pared the briefs for presentation to the high tribunal said today. Mr. Boyle's announcement followed a telegram from G. T. Whitehead, clerk of the Supreme Court, in which he advised that the tribunal had given its opinion in the case.

While the tribunal affirmed Judge Smith's order, Mr. Boyle stated that he had not been advised as to whether the court's opinion upheld the act of the 1933 Legislature as applied in these devices. He indicated, however, that he felt these devices were in violation of the act which the residents of the state approved in a referendum in 1929. The case recited was that of Weathers versus Williams, sheriff of Brevard County. Mr. Boyle was called into the case by State Attorney General George Cooper Gibbs. Boyle spent three days at the Florida capital in preparing the necessary brief for the case.

While the case was argued from Brevard county, the opinion of the tribunal will apply to all Florida counties permitting sheriffs to confiscate seizure of the devices in accordance with the Governor's orders.

Paraguay And Bolivia Agree On Boundaries

Accord On Terms Of Treaty Ends Century Old Dispute Over Gran Chaco

Holy Land Racial Strife Continues

Jap Request Renewed For Removal Of Vessels From War Zone

An accord settled with a bias buoyed world's hopes that Bolivia and Paraguay would war no more for Gran Chaco's "green hell" but in the three other troubled areas of Palestine, the Orient and Spain, shadows of war and revolt lengthened.

Joyous handshakes and backslappings followed the initialing in Buenos Aires of a preliminary agreement to end the century-old dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay. Agreement to determine the boundary between the long-embittered neighbors through arbitration by presidents of six American nations or their representatives now must be submitted for final approval of Bolivia and Paraguay. Mediators hope the final treaty can be signed within five or six days.

The slaying of two Christians and a Moslem in an Arab village in the Holy Nazareth district of Palestine raised the death toll in three days of racial killings to 31, with at least 150 wounded.

The Far East Japanese renewed request to the United States and other nations to clear all vessels and citizens from the Chinese war zone, particularly along the Yangtze River up which the invaders are sending war vessels and transports to accompany the troops on the banks.

After a week of virtual stalemate the insurgents on the eastern Spanish front occupied Nules, 28 miles north of Valencia. Government militiamen, however, checked their own retreat and staged counterattacks along new defense lines.

Eckener Hints Ban On Helium May Be Taken Off By FDR

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, July 9.—(AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, veteran German dirigible commander, hinted yesterday that President Roosevelt yet may have a "last word" to say regarding the United States ban on export of helium to Germany, where it is needed for future airship development.

In an address during celebration of the 100th birthday anniversary of Count Von Zeppelin, father of lighter-than-air travel, Dr. Eckener ridiculed Secretary Harold L. Ickes for prohibiting export of helium, a non-inflammable gas Germany can get only from the United States.

He suggested the action of the United States Secretary of the Interior was due to American domestic politics.

Opening a new Zeppelin museum here, Frank, hint Dr. Eckener said:

"One cabinet member now has suddenly given the opinion that the helium promised us last year has military importance and there fore cannot be delivered.

"This seems like a joke, for this gentleman is the secretary of the Interior, while military experts of the War and Navy departments denied its military importance.

Realtors Seek Abolition Of Ad Valorem Tax

Local Board Joins In Plea For Tax On Income From Property

The Seminole County Real Estate Board at a special meeting yesterday afternoon joined other realtors over the state in a plea for revision in the method of taxing property, according to Secretary H. James Gut.

The board met in the office of President P. Hayard Smith at 3:30 o'clock and passed a resolution in which the local board joined in the state-wide movement being made to abolish the method ad valorem of taxation and to pass a constitutional amendment levying taxes on returns from property, which the board declared to be the more uniform and the fairer form of taxation.

It pointed out that the movement is being supported by the State Hotel Association, The Florida Apartment Owners Association, the Florida Tax Revision League and a number of other state and local organizations including local real estate boards representing more than 50 percent of the realtors in the state.

In the resolution the board seeks passage by the 1939 legislature of a joint resolution authorizing a referendum vote on a constitutional amendment specifying that the Legislature shall enact laws providing for the levy and collection of tax, except on homesteads, at a uniform percentage on the gross rent or rental value and also a percentage tax on the sale of real and personal property.

The resolution further requested provisions to be made in the amendment to the effect that no tax shall be levied against property by the state, counties, or cities on the basis of assessed capital value, except for special assessments for benefits.

The resolution also urged the legislative committee of the Florida Association of Real Estate Boards, of which the local board is a member, to cooperate with other organizations in every manner possible to support of the proposed amendment.

A copy of the resolution was filed with the board of governors of the state association which meets in Orlando next Saturday.

Three Nations Offer Refuge To Oppressed

Refugees Promised Work In Peru, Mexico And Dominican Republic At Parley

EVIAN LES BAINS, France, July 9.—(AP)—Three Latin American nations offered to upon their doors to German and Austrian refugees after a conference had told the Evian conference they could not permit mass immigration.

Mexico offered an asylum to foreigners who are afraid for their lives and promised participants for them to work in the Dominican Republic promptly followed so as did Peru, the latter making exception, however, of refugee intellectuals.

The United States and Great Britain were understood to have reached a tentative agreement regarding a permanent international committee to assist refugees from Greater Germany.

The Anglo-American plan, it was said in well-informed quarters at the 32-nation intergovernmental refugee conference in session here, would provide:

1. That the headquarters of the organization would be in London.

2. That it remain free of close affiliation with existing refugee groups organized under auspices of the League of Nations.

3. For an American head, providing Washington's permission could be obtained.

The United States, Great Britain, France, Argentina and Brazil would be represented on the permanent committee.

Possibility of creating branch offices in the various European capitals also was under consideration, especially in those where the refugee problem is serious or likely to become so.

Approval of the Anglo-American plan by the intergovernmental conference, which was called by President Roosevelt, would pave the way for possible negotiation with Germany to hasten and systematize emigration of German and Austrian Jews, it was said.

The delegates reported that German officials had tentatively offered to allow Austrian Jews to leave with 20 percent of their goods as an inducement to speed up emigration for more than 50,000 planning to quit Austria permanently before the end of the year if arrangements can be made.

PROHIBITION VOTE

FDR Expected To Bestow Blessings On Senator Thomas

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 9.—(AP)—Oklahoma's bitterly fought senatorial campaign reached a climax today with President Roosevelt expected to bestow his blessings on Senator Elmer Thomas.

That Chief Executive would give his favor to a candidate in his address here at 5:15 P. M. CST appeared more likely after he made it clear that Senator Bulkley in Kentucky and Senator Thomas in Ohio were his preferences.

Governor E. W. Marland, New Deal supporter opposing Thomas for nomination in Tuesday's Democratic Primary, conceded Roosevelt's support to his rival.

At Covington, Ky., in mid-afternoon yesterday the President had strong words of praise for Senator Bulkley but suggested them with compliments for Gov. A. H. Chandler, opposing Bulkley in the Aug. 4 primary.

Later at Louisville from the rear of the train Mr. Roosevelt gave Senator Bulkley a verbal pat on the back but didn't mention Chandler's name. He said he wanted to express appreciation of Bulkley's efforts in helping the Administration to meet national problems. He said that "We need men of a national experience" to meet these problems.

The President spoke at La Touge race track near by Covington saying he wanted to "make it definite and clear" that he was "not interfering in any shape manner or form in the primary campaign in Kentucky."

Then discussing the senatorial primary campaign, Mr. Roosevelt said there was "no doubt" Governor Chandler would make a good senator but that he thought Chandler would be the first to admit that it would take many, many years "to match the national knowledge, the experience and the acknowledged leadership in affairs of the Nation" of that of Bulkley.

Cadet R. C. Tolar Given Promotion At The Citadel

Cadet Ralph C. Tolar, son of Dr. E. N. Tolar of this city, has been appointed to the rank of cadet lieutenant assigned by the band at The Citadel, according to word received here today from the Charleston, S. C. military academy.

"Cadet Tolar is a military cadet, and his appointment to the rank of cadet lieutenant is a promotion. He is the only cadet in the band to receive this honor."

A recent order issued at The Citadel announced the tentative appointments in the cadet regiment for the ensuing season. These appointments, subject to confirmation or revocation upon the opening of college in September, are based upon various achievements of the selected cadets.

Records upon which cadets are selected for command responsibility are based upon academic standing, conduct, bearing and appearance, dependability, leadership, personality, and participation in athletics and other extracurricular activities. As nearly as possible the element of personal preference is totally lacking, each cadet earning his chevrons by his own efforts.

Mispronunciations

If you are one of those who says "goin'" and "comin'" for "going" and "coming", or "me 'n' you" for "you and I", it is probably not because you do not know better, but because you are quite sure more people will understand you the way you talk than if you spoke in the proper manner.

However, the growing popularity of the radio and the improvement in the pronunciation, diction, and quality of speaking among the radio commentators, are doing a great deal to give the people of this country a common language.
It is rapidly reaching the point where a person in the South can understand the New York announcers, and a New England audience can listen without laughing at the "Voice of the South" even if it happens to be coming from Atlanta.

The St. Augustine Record says that if your pronunciation is bad, it is a pretty good sign that you are conceited. You are apt to be so sure that your way of pronouncing words is correct that you will not take the trouble to look them up in the dictionary, and you are so inconsiderate of others that if they have difficulty in understanding you let them hunt an interpreter.

Check yourself and see if you say "movment" for "movement", "probly" for "probably", "an' bidden" for "bidden". If you do you should be interested in Dr. Joseph Vandenburg's assertion that "the real difficulty in most cases of unsatisfactory speech lies in the strain of approval the person himself has given to his own speech with no other authority than that of his own dulled hearing."

The worst offense in pronunciation, Dr. Vandenburg says is the substitution of one consonant for another—such as "dson" and "dson". But winning a close second is the distortion of vowels like "fool baloon" for "fool balloon" or "bison" for "bison". This is not all, but of course the tendency to omit whole syllables through talking too fast such as "movment" and "probly".

If you really want to know just how many words you have always been pronouncing incorrectly without knowing it, just get yourself a little dictionary and make a habit of looking up words as you use them. Take that word "dictionary", you have probably been pronouncing it all your life with the accent equally on the first and third syllables.
The first syllable only should be accented.

But we have many funny pronunciations in this country which are correct. Take "Dartmouth" for instance.
If that isn't "Dart-mouth", it ought to be. But it isn't of course. It is "Dar-muth." And "Greenwich" isn't "Green-wich" at all; it's "Green-nidge".

All of which reminds us of the American who had been traveling in England and having some difficulty learning that "Cholmondelay" is pronounced "Chumley", and "Magdene" pronounced "Maudlin", and "clerk" pronounced "clark", when he picked up a newspaper and on the theatrical page read, "Cavaicade pronounced Success."

The South's Problem

Commenting on the President's assertion that "the South presents right now the nation's No. 1 economic problem", and admitting that the statement is probably true, the New York Times insists that the first step toward the cure of such a problem is a correct diagnosis. In other words, the Times believes that in order to cure the evil we must know the cause of it.

"The report tells us, for example," the Times says, "that the South must sit by and watch its plenty enjoyed by other sections not so abundantly blessed by nature, but in control of the man-made machinery of finance." This seems to be merely a sinister way of saying that Northern capital has flowed into the South. This capital inflow has made the South much richer—or much less poor—than it would otherwise have been. It has greatly increased the productivity of Southern labor and increased Southern wages. Northern capital invested in the South can hasten its industrial development just as British capital invested in American railroads and manufacturing industries hastened our industrial development as a nation.

"Apart from this point, it is important to remember that some of the chief New Deal policies have been such as greatly to increase the impoverishment of the South rather than to relieve it. The chief single source of the South's living is cotton. Yet the net effect of the croprestriction policy has been to purchase a small temporary gain at the cost of a great and permanent loss. For our policy encouraged a great increase in planting of cotton by other nations, particularly Brazil; the foreign supply has risen to hitherto unprecedented levels, and the price of cotton within the last five weeks has been down to the lowest levels in history in terms of the old gold dollar.

"To compensate for this there should have been a special encouragement to Southern industry. But instead, the Administration insisted on the Federal Wage-Hour Bill, which fixes a uniform minimum wage for the whole country for the first two years and allows a maximum differential of 10 cents an hour for a few years thereafter.
The result will certainly be to handicap Southern industry and relatively to retard Southern industrial employment. One incidental result may be to drive more workers into Southern agriculture, where wages are already the most miserable paid in the country and for which no minimum wage is fixed."

DISPELLING THE FOG

BY CHARLES MICHELSON
Democratic National Committee

The minority party spokesmen have been doing a lot of talking about the gains they expect to make in the next Congress, with the grave prophecy that in 1940 the G. O. P. would have command of the House of Representatives.
Now we have the withdrawal from Congress of Bert Snell, who is the nearest thing to a leader his party has had in Congress during the past seven years. Mr. Snell's ambition has been to become Speaker of the House—that position which has been frequently described as the second great office in the government.
His determination to retire from Congress, after twenty-five years of service is perhaps the only commentary necessary in regard to Republican prospects.

As a good reasoned member of the old Guard, Mr. Snell indicated his disgust at the present political management of his party, which doesn't know whether to be liberal or conservative and keeps on dancing between these two political poles with the hope that somehow, sometime, the dilemma will decide itself. However, the fading away of all chances of a Republican resurrection, which realize his Speakership ambitions beyond doubt was the predominant motive of his notice that he would not be a candidate for re-election in other words, though Bert Snell might have hoped to preside over a Congress with a reactionary Republican majority, he would have been content, if not satisfied to preside over a Republican Congress of any type.

His own song was an arrangement of the prospective antimonopoly investigation, in which he expressed the fear that it would be a "witch hunt" against business.
Acting on the broad theory that anything proposed by President Roosevelt must have a nefarious purpose, all of the Republican propaganda columnists and villains took that same view of the President's message to Congress the other day. I note this time emboldened belief of the situation in the column of Mr. Frank Kent of June 13, for example: "The ard of a sentence further along in the article which states that "in order to effectuate further reforms the President is willing to destroy the Democratic party." At times, his critics have insisted that, while Franklin D.

Roosevelt was wrong in his economic ideas, he was an astute and subtle politician. They saw in every move in the direction of curbing individual and corporate privilege only the wiles of a political manipulator appealing to the mob. The practical purpose of politics is to win elections. How far would that purpose be served by keeping the country broke and destroying his own party? I suppose it is too much to expect the boosters of the Liberty League strips to feel any compulsion to consistency, but who is there in all our population who could recommend such an absurdity as the foregoing with the statement, alternating with it, that the administration is using the relief funds in order to effect a Democratic victory in the coming Congressional election or in the election of 1940?

Both of these contentions obviously cannot be true, but they can be, and are, both untrue. The President has stated publicly that his ambition is to turn his desk over to his successor with the country content and prosperous.
Can even the authors of such statements as are quoted in this article conceive of a country contented and prosperous when the country is busted—as they appear to think he wishes to have it for some ulterior purpose?
There are some millions of vet-ers on relief—Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Communist and Independents. Isn't it pretty childish to assume that these would all vote Democratic because Harry Hopkins favored a special candidate for Senatorial nomination, or Ashley Williams, nominated by his own political preference? Instentally, it is likely that these important members of the President's staff will do their best to effect the transfer of the victory of a party which, according to the authorities cited here, he is bent on destroying.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Every time a destroyer slides down the ways it launches 100 or more officers and men on one of the most romantic but hazardous jobs in the Navy.
Destroyers are those trim little ships about 300 feet long, sleek as a yacht, but in wartime loaded with concentrated hell both for the crew and the enemy. They are the pawns in every naval engagement, sacrificed to save the bigger ships or even to force a change in the course of the enemy fleet.

All the talk about the enormous expense of building up a navy hinges around the cost of battleships which in all conscience, cost enough. But destroyers are more than twice as costly per ton. A 35,000-ton battleship costs around $70,000,000 when fully armed or $2,000 a ton. A 1,500-ton destroyer costs $7,500,000 to $8,000,000, or $5,000 and more a ton. And the fleet needs many.

Contracts for four were let recently with scarcely a ripple in the news.

Although the public interest neglects them, the Navy doesn't.
Without destroyers, life on the big boats would be as hazardous in time of war as it is for the destroyers. They get the tough assignments of chasing down enemy submarines, which is something like swimming around in the ocean hunting sharks.
Somebody has to take the subduer of the line and the job falls to the destroyers. They are fast, doing 35 knots compared to 21 to 25 for battleships, and they can spin around almost on the crest of a wave.

In heavy weather they are little different from submarines for the big waves roll over their decks and they are so narrow-girth they slice with a crash into every sea.

One of their duties is to act as guards for airplane tenders.
Then they must scout out not only for enemy submarines intent on sinking the tenders but must also be on the lookout for friendly pilots shot down in the sea or otherwise unable to get back to the tender. In battle the tender can't stop to pick up every flier who happens to land in the water and unless the destroyers can pick him up he goes down with his plane.

The destroyers act as supplemental anti-aircraft defense at all times but particularly for the airplane tenders. Each destroyer has at least eight five-inch guns capable not only of shooting at surface craft but of swinging high into the air to hurl explosives at enemy planes. They must lay smoke screens, and while doing it are as visible to the enemy as a freight train on the horizon.

Their sudden job is in combined fleet actions, where the whole warship family meets the enemy family for better or for worse. Suppose our own naval commander finds it necessary to turn the enemy fleet in a given direction, he sends the destroyer fleet full into the face of the heavily armed enemy battle fleet. The destroyers let go with torpedoes and the enemy fleet must turn as intended or face destruction.

It is tough on the destroyers.
They have no armor and their sides are as thin as paper in comparison with other war craft.
The navy calls them "cans." At their first rust the enemy fleet tries to smash them to prevent launching of the torpedoes. Half of the destroyers may be blown up—and they go down like rocks, for their hulls are loaded with power machinery, torpedoes, and the mechanism for launching them.

A naval non-commissioner officer, who had turned a trick in the World War, once commented to us that "Destroyers are expendable, like ammunition." But he added: "I wouldn't serve on nothin' else. Not me."

Sanford Theater News for the Coming Week

IN DELIGHTFUL COMEDY—Melvyn Douglas and Florence Rice as they appear in "Fast Company."

McLaglen Turns In Fine Performance As Embattled Celt

Victor McLaglen turns in one of the best jobs of acting in his long and notable screen career in "The Devil's Party" which plays at the Ritz Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

There are moments when his portrait of Marty Malone, the big stormy hearted Irishman who strays from the straight and narrow path and redemptive himself by a great sacrifice, approaches his screen picture of that other embattled Celt, Gypo Nolan in "The Informer." There are pathos, savage aggressiveness, reckless humor and passages of rich humor as the brawny Victor fights, loves and loses and sweeps on to his dramatic fate in a climax scene of tremendous power.

Though McLaglen's portrait of Marty is the highlight of the film it is not just a solo triumph. In "The Devil's Party," Universal has produced a picture of shattering dramatic impact, with one of the warmest, most human stories to reach the screen in months. It tells of a gang of five kids from New York's Hell's Kitchen who grow up to positions of power in the city. One of them becomes a priest. Two join the police force. Marty after taking a reformatory rap for his pals as a kid, becomes a night club operator and the girl of the club sings in his floor show. Gradually all five become enmeshed in a web of terrific danger till the explosive denouement blows things wide open.

The plot builds well to an exciting climax with the audience going from chuckles to roars. Barry brings in the pearls. Dale brings in Barry. Whitey brings in Eckhardt, and Eckhardt has the crooks, Lily and Cooper in tow. Ridgeway views it all with amazement, but as long as he gets the jewels back, he is happy. So is every one else, including yourself—after you've seen it.

"Romance On The Run" was directed by Gus Meins. Jack Townley wrote the screen play from an original story by Eric Taylor.

Comedy Tells Story Of Super-Sleuth On Trail Of Feminine Jewel Robber

If you want to laugh long and loud, and thoroughly enjoy yourself for an hour, go Thursday or Friday to the Ritz Theatre, and see "Romance On The Run."

Made by Republic Productions, and starring Donald Woods with Patricia Ellis, this melodrama of a private investigator on the trail of a jewel thief strikes a new high in light-comedy entertainment.

For the first time, Hollywood has brought to the screen a super-sleuth who, figuratively speaking, keeps his tongue in his cheek from the time of the crime to its solution. He doesn't take himself seriously, and neither will you—but you'll love the way he manages to bring in the goods.

Donald Woods, as Harry Drake, private investigator par excellence, brings a new, likable character to the screen. A famous set of pearls has been stolen by a night club singer, Lily Lamont, played by Grace Bradley. Many amusing and exciting complications arise with Woods and Dale Harrison (Patricia Ellis) both trying to get back the jewels. Dale is the secretary to John Ridgeway (Andrew Tombes), who is president of an insurance company which holds a policy on the stolen goods. Charley Cooper (Craig Reynolds), as Lily's stooge, puts many obstacles in Harry's way, as does Lieutenant Eckhardt (William Demarest), half-baked police detective.

Whitey, played by Edward Brophy, is Harry's man Friday. He also does much to complicate the plot, and tickle the audience.

Leon Weaver, of Weaver Brothers and Elvyns vaudeville fame, has a screamingly funny small part as a hill-billy mountaineer.

Mady Makes Hobby Of Collecting Old Guns

Mady Correll, playing the role of Stephanie in the Republic picture, "Invisible Enemy," which plays Sunday at the Princess Theatre, has an unusual hobby, for a girl. She collects antique rifles.

The pride of her collection is an enormous muzzle-loading flint-lock rifle which dates from the Revolutionary War. The gun is five feet ten inches long—Mady is only five feet five inches tall! It has been handed down through each generation of her family. The young actress prizes it highly, but has never attempted to fire it and doesn't intend to.

Also in the collection are interesting Sharp's rifles which were used during the early 19th century, Winchesters that saw action during the pioneer days in the west, and many others.

In "Invisible Enemy," Mady portrays the owner of a fashionable women's shop in Paris. How she aids an English Intelligence Officer, Alan Marshal, in preventing an unscrupulous capitalist from selling valuable oil land to a foreign country forms an important part of the exciting picture.

DONALD WOODS in the Republic picture "Romance on the Run."

BOASTS OTHER TALENT

Acting isn't the only talent that gifted Beverly Roberts, featured player in Republic's "Call of the Yukon," possesses. A talent, of which she is much more proud is cooking. Culinary experts claim that Mrs. Roberts' recipe for eggs Benway is the finest in record. Richard Arlen is starred in "Call of the Yukon," which plays Saturday, July 16 at the Princess Theatre. Lyle Talbot is co-featured with Mrs. Roberts.

French Coquette Played By Simone In Film, "Josette"

It's vive l'amour in naughty New Orleans!
It's vive Don Ameche! vive Simone Simon! and vive Robert Young!

This spicy, tantalizing story is gayer than a Mardi Gras, with these three delightful stars. Don is more romantic than you've known him on screen or radio. Simone is the tantalizing little French coquette. She's got zis! And she's got zat! And Bob is the ardent swain who won't take no for an answer—not even in French!

It all starts gaily on its way when Don and Bob decide that their Papa is too ardently cherishing la femme—Josette. The fact that Simone is innocent of all guile as regards Papa—and that there is another woman in the case—only adds to the merry madness. For Don and Bob pack Papa off on a trip and decide to take Josette into their own hands . . . or arms, as it later develops.

The denouement can not be divulged here, but let it be said that "Josette" merry with its Gordon and Revel songs, has the kick of a sazarac cocktail!

Three new song hits by Hollywood's ace tunemiths are featured in the musical background of the film. These, which already are crowding the kilocycles, are "May I Drop A Petal In Your Glass of Wine?" "In Any Language" and "Where In The World?"

Bert Lahr and Joan Davis, sensational new comedy team first seen in "Love And Hissee," head the featured cast of "Josette."

The film is Joan Davis' first since she was voted No. 1 comedienne in a New York daily's nationwide fan poll.

Paul Hurst, William Collier, Sr. and Tala Birell are included in the cast. Darryl F. Zanuck, in charge of production, selected Allen Dwan to direct, with Gene Markey associate producer.

VIRGINIA BRUCE and Herbert Marshall in "Woman Against Woman."

"Woman Against Woman" Is Lively Film Depicting Divorce Problem

Timely in its theme, entertaining in its presentation, "Woman Against Woman" is a lively picture which depicts the divorce problem. The film is a study in the contrast in both appearance and character of two women who fall into a love affair. The story is told in a way that is both telling and amusing. # Davis, Pitman And Adz Lead Lookouts To 7-4 Victory

Got Three Hits Each As Mates Bring Total To 16

Pinder Allows Seven Scattered Hits; Four Run Rally In 7th Gives Locals Winning Margin

The big guns of the Sanford Lookouts which have collected base hits in bunches during the past week in Florida State League competition pounded two Daytona Beach hurlers last night for a grand total of 16 hits, which paved the way for the Lookouts to walk away with a 7 to 4 victory.

The eighth inning was the only one in which the locals failed to register a blow and Bobby Smith, second sacker, was the only Lookout failing to record a hit. However, Bobby came through with a run batted in.

On the mound for the Lookouts was Joe Pinder, who won his fifth game in 15 starts. His last four victories have been at home. Pinder had no serious trouble with the 16 hits as he let them down with seven scattered hits.

Starting for the visitors was Pete Kamp, who allowed 15 hits to make a bad showing on the mound but his single and triple while at the plate put the Islanders in the lead in their half of the seventh by a 4 to 1 count before the Lookouts opened up for the grand finale.

Leading the hitting for the evening was Johnny Adz, Bob Pitman and Eddie Davis, who blasted out three hits each. Billy Moore, Joe Doljack and Kamp of the Islanders, secured two each while Taylor DeRamus and Pinder gathered a lone blow to keep their slate clean.

The Lookouts scored in their half of the first stanza to lead a two-run lead over the Islanders. Moore was called out on strikes, Doljack was safe on an out-of-play hit, Davis singled to left field, advancing Doljack to second, and Pitman singled to left center field scoring Doljack. Smith led out to enter scoring a run. Adz failed to end the inning.

The Islanders scored in their half of the third when Craven

HUGHES SPANS ATLANTIC IN 16½ HOURS

In just 16 hours and 23 minutes after his take off from Floyd Bennett Field, New York, Howard Hughes, millionaire sportsman, and his four companions glided to a landing at Le Bourget Field, Paris. The first non-stop, round the world in 1927, Hughes made the trip in less than half the Lindbergh time. The flight is the first leg of a round the world trip. Here the plane, christened "New York-World Fair 1939", is shown taking to the air at twilight.

U.S. Economist Sees Benefits In Market Pact

C. I. Tod Declares Growers Prevented From Heavy Losses By Agreement

The benefits to growers of the Celery Marketing Agreement from an economist's viewpoint were revealed today by C. I. Tod, associate agricultural economist of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Tod spent several weeks in Sanford and other producing sections of the state studying celery prices and has condensed an analysis of price factors on which he bases his report of benefits of the pact.

Through his analysis, Mr. Tod declared that had the 700,000 crates which removed from interstate commerce by the Control Committee, and the 200,000 crates sold to the Surplus Commodities Corporation been marketed, returns to growers would have amounted to minus 23 cents per crate.

As a result of his diligent study of the Florida industry, Mr. Tod declared that he had found three primary forces which affect the wholesale price of celery. These are as follows: Supply of celery; level of consumers' income; and extent of competing supplies.

Mr. Tod pointed out that his analysis measured statistically the amount of effect each of these factors has on the market price. He declared that for a given season every increase of 100,000 crates in the supply of celery, the price will decline approximately 10 cents per crate, and that every reduction of one percent in the income of consumers decreases the price of celery 4 cents per crate and vice-versa.

Also for every increase of one percent in competing shipments, the price of Florida celery declines about 2-3 of a cent per crate.

From these statistics Mr. Tod calculated that compared to 1937, income of consumers went down 8 percent, which makes the market price for 1938 about 32 cents less than for 1937.

The intensity of competition was 12 percent greater than for last year. Therefore, the 1938 price is 8 cents lower from this cause.

With a freight rate increase of 3 cents per crate, a one cent increase in crate prices and the one cent assessment for the Control Committee, the sum of these factors indicate that if the same quantity had been moved in 1938 as in 1937 the price to growers would have been about 45 cents less, Mr. Tod pointed out, than the estimated returns of 97 cents per crate for last year.

Mac Huddleston Sustains Injury To Back In Fall

McKesson (Mac) Huddleston, 25, who was injured yesterday at Sandlake Springs, was reported today by Dr. W. T. Langley, attending physician, to be progressing very well at the Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Langley said Mac had sustained a back sprain but that no bones had been broken. Mrs. J. F. N. Huddleston, Mac's mother, and friends who were with him at the time of the accident had feared that his spine might have been fractured with X-ray pictures were taken.

The accident occurred yesterday afternoon shortly after 3:00 o'clock while Mac and three friends, Paul King, William Swanson, and F. M. Vickers were playing on the sandy edge of the pool. According to Paul, Mac and F. M. attempted a "fumbling" game which ended in Mac's landing on the back of his neck instead of his shoulders as was intended.

Said Mac who appeared to be badly hurt, a call was made for an ambulance and he was taken to the hospital. It was reported that Mac had been injured at Sandlake Springs, Fla., Sunday, July 10.

First Leg Of World Flight Completed; Plane Ordered Refueled For Moscow

Ambassador Bullitt Heads Officials Who Greet Fliers

PARIS, July 11.—(AP)—Howard Hughes after spanning the Atlantic from New York to Paris in less than half the Lindbergh time was delayed tonight on his globe-girdling trip by weather and slight damage to his plane. He announced he would not take off on the second leg to Moscow until tomorrow.

PARIS, July 11.—(AP)—Howard Hughes and his crew of four landed their plane at the LeBourget airport here at 10:38 A. M., eastern standard time, after a trans-Atlantic flight from New York, the first leg of a projected round the world trip.

The American sportsman flier glided to an easy landing 16 hours and 35 minutes after his take-off from New York. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who flew the same route in 1927, was the only other pilot ever to make the trip, required 33 hours and 29 and a half minutes for his solo flight.

Immediately after landing Hughes ordered his plane refueled for a hop to Moscow in hope that he and his companions could complete the round the world air voyage in less than six days.

United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt headed the throng of officials who greeted the fliers.

Hughes, who first of five out of the plane, looked tired but he grinned broadly. He took time to put on his necktie and hat before coming out of the plane.

A big crowd pressed around the plane, shouting "long live the Americans."

Hughes surprised officials at the airport who had not expected him for hours.

A few minutes before the big twin-motored plane came in sight, Hughes sent a radio message saying he was about to land. Otherwise the welcoming committee would have been caught unprepared.

Hughes was so eager to get off for Moscow that he refused to eat or drink. He said weather reports indicated "good flying conditions ahead. Moscow is about 1,541 miles from here by air.

The rain, which had fallen before Hughes' arrival, stopped just before the big plane dropped out of the sky. Clouds formed again as Hughes studied maps and weather charts.

Funeral Services For Cardozo Are Held In New York

Home Of State Justice Is Scene Of Burial

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., July 11.—(AP)—Political and civil leaders who honored United States Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Cardozo in life as one of the ranking legal scholars of his time honored him in death. Funeral services for the distinguished jurist were held today at the home of his old friend, Justice Irving Lehman of the State Court of Appeals.

Cardozo, 68, who refused three years ago to follow the advice of physicians to ease his labors, died Saturday night at the Lehman home of heart disease aggravated by overwork.

The justice, a bachelor who dedicated his life to the study of law, was a member of the "liberal" bloc on the nation's highest court.

Mahli Dajmouren Cardozo—no relation to the justice—officiated at the services ending with burial in Cypress Hills cemetery on Long Island.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York, brother of Justice Lehman and his wife attended, along with three of Cardozo's colleagues on the Supreme Court bench.

Chief Justice Hughes of the United States Supreme Court was greeted by news of the death of Justice Cardozo, which reached him yesterday at Orleans, La., on his way home.

"I am tremendously grieved by the news of Justice Cardozo's death," Hughes said. "It is an irreparable loss to the court and the nation."
