orgy of details concerning the experiments in progress in France to extend the range of the heavy artillery. Plans of shells and guns, he alleges, have even been published.

LOSES ALL HER RELATIVES

Seeing her castle destroyed and her old servants murdered by the Huns was the trying ordeal experienced by Dr. Antonette d'Artagnan, a French woman doctor, now in the United States. She is the last of that name in France. She has been wounded and gassed, receiving medals from King Albert of Belgium and General Petain. Her chateau was within three miles of the Belgian border when the Germans came and destroyed everything, including rare works of art, tapestries, paintings and everything they could lay their hands on. Nothing now remains but a pile of stones to mark this once beautiful castle. She hopes to recover her health in this country, far from the scenes of horror that she has witnessed, and then intends to return to help the American woman doctors in France.

One-half of the army administration General von Oven admitted that further delivery of the substitute has been stopped.

Between Seasons and "Calico" Hats

Since calico has become fashionable milliners have launched a few late-summer hats, made of various cotton materials and labeled "calico hats," that reflect this wartime fad. If we are destined to have to come to calico in our millinery it is a consolation to know that it can be made into such pretty headwear as that shown at the bottom of the picture above. We must be economical—it is the proper wartime pose, and therefore Miss Fifth Avenue promenade in a calico frock, although she may be discovered, to have it trimmed with a little real and costly lace. This is inconsistent but the pose is pretty anyway and the example set worth while.

The hat at the lower right is a genuine calico affair—the calico the old, familiar indigo blue with a white polka dot. The brim consisting is cut in a square and edged with rick-rack braid. The four corners of the square are turned up over the upper brim and tacked against the crown. A blue and white silk cord is tied about the crown and terminates at the front in a bow and ends. Little silk tassels finish the ends. The hat at the left is made of fine-printed cotton crepe in light pink and white. Instead of points there are square tabs turned back over the brim. This brim covering is edged with narrow white silk fringe and a white silk cord and tassels provide the trimming. The cord is tied in a bow at the front and back.

Pleat gingham have made some of the prettiest hats classed in the calico group. They are trimmed with scarfs of white organdy and usually made over plain sailor shapes. The calico hat was the last word in midsummer millinery and was immediately followed by late-summer and demi-season hats of gorgette crepe, satin and tafeta silk. Two of the crepe hats are shown at the top of the group. At the left is a pretty white model with odd ornaments of colored satin and embroidery silk, and at the right a deep, gold-colored hat. This is faced with black panne velvet and finished with black French knots and small figures embroidered in black, white and dark blue.

Gift for Soldiers.

Waterproof match safes for soldiers are sold for 94 cents, in silver finish. They would, of course, be of use to a man in uniform—khaki, or blue—and now the summer is here, white. Not only would they give admirable service if a U-boat happened to come along at an unpropitious moment, for the army or navy man while swimming to shore could light a cheering cigarette on the crest of a wave, but they would serve a good office at other times, when the soldier is necessarily often exposed to rainy weather.

Insertion on Neckwear.

Insertion is used in place of edging on some of the new neckwear and blouses. One edge of it gathered, and the other straight edge answers quite as well as the more usual scalloped edge so far as decorativeness goes.

Some wonderfully fine crabgrass and cowpea hay is being gathered during this nice haying weather. The stockmen have been filling their silos with corn fodder and velvet beans.

It is estimated that there was 1500 acres of fine field corn grown here this summer. Not quite as large a crop as last year as there was such a large acreage of cotton grown throughout the Celery Delta, as well as all through Seminole county. Two fine mules owned on John Russell's farm recently died, said to be from colic.

UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE

WEST GENEVA AVENUE

Well, the hot weather is still holding on, but I think we will soon have some cool weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Dowlas and children were calling on Mrs. Jack Vaughn Monday evening.

Well, I see our boys have still got the Germans on the run and I think we will soon have old Bill Kaiser on the run from the way they are fighting now.

I see the cotton is going fast now from Belair farm. It makes me think of my childhood days where we used to raise so much cotton and corn and rice. I don't think it will be long before people will get back to the olden days of living again.

If people would plant plenty of rice in Seminole county there would soon be a rice mill put here to clean it. Rice is high now and still going higher and can't get much at high price now.

Mrs. Jack Vaughn has a fine rice patch ready for cutting now, a plenty to last her all winter if she only had a way to clean it for us.

People could live a whole lot better, if they would get down to home raising food.

FLORIDA AS A PRODUCER OF SUGAR

The value of sugar as a food stuff has long been established. Everybody likes sugar, and it is now used in countless ways in modern day foods and drinks, says the State Marketing Bureau.

Pure cane sugar is the most easily digested of all known foods, and none other is capable of being assimilated without digestion in the stomach. A recent issue of the Louisiana Planter contains an article calling attention to the fact that the quickest reliable stimulation is produced by the use of sugar, which stimulation is produced in less than an hour from the time the sugar is consumed.

Alcohol acts quicker but it does not have food qualities, acting merely as a stimulant—at first excites and then stupefies.

The Planter further declares that although sugar has risen considerably in price, it is still probably the most economical of all popular food stuffs for the purpose of conveying energy to the human system. It must of course be borne in mind that a certain amount of protein and other matters are essential to make up what is called a balanced ration, but nevertheless, as regards nutrition and bodily stimulation, sugar is the most quickly acting of any food-stuffs.

An increase in sugar consumed, when not too great, and when the sugar is not too concentrated, lessens or delays fatigue, and increases working power. It has been found that the taking of three or four ounces of sugar a short time before the usual labor prevents the feeling of fatigue, the effect of the sugar being evident about half an hour after eating. A piece of sweet chocolate will abate hunger, as is well known.

Sugar cane will grow in every county in Florida. The state owns land enough in the Lake Okechobee region to produce all the sugar consumed in the United States.

A book on the subject of sugar has just been prepared by C. Lyman Spencer of Jacksonville, and is perhaps the best represented and illuminating work on the subject ever issued. It should be in the hands of every progressive citizen of Florida. If members of congress would carefully read and assimilate the arguments he represents there would be an overwhelming sentiment created to establish in Florida a sugar industry and relieve a situation which promises to become worse.

Sugar is made from beets, more of it than from cane, but the cultivation of beets is by hand labor, while cane can be produced by machinery, and more of it to the acre. Besides in Hawaii it has been demonstrated that excellent grades of paper can be made from cane bagasse, after the juice is extracted, and paper is scarce. Here is a chance to relieve another serious situation.

SEEDING NATAL GRASS

Natal grass has spread very generally over the central and middle Florida counties. Like any other crop it must receive proper care and be properly seeded. A scattering growth is frequently seen, due in many cases to improper seeding, lack of seed or the seed not being covered so that should it sprout during moist weather it immediately dries up should dry weather follow and the young seedlings die for lack of moisture and covering.

The seed of the natal grass is very light and fluffy and as soon as ripe may be carried by the wind for long distances, so that should a field be seeding and a heavy wind come the seed may become so scattered as not to leave sufficient on the ground. However, the amount of seed required per acre is not large and those who have been most successful in growing the crop recommend that as soon as the hay crop is harvested and there is a fair distribution of seed on the ground, to go over the field with a disc or harrow and give the seed sufficient covering to protect it. The cultivation too, will help the stand. Wm. Gomme, county agent, Lake county, states that some growers have found it a good practice to plow the natal grass field shallow during October, putting the seed far enough below the surface to prevent its sprouting, then in January or February re-plow the land, bringing the seed near the surface.

Natal grass is well adapted to a large area of soils in south and central Florida and has produced good yields where other crops have failed. With the present difficulties in transportation and delivery the hay crop is more important than before; furthermore the value of all livestock has increased and the farmer who can supply his cattle with feed during the spring months will get much better returns from them than where the cattle are compelled to feed on the poorer grasses when they are already in a thin condition. Each ton of hay produced on the farm or grove means that much extra profit for the season's work.

FARMING IS A BUSINESS MATTER

Florida is an agricultural state. Something can be made to grow out of doors in every month, in every county, a condition not true of any other state over its entire area, says the State Marketing Bureau. Unlike the states of the northwest there is plenty of water and fuel in the form of wood. So there should be no lack of comfort in every home in our state if ordinary endeavor is practiced.

Before the days of railroads the farming commodities of this and every other state controlled their own markets and general business by the application of the simple system of exchange, sale and purchase. It was then a matter of individual effort. Since the advent of speedy transportation facilities by car and boat no agricultural section is independent. Prices are fixed to a large extent by the demand of the cities and great consuming centers and our home markets are open to invasion by the products of other sections where they do things better. Farming today is a business matter.

Because our farmers have in the past failed to measure up to good business methods there has sprung up in this country a class called middlemen who take it upon themselves to do the business the farmers should do, and these handlers have year by year taken more and more from the farmer and from the consumer of the farmer's products in return for the unproductive services rendered. Farmers, by combining their resources should be able to sell that which they raise and reap, and which they can do by cooperating in regularly organized associations.

In the beginning the farmer should realize there are certain farm products for which there is a continuous demand in his section of the country and for which he can always receive fair prices. He should join with his neighbors and all should equip themselves to produce these products in quantity and quality that will insure good returns.

Hundreds of farmers in every section of this country are today devoting their time and investments to the production of crops which though they yield fairly well do not bring the farmers profits. Farmers should know what crops pay and what crops do not pay. They should apply to their business of farming the methods that are used in successful manufacturing plants—they should keep books with every department of the farm work.

Ascertain what crops or produce pay best in your section and then boost those products and boost your section of the country as the best place on earth for those products. Do not be afraid to make a noise about your products if you have products of the right quality.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., will send free on application bulletins giving information about keeping farm accounts.

WHAT YOUR LIBERTY BOND WILL DO

If you buy a $100 bond of the Fourth Liberty Loan you are lending the United States government enough money to feed a soldier in France a little more than seven months. Or you have furnished enough money to give him a complete outfit of winter and summer clothing, including shoes and stockings, and slicker and overcoat and blankets, with enough left over to arm him with a good revolver. You have done that much to beat back the Hun.

It takes $35 more to arm him with a rifle with a bayonet on it, and if you buy a second $100 bond you furnish him this rifle and 1,000 cartridges for it, and there will still be enough of your money left to purchase a good sized bomb to throw in a dugout, or demolish a machine gun together with the Hun operating it.

Cleaning Pearls

To clean pearls soak them in a hot soup prepared from bran, with a little cream of tartar and alum. As soon as cool enough, rub the pearls between the hands. Repeat application until discoloration disappears. Then rinse in lukewarm water and lay pearls on white paper in a dark place to cool.

Terms of Governors

There is no approach to uniformity in the terms of the governors of different states of the Union. The governors of two states are elected for one year; those of twenty-one states for two years; the governor of New Jersey for three years, and those of twenty-four states for four years.

SOUTHEASTERN SOLDIER PLEASES KING AT ROYALTY PANCAKE FEAST IN LONDON Y. M. C. A. EAGLE HUT

King George and Queen Mary saw how American corn-cakes were made and also sampled them. Not only that, but they saw how American fighters conquer the delicacy. Here you see royalty emerging from their first encounter with the favorite American breakfast delight. It would almost seem they were viewing the Marines and Sailors as though wondering if this is the food on which they grow so husky.

King George missed the best part of the recent pancake treat at London-Eagle Hut—he didn't turn 'em personally. Everyone else is doing it now, putting an extra edge on their appetites by manipulating the flipper. The six Y. M. C. A. cake-bakers were on the verge of prostration after serving 6,124 American soldiers and sailors with pancakes in the first fifteen days' rush on this hot edible, when a hut secretary had a happy thought. He induced the pancake fiends not only to bake their own, but also to demonstrate with the batter and turner for their hungry buddies. The idea went big, especially as the "Y" retails two man's size cakes with appropriate maple syrup both for sixpence.

A Tennessee boy made a big hit with King George when the latter strode into the room where the royalty was assembled.

"They tell me the king is here," remarked the Tennesseean, "and I want to shake hands with the head of this beautiful country."

The king gave the Tennessee boy a hearty handshake and inquired as to the state in America from which he came.

MILLIONS OF SOLDIERS SWARM Y. M. C. A. HUTS

Annual Report of Southeastern Department Reveals 38,866,980 Boys in Camps Crowded Buildings

(By L. Porter Moore.) Atlanta, Ga., August 25.—An attendance of nearly twenty times the population of Atlanta swarmed huts in Y. M. C. A. huts in the seven states of the Southeastern camps during the fiscal year July 1, 1917, to July 1, 1918, according to the annual report just issued here.

In other words, soldiers in the Southeastern cantonments to the number of 38,866,980 men wrote letters in the "Y" army-and-navy huts, read literature there and joined in the religious services and entertainments held in the Red Triangle buildings which dot military reservations in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, the Carolinas, Mississippi and Florida.

It is easy to imagine the mountains of stationery the Y. M. C. A. provided in the camps of the Southeast when it is stated that soldiers wrote 32,589,002 letters in the "Y" huts. The Red Triangle workers also made out $2,463,744 worth of money orders for the soldiers, most of the amount being sent home to relatives.

Educational Work Featured

The "Y" also provided 4,005 educational lectures with a soldier attendance of 1,291,243. The educational classes of various kinds aggregated 64,813 and the attendance was 978,045. Books circulated by the Y. M. C. A. numbered 764,710 and educational clubs formed among the men were 649. Physical activities when figured in statistics amounted to an amazing amount. It is estimated 3,683,340 par-ticipated in the various physical activities such as baseball, track and field meets, baseball, etc.

The spectators, the majority of them soldiers, at these physical activities, are estimated for the year at 6,646,318.

The resume of religious activities shows that 3,464,461 persons attended 16,468 religious meetings under "Y" auspices in the Southeast, that 21,288 Bible classes were formed among the soldiers with attendances ranging at 395,348, that 233,232 Scriptures were distributed, that "Y" workers had 157,533 personal Christian interviews with soldiers, that the boys made 43,093 Christian decisions and that 72,693 attended the religious war roll.

The attendance at the social events of the Y. M. C. A. was phenomenal during the year 3,713,609 attending 8,190 entertainments. The attendance at the "Y" movie shows was estimated at 4,678,530 for 8,222 performances.

THREE WAR MEDALS BESTOWED ON "Y" HERO

Red Triangle Worker Wounded by Hun Machine Gun at Soissons, Toul and Chateau Thierry

New York, August 25.—Flat on his back in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, W. A. Roberts, who has been awarded three French war medals for bravery in the fighting zones, is enjoying a well-earned rest, and is talking freely of almost anything but why the French government showered honors upon him.

Mr. Roberts, a Y. M. C. A. worker in France, had bestowed upon him the Croix de Guerre, the badge of the Legion of Honor, and the Medal Militaire. He won them all in three months.

Roberts was assistant auditor of the Michigan Central railroad before he was selected to be auditor of disbursements for the Y. M. C. A. in France, and to handle more than a quarter of a million dollars a day. He left for overseas service February 12, was wounded by a Hun machine gun at Soissons, rescued a "Y" secretary amid a hail of bullets in the Toul sector and was touched up by German marksmanship again at Chateau Thierry.

Y. M. C. A. NEEDS MEN IN SOUTHERN CAMPS

While Red Triangle Continues to Call for Overseas Workers, 1,000 Are Wanted for Home Service

Atlanta, Ga., August 25.—Men endowed with the element of leadership are needed by the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. to serve in the camps of the Southeast.

Dr. W. W. Alexander, general recruiting secretary for the War Personnel Board of the Y. M. C. A. War Work Council, declares that there is a pressing need for home service, and that this affords a splendid opportunity to the man of middle age who is not able to go abroad under the Red Triangle.

"The Y. M. C. A. needs men for overseas service; of course, but the home camps must not be forgotten," explained Dr. Alexander. "From now on until the first of the year the Southeast must recruit 1,000 men for the home camps. This means that each state will be called upon to furnish 25 men per month per state to serve the soldiers in camps such as Gordon, Jackson, Wheeler and the others. The constant growth of the home cantonments and the growing demand for the Y. M. C. A. work makes it necessary to recruit 'Y' workers for this side."

POULTRY PRODUCE FOR FARM FAMILY

Housewife May Feed Twice as Many Eggs as Usual and Still Realize Profit.

CONSUMPTION IS NOT LARGE

More Liberal Use Would Be Beneficial to People by Affording Greater Variety of Diet—Plans to Preserve Eggs.

If any American family is genuinely entitled to the luxury of eating liberally of poultry and eggs, that family is the farm family. Yet the fact remains that farm families are not and have never been liberal consumers of either poultry or eggs.

For the whole country the average yearly consumption of eggs per farm is only 13 1/2 dozen, which would be about 2 1/2 dozen a week. The average yearly consumption of poultry per farm is 60 head, about one bird a week. In a few states, of course, the average consumption runs above these averages. The highest average consumption of eggs in any state is four dozen per week per family, and the highest consumption of poultry in any state is about three birds a week per family.

When the fact is taken into consideration that many farm families eat practically no eggs and very little poultry, it is apparent that some families must necessarily eat much more freely of both poultry and eggs than is indicated by even these highest averages. The maximum consumption of eggs for individual families would run from six to ten dozen a week, and of poultry from four to six head a week. These are not excessive quantities of poultry and eggs for a good-sized farm family, and a general adoption of such practice would be beneficial to the people who live on farms, because it would give them a greater variety of diet than they are accustomed to, would insure fresh meat for at least half the month, and would make the basic cured meat diet of the average farm family less monotonous and, therefore, more beneficial.

More Money for Fewer Eggs.

The consumption of eggs on farms may be greatly increased, while the farm housewife may still receive the benefit of good prices for fresh eggs in the season of scant production. Indeed, such a system can be worked out in a way that will net the farm woman more clear money on her eggs for the year than if she sold them on the generally slipshod false economy system, without consuming any considerable quantity of them at home. That would be true because the entire home consumption would be from eggs laid during the period of heavy production and low prices, while all of the eggs laid during periods of scant production and high prices would be sold. Such a system would work advantageously not only for farm families, but for city people as well, because it would give them a larger supply at possibly more moderate prices during the months when the production of eggs is not abundant. The means to that end are not in any sense difficult. The trouble incurred is not commensurate with the money benefit derived, to say nothing of the possibly greater benefit of a more liberal egg ration for the family. All that has to be done is to save some of the eggs that are laid during periods of heavy production for consumption during periods of scant production. This does not mean, either, that the farm family must eat all of the stored eggs and give the city family all of the luxury of fresh eggs. Eggs that are put away by the farm housewife in the summer, when they would bring very small prices, will bring very high prices in the fall and winter, and the fresh eggs that are laid on the farm during those months of high prices may be eaten at home.

Prices of Eggs.

The average farm price of eggs in the United States in April, May, and June, 1917, was 20 cents a dozen, against 33.7 cents a dozen in October, November, and December of that year. In 1918 the average difference in farm prices in the periods compared was 22.3 cents a dozen. There is a period of from five to six months in every year when the average price of fresh eggs on the farm is about ten cents a dozen more than the average price during the season of heavy production. The farm housewife, therefore, makes a dime clean, clear money on every dozen eggs laid during the season of heavy production that she holds over and markets during the season of scant production. If, for instance, she holds over a hundred dozen eggs laid during the season of scant production, she has made a ten dollar bill, which can be applied toward "settling a better table" during the season of scant egg production, and there is no way in which she could better apply that ten dollars than by putting fresh eggs or even the perfectly good preserved eggs on her own table.

Methods of Preserving.

There are several ways in which spring and summer eggs can be preserved for fall and winter consumption on the farm. If the farm is in proximity to a cold-storage plant, the best practice might be to create the eggs as shortly as possible after they are laid and put them in storage. The absence of the cold-storage plant, however, does not mean at all that the farm housewife cannot hold her eggs for higher prices. Eggs can be preserved either in water glass or in lime-water and kept in perfect condition for from six to nine months. Preserved by either of these methods the eggs are good and usable for a year or more, but the longer period of preservation would never be necessary, as the period of high prices follows the period of low prices inside the perfect preservation period of six months.

Cypress Lumber

HENS: WAR OPPORTUNITY

One hundred hens on every farm—hens in every suitable back yard. More meat? More hens on the farm and in the back yard give a quick answer. Eggs to take the place of meat. Poultry to eat at home, to release meat for foreign service. And manufactured largely from wastes—wreeds—stray grain—insects. The hens forage for themselves in the fields. Worth doing always. Important to start now. Free farmers' bulletins on poultry raising tell how. Ask the United States department of agriculture for them.

The First Envelope.

The first envelope of which there is any knowledge enclosed a letter sent in 1890 by Sir William Turnbull to Sir James Ogilvie. The epistle, with its covering, is still preserved in the British museum. At that period, and long afterward, it was the general custom to fold letters and seal them with wax. Early in the last century envelopes began to come into more general use, and stamped envelopes achieved wide popularity in England shortly after the establishment of the penny post in 1840. By 1850 they were largely used on this side of the Atlantic.

"Jingo."

"Jingo" is used as a substitute for something else, as in the phrases "By George" and "By Jimminy." In Goldsmith there is the expression, "by the living Jingo." "Jingo" was originally applied in Great Britain to anyone who advocated an aggressive or vigorous policy in foreign affairs, and came into existence as a nickname for a supporter of Lord Beaconsfield's action in sending a fleet to Turkish waters to oppose the Russian advance in 1878.

OUR PLEDGE

Appreciating to the utmost the supreme unselfishness of our American manhood which is offering its very life upon the altar of freedom for the world, we, the members of the South Florida Press Association, in semi-annual session assembled, do hereby 'Resolve, That in this crisis and as long as life shall last, we dedicate all that we are and all that we have to the support of our glorious nation, our righteous cause, and our illustrious government. And be it further
'Resolved, That every newspaper holding membership in this association display this resolution in bold type at the masthead of its editorial page throughout the month of August, and that copies be sent to the president and our representatives in congress.
'Done and ordered in the city of Wauchope, state of Florida, this 12th day of July, 1918.'

THE NEW DRAFT LAW

The new draft law that has passed or will pass both houses and senate making the age 18 to 45 is the real thing. Only by such a law can the United States get sufficient men to France next spring in time to make the big drive and crush the kaiser once for all. In other words get this thing over with at once and let us all come home and get back to business. Certainly no red blooded American can object to going, and if they do object they are not red blooded and are not patriotic and many of these who were just itching to go a few months ago will now change their tune somewhat. But the average man between the ages of 18 to 45 wants to go and all the married men with families ask is for the government to take care of their families while they are gone. There are plenty of men less than 45 in this country who have plenty of money and can go to war and their families will be well provided for after they are gone. They can go and should be made to go for the simple reason that they are no good here and are doing nothing to help their country. The poor man of 45 with a large family will have to think twice before he volunteers unless he can get enough money for his family.

NO GOOD HERE

There are men in this county between the ages of 18 and 45 who have never lifted their little finger to assist the war work in any manner whatever. They have refused to act on committees, they have refused to take part in campaigns, they have even refused to give money to the war funds although they have money for other purposes and for pleasure. These men have not assisted the government in any capacity and now that they are in the draft age it is certain that their number is being taken and they will fit well into Uncle Sam's uniform. When they are drafted they will give the excuse perhaps that they are married or that some one is dependent upon them but if the real facts come out they could leave their families well fixed if they were called to war and would not be dependent upon government bounty at all. On the other hand those who have real exemptions will be given an exemption if they desire it because they are of real value in Sanford and Seminole county by their willingness to take charge of campaigns, to be chairman of different divisions of the work year in and year out and are working day and night to win the war by keeping the home fires burning. They are in every campaign, they give liberally, they are members of the Guards, they are helping Uncle Sam win the war and helping without any thought of reward other than to lay their patriotism upon the altar of their country and say "Here am I and all I have" and give it for the country. Some difference there, my friends, and a difference that will count greatly with the government and it is time that the real men of this country were recognized and the slackers were placed where they belong.

WE WANT TO DO OUR BEST, NOT "BIT"

Have you heard it said "We are tired of so much war work and ought to have a rest"? You haven't heard any of our soldiers saying: "We are tired of fighting Germans and we are going to quit and rest." Have you? If you have helped to the fullest in both time and money you have done only a "bit" as compared to what our soldiers are giving and doing. Those who sold shoddy raincoats for our soldiers are war "profiteers." A shoddy raincoat might mean the death of a soldier from exposure. If you are able to invest $1,000 or $100, or $25 in War Savings Stamps and haven't done so, you too are a war profiteer. Your act too might mean the unnecessary death of some soldier boy through lack of proper food or clothes or necessary munitions to fight with. If you are refusing to lend to the government because you can make more with your money than the government is paying, then you also are a war "profiteer." Don't jeopardize our soldiers, don't jeopardize your government, and don't jeopardize your homes by failing to do your very best. Every dollar you save and invest in War Savings Stamps may save the life of one soldier. May mean the winning of the war just a little sooner. It will mean that you are one dollar better off. Buy War Savings Stamps. Do it now. Don't wait and live to regret it. Your neighbor is looking at you. Do your best.

THE ALLIES ARE ABOUT TO CAPTURE HAM

The Allies are about to capture Ham. Hope this will bring down the price of bacon.

BE IT SAID FOR THE OLDER BOYS

Be it said for the older boys around the 45 mark that they are ready to go if the country needs them.

NO MORE JOY RIDES ON SUNDAY

Patriotic people will not take joy rides anyhow but you have to call some of these people who do not know that we are at war.

BET THE SEMINOLE GUARDS WILL BE THE FINEST THINGS ON THE PARADE GROUNDS AT DAYTONA MONDAY

Capt. Dinges is certainly there with the goods and his men show his careful training.

THERE IS NOTHING ELSE MATTERS NOW

except winning the war and all of us might just as well go to it. The government is taking the proper steps and the man who has not realized it before that we are at war will know it now.

THERE ARE A BUNCH OF BUSINESS MEN IN SANFORD WHO WOULD MAKE GOOD IN THE QUARTERMASTERS DEPARTMENT releasing the younger men for the front, and these older boys are dead willing to go if they can be assured of enough to keep their families while they are gone. The new draft law says that the older heads are needed now and we are ready to serve.

THE FEATHER PICKING HABIT IS USUALLY

due to the chickens not getting a sufficient amount of protein food, represented by meat scraps, skim milk, meal, etc. The feathers themselves are made up quite largely of protein, and when this food is lacking they will go to eating feathers in order to get it. This protein feed is needed too in order to make eggs.

THE INDUSTRIAL CENSUS OF 1914

showed 4,200 establishments engaged in canning fruits and vegetables, with 88,069 employees, of about 25 persons to each. Tomatoes lead in number of cans, corn next and then peas.

ANY MACHINE LEFT STANDING IDLE

Idleness destroyed it. So it is with the human machine. An idler is like a watch without hands—useless if it goes as it stands.

THE U. S. BUREAU OF ETHNOLOGY

has issued a bulletin entitled "Discoveries Attributed to Early Man in America," in which the finds at Vero, Florida are illustrated and described at length. It is by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka. Curiosity is expressed as to how the doctor got his name and how he pronounced it?

IT IS NOT GENERALLY KNOWN BUT CORN meal and starch, wheat and rice flour and sugar are used in making high explosives. The government has requested the elimination of wheat flour which was used in 1917 to the amount of more than 16,000 barrels by American powder works.

THERE ARE BUT TWO ENDS TO BUSINESS

One is production, the other is finance. The industrialists, the carriers, the accountants, the teachers, preachers, lawyers, doctors and all the rest of workers constitute the "middle."

MORE THAN HALF OF THE FARMERS

of America are tenants. Florida has millions of idle acres on which something to eat or sell can be grown in every month. This is a word to the wise.

THE DAIRY DIVISION OF THE U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

at Washington, D. C., will tell you how to make cottage cheese in the home and in what dishes it may be used. Results so far achieved by the Uncle Sam Saturday Service League, organized among negroes of the south by agricultural extension workers indicates that the old custom in the south of observing Saturday or a part of it as a holiday among colored farm workers soon will be largely abandoned. A force of experts to investigate the sweet potato weevil, work toward its control and make possible its eradication has been organized by the Bureau of Entomology, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Field workers and inspectors, to act in cooperation with state forces have been placed in Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. Old rags are worth money now. The Red Cross people are asking for old rags. They can be utilized in many ways. Barrel the Only Rolling Container. A barrel can be rolled. This is its greatest merit. Every other shape of container which weighs over 200 pounds when filled must be lifted bodily and carried on a hand truck or by hoisting machinery. One man can unload a carload of sugar—200 barrels of it—in less than an hour.

"BAD" MEN WANTED FOR THE TANK SERVICE

Officials of the tank service are just now combing the country for tough citizens. The western bad man, the southern feudist, the tough, rough timber jack and the leather necked miner and teamster and town brave are requested to climb into the nearest tank and be as ornery as they please. The bad men, the daring men, the rough and tough and always ready for a fuss or frolic men, are wanted: 15,000 of them, and if they haven't all gone on ahead to Flanders doubtless the tank folks will get a full quota. For 50 years this country manufactured raw men. After the Civil war an empire was conquered by raw meat men. The logger, the white water men, the cowmen, the prospectors, the gun-fighters, the Indian fighters, the pony express riders, the scouts, the miners, the sons of the golden west and the sons of the Arctic circle. By the tens of thousands men were made, and a lot of them are still with us. And their sons and their sons' sons will be with us, praise be, for generations. Over in France the stolid Hun wakes from a sound sleep, six miles back off his line to discover his neat little but filled with Yank scouts who have ambushed him and dodged all entanglements. Over in Flanders they marvel that the Yank troops' valiantly wait until each rifleman has picked his advancing Hun and then drill him neatly and pass on to the next. Over there they are even now marveling at the skill and nerve and zeal displayed by the Yanks in their nightly forays in no man's land; not knowing that every American boy stalked Indians from his youth up in every play hour. But when that 15,000 load of real tough men arrive, and take those big tanks and those baby tanks, and those betwixt and between tanks out to call on Heintje there will be a real astonishment. Some of these days the halls at Potsdam will resound to the walls of Me and Got Bill, as he is borne swiftly downstairs under the arm of some husky who spansk as he strides. And turn to one that husky, will be some durn tough cuss from Hell's Gulch, who 20 years ago tied his gun to his pants leg and sharpened his belt knife on the tough heel of his hand. And if it isn't Wild Eye Bill of Skunk canyon, it will probably be Willie de Reinskiller from upper Fifth Ave., who before the war met adventure in a sea-going cab, and took a sporting chance with six traffic cops any time he stepped on the throttle. Between Willie and Wild Eye there is no real difference, except in early environment. Tough men! Why, call the roll of any private military school between the coasts and they'll answer "all present!" Tampa Times.

NOTICE Believing that FIRE INSURANCE RATES charged by old-line stock companies are too high, I have secured the agency of the FLORIDA MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY of Tampa, Florida.

This company saved its policy holders 20 per cent last year and hopes to do better in the future. The company is organized under the state law and selects its risks carefully, and the profits go back to the policy holders instead of being paid in dividends to stockholders.

Being a mutual company, the policy holders are pledged to pay the premium the second time in case the company needs more money than the original premium in order to pay losses. This adds to the security of the policy holders and is necessary because there is no capital stock. However, the chances that such an assessment will be made is very remote.

If interested before your policy expires, bring it to my office at Room 3 in the Court House, and make application for its renewal in the Mutual Company. M. F. Robinson, Agent. 100-81c

Let us call Freemasonry what we call it a philosophy, call it a science; call it a religion and you will find that it measures well up to the standard of all these. In reality it is an answering call to the cry of the human heart for that something for which Masonry uses sublime.

Unbiased by friends, uninfluenced by mercenary motives, a desire for knowledge and a sincere wish to be serviceable to your fellow creatures, characterize a wonderful declaration—a fundamental statement of a great faith in an institution.

LONG ARM OF LAW Reaches Out After Fourteen Years After Negro Murderer After enjoying freedom for fourteen years a negro here named Wilson was caught in the toils of the law by the sheriff's office.

While investigating another crime, the officials here found the negro Wilson, and he was identified as the man wanted in Marianna for killing another negro and he will be taken back there to pay the penalty of the crime. Wilson has been living in Seminole and Orange county all this time and has enjoyed comparative immunity, although at one time he was in trouble and was shot while in an altercation of some kind in Orange county. But even at that time his true name and identity was not discovered and it was on the merest clue that Sheriff Brady and his deputies were enabled to get next to the man and the clue was furnished by another negro who had his suspicions aroused by Wilson as being at one time wanted by the officials of some county.

He went under another name here and had completely covered up his tracks and might have remained here another fourteen years but for the one little episode whereby the officers were placed upon his track and he was found to be the man wanted by the county of Jackson.

PLANT RYE An increased acreage of rye should be planted this fall in order to supply the great need of winter pastures to carry the livestock through in good condition at a small expense. According to S. W. Hiatt, District Agent, West Florida, rye can be grown on almost any of the well drained soils of the state. It often produces a profitable crop on light sandy lands where oats and other small grain crops fail. On sour soils it will make a better growth than wheat or oats but should not be planted on low wet lands subject to overflow or where water stands after rains.

Wherever peanuts were grown farmers have an opportunity to plant rye for early pasture at a small cost, as the only preparation needed for making a seed bed for rye will be to thoroughly disk and harrow the land before seeding. Where the land must be plowed follow with a spike tooth harrow to secure a fine, mellow top soil; this will conserve the moisture and insure better germination of the seed.

In seeding much better result will be obtained by using a grain drill than by any other method; however, where a drill is not available, the seed may be broadcast and disked or plowed in with fairly good results.

It will be advisable on most soils to apply broadcast 200 to 400 lbs. of acid phosphate per acre. On very poor land an application of stable manure or cottonseed meal should be made in addition to the phosphate.

The varieties of rye best adapted to Florida conditions are the Southern and Abruzzi's rye. Where grown for pasture and seeded with a drill, 3 to 4 pecks of seed per acre is enough; if broadcasted, from 5 to 8 pecks should be used; if planted for a grain crop, about one fourth less seed is sufficient. Rye may be planted almost any time from the last of September until the last of November.

Hog raisers especially should have a sufficient acreage planted this fall to supply their herds with succulent winter feed.

THE KITCHEN CABINET There are thoughts that lie too deep for words. There are dreams and hopes we never share. There are secret pages in life's book, and we alone know what is there.

THE ART OF TEA MAKING. The three components of tea are essential oil, theine and tannin. These give character to the beverage. The flavor of the tea depends chiefly upon the essential oil. The caffeine found in coffee is an alkaloid like theine and the fatigued one who finds refreshment and restored energy from a cupful of tea has been stimulated by this ingredient.

There are hundreds of blends of teas but those commonly known and most used are English Breakfast, Formosa, Oolong, Ceylon, Orange Pekoe, young Hyson and Souchong.

Properly brewed tea is an important essential. Tea should not be infused too long and should under no circumstances be boiled.

Ceylon tea is the tea best liked for iced tea and when serving it hot the tea ball is desirable.

Green tea known by gun powder, Hyson and various other names is much lighter in color, a drink of high fragrance, but a bit more harsh than black teas. The English know the value of fresh boiled water for the fragrant beverage.

In many places certain springs or wells have water which makes a most superior tea, the tea makers going many rods to carry this precious water to have the right tasting cup of tea.

Russians, we are apt to think, always require a slice of lemon in their tea while as a fact they serve jam with their national drink, dropping it into the tea which is drunk from tumblers.

In Morocco the leaves of thyme and verbena are added to the tea to lend it piquancy.

The Persian likes his sweetened almost to a slurrp. The Burmese add garlic and other highly flavored sesame oil to theirs.

Perhaps in America as in no other country cream in tea is the tea par excellence. We must bear in mind, however, that tannin in tea will act upon the delicate stomach lining and should be infused just long enough to extract the flavor. Any added steeping tends to increase the amount of tannin.

Good Advice. "Talk less and say more." is the advice given to a group of girls. No one expects a girl's conversation to be profound and philosophical, but there is no doubt that more thinking before speaking would make the words of many girls better worth hearing. The trouble is not that girls lack intelligence, but that they are rather lazy about using their brains.
