Danny Rogerson, of Bluewater Racing, warms up his boat for today's race.

Fast boat races

APR Powerboat Superleague American National boat races kick off this morning on Lake Monroe. On Saturday, Powerboats braving conditions found themselves bogged down by the hyacinth. Due to the hyacinth, and rain and wind conditions, practice and qualifying were delayed. Testing is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. this morning. However, with delays yesterday, that time could be moved up. Admission is free. The best viewing will be at the Monroe Harbor Marina complex.

Search for missing girl

Sanford police are searching for a missing 16-year-old Sanford girl, Tammie Clough was reported missing Thursday by her mother. She is 5'8", weighs approximately 140 pounds, and has dark shoulder length hair. Clough is a Seminole High School student. If you have any information on Clough's disappearance, contact the Sanford Police Department at 322-4141 or 323-3030.

Sleeping burglar

Seminole County deputy sheriffs arrested a burglary suspect Friday morning, who was found by a homeowner sleeping in one of a home's bedrooms, according to Sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough.

Teresa Bowling and her two sons returned to their home at 1225 Lake Lucerne Circle near Winter Springs about 7:45 a.m. Bowling noticed that a rear door and a rear window were open and the screen on the window was pushed in, McDonough said.

When she walked into the master bedroom, Bowling reportedly found Robert Kennedy, 47, asleep on the bed. Open beer cans were found next to the bed and in the bathroom, McDonough said.

Bowling called 911. Deputy Sheriff Tim Wedding arrived at the house and arrested Kennedy for burglary to an occupied dwelling. Kennedy said he broke into the house because he had been drinking and was tired. He claimed he had lived in the house in 1972.

Bowling and her sons were not hurt. However, they were upset and agreed to prosecute, McDonough said. Kennedy was booked into the Seminole County Correctional Facility. He is being held under $5,000.

Ku Klux Klan rally

Love of race and country emphasized

BY ROGER HARRAGE
Herald Staff Writer

An unusual friendship was formed Saturday on the steps of the Seminole County Courthouse between unrobed members of the Ku Klux Klan and the Rev. Louis Knight, a minister from DeLand.

Knight braved the rain to listen to the Klan's message and joined them in condemning the government for neglecting needy Americans, race mixing, and violence in our society.

During a speech by John Pipes, Klan regional coordinator, Knight found himself agreeing with the ideology of the Klan on a number of issues.

For Knight, agreeing with the Klan's philosophy was a difficult pill to swallow.

However, after digesting statements made by Klan members, he agreed that the United States

We're celebrating Newspaper Week

"Published with Pride," the theme of National Newspaper Week, has been the motto of the Sanford Herald for most of this century.

Beginning today, the Herald joins newspapers across the nation in celebrating the week and maybe taking a nostalgic look at the "good old days" while reveling in the present and planning the future. The week has been sponsored annually, since 1940, by Newspaper Managers, Inc.

We've come a long way since the Herald was founded in 1908 - 87 years ago. No longer do we hear "Copy!" or "Stop the Press!" The clackety-clack of old manual typewriters and the clankety-clank of noisy, cumbersome linotype machines have yielded to the silent silence of the computer era.

When the Sanford Herald first hit the streets in 1908, the paper was the only venue for the print media in Sanford. These days, news is available on TV, on the radio, through personal computers or from other newspapers. The Herald remains the only daily newspaper published in Seminole County.

While times have changed, we have changed right along with them. One thing has remained the same, however: Our commitment to providing readers accurate, credible news of the community every day, Sunday through Friday.

Try as we might, we cannot please everyone, but we do our best to be fair in our presentation of the news, interests and concerns of Seminole County.

Just keep in mind the words of Cathleen Black, president and chief executive officer of the Newspaper Association of America: "The men and women who publish and produce the nation's newspapers are a singularly dedicated group of individuals. Regardless of their title or position, they care deeply, passionately, about LAKE MARY — What could have been a problem in Lake Mary has been resolved. It was done without conflicts or arguments, and both sides appear to be pleased with the expected end result.

The problem began when several citizens expressed concern to members of the Lake Mary City Commission regarding possible safety problems at a retention pond recently dug on N. Country Club Road, near Liberty Park and the Sports Complex.

Commissioner David Meador said people had contacted him regarding the lack of fencing around the pond located near the parks and a church, as well as safety of motorists passing near the pond on Country Club Road.

Other citizens wondered if digging up such a pond may have a tendency to create the development of a sinkhole.

During Thursday night's city commission meeting, the city's community development director and City Engineer John Deamud reported on the progress made OVIEDO — Lovers of natural Florida should be pleased with the newest addition to the state forest system, here in Seminole County. The signs designating the Barr Street and Snowhill Road entrances to the Little-Big Econ State Forest were to be in place by this weekend, and controlled access to the 5,000 acres of land north of the banks of the Econlockhatchee is now available to the public.

Acquisition of the land that is and will become the state forest is due, in a large part to the coordinated efforts four agencies: the St. Johns River Water Management District, the State of

What would your 3 wishes be?

By GRACE H. STANFORD
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Anyone with children or grandchildren has probably viewed the movie "Aladdin." In fact, most have more than likely experienced hours upon end of repeat performances of the humorous antics. What if you were that cartoon creation of Aladdin and had three wishes? What if a leprechaun brought you face-to-face with a magic lamp and a simple rub of the fixture brought an enormous genie to fulfill your dreams?

Local residents were asked about that experience and what they would like their own three wishes to be.

Traci Krewson said, "My first wish would be to succeed at being a professional dancer. My second wish would be for me to own and operate the most famous dance studio and that it would be a household name. My last wish would be that the rest of my life would be happy and fulfilled and run smoothly with no major problems."

Sarah Cox said, "Happy, healthy family would be one wish. I'd wish for good teachers and schools for my children. My third wish would be a church with a lot of friends and activities where me and my family would grow and learn."

Hunter Hubbard said, "I'd wish for money, first of all. Next, I'd wish for as much good fortune for my family and extended family as possible. My third wish would be to cure my grandfather of leukemia."

Zack George said, "I wish I could live forever and have all the money in the world and live as a Christian."

Dorothy Datilma said, "One would be to win the lottery. I'd help the poor people and my family. I'd give the third wish to someone else because the first two wishes are all I'd need."

Sam Hill said, "I'd wish for this world to be a better place and everyone to benefit."

Tamara Richards said, "I wish for about four million dollars to help my family and others and to give to a lot of charities. I'd wish to talk briefly to God about solving some of the world problems. Three, I'd wish for good health for me, my family and my extended family and friends."

The Rev. James Bryant said, "To continue to live and fulfill the work that Jesus would have me to do would be one wish. Two would be to remain in a prosperity of health, and three would be to do something daily to help someone."

Thurman McDonald said, "I'd wish for happiness, money and peace of mind."

Deborah Kirby said, "Peace and harmony would be one wish. My second wish would be for a way to stop teen-age pregnancy. The third would be enough money for me to retire."

Bob Carter said, "I wish I could live to be a hundred and be in good health until I died at 100. I'd wish for a hundred thousand dollars because that should be enough to last me until I'm 100. Third, I'd ask for peace around the world."

Maxine Robertson said, "My salvation would be one wish. I'd wish to keep my good friends. Then I'd wish for some money."

Jim Dolphin concluded with, "I'd wish to hit the lottery. I'd want Sharon Stone, the actress, then I want a 70 ft. boat."

The way we were: Drugstores revisited

By GRACE H. STANFORD
Herald Correspondent

Today we're going to revisit Sanford's drugstores and restaurants, thanks to so many of you who have given me your recollections of these establishments. Do continue to contact me with your memories and also suggestions for future articles.

McReynolds Drugstore
Don Knight, who worked at McReynolds for almost 10 years is fun to reminisce with about that establishment; he has lots of great stories! One of these is of a lady and her friends in a brand new Cadillac who ordered four chocolate sodas. She had electric windows and somehow the controls got bumped when Don was fastening the tray; chocolate sodas landed all over the ladies and the car, creating a mess.

Don also remembers a courting couple who would always park under the oak tree way on the south side, even when all the other closer parking spaces were empty. They would order Pepsi and sometimes sit there for hours.

Don adds Mack Cleveland Jr., John Krier Jr., and Roscoe Taylor to the list of those who were employed there. Dr. Al Rector was a druggist there and Jack Brush was his helper.

Rotundo's Service Station was across Sanford Avenue from McReynolds. Mr. Rotundo's daughter, Debbie, stepped on a needle one day and it knocked her out. She was rushed over to the drugstore for help. Don was right there when Dr. Rector turned the needle out and then turned Debbie upside down over the ice cream cabinet and shook her until she came to.

Memories of others include ammonia cokes and nickel comic books. Dot Powell is one of several people who remembered that their mothers would take them to McReynolds where Doc would give them castor oil in root beer. Dot claims that she can't drink root beer to this day.

Margaret Wesley and her family lived in the 2500 block of Sanford Avenue in the 1920s. One day her baby daughter swallowed a penny and she took her to McReynolds where the remedy for that was also castor oil.

Don Knight explained that Doc McReynolds would put the castor oil in a paper cup and put lots of fizz in the root beer to make it fairly palatable. He would tell his "patients" to "drink it down real quick." Don also said that ladies expecting babies would come in near their due date for a dose of castor oil to hurry up the delivery!

Gene Esteridge was another one who remembers working at McReynolds. He began there as a car hop and delivery boy after school when he was in the seventh grade, about 1926. Lewis Mitchell and a boy with the last name of Hamil worked there at the same time. Gene said that they would deliver packages all over town on their bicycles. One of the druggists there then was Dr. Hale. Later when he was in high school, Gene worked at Laney's Drugstore as a soda jerk.

Pig and Whistle
Don Knight also has a couple of memories from The Pig. The workers from McReynolds would head there after work for combination sandwiches served with french fries and cole slaw. A song he recalls on the juke box then was "Smoke, Smoke, Smoke That Cigarette."

A very unforgettable incident for Don was once while eating a barbecue sandwich there, he found that he was chewing on a piece of dish towel! These towels were used in the barbecuing process and somehow one got put in a sandwich. Working behind the counter at the time was Katie Mae Hunter, and every time she would see Don thereafter she would start laughing.

Touchton's Drugstore

vided me with information about Touchton's. Her grandmother, Mrs. Jewelle Chapman (affectionately known as "Chappie") worked there as head cashier for 30 years, beginning in 1947. The accompanying picture was taken of her in Touchton's during a Pioneer Day celebration.

Lola Wynne Rockett, Lowry Rockett's mother and Pat's mother-in-law, worked at the soda fountain there for many years. Margaret Horne was the manager of the soda fountain and Mrs. Brown was the cook. Mrs. Biting, wife of the druggist, and Mrs. Grace Gray also worked at Touchton's usually in the cosmetics department.

Roumillat and Anderson
I did not mention Roumillat and Anderson Drugstore in my earlier article but was pleased to also receive information about it. This was another Sanford landmark and certainly deserves to be recalled.

Pat Chapman Rockett again provided some material including the accompanying pictures. Both her father, Giles Chapman, and her uncle, Harold Chapman, worked there after school. Giles was there 1939-43 and Harold, 1941-45. Leon Lawson was also employed there during that time. This drugstore had curb service, too, as you can tell from the photographs. It was located at the northeast corner of Park Avenue and First Street. Notice McCrory's in the background of the pictures.

Harold Chapman recollects a grand opening when banana splits were nine cents and they served 50 gallons of ice cream. He also reminds us that the controls for the clock at the intersection of Park and First were located in Roumillat and Anderson's. Many times he would crawl up a ladder to reset the clock.

Gene Roumillat and Bruce Anderson were the owners of the drugstore. It later became a Walgreen agency, at which time they began employing women.

Linda Trudo Zanetti who is presently a teacher at the Seminole County Teachers' Credit Union, remembered about this drugstore while I was making a transaction there. She and her granddad would go there often for milkshakes. The magazines in the rack at the front were a great hit; she remembers many times standing there reading them.

Roumillat and Anderson was located at 100 East First Street and was the first business to occupy the Brunley-Palouan Building which was completed in 1923. Located there now are offices for the state attorney.

There was a building on that corner previous to the present one which was occupied by the L.M. Phillips Drug Store and also Paul Biggers' Foot Hall. It was torn down in 1931. There is an exterior view of this older building in the Sanford Museum and one of the photographs in the 1995 Sanford Historical Society calendar is one of the interior of the Biggers' Foot Hall. These calendars will be on sale at the Sanford Museum by Oct. 20.

1961 Kiwanis Club picture

Doug Stenstrom wrote me a note recently with further identifications of men in this picture. The man between Hugh Nicholson and E.C. Harper is Hugh Nicholson's brother, but Doug can't recall his first name. These brothers had the Buick Agency. The white-haired man in front of Rupert Strickland was the manager of the Valdez Hotel, but again Doug can't put a name to him. Perhaps these recollections will jog your memories and you can now come up with names.

Doug states that, as far as he knows, "Bill and Sam" (names) are the only two in the picture still living. "He" further said, "What a wonderful group of real citizens these men were! All contributed so much to our community."

County's recycling goal rate

By J. MARK SAMPSON
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County has reached a 26 percent recycling rate and is now eyeing the state's 30 percent goal, which it must meet before 1995.

As a result of recycling, the county's resident now less out an average of 1.03 tons per person each year that winds up in the county dump. That's down 26 percent from level for the year ending June 30, 1990, just before the county and cities began their full-scale recycling programs. The rate has increased 2 percent from last year's 27 percent.

Actually, the county is recycling at the 30 percent rate, but the state places a cap on the amount of construction debris, tires, yard trash and other "special waste materials" which can be considered in meeting the 30 percent goal.

Although the county was a point shy of the goal six months away from the deadline, county recycling coordinator Sherry Newkirk wasn't worried about meeting the goal.

"I expect to be at the 30 percent level," said Newkirk enthusiastically. "We're moving in that direction."

Residential recycling reached a 36 percent rate by the end of the period, according to the report. Multi-family housing, apartments, for example, was at only a 16 percent rate. Commercial recycling was at 30 percent.

Newkirk said with the county's new "SMRF," there will be more of an incentive to begin recycling programs in multi-family complexes. The Small Materials Recycling Facility processes mingled recyclable garbage for marketing.

In the two months since it has been opened, about 500,000 lbs. a month are processed at the SMRF. Most of the material was diverted from Oviedo and Winter Springs residents, not multi-family dwellings.

What happens if the county doesn't make it? Not much, said Peter Goren, a waste reduction environmental specialist with the Florida Department of Environmental Protection.

"What will we do? Nothing," said Goren. "What can we do. Plenty."

Goren said DEP has the authority to stop state grants from flowing to the county and to even refuse to permit dumps in counties where no recycling programs are established.

"If they've got a recycling program, we're not going to do anything if they fall short," said Goren.

This year, the county will receive nearly $666,000 from the state to operate its recycling program.

Firearm arrest

Longwood police arrested Alberto Castro, 28, 748 Jessup Ave., at his residence Thursday. A police officer said he was conducting a traffic stop investigation, when a man ran up and told of seeing a man standing in front of a residence on Jessup Avenue holding a curved-off shotgun. The officer said he called for back-up, after which police located Castro at his home. He reportedly showed them in the house, and responded when asked about location of the gun. Officers located the weapon and were able to determine that it had been reported stolen in Sumner County. The arrest report said Castro admitted to having cut the barrel off the gun. He was arrested on charges of possession of a short-barrel shotgun, and possession of stolen property.

Arrested again

On Oct. 1, Alamo Springs police arrested Lonnie Paul Griffin, 24. A patrol officer said he saw a pickup truck, reportedly driven by Griffin, and attempted a traffic stop. He said he noticed Griffin changing positions and allowing a woman to drive before he stopped the vehicle.

According to the arrest report, he also determined that the license tag on the vehicle was listed as stolen. The officer said he arrested Griffin, put him in handcuffs, and placed him in the patrol car.

According to the report, while the officer was questioning the woman, he saw Griffin break out of the cuffs and flee from the vehicle.

Griffin was eventually apprehended, and charged with having a stolen tag, theft, escape, resisting arrest without violence, and driving with a suspended/revoked license, habitual. He was also found to be wanted on a warrant for violation of probation on a conviction of leaving the scene of an accident with injuries.

At that time, Griffin's address on the arrest report was listed as 314 Dorchester Square, Lake Mary.

Thursday, Griffin was arrested on outstanding warrants by Sheriff's deputies, in the 1400 block of Airport Blvd. At that time, deputies listed his address as 203 Mulberry Ave., Sanford. Deputies say he was wanted for violation of probation on charges of possession of marijuana less than 30 grams, and leaving the scene of an accident with injuries.

Stolen recovered vehicles

Sanford police, investigating a vehicle theft, located another vehicle nearby which had previously been reported as stolen. Police reports say officers were called to investigate the theft of a 1992 Cadillac, license number KCH-981, from a residence in the 1400 block of Myrtle Street. As they were investigating, they located an abandoned 1988 Chevrolet, nearby, which had been listed as having been stolen earlier from the 700 block of Briarcliff.

The incident report said officers suspected someone may have dropped off the Chevrolet when taking the Cadillac.

• A white 1988 Oldsmobile with no license number known, was reportedly stolen Thursday from the parking lot of the United Methodist Church daycare facility at 519 Park Avenue in Sanford.

• A 1988 Chevrolet Pickup was reportedly stolen Thursday from the 6800 block of Tallow Tree Road near Sylvan Glade.

Warrants

• Kenny Lee Miles, 26, 1704 W. 13th St., was served a warrant at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility Thursday. He was wanted for failing to appear on a charge of reckless driving/habitual traffic offender.

• Dallas Dale Dean, 36, 1308 Georgia Arms Apartments was arrested by Sanford police at his residence Thursday. He was wanted on a Volusia County warrant for violation of probation on a conviction of reckless driving.

• Mariande M. Martin, 21, 1218 Crescent Court was located at the jail Thursday. She was wanted for failing to appear on a charge of driving with a suspended/revoked license.

• Michael David Edward, 24, 703 Cedar Creek Circle, was arrested by deputies at the State Probation Office in Sanford Thursday. He was wanted on an Orange County warrant for violation of probation on convictions of trespassing at a construction site and petit theft.

• Angela Marie Mullen, 23, 2529 Ridgewood Ave., was located at the jail Thursday. She was wanted for failing to appear on a charge of grand theft.

• Johnnie Murphy Rowe, 32, 174 Lakeside Drive, Sanford, was located by deputies at his residence Thursday. He was wanted for failing to appear on charges of burglary to a dwelling and petit theft.

• Sylvester Walker, 18, 138 Scott Drive, was served a warrant at his residence Thursday. He was wanted for violation of probation on a conviction of burglary to a dwelling.

• Maxine Elizabeth Campbell, 40, 1515 W. 16th St., was located at her residence by deputies Thursday. She was wanted for failing to appear on a charge of possession of cocaine.

• James Gred Sefried, 34, 718 W. First Street, was located at Third Street and Avocado Avenue Thursday. He was wanted for obtaining property with a worthless check. Police said he attempted to run when he saw the officer, and Sefried was also charged with resisting arrest without violence.

• Jess Donnell Lanas, 27, 1124 Pomgranite Ave., was served a warrant at the jail Thursday. He was wanted for failing to appear on charges of driving with a suspended/revoked license and attached tag not assigned.

Incidents

• Sheriff's deputies reported an estimated $809 in electronic entertainment equipment was reportedly stolen Thursday from a residence in the 2300 block of Center Street, in Midway.

• A residential burglary was reported to deputies Wednesday in the 2200 block of Mullet Lake Park Drive. Deputies say approximately $750 in jewelry was missing.

• An amplifier valued at $55 was reported stolen Thursday from a vehicle parked in the 400 block of Sun Lake Circle near Lake Mary.

• An estimated $4 in coins and a file box were reportedly missing early Friday, at a residence in the 1800 block of Cedar Street, in Sanford.

Paula Jones vows to continue harassment suit against Clinton

By Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Paula Jones, who offered to drop her $700,000 sexual harassment suit against President Clinton if he admitted he met her in a hotel room, says she will press ahead because Clinton refused to settle.

"I am fully committed to seeing this case through to the end," Jones said at a news conference Friday. "And in the end, my good name and reputation will be restored."

Jones alleges that while she was a state worker attending a public function at an Arkansas hotel in 1991, Clinton sent a state trooper to summon her to his room, where he asked her to engage in a sexual act. She said she declined.

Her settlement offer called for Clinton to read a statement to reporters saying he does not deny the meeting took place and absolving her of any improper or sexual conduct.

"The offer was fair to both of us," Jones said. "It provided him with a chance to end the case without having to admit his own conduct."

Newspaper still best for news

People obtain news and information from many sources: television, radio, and newspapers. Each has its role in society, and each has its good points.

Network radio can often report on a fast-breaking story by merely cutting in to normal programming. Television can do likewise, as well as presenting video of the occurrence.

Both, however, are limited because of time restraints. As such, they must often overlook facts such as reactions from participants or spectators. They often cannot give backgrounds of what led up to a newsworthy incident.

Newspapers, however, are not limited by time. Only space has restrictions, and lesser important stories can often be overlooked to make way for more extensive explanations and reports.

In this way, all three forms of media have their position in today's world.

Newspapers, however, have been the main news source for a much longer period of time. People depend on them. Contrary to broadcast news, there is no need to wait for something of less importance to pass before reaching the point where individuals have a curiosity.

Likewise, if something attracts more attention, it can be read more than once, and passed on to others.

If people are concerned about what their city is doing to improve the lifestyle of its people, or are worried about crime, headlines show where to look and the story can be read immediately, at the leisure of the individual.

Oct. 9 through 15 has been declared National Newspaper Week. It is a special occasion when additional news publications are singled out for their accomplishments, above the others.

It is also time for the individual publications to review where they have been as well as what the future holds. From this newspaper's vantage point, it has been a successful road, and one which will show continued success in the future.

Regardless of how many satellites are flung into the sky for re-broadcasting, or how many advances are made in cable communications, newspapers will not die. They will continue to be the stalwart of the communities they serve.

In some future generation, the media is expected to be combined. People sitting in the privacy of their own homes may punch out a number on their TV control, and have a written newspaper report on any subject which may interest them. Lengths will continue to be sufficient to give thorough explanations, and yes, the expectation is that there will still be want-ads including help wanted, homes and cars for sale, and various other items which are staples in the print media.

During this newspaper week, the management and staff of this paper will continue looking toward the future. Whether the news and information is presented through the use of printer's ink or some day in the future on a video screen, we pledge to continue striving to present information which will be of interest and benefit to all of our subscribers.

During National Newspaper Week, we may pat ourselves on the back, but everyone agrees, serving you, the individual reader is the most important role we have. We promise to keep it that way.

Racist program

In response to the recent article on scholarships being offered by the National Achievement Scholarship Program, one can only wonder about the underlying motives for an organization that recognizes the inferior academe of African American students and continues to refer to them as "Outstanding Negro Students." I, for one, am appalled that such an organization can continue to exist and wonder where are the protests of the African American leadership as we continue to allow these students to sell out their historic heritage for the sake of a scholarship.

The American family under stress

The twentieth century has witnessed phenomenal change and these changes have significantly impacted the institutions of this society. Three institutions are responsible for transmitting mores, norms of behavior and values, are the family, the school, and the church. The family generally defines the parameters within which the child will grow and develop. Hence, the critical importance of the family.

During this century the family has changed dramatically. Examining these changes should place our current societal problems in perspective. At the beginning of this century American social scientists and social workers were concerned about the disintegration of the family. As we approach the close of this century Americans are again concerned about the viability of the family.

Factors creating concern at that time were: a rising divorce rate, a declining birthrate and women seeking employment outside the home. Between 1800 and 1900 the birthrate fell 40 percent and even more among the middle class.

America's transformation from an agrarian economy to an industrial economy reduced the need for large numbers of children to work on the farm.

The 50-year span between 1870 and 1920 brought sweeping changes in women's roles in society. Women began enrolling in college and championing their right to vote. These efforts culminated in the passage of the 19th Amendment to the Constitution in 1920.

Social scientists and social workers defined family relationships as "companionate." This model subscribed to equal rights between marital partners. Spouses were to be friends and lovers. Children were regarded as "pals." Permissive child rearing emphasized affection and self-expression rather than self-control.

The Great Depression and World War II brought different types of stress and separation among family members. One and one-half million civilians moved about the country in search of work. One sixth (1/6) of the nation's families endured prolonged separation from the males in their families who were serving in the armed services.

The 1950s ushered in a more socially and economically stable climate. This served as the impetus for couples to marry early and move to new single-family homes in the suburbs. Sur-burbs grew and more children were born under these conditions.

The social and sexual revolution of the 1960s initiated in-depth changes in morality. Society relaxed its strict disapproval of unmarried men and women cohabiting. The introduction of birth control pills decreased the fear of out-of-wedlock pregnancies. This possibly acted as a catalyst leading young people to live together, without benefit of marriage. By 1990, 2.9 million American households consisted of unmarried adults living together. At the same time the number of women living with children whose fathers were absent numbered 8,950,000.

In 1991, 5.7 million mothers had been awarded child support from the fathers of their children while 3.3 million received no financial support from their children's fathers. In 1992, 14,617,000 children under 18 were living in poverty; of that number, 5,761,000 were under six years of age.

Divorces also contributed to marital instability. The number of divorces passed the million mark for the first time in 1975. The divorce rate hit an all-time high of 5.9 divorces per 1,000 marriages in 1979. Now it is estimated that 80 percent of first marriages are likely to end in divorce.

Families, like eroding shore lines facing the ravishes of storms, currents and waves as they relentlessly encroach upon the land, are in danger of being swallowed by the tides of poverty, unemployment, hunger, homelessness and lack of medical care.

What is progress, really?

According to the American Heritage Dictionary, the word progress is defined as follows: progress (prɔ'grɛs'rus', r...s, prɔ'grɛs'tɪn). n. 1. Movement, as toward a goal; advance. 2. Development or growth; pupils who show progress. 3. Steady improvement, as of a society or civilization; a believer in human progress. See Synonyms at development. 4. A ceremonial journey made by a sovereign through this or her realm. — progress v. pro-gressed, pro-gress-ing, pro-gress-es (prɔ'grɛs'tɪn). 1. To advance; proceed: Work on the new building progressed at a rapid rate. 2. To advance toward a higher or better stage; improve steadily; as technology progresses. —Idiom, in progress. Going on; under way; artistic works that are in progress.

I took a ride up to the corner the other day. You know, Rt. 46 and I-4. Quite a little mall they're planning for us up there. Did you know it was just about exactly a full mile long from one end of the cleared land to the other? Phew... I'd hate to have to try and find my car there during the holiday shopping season.

Anyway, that's progress; or at least that's progress as defined by the Central Florida business community. Who knows, maybe they're right about that. Certainly, it will go a long way towards providing all the goods and services which we now have to drive down to Altamonte or farther to get. It should further reduce local unemployment, cause a good stretch of 46 to also be developed, and undoubtedly will increase our local tax base, both commercially and residentially. Progress, right?

Well, up in Virginia the other day, they turned down another attempt at progress. Now it wasn't any lowly shopping mall; rather, it was supposed to be a grandly designed, patriotic, mega center of Americana, set right in the middle of an underdeveloped, poorly used hunk of farmland; and to top that, Disney was going to do it! When the word came down from the county commission that somehow the local populace just didn't want to become the next Orlandon-ians, poor Michael Eisner must have suffered a relapse right then and there. How could anyone possibly do such a thing?

As I understand their reasoning, the locals felt that the reward somehow didn't justify the costs. Sure, the building of such a place would have meant an economic bonanza to the area; and of course, the local unemployment rate would have all but disappeared. But then there was the other side of the coin. As all the popular centers of tourist destinations have learned over the last 20 or 30 years, sometimes the promises made don't quite measure up to the eventual reality. As it's just too easy to pick on Orange County as an example, let's instead look at Branson, Mo. for a case in point.

Branson was just a dot on the map until a few years ago; a place you went through on your way to some place else. A nice quiet little burg that none but the locals and perhaps the town council could care less about. And then something happened. I couldn't tell you which one, but for some reason, one of our country music greats decided one day to build his or her own theater there. It was just supposed to work out as a place where he or she could settle down, get away from the crushing existence of the concert circuit, and simply sing to whatever devoted fans might happen to come along. Unfortunately for Branson, it worked. Today there are something like 30 privately owned shrines to country singing idols, and half a dozen more in various stages of construction.

Now don't get me wrong. I'm not for one moment suggesting that our future mall is going to drastically undermine the spirit or camaraderie of the greater Sanford area. But there will be changes. I would bet that within 10 years, State Road 46 will look like a clone of Lake Mary Boulevard. I would predict that within 15 years, the number of local residents will have trebled from all the new housing developments that will have been built for the convenience of those people who, while working in Orlando, will nonetheless make this their bedroom community. And I would speculate that much to the joy of the business community not therein ensconced, that somewhere within that time frame, downtown Sanford will either undergo an economic renaissance, or decay into a backwater bunch of falling down rattle traps, fit only for the sorry glances of the old timers or the arching swing of the wrecking ball.

Personally, I probably won't be here when that all happens. I chose Sanford in large part because I like small towns. I want access to the services and possibilities of living near to a larger more commercially developed area such as Orlando, but I want to live some place where I can still know my neighbor's name and be recognized by mine at the local supermarket. I can't stop what's coming up there on the corner, and for that matter not even know if I want to. Because progress can be a good thing, sometimes. But it does worry me a bit. I like this sleepy little town, despite the problems it has yet to come to grips with. I'd like to know I could retire here someday and afford to do so. But, as the old saying goes, you can't stand in the way of progress.

Money waste for national security

In keeping with my duty as a pundit to ponder serious stuff, I often wonder what it will take to awaken the American people to the fact that the system the government uses to protect official secrets is a sham and an unholy waste of money.

Expert after expert has said this. Commission after commission has concluded this. Scandal after scandal has shown this. Yet we continue to worship at the feet of the voodoo priests in the intelligence community who juggle their amulets and chant their never-fail incantation "national security national security" and hypnotize us into believing it is their magic power that keep the fox at bay.

It is worse than a sham. In a democratic system nourished by a free flow of information, it is an obscenity.

Now comes another incident so absurd it defies comprehension by rational minds. Terry Anderson, the former Associated Press reporter who was held hostage by Arab terrorists for nearly seven years, is writing a book on the experience. As part of his research, he submitted a request under the Freedom of Information Act for federal files about his captors and the government's efforts to secure his release.

Well, responded the government -- your government -- there is this problem. The information Anderson seeks is classified because the release of it might impair the national security. And then there are the privacy rights of the terrorists to think about. Anderson would have to get written permission from his captors before the government could release this information.

Are you getting the point now, America? The shamans who hold the secrets don't know national security from home plate. They don't really give a hoot about the privacy rights of terrorists. All the secrecy cultists care about is keeping the secrets, however insane and irrelevant they may be. It is the source of their power.

And what has this mindset wrought? The Office of Management and Budget this year disclosed that the intelligence community is spending more than $16 billion annually just to protect their pile of secrets. Of this amount, nearly $14 billion is said to be spent by defense contractors adhering to federal rules. The CIA and related agencies estimated they are spending a mere $200 million to safeguard the secrets, so you can see how utterly farcical the $16 billion total figure is.

Despite vows to curb government secrecy, the Clinton administration has done little about it. The Information Security Oversight Office, created to oversee the government's handling of secrets, reported that the bureaucrats created more than 6.4 million new secrets in 1993 -- roughly the annual average of the Bush administration. Both were a big improvement over the Reagan regime, which hatched 15 million secrets in 1985 alone.

And why are these nuggets of knowledge so precious that the very survival of the nation depends upon their preservation? Well, there was the April 1917 file locked in the National Archives about U.S. troop movements in Europe. And the CIA's 1991 Openness Task Force report concerning ways of making information available to the public, which was stamped "Secret." And the National Reconnaissance Office, which operates spy satellites, whose very existence was a classified secret for 32 years. And the $310 million complex the Defense Department and CIA were building for the NRO without telling anyone about it.

In a democratic system nourished by a free flow of information, it is an obscenity

Endeavor creates 'stereo' maps

By Associated Press

SPACE CENTER — Space shuttle Endeavour soared over western Australia today to create incredibly detailed maps that might one day allow scientists to predict such events as earthquakes or volcanic eruptions.

In this way, Endeavour's powerful radar can scan the same areas from slightly different angles, enabling researchers to detect terrain changes about the width of a finger. "Imagine if we could globally monitor earthquake faults prior to the eruption of earthquakes and see very minute changes in those earthquake faults, or if we could look at volcanoes as the domes start to expand," astronomer-physicist Peter "Jeff" Wisoff said Friday.

"This might lead to some type of early-warning system for population centers that are nearby those earthquake faults or volcanoes."

The flying precision required to duplicate orbits is harder than it sounds — there are no road markers in space, only ground radar and satellite data. NASA said repeat passes must be within 820 feet of each other, and ideally much closer.

The radar early today scanned the Australian Outback. The plan called for another pass over the same spot 16 orbits, or 24 hours, later.

Resulting "stereo" images will yield topographic maps of unprecedented quality and allow scientists to detect changes in the Earth's surface as small as a half-inch, said NASA project manager Mike Sander.

Two sweeping swaths of land are the study's primary targets.

discussions with the owners of the property and their engineers.

He explained that the land, described as the Timucuan 16 project, was actually part of the Timucuan development which first started in 1988. "In May of 1990," he said, "the final subdivision plat was approved, but then later in 1992, this part of the project died, and didn't come back into consideration until about April of 1993."

has obtained all required permits from St. Johns River Water Management, and was not in violation of any ordinances or requirements.

"It's really a Compensating Storage area," he said, "and that's quite different from a retention pond."

Batterman responded to the concerns about the possibility of such a pond creating a sinkhole. "You have many lakes in the Lake Mary area which originally were developed because of sinkholes," he said, "but excavation at the upper level doesn't cause sinkholes."

Perry carried all of the precincts where blacks outnumber whites except Precinct 129, which includes Bookertown west of Interstate 4, where Henley edged past her 15 votes to her 11. About 55 percent of the precinct's voters are black.

He concluded by reminding the commissioners that the maintenance of the pond area would be handled by the home owners association, and will be at no cost to the city.

IN BRIEF

Apples for sale

SANFORD — The Seminole High School band will be selling apples to raise money for new uniforms and instruments. Tasty red and gold Delicious apples from Washington state can be purchased from any member of the band. A quarter bushel sells for $6, a half bushel for $16 and a full bushel for $32. Band members will be selling the apples door-to-door on Saturday, Oct. 15 in selected Sanford neighborhoods. The apples will be delivered to the high school for pick up on Saturday, Nov. 12 at 10 a.m.

Fall festival is on the agenda

LONGWOOD — Sweetwater Episcopal Academy is having its fall festival on Saturday, Oct. 29 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. This is a family-oriented event sponsored by the school's Parents' Club to raise fun and money for the school. The festival will include game and food booths, moon walk, pony rides, a cake walk, and much, much more. The events are open to the public. For more information, call the school at (407)662-1882.

PTA sponsors spaghetti dinner

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Lake Brantley High School Parent Teacher Student Association is sponsoring a Spaghetti Dinner in the school cafeteria on Friday, Oct. 21. Dinner will be served from 5-7:30. Cost is $6 in advance, $7 at the door. Proceeds benefit scholarships and special projects for the school. For more details, contact Bonnie Quattry at (407)774-6375.

Come to the October 'Octubafest'

SANFORD — On Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 7 p.m., Seminole Community College will play host to a most extraordinary event: "Octubafest 1994." This is an idea which came out of Indiana University tuba professor, Harvey Phillips to showcase music literature for tuba and euphonium and to parody the great German Octoberfest. It has become a tradition on campuses and in cities nationwide.

Representative tuba and euphonium players from throughout Central Florida, students and professionals will perform in the concert at the Fine Arts Concert hall at Seminole Community College. Dan Sipes of the Tuba Exchange will be the guest artist for the occasion. One of the highlights of the concert will be its finale: a performance of Peter Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture" with all players assembled.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Octubafest. There will be no admission charge.

POP CULTURE™ by Steve McGarry

Val Kilmer made his screen debut in the 1984 comedy "Top Secret!"

He took the joke one step further by recording tracks under the guise of the movie's character, Nick Rivers.

He lobbied director Oliver Stone relentlessly for the role of Jim Morrison in the 1991 biopic

"The Doors," recording this own demos of the band's repertoire and making videos of himself reciting Morrison's poetry.

Which Ron Howard fantasy adventure movie first cast Kilmer with Joanne Whalley, the English actress who would become his wife?

Hurray for the outstanding kids we have right here in Seminole County! They're working hard and doing well in a variety of ways. We want to laud them for their efforts.

These students have been honored by their peers or by others with cheers, certificates or scholarships.

They are among the best in Seminole County.

Sanford Middle School

Each week Sanford Middle School recognizes a student of the week from the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades. Each student receives a certificate and a "goody bag," as well as recognition on the school's video news, in the library display, during class, and on the front sign. From those students, three students are selected as the students of the month.

The students of the month for August were William Bigham, a sixth grader who is known to be a very polite young man and an excellent citizen; Latressa Haws, a seventh grader who has been a very helpful volunteer and a pleasant individual to be around; and Amy Reinalda, an eighth grader who is an excellent student and a helper to teachers and peers.

"I feel that these students exemplify what we at Sanford Middle are trying to instill in our students," Bill Moore, principal, said of August's honorees. "They truly fit our motto of 'Working Together to Reach the Stars.'"

New inductees for honor club

By LINDSEY HEDGES
School Correspondent

Many Seminole High School students had the distinguished honor of being inducted into Mu Alpha Theta on Thursday, Oct. 7. Mu Alpha Theta is a national honor club which students prepare for competition during club meetings. Mu Alpha Theta is a national honor club which recognizes achievement in mathematics. In order to receive this honor a student must have a 3.5 grade point average in mathematics college preparatory courses.

The members of Mu Alpha Theta participate in local, state and national competition throughout the year. These contests consist of six questions which take approximately 30 minutes to complete. The club also offers a tutoring service for students struggling in mathematics classes. This service is offered free of charge and four times a week.

At the induction ceremony on Thursday, Gretchen Schapker spoke about the importance of mathematics during the course of everyday life. Mrs. Davies, the club sponsor, then spoke of the technology that has advanced math so greatly. The presiding club officers told the tale of math: past, present and future.

The ceremony concluded with the 40 inductees being presented with certificates for their accomplishments. Refreshments were then served.

On behalf of Seminole High School, I would like to congratulate all of the members of Mu Alpha Theta, both past and present.

Lindsay Hedges is a sophomore at Seminole High School who is enrolled in the Academy of Health Careers.

Cars not a need for teens You can't 'expect' a car, they say

By VICKI BOGGS
Herald Staff Writer

Teresa said she probably won't get a car until she's 25.

"Can't afford one," she said. "My folks aren't just going to hand me one with a pretty pink bow on top because I'm cute. I'll have to buy one, pay for gas, pay for maintenance, pay for insurance. Forget it."

On the other hand Melissa expects to have a new car for her 18th birthday.

"I've already taken my dad to the showroom to show him exactly the one I want," she said.

Students are divided as to which scenario is better.

"What a witch," Julian Gerald said of Melissa. "How can anyone expect their parents to buy them a car for their 18th birthday. These are hard times, man. Even rich people are having a tough time."

Douglas Lintz agreed.

"My dad and mom are pretty well off. They're both doctors. But I sure as heck don't 'expect' a car for my birthday," he said. "And even if I get something, it sure wouldn't be new."

Jon Dennis said he "kinda expects" that his parents will buy him a car when he graduates from high school this year.

"I mean, I think they will, but they don't have to," he said.

"It's just that I'm going to college in Tennessee and I'll need a car to get back and forth up there and to get around up there."

Melissa Kane said she has no plans to get a car before she graduates from high school.

"I can borrow my mom's car. I can take the bus. I can walk or I can go with friends," she said. "Why do I need a car?"

A group of students sitting at a table near the drive thru at a local fast food restaurant, turned their noses up at the notion of car ownership.

"I used to think it would be pretty cool to have my own wheels," Dan Davis said. "My dad sat me down though and showed me how much he has to spend on his car. No way, I'm not into that. Not yet, anyhow."

Shannon Fleiss said her friends who own cars are holding down jobs just to make the payments on the vehicle and the insurance.

"They have to work their butts off just for that," she said. "I couldn't be bothered. I want to earn money to spend on clothes and partying. Who needs a car?"

Another teen agreed that he and his friends didn't need to own cars.

"There are enough other suckers out there who own cars," he said. "Let them have the headaches. As long as they give me a ride when I want one."

Spring Lake Elementary has elected their 1994-95 Student Council. The following students were elected by their classmates: President: Jennifer Weller; Vice President: Danielle Radkowski; Secretary: Taylor Wallace; Treasurer: Neena Laichandani; Assistants: Ryan DuCharme, Jeanette Williams, Cyara Fuller, Emily Perez. In addition, each class selected representatives. Those students are: 5th Grade Representatives: Ryan Chmielewski and Chandra Roche; 4th Grade Representatives: Ben Allen and Amanda Fielder; 3rd Grade Representatives: DeAndre Brown and Nikki Stevenson.

Seen at school...

Blessing the animals

Fr. Richard Trout blessed the little animals which are part of the families of students at All Souls Catholic School in Sanford. In celebration of the Feast of St. Francis of Assisi, the students brought their feathered, furry and scaled besties to the priest to have them blessed. The animals are an important part of the children's lives and in the Catholic tradition, they are blessed for the comfort and warmth they bring to their families. The school has made the traditional blessing a traditional part of its academic and spiritual year.

Understanding kidney disease She waits patiently for a new lease on life

By SHARON KATY
Herald Correspondent

According to The National Kidney and Urologic Diseases Center, and Dr. William K. Langford from the Kidney Foundation in Bethesda, Md., it is necessary to understand kidney disease and how it is treated as well as knowing about renal failure which all kidney diseases have in common. Regardless of the type of kidney disease, if it causes renal failure, the major part of the symptoms and the treatment will be related to the renal failure, rather than the primary disease.

Fortunately, we have far more kidney functioning power than we need. This is why most patients do not develop symptoms until 90 percent of the renal function is lost. If the loss is chronic and gradual, as in the case of Diana Brink, the body is able to adjust considerably to tolerate and compensate for the impaired function. When the loss of function is rapid and acute, occurring in a matter of hours or a few days, the situation is entirely different. Thus, the distinction between acute renal failure and chronic renal failure is important. Regardless of the causes, all cases of acute failure will be treated in essentially the same way, all types of chronic failure in another way.

When the kidneys fail to remove waste products from the blood, a condition known as uremia develops and may eventually cut renal function to less than five to 10 percent of normal function. Although the acute and chronic forms of uremia are somewhat different, the major symptoms are:

- Upset stomach, which may vary from simple loss of appetite to severe stomach pain, nausea, and vomiting (sometimes even vomiting blood)
- Weakness, lack of energy, fatigue, and need for sleep
- Weight loss, not only of fat, but also of muscle
- Dry, often itchy, skin
- Peculiar odor to the breath, reminiscent of urine
- White pallor, due to anemia
- Shortness of breath, due to heart muscle weakness, hypertension, and fluid retention
- Edema, or swelling

In the case of Diana Brink of Geneva, chronic renal failure is a part of her everyday life. Her symptoms started to appear as early as 1983. However, she did not start dialysis until May of 1993. She gets her dialysis done three times a week at Bio-Medical Applications (BMA) in Sanford, an artificial kidney center. "I have one more set of tests to go through and then I get my beeper," said Brink. Her beeper is the last step in waiting for her new kidneys. These procedures are handled through TransLife Organ Tissue and Transplant Services at Florida Hospital in Orlando. "They'll give me a beeper so that they can get in touch with me in a moment's notice when and if a compatible donor becomes available," Brink said.

"It's not an easy life to live." That's one of the reasons I'm so eager to get this last set of tests done, then I know that I'm that much closer to having the operation and, hopefully, get away from this three times a week for dialysis," said Brink.

She went on to talk about her early symptoms and how she seemed to have a logical reason for the different ailments. "I feel that all of the stress in my life, and my inability to handle stress in any fashion, was the biggest contributor to my kidney problems. I ended up with hypertension that just could not be under control. I guess one should really listen to their bodies and react properly. Who knows how things might have turned out for me. I can tell you this much, if someone would have told me two years ago that I would be sitting in a dialysis chair three times a week, I would have told them that they were crazy," Brink concluded.

Sexual assault awareness week Local colleges plan many diversified events

Special to the Herald

October 10-14 is "Sexual Assault Awareness Week" in Central Florida. The Central Florida Consortium, formed and managed by RESPONSE Sexual Assault Resource Center, was created in 1990 to address sexual assault issues affecting area college campuses. Their purpose is twofold: To expand and enhance sexual assault prevention and provide education programs and services for students. Also, to provide a network for college administrators and students to problem solve, share ideas, and to promote a consistent and efficient process for handling sexual assault, prevention and treatment on campuses. # Forest

Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, Division of Forestry, Seminole County and CARL - Conservation and Recreation Lands program. While different bodies are involved with the purchasing of the land, management of the property will fall into the hands of the Division of Forestry.

According to Jack Jones, state forest area supervisor for the Orlando District, the use of the state forest will be limited to hiking, horseback riding, and bicycle trail riding at this time. Canoeing is allowed on the Econ River through the forest, but no official launch and take out points have been established as yet.

One group that is using the forest and has made it accessible to many others is the Florida Trail Association. There is a two-year-old trail through the forest, along the banks of the Econ and along Old State Road 46, that was blazed and is maintained by FTA.

Jones says the main thrust of the state forest program at this point is the purchase of more environmentally sensitive lands. "While all of the property purchased or under contract at this point is in Seminole County, efforts are being made to purchase more lands that will eventually extend into Orange County. As Jones put it, six months ago there was a little more than 2,000 acres. That has now doubled and hopes are that the forest will reach more than 5,000 acres. The current acreage consists of the area between Barr Street and Snowhill Road and a separate tract of land at the confluence of the Econ and the St. Johns River that will eventually be connected through subsequent purchases.

The Econlockhatchee River has been designated as an Outstanding Florida Water and protection ordinances have been passed by Seminole and Orange counties and the St. Johns River Management District. The land along the Econ basin is primarily marsh, swamp and pasture land. The only forest areas bring along the banks of the river and along cypress domes.

The Division of Forestry has planted 3,000 trees to start the reforestation of the area, says

Jones. Several thousand more will be planted. These will be pine because the land is historically natural pine flat woods. Jones says, "we are striving to return the land to how it was."

All of the agencies involved will have to develop a management plan to use the land to its highest recreational potential, without disturbing the environment. According to Bob Chorvat, of the Seminole County Parks and Recreation Division, discussion is underway in regard to the development of a canoeing launch point at the bridge at State Road 419, east of Oviedo with a take out point at Snowhill Road. Jones says this is already a popular canoe run and takes on the average of four to five hours. Other uses might include picnicking and primitive camping. Jones said he had already picked out some sites for the camping areas but this unusually wet rainy season has shown that these areas are likely to be underwater from time to time.

At this point anyone wishing to hike, bike or horseback ride in the forest must obtain a day use permit. Permits are available by calling the Division of Forestry office at 282-7421, or the Urban Forester, Mike Martin, at 323-2600, ext. 5592 or by coming by the fire tower on State Road 419, just west of Chuluota. Unless a special activities permit is issued only 12 cyclist or eight equestrians are allowed on the respective trails. Eventually, a senior forester will be permanently located at the fire tower, assigned to manage the forest.

Equestrians must have equine vaccination documentation, with them at all times on state forest property.

If you were to ask Van Taylor, he would likely tell you the best way to experience the forest is on foot. Taylor is the chapter chair for Central Florida FTA. He recently led a group of more than 75 outdoor enthusiasts on a 8-mile day hike on the trail in the state forest.

It was the first weekend of fall, clear and thankfully dry. Taylor, in his pre-hike briefing, warned that parts of the trail might be wet, due to the recent rains, but no one would sink in mud up their hips. He also advised that, due to the size of the group, wildlife sightings would be rare. Hikers could set their own pace, but Taylor would be available for interpretation along the trail, which followed the Econ, crossed several creeks and swamps and rose to high bluffs overlooking the river, described by the FTA as "topology similar to the Suwanee River."

The route had to be altered by mid-morning. The planned crossing of the river on a suspension bridge had to be cancelled due to the high water level. Still, hikers were forced to shed boots and shoes to navigate the alternative route which was also underwater.

With this accomplished the trail followed what is called the Flieger Tram, the former rail bed of the Flieger Line that ran from New Smyrna Beach, through Geneva, Chuluota and Oviedo, down to West Palm Beach. The suspension bridge that now spans the river was built by FTA and replaces the wooden railroad trestle.

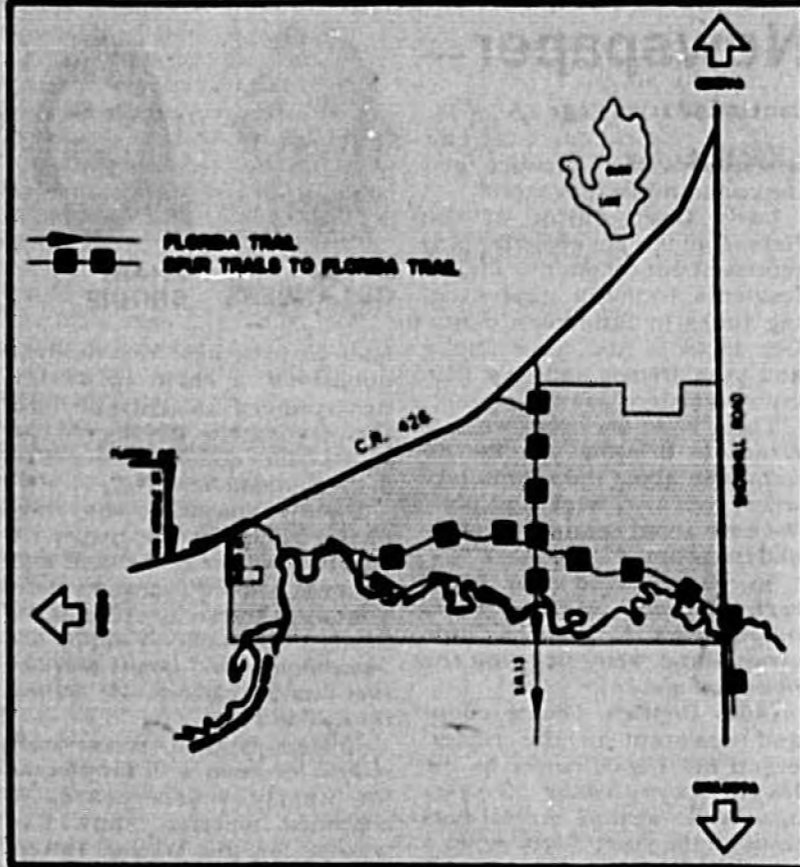

Hiking north along the tram, Taylor led the group to the site of Kolobee, once a thriving town along side the railroad that has faded into "ghost town" status. It is in this area that one can see the challenge faced by the Division of Forestry, for the area is vast pasture land overgrown with dog fennel and an exotic plant used by farmers as a "cover," grown and then plowed into the ground to add nutrients.

Watchful hikers were rewarded with the sighting of a mature male American bald eagle soaring high above the tram.

Lunch time was spent in the cool of a cypress dome. Taylor explained that ambient temperatures under the canopy of the trees is usually lower than the outside air.

The break included a ghost he would likely tell you the best way to experience the forest is on foot. Taylor is the chapter chair for Central Florida FTA. He recently led a group of more than 75 outdoor enthusiasts on a 8-mile day hike on the trail in the state forest.

It was the first weekend of fall, clear and thankfully dry. Taylor, in his pre-hike briefing, warned that parts of the trail might be wet, due to the recent rains, but no one would sink in mud up than 1000 miles and utilizes public and private lands. Starting in south Florida, in Big Cypress Preserve, it passes through many ecosystems before reaching its terminus in the Panhandle, near Pensacola.

Membership in FTA is open to the public and the Central Florida chapter incorporates 1000 of the current 5000 membership. Taylor says that he leads at least one hike a month. Canoeing, bicycling and informational opportunities are also available. The chapters also actively create new trails and maintain existing trails.

The Little-Big Econ State Forest joins a growing system of forests around the state. Seminole State Forest is its nearest neighbor, 10,000 acres located west of the Wekiva River along State Road 46 in Lake County. Seminole was created three years ago. Jones says it is where he hopes Little-Big Econ will be in one year. Seminole offers hiking, cycling, horseback riding, fishing, canoeing in Blackwater Creek, wildlife and birdlife observation and photographic opportunities, as well as two primitive campsites and nine miles of the Florida Trail. There is a large deer population in the forest and hunting is allowed by special permit. There is also a lot of black bears and wild turkey.

Lake Forest Area Supervisor Bob Duty says more than 3000 visitors used the forest last year on day use permits. More than 10 percent of them came from Seminole County. Duty says the permit process allows the public to experience the feeling of nature in the state forest system with "management to the betterment of the ecosystem."

Little-Big Econ State Forest is a wonderful addition to the recreational choices we have here in Seminole County, as well as going a long way to preserve and restore the natural environment of the county. Because measures have been taken now, for the future, by local and state agencies, the development that threatens to overtake the Wekiva River will likely not occur on the Econ. If you have not yet taken advantage of the offerings of the state forest system, opportunity is knocking right in your own backyard.

Another environmental threat for the Keys and the state

By JOHN PACENTI
Associated Press Writer

VACA KEY - Behind scenic vistas of mud islands in the sunset, tiny deer prancing between palm trees and shimmering aqua-blue water, there is a hidden, little-discussed environmental threat to the Florida Keys.

It is found behind homes and businesses. It is a subject no one likes to broach, but scientists and environmentalists say it inflicts as much damage in the Keys as any farm runoff, any pollutant, any overuse of the islands' land or water through tourism or commercial fishing.

It is sewage. And it's leaking from 25,000 old septic tanks and 5,000 illegal cesspools, contributing to algae blooms clouding the once-clear water in the Keys and damaging its coral reefs, environmentalists say.

"The good sewage fairy isn't going to take care of this," says Joyce Newman, a Key West environmentalist with Clean Water Action. "We have come to a critical juncture that there are so many of us - we are loving the Keys to death - that the system can no longer take it."

Sewage is one of many perils threatening the Keys' fragile environment and the $2 billion its economy receives annually from tourism, fishing and related businesses.

Fecal coliform bacteria - a clear sign of sewage seepage - was found last year by the U.S. Geological Survey in test wells beneath the Keys and their barrier reef.

"It shows actually untreated raw sewage under the ground at very shallow levels," says DeVon Quatrolo of Reef Relief, a Key West environmental group. "At that level, it is not just a groundwater or environmental threat, it's a public health threat."

Bob Ernst, a Marathon resident who has fought state officials over water quality issues, has seen the damage in the once-clear canal water outside his home.

"I've been here 20 years and there's been tremendous water degradation: change of color, algae, loss of habitat," Ernst says.

As the tides rise and fall in the Keys, sewage leaking from septic tanks and cesspools is carried into waters near shore, scientists say.

Once in the Atlantic Ocean or Florida Bay, nutrients from the sewage, particularly nitrogen, damage coral reefs, cause algae blooms and contribute to the killing of sea grass, eroding valuable marine life habitat.

"This is something that has been dealt with in many other communities, but the denial has been in the Florida Keys for years," says Brian Lapointe, a marine biologist who was one of the first to discover the threat posed by sewage seepage in the Keys.

Similar problems with untreated or improperly treated sewage can be found throughout Florida, which has 10 percent of the nation's septic tanks, according to the Florida Coastal Management Program.

In September, Hendry County had to order some residents to boil water and set up portable toilets when rain flooded septic tanks there.

But the Keys has one of the state's worst problems in an environmentally sensitive area where the consequences could be devastating.

In Marathon, Ernst wishes he could go swimming in the canal adjacent to his home. That's why he bought the house in the first place.

"This was martini water. My kids grew up swimming in this canal and look at it now," Ernst said, pointing to the murky water. "I've never seen the water degradation so bad."

On a tour through Marathon, Ernst never goes more than a half-mile without stopping to point out a hazard to the environment: a yellow house with a newly installed septic tank 50 feet from the water; a drainage field without the required grass cover near a business; street gutters draining polluted storm runoff into Florida Bay.

the newspapers they produce and the communities they serve."

Lacy Loar, editor of the Herald, adds, "our objective is to represent our community and its residents, to mirror these exciting times in Seminole County. Our focus is you, your family and your friends and how governmental decisions effect you."

There is no finer staff when it comes to bringing you the information about the community where you live, work and play. We care about Seminole County and the people who live here.

So, as you read your paper each afternoon, we thought you might want to know a little about those who bring you the news you use.

Doris Dietrich, People editor and assistant to the editor, began her Herald career as the Herald society editor 30 years ago. While wearing several hats through the years, Doris writes a weekly People column and manages several correspondents and contributing columnists while juggling stories and ideas.

Sports Editor Tony DeSormier has been with the Herald for six years, starting as a staff writer and moving up to the sports editor's position six months later. He came here from Sunbelt publishing, a chain of weekly newspapers in Hillsborough County, where he served as sports editor and assistant editor of the Brandon News.

Tommy Vincent is the chief photographer for the paper. A colorful member of the staff and the only Sanford native on staff.

Tommy is known by everyone in Sanford by his cheery smile, his "mountain man" beard and his ever-present camera. He joined the staff in 1988.

J. Mark Barfield, senior staff writer, has been with the Herald for nearly seven years. A seasoned reporter, Mark has written for the Winter Haven News Chief and the Hollywood Sun Tattler during his 12 year career. Here in Seminole County, he writes about county government, political issues and computer technology.

Nick Pfeiffauf has worked in every aspect of the media for the last four decades. Starting as a disc jockey at WTRR in Sanford, he moved to WESH-TV where he spent 25 1/2 years as a Newscaster before coming to the Herald four years ago. In addition to covering city government in Sanford and Lake Mary, he is the business page editor. Nick lends his skills and sense of humor to a spectrum of other stories.

Sandra Elliott came to the Herald a year and a half ago. A transplant from the state of Indiana, she worked for newspapers in her home state before moving here. Sandy covers the courts and city government in Longwood. She is an investigative reporter who works diligently to find the deeper issues that might escape other writers.

Vicki DeSormier has been at the Sanford Herald for about six years. She previously worked at La Gaceta, a tri-lingual paper in Tampa. Vicki writes about the students, teachers and administrators in the Seminole County schools, writes feature stories about just about anything and occasionally creates editorial cartoons for the paper.

Diana Gillanders and Shari Brodie are the Herald's news assistants. They edit various pages and features for the paper. This is Diana's first newspaper job in a career that has taken her from the CIA to Columbia University's Lamont Geological Observatory. Shari started as a stringer for the sports department in 1977 and then moved on to a career in sales and marketing. She returned to the Herald in 1988, as an advertising consultant and rejoined the editorial staff this summer. She has written features and some news stories since her return.

Dean Smith is the staff sports writer. Active in Sanford recreation sports, Dean has been a full time writer for the Herald since 1980 after serving as a correspondent for several years.

Jim Shupe is a contributing writer and Ryan Anderson is a correspondent for the sports department.

Apryl Keniston is the staff photographer and Roger Harnack, Edward Wolfe, Mark Harris and Phil Keniston are contributing photographers. Roger is also a contributing writer.

Marva Hawkins has been with the paper 30 years as well, as a correspondent of the Sanford community. Correspondents Mary Rowell and Shay Kogel write a weekly column for Lake Mary and Longwood, respectively, as well as an occasional feature.

Susan Wenner, a features correspondent, also writes and edits the weekly Religion page. Renée Keith is also a features correspondent.

Other contributing writers for the Herald include Ridge Mycoff, Barbara Gregg, Tricia Thomas, Mary Balk, Shirley Baker, Herman Schroeder, Grace Marie Stinecipher and Margaret Wesley.

Loar, who joined the staff as a general assignment reporter four years ago and took over the reins as editor this summer, says the paper is an "open forum" in which readers are invited to voice their opinion.

Guest columnists are featured on the editorial page. School students are encouraged to contribute to the School Scribbles page on Sunday.

"We'll dig deep to bring you the stories that will help make life even better in our great community," Loar says.

Strike victims suffer alone

By Associated Press

TAMPA — George McBay's life changed forever with a bolt from the blue.

Though he was knocked out and thrown 20 feet by the lightning that hit him last year as he worked on the roof of St. Petersburg's pier, he didn't go to the hospital.

He ached and felt shaken up, but says he "thought it would go away. I thought it was nerves."

Those "nerves" turned to depression and rage. McBay's work was affected by severe pain he felt in his arms and legs, and he was fired from two jobs in succession. He tried to collect worker's compensation, but doctors told him there was nothing wrong. One accused him of faking.

Suffering alone was a familiar theme shared Friday by some 60 strike victims and experts attending the Lightning Strike-Electrical Shock Conference at Tampa General Hospital.

Although Florida is the nation's lightning strike capital with an average of 10 deaths and 30 injuries a year, health professionals say there is little research or teaching on the subject to assess these kinds of injuries.

"There is no formal training in this area," said Dr. Michael Gold, a University of South Florida professor of neurology who spoke at the conference. "You either take an interest in it or you don't."

"There's an amazing amount of ignorance in the health care profession regarding this issue," added Penny Ackerly, 40, who was shocked while collecting change from a Miami toll booth in 1990. "I went to 45 doctors before I found one who knew what to do with me."

Although she appears healthy, Ackerly has suffered vision problems, seizures and muscle pain since the incident.

"If you don't see evidence of an injury, it's difficult to treat it," said Gold. "But even though some of these patients' symptoms are not physiologically plausible, things still don't feel right."

Gold said many patients suffer from cognitive dysfunction, memory loss, atypical seizures and confusion after an electrical injury. Sometimes the symptoms don't appear until months or even years after the accident.

From 1959 to 1993, the National Weather Service recorded 343 lightning-related deaths and 1,038 injuries in Florida.

Despite these numbers, the state has no center for lightning strike victims. Tampa General Hospital, located in Florida's lightning hot spot, has outreach programs for electrical injury survivors and a growing reputation for treating electrical injuries.

McDONALD'S MANAGERS

Dedicated to the community they serve.

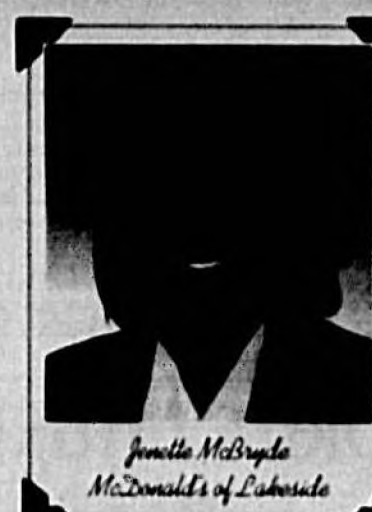

Jack Cordner, a native of New Jersey, has been with McDonald's for fifteen years. In 1984 he graduated from McDonald's Hamburger University. He has managed "McDonald's of Hickman" since 1992 and was promoted from store manager to managing partner in April this year.

Very active in the community, McDonald's of Hickman is a "partner in education" with Wilson and Heathrow Elementary schools, and is involved with the Golden Age Games, Soap Box Derby and church events. Jack's involvement with the Sanford police department's buckle-up program earned him the Florida Buckle-up Safety Award.

Sandy Couffer has worked for McDonald's for fourteen years. She opened "McDonald's of Sanford" on August 23, 1990, and prior to this managed McDonald's of Longwood. In April this year, she was named a McDonald's managing partner.

McDonald's of Sanford is involved in many community projects: Seminole High School's Diversified Cooperative Training and athletic programs, Midway Elementary's Reading Is Fundamental program, an intern program with Sanford Middle School and fundraisers for churches, schools and the Fraternal Order of Sanford police. Sandy is also a recipient of the Florida Buckle-up Safety Award.

Jenette McBryde is the managing partner of the new "McDonald's of Lakeside" in Sanford. A native of Sanford, she attended Goldsboro and Pinecrest Elementary schools, Sanford Middle School and graduated from Seminole High School where she was involved in cheerleading and student government.

She has been with McDonald's for 13 years and is eager to serve the Sanford community, working closely with the recreation department, schools, churches and other businesses. "Through McDonald's of Lakeside, I am able to give back to community which has given me so much," says Jenette.

Leovick Medina is a managing partner for "McDonald's of Lake Mary" in Sanford. He has twelve years experience in the restaurant industry, six years with McDonald's Corporation.

McDonald's of Lake Mary is an active member of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, Heathrow Art Festival, Business Advisory Board of Lake Mary Elementary, Exceptional Education and Student Service, and Booster Club of Lake Mary High School Track & Field. McDonald's is a partner in education with Lake Mary High School and Greenwood Middle School in the "Caught You Doing Something Good" program, and a sponsor of the Seminole Truckers soccer team and Lake Mary Stars Little League baseball team.

AROUND THE STATE

Florida thumps LSU

GAINESVILLE — Maybe it's time for the Florida defense to get a little recognition. The top-ranked Gators' offense posted impressive numbers again, while a defense that's been mostly overshadowed put in another solid day's work in a 42-18 win over Louisiana State. Terry Dean threw his 18th touchdown pass of the season and Anthony Lott scored on an 88-yard interception return as Florida (5-0, 4-0 Southeastern Conference) tuned up for next week's showdown against No. 9 Auburn. LSU (1-4, 1-3) had limited success offensively before becoming the first team to score on the Gators in the second half when Jermaine Sharp ran 2 yards for a third-quarter TD.

AROUND THE NATION

Knights fall on road

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Bart Yancey completed 11 of 17 passes as Samford scored 22 points in the final period to defeat Central Florida 36-35. Yancey led Samford on an 80-yard drive, hitting Shawn Williams with a 5-yard TD pass to set up a winning 2-point conversion. UCF (4-2) led most of the game, getting four touchdown passes from Darin Hinshaw. Yancey also threw for four touchdowns, including throws of 22 and 12 yards to Ron Green in the fourth quarter. Anthony Jordan had a 57-yard TD run and gained 95 yards on five carries for Samford (2-3). Central Florida had 413 yards of offense but turned the ball over three times. Samford had 200 yards and only one turnover.

Boone new Royal boss

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Bob Boone was hired as manager of the Kansas City Royals. Boone, a catcher for 19 seasons with Philadelphia, California and Kansas City, signed a two-year deal. He replaced the fired Hal McRae.

Baseball to finally meet

NEW YORK — Union head Donald Fehr and acting commissioner Bud Selig said they expect negotiations to resume late next week, nearly five weeks after talks broke off. The union failed to give an answer to management's request for a 45-day freeze on signings and free agent signings.

NHL camps meet separately

NEW YORK — The National Hockey League's governors talked among themselves about the labor situation. That was more than could be said of the NHL and the players union. For the second straight day, no contract negotiations were held and none are scheduled.

Smith will start for Cowboys

IRVING, Texas — Emmitt Smith's hamstring has healed enough that the Dallas running back will start today against the Arizona Cardinals.

Baylor places self on probation

WACO, Texas — Baylor officials placed the men's basketball program on two years' probation and banned it from postseason play for the next two seasons for "major" violations of Southwest Conference and NCAA rules.

Tracy shatters Indy race record

MONTEREY, Calif. — Paul Tracy shattered the track qualifying record at Laguna Seca Raceway to win the provisional pole for Sunday's Bank of America 300. Tracy sped around the 2.214-mile, 11-turn road course in 1 minute, 10.058 seconds — 113.768 mph — easily eclipsing the mark set last October by Emerson Fittipaldi of 1:12.296.

Another battle won

Patriots run over Lions in 6A-4 clash

By RYAN ANDERSON
Herald Correspondent

OVIDO — By winning the battle in the trenches, the Lake Brantley scored an important win in the war for the 6A-District 4 football title Friday night, beating the Oviedo Lions 22-8 at Oviedo's John Courier Field.

Now 5-0 on the season, the Patriots are 4-0 in the district and aiming for a 6A-4 showdown with the Mainland Buccaneers (also 5-0 overall and 4-0 in the district) on Friday, Oct. 21. But before they get there, the Patriots will have to take care of business next Friday, when they travel to DeLand.

Oviedo, needing a win to stay in the race for a playoff berth, falls to 3-3 and 2-2 in the district, the other district loss coming against Mainland. Next week, the Lions visit Deltona.

On Friday night, rock-steady offensive line play helped the Patriots overcome turnovers in the first half and rain in the second half.

"For five weeks in a row, we have had the best offensive line in the district, but we just haven't been getting the respect that I feel they've earned," said Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon.

"I think the best football team definitely won tonight, there is no doubt in my mind about that. I am tired of my offensive line not getting any respect."

The Lake Brantley's offensive line allowed the Patriots rushing assault to chalk up 351 yards, led by Heath Ritenour's effort of 157 yards and a touchdown on 16 carries. Dee Brown added 102 yards and a touchdown on nine carries while Del McGee contributed the last 82 yards and third touchdown on six carries.

The Lions were held to just 71 yards rushing, all but two yards coming from Brian King.

"Our game plan was to push the defense off of the line and run the ball through them and that's exactly what we were able to do tonight," Almon said. "We beat them in the trenches. Oviedo has a strong offensive line but ours was just better and that's why we are undefeated."

The Patriots took the lead late in the first quarter when McGee scampered into the end zone from 82 yards out. John Berardi added

Del McGee (No. 6) contributed 82 yards and a touchdown to the 351-yard rushing attack that carried the Lake Brantley Patriots to a 22-8 victory over the Oviedo Lions in a 6A-District 4 game Friday night at John Courier Field.

Seminole High School running back Robert Ruffin ran for 195 yards and a pair of touchdowns, but it was not enough as the Tribe lost to the St. Cloud Bulldogs 13-12 at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium Friday night.

Mistakes end SHS title hopes

By BILL KEENE
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Mistakes and poor execution spoiled a spectacular 195 yard, two touchdown rushing effort by Robert Ruffin, as Seminole lost an important 5A-District 6 home game to St. Cloud 13-12.

"If you don't execute, you don't win," said Seminole head coach Ernie McPherson. "It all boils down to too many mental mistakes, and not making the extra points. With all due respect to St. Cloud, we beat ourselves."

St. Cloud (3-3, 2-0 in 5A-6) clinched a tie for the district title. Seminole (3-2, 0-1 in 5A-6) is eliminated from district title contention and must win its last two district games if it hopes to return to the state playoffs.

Seminole has no time to rest as it hosts Seminole Athletic Conference rival Lake Howell Thursday at 7:30 p.m., with their following three games all on the road. District opponents Cypress Creek (3-2, 1-1) and Leesburg (1-5, 0-1) are among those three road games. Seminole must win both games to finish second in the district and reach the playoffs.

Junior Terrell Jackson got his first start at quarterback, replacing Cliff Branch, who played wide receiver and defense. Jackson connected with Branch twice for 35 yards in the opening possession, and Ruffin capped the drive with a three-yard lunge.

Seminole's first big mistake was missing the extra point. The second one was a fumble by Ruffin later in the opening quarter, and St. Cloud took advantage. Walney Gray scored from three yards out for the Bulldogs early in the second quarter, taking a 7-6 lead.

Ruffin broke free for a 31-yard touchdown early in the third quarter, giving Seminole the lead back. But, the

Defense shines for Lake Howell

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

CASSELBERRY — There was a fireworks display on Homecoming Night at Lake Howell's Richard L. Evans Field Friday, and it was not limited to the halftime show.

Playing before a huge home crowd and a group of honored past Lake Howell football stars, the Silver Hawks got just enough offense and the defense rose to the occasion at the right times in a 7-6 Class 6A-District 4 victory over the Spruce Creek Hawks.

"We sure made it exciting," said Lake Howell head coach Mike Bisceglia. "If we could find a way to score some points, we'd be alright."

It was the second straight week that the Silver Hawks (3-2 overall, 2-2 in 6A-4) had scored just seven points in a win.

"Not to take anything away from them (Spruce), because they played a heck of a game," said Bisceglia. "But if we don't have a breakdown on defense (three men covering one), they don't score. They do have a scrappy bunch of kids and I think they will beat some people. I'm real glad for the win."

Lake Howell will play a Seminole Athletic Conference contest at Seminole on Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. The Hawks (0-5, 0-4) will host co-district leading Mainland next Friday night.

Both teams missed excellent scoring opportunities in a scoreless first half as Lake Howell had an 82 yard drive end at the Spruce Creek one and an 88 yard drive stall at the Hawks 11, and Spruce Creek had a 74 yard drive snuffed out on the

Offensive line lets Dixon, Lyman pick Deltona apart

By TONY DeSORMIER
Herald Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — Time is a precious commodity, especially in athletics, where games are won or lost by split-second decisions.

On Friday night, the Lyman Greyhounds' offensive line gave quarterback Tommy Dixon all the time he needed. And Dixon made the gift pay dividends, passing for 240 yards in a 30-14 win over the Deltona Wolves.

"The offensive line did a great job," said Dixon, offering his reasonably clean jersey as evidence. "I had all kinds of time."

Given the opportunity to look over the Deltona defense, Dixon, who's also a starting pitcher for the Lyman varsity baseball team, completed 16 of 22 passes including a string of 10 consecutive completions in the first half.

"We're real proud of the offensive line and the job they're doing," said Lyman coach Larry Baker. "They're giving Tommy time to sit back and find the open receivers."

While Dixon and the trio of Willie "Thrill" Jones, Freddie Young, and Toby Morris provided the air support, Alvin Cummings mounted the ground assault, rushing 14 times for 60 yards.

Cummings was particularly instrumental in helping the Greyhounds score on the opening drive of the game, carrying the ball eight times for 23 yards during an 83-yard, 11-play drive capped by a 9-yard touchdown strike from Dixon to Jones with 5:50 left in the first quarter.

Young then stepped to the fore. After contributing a 21-yard reception and a 4-yard rush during the opening drive, Young contributed two defensive takeaways that led to Lyman's next 10 points.

Deltona's first offensive series ended with a fumble that Young recovered on the Deltona 31-yard line. Four plays later, Morris — who caught a 27-yard pass immediately following the fumble recovery — kicked a 26-yard field goal.

Young snuffed the Wolves' next series when he picked off a tipped pass and returned it to the Deltona 21. On the very next play, Young took a handoff from Dixon on a reverse, pulled up, and found Morris in the corner of the end zone with a 21-yard scoring pass.

"Our new offense is putting the ball in everybody's hands," said Young, who started the year as the No. 2 quarterback but has moved into the starting lineup as a flanker in the offensive set the Greyhounds adopted during their off week. "It keeps defenses honest and everybody gets to contribute."

The teams swapped touchdowns in the second quarter, Perse Lane scoring a 2-yard run for Deltons and Cummings scoring on a 15-yard dash.

The second half belonged to the Lyman defense, which forced the Wolves to punt on two of their eight offensive series in the second half, ended four others with interceptions, and recovered a Deltona fumble to kill another.

the extra point giving the Patriots a 7-0 lead. Bernard increased the Lake Brantley advantage to 10-0 by capping the opening drive of the third quarter with a 24-yard field goal.

The Patriots recovered the outside kick following the field goal and quickly capitalized. Riemann scoring on a 5-yard run. David Zacharias blocked Bernard's kick and Lake Brantley led 16-0.

Oviedo scored its only points of the game on the following drive, King rushing in from 2 yards out, then rushing for the two-point conversion to cap a seven-play drive which saw Lion quarterback Brian Buchanan complete four passes for 64 yards.

Lake Brantley sealed the victory two-point conversion failed. It proved costly, as St. Cloud went ahead 13-12 on Gray's seven yard run.

Seminole's defense played a solid game. Branch and Ruffin both made interceptions. Terrence McMillian made two sacks, and Thomas Will made another. "Our defense played well," said McPherson. "But, we let them make too many third down plays on their go-ahead scoring drive. St. Cloud is a sound fundamental team. Their offensive line is experienced and well disciplined. They didn't make many mistakes."

In the fourth quarter, Seminole marched down to the two-yard line. Ruffin carried the ball 10 times for 60 yards on the drive. But, back-to-back penalties forced Seminole to pass, and Jackson's throw was intercepted.

"Our goal was to keep the ball on the ground," said McPherson. "The illegal procedure penalties

Final chance to get quota hunt permits

Hunters who have not applied for a quota hunt permit will have one last chance to do so before the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission allows others who already have received a permit to begin applying for additional permits.

Quota hunt permits, in addition to licenses and certain stamps, are required for the first nine days of the general gun season on most wildlife management areas and for special pre-season and post-season hunts.

Eddie White, the commission's quota hunt coordinator, said hunters who have not received a quota hunt permit should apply this week before the third phase of the permitting process begins.

"Hunters who already have received a special and/or regular quota hunt permit may obtain additional permits during the third phase which begins Oct. 8," White said. "Those who wish to obtain additional permits should complete another regular and/or special quota hunt application and mail it to the address shown on the forms."

The wildlife management area stamp tab that is required for all applications submitted before Oct. 8 is not required during the third phase. Starting Oct. 8, applicants may write their wildlife management area stamp number or sportsman's license number in the space for the stamp tab.

JIM SHUPE

During the third phase, remaining permits are first-come, first-serve. Quota hunt vacancies fill up quickly once the third phase begins. Hunters may submit as many applications for as many different wildlife management areas as they like, but they must submit a separate application for each area. For instance, to get a permit for Apalachicola WMA and Robert Brent WMA, you must submit two applications - one with Apalachicola as the first choice and one with Robert Brent as the first choice.

Quota hunt forms are available at county tax collectors' offices and retailers that sell hunting and fishing licenses. It is illegal to buy or sell quota hunt permits.

Walgreens healthy

SANFORD — With construction underway for a new Walgreens store at the southeast intersection of French Avenue and 25th Street in Sanford, the company has announced record sales for both the fourth quarter and fiscal year 1994. It was Walgreens' 20th consecutive year of record sales and earnings.

Chairman Charles R. Walgreen III commented, "In line with our strategy of market penetration, we expanded at a record pace during fiscal 1994." He added, "We opened nearly four stores per week around the country, for a record 196 new Walgreens."

He added that 200 new drugstores are planned for fiscal 1995, and plans are to continue adding stores at that rate for the rest of the decade.

M/I names Bierly

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — M/I Homes of Altamonte Springs has named Michael Bierly as salesperson for the month of September. According to sales director Shelly Eddy, Bierly sold 17 homes for a dollar volume of $1.8 million during the month.

He also won a $5,000 award from the company for his sales achievements. Bierly works out of the M/I community of Southeast.

GulfAtlantic hits high

SANFORD — GulfAtlantic Title Agency's Orange/Seminole operations posted $24.4 million in recorded residential warranty deed volume in August to eclipse the $160 million mark for the year's first eight months. August has been determined to be the third best month in the company's history.

GulfAtlantic Title has six offices serving the two-county market including offices in Lake Mary, Sanford and Altamonte Springs.

Radio station sold

ORLANDO — Paxson Communications Corporation has announced the purchase of Orlando's WGTO, a 50,000 watt AM radio station.

Lowell Paxson, chairman and CEO of the company said, "WGTO will be our second 50,000 watt AM radio station in Orlando, joining 740 WINZ News, a perfect complement to our two 100,000 watt FM stations, Magic 107.7 and 101.1 WJRR."

He added, "We are very excited about the addition of this station to our other Orlando properties."

Paxton is Florida's largest broadcaster, owning 13 radio stations in Jacksonville, Miami, Orlando and Tampa, the ABC-TV affiliate in Palm Beach and the Florida, Tennessee and South Carolina Radio Networks.

Arvida Corporation has presented a $50,000 check to Seminole High School. The check represents Arvida's commitment to quality education, and is part of a $150,000 gift to Seminole High. Arvida's Carol Duchacher, left, made the presentation recently to SHS Principal Gretchen Schapker.

Retail theft costing us all a lot

By MARK PFEIFER
Herald Staff Writer

Businesses must obtain a profit in order to be successful. Money received must be more than the cost of running the operation, which includes (unfortunately) compensating for items which have been removed from the inventory without any profit.

It's called shoplifting, or retail theft. Shoplifting costs Florida retailers over $1 billion a year. It also costs the state over $70 million in sales tax revenue each year.

The crime is generally a pretty theft. There is often no punishment beyond paying court costs and possibly probation. A person apprehended by police, taken to court, and convicted, is often back on the streets again within a matter of days. Shoplifting is thought of as only a minor crime.

Almost every day, Sanford or Lake Mary police make two or three arrests in connection with retail theft cases.

In Sanford, many thefts have occurred in grocery stores, where the shoplifter attempts to remove packages of meat by cramming them into pants pockets or purses and attempting to leave the store without paying.

The theft of a $9 package of steak or even one pack of cigarettes may not sound like a major crime, yet the loss per year in Florida, is more than the combined total losses from robbery, auto theft, breaking and entering and larceny.

At the level of shoplifting reported in Florida at the present time, it is costing the average household over $200 more per year.

One major retail business which operates several large stores in the Sanford and Lake Mary area regularly determines the retail cost of items by automatically including the cost of losses due to shoplifting, which they expect will occur.

As an example, if the store plans to display 20 VCR units, the price will be high enough to compensate for one or two which may be stolen.

The Florida Retail Federation is launching a drive for the remaining three months of this year called "No Purchase Necessary." The aim is to convince residents to recognize that shoplifting is still the most widespread monetary crime affecting Florida and its citizens.

W. "Bill" Kundrat, Jr., president and CEO of the Florida Retail Federation commented, "Recent media coverage highlights the crime problems Florida faces, but unlike many other crimes plaguing business, shoplifting can be deterred."

"The goal of our shoplifting prevention campaign is to educate consumers and retailers about shoplifting, and to promote ways we can work together to cut our losses," he added.

Statistics from the Florida Department of Law Enforcement indicate that reported cases of shoplifting have risen 45 percent over the last decade, with 57,613 incidents reported in 1993, compared to 83,552 in 1983. But according to Read Hayes, president of Loss Prevention Specialists in Winter Park, reported cases of shoplifting reflect only one to ten percent of actual shoplifting activity. Hayes estimates that a mere one in ten or more shoplifters are apprehended, and only about five in ten of those apprehended are reported to law enforcement officials.

"Shoplifting is truly a crime, and it is a crime that is largely misunderstood," Kundrat said. "It isn't borrowing, and no store is so rich that it won't miss a few items."

The Florida Retail Federation is a state-wide non-profit organization with over 8,000 members representing about 20,000 retail and retail-related establishments in Florida.

Women learn beauty, health tips Federation honors Charlotte Smith in Tampa

Jack-O-Lanterns, spiders, snakes, gophers and other beasts are the sign for signs of the season Wednesday at the Women's Club of Sanford Inc. when the first meeting of the year was held. Hazel Cash, past president, greeted the members at the door. President DeLore Lash presided over the business session.

Gloria Shank introduced Dr. Matt L. Leavitt, dermatologist, plastic surgeon and hair transplant surgeon who spoke on "Total Skin Care," informing the clubwomen how they could improve their beauty. He is the founder of Advanced Dermatology and Cosmetic Surgery Center at Hawthorn.

Showing slides, Dr. Leavitt discussed phases of skin cancer and told the women that the steady treatment of skin cancer can be successfully treated if therapy is started in the early stages. He also told the women the sun is their worst enemy.

Dr. Leavitt stressed the use of proper cosmetics for the mature skin and presented a good look at cosmetic surgery before explaining the process of hair transplanting. He talked about chemical skin peels, collagen implants, eyelid surgery, facelifts and liposuction.

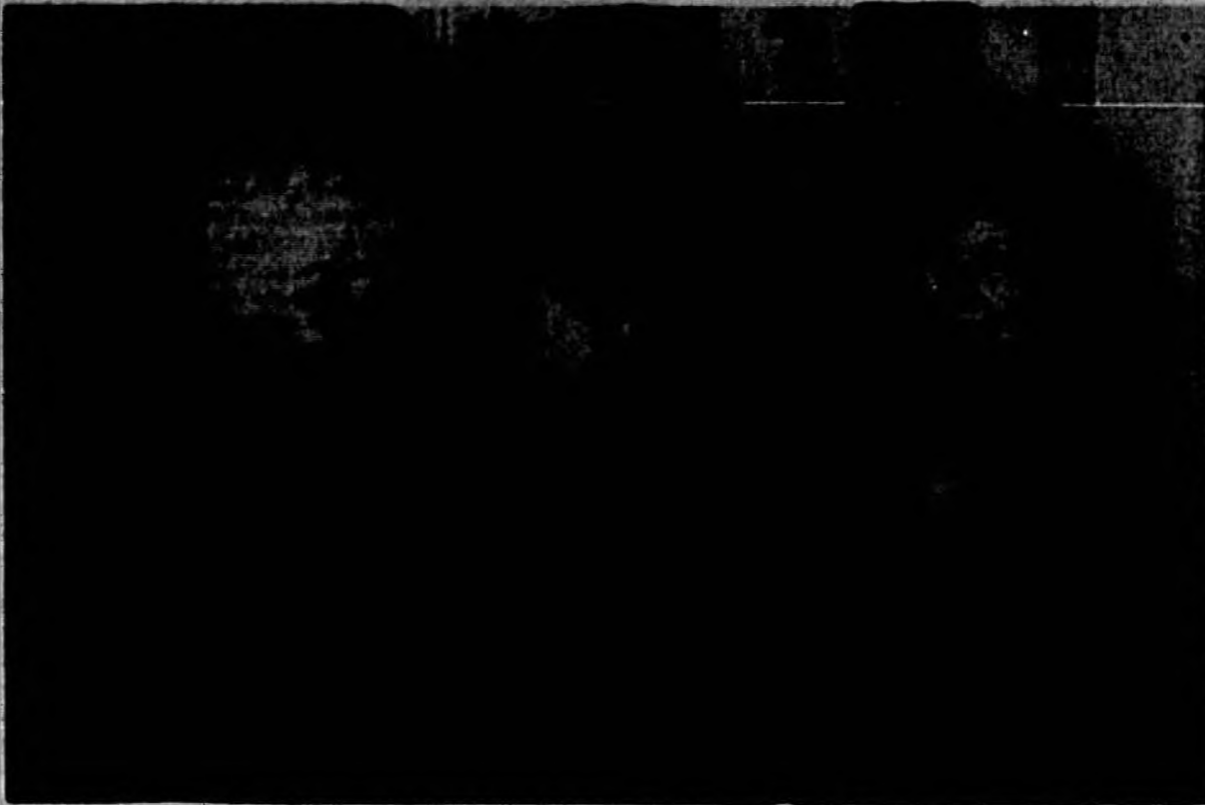

The program was presented by the Education Department under the chairmanship of Pat Foster.

Following his presentation, Dr. Leavitt conducted a question and answer forum.

The club will host the District VII fall tour and participate in the Golden Age Games. A fashion show and luncheon is scheduled in November. Information is forthcoming.

The president presented the "Caring and Sharing" award to Faye Biler for her dedication to the club and community.

Hostesses were: Rutha

FFWC honors Smith

Charlotte Smith has returned from festivities in Tampa where she attended the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs annual Fall Board meeting.

To Charlotte, it was just another board meeting except the federation is observing its 100th birthday in 1985 and the state is already celebrating the centennial.

"Oh, did I have a trip," she said.

What Charlotte did not know is that she was going to be in the limelight at the past president's luncheon. This year is the 50th anniversary of her presidency of the FFWC.

She was driven to Tampa by Fran Morton, delegate representing the Woman's Club of Sanford Inc. of which she is first vice president. Also invited from the club was Ruth Gaines, treasurer.

The federation honored Charlotte with an engraved disc. Her photograph when she was federation president was featured on the luncheon program and the inside gave information of her accomplishments during her tenure.

Another surprise was that her son Walt Smith, his wife, Charlotte, and her granddaughter, Charlotte Wilkes and her husband, James O' Miami, attended the festivities.

Also, Walt supplied slides of his mother which were shown to those attending.

The program was on cancer, the state president's project.

Lake Mary scouts gather for first Stardust camporee

The first weekend in October was a weekend Girl Scouts in Lake Mary had looked forward to for a long time. It was the first camporee ever for the Stardust Service Unit of Girl Scouts. Stardust consists of 20 Girl Scout troops in the Lake Mary area. Eighteen of those troops participated in the camporee.

The camporee started Friday, Sept. 30 with the girls checking in at the camp and stowing their gear in their tents. Then all the girls and adults gathered with their "nosebag" suppers to eat in the lodge. After supper, the girls watched as a ten foot long sundae was prepared with 12 1/2 gallons of Nespolitan ice cream, 48 ounces of chocolate syrup, 32 ounces of caramel sauce, and 16 ounces of maraschino cherries. Most of the girls ate out of bowls, but a brave few dug in and ate right out of the gutter, the rain gutter, that is. A ten foot section of new plastic rain gutter was used as the dish. Friday night, there were a couple of stomach aches from overeating, and two girls fell out of their tents, but nothing serious.

Saturday was a blitz of activities. The girls enjoyed swimming, canoeing, paddleboarding, games, crafts, science magic, ecology activities and an adventure course. The late afternoon rain was fierce between the last two activities, but only a drizzle while the last of the girls were paddleboarding. And, with no lightning, the girls took to the lake, ignoring the rain. The rain let up during the supper hour which gave everyone a chance to fire up the grills and cook their meals. The rain picked up again after supper, so the traditional campfire was held indoors in a

Businessman sponsors drug-free festival

On Saturday, Oct. 15, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., the first annual "Proud to be Drug Free Festival '84" will be held at the Albertson Shopping Center on the corner of Highway 17-98 and State Road 434 and is sponsored by Korman Family Chiropractic.

Through the initiative, effort and commitment of Dr. Brad Korman, the Longwood city commissioners have declared the month of October "Drug Free Awareness Month" and have endorsed this community event to help the youth of this city to choose a lifestyle that will be healthy and without the use of drugs. The mayor of the city signed the proclamation stating that October will be the official month to adopt a drug-free lifestyle, and to celebrate a drug free existence. According to Dr. Korman, more than 200,000 people died in the 1983 year from prescription and illegal drug use.

At the Proud to be Drug Free Festival, there will be entertainment for all ages, including clowns, games, a moon walk, a dunk tank, dancers and cheerleaders, karate demonstrations and speakers including Seminole County Sheriff Don Ealinger. The XL 108.7 radio station will be there with "The Party Bus" with prizes and T-shirts. The Longwood Police Department and the Seminole County Sheriff's Department as well as both fire departments will be on hand to provide leadership and support. The SWAT team, the Rangers of Marvels and Wonders will provide demonstrations and Subway has donated free subs.

Ed Boeckel and Harry Brown co-chair the Office of Guest Relations which includes the logistics of entering and exiting safely, transportation, arranging for lighting and sound, a huge undertaking for the first year. Glen Winter is chairing production and Fran Brown is chair of ticket sales. Gayle Anderson is chairing the patron's party. Susan Pregman of Pregman Communications is the concert coordinator. According to Pregman, "For the chairpersons and the many volunteers who believe in this project, this concert has been a labor of love, a personal commitment, and they have donated an incredible amount of time and energy. So many have donated so much, such as Middleton Pest Control for the comfort of the guests, and Arvida's building of the stage." The outpouring of support for this project has been unbelievable according to Beverly Paulk

The society has identified and provided motivation to a significant pool of outstanding black achievers, who in turn, provide inspiration for other students. It is expected that the ripple effect of the resulting pride and academic growth will be associated with more and more students who are "hanging tough" in the classroom. A critical facet of this program is the community service requirement. It is important for the African-American youth to understand the value of giving back to the community, yes, by reaching back and by pulling others along, the entire community prospers.

Moreland-Spivey vows exchanged

SANFORD — Sylvia Ann Moreland and William F. Spivey Jr. are announcing their marriage today. They were married July 30, 1994, 8 p.m., at Central Baptist Church, Sanford. The Rev. Gerald Fugate performed the traditional ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee P. Moore of Sanford and the late Cmdr. Herbert A. Moreland.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Spivey Sr. of Ridge Manor, Fla.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Richard A. Moreland. She wore an off-the-shoulder, white silk shantung gown with cathedral-length train. The bodice was covered in Venetian lace with a sheer back. The fitted sleeves were embellished with appliques of Venetian lace. Her cathedral-length illusion veil was held by a flat bow edged in Venetian lace. She carried a cascading bouquet of trailing needlepoint ivy, white roses, stephanotis, dendrobium orchids and Queen Anne's lace.

Michele C. Champion served the bride as matron of honor. She wore a blue-green silk shantung suit. The off-the-shoulder jacket featured cap sleeves and the straight skirt was full length. She carried a bouquet of purple larkspur, dendrobium orchids, Montecassino and sterling silver roses.

Bridesmaids were Edith Hoops, Rhonda Lyon and Kathy Klingensmith. Their suits and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Best men were Deryk Gunn and Andy White.

Groomsmen were Russ Gibson, Cliff Hall and Jon Williams.

Mae Spivey served as flower girl; Gab Spivey was ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Lake Forrest Club, Sanford.

After a wedding trip to Palm Island, South Florida, the newlyweds are making their home in Longwood.

The groom is employed as drafting consultant for the city of Sanford.

Craft show to compliment concert

Crafts in the Courtyard is a gathering of the area's finest crafters and will be held at 251 E. Brantley Drive from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m., Oct. 15, on the grounds of Sweetwater Episcopal Academy. The admission is complimentary and parking will be available on site. Lisa Utsey is the chair of this event in conjunction with the Lakeside Pops concert to be held the same evening. During the Crafts in the Courtyard, there will be a complimentary children's music funshow from noon until 2 p.m. According to Janet McCachren, the chair of the children's music funshow, the musical program for children will feature the Sunshine Generation's "Silly Songs of the '60s and '70s," medley from "Grease," Wekiva River Players selections from "Annie," and the Mountain Man western dancing. Bring the children, enjoy the crafts and then come back in the evening for the concert.

Divorcing parents: Think first of kids

DEAR ABBY: I am an attorney in Minnesota, and for the past five years have had a substantial family law practice. I've had some interesting cases where parents have been very bitter, and the divorces have been lengthy due to child custody or visitation arguments.

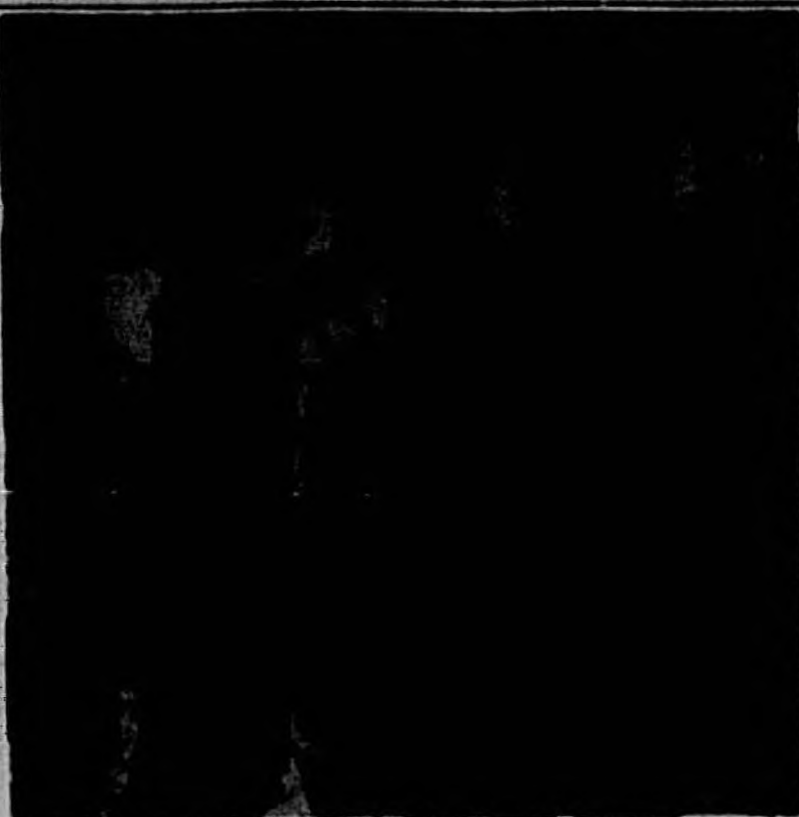

family thinks of the other party — these children are one half of each of you. Remember that, because every time you tell your child what an idiot his father is, or what a fool his mother is, or how bad the absent parent is, or what terrible things that person has done, you are telling the child that half of him is bad.

I recently participated in a very difficult hearing, after which Judge Hans of Walker, Minn., provided some of the most profound words of wisdom I've ever heard from the bench in all my years as an attorney. His philosophy could provide insight to all parents, especially those who are involved in difficult discussions. I am enclosing a copy of a portion of the transcript.

PAUL J. KELTHER, AT-ORNEY AT LAW, BAXTER, MINN.
DEAR MR. KELTHER: Many divorcing parents could learn from the wise words of Judge Hans... and here they are:
"Your children have come into this world because of the two of you. Perhaps you two made lousy choices as to who you decided to be the other parent. If so, that is your problem and your fault."
"No matter what you think of the other party — or what your

"That is an unforgivable thing to do to a child. That is not love; it is possession. If you do that to your children, you will destroy them as surely as if you had cut them into pieces, because that is what you are doing to their emotions."
"I sincerely hope you don't do that to your children. Think more about your children and less of yourselves, and make yours a selfish kind of love, not selfish or selfish, or they will suffer."

fireplace. None of the girls seemed to mind as they took turns singing, telling jokes and doing skits.

Sunday was checkout day and as the ranger went to each unit

Farewell my pony

Harriett Boyd's Welch-Shelton pony died Sept. 21, 1984. "Switches" was 30 years old, making her 90 in "human" years. Boyd submitted this information about Switches:

impaired, began when a mother witnessed her deaf child who was unable to understand what the teacher and other children were saying. Through sounds and words, the child learned a language which was not her own.

Four years ago, Samantha Keene, a 9-year-old, was in this situation in a Seminole County School. She was the only deaf child in her neighborhood. Samantha was indeed frustrated and isolated. Her mom, Pat, wanted to provide Samantha with an atmosphere where she could develop her social skills. New Friends, Inc. has about 80 members who share information about educational opportunities and modes of communication. They teach sign language classes and interpret as a community service. They also provide emotional support, financial support for needed equipment, and they socialize.

Keene started the club by planning get-togethers for Samantha and friends. The number grew to 38 families getting together for trips to the zoo and picnics. Out of this idea came the opportunity for the children to make friends without the stigma of being different. This became an informational center and support group for parents.

Samantha now attends the Florida School for the Deaf and Blind in St. Augustine, but the charter chapter in Seminole County continues to grow. Todd Latoski of Longwood is president of the chapter. He has gotten more New Friends members involved in the community. Todd says he met New Friends through his church and was drawn to the children. He travels with them when they make their public appearances at church, club and public functions such as Orlando Magic games, the recent ABWA (American Business Women's Association) Annual Day. Todd is now proficient in sign language, acts as interpreter for the club and devotes his time to publishing a monthly newsletter and acts as booking agent for the club.

They have signed Christmas carols at Universal Studios, the National Anthem at Orlando Cub games. They have signed the national anthems of the United States and Canada recently at the ABWA conference. To be able to show the national anthem in their language is a chance for them to be proud of their culture. Todd says he encourages the kids to give back a little bit to the community.

The kids attend once a year, a week-long summer camp in Tennessee. The camp is for hearing-impaired children and they are helped to build their confidence and self-esteem. At camp everything is done in sign language. They are completely in their own world. Not all families can afford to send their children nor can they afford to purchase the much needed equipment such as vibrating or light-display wakeup alarms, alarms to announce phone calls, hearing aids, and doorbells, which are often replaced for growing children.

The club helps pay for

"She looked like a miniature Clydesdale in color and in shape. She was purchased from Walter Steels when she was three years old and had lived in Lake Mary, in her pasture for 27 years, right on Lake Mary Boulevard."

"She has entertained many children in Lake Mary. She has been in Lake Mary and Sanford parades and in "Dusty Boots" shows. These shows were often held behind Sanford's K-Mart."

Through the years, she's seen all the changes made in Lake Mary. She's changed from a rural pony to an urban pony. As Lake Mary Boulevard was widened, she watched everyday. If she could talk, she could have told you some tales.

"She watched all the changes looking over her barbed wire fence."

1995 FORD CAR HIGHLIGHTS

Ford Division covers all the market bases for 1995 — its strongest product lineup ever—and incorporates the added value of Roadside Assistance.

"Our range of high-quality 1995 cars is aimed at satisfying the needs of the full spectrum of customers across the country," says Ross Roberts, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager.

"Whether people want small cars, medium cars or big cars; whether they want value-priced cars, spacious and luxurious cars, sporty cars, performance cars or something for the family, Ford dealers have them all."

The 24-hour Roadside Assistance Program is "standard equipment" on all Ford cars and trucks. It delivers no-charge help to owners or lessees who have a flat tire, dead battery, empty gas tank or are locked out. There is even free towing service, if needed.

From Aspire through Escort, Probe, Mustang, Contour and Thunderbird and on up to Taurus and Crown Victoria, here's a rundown on the 1995 Ford Division cars:

1995 & 1995 Ford Thunderbirds

Ford Aspire

Ford's subcompact Aspire is the lowest-priced car equipped with standard dual air bags, delivers excellent fuel economy and has plenty of room for four adults or, with the rear seats folded down, lots of cargo. Aspire is equipped with a standard dual air bag supplemental restraint system (SRS) and an anti-lock braking system (ABS) is an option. Aspire is available in three- or five-door models.

Ford Thunderbird

As it marks 40 years of production, Thunderbird continues to provide the kind of customer satisfaction that has made it the top-seller in its market segment (middle specialty cars) for six straight years. Thunderbird comes in two models, LX and Super Coupe, with a choice of V-6, supercharged V-6 or 4.6-liter V-8 engines. A new option for 1995 is an electronic AM/FM stereo radio with compact disc player and premium sound.

Ford Escort

America's best-selling subcompact car and also the leader in wagon sales, Escort adds momentum for 1995 with a dual air bag supplemental restraint system (SRS) plus a new wraparound instrument panel. There is a new safety option, too: an integrated child seat.

Under Escort's popular One Price plan, customers can choose a well-equipped LX three-, four-, five-door or wagon model at the same Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price (MSRP).

1995 FORD LIGHT TRUCK HIGHLIGHTS

For 1995, Ford — America's light truck leader — continues to build the value and appeal of its pickups, utility vehicles, passenger wagons and vans by presenting new models, new equipment and new safety features. All Ford light trucks have a driver's air bag supplemental restraint system (SRS) as standard equipment and are covered by 24-hour Roadside Assistance.

Here is a look at what's new, by truck line:

Ford F-Series

The Ford F-Series full-size pickup — number one in sales for 17 straight years — expands its lineup with a new top-of-the-line model. The Eddie Bauer F-150 is exceptionally well-equipped, has a distinctive two-tone paint treatment, and is designed both for traditional full-size pickup buyers and for customers who use their pickups for personal transportation.

To bolster Ford's diesel leadership, the 7.3-liter DI (direct injection) "Power Stroke" V-8 Turbo Diesel is available with both manual and automatic transmissions on vehicles over 8,500 pounds and will be the only diesel available for 1995 Ford trucks. This is the most powerful diesel pickup engine ever.

The F-Series gets a new exterior color choice, Sapphire Blue Clearcoat Metallic. Privacy glass is a new option.

Ford Windstar

Equipment modifications since Ford Windstar was introduced last spring include making a 3.0-liter V-6 engine standard on the GL model, with a 3.8-liter V-6 available as an option. The LX model of the front-wheel-drive minivan continues to be powered by a 3.8-liter V-6 engine with aluminum cylinder heads. An electronically controlled four-speed automatic transmission with overdrive is standard with either engine.

Among the newly added options on the LX are fog lamps, load-leveling suspension, and four bucket seats with leather seating surfaces. A seat/bed and interior convenience group are new to the GL option list.

1995 Ford F-150 Supercab

1995 Ford F150 Flareside

A trailer-towing package is now available on both models.

Windstar is available as either a seven-passenger wagon or a cargo van.

Ford Aerostar

The wagon lineup of the Ford Aerostar is simplified for 1995. The wagon is offered exclusively in the well-appointed XLT series. Both wagon and van versions have a new occupant-protection feature: Side-door guard beams join the driver's air bag and rear anti-lock braking system (ABS) as standard equipment.
