One of the most essential elements in the sale of an article is the task of carrying the sale message to the public. This is a slow and expensive operation if personal solicitation or correspondence is used. A classified ad costing thirty cents will do the work which might otherwise require many dollars and days of time. Every individual in Sanford could profit in dollars and cents by disposing of used goods through the classified columns of this newspaper. It is poor economy to keep on hand an article which has outlived its usefulness. Sell it, and spend the cash on something

Might Makes Right

Proceeding on the assumption of the Middle Ages that "might makes right," Adolph Hitler has started his steel helmited goose-steppers marching into Austria where Chancellor Schuschnigg in a last stand for the independence of his country had called an election for Sunday to decide the issue of Austro-German union.

There will be no election Sunday and there will be union with Germany, not because a majority of the people of Austria wanted to cast their lot with the German people but because the Reichfuehrer has willed it so, yield to violence," said Schuschnigg, as he ordered Austria troops to fall back in order to avoid a pitched batlle and a brutal massacre. So Vienna, once the gayest capital of Europe, comes under the sway of the meglomaniac Adolph Hitler.

The Austrians are a German people. They were closely allied to Germany during the World War. Centuries before they had been united with the Germans in the same great empire. It is but natural that they should be united, or at least allied, with Germany now. A few years ago, shortly before Hitler came into power, they had expressed an overwhelming sentiment for this very union. It is Hitler they object to, not Germany, for Hitler means tyranny and persecution for Jews. Catholics, socialists and communists. socialists, and communists.

Even so, there is not the will to resist in Austria that there would be if the Germans were some strange race of people with whom there had not been centuries of friendship and common traditions. The anti-Nazi Austrians will put up with Hitler rather than engage in a hopeless war with their own people across the border, After all Hitler can't live forever, and an Austro-German union is THE HEART OF THE ETERNAL economically advantageous to both countries.

But what next? Having whetted his appetite on the blood of Austria, it is inevitable that the lust of the German monster will carry him on at an even more rapid pace. The next victim likely to cross his path is Czechoslovakia, with only a comparatively few Germans, but with many Slavs, Ruthenians, Moravians, Bohemians, and Czechs, They like neither Hitler nor the Germans. They will fight to the last man to prevent their conquest by Germany.

And so while the acceptance by Austria of the inevitable may seem to have averted a European war, it does not follow that the policy of "might makes right" will always end so peacefully. The bully invariably meets his

There has been so much Beauty

I have heard her echo in the wisnowing wings of echo in the wisnowing wings of the remembered birds that flew through the talk of the members of the Florida Andubon Society. I have climbed nearer her by the "outlet into celestial space" fur-nished by the golden ladder of a Back chorale that seemed to lead straight out of a stained glass window of the Knowles Chapel to the very sky above! The traitorous treatment both had received from the "whites" caused such indignation among the Indians that the war was prolonged for several years at a time when they were ready for submission.
