wind to make an organization and it takes co-operation in the start to keep down the discontents and those who would wreck the organization before it starts by knocking the organization plan even before it has been planned.

And our advice to every grower in the county of Seminole is to attend the meeting Friday night with an open mind, decide that you want to join or you do not want to join after you have seen what the men who are the leaders in this movement and in this community purpose to do and since they are your neighbors and friends they are at least entitled to your respect and confidence far enough that you will trust your signature to the papers of the organization until such a time as they have worked out the details of the organization.

Rome was not built in a day and big bodies move slowly. The slower this body of growers works right now the better and the more solid it will be when it is perfected into a perfect machine for the transaction of your business.

And in conclusion we would like to say that if you fail to organize this season you will never have as good a chance again and you might just as well forget about it. Our experience here of fifteen years or more tells us this and tells you this and you know what we are talking about without any further explanation.

The meeting Friday night is for the growers of Seminole county and no one else. It is your duty to be there and express yourself freely and openly. Upon your actions and the actions of other growers Friday night depends the success of the organization.

The DeLand News is talking about a Volusia county fair. That's the rules that will be absolutely control the acreage if needs be, that will guarantee a real pack and will not ship anything except real stuff, that will bind the growers into a three-year contract and bind them close enough to make them stick.

The item in the Herald about a city market has brought out a response from many of the citizens and the farmers of the county. Sanford needs a city market and Sanford will have one if we have to build it.

We understand that Judge McMullin of Clearwater will be the judge in the Higginbotham case. This suits us right down to the edge. In Judge McMullin they have a real judge and one that cannot be bluffed.

The Clyde line seems fond of the initials H. G. W. and as long as it finds for promotion as fine men as H. G. White and H. G. Wenzel it will make no mistake. Both are well known in Jacksonville, as popular as they are known and as deserving as they are popular.—Times-Union.

Some banks can not or will not loan money on real estate but one of the largest banks in Gainesville comes out with an advertisement calling attention to the benefit to the city from people owning their own homes and that this bank will loan all the money they want to build homes. With such a bank Gainesville will continue to build more homes.

John C. and Don M. Lachner have sold the Winter Garden Herald to Thomas Baird, an experienced newspaper man, formerly of the staff of the Chicago Journal. Mr. Baird is a graceful writer and promises to give Winter Garden just as good a newspaper as the support accorded it justifies. The Messrs. Lachner will continue the publication of the Clermont Press.—Tampa Times.

Governor Hardee late yesterday afternoon (just as the sun went down) signed the three-cent gasoline tax measure that will absolutely prevent a poor man from having a car and will give south Florida road money to west Florida. And right then the sun of Governor Hardee's political ambitions "set" with the setting sun. Poor Governor. We hate to hear it and this after South Florida stood by you.

A heavy snow storm "blanketed" Butte, Montana yesterday according to press dispatches. "This winter" is starting off rather early but then those western folks are always right up to date and a little ahead of the times if possible. However, Governor Hardee pulled a "trick" yesterday when he signed the gasoline tax law all of which shows that we are doing our best to kill the state without a regular cold spell on the calendar.

JUST KIDS—A Dark Outlook

UNDER-PRIVILEGED CHILD MOVEMENT.

Referring to the "Under-privileged Child Movement," which is one of the chief activities of Kiwanis, President Ross said:

"At the Kiwanis convention, Kiwanis International for the first time undertook by resolution a single activity. This activity is best summed up in the slogan also adopted, viz: 'A square deal for the Under-privileged Child, a Future Citizen.'"

"These under-privileged children, he they were kiddies or grown-up boys and girls will soon reach the age that will entitle them to citizenship and I say to you, that the measure of the deal that we—yes, we Kiwanians, hand to them during that critical time will be the measure of their service to the community, the state and the nation when they do assume the privileges and prerogatives of full fledged citizens."

YOUR HOME TOWN FIRST.

Work for your home town. Beautify it. Improve it. Make it attractive.

The world war and the Treaty of Peace, the League of Nations, the protective tariff and all such things are important subjects, but what's the good of cleaning up the world unless we sweep our own doorsteps?

The best advertisement of your business is the town you live in. Towns get reputations as well as men. Make your town talk all over the United States. It will thus draw people. And when the people come, there is prosperity.

Rid your town of one eye sore after another. Clean up the vacant lots and keep them clean. Make a cluttered yard a disgrace. Place less topsoil on the streets and side walks.

Make public opinion too hot for those who will not help.—Herald-Journal, Greensboro, Ga.

THE TIME TO SAVE

This is another glorious year of opportunity for the wage-earner. He has steady work at wages which would have been considered princely a few years ago. Generally speaking, he is making almost as much as he made at the peak of the war boom, and his living expenses are not so high as they were then. In the seasonal trades particularly—and this has special application to the building trades—he is in position to get ahead more rapidly than ever before.

Will he spend his money or save it? A great deal depends on the answer to this question, for the workman himself and for the country. It is probably true that a typical wage-earner's family, by living this year in a comfortable, normal way, without extravagance, can save several times as much as in an average year, and put itself ahead accordingly. On the other hand, it may indulge in a style of living which uses up all the money coming in, leaving none for a time of unemployment and making hardship all the harder to bear because of the expensive tastes developed.

Since the wage-earner is the chief consumer, his manner of spending has a big effect on business in general. If he is stingy, business will not be good. If he is extravagant, business will boom for a little while, ending in a slump that eats up the temporary profit. What level-headed business men prefer is a steady buying of necessary things, with only moderate indulgence in luxuries, because they know that they make more out of normal business, steadily continued, than out of booms and slumps. Thrift that is good for the working-man is good for everybody.—St. Augustine Record.

WHERE IT COUNTS.

A local business man yesterday discussed the mercantile situation in Bartow. In the course of the conversation he stated that it amazed him to notice the "pulling" power of advertisements placed in the Record. Quite seriously, and without any desire to throw bouquets he declared that in all his merchandising experience he had never witnessed a more profitable response to his advertising than from Bartow.

That is where the home town spirit counts. Local merchants get the response to their advertising in Bartow because people living here are for Bartow, first and always. They believe that the merchants are for Bartow, too, and patronize them accordingly.

The Record is in a position to appreciate that the merchants here are truly for Bartow. Their response to the demands of local budgets and "drives" is generous and constant. They work out their merchandising plans as much for the uplift of local standards as for profits.

It works both ways—this matter of local enthusiasm.

CLOSE TO THE HEART.

They placed a wreath of flowers the other day—the first in forty years—on the grave of John Howard Payne, and made an occasion of the singing of that gifted wanderer's immortal "Home, Sweet Home" on the hundredth anniversary of its first rendition. The day that witnessed these events promises to take a special place on the calendar, to be marked by annual observance henceforth. Another May day of remembrance was Mother's Day, and the month blossomed into fragrant June with the fragrant thought that is expressed in Memorial Day.

Mother, home, the nation's dead. What touches us nearer than these? Mother's Day is a new observance, comparatively. It took us a hundred years to get around to paying a formal tribute to the greatest song of home ever written. Memorial Day is not old. Not until after the Civil War was there a stated date on which to honor those who have marched to their country's defense but will never march again. In Europe there was no such day and no such observance until after 1920. On Memorial Day of that year the American Legion decorated the foreign graves of fallen comrades. The continent caught the inspiration and after a conference of representatives of FIDAC, May 30th—our day—was agreed upon for the decoration of the graves of Allied soldiers.

Why so late, this homage to things always so close and dear? Has human nature changed? Is it changing? Or are certain sublime fancies of the heart merely being released from the solitary confinement of a thousand years?—American Legion Weekly.

SOUTH FLORIDA, REPUBLICAN STATE?

Probably the most remarkable argument along the line of state division is that recently advanced by the DeLand News, which after talking of reapportionment and the probabilities of Southern Florida getting what was wanted, remarked that division of the state would likely mean a Republican South Florida.

"Unless a reapportionment bill, giving each county one senator and one representative, based on population passes at this session of the legislature," declares the News, "we predict that the state divisionists will have fertile soil in which to plant their opinions. The first step would probably be that of getting South Florida into the Republican ranks—not such a difficult proposition as it appears on the face of it because of the preponderance of Northerners in our population. This would remove the main objection in Washington of creating another state with two more Democratic senators. After that the steps to the reformation of South Florida will be comparatively easy."

The News incidentally remarks that Volusia being one of the old counties, in comparison with some of those further south, "has no kick coming on its representation but being a part of South Florida the citizens of this county stand firm in their hope for more state institutions, more state interest on important roads in this section of the state which pays the biggest part of the money each year into the state treasury."

Turning the state over to the Republican party would evidently mean nothing to the News, if it could possibly thereby secure the capital or the Woman's college or the university, or the prison farm or something else that would mean spending tax money in Volusia county or vicinity. The whole idea is to make another state and then hang the expense.

The Miami Herald recently took up the Times-Union's statement that state division would mean spending more money—that the same million inhabitants would for a time at least be obliged to spend twice, or nearly twice as much money for state government, and said that this was not true. That living in New York was more expensive than Rhode Island to their respective and respectable, tax-paying inhabitants.

We insist, however, that at least for a generation the actual expenses of two new states would be more than for one old state. Incidentally we are not taking the suggestion of a Republican South Florida as easily as the News. Although our democracy is often challenged because we dare to differ at times with the politicians in power.—Times-Union.

KIDNEY TROUBLE BECOMES SERIOUS

"Suffered with severe headache, backache and pains in my legs and under my shoulder blade. My kidneys and bladder were in bad condition. I was weak and nervous and felt tired and worn out. Walking made me short of breath. Every morning my face and hands were bloated. Medicine failed to help my condition and doctors advised an operation," writes Maggie Nelson, Mossada, Fla. "Fortunately I read about Foley Kidney Pills, tried them and got relief." Sold everywhere.—Adv.

How the American People have been taught to eat Florida Grapefruit Sealdsweet TRADE MARK REGISTERED Ten years ago it was reliably estimated that less than five per cent of the people of the United States knew anything about Florida grapefruit. Grapefruit from Florida are now more or less regularly eaten in about twenty-five per cent of American homes, according to recent investigations. Millions of housewives buy Florida grapefruit for their families and insist that dealers supply them with grapefruit bearing the Sealdsweet trade mark. The introduction of Florida grapefruit to such a greatly increased number of people has been accomplished by the educational advertising we have done as members of the Florida Citrus Exchange. We, the growers who cooperate in that organization, realized ten years ago that to absorb the future production of Florida grapefruit would require an immensely greater consumer demand than existed. Consequently, at that time we decided to systematically develop such demand by telling the public about Sealdsweet grapefruit and educating the housewives as to the food and health values they possess. This work we were forced to do by ourselves unaided by growers outside of the Florida Citrus Exchange and under the very serious handicap of ruinous competition from the fruit of our fellow growers who market through non-cooperative and speculative channels. We have succeeded mighty well, the results of our work making the grapefruit industry a substantial one, with a future of promise. There yet remains the task of convincing the other three-fourths of the American people that they should also eat grapefruit. Why not cooperate instead of competing? Why not join us for mutual benefit and profit? Do you want your grapefruit and orange so advertised that the consumption may absorb the production without reducing price to an unprofitable level? Then join the Florida Citrus Exchange and market under the Sealdsweet trademark—of, by and for Florida. Consult the manager of the nearest association or sub-Exchange or write the business manager at Tampa, Florida. The FLORIDA CITRUS EXCHANGE

PROHIBITION BILL PASSES THE SENATE

TALLAHASSEE, May 31.—Minimum penalties and maximum penalties for first and second offense violations of the prohibition laws were fixed by the legislature in the passage of the house bill by Representative F. O. Miller of Duval. The measure went over without discussion by a sixteen to nine vote.

The measure is said to have been written by the Florida representatives of the Anti-Saloon League, and was championed in the senate by Senator J. M. Mitchell, of Elfers. It provides for a minimum fine of $25 and a maximum fine of $500 for the first offense and a minimum fine of $100 and a maximum fine of $5,000 and a penalty of three years imprisonment for second offense violations.

Some of the senators took the position the law was too drastic and others had previously expressed their unwillingness to fix minimum penalties.

The vote on the measure was:
Yeas—Senators Calkins, Campbell, Colson, Epperson, Etheredge, Knabb, Knight, Malone, Mapoles, Mitchell, Phillips, Rowe, Russell, Singletary, Taylor, Wicker—sixteen.
Nays—Senators Anderson, Butler, Come, Igou, Overstreet, Seales, Shelley, Stokes, Turnbull—nine.
Not voting—Senators Eaton, Hodges, Johnson, Lindsey, MacWilliams, Putnam, Wells.

BILL TO PREVENT CREATION OF NEW COUNTIES FAILS

TALLAHASSEE, May 31.—An effort to prevent the future indiscriminate creation of counties in the state of Florida failed in the senate when Senator R. H. Rowe, of Madison, called up Senator W. A. McWilliams' joint resolution which would have submitted to the voters a proposal looking to the prevention of small county creations in the future.

As presented the resolution held that no counties should be created with an area of less than five hundred square miles and with population of less than five thousand persons. The resolution also would have left the parent county with an area of less than five hundred square miles and a population of less than five thousand.

Senator W. H. Malone, of Key West, who has already had passed at this session of the legislature bills creating two new counties, disagreed with Senator Rowe as to the advisability of permitting in the future the creation of tiny counties. Senator Rowe in speaking for the measure cited the case of the small county for which a bill had just been passed appropriating $3,500 to defray the expense of a trial within its boundaries. Senator Malone declared he has never been in sympathy with systems by which the county pays the expense of state prosecutions.

The vote on the resolution was:
Yeas—Senators Anderson, Butler, Epperson, Igou, MacWilliams, Phillips, Rowe, Seales, Singletary, Taylor, Wicker, Turnbull—twelve.
Nays—Senators Calkins, Campbell, Colson, Come, Etheredge, Hodges, Knabb, Knight, Lindsey, Malone, Mapoles, Mitchell, Overstreet, Putnam, Russell, Shelley, Stokes, Wells—eighteen.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT LAKEVIEW.

Impressive and solemn memorial ceremonies were held in Lakeview cemetery at the grave of Comrade Stringfellow Wednesday morning, by the local camp of the U. S. W. V. and Col. Theodore Roosevelt Auxiliary No. 3. The beautiful memorial service to the soldier dead was conducted by Commander R. A. Terbeun, assisted by Rev. Paul Burhans; Mrs. Terbeun and Mrs. Maude Schmidt for the auxiliary. Taps were sounded by E. E. Ball. Flowers and flags were placed upon the graves of the comrades and flowers placed upon the graves of G. A. R. and Confederate soldiers also. The U. S. W. V. are composed of men from the North, South, East and West, who fought side by side to destroy the rule of the oppressor, and deep in the heart of every U. S. W. V., in the hearts of all true Americans is the remembrance of the men who went down with the Maine. At the lake fitting ceremonies were held in memory of the sailor dead.
