Five Youths Jailed, Held Without Bond

By BOD LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

Sheriff's detectives and police have arrested five juveniles on county jail without bond.

The Seminole County Grand Jury returned a total of 10 indictments against juveniles on Wednesday. Officials said this morning that warrants on four of the indictments had not yet been served and suspects named in the indictments arrested. The indicted juveniles will be brought to trial as adults in circuit

Carter Looks For A VP...

BOSTON (AP) - Jimmy Carter, the front-runner for the gained nationwide attention as a member of the House Judiciary Democratic presidential nomination, is considering 14 liberals — Committee during televised impeachment hearings two years for the vice presidential nomination. The Boston Globe said said.

The newspaper said Carter's personal pollster, Patrick Caddell of Cambridge Survey Research, is conducting a nationwide poll to determine attitudes toward the 14.

Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., chairman of Carter's nationwide steering committee, confirmed that the 14 were all discussed within the Carter organization several weeks ago, the Globe said. The former Georgia governor won Ohio's big primary election luesday, and since then has won support from several other leading Democrats. He claims more than the 1,505 delegates needed to win the party's presidential bid. There was no immediate comment from the candidate or his ides on the Globe report.

ncluding two blacks, one of them a woman — as possible choices ago, and Mayor Thomas Bradley of Los Angeles, the newspaper Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, is also among those being considered, said the Globe, but only two of Carter's primary opponents - Sens. Frank Church of Idaho and Birch Bayh of Indiana - made the list. Others included in the poll, the Globe said, are Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, Walter Mondale of Minnesota, Alan Cranston of California, John Glenn of Ohio and Edmund Muskie of Maine.

Kennedy has said repeatedly he would not accept the vic presidential nomination. Govs. Michael S. Dukakis of Massachusetts, Hugh Carey of New York and Wendell Anderson of Minnesota are also on the list, payroll-sex scandal grew today when a former aide to Rep. John Young said through her lawyer that the Texas Democrat paid her a premium salary in return for sexual favors. Colleen Gardner "was abused and humiliated" by Young, said attorney Sol Z.

Capitol Hill's Sex Scandal Adds Another Name

Young denied Thursday night that the $26,000 yearly salary paid Mrs. Gardner was contingent on her sexual favors. He declined to confirm or deny whether he had a sexual relationship with her.

Young said Mrs. Gardner's salary, which congressional records show is above average for congressional staff aides, was in line with his policy of having a small staff but paying them well. He said he now has three women on his office payroll and they each earn over

Senate Leadership Fight Seems Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) - Hubert Humphrey says he may seek the Senate Democratic leadership post being vacated by Mike Mansfield, and his entrance in the race could set up a bruising party clash between Humphrey and the more conservative Sen. Robert Byrd. Humphrey said Thursday that winning the job would be a fitting way for him to end his long political career. "It's a possibility," the Minnesota Democrat said. "I haven't arrived at any firm decision yet, but I'm giving it consideration." Besides Byrd, Sens. Edmund Muskie and Ernest

Hollings also are seeking the post. Byrd, the assistant majority leader, claims he already has the contest locked up. The West Virginian says he has commitments from 33 of the Senate's 62 Democrats, but some senators have disputed the figures. And since onethird of the Senate is up for re-election, some Byrd supporters could be out of office when the vote is taken next

Bomb Probe Progressing

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - Police say they have located a San Diego, Calif., store where a radio control device was purchased. The device triggered a bomb under Arizona Republic newsman Don Bolles' car.

Meanwhile, Bolles, 47, continued his battle for life Thursday as doctors amoutated his left leg. Bolles lost his right leg a short time after the June 2 explosion and his right arm was removed Tuesday as doctors attempted to Bolles was injured when a bomb exploded under his small foreign car as he was leaving a midtown hotel parking lot after going there to meet a man who identified himself as John Adamson. The man reportedly had information concerning a land deal involving prominent Arizonans, including Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz. The man never appeared.

A four-man police task force brought Carr to the Gulf Coast area last Monday from Miami so he could lead them to three graves he had told them about. He was kept in jail at New Orleans at night.

Sharing Passes House

WASHINGTON (AP) - Legislation which would renew revenue sharing for 3% years, approved by an overwhelming majority in the House, moves to the Senate, where passage is likely.

A spokesman for Russell Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which will handle the bill, said action "in the Senate will be favorable ... There is a lot of grass roots support."

The House approved the measure Thursday by 361 to 35. By the time the new program ends on Sept. 30, 1980, it will have sent $24.9 billion from the federal treasury to state and local governments, with few federal controls on how the money can be spent.

Judge Removes Gag Order

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) - Dist. Atty. Frank Tucker says a judge's decision to close a court hearing for entertainer Claudine Longet, then open it while she entered a plea, allows attorneys to "manipulate public sentiment." The 34-year-old ex-wife of singer Andy Williams pleaded innocent to manslaughter on Thursday in the shooting death of professional skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich. Trial was scheduled for Aug. 30.

"Because of the action (which closed the hearing), reporters and the public will have to rely on attorneys for interpretation," Tucker said.

Lewis Ruling Said Wrong

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Comptroller Gerald Lewis was wrong to deny a bank charter to a group which originally had been approved by former Comptroller Fred Dickinson, a state hearing officer has ruled. Hearing officer Diane Tremor said Thursday that based upon findings in the case Lewis should issue the charter for the proposed First Bank of Port Richey.

for Lewis' office said the comptroller's decision would probably remain the same.

Photos Of Murder Victims Cause Stir In Zeigler Trial

JACKSONVILLE (AP) - Before the Charles Mays Jr., 35. quadruple murder trial of W.T. Zeigler Jr. was one day into testimony, prosecutors and defense attorneys clashed over whether the jury can see color pictures of the murder scene.

About 50 photos were marked for identification Thursday, but defense attorney Alph Hadley III objected to the jury seeing any pictures showing bloody bodies. James C. Dunaway, a former employe of Zeigler's furniture store at Winter Garden, cringed when he saw some of the photos when asked to identify the dead persons.

Zeigler, 30, is charged with the Christmas Eve fatal shootings of his wife, Eunice, 31; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Edwards of Moultri, Ga., and Hadley said the defense would stipulate to the identities of the bodies and avoid showing the photos to the jury of nine women and three men.

Judge Maurice Paul did not on the rule on the motion by State Atty. Robert Eagan to get the pictures admitted as evidence. In a murder trial, items marked for identification can be shown to witnesses Eagan, in his opening statment.

Party's Platform Is Hard To Write

Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter, who is considered to be the front runner, is often accused of being vague on issues and indeed he is. One of the reasons why may have surfaced at the recent meeting of the Democratic Platform Committee in Washington.

Mr. Carter, as well as the other Democratic candidates, must appeal to the midstream of his party's philosophy if he is to be successful. The platform committee's hearings were held for exactly that reason — to find the consensus of the party's rank and file and leadership.

It could not have been a very comforting

Walter Rostow, former undersecretary of the state for President Johnson, was either applauded vigorously or listened to in stony silence when, in response to a question, he said the lesson of Vietnam was, "If you use force, you had better win." George W. Ball, undersecretary of state under both President Johnson and President Kennedy, accused Secretary of State Henry Kissinger of pursuing a "strategy of maneuver and manipulation," of having an "Obsession" with "personal diplomacy" which "risks subverting our

Mr. Carter's principal foreign policy adviser, Prof. Zbigniew Brzezinski of Columbia University, took on the secretary of state for making "apocalyptic predictions" about the effect of Communists in an Italian government and said that such prophesies would be "self-fulfilling."

Other divisions ran deep. Some witnesses called for greater defense spending. Others wanted less. Some of the rank and file urged closer relations with the Soviet Union. Some said detente has failed, and so it went.

Hearings are called, of course, to hear the range of opinion, but it also is true that the major impression left by the platform committee's airing of foreign policy is negative.

Criticizing existing foreign policy is a responsible act, as Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt told the committee. On the other hand, we do not see any folly in trying to win a war once force is committed. any American institutions being subverted by the style of Mr. Kissinger, or harm in speaking frankly and openly about the danger of including Communists in the governments of Western Europe. We expect that the platform committee will try to come up with a constructive policy statement for the Democrats, one which proposes what avenues we should take instead of simply tearing down what

Judging from the debate in Washington the Democrats will find it difficult to write. It will be interesting to see if it turns out to be a real race horse or one designed by a committee.

Sweden Needs U.S.

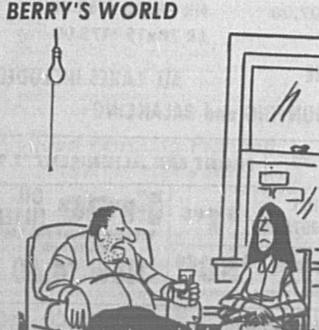

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger managed to keep the pleasantries flowing on a two-day visit to Sweden in spite of the hill which has surrounded relations between that country and the United States for more than a decade. We're glad, though, that Mr. Kissinger did not pass up the opportunity to launch a gentle barb at the Swedish government for the anti-American tone of its "neutrality."

The Swedes were sharply critical of the U.S. role in Veitnam, offered asylum to hundreds of U.S. military deserters and generally decried the use of military power by the United States. Mr. Kissinger reminded his hosts that relatively small countries like Sweden, and especially those lying in the shadow of the Soviet Union, do not enjoy freedom and independence simply by declaring their neutrality.

Sweden could not defend itself if there were not a balance of power existing in Europe, Mr. Kissinger said, and that balance is based on the military strength of the United States in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

As for Vietnam, Mr. Kissinger conceded we made some mistakes in Southeast Asia but supported that war because we believed the freedom of other people depended on it. We support NATO because we believe, the freesom of others depends on it including the freedom of the Swedes. That should give the people of Sweden something to think about.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Singer Helen Reddy has won an injunction barring the showing of a film of her performing at a series of state fairs.

Miss Reddy charged in her civil suit that she hadn't given approval to the film's producers. The injunction against Theatrical Corp. of America, identical to a temporary restraining order issued last May 13, was ordered Thursday by Superior Court Judge Norman Dowds and will remain in effect until the suit comes to trial. No trial date has been set. Jeff Wald, the singer's husband and manager, told the court that the 1974 feature film would jeopardize her career because Miss Reddy's performances have im-

Spitz: 'I Was Porpoise Out Of Water'

NEW YORK (AP) - Swimmer Mark Spitz parlayed his seven Olympic gold medals into a $5 million contract, but found only tarnished riches at the end of his rainbow.

Some have labeled him the "$5 Million Dud." "I was a porpoise out of water," the handsome, 26-year-old swimming wizard said as he pondered one of sport's most astonishing disappointments.

"I was not prepared for the adulation I received. I could not handle the total world," added Spitz in his first introspective interview since dropping out of Endorsement bids poured in from all over the world. A clothes manufacturer in Portugal offered $1 million for a fiveyear contract. A West German sporting goods company proposed $40,000 if Spitz would plug its products. Similar offers came from other companies.

The Morris Agency went to work getting America accustorned to the face of the goodooking Olympic champion. He made his public debut on the Bob Hope Show-normally a springboard to stardom. He saturated the TV screens with appearances on the talk shows-Dinah Shore, Mike Douglas, Merv Griffin, Johnny

"In the beginning, there might have been some exploitation," he said. "Some of the parts were real crazy, not adaptable to my personality. But the situation is stagnant now. I think Hollywood has forgotten about me." Spitz acknowledged that the fault may lie with his personality. As the world's best swimmer, he was sullen and introverted. He hated interviews. He often ignored and even insulted the press. He was jealous of his own privacy. "I will admit it, I am a com-

Love Her For Herself Question: My wife complains that I don't love her. She is a good housekeeper and an excellent cook. I appreciate her for these and many other things and I tell her so. What more can I do? Answer: You can love her for herself and not for the things she does. We all need to feel loved for our own personal worth, not for how we act or look or for any other reason. There is something in us that knows true love is not something earned but something freely given. Probably most of us attach strings to our love. These conditions seem perfectly natural to us. "I love you . . . because you love me, because you are obedient, because I'm proud of you." I suppose it's because that's the way we were loved as children. How can you tell if there's an admission price for your love? You might try asking yourself some questions. Do I love my child - or does he think I love him - because he gets good grades? Do I value him more when he is obedient or talented or athletic or pleasant? Do I love my wife because she lives up to my expectations? Do I love my husband because he is successful? I think you're always a little fearful when being loved depends upon meeting conditions. What if you fail to please, fail to obey, fail to make good grades? Will you lose that person"s love? Somehow you always feel you aren't really loved for yourself, and therefore you feel you're not really loved at all.

Do you remember when Tevye in "Fiddler On The Roof" asked his wife, "Do you love me?" She enumerated all the years she had lived with him and all the things she had done for him. Even so, she had still not answered his question, "Do you love ME?" You probably don't have trouble loving those who love you, please you, obey you. It's the unlovable, the disagreeable, the disobedient who are hard to love. The only love that works all the time is love with no
