SANFORD'S BIG PROSPECTS AND OUR MANY NEEDS VIEWED BY A VISITOR

Says Board of Trade Is Essential to Success

BIG UNDERTAKING

CONGRESSMAN HAINES HAS BEEN A TOWN BUILDER AND KNOWS WHEREOF HE SPEAKS.

The Hon. Charles D. Haines, former Congressman from New York, builder and owner of nearly two score electric and short line steam railways, has his winter home in Altamonte Springs.

Mr. Haines also gained a distinctive reputation as a builder of towns, and he has built quite a number along the lines of his railways.

Desirous of gaining possible valuable information, the Herald interviewed Mr. Haines, more particularly to obtain his views as how best to improve and develop our growing city, which we feel confident will keep pace with the times.

"The beginning of any sort of project," began Mr. Haines, "depends principally upon two factors: the foundation and the class of people interested."

"You suggest that I dwell more specifically upon your city, and request my general impression of Sanford."

Sanford has the foundation, an excellent one, that of both water and rail transportation, and it has an unusually good section of country surrounding it, already but little developed, yet has made the town quite famous in its speciality of celery growing and garden truck. That is a good start.

"From the foundation superstructures must be erected. Upon the kind of this constructive work depends entirely whether a town grows or remains at a standstill."

"Start off with a live, active, energetic Chamber of Commerce and permit no moss-back or drone to cross the threshold of that sanctuary. A dozen of the right sort of men is far better than a thousand who talk but never act. It took but 36 men in old Independence Hall to organize liberty, and a dozen intelligent progressive, tireless, determined men can build a city on the sands of a desert."

"Sanford is located on water which leads to the open seas. Make Sanford a real sea port. It can be done. Let the ambition of your people be as deep and as wide as the ocean itself. Give them an incentive to work for the glory and up-building of Sanford. Start the slogan, 'Sanford, a world port.' Make of Sanford a great distributing point, and make the river bring you cheaper transportation rates. God gave you the St. Johns, don't misuse, but use it."

"Have your Chamber of Commerce interest every business man, every property owner, every citizen in the movement which has as its ultimate goal the building of a city of the first class, and talk nothing else. Talk it so much that you will believe it and then go to it."

"Tell the merchants that the mow is another day, and not to attempt to get rich today by getting all possible from their customers. Start them in on that gold old time basis, large sales and small profit. Sell goods at fair, even living prices and set people talking about Sanford as the best place to trade in. Make trade where there is none now. There must be no profiteering."

"The merchants should carry as large stocks of commodities as they can carry, so that people outside may know that they can find everything needed in Sanford and at moderate prices. Don't try to make a tourist, but a commercial city and keep at it twelve months every year. Build for the future. It will pay."

"Florida has been laboring under the displeasure of many tourists, charged in everything they purchase. Make good Sanford an exception. It will pay. Visitors will tell others and people naturally prefer to do business and locate in that section where people are friendly, unselfish and progressive.

"Repair your roads, for they are so poor in places that those living in neighboring sections dread to drive their cars over them. Don't want, but spend money wherever a dollar will keep the wheels of progress moving."

"Sanford is exceptionally located for manufacturing, and such projects are not difficult to obtain, if gone at right. When people want to buy property, sell and don't ask more than the real value of the land. Don't encourage a boom. The Chamber of Commerce should have a list of every property that is for sale and know what each piece could be (Continued on back page)

LICENSE TAGS NOW IN PLENTY

AUTO OWNERS CAN GET THEM PROMPTLY FROM THE STATE COMPTROLLER.

Tallahassee, March 22.—(Special) Hon Ernest Amos, state comptroller, gave out a statement today that the comptroller's office has on hand an ample supply of automobile license tags in all series at this time and that he is prepared to give prompt service on automobile license applications arriving at this office. Several days ago, owing to an unexpected demand for tags for certain classes of cars, there was a temporary shortage of tags in some of the series due to a delayed shipment. However, this shortage did not last but a few days and the comptroller states that all applications received at this office have been registered and tags mailed out, and that there is now no reason why automobile license applications, properly executed, should not have immediate attention.

Mr. Amos states that the number of cars licensed this year has been considerably more than was anticipated, the total number now being over 63,400, as against 59,000 for the entire year 1919.

The comptroller is very anxious for automobile owners to be advised that the motor vehicle law does not permit the transfer of license tags and registration from one motor vehicle to another motor vehicle, but does provide that upon the sale of a car, previously registered during the license year, that the new owner shall within ten days apply for the license tags and registration to be transferred to his name. It will be seen that the law contemplates the license tags shall follow the car for which issued, throughout the license years, and while the license is transferable from a former owner to a new owner, it is not transferable from car to car.

It was learned at the comptroller's office that in several of the counties the activity of private citizens and of sheriffs in seeing that all automobiles were properly licensed has been very noticeable. In one county, recently, a citizen complained of a number of cars operating under 1919 license tags, and the comptroller took the matter up with the sheriff and requested his office to become active in requiring a compliance with the law. The result was that within two or three days after the sheriff began his campaign against license dodgers the applications for automobile licenses from that county "picked up" to a remarkable degree and several hundred cars were licensed in that county within three or four days. The comptroller states that he is endeavoring to cooperate with the sheriffs in seeing that the motor vehicle law is complied with.

BOARD OF TRADE TO MEET

AT THE VALDEZ HOTEL TOMORROW NIGHT AT EIGHT O'CLOCK SHARP AT A SMOKER.

The Sanford Board of Trade meeting is called for to-morrow night (Tuesday) at eight o'clock at the Valdez Hotel and the members and all those who are interested in the upbuilding of Sanford and Seminole County are requested to be there as business of importance will come before the meeting.

President Miller wishes to announce that the meeting will be an informal smoker and that the meeting will begin promptly at eight having been called at the Valdez Hotel in order that lights can be assured at the hotel. The meeting called last Tuesday could not be held in the court house on account of the lights being off and while many people had gathered at the court house to attend the meeting it had to be called off. The meeting tomorrow night will be at the Valdez which has its own electric lighting plant and the meeting will be held on time.

The Sanford Board of Trade has gained a good start and has much work to do and it is hoped that a large and representative crowd will be on hand at the Valdez Hotel tomorrow night ready to take up the important work of boosting the county of Seminole just now when it means so much to every citizen of the county.

Late Wires

Washington March 22 (By Associated Press) Helen Hamilton Gardner, of Washington, author, widow of Colonel S. A. Day was nominated by president as a member of the Civil Service Commission, to succeed Charles M. Galloway, Columbia S. C. who was "ousted" from commission last year. She is a native of Winchester, Va.

New York March 22: Over four hundred Russians, Finns and Poles advocating violent overthrow of the government will be sent home on ships carrying flour to those countries within next month. Immigration officials declared.

Washington March 22. Senator Pittman cross examined Sims and clashed with Chairman Hale. Pittman charged Hale with trying to break up cross examination. Sims admitted indifference in showing of navy department January seventh to Henry P. Davison, New York. Roanoke Va. March 22. Three known dead, number dead, others believed buried under ruins of the brick addition to Griggs Packing Company which was wrecked with Ammonia explosion this morning.

For Representative

In this issue appears the announcement of J. Lee Smith for the position of member of the Florida Legislature representative of Seminole County. Mr. Smith has served two terms as a member of the Florida legislature when at that time a resident of Hamilton county and he served this county in the years of 1903 and 0905 making a fine reputation as one of the Florida law makers and being honored in many ways while he was the representative and afterward by positions of trust in his state. Mr. Smith is a Florida man having been born and raised in Hamilton County where he is well and most favorably known and he also has a wide acquaintance in other parts of the state. In his early boyhood he worked on the farm in that section and in after years was engaged in the mercantile business in which he was successful.

Mr. Smith has been a resident of this city for the past seven years and has many friends among those with whom he has come into contact and being a good speaker and knowing the needs of his state he will tell the people all about himself and his aims during the campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barth of Dayton Ohio are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Schelle Maines and will remain several days being located at the Lincoln House.

MURDER OF MAYOR SENSATION

IN IRELAND AND CIVIL WAR SEEMS CLOSE AT HAND SAYS CORRESPONDENTS.

London March 22 (By Associated Press) Dispatches show that the murder of Mayor McCurtain of Cork has produced an intense sensation throughout Ireland. The London Times Dublin correspondent says it has closed one of the blackest weeks since the 1916 rebellion and gives a long list of the outrages including the five murders of policemen and other crimes. The Morning Post attacks the government and denounces the Lord Lieutenant French saying they are bringing about the necessity of reconquering Ireland by arms and that civil war is in sight.

Louise Huff Married

Miss Louise Huff, the dainty little Georgia girl who has made such a wonderful success as a movie star was recently married to Edward Stillman of New York a well known financier and nephew of James Stillman president of the National Bank of New York. Miss Huff is the sister of T. S. Huff of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Stillman and Mr. Huff will come down in October with the expectation of building a winter home here. Mr. Huff will dispose of his home and holdings west of the city and expects to build a new home on the St. Johns river near Shell mound.

NO FENCE LAW WAS OPPOSED

CATTLE RAISERS' ASSOCIATION GOES ON RECORD AGAINST IT.

Tampa, March 19.—The morning session of the Cattle Raisers' meeting was featured by several interesting addresses. In his address "Fattening Cattle for the Market" E. C. Beuchler advocated dehorning stock saying dehorned stock is worth from one-quarter to one-half cent more per pound than horned stock in the open market.

J. J. Logan, Jacksonville, spoke on "Financing the Cattle Business" and advocated the incorporation of a cattle dealers' bank, modeling the famous Drovers Bank of Chicago. Continuing Mr. Logan said with officials of the bank selected from practical cattle men notes could be negotiated among cattle raisers which could be easily marketed. Mr. Logan suggested starting with a capital of $25,000 or $50,000 and offered to start with a substantial subscription. Just what the financial committee intended doing after their meeting last night along this line could not be learned this morning. Mr. Logan is well known in Tampa through his triumphs at the recent South Florida Fair with the Aberdeen stock.

In speaking of the future of the cattle industry, D. E. W. Sheets, of the bureau of animal industry, complimented the work done in the south in recent years. He showed from government figures that Florida stood second in the southern states in increase of cattle in the last four years with a per cent of 53 in animals and 40 per cent in values. In conclusion he said: "Breed, weed, feed, breed up, weed out, feed more."

A resolution of regret offered by Dr. Blackburn at the recent death of Z. C. Chambliss was unanimously passed with a rising vote.

At a sale of Angus and Brahm stock at the session yesterday the stage was properly set for St. Patrick's day. Pat Johnson, secretary of the Cattle Raisers' Association, was clerk and the auctioneer was our own "Patty" Waldron. The honors easily went to Waldron. About 24 head were sold, averaging from $12 for a yearling bull to $400 for a four-year-old cow. Most of the animals belonged to J. J. Logan of Jacksonville.

Tom Lykes offered some graded Brahman bulls for sale but after the first one only brought $100, he and Waldron essayed to drive the animals up to the fence where the buyers were seated. This was only a stall as their object was to stop further sales. The bulls, insulted at the small figures bid, took an eight foot fence on the fly and headed for Key West. Patty declared they were real "Irish" bulls.

The business session of the convention was held this morning. Among the work done was the selection of Bartow as the next meeting place. The association will also go on record as against the no-fence law.

All officers of the association were re-elected and are: C. A. Carson, Jr., Kissimmee, president; H. J. Moddy, Riverview, first vice-president; J. J. Logan, Jacksonville, second vice-president; F. M. Burt, DeLeon Springs, treasurer; Pat Johnson of Kissimmee, secretary.

PUGILIST CARPENTIER HAS LANDED

GEORGES LANDS IN NEW YORK READY TO FIGHT CHAMPION DEMPSEY.

New York March 22 (By Associated Press) Georges Carpentier, the French pugilist with his wife were passengers on the steamship La Savoie which arrived off New York today. They will remain here five days then go to the Pacific coast. Carpentier expects to sign a contract to fight Jack Dempsey during his stay in the United States.

FRED M. BASS FINED $50 AND COSTS, W. B. HARRIS HALF AMT.

BOTH MEN TRIED BEFORE MAYOR STEED ON CHARGE OF DISORDERLY CONDUCT IN KISSIMMEE.

Mayor W. J. Steed in the city court this morning fined Fred M. Bass $50 and costs or ten days in the calaboose and W. B. Harris $25 and costs or five days in the calaboose, the charge against both being disorderly conduct. Bass first entered a plea of not guilty but when his counsel, Pat Johnson, was assured that the extent of the injuries alleged to have been inflicted upon Mr. Harris would not be taken into consideration, Bass changed his plea to guilty of disorderly conduct.

Mayor Steed in fining Mr. Harris took into consideration the testimony of D. E. Jernigan of Orlando and J. H. Roberts of Kissimmee, witnesses to the encounter March 6 last, who swore they heard Mr. Harris use profane language and called Bass names. Sam Prather and other witnesses did not hear Harris use profane language, they testified.

Both Bass and Harris made statements to the court, which was practically the same as has heretofore been made public.

Pat Johnson, for Bass, filed a motion for continuance on the ground that it was necessary for Dr. Jefferson, the Tampa eye specialist who has been treating Mr. Harris, to be present, but upon agreement between the city and counsel for Bass that the trial would be merely upon the charge of disorderly conduct Attorney Johnston withdrew his motion and Bass entered a plea of guilty. The city then examined witnesses in the trial of Harris.

Owing to the hour of going to press being at hand the Gazette gives but a brief account of the trials and the details will be published later.

Tomorrow Mr. Bass will be given a hearing before Judge T. M. Murphy in the county court, according to orders from their tribunal.—Kissimmee Gazette.

Trip to the Plant Shows They Are Making Progress BETTER SERVICE NOW

PRACTICALLY MAKING OVER OLD PLANT AND BUILDINGS WITH MODERN EQUIPMENT.

S. O. Chase, city commissioner invited the editor of the Herald to take a trip to the plant of the Southern Utilities Co., Saturday to note the progress they were making in placing their new engines and boilers and getting ready for taking care of the City of Sanford. As the editor had not been at this plant for two years and at the request of Mr. Chase that we ought to see it first hand since they were really getting in shape the trip was a revelation in many ways. The difference between the former plant and the new plant that is being installed is the difference between modern and new machinery and old and worn out machinery and obsolete patterns. The new boilers are now being housed under a new brick building that will soon be ready for the roof and this will make a big difference in the steaming qualities of the new plant over the old. The mammoth new engine that has not as yet been put to work but will be ready for business in a few days was running and getting down to shape to take care of the big business that the growing city of Sanford requires. One can easily see what the engineers and crews working out there have been up against in the past six months working in mud and water and trying to patch up the old machinery while the new was being installed and it should be a source of satisfaction to the consumers to know that some time in the near future this plant will be in first class shape although no one can foretell just when this will be accomplished as it is a big job to work over an old plant and keep it going. Not only will the electric light and power plant be in first class condition some day but the company will install one of the largest ice making machines in the state in order to take care of the immense business of this section. A trip was not made to the gas plant and waterworks but it is said that over there John Gillon is on the job which is sufficient guarantee that with the proper equipment water and gas should be forthcoming at some time in the future.

THOUSANDS KILLED IN GERMAN REVOLT

SPARTACANS CONTROL MANY CITIES AND NEGOTIATIONS SEEM IMPOSSIBLE.

Paris March 22 (By Associated Press) Eight thousand persons have been killed since the German revolt began advices received here state and eight hundred and fifty were killed in Berlin alone. Spartacans for ces still control Stettin, Dusseldorf, Elberfeld and Essen where great disorder prevails. Negotiations by members of the Ebert government and leaders of the National Assembly and Workers delegates are declared in an official British report to have been interrupted because of the increase in the claims of the workers.

For Representative

I hereby announce my candidacy for the position of Member of the Florida Legislature representing Seminole County, subject to the decision of the Democratic primary to be held on June 8th.

MEMORIAL PICTURE

To Be Unveiled Sunday Night At The Baptist Church

A beautiful memorial picture of the four young men who, members of the Sunday Morning Club, made the supreme sacrifice in the world, will be unveiled at the Baptist Church on Sunday night at 7:30. The Young Men whose pictures appear are Joe Laing, Walter Lovell, Arthur Lossing and Carl Malm. The Memorial may be seen in the window of Perkins & Britt, a committee composed of Dr. J. T. Denton, M. L. Wright and C. A. Whiddon prepared the same.

The Memorial will be formally presented to the class on Sunday Night next. Mr. C. A. Whiddon will make the speech of presentation in behalf of the committee and Judge Schelle Maines will accept the same as the President of the Class.

The members of the Sunday Morning Club are urged to be present and all the friends of the young men thus memorialized are invited.

Queer Plant.

"Tul-Tul," as the natives call it, is the most wonderful vegetable plant in the world.

It grows on certain South Pacific islands and in appearance is like a giant turnip, but blood-red in color.

To the white man, it is a very tough and tasteless vegetable. To the natives, however, it is a main item of their diet. They cook it and mix it with their coconut and breadfruit, for it is supposed to be very nourishing.
They cultivate the plant in a rough sort of fashion in large ditches or swamps.

Its most peculiar feature is that it has to be fed, and for this purpose the native children go over the island collecting all decayed vegetable matter.
This is soaked in plenty of salt water and is then taken in armfuls to the plants and put in the center of the leaf-stems or on the short, thick stem from which the leaves spread out on every side.

Slowly, but surely, the decayed matter disappears, the leaves stiffen and spread out erect—signs, apparently, that the plant has dined heartily, for it really is a case of feeding a plant.
There is no opening of the stem or leaves; the food is slowly and gradually absorbed in a silent and wonderful manner.—Boston Post.

"Beating the Bounds" by Air.
Port Melbourne has improved on the ancient British custom of "beating the bounds" of a municipality. Instead of a solemn peregrination, the mayor, Councillor Page, and a colleague flew over Port Melbourne in an airplane and then visited South Melbourne.
Whether this airy way of performing a solemn duty will be the cause of civic revolution has yet to be determined and the fact that the inspection was made on a Sunday may bring down more wrath. There is of course a distinct advantage in viewing ratty roads from the air, but Port Melbourne has no reason to fear a more minute inspection of her highways and byways.

Ready Explanation.

An Epoch-making event in the annals of American amusements is the presentation by Richard Walton Tully of the virile-compelling-accomplished American actor, Guy Bates Post, in the iridescent bubble of modern humanity, "The Masquerader."
This dramatic masterpiece by John Hunter Booth, taken from the widely read novel of Katherine Cecil Thurston, intimately illustrates the lives of two men who met in the fog and traded identities and living quarters.

The dual characterization offers Mr. Post a wonderful opportunity and the constricted characters are impersonated by him with all the art of a genius mind. His drug fiend is a pitiful wretch; his Loder, the "man," the mental and moral antithesis of the other.

More intensely and artistically interesting than Jeckyl and Hyde—more massive in presentation than any modern play, and yet, so deftly done, its ponderous scenes move with the smooth rapidity of an uninterrupted panorama, and that is what this wonderful play is—A LIVING MOVING, TALK-ING PANORAMIC REFLEX OF THE WARP AND WOOF OF HUMANITY.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT OUR FLORIDA

REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD STAY IF YOU ARE HERE AND COME IF YOU ARE NOT HERE

The following facts about Florida appear in the current quarterly bulletin of the Florida Agricultural Department, issued by Commissioner W. A. McRae, and will prove interesting to citizens of this great state as well as those who contemplate locating in Florida.

Florida has more seacoast than any other state, which gives us delightfully pleasant breezes and pure air, sea food in abundance and access to the markets of the world by water. Florida mines 80 per cent. of the total output of phosphate in the United States.

Florida has a greater rainfall than any other state, making abundant moisture accessible to the farmer.

We have more surface water in rivers and lakes than any state except Minnesota, giving us fresh water supply, and cool breezes in summer and tempering the winds in the winter.

We have more growing days than any other state.

We produce more Fuller's earth than all the other states combined.

Florida has the largest pecan groves in the world.

Florida leads all the states in average crop values per acre.

Florida has 75,000,000 fruit and nut bearing trees.

There is enough lumber standing in the forests of Florida to build homes for all the people in twenty of our largest cities.

Florida grows a greater variety of products than any other state and can grow more crops on the same land in a single season than any other state.

Florida still has deer, bear, wild turkey, quail, ducks, squirrels and other game and 650 different kinds of fish swim in her waters. It is the hunter's garden of Eden and the fisherman's paradise.

We can go fishing, surf bathing, or pick strawberries in January. We have many of the largest and most beautiful springs in the world. Some of them send up 7,500 barrels of water per minute, or a daily flow of over 10,000,000 barrels.

Florida has 4,158 miles of graded earth roads; 664 miles of asphalt; 483 miles of brick; 35 miles of concrete; 1,288 miles of rock, oil treated; 638 miles of shell; 1,944 miles of sand-clay; a grand total of 9,224 miles, and more being built.

There are within her borders 10,000,000 acres of red clay subsoil land, and 10,000,000 more acres of sand and muck land, making at least 20,000,000 of the 37,000,000 acres value of the state suitable for growing something. Less than 2,000,000 acres of this has been touched by the plow. Better buy some of it while it is plentiful and cheap.

No state in the nation has better natural advantages for growing poultry and live stock than Florida.

In Florida you can be a general farmer, citrus grower, peach grower, truck grower, fig grower, grape grower, pecan grower, or you can specialize in poultry, hogs, cattle, sheep or goats. Come down and take your choice.

We can grow some kind of feed for live stock and poultry in every month. Sunstroke to man or animal is rare, compared with other states.

We have the lowest death rate of any state in the union.

We ship an average of six cars of fruit and vegetables every hour in the year.

Florida is the natural home of the bee, and much money is shipped in car lots.

With a mild climate and plenty of grass, Florida is especially adapted to dairying.

No place on earth can grow an orange or grapefruit as fine flavor as Florida.

Seven thousand five hundred cars of watermelons and 300,000 crates of cantaloupes have been shipped out of Florida in a single season, value from 15 to 18 per cent. per annum.

Florida is as large as Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. Those states have 15,000,000 people. Florida has 1,000,000. There is room for you.

The only camphor plantation in the United States is in Florida, and tons of that important gum have been made. The camphor tree is one of the finest known for yard and street shade purposes.

We can go fishing, boating and surf bathing when the waters of the North are covered with thick ice.

Florida has more varieties of trees supply fruits, nuts, oil, sweets, dyes, drugs, chemicals, tar, pitch, rosins, turpentine, gum, lumber, cross-ties, moss, etc. All of these things are of value to man.

Bananas grow in Florida; so do the lemon.

The camphor tree is profitably grown in Florida; so is the coconut.

The live oak is at home in Florida. One tree at old Blount town measures 8 feet 6 inches in diameter above the spread of the roots and is 48 feet around at the ground.

There are 160 nurseries in Florida and properly cared for they pay a good dividend.

Florida is rapidly becoming a corn growing state. The Florida State Marketing Bureau shipped 101 cars of corn last season for Florida farmers. The annual production is about 13,500,000 bushels.

Florida produces more wintergrown tomatoes than all other states combined. Florida has the largest frame hotel building in the world.

The population of Florida has increased 30 per cent. in five years.

Tampa factories send out to the smokers of the world 300,000,000 cigars per annum.

Key West is 300 miles nearer the Panama Canal than any other American port.

Florida abounds with artesian wells. Florida has the only sponge fisheries in the Union.

Coquina rock for building purposes is plentiful along the East Coast of Florida, and limestone exists in all parts of the state.

There are 3,000 different kinds of trees, shrubs, herbs, etc., in Florida. Florida has some 500 sawmills, with an annual output of 1,250,000,000 feet of lumber, not counting cross-ties, staves, veneers, tanbark, etc.

Crops are grown in Florida every month in the year.

Florida has as large and fine sea beaches as can be found in the world. Florida can be made to produce enough sugar to supply the United States.

You need less fuel and clothing in Florida than in any other state in the union.

There are 70 ice factories in Florida. It is easy to keep cool.

Seventy per cent. of the farmers of Florida are white; 73 per cent. of the farmers own their homes; 85 per cent. of the white farmers in Florida operate their own farms.

The total amount of farm mortgages in Florida is less than two per cent. of the total farm value.

Florida has 2,916 common schools,

104 high schools, 4 state schools for higher education, 16 denominational colleges.

Eleven steamboat lines are operated in Florida waters.

The gardens, fields and groves of Florida can be made to produce something good to eat in every month.

The decrease in the world's sugar crop, 1914-0908, was 6,204,141 tons. Florida could easily supply the shortage if all its sugar lands were developed and in use it could supply the world.

Florida as a whole is as safely out of the line and sweep of tornadoes and hurricanes as any state in the union.

FOR SHERIFF I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Seminole County subject to the decision of the Democratic Primary. If elected, I pledge myself to discharge every duty fearlessly, faithfully, and impartially. A. B. CAMERON.

When Paint Causes Wood to Warp. Coatings of equal moisture resistance should be applied to all surfaces of a wood product which would give dissatisfaction if it were to warp in service. Tests at the forest products laboratory, Madison, have shown that even when wood is properly kiln dried, no coating entirely prevents it from picking up or giving off moisture and, consequently, from swelling and shrinking under the influence of varying atmospheric conditions. Varnish, shellac, and other moisture-resistant finishes merely decrease the rate at which the moisture changes in wood occur. The higher the grade and the more coats applied, the slower will be the moisture changes.

Unequal coatings on opposite surfaces of a wooden article cause unequal rates of change in moisture content and hence unequal shrinkage on the two sides of the piece. The result is that the wood tends to cup or twist out of shape.

Dog Saves Feline Chum. Deuce, an Irish terrier, proved at a fire in the pet shop at 270 Livingston street, Brooklyn, that the term "cat and dog life" sometimes means the opposite of hate, combat and commotion. Deuce had been living in amity with seven blooded cats in the shop for several weeks. When the fire started he saved himself, and then watched the firemen rescue the cats. Apparently he counted them, for when the men stopped rescue work after bringing out the sixth he dashed into the burning shop and came out carrying the seventh by the scruff of its neck. Deuce had to open a cage to do it. When he released the cat on the sidewalk, the latter purred and rubbed against his legs, until the shop owner gathered up both animals and took them away.

What's Art to This Senator? Art received a terrible wallop at the national capital when a senator decided he wanted a private door into his office so that folks could not break in on him unannounced. Summoning workmen, he caused to be torn out some of the finest art work on the walls of the senate side and then had a door installed.

To Rid Piano of Moths. When moths have got into a piano the best means of ejecting them is to make up a mixture of turpentine, benzoline and oil of lavender and squirt this inside the instrument by means of a squirt gun or any small sprayer. Use seven parts of benzoline to one of turpentine and add a few drops of the lavender--one drop to each ounce will be ample.

"Twelfth Night" "Twelfth Day" or "Little Christmas," the Feast of the Epiphany, commemorates the arrival of the Magi, or three kings of the East, who came to the crib of the Christ Child to adore him to worship him as the long-promised Messiah. The old custom of merry-making in England in connection with the feast gave Shakespeare the name of one of his finest comedies, "Twelfth Night."

Footprints of Progress. A good substitute for cork is obtained from certain fungi, which are dried and ground, mixed with cement and consolidated by pressure. In Norway a process has been patented to enable cork to be used for driving motors. In Denmark a company has been formed to make briquettes from heather. These have a higher heat value than peat. Experiments are being made to use chalk marl, especially that which comes from the Limburg mines, as a fertilizer.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

March it seems, has been something of a windless month. That is, everywhere except in Washington.

Editor Hetherington of the Lakeland Telegram is fortunate indeed to have his oldest son, W. M. Hetherington, able to come into the Telegram office as one of the firm and help his dad in his declining years.

A lot of foreigners it seems, have returned to their native countries because the United States is too "dry" for them. They are not of the most desirable class of our foreign population.

Monarchists of Germany yearn mightily for an opportunity to place some one of the old regime on the now vacant throne, but they will hardly succeed.

We fail to see why the wherefore of the fuss about the prohibition enforcement, or the eighteenth amendment, or the making of moonshine or any other part of the liquor business.

ROOTING HIM OUT In Chicago a red hot investigation is being made of million dollar corporations that dodge their taxes, or pay only a small proportion of what they should justly pay.

This is just one more reason why the government should make public the amount of taxes paid by every citizen and by every business concern, corporation or otherwise, INCLUDING INCOME TAX.

If big business is ever required to pay its just proportion of taxes the burden will fall less heavily upon the poor man, who has but slight opportunity to evade payment of his taxes.

Publication of the income tax, together with the property tax, will disclose whether or not there is a "gentleman of color" in the woodpile. The public should demand full publicity in all tax matters.

"up home" and rush back to be met with heavy storms and plenty of ice and cold weather. It is not Florida weather in the north and never will be and you should not be lulled into a sense of security because the weather is ideal here for there is quite a difference in the thermometer in Florida and the thermometer in the north.

AWAKENING OF THE GIANT

Our great American giant has been sleeping since the early days of the republic, but now he is beginning to stir. This giant is the American farmer. A committee of seven prominent farm organization leaders has been appointed to quiz all presidential aspirants as to their attitude toward matters which the farmer considers of paramount importance.

Their reports as to the attitude of these candidates will go out to the millions of farmers all over the United States, and will have much weight with the tiller of the soil when he goes to the polls to vote.

We fear there are some uncomfortable hours ahead of our friends the candidates. They are reasonably expert at satisfying big business and organized labor, for both get the gravy when they make a roar.

But just how the candidates are going to satisfy big business and organized labor on one hand and the farmer on the other is a mystery difficult to solve at this stage of the game.

And the farmers, hanging together can relegate any candidate to the scrap pile in the hat of an eye. The truth about the candidates touches them on the raw.

THINK THIS OVER

The supreme court of the United States has decided that incomes from stocks are exempt from income taxation.

The fortunes of our rich men are principally invested in stocks. They carry no great amount of actual cash in bank.

The rich men with their billions of dollars worth of stocks will pay no income tax on the enormous revenues from those stocks, thereby deriving their entire incomes from them, and escape the payment of any income tax at all.

It costs in the neighborhood of one billion dollars a year to run the government, and much of that amount must be raised by taxation.

If the rich man is not to pay his just proportion of the income tax, WHO MUST PAY IT FOR HIM?

We have no editorial comment to make on the ruling of the supreme court. That tribunal is presumed to be the fountain head of justice, and the law is undoubtedly as they have interpreted it.

But the fact that the rich man is to pay no income tax on his enormous holdings of stocks causes one to wonder if the poor man is to be required to "dig deeper and cough harder."

He has coughed much as it is.

USE YOUR LOCAL PAPER

The business man who does not regularly advertise in his local news paper fails in duty to himself and to the community he lives in.

No matter what size the town is, the home newspaper is an important factor in its prosperity. It reflects the life of the place, and keeps everybody informed of what is happening. The town would be indeed a dreary spot without it.

One of the most interesting features of the local paper is its advertising. Live advertising helps to make it a live, interesting, readable publication. The right kind of advertising will bring you results, build up the reputation of your store, and bring the people in to buy the things you have to sell.

The newspaper is faithful to the interests of the merchant. It is always a booster of the buy-at-home policy. Tradesmen therefore should do everything they can to back it up in this good work by making their advertisements so regular in appearance and so full of news of their respective stores that there will be some sound reason for the buy-at-home argument.

At a big gathering of advertising men not long ago, the advertising manager of one of the largest of the mail order houses made a speech in which he said that his company had a department composed of men whose duty it is to read, each week, the weekly newspapers and dailies from all over the country. When they find a town where the merchants are not advertising steadily in the local papers, that town and district is immediately flooded with propaganda from the mail order house. It always brings results far in excess of the same effort put forth in territory where the local dealers constantly use their daily newspapers.

THE PAPER SITUATION

We have been averse to calling attention to the paper situation hoping it would remedy itself in a short time but the crisis is here.

There isn't enough newsprint in Polk county to run its newspapers over six weeks if it was all pooled, and some are down to a weeks supply.

It is not only higher than ever before but unobtainable at any price. The Tampa Tribune and Tampa Times are leading out in issuing smaller type and cutting out all free publicity "stuff" and non-essentials.

The Tribune says it may soon be forced to cut down to one or two pages a day. Beginning this week the Record is cutting deeper along the lines. It is this or cease publication until the crisis is passed.

We promise not to raise prices on advertising or subscription but don't expect us to publish non-essential or free publicity matter that is not of general importance.

Bartow Record.

Naturalist Picks Beaver From Among All Others as Most Intelligent Animal

We read much about animal sagacity and there is a common query: "Which is the most intelligent animal?" This query, writes Raymond L. Ditmars in Boys' Life, most frequently relates to the results in training animals to do surprising things or to do the "smart" things that many captive animals do.

Despite the adoption of the horse and the elephant to domestic use, the docility and affection of the dog, the marvelous feats accomplished by trained sea lions and other marked demonstrations of intelligence among the larger animals, the writer is unswerving in his decision, and this comes after years of observation and deduction. He picks the beaver as the star of animal sagacity.

All the rodents are characteristic in having strangely developed incisor teeth—those immediately at the front of both the upper and lower jaw. These teeth, proportionately larger and longer than with other animals, are continually growing and their edges meet in a fashion to become much sharpened during constant use like a double set of rapidly moving chisels.

Death of Mrs. B. C. Eaton
The death of Mrs. May Francis Eaton occurred Saturday night at seven twenty at the home on First street the cause of her death being double pneumonia. Mrs. Eaton had been ill with the flu which developed on Friday into pneumonia and nothing that skilled physicians and trained nursing could do could save the young life that was doomed to go.

The deceased was the wife of B. C. Eaton of this city and was born in Sanford, twenty-five years ago, having lived here all her life. Three years ago she was married to Mr. Eaton. Possessing a sweet and lovable disposition that endeared her to a large circle of friends who were shocked to hear of her death. Besides her husband she leaves a mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foster, one brother, Wesley Foster and four sisters, Claudia and Nettie Foster, Mrs. C. E. Ward, Sanford and Mrs. C. E. Smith of Jacksonville. Dr. Geo. Hyman officiated at the funeral obsequies Sunday afternoon, and interment took place in Lake View cemetery. The pall bearers were John Patterson, A. Foster, Jack King, Ralph King, T. H. Buchanan and B. J. Starling. Many beautiful floral tributes testified to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held.

Card of Thanks
To our kind friends and neighbors we extend our heartfelt thanks for their many kindnesses during the illness and loss of our beloved one, also for the beautiful floral offerings.

War, Execution of Saloons and Disappearance of Free Lunch Rooms—Hobo No More.

What has become of the old-time hobo?

Not that anybody wants him back again, but his disappearance is a mystery.

To be sure, the war cleaned him out, but even so, he was a diminishing quantity before the bugle called.

Chief Thomas Shaughnessy of Madison, Wis., like many other police chiefs, reports that the tramp has ceased to be a problem for him and that the hobo is extinct.

Despite the war, it is still a puzzle to Madison's custodian of the law what has become of the 2,906 hoboes who have disappeared from Madison in the past five years. In 1914, the total number of lodgers at the police station was 2,820, in comparison with 215 in 1919.

The extinction or execution of the saloon is one contributing factor to the lack of "hobo" according to Chief Shaughnessy. Disappearance of free lunches and stumbling joints have set the traps to working for bread and butter. Scarcity of labor during the war forced a lot of the trifiers to work. And a lot learned how to work in the army, says the chief.

In 1914, 2,820 lodgers registered at the police station: in 1915, 3,496; in 1916, 2,820; in 1917, 1,006; in 1918, 156; and in 1919, 215. The almost steady decrease in numbers is shown by a comparison of the lodgers in the months of December during the five years which show 313 lodgers at the police station in 1914; 518 in 1915; 160 in 1916; 40 in 1917; 15 in 1918, and only several in 1919.

Azores Once the Object of Scientific Interest Owing to the Volcanic Eruptions

The Azores islands were made the objects of scientific interest by the volcanic eruptions and earthquakes while the former were alive. Suboceanic eruptions, sometimes piling up islands which soon disappeared, were characteristic phenomena.

The Azores comprise three groups of islands, their total area being less than that of Rhode Island. Their population is about 300,000, most of the inhabitants being Portuguese. About the middle of the fifteenth century the Portuguese sent expeditions to settle on these islands. One island, Fayal, was presented by Alfonso V of Portugal, to his aunt, Isabella, duchess of Burgundy. It was upon her marriage to Philip the Good, duke of Burgundy, that he founded the famous knightly order of the Golden Fleece.

"THE STORE THAT IS DIFFERENT"

Many Accidental Drownings.
Accidental drowning caused 5,550 deaths, or 7.4 per 100,000, in this country last year. This rate is considerably less than that for any preceding year since 1910, and is also decidedly below the average for the decade 1901-1910.

New Orleans Cemeteries.
Surrounded as it is on three sides by the Mississippi and on the fourth by Lake Pontchartrain, no wonder New Orleans must bury its dead above-ground! Even a shallow grave becomes a well. The cemeteries, with their wildernesses of stone and marble tombs, are one of the sights of the city.

CLEVER TRICKS OF BOOTLEGGERS

Maine Variety Have Many Dodges to Fool the Federal Agents.

FOUNTAIN SYRINGES USED

"Walking Speakeas es" Are the Hardest to Catch—Liquor is Cashed in Odd Places by Itinerant Venders.

Buffalo, N. Y.—John M. Evans, who says he has had years of experience in enforcing the prohibitory laws in the state of Maine, stopped off in Buffalo, says the Courier of that city, for a few hours and related some interesting methods of conducting the liquor business under strict enforcement.

Mr. Evans told of many ways of handling "wet" goods used by "bootleggers," but not one of the hundreds with whom he has come in contact ever used a bootleg as a depository for his stock in trade.

"While the name still sticks to individuals who defy the liquor law outside of regular saloons and kitchen barrooms, the bootleg full of booze ceased to be when the high boots with loose tops went out of style.

Was Easy to Get Booze

"Up to the time of the passage of the Webb law by the federal government a few years ago," Mr. Evans said, "providing for the labelling of all 'wet' goods handled by express companies and other common carriers, it was a comparatively easy matter to get a plentiful supply of liquor from Boston wholesalers, and even after that most of the bootleggers managed to smuggle in by water or automobile, and there were some who concocted a mixture out of alcohol, water, burnt sugar and a dash of tabasco, which they passed off on many an unsuspecting victim.

"The hardest bird we ever had to contend with was putting out booze for years. We knew he was doing it, but we could not get the goods on him, and it was a long time before we got him, even after we were wise to his system. This was his system:

"At night he would load his overcoat up with pints, half-pints and occasionally a quart. These he would plant, one in a pile of clapboards in a lumber yard, another in a junk pile and still another under a doorstep or in a rubbish barrel in an alley. The next day his customers would come for him, pay him for their purchase, and he would direct them to the nearest plant.

"We began to be suspicious of him after a woman reported seeing a man remove a bottle from the muzzle of one of the two historic cannons that guard the Soldiers' monument. Finally we trailed him at night, watched him saw his crop, harvested it and then placed him under arrest.

Strangers "Not Wanted"

"We were unable to get a conviction against him, although the fellow was not working and had no visible means of support. It was not until we caught him napping with a couple of stool pigeons that we finally convicted him. In order for the system to work out well the bootlegger must be well acquainted with his customers and have their confidence in a large degree.

"Another popular method of dispensing the hard stuff was through a couple of fountain syringes, suspended from the shoulders one in front and one on the back. They would fill a flask or serve by the drink as desired.

"When things begin to get too hot for the pocket peddlers," Mr. Evans continued, "they solicit business and fill each order one at a time by taking the customers' money, going to the hide and returning with the goods. I doubt if there is sufficient trust in one's fellow man for this system to work out successfully in a city the size of Buffalo.

"We have picked up men with a considerable stock of booze on their persons while to all appearances it did not seem possible that the individual could have more than a flask or so.

"In the days before the form-fitting clothes, when long coats and peg-top trousers were in style, many a suit was tailored with huge pockets in the trousers, and sometimes inside the coat under the arms.

"The blind tiger, so popular in the South, was never used much in Maine. Its only recommendation is that it offers more or less safety in selling to strangers. You put your money through a small opening in a wall and out through the opening comes a drink.

Beer Was Too Bulky

"The methods used by saloon keepers to keep out of the clutches of the law were almost as numerous as those of bootlegging. The first step of the saloon keeper when the lid was clamped down was to eliminate beer and ale all together, as it was too bulky to handle in the event of a raid. In those days near-beer was a much despised and little known article in Maine. But when the district attorney hated all saloon keepers who possessed a United States license before the grand jury and fattened the county's treasury by about $500 a head, they began to take more kindly to near-beer, as it proved an alibi for the federal tax.

"In dry spells some saloons would sell only by the bottle to those they knew very well, while others would sell only by the drink, going on the basis that liquor in a man's system could not be produced as evidence. In the latter places the saloon keeper usually kept a pitcher full of booze under the bar handy to the sink. Several convictions were obtained in such cases, however. The combination of finding a whisky glass, the odor of liquor and the presence of a drunk or two in the bar room being sufficient to convince the judge.

"The wiser ones would have two pitchers, one on each side of the sink, one full of ammonia and one full of whisky. One sweep of the arm would dump them both into the sink. The odor of the ammonia would prevent the odor of whisky to be noticeable and the contents of the sink could be analyzed only as spirits of ammonia.

"All the saloons in the state were filled with ingenious 'hides,' most of which defied detection. When a 'hide' was discovered it was generally the result of some disgruntled employee giving the thing away. They range in capacity from 'hides' large enough to hold a half-pint close to the bar itself to false cellar walls behind which ten barrels might be concealed. Most of the saloons had large and small 'hides,' the smaller ones being filled up daily from the big one by the boss himself.

"Some of the 'hides' consist of tanks set inside of hewed-out girders in the floor above. These were connected with a small pipe which generally ended in a little 'office' right off the bar. You would order a pint, the bartender would return to the 'office,' close a door, remove a calendar from the wall, behind which was a little disguised gascock, from this he would remove a cap and draw off the required amount. Other stores of booze were kept in the tanks of flush closets, which could be flushed from behind the bar in case the searchers got too close and the evidence would go down the sewer.

"Some had their main 'hides,' on adjoining property that would not be covered by the search warrant, to which access was had by means of secret doors and subterranean passages."

Beer Sold Openly

"What about 2.75 per cent beer?" was asked.

"Ever since 2.75 per cent beer was brewed," he replied, "it has been on sale openly in Maine. Fruit stores and small stands of all kinds paid $25 for a federal license and put in a stock of bottled beer, while the saloons sold the bottled and draught goods both. If the saloons have a right to sell it because it is non-intoxicating and if it is non-intoxicating I can't see the necessity of carrying an excessive tax. I can't see what is there to prevent soda fountains or anyone selling 2.75 beer after paying the federal tax of $25.

"Prohibition in Maine for many years was a joke except for occasional spasms of enforcement just before an election when the party in power figured that they needed votes or the county treasury needed money. It is an interesting game to chase the evaders and I anticipate it will be even more so in the event of nationwide prohibition."

Engineer Refused to Spoil This "Lie"

Pinehurst, N. C.—The defence paid to golf here is impressive. Miss Metcalf Keating of the Agawan Hunt club, hooked her drive to the railroad tracks near the club house just as a train was coming along.

The engineer, leaning out of the cab window, saw the ball come to rest between the rails, saw it perch itself upon an ideal but precarious tee in the form of a tiny pile of cinders, grasped the situation and the airbrake control at the same time and brought the train to a sudden stop.

The passengers may have been slightly shaken up in the process, but Miss Keating's lie was not disturbed. The train waited until a good recovery shot had been played and then resumed its journey northward to less considerate climes.

WAX FIGURE OF "PUSSYFOOT"

American Prohibition Worker Is Put Among "Immortals" in London.

London.—A wax figure of W. E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, the American prohibition worker who recently sacrificed an eye to the "dry" campaign in England, has been placed among the "immortals" in Mme. Tussaud's museum of wax figures. The figure representing Mr. Johnson has a patch over the injured eye.

Mme. Tussaud's establishment, which has been running for more than half a century, has come to be almost a national institution. In it may be found the busts and statues of people of all periods who have achieved fame or notoriety.

Pitch From Fir Trees

Portland, Ore.—Pitch is soon to be extracted from Oregon firs in an effort to restock the country's waning supply of turpentine. A permit, the first of its kind, has just been issued by the district forester to allow the extraction of pitch from Douglas fir timber on 100 acres near Disston in the Umpqua national forest.

KILLS OLIVE POISON

Experts Find Serum to Combat Botulinus Bacillus.

Experiments in Laboratories of University of Illinois Meet With Success.

Champaign, Ill.—The bacillus botulinus in the olives which caused the death of five persons in Detroit several months ago has been isolated by Dr. Robert Graham of the department of animal pathology at the University of Illinois.

"A different type of bacillus botulinus was associated with the olives in Detroit which caused the food poisoning there. Similar experience has been reported by bacteriologists at Stanford university in California, as well as by Belgian scientists," said Dr. Graham. "It constitutes, however, the first time this particular variety of bacillus botulinus has been announced in the Mississippi valley.

"A serum protective against the type of poisoning in the olives as well as other types is being prepared at the university of animal pathology."

university's interest is primarily from an animal standpoint, yet the fact that in recent years the disease has been more common in man incidentally associates the experiments conducted with the disease in humans."

This one type of bacillus has been found particularly fatal to chickens, the department of animal pathology has found in conducting experiments with poultry.

TRUSERS FOR PARIS WOMEN

Modistes Show Daring Oriental Suits of Lustrous Gold and Silver Tissues.

Paris, France.—Daring oriental suits of lustrous gold and silver tissues ending in trouser legs, which are held close to the shotops by straps, sometimes embroidered in precious stones, passing under the wearer's anseps, are featured in displays of summer models in Parisian modistes' parlors. Some models coyly veil the trousers with filmy materials.

Recent rumors that tight lacing was to be restored to favor have proved to be erroneous. In fact, little if any corseting will be needed next summer except by stout women. The length of street dresses being shown is about the same as that most in vogue last fall, but the hem is narrower.

Bright textures will appear in many of the most popular creations and patterned materials will be featured by some of the more famous houses. One of the most popular models will show a flounce effect and a tight underskirt of jade green. A smart little jacket with gorgeously embroidered lining has been given the stamp of approval in some of the more exclusive shops.

Value of Training

The value of systematic physical training for executives is being recognized by industrial concerns throughout the country. It is well known that exercise for those whose work does not normally provide it makes for efficiency and little loss of time through illness.

Common Superstitions

Most people are superstitious. With some the breaking of a looking glass means a gloomy foreboding. Peacock feathers were formerly considered bearers of sickness. The Greeks and Romans of ancient times put implicit trust in omens and never undertook enterprises of any moment without consulting the oracle.

A HERALD WANT AD FOR RESULTS

"Here we are, in tip-top shape"

—Chesterfield

AND that's the way that Chesterfields always reach you—firm, fresh and in prime shape for smoking with all of their flavor and freshness intact.

Because Chesterfields are wrapped first in paper, then in tin foil, again in paper and then finally sealed in an air-tight, glassine paper wrapper.*

It's this last and extra wrapping that prevents Chesterfields from ever becoming too moist or too dry.

Like the fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos in Chesterfields—like the can't-be-copied "satisfy" blend, this special wrapping is another proof of Chesterfield's better quality and greater value.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

*That extra wrapper, mind you, is the thing that keeps the flavor in.
