If Congress Votes More Money Than He Wants, President Vows Vetoes And Impoundment.

READY TO COMPROMISE... Says President Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a major new effort to put Watergate behind him, President Nixon told the Democratic-controlled Congress today that he is ready to compromise "on solutions to our national problems."

Submitting a special 15,000-word State of the Union message, Nixon urged action this year on his priority legislation and stated anew actions he opposes: a tax increase, red-link spending, hefty defense cuts and the busing of school children to achieve racial balance.

Mingling compliments with criticism, Nixon said he welcomes "a congressional renaissance" and is "ready to find workable compromises wherever possible on solutions to our national problems."

While making repeated pledges of cooperation, the President emphasized that if Congress votes more money than he wants, he will not hesitate to veto spending bills and impound appropriations.

He also said he "will continue to oppose all efforts to strip the presidency of powers it must have to be effective"—an apparent threat to veto any legislation that would limit his war powers.

Nixon displayed the olive branch more prominently than the willow switch, however. Asserting a belief in a strong Congress as well as a strong presidency, he said, "There can be no monopoly of wisdom on either end of Pennsylvania Avenue and there should be no monopoly of power."

"If we proceed in a spirit of constructive partnership, our various perspectives can be a source of great creativity rather than a cause of deadlock," Nixon said.

While saying Congress has yet to act on more than 50 of his proposals, Nixon focused attention on selected bills he said would meet "many pressing problems which must be solved with dispatch."

The priority items include trade, tax and pension reform, energy proposals, special revenue sharing for public schools, local control of community development funds, anti-crime bills and creation of a campaign reform commission.

Nixon did not directly mention the Watergate scandal, but in discussing election reform he said "no subject over the last few months has so stirred public comment and reflection."

In light of this, he said, "I am at a loss to understand why only the Senate has acted," on setting up a reform-study commission.

Nixon said the public "might well ask whether the interest in reform is restricted to calling for changes rather than making changes."

Officials Try To Stem Oviedo Typhoid Outbreak

County health department water supplies and searching for a possible typhoid carrier.

LANGLEY ADAIR... Typhoid doesn't appear by itself

Typhoid just doesn't appear by itself, there must be a carrier in there," the county's pollution control department chief Langley Adair said.

Adair said samples of septic tank effluent in the yards from "irregularly septic" tanks and in street gutters have shown typhoid bacteria present in laboratory tests taken over the weekend.

At the same time, Adair and Alex Senkevich, operations director of the state DPC, were meeting on the course of the outbreak to be taken. Terry Cole, DPC attorney, was scheduled to fly in from Tallahassee later today.

Adair said he began sampling in the 38-house subdivision last week after heavy rains left water standing and yards soggy causing seven or eight septic tanks to become inoperable. "Some of the tanks were backing up into the homes," Adair said. The homes are in the $20,000-to-$40,000 class.

He said he took samples from both yards and gutters and a laboratory assistant Friday night began tests to isolate the various bacteria and discovered the typhoid.

"There was so much bacteria in the water, the samples had to be diluted at a ratio of one to 1,000," Adair said.

Adair warned if there are any breaks in the subdivision's water lines, the water supply could be contaminated and residents in Oviedo Oaks have been warned to boil all water.

The contaminated drainage waters, Adair said, go through lakes in Mead Manor before ending up in Sweetwater Creek and ultimately in Lake Jessup. Oviedo Oaks residents have also been warned to keep children from playing in the "soggy" yards and the drainage waters. "We have told them to watch for certain symptoms: sore throat, fever, rose spots, abdominal cramps and diarrhea," Adair said.

"The people should stay out of the yards, wash hands before eating and after handling anything in the yards and they must stay out of swimming pools," Adair said.

Charles Tibbals, a hydrologist with the U.S. Geological Survey's Winter Park water resources bureau, said the last test taken by the agency was May 1972 and the coliform (interic organisms) count was down at that time from the peak level in April.

Joel Kimery, the agency head, who reported high fecal coliform counts in April was not in his office this morning. Tibbals said Kimery resides in Oviedo Oaks and may be doing some testing on site.

LIMITS—The President said there are "certain principles of vital national concern which cannot be compromised—The need for budgetary discipline, and a strong national security posture."

Mayo Suggests PSC Nonpartisan Vote

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Public Service Commissioner Billy Mayo suggested today that commission members be elected on a nonpartisan basis to take politics out of utility regulation.

"It is rather frustrating to work as hard as I work... Knowing that no matter what I do or how I do it nobody is going to like the end result. So I am seeking ways to improve this situation," Mayo said in a speech prepared for a Jacksonville Rotary Club luncheon.

Mayo, a nine-year veteran of the PSC, noted that state judges now are elected on a nonpartisan basis. "This commission is quasi-judicial in nature," he said.

"I expect there are going to be some Democrats and some Republicans who aren't going to like the idea very much, and their protests if and when they come, will only make me believe that the idea is even sounder than I thought it was," Mayo said.

He also urged the 1974 legislature to consider making PSC posts appointive.

"If some way can be devised to create an appointive process which indeed will be fair and not purely a political patronage thing, I might think that it had some merit," he said.

Mayo said lawmakers also should consider expanding the commission from three to five members and increasing the length of their present four-year terms.

Those of you living in Oviedo, and areas adjacent to Road 419, the State Department of Transportation will conduct a public informational workshop meeting at the Oviedo City Hall on Thursday, Sept. 20 at 7:30 p.m.

This workshop will give interested persons an opportunity of expressing their views concerning the location aspects and improvement of SR 419 from Chapman Road north to SR 434.

"We've had our say about the alleged 'oil shortages,' etc. I do appreciate Ralph Nader's comments on same, too."

"The acid test of the oil industry's bad faith is the following—they knew that there was going to be an increase in demand for consumption of fuel as there is every year. Why didn't they ask the federal government to lift the oil import quota, which was restricting the importation of cheap foreign oil into the United States?"

"(Ralph, you know as well as I that this was a "clever" way of knocking the price-cutting independents out of business. Not to mention that it surely paved the way for a quick approval of the Alaskan pipeline.)

And if that's not enough... look at the poor retailer. He has to reduce the price of his cost per gallon but that doesn't apply to the big wholesaler, now does it?"

Beef Prices Unchanged

By JANE CASSELLBERRY

In a quick survey of some area super markets The Herald learned today that there has been no great change in beef prices on the local retail scene with the lifting of the ceiling on beef at midnight Sunday.

The meat market manager at Park & Shop's Park Avenue store said, "Prices have not gone up yet. We are paying less now than when the freeze was on. We will have to wait and see what everybody else does."

The Fairway manager, who declined to comment, referred the reporter to the area advertising manager, Jim Dickerson, who said it will be several days before anyone can give a firm answer. "There may be a slight increase, but we will have to wait until we get the market quotations," he added.

Tom Bowser, owner of Country Quick in Oviedo, stated "As of right now beef prices are pretty much the same as last week. I do not look for any great increase and prices will probably level off."

Xen Beeler, meat manager at Seminole Plaza Public, reported there has been no price change as yet on beef today.

Problem 'Snuck Up' Blood Supply Solution Needed Now

COPLEY NEWS SERVICE

With all the talk about conserving natural resources, it seems strange that until recently so little thought has been given to the nation's most vital resource—blood.

To be truthful, however, the problem of the availability of blood and its components for transfusions and other lifesaving procedures kind of snuck up on the country.

The crisis that now confronts us is largely due to the spectacular advances in medicine that have occurred during the last decade or so. These include the advent of open heart surgery, organ transplants and the ability to control certain diseases with massive infusions of fresh blood.

The demand for blood outstripped the ability of the local organizations, even the best and most dedicated, to satisfy it. The helter-skelter system that had evolved over the years was simply too anemic to do the job.

Now, after too long a time, it seems that proper steps to correct the situation are about to be made.

In announcing a new National Blood Policy recently, Dr. Henry Simmons, deputy assistant secretary of health for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, indicated that the federal government was determined to develop "an all-voluntary supply of blood adequate for the nation's needs."

"For too long," he said, "we have endured our present haphazard nonsystem of blood supply, with its sporadic shortages in community after community across the country." An investigation, he added, had indicated that there is really no overall shortage of blood, but "just widespread mismanagement of this vital national resource."

The task force that conducted the investigation uncovered four main problems in the current system, he said. These were:

—The supply of blood and blood products is not adequate at all times and places.

—The quality of blood supply is uneven. In this area, Simmons noted that reliance on commercial sources of blood has been the major cause of the annual toll of about 450 deaths and 17,000 cases of overt post-transfusion hepatitis in this country.

—The gross inefficiencies in the collection, processing and utilization of blood. Simmons charged that fully 25 per cent of the 8.8 million units of whole blood collected each year is never transfused, but simply wasted through outdated.

—The cost of blood and blood products is a burden to many people, especially those with low incomes, or who need large amounts or who require rare and expensive types of blood.

A conference, he said, will be held with representatives from both governmental and private agencies to hammer out a plan to implement this policy.

As an indication of the importance the government puts on this situation, Simmons warned that the conferees better come up with a plan within four months' time or that the government "will have to consider stronger action."

In the meantime, Rep. Victor V. Veysey, R-Calif., has introduced legislation to establish a National Blood Banking Program within 120 days.

His bill would eliminate the buying and selling of blood for profit by establishing an all-volunteer national system; create a national blood donor registry to insure a supply of blood to all parts of the country at all times; label all blood either "purchased" or "volunteer," and blood bank inspection and well-enforced system of blood collection and regulation.

It seems obvious that these two plans are traveling down similar paths to the same goal—a national, all-volunteer blood program.

And it's about time. The present system is in need of a transfusion.

Sacrificed Because Of Smoke

Death Cures Aztec Air Pollution

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mouth.

Human sacrifices were sometimes part of the religious ceremonies of the Aztec Indians in Mexico. But legend reports one Aztec was put to death for Christmas, the smoke from his household fire had soiled his neighbors' air. A bit drastic — but it solved the pollution problem.

Your foot may seem homely to you, but by design experts the human foot has long been considered one of the finest examples of architectural construction. It has 22 distinct bones.

There are from 60,000 to 80,000 species of flies in the world, ranging in size from the tiny midge to 3-inch-long robberflies, and many are harmful rather than hurtful to man. Two scientists are now testing a new method to exterminate the pesky horridly. It is an artificial scent which they hope will make the flies too excited to mate.

Neither the movie house nor television has killed the popularity of old-fashioned amusement parks. There are still 725 of them in the United States, and they make about 300 million profits a year.

Jail is no place to be if you are in poor health or have a chronic disease requiring skilled treatment. A medical survey of nearly 3,000 U.S. jails found that 65 per cent had no facilities for anything but first aid treatment. Only 17 per cent were equipped to treat the mentally ill, drug addicts or alcoholics.

It all adds up: We don't guarantee these figures, but a statistician once estimated that a 60-year-old man has worked more than 6,000 days, slept 5,000 days, walked 800 days, spent 1,500 days eating, been sick 450 days, and consumed 8 1/2 tons of bread, eight tons of meat and drank 7,000 gallons of liquids. Well, it all adds up to the time — and that's the biggest problem in life.

Worth remembering: "It's the kind of heart, not the type of house, that makes a home."

Sound advice: If your children ask you to give them a 50-year-old walrus for Christmas, tell them no. A growing walrus eats 100 pounds of fish a day.

Being Old And Poor

by Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — In a society enamored with youth, an estimated five million senior citizens have been overtaken in their old age by poverty.

Most of them collect pitiful pensions, which are dwindling in purchasing power as the cost of living has soared out of sight. For many, the economic crunch has become truly a life-or-death matter.

Their pathetic stories are told in letters that have been made available to us from the private files of the National Council of Senior Citizens.

"These people that keep bragging about how much they are giving the senior citizen should have to live on it themselves," wrote a man from Gouverneur, N.Y. "It has been eight months since I have had a piece of meat."

Dog Food
He is lucky. Some live on rice, coffee and dog food. Food fit for a dog at low cost provides protein for the poor.

Some old folks have turned in desperation into common sense, rilling meat counters and grocery shelves. But most are too proud for such degradation and suffer with quiet dignity.

A staff member, prepared for the Senate Special Committee on Aging, notes grimly: "All age groups have felt the impact of spiraling inflation in one form or another. But older Americans have probably been victimized to a much greater extent than any other segment in our society."

"Rising food costs have been especially oppressive for the elderly because about 27 per cent of their budgets is spent on food, in contrast to 16 per cent for the total population. The net impact is that this upward spiral can have the effect of obliterating the 20 per cent social security increase."

Economic Mainstay
For those on fixed incomes, the situation is so desperate that committee chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, will try to move up the effective date of a forthcoming 5 1/2 per cent social security increase for senior citizens from July to January.

The unpublished memo stresses the importance of social security to the elderly. "For most older Americans," it states, "social security represents their economic mainstay. It constitutes almost the entire source of support for almost one out of every seven aged couples and two out of every seven elderly single individuals."

"For millions of older Americans, however, social security benefits still fall below the government's own poverty benchmark."

Nevertheless, the Nixon Administration not only is in his opinion.

More Black Market Meat Seen

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida officials say the high cost of food may lead to an increase in black marketing of poached deer and rustled beef.

"We've inflated food prices we expect increased market hunting activity which includes the sale of deer and other wildlife as well as rustled beef," Brantley Goodson, law enforcement chief for the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, said over the weekend.

"There is always the unscrupulous individual that will kill wildlife by illegal methods for the purpose of selling such wildlife for a profit," said Goodson.

"There has always been some element of illegal hunting during the early fall months and we expect this type of action to accelerate this year due to a combination of food prices and a beef shortage," he added.

Others are victims of even worse neglect. A medical team from New York City recently found a wasted corpse in a dying unheated room for lack of food and medical care in a dingy hotel.

Still others are forced to choose between decent food and decent housing. The housing problem is most acute in urban areas, where the elderly are crowded together in "welfare hotels" and dilapidated apartment buildings. The alternative is living in those human warehouses called boarding houses.

At the same time, members of Congress are drifting back into Washington, untanned and reated, after their summer vacation. Shortly, they will decide what to do about the senior citizens who can't afford edible food or medical care, let alone a month in the sun.

David's Deal. It helps to be the son-in-law of President Nixon. The President's friend, Bebe Rebozo, provides David and Julie Eisenhower with a fashionable suburban Washington home for a modest rental fee. Now David has been accepted at Washington's prestigious George Washington Law School under curious circumstances.

The school had 6,000 applicants for 400 openings. Yet David won entrance even though he applied three months late. Young Rebozo didn't even take his entrance exam until this summer. Yet he was jumped ahead of most others and placed in this fall's freshman class.

Police Awaiting Gun Tests In Weekend Polk Murders

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Police say they are awaiting the outcome of lab tests to determine if three Lakeland-area residents who were shot to death over the weekend were killed by the same weapon.

Willie Darden, 40, who was on a weekend pass from the Avon Park Correctional Institute, has been charged with murder in the Saturday shooting of a Lakeland furniture store owner, the wounding of a store employee and the attempted rape of the owner's wife.

Police said they were investigating the possibility "that this furniture store incident was connected to the slayings of a prominent Lakeland realtor and an Auburndale liquor store owner."

Brannon said all the victims were shot with a .38-caliber pistol. He said a weapon had been recovered from the furniture store and that it and slugs recovered from the bodies were being flown to Washington for lab tests.

"We are waiting for those tests to tie this thing all together," Brannon said.

Police said Albert Dumont, 67, a liquor store owner in Auburndale, 12 miles east of Lakeland, was shot to death by a bandit who escaped with the cash register from the store.

About 40 minutes later, police said a man entered James Turman's furniture store and began talking with Turman's wife.

The man pulled a gun, police said, and forced Mrs. Turman into a back room where he was trying to rape her when Turman entered and intervened.

Meat Prices Rise As Freeze Ends

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida housewives will be getting some good and bad news this week, officials say.

There will be more meat on supermarket shelves because the federal price freeze ended at 12:01 a.m. today. But it's going to cost more for a while.

Wilson Powell, assistant director of the state animal industry, said slaughterhouses apparently resumed full scale buying and butchering last week to prepare stockpiles for the end of the freeze.

Irwin Bryan of Central Packing Co., Center Hill, said he expects his prices to go up 5 to 6 cents a pound with the end of the freeze, lifted three days earlier than the initially scheduled Wednesday deadline.

Bryan said there was a nationwide backlog of live cattle waiting for market, which would result in beef being plentiful for at least the next 30 days.

"The price of beef will go up temporarily while it seeks its true level, and the price will be lower when it settles down," Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Comer predicted.

"Politicians have been tampering with the market in recent months which does not make for a good situation," he added.

Agriculture Department reports showed state-inspected slaughtering houses in Florida butchered more cattle in the past two months than in July and August, 1972.

The total in July was 8,887 head slaughtered, up from 7,925 in August. Still incomplete figures for August showed 8,412 cattle slaughtered compared with 9,282 total for the month last year.

However, most of these were cattle bought in herds by big pack companies and brought to packers for

Senior citizens tell their biggest problems

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: You asked senior citizens what their biggest problems were. Money? Health? Loneliness? Boredom?

I can't speak for the men, but I can tell you that the biggest problems most men have are as follows:

When husbands retire they follow the wife around all day remarking on how she does the housework, cooking, etc. and none of it is complimentary.

Also, he never lets his wife go anywhere alone. He will tag along because his own interest in sex is waning, and he starts accusing her of seeing other men. In other words, they get jealous because they can't perform as well themselves.

Men retire, but middle-class wives continue to do on regular housework because of our limited income, which has been worsened by inflation.

Doctors who see senior citizens will confirm the above, for which there is no solution at the present time. But with women's liberation, maybe the future will be better for coming generations.

I can't sign my name because all phone calls and mail are monitored here, and I'll have to carry this around in my purse until I can sneak it into a mailbox.

TRAPPED IN FORT MEYERS
DEAR ABBY: Yes, I have a problem. How does a senior citizen find a place to live? Had my name in for one project for two years, and the building started to sink.

Applied to get into another and was told they were filled, and had a waiting list of 50. Something should be done about housing for us. I'm not ready for a nursing home yet.

EASTERN
DEAR ABBY: I'm 73, and a widower. I made my first trip to a foreign country at age 70. At 71, I started making my own schedule, and now I can't stand bakery bread. At 72, I started making my own jellies and jams. I enjoy life because I keep active.

I've sent for a copy of the LIVING WILL, thank you. I wish to live, but I am not interested in existing.

F. E. W., KENT, WASH.
DEAR ABBY: I'm a widow in my sixties, nice figure, and I'm not attractive. My problem is finding a GOOD man. They either drink too much and want sex, or they're too old. One older man wanted to marry me. He said: "You buy the house, Honey, and I'll cut the grass." He could hardly walk two blocks, so I'm wondering how he could do the grass.

WINTER PARK, FLORIDA
DEAR ABBY: We are both 77 years old, and have been married 35 years. First we liked each other, then we loved each other, and now we adore each other. Our problem? We would like to die together.

HARTWIG AND HELEN IN BERKELEY
DEAR READERS: If you didn't like this column, you won't like tomorrow's either. It's more from our beloved senior citizens who write in by the thousands!

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1973

MOON CHILDREN (Jans 22 to July 21) Fine new ideas come to you now that make your future more prosperous, happy, if you do something about them quickly. Work at a massed pace so you do not overture yourself. Show more broad-mindedness with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Come to a better understanding with associates and improve your mutual affairs. Know what your true position is with the public in general. Think up some more intellectual lines. Early to bed tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you get to work early instead of going on some tangent, you can get out of some present difficulty. Take good care of your health. Evening is best time for light entertainment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You want to have a good time, which is fine, provided you take a friend along who keeps you from spending too much. Entertain those who have done you past favors. Show how much you appreciate them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can do much to improve the situation at home as well as add to public prestige today. Either entertain or be entertained by the right people. Listen to your radio more.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are able now to secure the information you need, get the errands done that are important if you start early. Use care in buying and selling. Handle any transportation matters well.

PISCES (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) The special case where monetary matters are concerned so you do not make any mistakes. Use your intuitive faculties since they are accurate now. There can also be helpful where romance is concerned.

FISCHES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Know what is expected of you by kin and try to please them more, and this also holds true where associates are concerned. You are dynamic because of the Full Moon. Make sure to control your temper, though.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those highly discriminating, careful, positive people who has to be taught early to mix kindness and humanity with these few qualities, as well as to be more objective when dealing with others, or feelings can be hurt badly. An ideal chart for career, in laboratories, research, whichever requires much patience and working with details, figures. Good spiritual training early. Music is good as a hobby.

"The Stars Impel, they do not compel" What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Good Deed Disguised As Comedy Program

NEW YORK (AP)—The CBS Television network is broadcasting a good deed disguised as a comedy show on Tuesday night.

The hour-long comedy program, which is being broadcast as a comedy program, is actually a dramatization of the life of a young man who has been diagnosed as having a terminal illness.

Shirley Temple with stronger waters. It happens the same day he makes the bed.

The last course being served, announcing that "all I did was stop off at the club and have one drink a fifth."

From there it follows the all-too-familiar pattern of the wife drinking — it can and does happen the other way — and the two of them proceed to get wiped out on martinis.

"You're sloshed," he tells her as she haughtily replies: "How can you be show thru?"

These are the bare bones of the proceedings. I don't want to give away the ending, but rest assured it is unexpected, depressing and rings awfully, awfully true.

The Sept. 18 episode shows that Walter does it on the way to becoming an alcoholic. Neither program mentions Alcoholics Anonymous, although the dialogue is spiced with phrases about drinking that AA members will catch with no trouble at all.

The writers, Bob Weiskopf and Bob Schuller, deserve great credit for excellently sketching the problem drinker. They were aided, at their own request, by a man with more than a passing knowledge of alcoholics.

He's Thomas J. Swafford, CBS' vice-president for program practices and standards.

He contributed suggestions, not as a CBS executive, but as an executive of the National Council on Alcoholism.

"I disqualified myself from any program practices decisions on the show," he said in an interview. "I told them, 'I'm here representing only the National Council on Alcoholism.'"

A Young Hijacker Regrets Her Past

Family Lib Urgent: Bill of Rights for unprotected kids

By Joanne and Lew Koch
If we are ever going to break the vicious cycle of child abuse in this country, a problem which is occurring with greater and greater frequency in the best and worst of families — we will have to begin immediately!

Last year, the federal government spent a piddling $507,000 for research into child abuse.

Despite this incredible lack of support to understand the number one child killing problem in our land, scientists do have some clues as to how to stop it.

But that is all they have: clues, hints, suspicions. Now the scientists and researchers and doctors need to develop real theories, treatments that work, programs that are successful.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey has introduced legislation authorizing the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to spend $20 million in grants over a three-year period to deal with child abuse.

This bill would train professionals in techniques of child abuse and prevention, design programs to heighten public awareness of the problem, establish a central registry to coordinate statewide efforts at recognizing child abuse and create a National Child Abuse Data Bank to determine the best means available to deal with the problem.

That will be a beginning — if the House of Representatives passes the measure and if the President doesn't veto the measure and if Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger of HEW doesn't refuse to spend the money. We have already refused to spend authorized funds for federal mental health programs, for the National Cancer Institute and for the National Heart and Lung Institute.

We can actively consider other suggestions — There are some very good ones in a new book "Silent Tragedy: Child Abuse in the Community," by Peter and Judith DeCourcy.

As we have suggested in previous columns, children are still viewed as chattel in the eyes of the law. The DeCourcys believe that children's legal status must change, that they should be accorded the civil liberties which other American citizens enjoy, that children must have their own lawyers and they must have their own "Bill of Rights."

Further, the DeCourcys suggest we have to explore alternative types of placement for the abused child such as "The Center for Children," which is a residential facility which describe as a "stable, loving, home-like atmosphere for neglected or pre-delinquent children."

Then there is CALM (Child Abuse Listening Mediation), an organization that sometimes just provides a non-judgmental listening ear, sometimes as well as psychiatric or psychological assistance. Or Parents Anonymous, a self-help organization of abusive parents.

Children do not vote, pay taxes, strike or demonstrate. But if they could or raise, even for a day, child abuse would undoubtedly be one of their top priorities.

After all, to them it's a matter of life and death.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.
Mavis is romanticizing about her genetic parents. Yet her REAL parents are actually those who picked her because of her love! For adoption is like marriage. Neither involves love, but both require love.

"I know the party was getting under of hand when you started playing Frisbee with the frozen pizza," Maude grows as her old man and the friend, played by Conrad Bain, teeter about at all.

Walter starts the healing process with a Bloody Mary. Alone his wife and the friend, both hungover, vaguely realize he has a problem. They vote to go on the wagon and urge him to join them. The wife even bets Walter $100 that "I can stay off the sauce longer than you can."

Walter, drink in hand, nonchalantly says, "Okay," he finally says. "It's a deal! Let's drink to it."

He promptly loses the bet during lunch at a fine restaurant, where he surreptitiously whips out a flask and spikes his wine.

Oswald: "Just see how hopeless East's situation is. A diamond lead will allow South to ruff in one hand and discard a heart from the other. A heart lead will be allowed to ride to dummy's queen and a trump lead will cost the defense their first trump trick."

Jim: "South has lost two diamonds and a club that he had to lose. The early end play holds his further losses to either one trump and one heart or two hearts."

Fashion Tips

Bare slip-dresses have a summer freshness that will appeal to most women. But like many revealing fashions, they require a body that has stayed in shape. If you're not ready to flaunt yours, get into a good exercising program or look for another, less-revealing style.

Cholera Toll Now 24

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — A 72-year-old man died of cholera today on the island of Sardinia, raising the death toll in Italy's outbreak of the disease to 24 in two weeks. Like most of those stricken, he had eaten shellfish.

Authorities ordered an autopsy for a 2-month-old girl who died Saturday at San Giorgio a Cremano, on the outskirts of Naples. The baby's father, a fisherman, had been hospitalized with cholera last week, and her mother reportedly refused to have her inoculated. Seventeen families who lived in the same apartment house moved into the local school.

8-Year-Old Climbs Mountain

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Officials believe 8-year-old Samantha White of Stellacona, Wash., is the youngest person ever to climb Africa's highest mountain, 19,340-foot Mt. Kilimanjaro.

Samantha is the daughter of Airman William White of Stellacona, who is stationed at Torrejon Air Base in Spain, and his wife.

Vacationing in Kenya, the family started up Kilimanjaro on Aug. 16 with a guide and came down a week later.

Summit Ends Today

ALGIERS (AP) — The fourth summit conference of nonaligned nations ended Sunday with a political declaration condemning Israel and America's Indochina policy, endorsing Soviet restrictions on Jewish emigration to Israel and pledging to fight "neocolonialist exploitation."

The 10 Jewish scientists, all of whom have applied for visas to emigrate to Israel, issued their statement in Moscow.

Both Sides Claim Gains

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian government claimed today that it still holds the larger and more vital sector of Kompong Cham, the northern part, and that government reinforcements are continuing to stream into the besieged town 47 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. But the Khmer Rouge insurgents still hold the southern part of the town, and fighting slackened off today.

10 Accused In March Plot Bombing Trial Opens

WINCHESTER, England (AP) — Six persons were injured in a bomb explosion at London's King Cross railway station today as the British government began the biggest courthouse security operation in recent history in this ancient cathedral town 60 miles to the southwest.

The stringent security setup was for the trial of 10 persons accused of plotting bomb explosions in London last March. Scotland Yard was reported earlier to have received information from Northern Ireland that attempts would be made to disrupt the trial in the 13th century Great Hall of Winchester Castle.

The seven men and three young women being tried in Winchester were arrested after explosives planted in cars blew up March 8 outside the Old Bailey, London's central criminal court, and in Whitehall, the street of government offices. One person was killed, 200 were wounded, and the Irish Republican Army was blamed.

All of the defendants are from Northern Ireland. They were arrested at London's Heathrow Airport as they were preparing to leave for Dublin or Belfast.

The trial was moved from London to Winchester because it was believed protection of the defendants from Northern Ireland would be better.

Police said the largest explosion was at Euston Station, a main terminal for trains from the north of England and Scotland. Blast trains from Ireland go via Liverpool to Euston. A three-minute warning was given there.

A man with an Irish accent called the Press Association, a British domestic news agency, and said: "There's a bomb in the Euston station snack bar due to go off any minute."

Police had no time to clear the station. One man was killed there and several others were injured.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said in a statement:

"I cannot see the United States expanding commercial markets with the Soviet Union if the price is to be paid in the martyrdom of men of genius."

The committee is considering a foreign trade bill in which President Nixon asked that the Soviet Union be granted most-favored-nation status. Mills is cosponsor of a proposal to grant this status only if Russia loosens its emigration policy for Jews and other minorities.

And Russian geneticist Zhores Medvedev called on Western intellectuals to come to the aid of Sakharov and Solzhenitsyn.

The stringent security setup was for the trial of 10 persons accused of plotting bomb explosions in London last March. # Nixon Offers Compromise To Congress On Key Bills

expect action this year on all his proposals, the President said cooperation could produce "genuine progress this fall" on priority measures.

"I am fully prepared to work closely with members of the Congress in hammering out modifications of these bills," he said.

Nixon added:

"There are, of course, certain principles of vital national concern which cannot be compromised—the need for budgetary discipline, for a strong national security posture, and for the preservation of the executive branch. But within these limits I stand ready to find workable compromises . . ."

The President ranked some congressional Democrats last week when he said at a news conference that Congress had compiled a "a very disappointing record" in dealing with his legislative initiatives.

In today's message, Nixon said congressional action on his proposals "has been far less than I had expected" but added: "Commendable progress has been made on some fronts, and I have signed into law several bills which were the result of constructive compromise between the Congress and the administration."

Turning to specific areas of concern, Nixon said "the battle against inflation must be our first priority for the remainder of this year . . . and nothing we could do at this time would be more effective in beating inflation than to . . . balance the federal budget."

Nixon said he was "fully prepared to work fully with the Congress in determining the best ways to control expenditures and in discussing the particular programs that should be cut back."

Kissinger Nomination; 'No Serious Trouble'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger's nomination to be secretary of state appeared in no serious trouble today despite a dispute over release of FBI wiretap reports.

Key reporters predicted that an early morning meeting between the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson and former Acting FBI Director William D. Ruckelshaus would settle the issue.

Several members including Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., had demanded access to FBI summaries of wiretaps made on 13 government officials and four newsmen during 1969 and 1970.

After first refusing to release the reports, Richardson agreed last Friday to meet with the committee after some members said Kissinger's

Nixon Administration Broadens Counter-Offensive On Critics

Analysis

ST. CHARLES, Ill. (AP) — Whether on direct orders from the White House or not, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has joined what appears to be a broadening counter-offensive by the Nixon administration against its critics and accusers.

Addressing a Republican fund-raising party here Saturday night, Agnew delivered an appeal to public opinion that in its forcefulness was reminiscent of his hammerings against the press two and three years ago.

The speech echoed some of President Nixon's own comments on Watergate, but sides of the vice president insisted the speech was developed by the Agnew staff without orders from the White House, with no White House input, and without White House approval.

Whatever its origins, the speech was certain to be well received by Nixon for what it said about Watergate and what it said about the Republican party and the public in general.

The 2,300 Republicans who paid $10 a ticket to hear Agnew were reassured that the party was not responsible for the Watergate affair and had not suffered as badly from it as might be assumed.

In fact, the vice president said, the GOP recently has won important elections in Georgia, Mississippi, Michigan, California and Maryland, and is in line for additional victories in Virginia and New Jersey. He said this was because "the American people are looking for outstanding candidates who intend to get on with the business of government and stop playing politics every single day of the week."

On the other hand, Agnew said, Watergate has become a "morbid preoccupation" in Washington. He said that not only do the administration's opponents seek to destroy Nixon with it, but that they are breeding a "persecutorial atmosphere" and impeding government efforts to get on with more important affairs of the state, thereby obstructing the will of the people.

Closely paralleling as they did the President's own criticism of the Senate Watergate committee, these comments drew strong response from the GOP faithful who cheered Agnew and interrupted his 26-minute speech 23 times with applause.

But much of what he said about Watergate seemed applicable to his own case as well, particularly a remark that "we must remember that accusations are not adjudications of guilt." There also was an offhand comment added to his prepared text, that "it is very easy to go around accusing people of anything and the accusers should be closely examined before any dignity is given to them."

He acknowledged what the administration senses is a growing impatience with the Watergate hearings and was applauded when he said the chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., had been "doing a rain dance" in an effort to make Democrats grow, "but might find himself in trouble "if public opinion continues to cool that rain . . ."

Surf fishing, like just about any other kind of angling "ain't just wetting your line anywhere you please," says Robert Morris, a local aficionado of what he terms a way of life handed down through generations on the beach angles, and in a long talk with us explained why he thought the government's decision to reopen the Merritt Island Wildlife Refuge was only a half measure.

"It's great for duck hunters, the old mosquito control dikes that NASA built, but we'd help us much more. All the dikes are on the inlet side of the island and it's just too far to walk across to fish where we want," he says. "There are only two—no three, but I won't tell you where the third one is—spots on the coast there that are worth fishing, and the dikes don't go that far along the coast side to get right to them."

Morris, who says he used to go over to the refuge to fish every weekend and has been fishing there since he was a youth, claims the damage to the dunes was really the fault of the fishermen. Dune Buggies and other joy-riders used to tear up the dunes and the fishermen used to park below the fragile line of coastal sand hills, he says.

Closing Caused Hassle

When Herald fishing columnist Bob Orrell first heard about closing off the area to vehicle traffic last year he was among the first to give in depth reporting on the matter, traveling just about all over Central Florida to keep up with the growing protest from area anglers.

Feedback To Washington

When we first received a call from a Chappell spokesman in Washington last week, we were predicting reopening of the island. We were asked how area sportsmen would react to the news. So far, it's been pretty much mixed, at least to us, but the general consensus seems to be glad the government is going to reopen the area to fishing, but disappointed about how it's to be accomplished.

Speaking Of Fishing

Speaking of fishing, the Herald Sports Staff with its usual aplomb will once again offer pre-game predictions on high school football encounters throughout the county. The only thing we're predicting right now is a lot of our writers going out on limbs to top us this year.

Cards In 'Title Tap Out' NL East Scramble Getting Hotter

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Introducing a new dance step for those whacky, wonderful folks in the National League's East Division. It called the Title Tap-Out. You take one step forward and then two back-wards.

The Cardinals dropped their third straight game Sunday, bowing to Chicago 5-4. But they remained on top of the division because Pittsburgh managed to blow a six-run lead and lose to Philadelphia 8-7. Meanwhile, the suddenly-hot

Saints To Rush In Where Others Fear

By LEE GEISER
Herald Correspondent

Saturday night the Saints will rush in where others fear to tread. On that night Head Coach Tom RUBY will lead his charges against a football power that ranks sixth in the state, Fort Pierce's John Carroll.

The Rams bring back their entire offensive team, including last season's second team all-state quarterback, Kenny Gilmore.

Joining him in the backfield again will be fullback Ken Forget, a boy that RUBY remembers well. Forget carried the ball for more than 100 yards against the Saints last year during Trinity's 24-0 upset victory.

New York Mets tightened things up even more, beating Montreal 3-0.

Elsewhere in the NL Sunday, Houston edged San Francisco 5-4, Los Angeles ended its ninegame losing streak, beating San Diego 5-3, and Cincinnati swept a doubleheader with Atlanta, taking the first game 14-4 and winning the second 7-0.

As a result of the Title Tap-Out, the Cards are still first despite a three-game losing streak and a mediocre record of 72-71. Pittsburgh is second, one game out, Montreal is third, 2½ behind while Chicago and New York are tied for fourth, a mere three games behind.

UP AND AWAY

LYMAN place kicker, Dan Devine, puts the toe to the pigskin against the Oak Ridge Pioneers during last week's Metro Conference Jamboree. Friday night, the Hounds trek to Orlando Colonial for their season grid opener.

At Barberville Howard Victorious

Lindberg Howard, who took a second place in a preliminary heat and then had to outlast a series of caution flags at the Barberville half-mile dirt track took the mid-season championship before a standing room only crowd.

Comeback Proves Winner

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — John Newcombe was playing such bad tennis at one point last year that he took an evening off from the tour and went on a beer-drinking binge.

Norton-Ali Rematch Make Or Break Test

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Muhammad Ali's era of pre-dominance in the world of heavyweight boxing faces its most critical test tonight when jaw-breaker Ken Norton could end it all for the former champion.

Oviedo Defense Gets Coach's Praise

The Oviedo Lions "showed em how," when it came to defend last Friday night in the jamboree held at Lakeview, according to Head Coach Ralph Stumpf.

PERFECT PASS PROTECTION

By HOWARD SMITH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Brunet spends most of his time making tackles and avoiding blocks on the Washington Redskins special teams these days, but he hasn't forgotten what to do with the football once he gets his hands on it.

'Rookies' Score Victory

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — A horse and jockey who had never before competed at Del Mar teamed Sunday to show why Craigwood Stables is considered one of the finest thoroughbred racing institutions in America.

WISHFUL THINKING

U. S. KEGLERS Cheryl Kominsky and Dick Weber pose with cannon balls in Moscow, Russia.

WISHLING

There were two other major races Sunday.

Chief Kamlikin, a 28-1 shot, captured the $74,000-added Joe Gotten Futurity at Longacres in Renton, Washington—the richest horse race ever run in the Pacific Northwest.

Sooner Coach Is Thankful 'Huskers 11 Weeks Away

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

From all indications in Saturday's 40-13 maining of 1963-ranked UCLA, the Nebraska Cornhuskers have their sights set on another national college football championship.

"I watched the game on television and I got sick to my stomach," said Barry Switzer, coach of the Oklahoma Sooners, who dethroned Nebraska last year as champions of the Big Eight Conference. "Then I realized there's no need to get sick now. We've got 11 weeks before we have to play them."

Search For Typhoid Source Grows

The State Department of Pollution Control Monday afternoon slugged land developer Calbert Construction Co., the City of Oviedo and homeowners in the affected area with notice of violation of the anti-pollution law and demanding corrective action.

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Health Director Julian Fried emphasized today no typhoid cases nor any increase in intestinal disease has been reported in Oviedo Oaks Unit I in the wake of typhoid bacteria findings in effluent from malfunctioning septic tanks in the development.

But, Fried said, the typhoid incubation period is two weeks and his department is collecting samples from subdivision residents in a search for a typhoid carrier.

An informal hearing has been set at 9 a.m. Wednesday at DPC office, 3319 McGuire, suite 222, Orlando, to discuss immediate action to correct the problem and to determine who is responsible for a long range solution.

Oviedo Mayor Leon Olliff, although in city hall at a "construction conference" this morning was not available for comment.

Fried said his office will be testing today to determine if the typhoid bacteria has been carried in the runoff from effluent saturated lawns in Oviedo Oaks to Sweetwater Creek and Mead Manor lakes, until laboratory tests are completed.

Water sample collections from all homes in the oak division will be completed this afternoon, Fried said, urging that the residents there continue to boil water or use bottled water for drinking purposes.

Fried has urged the residents to receive typhoid shots or other from their family physician at the health department. He has also alerted Seminole County Doctors to watch for intestinal diseases or typhoid.

PLANNING STARTS FOR LAKEFRONT DEVELOPMENT... City sells lot (starred) without reverter clause

Killing Suspect Questioned Two Men Sought in Dump Murders

By MARK WEINTZ Herald Staff Writer

"Anyone having any information on the identity of these two males should contact me through the Seminole County Sheriff's Dept.," Abby said.

Another body found with the young blonde-haired girl's corpse near Lake Lotus just off SR 431 is still unidentified, according to Abby.

A report from an anthropologist is still pending and Abby said this report may provide new information on the corpse's identity.

Abby said he believes the unidentified body was ditched at the dump sometime prior to the murder of Miss Harberis. He said the difference in the state of decomposition of the bodies indicates the two bodies were probably placed there at different times.

"I do believe the bodies were put there by the same person," Abby said.

The last time Miss Harberis was seen alive, she was wearing a grey dress, according to Abby's reports.

"On the basis of interviews with her friends we have learned it is unusual for her to wear a dress," Abby said.

Earlier in the investigation Abby said he believed Miss Harberis left home Aug. 5 with someone she knew because she changed clothes before she left.

Her neighbors said they did not see anyone pick her up the day she disappeared, Abby said. Authorities have made no mention of finding a grey dress near the make-shift graves; however, a unique birthstone ring was found near the bodies and Abby said today that he believes the ring may lead to a break in the case.

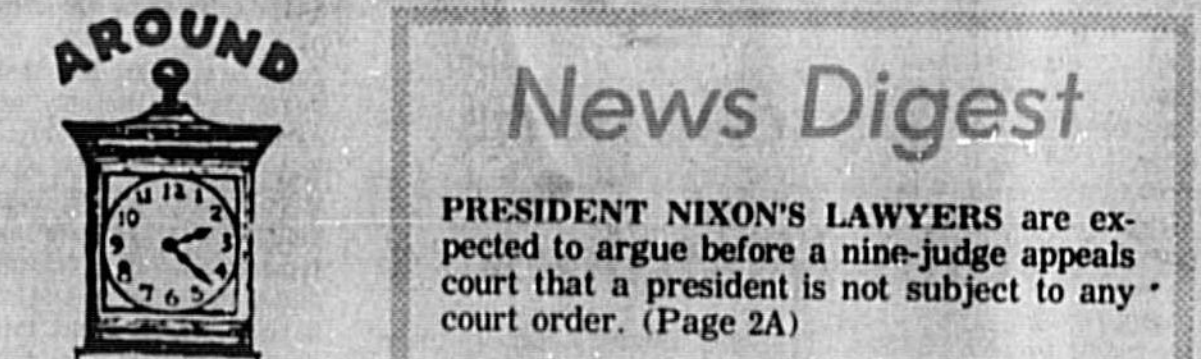

"No one we have interviewed recalls Laura wearing or owning the ring," Abby said.

McClanahan said Monday he thought similar "stragings" on development were to go on the lot being sold to Lakefront Development Ltd. He said his reasoning in investigating the closing on the lot sale was the city should have the money and draw interest in the interim before development.

"There should have been the standard conditions and reverter as on other property sold by the city in the last three years to developers," McClanahan said.

McClanahan and commissioners Gordon Meyer and John Morris have asked City Manager Warren Knowles to research recordings of previous meetings on the subject of any contingencies on the single lot sale.

$6 Million Condominium Project Plans Dropped

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

Plans for a $6 million condominium project on 20 acres of groves straddling Country Club Road south of Mayfair Golf and Country Club in Sanford have been dropped.

Gary Martin of GMC Builders and Developers Inc., Orlando, said today the purchase of the tract will not be made because density of eight units per acre, imposed by city commissioners Monday in rezoning the property, makes the proposed project economically unfeasible. Martin said the sale contract was contingent on higher density zoning.

Commissioners instructed City Manager Warren Knowles to research "the ultimate size" needed for a new sewer force main to serve the Winston project and several other planned multi-family developments already announced for the area along SR 46-A on the city's western side.

Knowles said none of the developers have been told the present sewer main would handle their developments.

DIGGING IN FOR MENTAL HEALTH FACILITY

AMONG officials taking part today in groundbreaking ceremonies for Seminole County's $427,000 mental health facility to be built behind Florida Hospital North in Altamonte Springs were (l to r) Commissioner John Kimbrough, Altamonte Mayor Lawrence Swofford, and Robert Scott, executive vice president and administrator of Florida Hospital. To be staffed by the hospital, the 24-bed facility will also treat outpatients. Architect is Eoghan Kelley and contractor, Hudson Company of Florida. Kimbrough credited the League of Women Voters for sparking the $325,000 bond issue to fund the badly needed facility.
