THREE ARE SHOT NEAR GENEVA IN ROW OVER LAND

Frank Parker, Ernest Toon Mrs. J.T. Toon Sprayed With Birdshot During Argument; Tige Scholl Is Apprehended

Two men and a woman living at Geneva are in the Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital of Sanford with numerous birdshot wounds. The trio is said to have been shot late this morning by Tige Scholl, also of Geneva, while they were in a boat on the St. Johns river near the Geneva bridge.

Sheriff C. M. Hand left for Geneva early this afternoon to investigate the shooting and to place Scholl under arrest.

The three injured are Frank Parker, Mrs. J. T. Toon and her son, Ernest Toon, 18 years of age. According to Parker, he bought some land recently, and had two boys go to a canal on the land to clean it up. Scholl warned the boys to keep off the property, Parker said. The argument was renewed again this morning, just before they got into a power boat, he said.

While Parker and his companions were riding in the boat not far from the shore, Scholl suddenly began firing, Parker said. Young Toon jumped into the water. Parker said he saw the boat but he was prevented from reaching it because he was afraid that when he left his post at the "kicker" the boat would head for the shore.

Parker, although his head and body had numerous wounds, aided his companions into his automobile and drove to Sanford. He was bleeding freely when he arrived at the hospital, attendants said. The wounds will not prove fatal, Dr. J. N. Tolar, attending physician said, unless unforeseen developments materialize.

Scholl is being detained in the county jail here pending an investigation. No charges have as yet been filed against him.

S. submarine S-51, obtained as the water was drained out of her in dry dock, and Navy workmen prepared to enter and bring out the bodies of the crew who perished at their posts. Notice the crumpled prow, the great gash in her side where the City of Rome struck. Two of the pontoons that floated her to the Brooklyn Navy Yard can be seen, and the half masted flag. The ship cost $2,500,000 and can be reconditioned, officials estimate, for $750,000.

C. W. ENTZMINGER RESIGNS FROM COUNTY BOARD

Falling Health And Demands Of Business Are Given As Reasons For Retirement; Frank Evans Takes Office

Frank Evans, Lake Mary resident who was elected to the board of county commissioners from district No. 3 in the last June primary, succeeding C. W. Entzinger, of Longwood, who did not offer for re-election, was appointed by Governor Martin to take office yesterday following the acceptance of Mr. Entzinger's resignation.

Falling health and an enforced absence from the county during the coming two months were given by Mr. Entzinger as the reasons prompting his withdrawal from office before the official date of his term's expiration, which is January 1.

Mr. Entzinger has served on the commission for 13 consecutive years, having been appointed to office in 1913, immediately after the county of Seminole was formed.

In commenting on his resignation Mr. Entzinger told a Herald representative this morning that "problems confronting the county at the present time required every commissioner at his post."

"I will be unable to give the proper attention to public duties during the coming months," Mr. Entzinger continued, "and I believe that the interests of the community will best be served by my withdrawal at this time in favor of Frank Evans."

Paris Takes Fancy To Moroccan Chief

PARIS, July 13.—(AP)—Moulay Youssef, sultan of Morocco, a smiling black-bearded figure in white silk burnoose, has captured the Parisian popular fancy. His visit, apparently regarded as a symbolic event, surrounded by all spectacular elements to strike the imagination, has been a succession of fusing receptions. Some officials, however, have protested the official welcome to him.

The sultan arrived in Paris yesterday morning. It was the first time that any sultan of Morocco since the present dynasty was founded, had crossed his own frontiers, except at the head of an army.

GIRL'S SLAYING IS MYSTERY TO BOSTON POLICE

Most Gruesome And Baffling Killing In Recent Years Investigated By Officers

BOSTON, July 13.—(AP)—Boston police today were faced with the most gruesome and baffling murder mystery they have encountered in recent years.

The body of a girl, mutilated, dismembered and unidentified, lay in the city morgue and picked up and discovered early today on a lonely road that winds its way between two cemeteries.

Police believe the young woman had been dead a week and that her body had been cut up and packed into two boxes and buried in a bag in which it was found, some time last Sunday. This was indicated by a superficial examination by medical authorities.

GRAND JURY TO RESUME PROBE OF KIDNAPING

Police Officer May Prove Star Witness

Aviator Subpoenaed After He Asserts That He Can Prove Evangelist Left In Plane

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—(AP)—With a number of new witnesses subpoenaed since its last session the county grand jury today is prepared to resume its investigation of the alleged kidnaping of Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of Angelus Temple.

While Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, heads the list of those to testify, Assistant Chief of Police Murchison of Douglas, Ariz., arrived yesterday and is among those expected to play an important part in the day's proceedings.

Murchison is one of a number of Arizona and Sonora, Mexico, officials who have accepted invitations to appear before the grand jury and tell of various circumstances surrounding the disappearance of Mrs. McPherson at the Mexican border town of Agua Prieta after she had been missing for more than a month.

Aviator Is Summoned The last witness to be summoned was Clyde DeVilliers, Los Angeles aviator. He was served with a subpoena yesterday after he had told police that he could prove that Mrs. McPherson left Los Angeles in an airplane when she disappeared.

The evangelist branded the aviator's story as "absurd and not to be dignified with a reply." Mrs. E. M. Broadwell, a Denver writer, who has been referred to as the evangelist's "double," and who was sought in northern California yesterday, was located in Los Angeles last night. She said she came here when she read dispatches that private detectives employed by Mrs. McPherson were looking for her.

Conferred With Evangelist Immediately upon arrival she went to Angelus Temple and conferred with the evangelist. Later she issued a statement outlining her movements since May 18, the day that Mrs. McPherson dropped from sight at Ocean Park. On that day, the statement said, she was in Denver. Shortly after that, it continued, she went to Oakland and remained in the bay district during the entire time of Mrs. McPherson's absence.

A rumor last night that the grand jury was to terminate its investigation while not confirmed, brought forth a statement from head of the body, that unless an indictment was returned, no grand jury report on the case would be made public.

All Obligations Of France Taken Care Of In English Pact

LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—The settlement signed in London yesterday by Finance Minister Callaux covers not only the French war debt but virtually all the outstanding accounts between Great Britain and France. Announcement to this effect was made in the house of commons today by Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill.

The French payments, he said, would be 4,000,000 pounds, 6,000,000 pounds, 8,000,000 pounds and 10,000,000 pounds, rising to 12,500,000 pounds annually, the last named figure being reached in 1939.

From 1930 to 1936, the payment would be 12,500,000 pounds annually, rising to 14,000,000 pounds for the final 31 years.

TAXPAYERS HALT PLANS TO WIDEN LOCAL STREETS

Organized Opposition To City's Program Results In Delay Of Project Indefinitely; First Street Paving Scored

Opposition to the proposed paving of First Street by certain Sanford business property owners resulted in the postponement of the proposed improvement upon the recommendation of Mayor Forrest Lake at the regular commission meeting yesterday afternoon. The program of widening and paving three other streets was also indefinitely deferred.

Objections to the proposed improvement were expressed by D. L. Thrasher of the real estate firm of Thrasher and Garner, who acted as spokesman for the group of men present. Mr. Thrasher expressed his objections immediately after City Engineer Fred T. Williams outlined the plans of the city engineering department on carrying out the improvement.

"I believe it is the consensus of opinion here," Mr. Thrasher said, "that the majority of business men of First Street are opposed to the improvement. They would favor it if the city would pay for it. We don't think that would be asking for a great favor."

The street should not be improved at this time, Mr. Thrasher said, because financial conditions do not warrant it. "The city might go ahead and level the street and get it in shape," he said. "We think the city should do this. Speaking of the damage done to the sweeper on the brick pavement, it might be done on other paving."

"Maybe in another year's time, we will be in higher spirits, and our pockets fuller, and we will be able to put the street in first class condition. I think I have stated it as they wished it expressed."

Coroner's Jury Of Blame In

Patrolman J. V. Martin of the Sanford Police Department fatally wounded John A. Hunter, 23, a plasterer, who he had vainly sought to arm his victim. Hunter had lived in Sanford a year, died before medical attention could reach him.

Hunter was drunk and threatened the patrolman with a .38 calibre revolver according to witnesses. The shooting took place at 2:45 o'clock, in front of Sanford Filling station, Street and Sanford Avenue.

The patrolman was charged with all blame for the killing by a coroner's jury which was impaneled. Three witnesses had heard the jury return a verdict of manslaughter. Patrolman Martin's defense of his own role in the shooting was heard in discharge of his duty. Hunter died as the result of a gunshot wound, the verdict added, "inflicted by the of Officer J. V. Martin."

George A. Hunter of Miami, Md., father of the dead man, notified late this morning of the tragedy by W. I. Boyd, and Hunter's employer, man Martin, who has been a member of the police department the last four months.

A third witness, W. E. also testified of visiting the station shortly before the shooting but he was at the Bell County shops away, when the shooting occurred.

Bank testified that he was at the filling station and saw a check, which he said he had given to Hunter. He said, Hunter had been paid his refusal and furnished with his customer. When Patrolman Martin called upon him to take charge of Hunter's body.

With Best Period Of Life Which To Make Important Decisions, Says College Head

JUNALASKA, July 13.—(AP)—"Youth is the best period in which to make important decisions," declared Dr. Ed. Soper, dean of the school of education at Duke University at Durham, N. C., in a devotional address before the Methodist Assembly here.

At the innovations of the assembly at the sessions here were addresses at twelve o'clock each day. Dr. Soper has secured to give these lectures in a series of his first addresses and management of the assembly that the attendance will be daily.

"Youth the heyday of life," Dr. Soper said it was a God's plan that certain things can be done in youth better than any other time, and if they are never done so, they are never done so.

"Youth is the heyday, he said, when youth is pre-eminently a play and through play one learns to obey rules of the game; to take defeat; the value of work; fair play; and self-important choices which fall in the period of youth, according to Dr. Soper, are decisions of life work; lasting friendships which are the decisions that determine the inner bent of life; the choice of his companions; a matter which makes or breaks every other decision of life; and the making of decisions that determine character. It is possible for them to make decisions include impulsiveness and a tender conscience that sees moral distinctions clearly, the speaker said.

"Nothing can make for failure to get a right start in life," asserted Dr. Soper, "even with all that forgiveness accomplishes the distinctive after life can never be the same as if sin had never entered."

"Youth is the heyday of life. It is the period in which character is made and if their elders fail to lead them out into the kind of life they should live, they will never have the same chance again. Life is not all one thing, but has a culminating place and everything God intended to be a part of that life is there."

COACHING SCHOOL IS ESTABLISHED AT GAINESVILLE

Tom Sebring, Gator Mentor Assisted By Warren Cowell Is Conducting School For State High School Coaches

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, Gainesville, July 13.—(AP)—The University of Florida has established a coaching school for high school coaches and athletes. Courses are offered in football, basketball, track and baseball, which are two-hour ones and run for four weeks.

Tom Sebring, youthful mentor of the Florida "Fightin' Gators," conducts the football classes, while Coach Brady Cowell has charge of those in basketball and baseball.

The courses are intended to raise the standards in coaching circles. The number enrolled is comparatively low as compared to the number of high schools in the state which have athletic coaches. The school was inaugurated to train professors or teachers in high schools who must meet certain requirements and standards.

Captain Tom, the newly appointed director of athletics for the University, is commenting on the coaching of athletics, stated.

"When athletics play such an important part in the life of every growing high school boy or girl, there is no reason why we should not insist on those who are to coach sports that they be just as qualified in that field as the English teacher and the mathematics teacher is, in their particular field."

Among those enrolled in the course this summer are the following:

Mills Smith, captain-elect of Duval High School football squad; Broward McClellan, star quarterback of Blountstown High School team last year who piloted his team to some notable victories last fall after a summer spent in Coach Sebring's classes; "Cadillac" Hurry, of Madison, who played guard on the "Fightin' Gators" squad last year; A. A. Merbler, Pensacola; Marion H. Anderson, coach of Newberry High; A. G. Driggers, Wauchula; William Ryan, Cotescoville, Pa.; A. H. Stephens, Wauchula; R. C. Maddox, Clearwater; B. T. McClellan, Kinzie Pitts and Everett McFarland and Jack Horne, all of Blountstown.

New Rates On Fertilizer Shipments Ordered By Florida Railroad Board

TALLAHASSEE, July 12.—(AP)—The Florida Railroad Commission today ordered all railroad companies and common carriers engaged in interstate business in Florida to cut into effect such rates in the transportation of fertilizer in car loads and less-than-carload shipments from points other than Jacksonville which would remove "unjust discrimination" declared by the commission to exist against the latter city.

DRAINAGE PLAN FOR 2 COUNTIES IS MADE PUBLIC

Project To Reclaim Immense Tract In Alachua, Marion Would Cost Three Millions

GAINESVILLE, Fla., July 13.—(AP)—Plans for an immense drainage project which is calculated to reclaim 250,000 acres of lake, prairie and swamp lands in Alachua and Marion counties, and which is expected to cost about $3,000,000 were made public here today by the local chamber of commerce which has the plans under consideration.

It is understood that engineers have been busy for some time and that holders of about 57,000 acres of land have agreed to the plan so far. The drainage would start in an area just south of Lakes Santa Fe and Alto near Waldo and would run through Lake Newman and Prairie creek to Payne's place, a company of Crescent City, Fla., to the Florida Telephone plant.

The rates, the order states, must not be on higher bases than those contemplated and applied in constructing rates on fertilizer, carload and less-than-carload, from Jacksonville to other points. The railroads must also report to the commission "how and in what manner they have complied with this order," which it was stated, is effective Aug. 1.

The Seaboard Air Line Railroad was found by the commission to be guilty of violation of its rule calling for the application of the same schedule of freight rates for commodities as those in effect for controlling railroads, and was imposed a fine of $1,000. The railroad, the commission charged, failed to establish for the Charlotte Harbor & Northern Railroad, the rates as prescribed by the rule.

Sanford Herald... The failure of the City Commission and affected tax payers to get together at the conference held yesterday afternoon is regrettable in that it marks the first serious interruption of Sanford's steady and consistent civic expansion.

Widen Those Avenues

The failure of the City Commission and affected tax payers to get together at the conference held yesterday afternoon is regrettable in that it marks the first serious interruption of Sanford's steady and consistent civic expansion.

Ignoring whatever effects the matter may have on outside interests and prospective settlers, the situation narrows down to a purely local basis and one inescapable fact remains, the streets in the downtown district MUST be widened.

Undoubtedly the plan for the early beginning of the paving program in the downtown section was thwarted by those who dislike the expense entailed by the repaving of First Street.

Too much stress has been laid on the repaving while entirely too little thought has been given to the principal requirement, which is widening.

Widen these avenues first. Then, decide on the type of paving. Numerous objections to the plan of the commissioners arose because the plans called for asphalt to be laid in the place of the present brick.

The conference yesterday failed miserably without a compromise of any description being effected. But the question of street widening is too vital to long lay dormant.

If this work is dependent on a new First Street grade, the city could, without a great deal of expense, tear up First Street and relay the old bricks.

C. W. Entzminger Resigns

After thirteen years of consecutive service, on the Seminole county Board of Commissioners, C. W. Entzminger, veteran Longwood member, today retires, leaving a record of accomplishment enviable and almost without parallel in this community.

Appointed to the first board of commissioners named to administer the affairs of this county following its creation in 1913, Mr. Entzminger has served fully and conscientiously, subordinating personal and factional interests to the general good of the community.

His has been no empty, no vainglorious tenure of office. Action has characterized his long term of service, and in every matter affecting the welfare of the county his voice has been heard championing, with rare discernment, matters beneficial.

And if any one commendable trait could be said to stand uppermost in his record of service, this characteristic is loyalty, a quality which is reflected even in his resignation, which was tendered because failing health and an enforced absence from the county prevented him from "giving his best to the people."

So with consideration for the best interests of the community, Mr. Entzminger offered his resignation, which will permit his successor, Frank Evans, to fill his place before the official expiration of his term in January.

Iron From Electricity... Two Divorces, No More For Bival Chair Exports. Coming, $25 a Day. BY ARTHUR BRIBBANN

IN THIS industrial age, an announcement by the engineering world that the iron may be produced from ore by electricity is far more important than any news about art, literature or politics.

Melting ore and making iron with fire may soon be part of the primitive past, if engineers are not mistaken.

Iron produced electrically would be less subject to rust, and that alone would prevent an annual 20,000,000 tons of steel that goes to waste through corrosion.

THE PACIFIC Coast is interested in this news. No more coal mines or coal hauling necessary in steel plants. That great mountain of iron near Mexico City, or cheap, high grade iron ore, brought through the canal from Cuba, and combined with abundant, cheap electric power of the coast, would complete advantageously with Pittsburgh and Gary.

STEEL MEN know their industry is not self-satisfied as Britishers at a convention of steel men, who voted to cease from their efforts a certain proposition, that they might not be made party to a proposition to make steel by the Bessemer process.

Electricity may do for steel production more than was done by that Bessemer process.

Either you believe that marriages are made in Heaven, and no divorce can be legal, or you admit that marriage is like other human enterprises, full of imperfections, with the right of each to keep on trying while he lives.

HENRY and Edsel Ford's new flying machine, built in their new factory, will be ready in August, and represents a long step in aviation. Their plane, with three engines of 600 horsepower, will be as nearly danger proof as is possible now.

With one of these three engines "dead," the plane can continue its journey. If two engines stop, the pilot could still travel twenty to thirty miles, depending on his altitude, in search of a safe landing place.

EACH PLANE will carry eight or ten passengers, and the new Ford plane should make an ideal carrier for about eight of our swivel chair airplane authorities that have held back aviation in this country.

J. L. GARVIN, in the London Observer, says Henry Ford killed the Karl Marx theories when he (Ford) established five dollars a day as a minimum wage. Marx built up his theories from deep books in the British museum. Ford built his plan in a factory, studying men.

FIVE DOLLARS a day that you really get, or six dollars, the present Ford minimum, is better than any theory telling how to get the $5 or $6 day by day.

IT SOUNDS like anarchy, Bolshevism and blasphemy to say it, but as general American prosperity has increased, since wages were raised from $1 to $5, so it would improve in proportion if they were raised, as they will be in time, from $5 to $25 a day.

Years hence $125 for a five-day week will not seem strange. But wages do not settle everything. Men want the incentive of being in business for themselves, the excitement of making more when they do better work. They want freedom from monotony, and they want variety in occupation.

FORD KNOWS it, and plans at least variety. He wants farmers to do factory work in winter, taking the work to them also he plans to get their agricultural year to a few weeks of actual work, with the help of machinery.

IT WOULD make conservative capital shudder if it could foresee the size of wages in the future and the luxury of the average man. The man above the average will, of course, get more in proportion.

THE GOVERNMENT arsenal at Lake Denmark, in New Jersey was destroyed with disastrous loss of life, and the fact that lightning caused the explosion is taken as sufficient explanation of the disaster. But is it sufficient? What experts has the government recently employed to deal with the lightning danger that kills so many, menacing every arsenal, powder plant and oil tank in the country?

LIGHTNING is electricity from the upper atmosphere, on its way to smother the earth. It is not a malicious power used by divine providence to punish, as once was thought. It is power running wild.

Franklin suggested a way to control it with his lightning rods, and many barns and houses were protected by such rods in the old days. Has any systematic effort been made by government scientists to direct the lightning into a safe channel?

A SWELL FISHIN' TRIP THIS TURNED OUT TO BE

DOES IGNORANCE INCREASE?

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia, is quoted by Prof. Tassin who passes on themes of students as well as those of Sing Sing convicts, as believing that the tide of hopeless ignorance is higher than it has been for 800 years. As a bare assertion, unqualified by whatever else, Prof. Butler may have said at the time he made this startling declaration, it has no more foundation than if he had asserted that all men are bad or that all men are good.

If illiteracy is meant, the statement is utterly without foundation. But it is unthinkable that a man of Dr. Butler's wide views should have meant that illiteracy is worse than it was 300 years ago. Three hundred years ago was 1626, ten years after the death of Shakespeare. The age of feudalism was scarcely done. The only people who knew how to write and read were the gentry, the noblemen, only some of them, and the clergy. Common schools were unknown. There was no general system of education. The wages of a work man varied between 20 cents and possibly 10 cents a day.

Yet an age like this, barely past the so-called dark ages, produced a Shakespeare, a Ben Jonson, a Marlowe, a Spenser—in fact the masters of our grandest of all languages. There were then more men of superlative attainment than now, if we can assume that ours is the television to judge of greatness for posterity.

But 300 years before that Michelangelo, Petrarch and Dante had produced masterpieces that none of the men 300 years ago could rival, save only Shakespeare, and the level of knowledge in Dante's time was far lower even than it was in Shakespeare's time.

What seems to be the truth is that the general level of intelligence is higher, but that the level of individual attainment is lower. Education and the knowledge of how to read and write is more widespread, certainly, than at any time in the world's history. In the struggles of peoples to emancipate themselves, such as that of the Russians, only brute force is reversed and intellectual attainment is regarded with suspicion. For people who have only their physical strength to maintain their supremacy dare not trust those whose education and intellects enable them to assert manifest superiority when superiority is exactly what they have just overcome. This is understandable. But the general level of ignorance has not risen. What seems to be the paradoxical phenomenon is that physical and material progress has far outstripped every other form of advance. Then, too, materially we are so much richer than any preceding generation that more and more denied to previous intellectuals are now available and for intellectual growth nothing is so congenial as plain living and thinking. But, in the United States, one who sets about plain living and high thinking is discovered by some reporter or publicity hound, and he is either placed in an asylum or so photographed and written about so much high thinking are destroyed.

Unless we are poorer and we have more leisure, our individual accomplishment in the arts, in music and in literature must be poor compared with the efforts of those who like Walter Pater, spent ten years polishing and pruning and rewriting until his work lacked little of perfection, or Michelangelo, who spent ten or twenty years if he be carving "Moses" or a "Pieta," or painting the ceiling of the Sistine-chapel. It is not the intelligence of the crowd that has fallen. It is the performance of the intelligent.

SCHWAB'S TEN COMMANDMENTS

Almost everybody is ready to agree that idleness is the source of endless mischief and that to be truly happy, one must keep reasonably busy. Charles M. Schwab gives ten general rules making for success in life that cover the situation thoroughly. Indeed they are well worth preserving and even memorizing, being applicable to those just starting out in life as well as those now in the thick of the battle for existence. Here they are:

- 1. Work hard. Hard work is the best investment a man can make.
2. Study hard. Knowledge enables a man to work more intelligently and effectively.
3. Have initiative. Ruts often deepen into graves.

TRUTHFUL HISTORY

Turkish school children are in for a dull time if the Turkish Board of Education carries out its avowed intention. Faced with the alternative of penny plain or two-penny colored facts and dates versus the romantic and picturesque, the educational authorities in Turkey have decided that historical text books intended for use in the Turkish schools must be free from all falsehoods, all stories, all allegories. The new generation of Turks must, they contend, learn the truth at all costs. But is there such a thing as a really truthful history of a people? When we take away the legends, the impressions, the colorful incidents of history, what is left? History which the historians have written is a mere skeleton of names, dates, facts. No longer would the reading of history be the fascinating occupation which it now is. For the sake of the young Turkish scholars we hope that Turkey's Board of Education will relent and put back into the school books the wealth of human knowledge which the historians have written.

News About European Women

LONDON.—(AP)—A feature of London's social whirl this season has been the elaborate lighting schemes initiated by American society leaders and since copied by their British sisters.

The method is much like that obtaining in the principal theatres, from concealed bulbs without direct lights.

PARIS.—(AP)—The manner in which ladies of the Russian court have fitted themselves into the life of commerce in Paris is a matter of much comment in the French press.

The Grand Duchess Marie went to work as any ordinary woman in a French embroidery house to learn her chosen profession, and now employs dozens of her compatriots in her own place.

In another dressmaking establishment Princess Obolenski is the cashier and bookkeeper Princess Troubetskoi is the general manager of the cutting room, and Mile. Annikoff has charge of fittings.

Vaudeville Act Will Supplement Special Picture At Milane

A capacity house was on hand for the opening day of the Milane Theater's "Anniversary Week" yesterday, and selected pictures and several special selections including a vaudeville skit by William (Bill) Elliott and Miss "Bo" Bannan were on the program prepared by Manager J. L. Marentette in celebration of the Milane's first birthday.

"Bill" Elliott is described as the "southland's sweetest singer" and Miss Bannan appears under the sobriquet of the "queen of syncopation." The pair will perform at the theater for the entire week appearing as an added attraction at the commencement of the three daily performances.

A carefully selected group of pictures including "The Unknown Soldier," "The Road to Mandalay," "The Wise Guy" and "Ella Cinders" will be shown, and a number of surprise features sprung at each evening show, Mr. Marentette stated.

MISS MARGARET ZACHARY HOST AT PARTY FOR MISS CAMPBELL

The spacious home of Miss Margaret Zachary was most beautifully adorned with quantities of cut flowers and ferns Monday evening when she entertained at bridge honoring Miss Mildred Campbell of Charlotte, N. C., the attractive house guest of Miss Perrie Lee Bell on Celery Avenue.

Exquisite dahlias and sinias combined with greenery lent their beauty in decorating the rooms where the guests met for play.

Scores were kept on tallies done in old-fashioned girls and after several rounds of bridge, these were collected and prizes awarded.

Miss Naomi Scoggin received a lovely white linen party bag, for having top score, while Miss Marion Hand was given a dainty handmade handkerchief in gold as low score. A guest of honor was also given a white linen and flax bag.

After the game, the table laid with embroidered refreshments consisting of soups in a mode and served by the hostess assisted by her mother Mrs. A. D. Zachary, Miss Lillian Shinholer.
