The exhilarating song of the potato bug is heard distinctly in this locality.

Seth Hopkins, our boarding house man, has found that fly screens won't keep out bedbugs. His boarders seem much discouraged.

The balmy atmosphere of the past week has been quite beneficial to corn, much more so than if it had been cold and unfavorable.

Mrs. Punk Jones entertained several of the Macaroni smart set with a fried tripe luncheon and Garfield tea yesterday afternoon. Much hilarity prevailed.

A Sanford man named Bigger
At the picnic was bit by a chigger.
He howled and cavorted,
He worried and snorted,
And cut a ridiculous figger.

Two of Bill Kornpeter's girls recited six chapters in the Old Testament at the church social last night and much hand-clapping prevailed.

Old Gil Peckham's wife had a two-ounce bunion chisled off her right foot yesterday. Doc Stebbins said the old woman's hoof bled like a stuck pig.

Asbury Smoot was kicked in the stomach while milking a balky cow yesterday, and his vermifuge appendix was knocked clean out of plum and may have to be re-adjusted.

Old man Stetson has sold his five-acre stock farm and is going to act his son Pete up in business and has started him in a shoe-shining parlor on Smoot avenue. Pete is a pusher.

Three sawlogs passed through our town to the Bean Creek mill Wednesday, and two loads of sawdust were hauled from the mill to town for sidewalk making on Plunket avenue.

Sam Dingman planted his third wife last Tuesday. She passed away quite peacefully from bilious secretions of the liver. Much sympathy is felt for Sam who seems much chagrined.

Phil Plunket says if we don't get a late frost and don't have too much dry or wet weather the seed planted in good ground, and hasn't been injured yet, may pan out good crops. Phil's judgment is pretty reliable.

We were pleased to see several citizens of Sanford in town yesterday. They spoke highly of the up-to-date and civilized appearance of our streets and citizens. They tarried with us for some time and returned to Sanford. Come again, gentlemen.

The Gildudy family are all afflicted with St. Johns river scratches. Ophelia, the oldest girl, caught 'em sitting up with the hired man, and she give 'em to the balance of the family.

Sylvester Jenkins and Bob Stokes biked over to Bungalow Corners last Sunday to see the red headed Skinner girls. Hi Bensley, who keeps the lunch and soda stand, got over a dollar of Syl and Bob's money. The boys are great spenders.

Lycurgus Dollarhide and Cleopatra Smoot have made up and are keeping company again. They fell out over almost nothing. When they went sliding down the bump the bumps at Wonderland Cleopatra's bustle got pushed round on her side and she looked so comical that everybody yelled and Lycurgus snickered along with the rest and that made her awful mad. Well, true love never did run smooth, as Julius Caesar said, but thank goodness everything is all right now.

Another Florida Industry.

The immense paper factory which is proposed for Gainesville is assuming the nature of the real thing, as a site has been selected by two expert engineers of Boston, who have been looking over the situation for the past two weeks. The site will be located in the northern section of the city, directly between the tracks of the Atlantic Coast Line and the Tampa and Jacksonville railway.

The material to be employed in the manufacture of paper at this plant will be the stumps of dismantled pines. This will be, when completed, one of the largest paper mills in the United States. It is said that the plant, buildings, etc., will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000, and the industry will employ a large number of hands. The enterprise is being financed by the promoter, C. W. Chase, of Gainesville, and Eastern and English capitalists.

The manufacture of paper from the pine stump is no experiment, but an actual realization, as those interested have made numerous experiments which have finally resulted in producing a strong, perfect paper of several grades. It is claimed that the paper made from pine is superior in many instances to the product from any other fiber material.

Both then committed suicide.

In the Hall of Consistory at the Vatican in Rome, last Sunday, Pope Pius read the decree approving the solemn beatification of Joan of Arc. ISAIAH COOPER ESCAPES DEATH

His Sentence Commuted to Life Imprisonment

Tallahassee, Jan. 27.—The Board of Pardons yesterday commuted the death sentence of Isaiah E. Cooper to life imprisonment. This was the result of another investigation of the case, as there has always been some doubt about the guilt of the accused.

Six years ago, the 29th of the present month, the town of Punta Gorda was thrilled with excitement by the assassination of the town marshal, J. H. Bowman. Isaiah E. Cooper was arrested, tried and convicted, and has three times stood in the shadow of the gallows. He was condemned to death and a warrant issued for his execution by Governor Jennings, but the warrant was revoked on the eve of the event which was to take the life of Cooper in the name of the law.

Twice Governor Broward issued death warrants for Cooper, and twice the warrants were withdrawn. Cooper has remained in the DeSoto county jail at Arcadia, having the remarkable experience of having three death warrants issued for him and possessing the distinction of having three governors to sit in review of his case.

PROPERTY BRINGS GOOD PRICE

Five-Room Cottage and Two Lots Sell For $5,000

The activity in vegetable lands for the past two years has seemed to retard the sale of city property somewhat, although the prosperity of the adjacent territory is bound to mean the rapid growth of the city when the suburban property starts to bring good prices. The increase of sales in city property in the past few months has been marvelous. The Sanford Loan & Building Association has added an impetus to building, and some sixty new dwellings have been erected in the past twelve months.

Naturally, attention has been drawn to the value of city property, and for several months the activity in real estate has drawn attention of investors.

C. R. Walker has sold to Mrs. Geo. H. Fernald the five-room house and lots adjoining, making a total of 150 feet front on Oak avenue and 117 feet on Fourth street, the consideration being $5,000.

This is a very desirable piece of property, and Mrs. Fernald proposes to erect a fine dwelling on the vacant lots at once.

Several handsome residences are in process of construction and orders for more are in the hands of contractors. In a few years Sanford will be known as a city of beautiful homes, paved streets and good sidewalks and many will seek the city as a winter residence.

RAILS FOR TROLLEY LINE

Track Will Be Laid at Same Time as Brick Paving

The rails for Sanford's trolley line were purchased this week, to be in readiness for laying as soon as the brick paving on First street commences. The track will be laid in the center of the street, and this will obviate the necessity of tearing up the streets in after years for tracks. Thus, along with the street paving, will the inception of the trolley system and First street will be a busy thoroughfare, in keeping with the Greater Sanford that is to follow.

The trolley line will bring the suburban dwellers into closer touch with city affairs and will make possible a country home for the business man.

Sanford as a Tourist Center

As a railroad center, Sanford stands without a peer in this section of the state. One has only to go around to the depot and notice the various trains which arrive to discover that the amount of travel into this place is something immense. Every train is loaded to its utmost capacity, tourists from the North arriving here in large numbers. This influx of visitors is a great tribute to Sanford. It demonstrates very forcibly that the attractions here for the tourist are above the average. They recognize that Sanford is a good place in which to spend the winter. For some years these visitors have found a home on the East Coast, but the inland towns are now coming in for their share of this immigration, and Sanford stands head and shoulders above any other town.

Will Locate Italians.

Murrell & Minschew have plans perfected to locate a colony of Italians upon their macaroni farm near Macaroni Delta.

OUR STRAWBERRY CROP

The Prospect For Berries Are Very Bright

FINE SPECIMENS ON DISPLAY

Sanford May Become a Center For This Blushing Berry—Many Acres Planted

The lands adjacent to Sanford seem to bear a charm for the growers of vegetables and fruits. Every season sees a new crop planted and each and every experiment proves successful. Last fall a number of growers tried planting strawberries in order to demonstrate the statements made that Sanford soil would grow anything.

The lands are most too valuable for lettuce and celery to try other vegetables or fruits and the growers are not prone to try many experiments; consequently the strawberry venture has been watched with much interest, not only by the home growers, but other sections of Florida. The fruit has matured early and is of the finest quality and for the past six weeks the home market has been supplied with the finest strawberries that ever delighted the palate of the epicure. There is a basket of fruit on display this week at the First National Bank and the many visitors to the city have been loud in their praise of the great size of the fruit and its rich, ripe appearance. These berries were grown upon the farm of S. O. Chase, on Beardall avenue, along the line of the Sanford & Everglades railroad, and are ample proof of the quality of berries that can be grown on Sanford soil. In all there are about thirty acres of strawberries planted near Sanford and every grower states that they will realize a handsome profit from the fruit.

The great point of value regarding strawberry culture in Sanford is the sub-irrigation that enables the growers to reap a harvest every year from the same plants, instead of a constant renewal of same.

Sanford is not posing in the line of publicity as a strawberry center, but only giving a practical demonstration of the wonderful possibilities of the soil—a soil that seems peculiarly adapted for the successful growing of vegetables and fruits.

FLORIDA PRODUCTS IN N. Y.

[New York Packet]

New York, Jan. 23.—The Florida orange market this week has shown no decided change compared with last week. Prices on the street range from $2 to $3 and the receipts are mostly of very good quality. Good Indian River pineapple fruit is bringing as high as $3.50. Tangerines are selling at $3 to $4, which is a slight advance over last week's quotations.

Grapefruit, of which the receipts were very heavy for the past few weeks, has slackened up somewhat, and the market is beginning to get cleaned up. Prices range from $1.50 to $2.50.

The lighter receipts of lettuce have greatly improved prices. The unusually heavy receipts for the past few weeks have decreased and prices range from $1 to $2.25, according to quality. Most of the sales reported were made at $1.25 and $1.50. Romaine lettuce is selling at $1; peas, of which there are very few coming, are selling at $3 to $5; beans $1.50 and fancy stock as high as $3.50. Peppers bring $3 to $4. Cauliflower is selling mostly at $1.25 to $1.50, with the fancy offerings bringing as high as $2 a basket.

Florida tomatoes remain about the same as last week, $1.50 to $2.50. Eggplant is selling at $3 to $4 and white squash at $1.50.

The receipts of strawberries during the week have shown an increase. Quite a few open crates are coming in and the price on these is from 25 to 35c. Stock packed in refrigerator crates sells mostly at 30 to 35c.

Change in Express Office.

F. E. Roumillat is acting as express agent for a few days pending the arrival of the new agent. Former Agent Ed. McIntyre will take a position in Savannah, his health necessitating a change. The Southern Express Company will place a first-class man in charge in a few days as they desire to give Sanford the best of service in every way.

HENRY M. FLAGLER HERE

Stopped in Sanford A Short Time On Monday Last

Henry M. Flagler, President of the East Coast Railway, Vice President and General Manager J. R. Parrott passed through Sanford on Monday enroute to St. Augustine after a tour of inspection at Port Tampa. They were in Mr. Flagler's private car attached to train 83.

They were agreeably surprised at the rapid progress being made along every line in Sanford.

Asked as to what progress was being made on the extension of the Florida East Coast Railway from Knight's Key to Key West, Mr. Parrott said that the work was being pushed to completion, and that they hoped to have trains running into the Island City within the next six months.

Mr. Flagler expressed regret that he did not have time to stop over in Sanford and be shown over the city. He said that he was going back to St. Augustine, and after remaining there for a few days would go with Mrs. Flagler to their winter home at Palm Beach, and before he left for the summer would probably visit Sanford again as he seems greatly interested in the Celery City.

AMUSEMENT PARK FOR SANFORD

Will Be Along the Line of the New Trolley Road

Sanford has long since discarded her swaddling clothes and stepped out garbed in the habiliments of a large city.

One of the greatest factors in the development of Sanford and the adjacent territory is the new Sanford & Everglades Railroad. Now that the trolley line will follow closely upon the heels of the new railroad the real development will take place at once. With the rapid growth of the city comes as a natural sequence the places of amusement where the people can spend their leisure moments. Along the line of the trolley will be erected a fine amusement park containing a race track, ball diamond, tennis courts, golf links and other sports. The spot for the park has not yet been decided upon but it will probably be in the famous Beck Hammock, a spot that is becoming famous under the magic wand of the wizard, Edgar E. Brown, of Richmond, Indiana.

It is rumored that a strong company will soon be organized under the name of the Sanford Park Co., and that a twenty-acre tract in Beck Hammock will be purchased, part of it cleared and the rest left in its natural state of virgin loveliness.

Such an enterprise beside being of unutterable value to Sanford and its promoters would be a great drawing card for the tourists during the winter months.

Show Makes Big Hit

Never in the history of the five years that the C. W. Park Company has been visiting Gadsden has a better show been put on than that of last night, and never has the audience been larger or more appreciative. The canvas theatre was crowded from the stage to its entrance, and those who came expecting a great deal from the company did not leave disappointed.

The play put on last night was one never before seen here, and was interesting and entertaining from start to finish. The musical numbers under the direction of Prof. Anderson were exquisite and called forth much applause.

Tea players were all worthy of special mention, and each part was handled in such manner as to call forth much comment from the audience after the show. The company this season is the best Mr. Park has ever brought to Gadsden. The canvas theatre is undoubtedly the best equipped outfit of its kind on the road today. In fact, is equipped far better than some of the city opera houses of today. During the action of the play several of the musical numbers were introduced and they were indeed a surprise, and could not be improved upon.—Gadsden (Ala.) Evening Journal.

The C. W. Park Dramatic Company will open in Sanford Monday night, February 8th, for one week, with an entirely new list of plays. Everything new.

Prices, children 25c and adults 35c. Reserved seats 15c extra.

CELERY IS NOW MOVING

First of Sanford's Great Crop Has Started

WILL BRING VERY GOOD PRICES

E. E. Brady Receives Excellent Prices In the Field Growers Have Bright Prospects

For several weeks the celery growers have been shipping in small lots, and as yet no one grower has shipped a solid car, although several car lots have been shipped.

E. E. Brady fell short on shipping a solid car on Monday, which would have given him the distinction of shipping the first car several days earlier than the past record. The shortage was made up by other growers and the car went forward through Crutchfield & Woolfolk and the Celery Union. The growers are realizing a good price for the celery and if the weather remains cool the celery will bring fine returns.

A number of growers will not begin shipping for several weeks yet, and some of the best celery ever raised in this section will go forward in about two weeks. The prospects for a good crop and good prices are very bright.

It is estimated that the total crop of celery from California will be 1,750 cars. Up to the 16th of January 850 cars have been moved, or about half the entire crop.

SANFORD'S FIRE DEPARTMENT

Being Brought to High Degree of Efficiency.

The citizens of Sanford should take more pride in their new fire department recently organized and lend their aid in every way to make it stronger and better each year.

Nothing adds more to property values and less to the premiums of the fire insurance companies than a first class fire department.

The fire committee of the city council has recently paid considerable attention to the fire department. A new hose wagon, more hose, new nozzles, shut-off valves and numerous other supplies have been added. The quarters have been improved, and altogether the equipment has been placed in first-class shape.

Under the skillful leadership of Chas. Hand as chief, the department has been reorganized and drilled, and in a short time Sanford will be fully protected from the dread ravages of the fire fiend.

Several hundred feet of new hose will be added in a few weeks and the boys will then be put through their paces in regular drills.

CLYDE LINE FREIGHT RATES

Big Reduction Has Been Made by the Company

The Clyde Line has made a great reduction in the freight rates from Sanford to Northern points. Growers who wish to ship potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes, cucumbers, etc., should get the Clyde Line rates before shipping. The facilities for handling vegetables have been greatly improved at this point and the Clyde Line will do all in its power to further the interests of the growers and shippers.

"The Lyman Twins."

In a big musical production. One of the most enjoyable performances of the season will be seen at the opera house, February 5, in the appearance of the Lyman Twin Brothers, the famous twin comedians, and their new elaborate musical comedy, "The Yankee Drummers." This superb production far surpasses all others in which these clever young comedians have yet appeared, being supported by some of the cleverest comedy entertainers today before the public. The production is a revelation in beautiful scenery, pretty costumes, a dainty chorus, sweet simple music, clever dancing and a wonderful display of electrical effects. This is said to be one of the finest musical comedy productions today before the public.

Winner Washing Machines

A few more of these still left, sold strictly on guarantee. If they do not do what we claim, money is refunded. Harry J. Wilson.

Ever a Song Somewhere
 There is ever a song somewhere, my dear!
 There is ever something sings away
 There's the song of the lark when the skies are clear,
 And the song of the thrush when the skies are gray,
 The sunshine showers across the grain,
 The swallows are twittering ceaselessly.
 There is ever a song somewhere, my dear,
 Be the skies above dark or fair;
 There is ever a song that our hearts may hear—
 There is ever a song somewhere.
 There is ever a song somewhere, my dear,
 In the midnight black or the midday blue,
 The robin pipes when the sun is here,
 And the cricket chirrup the whole night through,
 The buds may blow and the fruits may grow,
 And the autumn leaves drop crisp and sear,
 But whether the sun or the rain or the snow,
 There is ever a song somewhere, my dear!

HE was relating fish stories to boon companions and was drawing the long bow in a manner calculated to put Jonah in the down and out class, and all joined in the chorus of "that sounds to me, that sounds to me, that sounds to me like a lie, but since it comes from you it may be true, but it sounds to me like a lie." At the conclusion of the song, a new member of the Isank Walton club sprung this one on the members as a new story, although there is record of it, some say, in the diary of Rameles I, or some other old dub like him. It is about the whiffletit. Never heard about that wonderful fish? Nope! What in the name of pisciculture is a whiffletit?

The whiffletit lives only in circular lakes. You go out and find a circular lake, then hire a boat. You row out all alone to the middle of the lake, about a mile or two, and cast anchor. Then you take an augur and bore a hole in the water and bait the hole with a piece of cheese. The whiffletit comes up to get the cheese, eats it, and it makes him swell up so that he cannot back down the hole. Then you lean over the side of the boat and laugh the whiffletit to death. See!

The franchise of electric lights seems to be held up for some cause in the council and while this august body is probably working in the interests of the people, I would like to have the matter settled for, if ever a city needed electric lights, Sanford is the place.

Home is the greatest school of life. Few can receive the honors of a college education, but all are graduates of home. The learning of the university may fade, its knowledge may moulder in the halls of memory, but the simple lessons of home impressed upon the hearts of childhood, defy the rust of years and outline the vivid picture of life. "Mid pleasures and palaces we may roam, Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home."

If there is heroism in the field there is equal heroism in many a home, which the world knows nothing about, which only angels see. There are fathers who grandly struggle against the tides of fate, and never slip the secret of their despair, whose young dreams have all faded, but who patiently bear their allotted burden with what tries to be resignation. There are noble women whose domestic affections would crush them if they were not heroines, who silently suffer and make the most of their disappointed years. They sing in the minor key, but still they sing, and so the world thinks them happy when they are only brave.

One home is like a calm summer evening or a bright, fresh spring morning, because the mistress is full of restful sympathy, or her mind of bright, fresh interest in those around her. Another home is a gusty, stormy morning or a fog laden afternoon, when the darkness can be felt, because the woman who makes its atmosphere is capricious, hasty, ill-tempered or dull and heavy, and careless of the comfort of those who depend upon her, and incapable of putting brightness and warmth into the hearth of those around her because there is none in her own heart. Let those who are step-mothers look to it that they keep "hearts as leisure from themselves to soothe and sympathize," to create a restful atmosphere for those who come in tired and weary from the outside and to keep light and brightness alive in their own minds, that they may shed them over everyone who dwells beneath her roof or who sits beside their hearth.

Taking a stroll over the city the other day I was amazed at the amount of new buildings going up at every turn. The people seem imbued with the idea of building for the future and some of the fine residences being erected would do credit to the great tourist resorts of other sections of the state. Sanford certainly has the building fever and the good work should continue. Vacant lots, already valuable for garden purposes, are being purchased every day and our city is taking on a metropolitan air.

She was a sweat-appearing girl, and he was a young man of not too prepossessing appearance. It appeared she wanted him to spend the evening with her since he was going away, but he had an engagement with the boys.

She coaxed and appealed, but he was brusque and short; the more she asked, the more abrupt he became.

At last she gave it up and and put in the rest of her time looking him over adoringly.

It was a clear case of a man tired of a woman, while she was more in love than ever. The way she acted, however, would only cause the fatigue to become more and more pronounced in him.

There is only one thing more tiring to a man than having a girl throw herself at him, and that is to have a girl try to twine herself about him when he is tired of her. In either case the woman is playing a losing game from the outstart.

Girls, if you like a man hide the fact as if it were a sin—if you really wish to attract him. Then, also, if it is the other case—that he is tired of you—give up the struggle to keep him at once, for when a man is tired of a woman no power on earth can avail her.

The more you strive to hold him, the less will he be held.

Rather would I counsel you that if a man tires of you, be the first one to cry quits; at the very sign of his tiring throw him down so hard that his teeth will chatter in his head; it may be the shock will renew his failing interest to some extent.

This sweet and pretty girl was making herself so cheap it was positively pitiable and all to no effect at that; the man was pining to be away from her; he resented her words, he resented her adoring looks, he almost hated her because she was so nice to him.

A man is a queer critter, girls, as the old lady said, contrary and not to be calculated upon; but when he is tired of a woman you might as well dry your eyes and leave him to himself. All is over, and all hope must be buried.

At least, for your own pride's sake, when you see the sure signs of this trouble, be the one to make the first move, for sometimes then, for the sake of his own vanity, he will refuse to let you get away; and if you have another chance at it see to it that he gets no opportunity to tire of you again.

Already the trolley line is bearing fruit and I hear rumors of a grand amusement park to be erected along the new line. A good ball park, a race track, tennis court, golf links and other amusements will be installed and the good people of Sanford are assured of a first-class park where they can while away a summer evening and forget the cares of the day. Verily, Sanford is becoming a city before we awaken to the fact.

Mayor's court was transferred to ancient history one day this week and Mayor Lake posed as King Solomon. Two women were before him both claiming the same baby and it looked for a time as though the mayor would be forced to try Solomon's method of ordering the baby killed to see which was the natural mother. At this juncture a witness appeared who had been present at the birth of the child and her testimony set all doubts about the matter at an end. It was a trying ordeal for my friend Mayor Lake.

This is the season of shows and it is difficult to keep from being trampled under foot by the passing bands of music, street-fakes and other aggregations that throng Sanford every week. The Pastime Theatre is all to the good and receives the liberal patronage which it deserves. I see that my old friend, C. W. Parks is billed to appear in Sanford for one week commencing Feb. 8, and I wish to commend this family of artists to the people of Sanford: They really have the best dramatic talent of any troupe on the road and showing in a mammoth tent can give the audience the benefit of stage effects that could not be had in a small opera house.

I notice an improvement in the fire department, one of the houses being rebuilt, a new wagon installed and new hose purchased. The new wagon was upon the streets one day this week attached to a prancing steed and it made me feel proud of our city.

Nothing will inspire confidence among those contemplating building homes here so much as a good fire department. When my old friend Harry Papworth comes to of honor again we will give him a place Sanford upon the new wagon.

I was well pleased to note the good behavior of the small boys at the band concert in the park last Sunday afternoon. The pranks so noticeable at former concerts were not in evidence and those who went to enjoy a quiet afternoon and listen to the music were allowed to do so. The band was at its best and their music was all that could be desired. Maybe some people do not enjoy these concerts as I do but the band boys certainly deserve praise for their Sunday concerts and they have the thanks and best wishes of —THE SAUNTERER.

HAMMOND WINS GROCERY SUIT

Victorious In Case Against Alleged Grocery Trust
 (Jacksonville Metropolis)

Battling in an effort to prove an alleged combination of wholesale grocers in restraint of trade and to control prices, John T. Hammond, of Orlando, through his attorneys, fought for several months to get his case before the Federal Court, and then for eighteen days the legal battle was fought before a jury in the Federal Court here, ending Saturday in a verdict awarding him $28,000 against several of the grocers named in the declaration as defendants.

The case was one of the longest on record in the Federal Court here and was hard fought throughout. The jury was given the case shortly after 11 o'clock Saturday morning, and spent the whole day in its deliberations, giving a verdict at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Hammond was represented by Biabee & Bedell, of Jacksonville, and J. H. Jones, of the firm of Jones & Jones, of Orlando. The grocers were represented by Attorneys C. M. Cooper and John L. Doggett.

Hammond, who began his suit several years ago, alleged that he began a wholesale grocery business at Orlando, Fla., in March, 1905, and that he was compelled to close his business owing to the effects of the association of grocers' influence with the large producing firms.

Several months ago Hammond's attorneys secured an order from the court giving them access to the books of the Wholesale Grocers' Association, and some of the facts learned there were used in the trial.

Regarding the Farmers' Picnic

To the Editor of The Herald:
Referring to the several items in your paper regarding a picnic of the celery growers on Shell Mound: If some of our farmers will remember the great picnics and speeches we had in this country fifteen years ago at the old Farmers' Alliance times, they will at once see of what great benefit, educational and social, such a picnic would be. It would bring us all in better touch with one another, and help greatly, through the general swapping of ideas, to learn from each other.

Will not some farmers or their ladies get up a committee to take this matter in hand? Not being a farmer myself I can only suggest, but will gladly support such a picnic with a donation of all the soda water to drink that should be needed, and have no doubt that our friend, Mr. Calhoun, would undertake to oversee the barbecuing of the turkeys.

For a Sanford Day

To the Editor of The Herald:
In a recent visit to the exposition-fair at Jacksonville I noticed with great pride the prominence and beauty of Sanford's exhibit under the courteous management of Mr. Leffler, and also that wherever I went in the city the mention of Sanford celery would draw everybody's attention, and start a discussion about its wonderful achievements. Now, it struck me as a great idea when our Mr. Leffler spoke about having a Sanford day at the fair. This not only would give much additional advertising to our town, but would be of great benefit to all those attending this excursion, showing the people here how our goods are treated away from home, and giving them new ideas and strengthen their enthusiasm. This question of an excursion should be taken in hand and regularly organized so we could show up in Jacksonville in full strength, good form, with badge and a sprig of celery in the buttonhole and we could certainly show the good people of Jacksonville that they are not the only hustlers on the face of this beautiful peninsula.

Work for a Sanford day.
Push it along, and let us have more suggestions in regard to it.

"The Lyman Twins Coming."

The famous young stars, "The Lyman Twin Brothers," who have jumped with wonderful strides to the front rank as comedians, and who we will have the pleasure of seeing here in their latest musical hit, "The Yankee Drummers," which is said to be one of the finest and most complete musical comedy productions of the day, are comedians in a class by themselves, and entertainers who deal out comedy lines and situations in a way seldom seen. "The Yankee Drummers" is the most elaborate production in which they have yet appeared. Carrying a large company, a dainty chorus of pretty girls, a host of funny comedians, singers and dancers, together with a beautiful array of scenic and electrical effects complete. The flirtation song, the poppy girls, and the country maidens are novelties which are original and seen only with this attraction. This excellent company will appear at the opera house February 5.

DON'T!

If 'Tis Duty Calls, Why Do It. But If Folly Bids You, Don't

Don't be a clam.
Don't have fads.
Don't snore in church.
Don't sleep with your false teeth in.
Don't look a gift gun in the muzzle.
Don't recollect, but think you paid it.
Don't eat onions if you are about to propose.
Don't forget that the money stringency is over.
Don't get stuck on yourself. It shows poor taste.

Don't fail to be ready with an excuse for being alive.

Don't talk about your neighbor, except in his presence.

Don't think you are in it when you are only on the verge of it.

Don't think you know it all. Trifling details may have escaped you.

Don't wish you were in somebody else's shoes. They might not fit you.

Don't sell whiskey without a license. It secures a free trip to Orlando.

Don't go out these days without an umbrella.

Don't take the biggest piece of pie on the plate.

Don't drink anything stronger than car-bolic acid.

Don't be a dude unless you give up being a man.

Don't be an ordinary idiot, but be a picture-show lunatic.

Don't fail to take your home paper—THE SANFORD HERALD.

Don't condemn a man for doing the best he knows how.

Don't try to blow a fly off your nose, it may make you cross-eyed.

Don't try to crowd a No. 7 foot into a No. 6 shoe this kind of weather.

Don't say that Charley Pudgett is the prettiest boy in town, for he is not.

Don't plague Paul Biggers about his duel. He might challenge you.

Don't think that your heart's broken—it's more likely your inside pocket.

Don't walk around the block to avoid a creditor—he may want to see you.

Don't let your heart run away with your head, or your stomach with both.

Don't bet on the result of a wind-mill—it's always turning one way or the other.

Don't think the earth is the best place hereabouts—the clouds have the "drop" on it.

Don't cross Jordan till you come to it, and then come back and go over the bridge.

Don't give yourself unnecessary trouble in concealing your age—it will tell if you don't.

Don't kill too many fatted calves—it is apt to destroy the digestion of your high livered sons.

Don't tie a bunch of shooting-crackers to a cat's tail—she'll run under the house every time.

Don't get mad at anything you see in your paper and stop it. Let it live—your neighbor may want it.

Don't commit suicide because of disappointed love—you may want to fall in love again some time.

Don't you know that Sanford is one of the healthiest towns in the country, and its citizens never die?

Don't stop till you find a party who is looking for a building site, and when you find him bring him over.

Don't fail to call your neighbor a rogue if you are not honest yourself. If you are wrong everybody else must be.

Don't go away for a suit of clothes when you can get a fine turnout here just as cheap as you can buy it elsewhere.

Don't get into the soup unless you are a vegetable, which you probably are unless you subscribe for THE HERALD.

Don't doubt the statements of the American old maids, who were about 35 or 36 in 1900, and are not a day older today.

Don't dance with a stout girl—a young fellow over by Oviedo was nearly squeezed to death the other night at a dance.

Don't be scared if a woman threatens to hit you with a pine knot—the fellow next to you is the one who wants to look out.

Don't fail to notice that prayers for the triumph of temperance are rarely backed by votes. Tin soldiers are everywhere plenty.

Don't tell all you know—it might take ten minutes you could use elsewhere in listening to somebody that knows something.

Don't drive around Sanford and vicinity for you'll convince yourself that no finer scenery can be found. All we need is more clay roads.

Don't comb a dog this sort of weather. Soak him in coal oil and then apply a match. It's better than combing and is a sure cure for fleas.

Don't forget that THE HERALD employs an experienced "advertising man" in making up adds and circulars. Let him help you if you are hurried.

Don't fail when you happen to meet a prominent A. C. L. official to tell him that Sanford has a relic in the shape of a depot that would look well in the Smithsonian Institute.

Don't say anything about those beautiful decorations (?) which adorn the sides of some of our buildings, for the authorities may stop such decorations and the patent medicine men may kick.

Don't advocate better sidewalks, new streets, clean yards, clean streets, clean gutters and alleys, or anything that will have a tendency to make our city attractive. Don't do it; for a great many strangers visit us, and these people are liable to talk about us when they go away and perhaps cause a few good families to move into town.

Don't tell your friends that Sanford has within a few minutes' walk from the post-office some of the finest natural parks in the United States, and they contain many acres of trees and shrubbery of all kinds, where squirrels can be seen jumping from limb to limb at any hour of the day, and which are free to all. No "Keep off the grass" signs are to be seen, and the little ones romp to their heart's content. Don't mention it, and please don't say anything about the many beautiful lakes that abound hereabouts and the fine fishing they afford. Please don't do it, for you may cause some to make inquiry, and perhaps call on us, and then you'd have a few families saying they never spent a more delightful winter in their lives.

G. W. PARKS STOCK COMPANY

Will Play in Sanford Soon Under Canvas

The above popular company is too well known to the people of Sanford to need a lengthy introduction, having been here two seasons previous to this. They have a good troupe and always give entire satisfaction. Many additions have been made and new features added which are original and unique. Many new members have been added to the company, who are equal to the old favorites. The most striking improvement is the addition of a new musical company, which is delightful, and the song, "Swing Me Higher, Obediah," the chorus being chanted by four beautiful girls while being swung, "brings down the house." Beautiful electrical effects add greatly to the performances, and taken altogether it is an entertainment well worth your time and your money. This company will be here for one week, commencing Monday, February 8th. Prices: Children, 25c; adults, 35c; reserved seats, 15c extra. Don't fail to be there.

Burbans Advertising Company, Jacksonville, Representative.

Office First Floor in the Bishop Block, First Street Telephone No. 148.

Carrie Nation was "egged" in London for making a prohibition speech.

This January has been the warmest ever known in the history of Florida.

Street paving has been assured. Now let the council do as well on the question of electric lights.

Sanford seems to be a vast hotel of different fruits and vegetables. You can call for what you want, and get it.

Is there any limit to the possibilities of Sanford's soil. This week we have the finest strawberries ever grown in the South.

The first shipments of celery are bringing good prices, and if the cooler weather stays with us the crop will continue to be a rich harvest.

Iaiah Cooper will not be hanged. His sentence has been commuted to life imprisonment. This will be the end of this case, if not of Iaiah, and the state press will now be free to discuss the weather and kindred topics.

A trolley line from Gainesville to Lake City via Worthington Springs, is the latest venture in traction lines. Nothing will develop the state as trolley lines and this project should be successful. Sanford will enjoy the benefits of a trolley line this year, and we hope the same measure of success will be granted to Gainesville and Lake City and contiguous territory.

We acknowledge a pleasant visit on Monday last from Editor R. J. Holly of the Sanford Herald. "Bob" looks even prettier than ever and claims it is on account of the healthy climate of Sanford, but we are inclined to think a celery diet has something to do with it. Anyhow he is making the Herald a credit to the town, the state and himself.—Gainesville Elevator.

The following was found in the editorial columns of the Arcadia Champion:

The latest scheme for catching tourists is a hustling representative at Jacksonville who makes it his business to turn tourists toward his city. St. Petersburg, Orlando and Sanford, each have an agent in Jacksonville, and it is rumored that they are getting what they expect. W. B. Powell, formerly editor of the Independent, is St. Petersburg's agent. It looks a little as if business in the tourist line must be dull when such schemes are being worked. We have heard it more than hinted that several towns that usually thrive on their tourists are somewhat lonesome this winter, due to high prices and poor accommodations, and these things naturally drive away guests after a short time.

We don't know about St. Petersburg and Orlando "thriving on tourists," but can safely say that Sanford never did thrive on tourists. While having the ideal location and all the inducements for tourists, our main effort is directed toward home-seekers, and the "scheme" referred to by the Champion, is not to gull the strangers by high prices and poor accommodations, but to settle the better class of Northern farmers upon the greatest vegetable section the world has ever produced, and not only guarantee the land, but prove by actual demonstration that each and every claim made by our representative can be substantiated by facts. Sanford is the most widely advertised city in the South today, and naturally the efforts of our hustling citizens are looked upon with envy by sections less favored.

Sanford, Orlando and St. Petersburg will get the people just as long as they keep up the advertising, and other cities who never spend a cent toward the publicity fund sometimes get the benefits of the overflow. In this case they should not cast aspersions upon the efforts of their benefactors.

A USEFUL CAREER ENDED

In the death of W. N. Lefler, Sanford has suffered a distinct loss. Since his arrival in this city some twenty-four years ago, Mr. Lefler has been identified with the improvement and general welfare of the city. As a fitting tribute to his memory the stores were closed during the funeral services, and this mark of respect alone attested the high regard and esteem in which he was held by every one. Of Mr. Lefler the assertion can be made that the world was all the better for his having lived in it.

LOOKING FORWARD

'Tis well to look forward, not backward. Some thoughts of the past are pleasant ones but the good things in store for Sanford in the future are what concerns us most. Looking backward is rather a retrograde movement and sometimes fraught with disastrous results as biblical history teaches.

As the future unfolds its vast panorama before us and through the vista can be caught glimpses of the marvelous changes that will take place, the pulses quicken and one is almost forced to gasp for breath at the vast possibilities of Sanford and the celery delta.

The forerunners of these changes are brought to notice every day and more and more the thoughts of what the future city will be is forcibly impressed upon the mind of the most pessimistic.

One year ago the idea of a new railroad from Sanford to the Everglades had hardly originated in the minds of the present promoters. Today some five miles of track have been laid and cars are carrying freight.

Six months ago the idea of a trolley line was mooted and thought a good joke. Today the rails have been purchased and will soon be laid.

One year ago much of the lands surrounding Sanford were sold at what was then considered a fabulous price. Today those same lands are being sold for three times as much and very little can be purchased even at the advanced price.

A year ago city lots were not in any great demand and one particular piece was held for $2000. Today the same sold for $5000.

One year ago the city had no thought of electric lights and paved streets. Today First street is to be paved with brick and the city will grant a franchise for the installation of an electric light plant.

One year ago there were few new dwellings in the city proper and the adjacent territory. Today there are over fifty new dwellings constructed and being constructed and as many more through the celery delta.

New store rooms are being built, a mammoth ice plant, a large carriage factory, a foundry, the largest brick packing house in the state, new marble bank building, new docks and buildings at the Clyde Line wharf, novelty works, and other new enterprises.

Miles and miles of granite sidewalks have been constructed, new sewerage mains, improved water works system and a general cleaning up of the city.

The services of a fortune teller are not required to prognosticate the future of Sanford. Any one visiting the city for the first time in twelve months can read the signs of prosperity on every hand.

At the head of navigation on the St. Johns, good railroad facilities, a trolley line, the best farming section in the world and other requisites that form a great city, Sanford today stands at the head of the procession in the list of rapidly growing cities.

Therefore, look not backward except as a comparison.

'Tis the future that beckons with the wand of success and the future which will prove a treasure trove for those who today are aiding in making a Greater Sanford.

SANFORD'S VALUABLE LANDS

The lands in and about Sanford are bringing good prices, and the people of Florida and other states are quick to note the many sales that are given from time to time in THE HERALD. Brother Russell of the Palatka News comments on the price of Sanford land as follows:

"Speaking about Florida land and its value for agricultural purposes, reminds us that some people must think that it has a value, as according to The Sanford Herald, eight acres of trucking land near that place sold last week for $11,000. And it's only a question of time when other lands in Florida will be in demand for real money. Good idea for the young men of the state to get hold of a piece of it and—keep it."

This is the same advice THE HERALD has been giving for many moons, and the young men can find no better investment for their spare change than a few acres of vegetable land.

Mr. Howland is survived by his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Moore, who accompanied him to Florida. He had been a regular visitor to Sanford, where he came every winter for the benefit of his health and had a large number of friends who will miss him from their midst.

OVIDEO OCCURRENCES

Special correspondent to The Herald.
 J. M. Jones, a prominent citizen of Oviedo, died at his home Thursday night of complicated lung trouble. While it was known that he was very ill, sudden death was a shock to the entire community. Mr. Jones was a native of Georgia, born in Bullock county Nov. 8, 1840. Some years ago he moved to Florida and was one of the first settlers in this community, making his residence here when there were only several families in this end of the county. For some years he has been engaged in the mercantile business, owning a store here which he conducted with much success and financial remuneration. Mr. Jones was a man of unblemished character, eminently truthful and sincere, and no man could doubt his veracity. While he made no great pretensions of piety, he was a consistent member of the Baptist church, and his sphere of usefulness in religious affairs was quiet but substantial. He was a man conservative in his views, never condemning or applauding without deliberate consideration, and this conservatism and deliberation were often found useful in public affairs, and his services were often enlisted in home affairs. A wife, three sons, Batts, Jim and Ben, and one daughter, Ella Belle, are left to mourn his demise. The sons are all young men of high principles and sterling qualities and fully competent to manage the business affairs of deceased. The remains were interred in the Oviedo cemetery with the usual burial rites, and the funeral cortege was one of the largest ever witnessed in this community.

AULIN-JACOBS

MARRIED, Sunday evening in the Baptist church of Chuluota, Mr. Theodore Aulin of Oviedo and Miss Nettie Jacobs. The nuptials were performed by Rev. Rogers and a large representation of relatives and friends were in attendance to witness the marital service. The ceremony was an elaborate affair, complete in preparation and detail. Messrs. Willie Lawton and Bruce Anderson officiated in the capacity of groomsmen, while Misses Mary Aulin and Grace Jacobs were the honored bridesmaids. The groom is a prominent merchant of Oviedo—a young man of high principles and excellent qualities, while the bride is a lady of refinement, possessed of a sweet disposition, admired and esteemed by a large circle of friends. The happy young couple are now busy receiving the congratulations of their many friends and will make their residence in Oviedo, the home of the groom.

CELERY AVENUE NEWS

Special Correspondence to The Herald.
 The movement of celery has now begun and from now until the close of the season Celery avenue will present a busy scene. From the number of farm laborers who walk out each day on Celery avenue it argues well for a good business for the new railroad.

Celery avenue now has two stores—P. M. Elder and J. S. Moore. These stores carry a general stock and are bright, cheerful places, filled with goods of all descriptions. They have a telephone and school back and a rural route is soon to be established, to say nothing of the new railroad. We lack little on the avenue that our city cousins enjoy.

From the number of hunting parties crossing the East Coast ferry recently deer must be plentiful; one party returning reports having killed two.

Mr. Henry Stevenson of DeLand, who some time ago purchased a tract of land near J. N. Whitner's place, at the east end of Celery avenue, has now almost completed a dwelling, besides clearing ten acres of fine land, and has it ready for a crop of tomatoes this spring.

Mr. Joe Cameron has ten acres of fine celery; he expects to commence shipping in about two weeks; he also has six acres of lettuce which will be ready to ship about the middle of February. Mr. Cameron is one of the pioneers in the trucking business and one of Sanford's most public spirited citizens.

Mr. J. S. Moore, formerly of Oviedo, is this week moving his stock of merchandise into his new store at the east end of Celery avenue. He expects to complete his residence and move his family as soon as possible. We wish Mr. Moore success in his double enterprise—celery growing and merchandising.

Mr. D. G. Moore, a tapentine operator of Volusia county and resident of Sanford, has completed cleaning ten acres of land between Celery avenue and the new S. & E. Ry., which he expects to plant to spring crops.

Mr. H. R. Stevens and his brother, Ed, have eight acres under cultivation, two in cabbage, one in lettuce and the balance in spring crops. These two gentlemen are of the Pennsylvania pioneer class that build up a country. Well may we be proud to claim them as citizens of the celery delta.

Mr. T. P. Compropt, one of Celery avenue's most successful celery growers contemplates making a trip to Chicago this summer in his trim yacht, the Sophie. He expects to skirt the coast of Florida, stopping at all important points, thence to New Orleans and up the Mississippi, through the Chicago drainage canal to Chicago. We wish him good speed and a pleasant trip. One request we make of him and that is to nail a bunch of Sanford celery to the mast head.

Messrs. Enery and Cooper of Richmond, Ind., are farming five acres of Beck hammock. Mr. Levi Binford of Richmond, Ind., who purchased five acres December last, now has it cleared and expects to plant one-half to beans and the other half to potatoes. Verily, this is hustling. If Mr. Brown, the owner of Beck hammock, keeps on, instead of planting Beck hammock to truck farms he will have to cut it up into town lots.

Mr. J. L. Wright, a former railroad man in the employ of the Florida East Coast railway, but for the past two years a celery grower of Celery avenue, has in this year eight acres, one to lettuce, three to celery and the balance to Irish potatoes, beans, etc. Mr. Wright now has Irish potatoes three to four inches high.

How about the celery growers' picnic I wrote about last week in Avenue news? I have talked with at least about half a dozen prominent growers and they are heartily in favor of the picnic. A gathering of this kind would do a vast amount of good from a business as well as a social standpoint. It would enable us to become more thoroughly acquainted, promote a feeling of kinship and feeling as I do, that the truck growers of the celery delta of Sanford should be as one large family. Let's boost the picnic. All those who wish to help will kindly address a communication to this paper so we can make a call and get together and start the movement. —A FARMER.

Certainly the world is growing better and we need more Uncle Stokes in this world of sorrow and tribulations.

It is reported that Lemuel Barker's Jersey cow has gone dry.

Sylvester Smoot and Peline Spooner rode over to Sucker's Corners on the trolley cars yesterday forenoon and returned in the evening, which occasioned some talk.

Somebody went and paid the Widow Slusher's taxes last week all unbeknownst to the widow and some think it was Uncle Phil Gulliver whose wife expired last summer of gangrenous blood poison in her heel.

Deacon Pelig Hostetter, who passes the contribution box on Sunday in the Hardshell church, has been under suspicion of late as the collections turned in by him have much fallen off. It is to be hoped that he will be able to clear himself of retaining any of the money that is badly needed in reshingling our church and paying the salary of Brother McSwatt.

FROM PANTA CREEK

A Little Country Correspondence With a Moral

Panta Creek, Fla., Jan. 17, '09.

To the Editor of The Herald: deer mister editor, I will now take much pleasure to rite your a few lines. this leaves me well and I hope it will find you well two. I was in your most beautiful city last week for the first time in 30 od years and it was sure surprisin to me to see how much it has growed up since I was there. wish I could have carried my old woman Jane and the children with me, but you see we can't all leave home at one time.

for there is the sows and chickens and pigs to look after and feed every nite and morning, but I had a city friend that is a stoppin with me to go long, and showed me round and told me all I didn't all redy no. he carried me to see the movin pictures where they have them pretty lites. It was sure fine and them lites was the prettiest I ever saw. he calls them lectric lites and says all other cities use them to lite the streets and houses with. it looks like you people would put them up all over your beautiful city, for they sure look better than them other old things standing on the corners that I first thort was litening bugs caged up, but he told me it was gas lites. them streets of yours is pretty to if you would just fix the middles now like the sides it would sure be fine. there is one thing I could not see into, ner he could not gather, and that is why them people that own the celery city dary farm don't feed and doctor their cows up some. If one of them falls down you have got to help it up, and you folks all drinking that milk every day. I bet my bottom dollar you folks would not drink any more if you could see them poor cows. my friend told me that if it was any whers else that them people would be fined for milking them cows and cruelty to animals. he says he don't see why you folks ain't all sick that is drinking that milk. I never could see what people wanted with any thing they would not take care of. my friend says if the board of health sees them cows there will be something doing. I wish they would if it will be any help to them, for I tell you that if them cows ain't starved to death the hole pile of them has got the consumption. I told Jane last nite that I was sorry I did not tell you about that hog pen we came in smelling distance of, corner Sanford avenue and 10th street, on our way home. It was the worst I ever smelled. how every ldy ain't sick I don't see; I bet if that hog is there in that pen I year it is longer than that since that pen was cleaned. My friend told me it was out of the city and you folks had to stand it. well I bet I woodent. It is all rite to have hog pens, cow pens and the like when you are out of the city, and you can put them away from your house, where there is plenty of fresh air, and you don't bother nobody, but when you get a hog pen and a cow pen under your eating winder, and somebody elck, to it is no wonder somebody gets sick, and it looks like you folks was smart enuff to see it. now mr. editor, don't think I'm kickin, for I ain't, but it seems like smart folks like you all that has got such fine school houses and teachers, nice churches and preachers, such nice farms and stores all round you, would be smart enuff to get that hog pen out of the way and some of them cow pens from under your winder that my friend tells me bout; and get lectric lights and fix them streets in the middle like both sides are, and make your beautiful city look like some of them my friend has ben telling about. Another thing, Mr. Editor, is why you folks don't have better country roads. If your county bids roads for Orlando which my friend says they do, why don't it build them for your city to; he says they have bin hauling marie to them for 2 years and that your city has got only 2 car loads in all that time; it sure looks funny to me if you want to get more good farm peple to come and live with you they will have to have good roads to haul what they raise to market.

Now, Mr. editor, I would rite more, but as I no you ain't looking for this at this time, so I will close; hope to hear from you some time soon. let me no by return male if you like yaller yams and I will send you some.

Yours truly, ZEKE PERKINS.

NEGRO FARMERS' CONVENTION

Seventh Annual Conference Will Convene February 11th

(Communication)

The seventh annual Negro Farmers' Conference will be held in the Chapel of Booker T. Washington Hall, Thursday and Friday, February 11 and 12, 1909. We hope to make the meeting this year one of double interest: first, it will be the Tenth Anniversary of the school and on the 12th it will be 100 years since Abraham Lincoln, the great friend of the human family, and especially to the Negro, was born.

The conference will have the pleasure of doing a double duty, by celebrating the ten years history of the school and the birth of this great man. It is the duty and should be the pleasure of every Negro in this broad land to leave no stone unturned in doing something to make this 100th anniversary of that great man all that it ought to be.

Every Negro boy and girl in this country should be taught how great the privilege is to sell a few eggs, a chicken or pig, or do any kind of labor to earn 50 cents to be used in creating scholarships, which will aid in emancipating every Negro boy and girl in this country from ignorance, shiftlessness and idleness. I earnestly hope that every old member of the conference will be present and as many new ones as possible.

The largest cabbage brought to the conference last year was produced by a minister from Apopka. God has promised to bless all of the seed that fall on good ground, but we must learn the lesson that there is in digging and preparing that ground. Let all delegates bring something from the farms, gardens, fancy work—in fact anything that will show the industrial side of the community.

We would urge as many as possible to come prepared to remain over Thursday and Friday and thus get results from both days' work. All delegates who can remain over will be cared for without any charge.

We would like to hear from all who plan to come, promptly, so we may know how to prepare for them.

—RUSSELL C. CALHOUN, Principal.

POINTS OUT OUR DEFECTS

Michigan Man Thinks City Should Improve.

Fred Adler of Jackson, Michigan, who has been touring Florida; writes the following description of Sanford in the Jackson Patriot:

"We landed at Sanford, Florida, at 9:30 o'clock at the Clyde Line pier. The river is quite wide here as it takes in Lake Monroe, and the town is built right up to the banks. This town needs lots of fixing up. There is not a paved street, sand everywhere, plenty of room to walk, no hills to climb. They told me the frost killed the town. It is well they do not lay it up to the saloons for there are none there. I made numerous inquiries for James Birkett of Jackson, but no one seemed to know him. I finally inquired at the postoffice and they told me he lives somewhere on Celery Avenue, which is about a mile from town and three miles long. The Sanford House is quite a large hotel for the town.

The Chase & Co. mammoth orange packing house has new machinery installed. Their machinery handles the fruit more carefully than the human being can handle the same quantity in the same length of time. The firm will handle between 300,000 and 350,000 boxes of oranges and grapefruit through the season. Every grower in this vicinity seemed to be hard at work. Lands are selling as high as $1,000 per acre. Celery and lettuce have been the principal crops so far, but potatoes, cabbage, cauliflower and strawberries are coming along finely too. They have perfect drainage. If the weather is dry, the farms are tiled twenty feet apart, across the field. These pipes can be filled in a very short time. Every farm has its own water supply—flowing wells. The acreage now being prepared is as follows: Celery, 150 acres; lettuce, 200 acres; potatoes, 100 acres; cabbage, 60 acres; cauliflower, 75 acres; strawberries 25 acres. One man at Lake Charm has one and an eighth acres of lettuce under canvas. Last year he got $3,500 for his crop. There are plenty of real estate offices here. Park avenue is a very wide street, with two rows of trees and paved with four inches of sand.

Mr. Adler is troubled with dyspepsia, which probably accounts for his "addled" description of Sanford streets. The people of Sanford are as fully aware of the necessity of good streets as Mr. Adler and in a few weeks the work of paving will begin and other great improvements follow that will entirely change the appearance of Sanford. The car-window observers naturally see the imperfections of a city while passing through, and to this end The Herald has maintained that Sanford should receive these improvements in the business center, as first impressions with a stranger are usually lasting ones.

Welaka Club Entertains

The gentlemen are always eager to avail themselves of the opportunity afforded by an invitation to spend an evening at the Welaka Club. Such an invitation always signifies an evening of rare enjoyment as the ladies of the club are famous for their hospitality. The club house was comfortably filled on Tuesday evening, and cards and dominoes aided in whiling away the time. After the games, in which Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Thrasher carried away the prizes at dominoes and Forreast Lake and Mrs. S. Puley at cards, the guests were treated to a choice luncheon of salad, sandwiches and coffee.

Vocal and instrumental music rounded out the pleasure of the evening. Several out of town guests were present at the reception.

Mrs. Robert Newman and Miss Mabel Bowler were the hostesses and deserve great credit for the admirable manner in which all arrangements were successfully carried out.

Silver Tea

At the very hospitable home of Mrs. E. W. Peabody, on Oak avenue, Thursday afternoon, the ladies of Sanford were graciously entertained at a Silver Tea. The program preceding the tea service was particularly enjoyable. Miss Lilly Evans and Mrs. Mettinger both sang in their best voice, while the Misses Marian and Beth Mettinger played a piano duet, and Miss Weeks gave an instrumental solo. Probably the most appreciated number was the delightful cornet solo given by Miss Jessie Stumon.

EXPRESS CO'S. NEW BUILDING

Work Started Yesterday Upon the New Structure.

The extensive improvements contemplated so long by the Southern Express Company in their Sanford offices were started yesterday morning by Contractor Terwilliger who has the work in charge.

The building will be a handsome structure, built of brick and of modern architecture. The new office will be 40x25 feet, giving ample room in every way and in conjunction with the warehouse will give 75 feet more for storage. The plans are most elaborate and will leave room for a side track to hold two express cars.

The main entrance will be on First street and a side entrance on Railroad way.

The location is one of the most important in the city and the new buildings will add much to this portion of the city and be in keeping with the many improvements being made on First street. The Southern Express Company recognizes the importance of Sanford's constantly increasing business and cognizant of the fact that the old office was inadequate for the transaction of the large traffic are building a structure capable of handling the business which in the future will assume large proportions.

Death of Mrs. J. C. Carruthers

After an illness of two weeks, Mrs. J. C. Carruthers was taken from our midst on Tuesday, a victim of pneumonia. Suffering from the effects of a cold, the case gradually developed into pneumonia and though hoping against hope for her recovery the patient at last succumbed to the dread disease, surrounded by the family and her devoted husband, who had been summoned from Palatka at the first alarming symptoms.

The services at the house were held under the auspices of the Eastern Star, of which order the deceased was a member.

The remains were taken to Oviedo, where the funeral services were held, Rev. McCall of the Oviedo Methodist church officiating.

Mrs. Carruthers was born in Hawkinsville, Ga., sixty-six years ago, afterward removing to Oviedo, where she was united in marriage to J. C. Carruthers, residing in several different cities in Florida, and removing to Sanford about eight months ago.

Mrs. Carruthers leaves a devoted husband and six children to mourn her loss. Two sisters, Mrs. O. N. Larson of Orlando, and Mrs. L. D. Jones of Jensen, survive her.

During her short residence in Sanford Mrs. Carruthers had made a large circle of friends who mourn sincerely the loss of a noble woman.

To the father and children the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community is extended in their hour of sorrow.

SUDDEN DEATH OF W. N. LEFFLER

Respected Citizen Passes Away Last Monday

On last Monday evening W. N. Leffler, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of Sanford, passed into the great beyond. Only a few hours before Mr. Leffler had been stricken with paralysis near the Leffler block, at the end of First street. He had seemingly been in the best of health until about one week ago, when he complained of a headache and dizziness. Being a man of great vitality, he had never ceased to make his customary call at his places of business and upon his friends, and at the time of the stroke he was on his way to his fish house on the lake front.

Mr. Leffler never rallied from the stroke and, surrounded by his family and friends, sank into the sleep from which there is no awakening. The funeral occurred from the residence on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and was largely attended.

As a mark of respect all the business houses in the city were closed from 2:30 until 3:30 o'clock.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Bigham, pastor of the First Methodist church of Jacksonville, and a life-long friend and former neighbor of the Leffler family in Kentucky.

The pall bearers were F. P. Forster, R. Howard Whitner, J. B. Williams, Theodore J. Miller, A. Robbins and Capt. A. W. Fitts. Followed by a large concourse of mourning friends the remains were laid to rest in Lakeview cemetery.

W. N. Leffler was born in Smithland, Ky., April 4, 1844. He grew up amid the scenes of his birth place and during the stirring times of '61, at the age of sixteen, joined the southern army and fought nobly for the lost cause until the surrender at Appomattox turned the hosts of gray homewards.

He settled down at Smithville in the peaceful pursuit of business with his brother, C. H. Leffler. Afterward they engaged in business in Paducah for several years, removing from there to Montgomery, Ala., in 1868, where the brothers were in business for several years. Just twenty-four years ago Mr. Leffler came to Sanford, where his brother preceded him some eight years before, and here they engaged in the general merchandise business and have claimed Sanford as their home ever since.

In 1886 he was united in marriage to Miss Linda Kelley in New York city.

Death claimed Mrs. Leffler in 1893, leaving two daughters and a son to mourn her loss.

Mr. Leffler was so thoroughly identified with the interests of Sanford that his loss is felt most keenly by every one. He was city clerk for several terms, was a member of the board of aldermen, and up to a few months ago was president of the city council.

Besides his children he leaves a brother, C. H. Leffler, and two sisters who still reside at the old home at Paducah.

In the death of Mr. Leffler the community has suffered a great loss. His was a genial, sunny nature with a kind word for every one and everyone was his friend. His home life especially was a benediction, his tender care for the children left motherless being reciprocated in full, and the loving ties that bound children to father was a familiar picture to every one.

The life of W. N. Leffler was a shining example of a lovable character, living up to his standards and ideals, treating his friends and neighbors according to the golden rule and rounding out a useful career of sixty-five years.

"None knew him but to love him; None named him but to praise."

W. N. Leffler

Our sincere friend and excellent neighbor of quiet manner and unobtrusive disposition, made no conspicuous display of religious character, but we believe he was a man pure in heart. Honest and straightforward in his dealings with his fellow-man, kind and obliging to all, whatever harm he may have suffered from any we believe he did wrong to none. He was one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens and tried to be useful in his modest way. He was for a number of years a faithful member of the Board of Aldermen, serving a considerable part of that time as its president, and on one occasion acting mayor in the absence of that official. He was a mature man of business, industrious, and successful for many years, while in his earlier manhood he had served his native land well as a volunteer soldier, fearless and true. But best of all, perhaps, he was affectionate and faithful in his family relations, tenderly devoted to his wife and children, deserving all the wealth of love they lavished upon him.

Such was the man whom we today lay to sleep until the last trump shall awake the dead, and the Master shall again be heard to proclaim "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God!"

STATE FAIR OPENED WEDNESDAY

Many Counties Are Represented With Fine Exhibits

The fifth annual Florida state fair opened Wednesday of this week, with every assurance of the greatest success yet attained by these annual expositions. The exhibits are superior to those of former fairs in quantity, quality and attractiveness, and, although it was expected at the very outset, that there would be some difficulty in securing exhibits, the exhibit buildings are taxed to their capacity and the display of Florida products is unquestionably the best ever made.

Fourteen counties have county exhibits, as follows, in charge of the gentlemen named:

Washington, Collier Bros.; Columbia, T. J. Appleyard; Gadsden, W. M. Corry; Alachua, J. W. Tench; Marion, Mr. Carnes; Hernando, W. L. Fleming and W. S. Hancock; Pasco, W. E. Embry; Manatee, F. C. Armstrong; Hillsborough, T. M. Wier; Polk, Hugh Wear; DeSoto, Ed. Scott; Lee, W. Stanley Hanson and J. L. Carter; Duval, B. B. Tatum and J. C. Baile; Osceola, W. L. Van Duzer.

The poultry and live stock exhibits are larger and better than ever. The citrus fruit display is fully 100 per cent greater, and of much higher quality than that of last year.

The fair was formally opened on Wednesday by Gov. Albert W. Gilchrist, who was under escort of the Florida state troops. A big opening parade moved from the grounds through the principal streets at 9 a. m. In which was included the military and civic organizations, officials of state, city and county, the 50 shows which constitute the range and the 500 race horses which will participate in the race meeting which is to continue throughout the fair.

Hon. William Jennings Bryan has arrived at Tampa and signal honor is being shown him. Thousands of visitors are there to participate in the various events of Bryan Day. The railroad and steamboat lines are offering unusually low rates to Tampa for the fair, and the attendance is expected, like all the other features, to be a record-breaker.

Sanford Exhibits at the State Fair

C. H. Hoffner, the energetic fair commissioner of Pinecastle, was in the city Tuesday in the interest of the state fair. While Orange county will not be represented this year, Mr. Hoffner is endeavoring to collect an individual exhibit for Sanford, and is meeting with much encouragement. He has already a nice collection of celery and other products which he intends to ship to Tampa, and will personally have charge of the booth. This exhibit speaks well for the progressiveness of the city. It shows that our people realize the advantages to be derived from an individual exhibit, and any citizen who has anything which will show to advantage, should see Mr. Hoffner at once.

LUCKY, LUCKY SANFORD

Passes Through the Cold Snap Unscathed

OUR COUNTY SUFFERED LITTLE

Sanford Greatly Aided By the Cold Weather Which Played Havoc in Some Sections

"Sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander" is an old proverb often quoted at this late day, and is an apt illustration of the recent cold snap regarding different sections of the South. While the State of Florida suffered but little damage, the states north of Florida that were placing such high hopes upon an open winter have suffered greatly in the entire loss of their early vegetables.

Several sections of Florida also suffered from the cold and the early vegetables, which meant so much to the growers, were killed—even the strawberries in several instances being killed. Conflicting reports make the compilation of figures regarding the effects of the cold rather difficult, as the damage actually done seems to be guarded as a jealous secret.

From all reports received it would seem that Sanford has again demonstrated that the Celery Delta is situated between the lakes in a position that will easily weather a cold snap and be impervious to cold that would blight the vegetables all over the state. Not even the tenderest vegetables were touched, and the growers who have planted a large acreage of cabbage are jubilant over the prospect of a short crop in other sections that is bound to raise the price for the Sanford product.

The celery growers have been needing cold weather for the past three weeks and the cold wave that proved so disastrous to other sections has proved a blessing to the celery, and this great crop bids fair to outrival the early lettuce crop in good prices.

Following is a few reports of various sections taken from the Times-Union:

Altamonte Springs

The cold wave Saturday night, which lingered until Monday morning, has kindly departed without damage to the fruit, but was not as considerate to vegetables and tender plants that beautify the villas. The fruit was not injured in the slightest degree as far as Orange county, so far as heard from, but in some sections it came dangerously near it, but the narrow miss is as good as a mile and the fruit growers feel very grateful for the narrow escape.

Hawthorne, Alachua County

The cold wave predicted by the weather bureau came on last Saturday night, preceded by a nice rain. It has been freezing continuously since Saturday night. It is slightly moderating today.

St. Petersburg

The cold snap of Sunday evening did some little damage to vegetation, the young orange trees and vegetable crops. The mercury dropped to 29 degrees and remained there for two hours, from 4 to 6 a. m., Monday morning. The frost did not come unheralded, nor was it entirely unlooked for. In many houses in the city the owners and caretakers busied themselves with sheets and other protection around the more tender vegetation. At the Sibley grounds in the city each of the many tropical trees were bound in cloth, tent fashion, and a lighted lantern placed at the base of each tree. The pinery of Mr. Sibley's was kept well warmed throughout the night by small fires in different parts of the enclosure. In the outskirts and in the lower trucking lands the frost fell heaviest, and the damage to tomatoes will be heavy. Ice formed that was about three-eighths of an inch in thickness. While the damage will be considerable, there is yet time for the trucker, who will feel the loss heaviest, to replant his crop, and it is believed that a better price will be had for what he markets. All things considered, it is thought the monetary damage will be little. The cold continued throughout Monday and the many tourists and visitors made repeated mention of their heavier clothes, which were miles from them. Monday evening moderation commenced, and at 9 o'clock the thermometer registered ten degrees higher—46—than on Sunday evening at the same hour.

Starke, Bradford County

The recent cold wave killed all the strawberries and blossoms that were on the bushes, but the plants are unharmed and will have plenty of berries again in March. The growers claim that this freeze will be a benefit in the end, as better prices are the rule in the middle to the last of March, or even to the middle of April.

A peculiar feature of the weather map on Sunday morning was the fact that Portland, Me., and Jacksonville, Fla., both had the same temperature, while Havre, Montana, near the Canadian boundary, registered 32 degrees, or nine degrees warmer than in the East Florida metropolis. The temperature in New York was also considerably higher than in Jacksonville.

Reports from all over the state of Florida indicate that very little damage was done in any section. Other states have suffered severely and though nothing definite can be learned at present, it is estimated that those growers in other states who took chances with the weather on account of the open winter have lost heavily in early vegetables. Cabbage will probably stand the cold snap better than any other crop, and it is hoped by the South Carolina growers that little of the crop was injured.

CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Charge of Arson Against Scott in This County

The following from the Tampa Tribune regarding Charlie Scott, or Harris as he was called, will prove interesting as Scott was one of the principals in the fire that destroyed the Celery City Laundry:

"Verdict of manslaughter was rendered at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the case of Charlie Scott, the negro charged with the murder of Dudley Brooks, another negro, in July, 1907. The case opened in the circuit court at 9 a. m. yesterday, and such good progress was made that it went to the jury early in the afternoon, and a short time later the verdict was rendered. Scott was not sentenced, but it is understood that sentence will be passed tomorrow or next day."

Show Makes Big Hit

Never in the history of the five years that the C. W. Park Company has been visiting Gadsden has a better show been put on than that of last night, and never has the audience been larger or more appreciative. The canvas theatre was crowded from the stage to its entrance, and those who came expecting a great deal from the company did not leave disappointed.

The play put on last night was one never before seen here, and was interesting and entertaining from start to finish. The musical numbers under the direction of Prof. Anderson were exquisite and called forth much applause.

The players were all worthy of special mention, and each part was handled in such manner as to call forth much comment from the audience after the show. The company this season is the best Mr. Park has ever brought to Gadsden. The canvas theatre is undoubtedly the best equipped outfit of its kind on the road today. In fact, is equipped far better than some of the city opera houses today. During the action of the play several of the musical numbers were introduced and they were indeed a surprise and could not be improved upon.—Gadsden (Ala.) Evening Journal.

The C. W. Park Dramatic Company will open in Sanford, Monday night, February 8th, for one week, with an entirely new list of plays. Everything new.

Prices, children 25c and adults 35c. Reserved seats 15c extra.

Old Residents Return

Mr. and Mrs. David McGown of Steubenville, Ohio, were in the city a few days this week. Mr. McGown came to Florida the first time in 1876 and owned a valuable orange grove near Sanford at one time. He is very favorably impressed with the rapid growth of Sanford, and will stop here for several weeks upon his return northward. At present Mr. and Mrs. McGown will visit several points in South Florida.

Polo Match at Orlando

There promises to be some great sport at Orlando on February 22 and 24, when the Camden, S. C. Polo club will play the Orlando Polo Club on the Orlando grounds at the new Driving Park.

The Camden team is said to be the fastest in the South and will probably give the Orlando boys a run for their money. The admission to the grounds will be 50 cents.

CITY COUNCIL MEETS

Session That Means Much For Sanford's Progress

BRICK PAVING FOR FULL WIDTH

Sanford Promised Improvements that Will Make a Greater City—Other Matters

The city council met in regular session last Monday night with every member present, and many citizens who were attracted thither by the matters of vital interest that were to receive the attention of that august body.

After roll call and reading of minutes of last meeting, the regular routine business was delved into and the reports of committees read.

The building committee reported upon the new express office building.

The fire committee report was most interesting and cited the many improvements that have been made in the past month in the fire department. New equipment, such as hose, nozzles, a new hose wagon and many improvements in the house. Chief Hand was present and stated that a light was needed in the house and a better approach to bume. The matter was referred to the fire committee with power to act.

The report of the street committee was eagerly awaited as each and every citizen is deeply interested in this project. Geo. H. Fernald was called upon to make a report in behalf of the bond trustees and he stated that the bids and specifications of the different firms had been carefully examined and a decision made in favor of the Georgia Vitrefied Brick Co., who will take entire charge of the street work, and furnish and lay the brick for $1.90 per square yard.

W. A. Ginn, the well known civil engineer, was present and had a sketch of the forty foot street with palm trees along the sides.

An animated discussion took place regarding the paving of a forty foot street and one the entire width of sixty feet.

A motion to pave forty feet part of the way, and two blocks sixty feet, was then brought before the members and was lost.

More discussion followed, and it was then unanimously resolved to pave First street with brick from Sanford avenue to Myrtle avenue sixty feet from curb to curb, and the work will probably start at once.

The ordinance granting a franchise for electric lights to the Sanford Light & Fuel Co. was then put upon its second reading. This question will probably be settled at the next meeting, as it will then be put upon its third reading and final passage.

Death of Rev. S. D. Paine

Rev. S. Delahay Paine, a noted divine and former hero of the Crimean war, died from a stroke of apoplexy last Friday evening in Jacksonville. Rev. Paine was well and favorably known throughout the state and in the North. He was formerly pastor of the Congregational church in this city and had a host of friends, who were drawn to him by his genial and jovial manner. During his lifetime he had occupied the pulpit as pastor of three denominations—Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational. Of the incidents connected with his career, he was proudest of the act of Queen Victoria which also decorated him with the cross of honor as one of the surviving heroes of the battle of Inkerman, in the Crimea. Rev. Paine was seventy years of age. He leaves a widow, and son and daughter by his first wife.

E. P. Hyer Dies at Orlando

E. P. Hyer, one of the best known and most highly respected citizens of Orange county, died at his home in Orlando, Monday. Mr. Hyer has been a resident of Orlando for thirty-four years. He was well known in Sanford and had a large circle of friends in other sections of the county. The funeral, which occurred on Tuesday, was largely attended.
