REDS WITHDRAW PROTEST OVER RECENT CONTEST

Argument Ends In Favor Of League As DeLand Proxy Rules

By PETER SCHAAL Following a brief discussion here yesterday, engaged in by President J. T. Hogan, of the Central Florida Baseball League, and heads and managers of the DeLand and Sanford baseball clubs, Bill Page, president of the DeLand club declared that "on behalf of the club and for the good of our league, I declare withdrawal from the contest made by Manager Ken Douglas over, the Sanford-DeLand game played in DeLand two weeks ago."

With that statement the two week controversy that at times assumed heated proportions and a threat of withdrawal from the league itself is settled to the satisfaction of all persons. With the withdrawal both clubs are relieved of a certain tension that has settled over the fact that both clubs are in the leading positions to capture the first half pennant.

Thursday afternoon, a record crowd is expected to gather at DeLand to see the DeLand and Sanford outfit battle for the last time during this half. The game at DeLand two weeks ago between the two clubs drew the largest crowd of the year, and nearly $225 was netted by DeLand, the largest gate they had ever known.

Thursday's game is of the utmost importance to both clubs, particularly DeLand, now tied with Daytona for third place. A victory for the Reds is absolutely necessary for Cocoa will be entertaining Winter Park and will probably win that game. Right now the Reds are practically tied with Cocoa for first place, and the Reds must maintain that position for Cocoa has a pair of games rained out that they must play before the first half is over.

New Smyrna, always dangerous, will be at Daytona Thursday in a game that is of great importance to the Islanders. If the Crackers win, it will almost mean curtains for the Islanders, because with only five games left to play and one of them with Sanford, already holding two wins, the Islanders will have to step a little faster than they are able. Let's be due to meet Lefty Lane Thursday, in what promises to be a great battle.

Sanford fans should not miss the Sanford-DeLand game in DeLand, nor any of the remaining games of the first half, which ends on Thursday, June 23. The club is winning regularly and over the strongest opposition, and if the pennant should by any chance, be brought to Sanford for the first half, it will certainly be because the fans have backed the club to the limit.

American Legion Has Fine Boxing Card Scheduled

The American Legion has another great card of six fights on tap for Friday night at the Princess Theater. In the main bout Babe Peckham, Sanford's hard hitting lightweight, will exchange punches with Six Second Lynch, rough slugger from Orlando. This bout is a natural and has been a much sought after match by Central Florida promoters. Lynch is one of the most sensational fighters in this part of the state, and is always the subject of discussion after a bout.

Peckham, who beat Pal Robinson here last week in a tear-inducing fight, is a tear-inducing fighter who is going somewhere in the fight game. These are two of the best action fighters in this part of the state. They fought once before at the Coliseum in Orlando last fall and Peckham was knocked down twice and Lynch four times and the decision was a draw, so ample fireworks are looked for when these two sluggers come together Friday night.

The semi-final will bring Lee Cash, who also won last week, and Danny Patri, who was one of the best featherweights in Florida about three years ago and is doing a wonderful job in the middle and long lay out game to have a second time. Cash won on the 1927 title, but was knocked out by Lopez in the eighth round.

YOUNG GOLFERS ARE BRITISH HOPE TO WIN TOURNEY

Tommy Armour, Smith And Gene Sarazen Leading Americans

SANDWICH, England, June 2.—(A.P.)—The younger school of British golf, led by Alfred Bradbeer, Eric McRivie and Don Curtis, are hoping soaring for a native victory in the British Open Golf championship yesterday by leading the qualifiers at a record-breaking pace.

In the pack of 234 contestants they spreadgled were three leading American professionals—Tommy Armour, defending champion, MacDonald Smith and Gene Sarazen.

Bradbeer won the qualifying medal with two par-cracking rounds of 70-71-141. The 23-year-old McRivie, Scottish amateur and Walker Cup star, and the equally youthful Curtis, professional from Hourismouth, broke the record at Prince's by two strokes as they blazed away at one of the toughest golfing tests in Britain for 69's. Their cards were five under par and broke the live record set by Jack Hutchison, by two strokes.

McRivie's took second place with 75-69-144 and Curtis had 76-69-146 for third.

Mac Smith and Armour, the latter punishing Prince's for a 71 to tie the old record, were dandlocked with the British veterans, Reg Whitcombe and Abe Mitchell, for fourth place in the field of 110 golfers who qualified for the championship proper, 72 holes of medal play, starting today.

Smith turned in two consistent rounds, 73-73-146, while Armour registered 75-71-146. Mitchell all had a pair of 73's and Whitcombe put together rounds of 70 and 70, Sarazen, with a safe working margin, qualified with 73-76-149.

Six Americans in all qualified the same number failed. Walter Pursey, professional from Seattle, Wash., redeemed a mediocre 81 of yesterday with a fine 71 at Royal St. George's, where half of the qualifying rounds were played, and a 36-hole total of 182. The other two Americans qualifying are American.

Local Girls To Play Orlandoans Thursday

By R. H. CULLUM The game Thursday night will be between the Orlando Seminoles Laundry girls team of Sanford and the Blackwood Cleaners of Orlando. The Orlando girls put it over the Sanford girls Monday night in Orlando, and the Sanford girls are now in the humor to see that this doesn't happen again. The Sanford team will be materially strengthened by the addition of Ruby Booth at short and Nellie Baburn in the field.

On Friday night Company D will not be able to play due to the fact that they have to drill. Therefore the game that night will be between the Medical Detachment and Firestone.

difference of opinion in a good thing for the world and argued that "moral leadership" rather than "moral disapproval." She called upon the nation for the sake of civilization to meet out economic, political and private selfishness and carve out international relationships on a fresh basis.

Progress in the field of moral disarmament, continued the American delegate, must not be obtained at the expense of inaction in the field of material disarmament. Nor must it be allowed to veil restriction and fearfulness which can never change the course of history.

Mrs. Ashby was even franker in condemning censorship. Britain has partial theater censorship, she said, which is the subject of constant ridicule, and censorship of the films which leaves the Home Office alone satisfied. Disadvantages of free speech are less than the drawbacks of coercion, she declared, adding:

"A thousand years of Democratic self-government have made us in the East inclined to trust a government with control over the thought of its subjects. Freedom is essential to the training of leaders."

A few minutes later a Roumanian delegate in support of Poland's thesis declared freedom of the press was a sacred duty, while opposita to him on the press benches sat the president of the International Association of Journalists accredited to the League of Nations who had been expelled from Roumania.

OVERCROWDING IN FEDERAL JAILS BECOMING LESS

Headway Being Made In Correcting Evil Prison Conditions

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Some overcrowding still exists in the largest federal prisons, according to figures just issued by the Department of Justice, but headway is being made to overcome this handicap. The penitentiary at Atlanta now holds 3210 prisoners, although Mr. William D. Mitchell, Attorney General, has stated in 1929 that its normal capacity is 1432; and Leavenworth today holds 3327, with a normal capacity of only 1580.

The Wickersham Commission deployed overcrowding in these prisons, and Mr. George W. Wickersham ascribed outbreaks in 1930 to revolts against inhuman conditions.

While admitting that the two largest federal prisons are still congested, Mr. Sanford Bates, of Boston, commissioner, stated that the federal prison construction program is making headway, and that conditions today are far better than a few years ago, with the prospect of additional improvement shortly. A far-reaching reform in federal prison conditions is generally ascribed here to the work of Mr. Bates, supported by President Hoover. Camps for surplus prisoners have been started; several new prisons have been opened, including the first federal prison for women at Alderson; a new prison at Lewisburg, Pa., capable of holding 1200, will be opened in August, and probation work is being increased.

Mr. Bates said here that a reform in being achieved in federal prison conditions. He said that the situation described by Mr. Wickersham in a statement before the American Prison Association in October, 1930, that "Men are confined in hopelessly overcrowded prisons with unsanitary conditions, first offenders being herded indiscriminately with hardened professionals and all kept in a state of enforced idleness," is rapidly being ameliorated. The new Lewisburg (Penn.) prison, Mr. Bates said, will remove some of the congestion at Atlanta and Leavenworth.

Probation, as recommended by the Wickersham commission, is also being increased. Mr. Bates said in 1929 there were only nine probation officers; now there are 65, and next year there will be 104.

COORDINATION IS URGED TO BRING BUSINESS RELIEF

Havana Publisher Heaves Recovery In Paramount Problem

NEW YORK, June 2.—The coordination of all the forces for relief of unemployment and for stabilization of trade, finance and credit to put them in a position where speedy recovery to normal conditions will be facilitated, was urged by Mr. Carl Bryer, editor and publisher of the Havana Evening Telegram, in an interview here today.

So important to the nation, and indeed, to the world, in the return of prosperity that the President himself might well undertake to head these coordination efforts, Mr. Bryer declared.

"Such an organization might be constituted, and called, the National Council of Security," he added. "Aside from being the leading publisher of English-speaking journals in Cuba, Mr. Bryer is active in business in this country, and in relief work undertaken here to help the jobless. He was one of the directors of organization in the movement called United Action for Employment. When the United States was in the World War he was associate chairman of the United States Government Committee of Public Information, with headquarters in Washington."

"I am personally convinced that if the Government would provide a rallying point for all the volunteer efforts of the American people, we would get results in the solution of the economic and employment problems similar to that which we got in financing our World War and in supplying our army with food," he continued.

"There is a very simple way of accomplishing this. It could be found through the adoption of measures similar to those through which we solved the World War emergency. The law that created the Council of National Defense in still on the statute books, and the men who made the Council function are still available, all of them with vastly increased experience. Among them are Mr. Howard Coffin, Mr. Daniel Willard, Mr. Bernard Baruch and others equally notable for their achievements."

Mr. Bryer held that the headquarters of such a council as he suggested should be in Washington and its operations be under the direct supervision of President Hoover.

Censorship In All Its Forms Scored At Geneva Meeting

GENEVA, June 2.—Censorship in all its forms was recently vigorously attacked by Dr. Mary E. Woolley of the American Delegation in her maiden speech on the floor of the Disarmament Conference and seconded by Mrs. Corbett Ashby of Britain at the same session of the committee on moral disarmament.

Polish proposals for censorship of the press, cinema, theater and letters again encountered opposition in many delegations who see in them a wider move to curb the freedom of political thought.

Dr. Woolley declared "honest censors living in London, Douglas Grant scoring 162 and Robert Sweeney, who plays on the Oxford golf team, 151.

GREAT AUNTS

They walked in straitened ways, They had not great possessions; They lived before the day When ladies learned professions.

And one was rather mad, And all were rather trying, So little life they had, So long they spent a-dying.

In spotless white lace caps, Just sitting, sitting, sitting, Their hands upon their laps Or occupied with knitting.

And now they are all gone, Aunt Sophy and Aunt Ella, Aunt Jane (at ninety-one) And poor Aunt Arabella.

The house they loved so well And always kept so nicely Some-mischievous will call "At six o'clock precisely."

It seemed as though their lives Were wasted more than others; They would have made good wives They might have made good mothers.

Yet this was their reward: Through ninety years of labor Small precious things to guard. None else had time to treasure.

Their crystal was their pride, Their porcelain a token Kept safe until they died And handed on unbroken. By Collin Ellis

Election Returns

The difficulties of procuring correct and speedy election returns; of keeping graphs and charts showing how each candidate, on an extremely long ballot, stands in every precinct in Seminole County, and in some cases, Brevard; of transcribing this information to radio mats and projecting them on a screen; of answering hundreds of telephone calls and giving out information on the election returns, at the same time getting out a daily newspaper, can only be appreciated by those who try it.

That this task could not be accomplished without the co-operation and assistance of many volunteers, The Herald is aware and wishes to thank every one who took part in making the election party a success. The co-operation of the City in furnishing benches, of the police department in roping off the street and directing traffic, of the persons who telephoned returns from the various outlying precincts, of the Celso Company for furnishing music of the Odd Fellows Hall for the use of the projection machine, and of those who assisted in any other way, is deeply appreciated.

Many amusing occurrences take place during the excitement of an election party, many almost impossible questions are asked, but all in all the public is patient, considerate and apparently grateful for this service. The prize question of the evening came from a frantic backer of a certain candidate! The information wanted was the standing of a candidate for one of the smaller offices, his numerical lead over his opponent in each precinct, his percentage of lead in each precinct, and, if this percentage of lead were maintained, what the final result would be, and if his advantage would be sufficient to enable him to win without a second primary. Also the comparisons in each precinct of this particular party with his opponent four years ago, and if we thought the party in question would do as well this time.

However, these questions were the exception and in most every instance the information asked was reasonable, and the reply, we hope, satisfactory. In any case The Herald is always glad to help keep the public informed as to the outcome of any race and as accurately and rapidly as possible.

The Mademoiselle

Many an old war song with a catchy tune has a way of sticking in the popular imagination for a long time. There's "Dixie" and "Yankee Doodle," for instance, of Civil War fame. Of them all, however, there is perhaps none, at least in the last war, which lingers quite so strongly as "Hinky-dinky parlez-vous." Every doughboy remembers the famous Mademoiselle from Armentieres, but very few knew much about her except in song.

Recently a newspaper writer wrote a brief sketch about her. "There was a cafe at Armentieres, it seems, and mademoiselle worked there," the Palm Beach Post explains. "She was a very proper young lady, and one day a general, attempting familiarities with her, got his face roundly slapped; and at a regimental sing a few nights later some inspired songster introduced a ditty dealing with the incident.

"And then, it seems, was the start of it; and the anecdote leads one to muse about soldiers' songs, and to wonder how they originate, and what it takes to set fighting men chanting the same chorus.

"The World War soldiers sang this ditty about the girl from Armentieres. But what did other soldiers in other wars sing? They sang songs from music halls, of course—but they had their own special songs, too, and those songs never got in the anthologies, and they have been forgotten. The Roman legionnaires, it is said, had a ribald song about a girl named Lalage, who doubtless was a prototype of this Armentieres charmer; and it would be worth a good deal to know how the song went, and what its tune was.

"Men who march off to fight must sing. They will sing everything and anything, except the pompous patriotic pieces which the stay-at-homes like; and usually they evolve their own pet songs, and, singing them, march off to die—at Tyres, or Chickamauga, or Waterloo, or Saratoga, or wherever it may be; and all we get is a tantalizing reminder that somewhere back of each song there was some flesh-and-blood figure like this mysterious girl from Armentieres."

SENATE BILL FOR ECONOMY IS APPROVED

Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, in moving to recommit the bill to the committee to recommend new economies, said "It must be apparent to all of us that the so-called economy program has broken down."

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, asked Chairman Jones of the appropriations committee how much remained in the bill. Jones estimated the economies still in the measure at "about $100,000,000."

The economy bill as passed by the House carried savings of $42,000,000 after that body had turned down most of the recommendations of its economy committee.

Jones expressed doubt as to whether the House would accept the furlough plan when it goes to conference to reconcile differences in two versions in which case it might have to be brought up for another vote in the Senate.

The House provided an 11 percent cut in federal pay but with the first $2500 of all salaries exempted. This was estimated to save only $9,000,000.

Estimates of the saving from the furlough plan varied widely due to uncertainty as to how many persons would be exempted by presidential order, but its proponents gave $90,000,000 as the figure.

The 10 percent day cut voted previously by the Senate, with those receiving less than $1000 annually exempted, was estimated to save $117,000,000.

NEW BUILDING METHOD

LEIPZIG.—An ingenious method of road building now makes it possible to keep a jump ahead of the destruction wrought by heavy automobile traffic. The plan, which has just been demonstrated at the Leipzig Fair, consists in mixing a liquid which is sprayed on the road and, on hardening forms an extremely durable surface. A portable device is used for heating and mixing.

Hoover Has Agreed To No Plank Upon Prohibition Issue

WASHINGTON, June 9.—(A.P.)—Whatever Republicans on Capitol Hill may believe to be the case, it was declared emphatically that President Hoover has had no prohibition resubmission plank submitted to him and has agreed to none.

This assertion was occasioned by word that threaded its way among congressional Republicans late in the day to the effect that the President had sanctioned a resubmission plank for the party platform. Because of its source, a key man in the G. O. P. ranks, this was accepted as valid by various legislators.

But after it gained wide circulation and questions began to be asked at the White House, the statement was authorized that Mr. Hoover was uncommitted to any one plank, and furthermore no man had the right to speak for him. It was added that James H. Garfield and Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, both of whom will fill big roles at the Chicago convention next week, carried with them to the Windy City no settled prohibition plank.

LONG TELEGRAM FILED

Georgia County Jail Transformed Into Clubhouse By Woman's Club

HOMERVILLE, Ga., June 10.—The transformation of a county jail into a clubhouse by the Homer-ville Woman's Club is a feat which has attracted attention.

In 1927 it was decided by the Clinch county commissioners to build a new and modern jail which would afford humane quarters for prisoners. Homer-ville Woman's Club saw its opportunity. A long-time lease on the jail building was arranged with the commissioners at the time of the building of the new jail and the vacating of the old one, together with a promise by the committee sent by the club to confer with the commissioners that the old jail house when converted into a beauty and that a room would be reserved in it for county use.

Then came the work of the leasing and sale of bonds, raising the remainder of the money needed, which was about $1500. When the money was in hand, the contract was let, and then began the actual work of renovation and remodeling.

This involved the tearing down of the interior and the rearrangement of the floor plan, a new floor being laid. Walls of soft buff and woodwork in old ivory made a pleasing effect. A large reception room, which one enters from the front vestibule, reveals through French doors the commodious assembly room, which was originally the two-story cell compartment. The assembly room is full two stories in height and about 40 by 50 feet. Long colonial windows and the Old World balcony overhanging from the hall above are effective and lend atmosphere. The entrance hall and the assembly room both open into the kitchen.

Leading from the entrance hall, a colonial stairway leads to the second floor. Here two rooms with arched windows open into a central hall. One of these rooms, according to the promise made the county commissioners, is set aside for their use, and can be reached by an outside stairway. The law requires that the building be used for county purposes, and this room is reserved in compliance with this law. The other room is being kept to be used ultimately as the women's library.

BROOKSVILLE. Experimental work to start soon at Brooksville station.

DO YOU INHALE?

Silence may be golden

... but is that why other cigarette advertising is generally silent on this question?

WHEN the truth hurts—it's only natural to avoid the subject! Inhaling has long been an "untouchable" topic in cigarette advertising. And no wonder! In every tobacco leaf—even the finest, the mildest—nature hides certain impurities which, when not removed, are unkind to delicate membranes!

And since, knowingly or unknowingly, every smoker inhales some part of the smoke from his or her cigarette, Lucky Strike developed that great scientific process which removes certain impurities. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? More than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.
