The Art of Beauty

By B. M. DOUGLAS

GREEK MAIDENS HAD THEIR DAILY DOZEN, TOO

THE ravages of the sun were a serious problem for the fair Greek beauties of four thousand years ago. When she set sunburn working on her maids quickly washed her face with the juice of lemons. It obnoxious freckles began to appear, a plate of oatmeal and lemon juice was applied and allowed to dry before being washed off with lemon juice.

Since the Greek maiden wore sandals sans hose, the nails of her feet received the same attention as her finger nails. She had a pomade made from Dragon's blood, mixed with the fat of the sheep or Atlas' dragon's blood by the way, not being what it sounds like, but merely a balsam made from the juice of various plants such as sweet flag, dragon's blood tree, and others of the same family.

Then, as now, the lipstick was an indispensable part of the toilette. Nature was also helped along in the matter of eye-lashes, which were dyed with a preparation made from lead and antimony. The celebrated Greekian grace was acquired and maintained by various exercises, much like the Swedish exercises of today for the Greeks did not depend entirely on make-up for their beauty. Real beauty to them was more than beauty of color; it was beauty of form, as well. They were taught, too, to regard beauty as the outward expression of inward perfection, and they set a standard of beauty which has been the goal of civilizations far removed in time and distance.

Country Club Dance Proves To Be One Of Best Of This Season

Merry and filled with desire to secure the full of fun from the spirits of Halloween's ghosts and goblins, the dance at the Country Club Saturday evening was one of the most enjoyable in the history of the younger set of Sanford.

Costumes that proved in some cases a vital imagination combined with artistic design helped to liven the merry makers. Miss Dorothy Kay, dressed as an Arabian princess and Byron Stephens as a shiek won the race for the best costume in a contest which was the prize of the night.

PROTECTION OF BIRDS SOUGHT

GRANDDAD, Oct. 27. Protection for birds now migrating to this part of the country is being sought against the sting shots and other ruses in the hands of careless and thoughtless boys of this city. The Humane Society has sent out an appeal to parents of children calling their attention to the beauty of these winged winter visitors and the desirability of giving them protection. Attention is called to the usefulness of the migratory birds in destroying bugs and worms that kill crops.

Town Lads Find Clowns Mighty Regular Fellows

To talk with a real live clown, in the pugroom. And the better the what boy is there who doesn't thrill at the prospect? And it happens every day that the great stretches of canvas, housing the wonders of Sells, Floto circus, are pulled taut toward the peaks of towering center poles. Clowns like boys; they like the little folk, for it is the youngsters who loudly express their eager appreciation of the amusement art of clowning. And that's why, when Sells Floto, with its newly added 'Dummi' display, comes to Sanford, Saturday, Nov. 8, that you'll see clowns and youngsters chattering merrily back and forth to each other.

Sanford High Gridder Conquer New Smyrna Team By Score of 40-0

Locals Display Series Baffling Plays And Swoop Down Field; Win with no Trouble

Meisch and Peck Shining Players.

Rejuvenated Team Is Cheered To Victory By Many Rooters

Turning loose a bewildering assortment of crossbucks, off tackle plays, trick reverse and runs, and double passes, the Sanford High gridder swept down the field to victory and overwhelmingly defeated the New Smyrna aggregation in a rather one-sided game at the municipal athletic park on Saturday.

Although distinctly one sided, despite the splendid fight exhibited by the visitors, the contest did not lack brilliance and the long end runs of Captain Peck and Meisch of the locals served to thrill the crowd on the sidelines, and brought forth many feminine squeals of glee.

The visitors never seriously threatened to score, and the only three first downs attributed to them were the result of penalties inflicted for holding on Sanford's part.

The ball remained in Sanford's possession for the greater part of the game, and with a series of end runs and passes interspersed with line bucks and off tackle plays, the locals had little difficulty in placing the ball within scoring distance again and again.

The visitors fought gamely but were outclassed from the start, and the flashy backs of the locals had no trouble in penetrating their lines at will. New Smyrna won the toss and kicked to Sanford's 30 yard line, from where Meisch, Peck and Barber returned it to the visitors' 15-yard line.

Here the New Smyrna gridder tightened down and exhibiting the old time stonewall type of opposition, prevented the locals from scoring.

Twice during the first quarter, Sanford threatened to score, but the Halifax river boys thwarted each attempt much to the surprise of the onlookers.

One minute after the second quarter had begun, Meisch bucked the line ten yards for the initial goal, and successfully kicked the extra point.

Sanford received the kickoff and three minutes later "Red" Barber carried the ball from the seven yard line for the second tally. Meisch again kicked goal.

Shortly afterwards, Billy Coleman, substituting for Thompson, got off on a long end run and was downed on New Smyrna's ten yard line, and in two plays bucked over for the third marker.

The try for the extra point failed, and a few minutes later the half ended with the ball in Sanford's possession on the visitors' 15 yard line.

In the second half, Coaches Hait and Whelchel ran in many second string men, whose performance shows conclusively that Sanford possesses the first requisite of a championship team, namely, dependable reserves.

For victories are won by powerful reinforcements, and the fact that the so-called second string men succeeded in scoring just as many touchdowns as the 'varsity' shows that the local coaches have almost two teams evenly matched.

The third quarter of the game was featured by a 30-yard end run by Captain Peck, who got off from his own 20 yard line to New Smyrna's 10 yard line, where he was downed by the visitors' safety man.

While en route on his thrilling run, Peck demonstrated a style of broken field running and stiff arm that would compare very favorably with the performances of many college stars, and this flashy young back bids fair to take his place among university luminaries of the future.

The remainder of the game was practically a repetition of the first half, with Sanford making substantial gains through the line and around end.

Several passes were worked successfully, and a long end run by Meisch annexed another touchdown. The try for goal failed.

In the last minutes of play the locals ran wild and scored two more touchdowns before the referee's whistle stopped the game with the ball in Sanford's possession in the shadow of the New Smyrna goal. Meisch successfully kicked for both extra points.

Although Peck was the most brilliant and flashy player on the field, and led in ground gaining, Meisch was undoubtedly the individual star of the game. Time after time he got off on long end runs, and was a consistent gainer through the line. He figured prominently in each touchdown made by his team, and ran interference well in addition to aiding materially in defensive work.

Hiss passing was of the first order, and "Meisch to Peck" was often a combination that succeeded in gaining much yardage.

Then too, his kicking must not be overlooked. His education was responsible for the kicking of four out of six goals, a very fair percentage. All in all he looms far above any performer in Saturday's game.

Barber and Thompson ran well with the ball and figured prominently in Sanford's respectable run. It doesn't matter how many touchdowns they score, but both are deserving of mention.

Byrd, substituting for Thompson, was great offensively, and was responsible for the last marker made by the locals. He is small but fast, and his performance stamps him as one of the most formidable high school backs in the state.

Coleman, who also showed up well in the backfield as was predicted last week, the Sanford line proved an impenetrable barrier to the charging New Smyrna backs, who were at no time able to gain appreciably through it, and it must be remembered that the wonderful showing made by the backfield as a whole was largely dependent upon the work of the line.

Pope at center and Wallace at right tackle are deserving of special mention. The back's prot player, was accurate and unerring in his passing, and was a terror offensively. Many plays were run through the "hain yard door" opening that he often ripped in New Smyrna's line, and his defensive work as a floating center was of the first order.

Wallace was a tower of strength to the whole right side of the line, and frequently broke through and nailed the runner in his tracks. Twice he threw the New Smyrna backs for substantial losses.

"Big Boy" Whitfield stopped the first attempt at a gain over his portion of the line, so decisively and fiercely that his opponents never tried to gain over him again. He also figures greatly in ripping open holes in the visitors' lines, and made several good tackles.

Wilson and Greer held down the wing positions admirably, and proved wizards at breaking up the New Smyrna brand of interference. The visitors failed to gain around either end, a fact which speaks eloquently for the type of defense exhibited by these two players. Both completed several passes for appreciable gains, and Wilson made several beautiful tackles.

Russell and Kennedy at guard and tackle respectively showed well, and were responsible for many gains by the Sanford backs over their section of the line.

Malpas, King, Harrison and Charles Booth, all subs, showed that there was very little, if any, difference between Coach Hait's first and second string men for these positions.

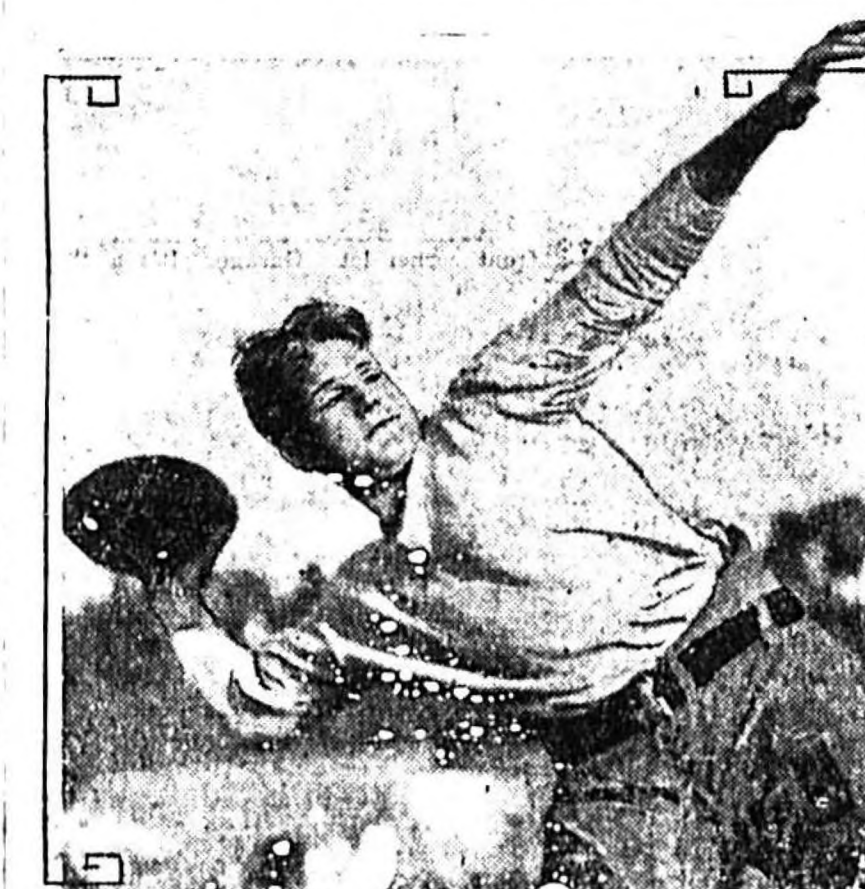

New Smyrna fought gamely throughout the contest, and though completely outplayed was never out fought. To the bitter end the visitors' backs continued their hopeless attempts to penetrate Sanford's line and it must be said to their credit that they never admitted defeat until the final whistle blew.

Curry was the shining light in their backfield.

MURPHREE WILL INSTITUTE PLAN FOR DELINQUENTS

Places Matter of High Percentage of Freshmen Who Drop Out of College In Hands of School Faculty

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA.—Oct. 21.—Dr. A. A. Murphree, president of this institution, has inaugurated plans to lower the percentage of freshmen who drop out of college after the first year. The normal percentage that fall into this class is said to be 32 per cent but the percentage is said to be higher here, and with this view of remedying the situation, Dr. Murphree has placed the matter in the hands of the faculty.

At a meeting of the faculty it was agreed that freshmen especially need the personal contact and counsel of teachers in order to reduce the mortality among the first year men and also to help these men bridge the gulf between the High School and home environment and the larger liberties of college life. It was agreed that each member of the faculty would take under his supervision a small group of freshmen for weekly interviews, the first month or so. These conferences between the student and his advisor will continue throughout the school year, at the direction of the instructor.

In a letter to members of the faculty regarding the situation, Dr. Murphree declared that the "mortality of freshmen here" "can be reduced if the freshman student is assisted in choosing his course of study wisely, and if he is aided in getting his bearings, in systematizing his time and habits of study and in learning to think."

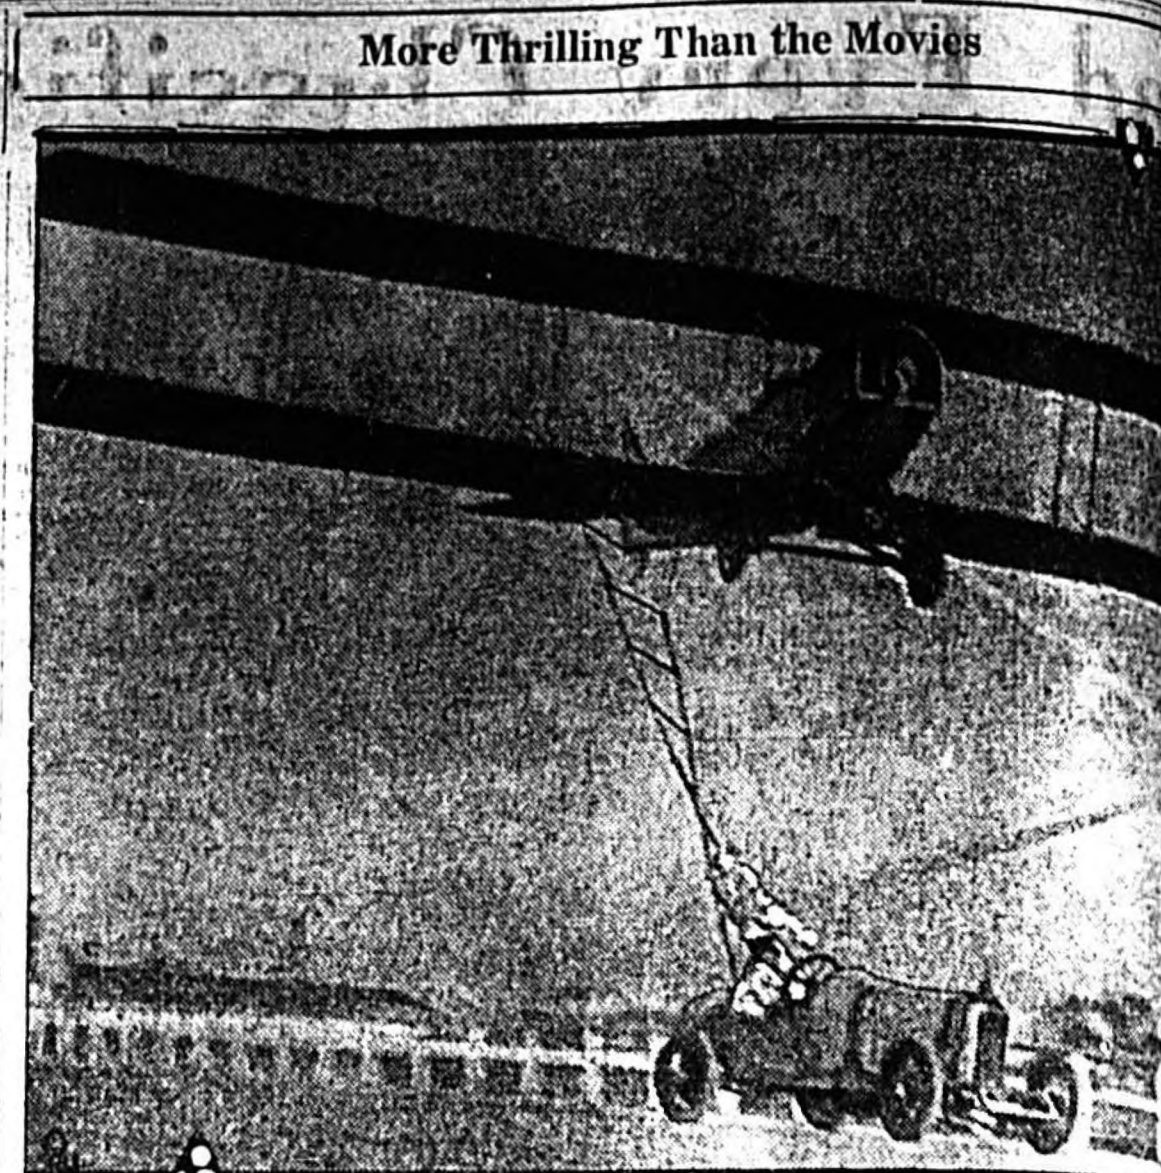

"The first year students should be made to understand the rules respecting class attendance," the letter continued, "daily preparation of assignments, the 50 per cent rule, the application of the honor system to his written test, and examinations, etc.; extra-credits in the use of funds should be discussed, and regular correspondence with parents or guardians should be urged. Above all, these first year men should be advised on the important questions of moral conduct, and what the University expects of them in reference to their behavior. The moral life and character of these boys, we hold is vastly more important than the mastery of the subject matter of their courses. The most important thing to be impressed upon the minds of all freshmen is the importance of good character and clean living."

The government is being placed in the hands of the faculty, and the situation is being managed by the school year, at the direction of the instructor.

The third game will be played on Saturday, November 22nd, at Stetson. The fourth game will be played on Saturday, November 29th, at Stetson. The fifth game will be played on Saturday, December 6th, at Stetson.

Recently the situation has become much worse, owing to the great number of aliens being sent to the border counties. In the courts it has been disclosed that some have been brought across the border by liquor runners and others, who drop their charges as soon as the border is passed.

Thousands at the Hawthorne race track, Chicago, were thrilled when Lillian Beyer, daredevil aviator, came close to death. As she jumped from a plane to a ladder trailed by a plane, one ladder caught on the exhaust pipe of the car. The driver of the car saved the girl's life by skid and disengaging the rope.
