Escaped inmate captured

NEW YORK — A crafty Rikers Island inmate, charged with trying to kill three police officers, has been captured after escaping three days earlier by hiding in a dumpster carrying garbage to Queens, officials said Monday.

Michael Dicarluccio, 27, peacefully surrendered about 10:55 p.m. Sunday when corrections officers found him hiding in the basement of a Queens apartment building, where he had worked as a janitor, said Ruby Ryles, a corrections department spokeswoman.

Dicarluccio made his escape from Rikers Island Friday by hiding inside mounds of trash after he had worked the garbage detail with six other inmates in section C-37 of the prison, Ryles said.

Train rips car in half

LeGRAND, Calif. — A fast-moving passenger train slammed into a car that drove around a rail-crossing barrier Sunday night, ripping the car in half and killing all four people inside, the California Highway Patrol said.

The train, traveling 74 mph, dragged one section of the car 200 feet and the other section 100 feet, officials said. Two victims had to be cut from the wreckage with torches, officials said.

The names of the victims were not released.

Freeze may hike grocery prices

ST. PETERSBURG — Saturday's record-breaking cold weather badly damaged produce crops and should lead to a quick increase in grocery prices, industry spokesmen say.

The multimillion dollar loss will hurt farmers, consumers and workers well into the summer months, a St. Petersburg newspaper reported.

Growers said most of the state's leading produce crops — tomatoes, peppers, squash, corn, potatoes, cucumbers, beans, lettuce, celery, radishes and carrots — had been damaged or wiped out.

Arizona downs Duke in thriller

Meadowlands Arena, which has placed a bid for a future Final Four and is the site of this year's Eastern Regional, Sunday played host to a preview of what fans might expect to see late in the NCAA Tournament next month.

Arizona and Duke, two of the top teams in the nation, squared off in East Rutherford, N.J., for the kind of game that had all the ingredients of a championship duel.

Each team held command at one point and then things evened out down the stretch when the game hinged on the play of All-Americans Sean Elliott and Danny Ferry. Elliott finished with the upper hand, hitting a 3-point jumper over Ferry with 54 seconds remaining to lift second-ranked Arizona over No. 8 Duke, 77-75, for a victory that should earn the Wildcats the No. 1 ranking.

Criminal investigation reveals no evidence of wrongdoing by housing authority board

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — A criminal investigation of the Sanford Housing Authority has turned up no evidence of wrongdoing by commissioners, according to the state attorney's office.

After the Seminole County chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) complained to the city commission in September, the commission called for the criminal investigation.

While the commission submitted to the state attorneys office the NAACP's list of ten allegations against housing authority commissioners, State Attorney Norm Wolfinger said the investigation was limited to those of alleged criminal activity.

"Our investigation revealed no evidence of criminal misconduct by any commissioner of the Sanford Housing Authority, individually or collectively," Wolfinger wrote in a cover letter when he released the report at the end of last week.

City officials and others were unavailable today to comment on the report.

Turner Clayton, president of the Seminole chapter of NAACP, had complained to the commission last year that members of the authority board violated the Sunshine Law in a conspiracy against former executive director Elliott Smith.

Commissioners Bob Ball Jr., Teri Buratti and Alberta Detreville voted to fire Smith at a Sept. 8 meeting of the authority. Ball made a motion to

That office and three others, including the Social Security office and the office of an eye doctor and a dentist, were burglarized in addition to four cars in the area east of Locust Avenue and North of Third Street. Sanford Police Chief Steven Harriett said the investigators pictured below, including Detective Pat Smith in the doorway of the legislative office, found that apparently nothing of great value was stolen in the break-ins, which occurred Sunday night and were discovered this morning when workers arrived.

Rezoning, boat fees top agenda

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN

SANFORD — People will have a chance to express their views tonight about rezoning for a proposed $40 million housing development near Upsala Road at a meeting of the city commission.

In addition, the first public hearing on elimination of boat launching fees at the Lake Monroe marina is scheduled for tonight.

On the housing development, commissioners will hear first reading of an ordinance to rezone about 157 acres between Upsala Road and County Road 46A from agricultural to single family residential and planned development.

The proposed development, presented by Hollywood developer Russell Sepielli, met opposition at a Feb. 16 planning and zoning commission meeting. Residents complained that the area lacks adequate infrastructure and schools to support up to 600 new homes proposed for the development.

The planning and zoning commission approved the zoning request after hearing several residents speak against development in the area.

The commission will hear the first

TALLAHASSEE — The Lotto jackpot will surge to an estimated $30 million, state lottery officials predicted Sunday after no one picked all six numbers in Saturday's drawing.

Lottery Secretary Rebecca Paul said the latest jackpot, which marks the third week in a row without a grand-prize winner, would lure more players to the weekly game.

"Lotto players should get their tickets early to avoid the possibility of long lines at on-line retail locations later in the week," Paul said.

Escapee recounts being 'on the lam'

GENEVA — Life in the woods was laid back for Orange County jail escapees Brian Smith, 22, and Robert LeMasters, 25, until the Seminole County SWAT team showed up Feb. 8 to hunt for them at a couple of campsites in woods off Snow Hill Road here.

The Seminole County SWAT team didn't sight the escapees in the woods, but Smith said he and LeMasters, who were armed with four stolen firearms, saw two SWAT officers at about 1 p.m. Feb. 8. That combined with a helicopter over head, forced the fugitives to lie still in palmetto scrub for more than 12 hours until they felt it was safe to try to move.

Ticks and mosquitoes, that had plagued them during the days and night in the woods since their Jan. 19 escape, feasted on the fugitives as they lay in the scrub.

They had none of the comforts that Tony LeMasters and Robert LeMasters' girlfriend, Mary Clark, 18, of Sanford, had provided when they allegedly set up campsites for the escapees in the woods, where the fugitives had grown accustomed to drinking beer and wine and "partying," Smith, who grew up on the beach of St. Petersburg, said they didn't want to leave the woods, where LeMasters grew up, but they

Poll: Miami racial climate improving

MIAMI — South Florida residents generally are positive about race relations, despite last month's racial disturbances in Miami's predominantly black neighborhoods, according to a public opinion poll published Monday.

It shows that about 40 percent of South Florida's blacks believe race relations are more good than bad. It also shows attitudes about race relations among Anglos, blacks and Hispanics are better than their counterparts surveyed during recent polls in New York and Chicago.

"That's very encouraging," said Marvin Dunn, an educator who authored a study of the 1980 race riots in Miami. "It attacks the myth that race relations in Miami are the worst in the country."

The results of the poll by The Miami Herald and WCIX-Channel 6 were taken from four days of interviews with 843 residents of Dade and Broward counties. They are much more optimistic than similar polls taken in the early 1980s, in the aftermath of the Marial boatlift and riots, the Herald said.

They show that at least three of five Anglos and Hispanics acknowledge blacks face the worst discrimination.

The survey also showed that 55 percent of Anglos, 40 percent of blacks and 54 percent of Hispanics believe race relations in South Florida are good.

In addition, 63 percent of Anglos, 83 percent of blacks and 47 percent of Hispanics believe Nicaraguan immigrants get more community support than resident blacks.

When asked if immigration of noncitizens into South Florida should be reduced, 80 percent of Anglos, 61 percent of blacks and a surprising 51 percent of Hispanics said yes.

Survey pinpoints Miami violence areas

MIAMI — A survey of Dade County zip codes showed a 40-block-wide path incorporating predominantly black, lower-income sections of Liberty City, Overtown and Opa-locka had the highest per-capita murder rate in 1988, a newspaper reported Sunday.

There were 441 murders in Dade County last year. The deadliest zip code per capita was 33132, in downtown Miami, with nine murders, or 18.3 murders per 10,000 people. Liberty City, 33147, had the highest number of murders — 38 — in the county.

In 15 zones, including 33173 in Kendall, in southwest Dade County, and 33015 on the Broward County line, there were no murders. The Miami Herald reported Sunday.

Although the killing was high in inner-city neighborhoods — 20 people in Overtown, 33136, for example — there were high murder rates elsewhere.

In rural southwest Dade County, two zip codes — 33198 and 33034 — were among the deadliest zones with 18.6 and 13.8 per 10,000, respectively. Chief Assistant State Attorney Abe Laeser said those areas are considered "dumping grounds," where police say living drug dealers dump the bodies of dead ones.

Neighborhoods can have few people but a high murder rate. In downtown's 33132, there are 4,931 people.

"It says to me that in some pockets, specifically poor, black pockets, the use of violence to settle disputes is disturbingly common and, maybe to some degree, culturally ingrained," said black educator and psychologist Marvin Dunn.

$50,000 charged for unproven treatment

CLEARWATER — The former chief of the Hillsborough County AIDS program is charging AIDS patients up to $50,000 for a drug treatment once claimed to be a cure, but is now seen as a treatment, a newspaper reported Sunday.

In October, Medical International Consulting Services Inc. of Clearwater began sending AIDS patients to Zaire for treatment with the controversial drug MM-1, the Tampa Tribune reported. The drug is not available, nor is it approved for use, in the United States or any European countries, said Ahmed Shafik of Cairo University in Egypt, one of the drug's developers.

Ramona M. Medina resigned from the Hillsborough County AIDS program in August after working there 13 months, the newspaper reported. Three months before resigning, Medina formed the MICA Corp., which has an exclusive contract with MM-1's developers to find patients for the drug treatment.

In Shafik's studies on MM-1, he describes the drug as a "cure" for AIDS. But both he and Medina now emphasize that it is not a cure, only an effective treatment.

Medina said the first group of AIDS patients MICA sent over for treatment showed a "marked clinical improvement" after being treated with the drug. Two of the four patients who went to Africa said the treatment improved their health and strength and also wiped out many of the AIDS-related ailments they were suffering.

"I feel totally positive on this. I came back and I feel like I have a second wind," said a 25-year-old Tampa woman who wished to remain unidentified.

did make occasional trips to Sanford for showers and food, or to shop. They also once went to the beach in Daytona Beach. But most of their days and nights were spent in the woods with Tony LeMasters and Clark visiting them, Smith said.

The illicit fun and freedom, which might have been their legal right within a month's time after their escape date, was over. Smith said Tony LeMasters and Mary Clark planned his and LeMasters' escape, and they just went along with it on impulse, by walking to Clark's waiting car and leaving the minimum security facility.

During those 12 motionless hours in the palmetto scrub they watched news broadcasts on a mini-television, seeing reports on the manhunt for themselves, which began in Seminole County after the Feb. 8 and 7 arrests of five of their Sanford associates, including Tony LeMasters, 27, in connection with two Sanford burglaries to an antiques shop and for aiding the escapees. When that burglary case was broken, some of the suspects gave sheriff's deputies information on the escapees, who became the objects of a Seminole County manhunt, along with Tony LeMasters, who was in the woods with the escapees when searchers moved in Feb. 7. Tony LeMasters surrendered the next day.

After his arrest, Tony LeMasters, under supervision of sheriff's deputies returned to the woods supposedly to try to talk his brother and Smith out on Feb. 8. Instead, deputies alleged, he misled deputies, and the fugitives remained at large, when Tony LeMasters came out of the woods alone.

Smith said he and LeMasters spent their time from Feb. 8 until Feb. 10 working their way out of the woods and into Oviedo where they hid in an orange grove until about 10 p.m. Feb. 10, when they walked up to a convenience store and got a ride with a stranger who took them to Casselberry.

From Casselberry they took a cab to the Day's Inn on Sand Lake Road in Orange County. They had a master key to the inn and stayed there for four nights had access to a room there, until their capture Feb. 14. During their stay at the inn, where they had worked as work release program prisoners, Smith said, they once traveled back to Sanford by bus to pick up clothing. They spent that night with one of LeMasters' sisters near the Sanford police station, Smith said, before returning to the inn via bus. Smith said that he called his mother and she wired him $700, which he picked up at a Western Union office in Orlando. The money was sent under his own name.

On the night of Feb. 14, Smith talked to an acquaintance via phone and agreed to meet her at a nearby convenience store to pickup some marijuana. He waited for awhile at the store and then called a corrections officer at the facility he escaped from.

Through out the Seminole County manhunt, Smith said, he and LeMasters feared they would be shot by the SWAT team. As he talked to the corrections officer she told him he was lucky he hadn't been shot and he should surrender.

During that conversation, Smith heard a noise from a field of tall grass.

"I thought, 'Jesus Christ, they're probably setting me up right now. They're probably coming through them weeds, so I, I gotta go,' and I hung up. And then I turned around and there's (a) guy walking over...he tried to grab me, and I, it was just a reaction to start to run. And as soon as I started to run, I saw, I saw the SWAT men coming out of the weeds and they had all kind of automatic weapons and... and I was, I was sort of doubling around, cause I didn't want to be shot. And they all kind of jumped on me."

Orange County sheriff's deputies received a telephone tip that Smith would be at the store. He led deputies back to the inn where LeMasters was captured. Both were booked into the Orange County jail.

Feb. 17 and 18 Smith was back in the Geneva woods to return to his hideouts with Seminole County sheriff's deputies.

On these returns, slight, blond Smith, who is convicted of non-violent thefts, at gazelle-like speed led sheriff's deputies on three-mile runs into the woods in vain searches for the site where he said he and LeMasters had stashed four stolen guns before they left that area to walk to Oviedo.

Sgt. Steven Walthers said that on Feb. 18 Smith led them to a stash of stolen power tools, but the guns weren't found. Smith had also said, LeMasters had been armed with a pistol strapped to his hip, which he lost in the river when they were fleeing from the woods. LeMasters has been convicted of a violent, 1986 attack on a Geneva woman during which her car was shot at and she was beaten in Seminole County. When they escaped, both LeMasters and Smith had less than one month left to serve in jail.

During their stay in the woods, Smith said he and LeMasters, accompanied by Tony LeMasters, traveled up the Econlockhatchee River via canoe so, Smith alleges, the LeMasters brothers could burglarize a Chuluota house on the river.

Once, when LeMasters and Smith were walking back into the woods with Clark, Smith said, someone opened fire, sending about 30 bullets over their heads. LeMasters returned fire, until the shooter reportedly identified himself as Tony LeMasters, and the brothers stopped their gunplay against each other, Smith said.

Smith said he regrets his escape, but is lucky to have survived the manhunt and capture by the SWAT teams.

Freeze may raise grocery prices

United Press International

ST. PETERSBURG — Saturday's record-breaking cold weather badly damaged produce crops and should lead to a quick increase in grocery prices, industry spokesmen say.

The multimillion-dollar loss will hurt farmers, consumers and workers well into the summer months, the St. Petersburg Times reported Sunday.

Growers said most of the state's leading produce crops — tomatoes, peppers, squash, corn, potatoes, cucumbers, beans, lettuce, celery, radishes and carrots — had been damaged or wiped out.

The damage is expected to cause produce shortages and price increases nationwide. Grocery store prices could start increasing as early as today, when shortages become apparent, the Times reported.

The freeze could also portend hard times for migrant workers and other farm laborers, who will be without work until growers can get new plants started and ready to harvest.

Growers said Saturday overnight temperatures in the mid-20s caused massive destruction to crops near Tampa and Orlando, and lesser damage to fields north of the Everglades. "It's a statewide disaster, really," said Plant City produce broker Tom Burgin. "The only ones who came through this pretty well are the strawberry and citrus people."

Forecasters said the four-day record-breaking cold spell across Florida would subside today.

"Except for some ornamentals, such as ferns, which don't like temperatures even in the 40s, all the other crops are not going to be in any danger," said Jim Lushine, a forecaster with the National Weather Service.

Citrus growers may not really know what damage their trees sustained until next year, when any open blooms that were damaged Saturday would begin to bear fruit. Strawberries may be mushy for the next week or so, but irrigation systems that coated the berries with insulating ice kept the plants alive.

Ironically, the damage was due in part to unseasonably warm weather before the freeze. Warm sunny days led farmers to plant earlier than usual, and rapid growth made the plants more vulnerable to the cold wave that passed through Florida on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Florida's produce harvest is valued at about $1.1 billion a year.

numbers, so last week's grand prize fund, which was estimated at $19 million, rolls over.

Officials said 114 players matched five of the six winning numbers, each winning a cash prize of $12,294.50, the second highest five-of-six prize since Lotto began. The highest prize was $12,582 on Sept. 17.

"As everyone in Florida now surely knows, a larger jackpot translates into more enhancement dollars for public education," Paul said.

Although no one matched all six numbers, there were more than 245,000 winners in Saturday night's live televised Lotto drawing. Together they will collect cash prizes totaling more than $5,250,000.

The winning numbers for Saturday, Feb. 25, were: 02-26-36-41-43-49.

The prize payouts and number of winners by category were:
+ 114 winners matched five-of-six to win $12,294.50.

+ 10,067 winners matched four-of-six to win $203.50.
+ 235,243 winners matched three-of-six to win $8.

demote Smith, then Buratti seconded the motion and amended the motion to termination during discussion. Chairman Alexander Wynn and Commissioner Robert Frazier voted against the measure.

At a grievance hearing last week, the authority heard Smith's attorney argue similar allegations of conspiracy and discrimination against him. The commissioners will vote whether to re-affirm the termination March 2.

The three commissioners swore under oath that no secret meeting was held to discuss Smith's termination, Wolfinger said.

The investigation revealed no evidence substantiating Clayton's claims that Ball misappropriated authority travel funds, Wolfinger said. Clayton alleged that Ball left a 1987 conference in Jacksonville early, then collected travel and hotel costs for that day. Another incident in question centered around a conference in New Orleans last year, which Clayton claimed Ball left a day early to collect travel costs.

Ball told the state attorney he checked out of the motels early so that he could save his own expenses on cheaper accommodations.

Under oath, Buratti told the state attorney, "He may have (been at the New Orleans meeting on that final day). It was such a large conference that it would be hard to tell." Wolfinger said she backed up Ball's statements concerning the Jacksonville trip.

"Theft is a specific intent crime," Wolfinger said in his report to the city commission. "Based on the evidence shown, the State cannot show Bob Ball intended to steal travel money from the SHA."

In her statement before the state attorney, Buratti swore she did not threaten a housing authority employee. Clayton's complaint alleged that Buratti told an employee, "I'm gonna kick your ass."

Buratti said in the statement that after an argument about the use of an extension cord, she told the employee, "I'm going to beat your butt..." if the incident occurred again.

Pawned stolen ring brings charges

WINTER PARK — A 23-year-old Winter Park man accused of stealing and pawning an $18,000 ring has been arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies, who reported linking him to the case through his fingerprint on a pawn ticket.

Deputies said Evan R. Vega, 23, of 2832 Red Lion Square, and another suspect who has not been found, are suspected of stealing the ring and other jewelry with a total value of $25,000 in an Feb. 3 burglary in Maitland.

Vega is charged with dealing in stolen property, violation of the precious metals statute and unlawful use of a license. He allegedly used a stolen driver's license when pawning the ring for $1,500 in Seminole County the day it was stolen. Bond is $2,000.

Woman charged with scalding boy

SANFORD — A Sanford woman was charged with aggravated child abuse after a 14-year-old boy reported she threw boiling water on him during an argument in her home Feb. 16. The boy was treated with first- and second-degree burns on his right arm and back at Central Florida Regional Hospital when the incident was reported.

Beverly Ann Stokes, 33, 3001 Dixon Ave., was arrested Friday at 10 a.m. when she reported to the Seminole County sheriff's office. She reportedly told officers the boy threatened her with a knife and she was defending herself. The boy and a seven-year-old witness refuted her statement. Stokes was held without bond because she was on probation for a prior unreported offense.

Roommate charged with car theft

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Craig Robert Lembke, 31, 706 Oakland St., Altamonte Springs, was charged with grand theft-auto by Altamonte Springs police after he was reported seen driving his room-mate's stolen car on State Road 436 Friday at about 12:45 p.m. Bond was set at $1,000.

Stun gun leads to arrest

SANFORD — Derrick Devon Benton, 26, 215 Terry Lane, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Saturday morning shortly after midnight for carrying a concealed weapon. Police report Benton had threatened a woman in her home in the 1000 block of Willow Lane and when they searched him, they found a stun gun. Bond was set at $500.

Husband, wife arrested in attacks

OVIEDO — A rural Oviedo couple has been arrested. The man is charged with spouse abuse for allegedly choking his wife and the woman is charged with aggravated battery after hitting another woman on the head with a soft drink bottle.

When Seminole County sheriff's deputies arrived at the house of Marianna Huggins, 30, of 1290 Oklahoma St., at about 7:52 a.m. Sunday they said they saw Mrs. Huggins dragging Sandra J. Hughes, 22, of the same address, out by her hair. Deputies said Hughes head was bleeding and she said Mrs. Huggins hit her with a bottle. Stitches were needed to close the wound.

When she was arrested, deputies said, Mrs. Huggins accused her husband John S. Huggins, 26, of the same address, of choking her and threatening her at 6 p.m. Saturday. Both were arrested.

Two charged for cocaine possession

SANFORD — Sanford police, who arrested a man on a failure to appear on a grand theft warrant, also charged that man and a companion in connection with possession and manufacturing of crack cocaine.

Police said they found a solution of cocaine in the kitchen where the arrests were made at 3200 Orlando Drive #240, at about 2 a.m. Sunday.

Charged with possession of cocaine and drug paraphernalia and manufacturing crack cocaine are Zoltan Kecakes, 26, of 230 Lorain Drive, Altamonte Springs; and Paul Edward Crouse II, 36, of 1311 E. Carlton St., Longwood. Crouse was also arrested on the warrant. He is held without bond. Bond for Kecakes is $2,000.

Two arrested for wheel theft

LONGWOOD — A man was arrested after being stopped by Seminole County sheriff's deputies as he left Baird Ray Nisean, U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, with four wheels in the bed of his pickup truck at about 6 a.m. Sunday.

The suspect was questioned by one deputy while a second deputy found a new truck at the dealership which had been stripped of four wheels and which had a broken rear window. A dealership worker confirmed the tires in the suspect's truck had been stolen from the new truck, deputies said. That led to the arrest of the driver and his juvenile companion, a 17-year-old boy.

Adam Diliberti, 18, of 536 Orange Drive #36, Altamonte Springs, is charged with burglary and grand theft.

Faulty light leads to arrest

CASSELBERRY — Casselberry police, who stopped a pickup truck because of a faulty license tag light, arrested the driver and the passenger after open bottles of beer and other contraband were found in their car.

The driver, Daryl Kenneth Parkhurst, 25, of 251 Tradewinds Road, Winter Springs, is charged with possession of cocaine, possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana, violation of the open container law, driving with and possession of a suspended driver's license, having no tag light, and giving alcohol to a minor. The boy was arrested on an alcohol charge and released to his mother. Police said they found one bag each of marijuana and cocaine in Parkhurst's truck.

Scores compete in biathalon

SANFORD — Marshall Randall, of Charleston S.C., was the men's overall winner and Liz Long, of Gainesville, was the women's overall winner in the second annual Sanford Biathalon hosted here Sunday by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

The following is a description of the event prepared by John Boyle, race director:

Mike Blaney, a former stand-out trackster at University of Florida, was the first expulsion in this annual event. The former Gator now running for Team Go led the first three miles in 14:30 and a minute lead on Gary Sheppard, Jef Burns and Marshall Randall.

No match for these three in transition-savvy, however, Blaney watched Randall of Charleston, S.C., go by only a few hundred meters into the Ride. Burns of Albany, Ga., and Sheppard of Tampa would also pass quite soon. Blaney would kick into high gear on the second run to regain fourth place from Eddie Hensley of Winter Haven.

Randall has been among the south's best biathletes for a number of years. By the second transition, he was four minutes up and went into the second 2.9 miles of running at a comfortable pace.

This year's course had to be lengthened (2.2) due to road construction, last year's records became moot points but Randall was only three minutes slower than Barry Scott's time. Since the course worked out well for athletes and the Seminole Sheriff's and Explorers and Sanford Police who controlled it, records will hold and the course will be used again.

Liz Long of Gainesville representing the Mother Earth Health Food Mecca there was also running comfortably over the last 2.9 miles. She was coming off a top finish at the Gasparilla 5K and had over three minutes to spare on Longwood's Jayne Surdyka.

Lakeland's Dr. Fernando Escobar continued a string of top racing efforts with an 11th overall for the master's title. Carol Schneider, 50, Mt. Dora, repeated as the lady's best over 40.

At the crossroads

The emerging high-stakes poker game between Poland's communist government and the Solidarity trade union is laden with both risks and hopeful possibilities.

Polish strongman Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski is gambling he can win Solidarity's support for his austere economic program to revive the nation's comatose economy. Union leader Lech Walesa is betting he can win major political and economic concessions from the government in exchange for his cooperation with the regime.

Clearly both sides have much to gain — and lose.

Gen. Jaruzelski is beset by an economy that is spinning out of control. Poland's inflation rate reached 70 percent last year and threatens to go even higher. Workers' wages have been rising at an annual rate of 120 percent, and the government is inundated by a new wave of work stoppages prompted by high wage demands. State shops are nearly barren of consumer goods, and government economists warn of an imminent catastrophe unless emergency measures are taken to stop the spiraling inflation.

Solidarity is still weakened by the effects of martial law imposed eight years ago. The regime's attempt to crush the union decimated its ranks and stalled in momentum. Although Solidarity remains the prime vehicle for domestic dissent, it lacks a specific program to deal with Poland's misery.

The government has offered to legalize Solidarity, which was banned in 1982, in exchange for the union's promise to forgo outside assistance, embrace communism and agree to a two-year moratorium on strikes. Although Mr. Walesa says he will meet the government halfway, he is justifiably wary of Warsaw's promises to promote economic and political pluralism.

Interior Minister Gen. Czeslaw Kiszczak has proposed "non-confrontational" spring elections that would guarantee Solidarity candidates as many as 40 percent of the seats in the national parliament. The trade union would destroy its credibility were it a party to such an electoral sham. It was reassuring to hear Mr. Walesa denounce this proposal as cynical and reiterate the need for democratic reforms.

Poland's economic problems are the inevitable result of a political system that stifles private initiative. This is a common malady throughout Eastern Europe, where communist government through centralized planning have produced chronic shortages of goods and services while amassing huge foreign debts.

Solidarity must continue to press for the kind of political reforms that will pave the way for genuine economic reforms. Only after such a bargain is struck should Mr. Walesa endorse the government's unpopular austerity program.

Gen. Jaruzelski's problem during the next few weeks is to be flexible without appearing to cave in to demands of the independent trade union. Otherwise, he risks a backlash from party headliners who have made no secret of their opposition to the negotiations.

Poland is at a crossroads. This could be the last chance to bring about meaningful economic and political change through compromise instead of bloody conflicts.

At HUD, Kemp sounds hollow note

Jack Kemp is quickly becoming what old-timers in the West would call an example of "big hat, no cattle." The new secretary of housing and urban development has donned his anti-poverty clothes — spiffy duds that include a green tie to signify his desire to "greenline" inner cities with lots of investment — but neither the symbolism nor promised policies can possibly achieve their goals.

He says he intends to "wage war on poverty," an unfortunate phrase recalling the 1960s, when war on poverty failed the first time. Yet Kemp vows his campaign will be different. It will involve the private sector and offer choices to the poor: choice about where to live, for example, through rental vouchers and tenant ownership of public housing.

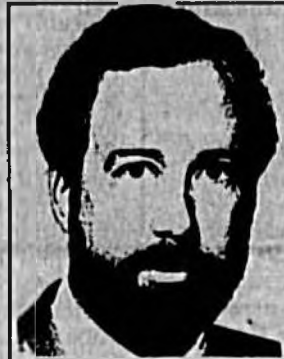

Nor will the homeless be forgotten, since Kemp promises to implement the McKinney Homeless Assistance Act "with all the vigor at my command."

Not least, Kemp predicts that urban "enterprise zones," havens of tax and regulatory relief, will finally bring jobs to the inner cities.

Given such plans, however, Kemp's talk of a war on poverty is like mistaking Grenada for Gettysburg. It's not just that he overcalls his nostrums. A few of his proposals, such as the enterprise zones, aren't even sound to begin with. According to The Economist, a British newsweekly, "a recent study of enterprise zones by Britain's government cooled its ardor for them: the one-time cost for each extra job created was roughly $50,000." In other words, government can indirectly spend more on bribing companies to move to inner cities than the amount of net new investment those businesses generate.

It is notoriously hard to distinguish truly new businesses in enterprise zones from those that would have located there anyway without special help, or would have opened in other job-scarce locales. Anyway, if the goal is to create jobs by eliminating unneeded rules and taxes, why not do it throughout the entire economy? Government usually invents as many problems as it solves when it distorts investment decisions through targeted tax breaks. Enterprise zones will be no exception.

The McKinney Homeless Assistance Act is another bad idea, which Kemp himself must realize since he voted against it two years ago. It is the first step toward nationalizing care for the homeless, which rewards cities such as New York and Washington whose policies actually swell the ranks of the homeless while punishing places like Denver and Portland that seem to have a handle on the problem.

Kemp is onto something, admittedly, in supporting housing vouchers and a plan to let tenants buy existing public units. Not only do vouchers give the poor a choice of apartment, they assist far more people than if the same money were spent subsidizing construction.

But let's be serious. Poverty isn't about to vanish through the magic of housing vouchers. Underclass culture will thrive in our inner cities so long as they team with crime and drugs; so long as urban schools surrender to shamefully low standards and fail to engage the support of parents; and so long as two-parent families remain the exception in so many big-city neighborhoods.

Bush nominee needs to pick his friends

WASHINGTON — Richard Armitage has a bad habit of rallying to the defense of the wrong people. If George Bush nominates him, as planned, to be an assistant secretary of state, Armitage could face some tough questions about the time he rushed to the defense of a Vietnamese woman who was running an illegal gambling operation.

It happened in 1985 when Armitage was an assistant secretary of defense involved in high-level talks with the Vietnamese on missing American prisoners of war. Nguyet Thi O'Rourke was a Vietnamese refugee married to an American man and living near Washington, D.C. She was arrested for running an illegal football pool in the Washington suburb of Arlington, Va. Court records filed by police tied her to Raj Kumar Bansal, who was described in police records as a big-time gambler and loan shark with ties to organized crime.

But to Armitage, she was just an old friend whom he had met in the 1970s in Saigon. So, when O'Rourke got in trouble, Armitage wrote a letter to the Arlington County Court, on Defense Department stationery, asking for leniency. He vouched for her integrity and asked the court to consider the Vietnamese culture, where "gambling is a much more normal and accepted pattern of behavior than in our own."

The President's Commission on Organized Crime perked up its ears. We reported, in a series of columns in 1986 and 1987, that the commission investigated Armitage's relationship with O'Rourke and her ties to Bansal. Armitage said he knew nothing about any organized crime connections.

O'Rourke ended up pleading guilty to conducting an illegal gambling operation, and spent 30 days in jail, but not before another run-in with the law. While she was awaiting trial on the gambling charges, she was stopped by police when leaving a high-stakes gambling operation near Washington with $3,850. O'Rourke and a companion were in a hurry to get out. The companion had fired a machine gun during an altercation inside.

Armitage's letter in support of O'Rourke was written three months after that incident. Congressional sources told our associate Scott Slick that they are studying the O'Rourke case and plan to present their findings to the Senate during Armitage's confirmation hearings for assistant secretary of state for Far East and Asian affairs.

Our reports on Armitage in 1986 drew the attention of Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot, who has taken up the cause of missing Americans in Southeast Asia. Perot wondered if the O'Rourke incident would damage Armitage's credibility with the Vietnamese. He took his concerns to then-Vice President Bush. "What does it take for a U.S. government official to lose his security clearance?" Perot wanted to know.

Later, we reported that then-National Security Advisor Frank Carlucci secretly asked Perot to stop stirring up trouble for Armitage.

The O'Rourke case is not the only time Armitage has taken pen in hand to defend the accused. We recently reported that in 1988 he wrote a letter on behalf of the Defense Department to several members of Congress asking them to go easy on Japan's Toshiba Machine Co. Toshiba had illegally sold submarine parts to the Soviet Union that allowed the Soviets to build quieter subs. As punishment, Congress was considering strict sanctions against the sale of Toshiba products in the United States.

Armitage said he knew nothing about any organized crime connections.

DAVID S. BRODER

Kemp, Skinner begin with a bang

WASHINGTON — Of the newcomers to President Bush's Cabinet — those who didn't hold a Cabinet post during the Reagan years — the smoothest takeoffs have been made by two men of strikingly opposite styles.

Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Jack Kemp hit the ground running and has been in the news every day, vowing to channel his overflowing energy into the revitalization of blighted cities and the rescue of homeless people.

Secretary of Transportation Sam Skinner has made a quieter start, but one which promises substantial achievement. The two men, though very different in temperament, are clearly both results-oriented activists who make it instantly clear they have taken their jobs to get things done, not just to pad their resumes.

Kemp is far better known, thanks to 14 years in the House, a prominent role in the supply-side tax cuts of the Reagan years and a 1988 presidential nomination campaign which won him more friends than delegates.

Skinner is new to Washington, but not to the political big leagues. He is a former federal prosecutor, the campaign strategist for Illinois Gov. Jim Thompson, his predecessor and boss in the U.S. attorney's office. Skinner was the man Thompson picked to go in and straighten out the nearly bankrupt Chicago regional transit agency, which he did in a fashion that won bipartisan praise.

Skinner is a tough, no-nonsense manager, with a ready wit that he employs with deadly accuracy against the pomp and pretentiousness he has already encountered in Washington. He's strikingly similar in temperament to Drew Lewis, the surprise star of the first Reagan Cabinet.

He told me, for example, that when President Bush called him "a visionary, it was the highest compliment I've received — except, of course, for Sen. Metzenbaum's vote for confirmation." Howard Metzenbaum, the irascible Democrat from Ohio, had done a rare about-face by first raising and then absolving Skinner on charges of squishiness toward a big drug firm in his prosecutorial days. Skinner knows the game well enough to know what that kind of bow from Metzenbaum means.

Transportation is a department that has chronically suffered from the freedom jealousies of such component parts as the Federal Aviation Agency. But if anyone can make the whole greater than the sum of its quarreling parts, Skinner may be the man.

What Kemp brings to HUD is not managerial skills but a missionary zeal to demonstrate that his free-enterprise ideas can make life better in America's worst neighborhoods. He told reporters that he wants to manage the department "from the bottom up," serving as the catalyst and collecting point for a lot of other people's ideas.

That means that somebody other than the old quarterback is going to have to try to manage it the old-fashioned way, because Kemp isn't going to be around much to sign papers or run meetings.

Within hours of his swearing-in, he took off for Atlanta to spend two days, mostly in the company of back Democratic elected officials and their constituents, looking at working models of housing rehabilitation, social-service delivery and business development in the blighted parts of that city.

At breakfast the next morning, he was almost hyperventilating. "A thrilling experience," he said. "I don't believe the problems are intractable, and they don't either."

Budget realities will limit Kemp's actions, but nothing will shut down his enthusiasm. As a Republican in a Democratic-controlled Congress, Kemp learned to form alliances across party lines and to negotiate legislative deals. But his most notable skill was his advocacy. Like Ronald Reagan, he is effective at selling others because he has first sold himself. And Kemp believes that through such schemes as "enterprise zones," he can give transfusions of entrepreneurial energy to blighted city centers.

It's an idea many others view with skepticism. But what I admire about both these men is their willingness to lay down markers by which they can be judged.

Sam Skinner says that his commitment to Bush and Congress is this: "We're going to have a strategic plan for transportation in this country before I leave office or there will be dead bodies all over this building. Both our defense and our economy demand that we start now to meet the needs of the first half of the 21st century."

Kemp is equally emphatic: "We ought to double or triple the number of minority-owned businesses in the next four years. We ought to make a significant dent in the homeless problem. No one should go without shelter, unless by personal choice. We ought to put an end to 'redlining' and all other forms of discrimination in housing."

Skinner is a tough, no-nonsense manager.

Train derails, cars explode

AKRON, Ohio — A freight train derailed and four tank cars containing butane fuel exploded into flames in the downtown area Sunday night, prompting the evacuation of more than 1,000 people within a half-mile of the site, police said.

A huge pillar of smoke streamed over the city throughout the night after the 7:30 p.m. wreck, but no injuries were reported. Firefighters had doused the fire on three tank cars and contained the blaze to one by early Monday, Akron Fire Chief George Romanowski said.

Gang violence claims 11-year-old girl

United Press International

LOS ANGELES — An 11-year-old girl was killed and her aunt was critically wounded as gang members opened fire on a rival gang standing nearby and struck the two innocent victims, officials said Sunday.

Elsewhere during the weekend, gang attacks claimed at least four other lives and another man was killed when he was struck by a car carrying two gang members that was being chased by police, law enforcement officials said. At least six other people were wounded.

The young girl, her 14-year-old sister and their 42-year-old aunt were caught in gang gunfire about 9:30 p.m. Saturday while walking home from a market in the Pico-Union District just east of downtown, Lt. Rob Watters said.

"The whole thing is tragic, it's really bad," Sgt. Alan Bollinger said. "They were walking in the wrong place at the wrong time."

The victims, whose names were withheld until relatives could be notified, were walking past some gang members standing in the front yard of a residence when members of a rival gang drove by and opened fire with a shotgun, Watters said.

The 11-year-old, who was standing nearest the street, was killed from a shotgun pellet wound to the head, he said. Her aunt was in critical condition at County-USC Medical Center with pellet wounds to the neck. The 14-year-old was uninjured.

None of the gang members was wounded and no arrests were made.

"The motive for the shooting is in all likelihood the usual gang retribution drive-by shooting and the victims were innocent victims of gang violence," Watters said.

About 35 minutes earlier, Jesus Gutierrez, 16, a suspected gang member, was shot as he stood next to his car in a gasoline station in South Central Los Angeles, Sgt. Stacey Koon said.

Gutierrez died at Daniel Freeman Memorial Hospital at 11:05 p.m., he said.

"The suspect is believed to be a rival gang member who fled in a small foreign vehicle," Koon said. Again, no arrests were made.

Gunshots were fired during a fight between two rival gangs on a San Pedro street corner.

NEW YORK — Prices opened mixed Monday in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues, with blue chips outperforming broader market issues in the wake of Friday's hike of the discount rate by the Federal Reserve.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which plunged 43.92 Friday, was up 1.42 to 2246.96 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 427-317, however, among the 1,207 issues crossing the NYSE tape. Early turnover amounted to about 9,300,000 shares.

Stock prices closed sharply lower Friday in moderate trading as investors staged a major

TALLAHASSEE — Telephone company officials who publicly support the Public Service Commission have secretly drafted legislation to sharply curtail the state regulating agency's authority over them.

Public Counsel Jack Shreve, who represents consumers before the PSC, said the legislation was "outrageous," the St. Petersburg Times reported Sunday.

Internal memos obtained by the paper show that representatives of the 13 telephone companies in Florida drafted legislation that would revoke the PSC's authority over companies that have fewer than 200,000 subscribers. Most of the telephone companies have fewer than 200,000 subscribers.

The legislation would also block the PSC from reviewing reading of an ordinance eliminating the marina fees. The commissioners called for that ordinance at its Jan. 13 meeting by a 4-1 vote.

Commissioner Whitey Eckstein suggested at a commission workshop earlier this month that eliminating fees could be a goodwill gesture toward Seminole County. Joint use of the marina might lead to a joint effort to rid Lake Monroe of blind mosquitoes, Eckstein suggested.

At that time, Commissioner A. A. McClanahan countered that the fees were needed to support police services crucial to maintaining order at the marina.

certain information about companies' operations in other states, information the agency uses in determining rates companies can charge customers. It could expand PSC authority to telecommunications systems that are beginning to compete with telephones but are currently unregulated.

Shreve said the companies "would put themselves in position to do some real damage to the Public Records Law and cut out effective regulation of anything."

"It would put a telephone company in so much more control than they are now it would really interfere with regulation. It's incredible, really."

Last fall, the companies sent word to the PSC that the state law on telephone company regulation should not be changed when it goes before the Legislature for review this spring. Telephone executives have said the same thing in hearings before the PSC and the legislative committees that will review the law.

The internal memos show company executives feared word of the secret memo would leak out and damage the uneasy truce they have with the PSC.

Plans made for strike

United Press International

MIAMI — Most major airlines have been mapping out plans to pick up business and accommodate Eastern passengers should the machinists union strike at Eastern Airlines next month, a newspaper reported Sunday.

If the International Association of Machinists strikes the Miami air carrier and pilots refuse to cross the picket line, thousands of passengers will have to seek alternative routes and airlines, the Miami Herald reported.

"Obviously we're going to honor (Eastern) tickets, that goes without saying," said Art Kent, a spokesman for Continental Airlines, Eastern's sister carrier.

Duarte offers cease-fire in El Salvador civil war

UPI report

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador - President Jose Napoleon Duarte called Sunday for a cease-fire in the nation's nine-year-old civil war and said he was willing to postpone elections and hold peace talks with leftist rebels.

In a speech broadcast in the evening on Salvadoran radio and television, Duarte said the cease-fire could begin at midnight Tuesday if the guerrillas accept the proposal, and would last at least until his term expires June 1.

The ailing president also said he had agreed to postpone the scheduled March 19 elections and to begin talks with the rebel Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front - two key conditions of a peace proposal offered by the resistance last month.

Duarte said the talks could be held in Guatemala City as soon as details of the cease-fire were worked out.

"This proposal is to be within the frame of the constitution, because as constitutional president I must abide by it," Duarte said.

If his proposal is rejected, Duarte said, a national plebiscite would be called to give the Salvadoran people "a chance to decide on their homeland's future."

Duarte, who is suffering from cancer, did not say when elections would be rescheduled. The rebel peace proposal had stipulated that the polls be postponed five months - a proposal the government earlier had said would be impossible because Duarte is constitutionally bound to leave office in just over three months.

The rebels, in an unprecedented move Jan. 23, offered to lay down their arms and participate in elections if the government postponed the March 19 polls and agreed to procedural guarantees for leftist political groups.

Guerrilla leaders warned Saturday of a dramatic escalation in the 10-year-old war unless the government accepted the conditions and agreed to direct talks.

Last week rebels leaders met in Mexico City with top officials of El Salvador's political parties.

IN BRIEF

BASKETBALL

Knicks beat Celtics for record

The New York Knicks turned the team they feared most not long ago into a mere stepping-stone toward a club record. Mark Jackson scored 28 points Sunday to lead the Knicks to their club-record 21st straight victory Sunday, a 122-110 decision over the Boston Celtics.

The Celtics have ousted the Knicks from the playoffs the last two times New York has reached the postseason and dominated the conference during the Knicks' slide. On Sunday, however, they had to overcome a 22-point deficit to even make the game close.

Elsewhere on Sunday, Denver downed Philadelphia 122-115, Indiana led Utah 128-98, Detroit dumped the Los Angeles Clippers 110-98, Portland pounded Miami 124-102, and the Los Angeles Lakers lashed Phoenix 134-122.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Stevens to be 'Cane barometer

CORAL GABLES — University of Miami athletic director Sam Jankovich said Sunday he would conduct a national search for a replacement for head coach Jimmy Johnson but that offensive assistant Gary Stevens would be used as a "barometer" to compare all candidates.

Johnson got the job as head coach of the Dallas Cowboys Saturday when the team was sold to Jerry Jones, an Arkansas oilman who was Johnson's roommate in college.

Stevens, the pass-minded offensive coordinator who many credit for developing Miami into "Quarterback U," quickly acquired almost universal support for the job, but Jankovich said he would not submit to pressure when he makes his decision.

"Boosters, players, coaches alike will not pressure me into making what I don't think is the right decision and neither will you — the media," a somewhat hostile Jankovich told a news conference on the Miami campus. "I will not submit to pressure."

TENNIS

Becker better with experience

PHILADELPHIA — At the ripe old age of 21, Boris Becker credits his experience with making him a better player on the pro tennis tour.

"Even though I'm only 21, I feel older," said Becker, who won his second straight tournament Sunday with a 7-6 (7-4), 6-1, 6-3 victory over two-time defending champion Tim Mayotte in the $602,500 Ebel U.S. Pro Indoor tennis championships.

"I played here four years ago and not many other players on the tour can say that. Plus my career went through so many stages. I won Wimbledon so early, then I had some setbacks but I came back. That helps you to see things in perspective."

"All these things make me looser on the court. I'm not as tight as I used to be. I go out and give it my all and if I win, great. If I don't, I'm not as down as I used to be."

HOCKEY

Redwings extend Norris lead

The Detroit Red Wings shook off a slump in time to put more distance between themselves and the second-place Chicago Blackhawks in the Norris Division race.

The Red Wings took three out of a possible four points in its weekend series with the Blackhawks, capped by a 4-4 tie Sunday at Chicago. That allowed Detroit, which had seen its division lead shrink as they suffered through a slump, to hold a 13-point advantage over Chicago.

In other NHL games Sunday, Winnipeg blanked Calgary 1-0, Hartford outduelled Pittsburgh 8-6, Montreal ripped Vancouver 5-2 and Los Angeles and New Jersey finished in a 1-1 tie.

Lady Pats win Earlybird

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Lake Brantley, powered offensively by Tina Wilson and Tracy Brandenburg and the pitching of Kristen Bates, won the Earlybird Invitational softball tournament held at Merrill Park here on Saturday.

The Lady Patriots improved to 6-0 on the season and will return to action at home this Tuesday against county rival Lake Howell.

Lake Brantley opened the tournament against Santa Luces and just got by with a 7-5 victory. The Lady Patriots went on to nip Palm Bay 3-1 before getting by Lake Howell 5-1.

Lake Brantley then ripped Jacksonville Fletcher 8-1 in the finals to capture its first tournament of the season. The Lady Patriots will look to stay unbeaten when they return to action against the Lady Silver Hawks on Tuesday.

The matchup Tuesday will be equally important as it is the opening game in the Seminole Athletic Conference for both teams. Lake Brantley has won the SAC the past two years with Lake Howell taking it the two years before that.

Wilson, who was named the tourney's Most Valuable Player, was 6 for 11 at the plate with five singles and a home run in the finals while connecting for eight runs batted in and scoring two.

Brandenburg was equally tough at the plate as she was 7 for 11 at the plate and stroked three singles, two doubles a triple and a home run, had five runs batted in and scored five runs.

Bates pitched all four games and didn't walk a batter. She finished with three strike outs and did a tremendous job on the mound.

Along with Wilson's MVP performance, Brandenburg and Bates were named to the all tournament team.

"We played real well," Lake Brantley assistant coach Debbie Frank said. "Bates pitched well and we had real good hitting from Tina Wilson and Tracy Brandenburg."

Another key Seminole Athletic Conference contest is on tap for Tuesday as the Lake Mary Lady Rams, who co-hosted the Earlybird Invitational with Lake Brantley, will be at Lyman.

Rollins earns spot in tourney

By JIM RICKENBACKER
 Herald Correspondent

WINTER PARK — Burying Barry in Saturday night's regular-season finale was imperative if the Rollins Tars intended to join powerhouses Tampa, Florida Southern and FIT for Friday's four-team Sunshine State Conference tournament.

Rollins, once 0-2 in the conference standings, had registered its first SSC triumph against Barry, Jan. 23, and climaxed a comeback that landed the Tars in the conference tournament by crushing the Buccaneers, 112-89, Saturday at Enyart-Alumni Fieldhouse.

"We earned our right to play in this tournament," said Rollins Coach Tom Klusman, to a bolsterous bunch in the lockerroom. "We've showed some guts coming back the way we have this season. I believe this was our finest game of the year."

Granted Barry isn't Florida Southern or Tampa, which plays host to Rollins at 8 p.m. Friday on the heels of the FSC-FTT showdown.

Still, the Tars (14-13, 6-6) took it to the Bucs behind the heroics of Todd Murphy, Steve Rotz, Andy Holman, Sam Arterburn and an entire team that believes they can play with the conference big boys.

"We've got as good a chance as anyone else in the tournament or better," said Murphy, the senior center who poured in a career-high 20 points and ripped down a career-high 12 rebounds. "Our team knows that in order to beat these teams we have to play all out."

"Last year we won some games because of great talent. This year our desire and will to win have carried us down the stretch."

Holman, who scored 14 points and snatched six rebounds in 14 minutes, spoke of other ingredients essential to the Tars' success.

"We've been doing a good job as of late focusing on one game at a time," Holman said. "We had a team meeting the other day and talked about the need to have one common goal. I believe we're more united than ever."

Certainly, Barry (8-18, 0-12) wouldn't dispute that after Rollins roared to a 60-38 halftime bulge that drew rousing applause from the majority of the 1,018 eyewitnesses.

Just about the time the Bucs thought they had any chances to avenge a 82-71 loss last month, Rollins would arise and fire up a flurry of field goals.

After Ron Johnson's dunk diminished the Bucs' deficit to 19-12, Rotz, Martin, Arterburn and company turned up the offensive volume and blew away the visitors.

Rotz started the run with a great

Lake Mary's Justin Naumovitz (front) was able to work his way out of this jam against Maurice Moore of Orlando Boone, but ended up having his perfect season ruined by losing his last two matches of the year. Still, the performance was good for a fourth place finish in the 4A state wrestling tournament this past weekend.

Duo does Tribe proud

From staff reports

Even though Seminole High School was represented by just two wrestlers at the 3A state championship meet at the St. Petersburg Bayfront Center this past Friday and Saturday, the Tribe still left quite an impression.

Both senior Troy Rollins and junior Justin Bennett finished fourth in their respective weight classes — Rollins at 160 and Bennett at 180 — scoring all 19 of Seminole's team points for a very respectable 23rd place team finish (out of 53 schools, most of whom had more than two competitors at the meet).

"Troy lost to the eventual state champion (Trevor Johnson of Bradenton Bayshore) in the semifinals," said Seminole coach Glenn Maloint. "If he had been in the other side of the bracket, I think he would have been in the finals."

"In the consolation match, he lost to (Mike) O'Brien (of Venice) on a penalty point when he was called for stalling."

Bennett was even closer to a spot in the championship match of his weight class, losing a referee's decision to St. Petersburg-Gibbs' Jerry Johnson in the semifinals. Johnson went on to be pinned by Bishop Moore's Steve Cumble in 5:30 in the championship match.

Mike Tyson

Bruno believes he challenged Tyson

United Press International

LAS VEGAS — England's Frank Bruno seethed every time the naysayers suggested he'd be lucky if heavyweight champion Mike Tyson didn't separate him from his faculties during their title fight.

Bruno thought the idea preposterous both before and after he lost to the unbeaten Tyson Saturday night.

"Mike Tyson is a human being like everyone else," the Englishman said following Tyson's 36th triumph — a fifth-round technical knockout. "He's got legs and he bleeds."

Tyson, a 10-1 favorite, was certainly as human as Bruno believed. The champion was awkward for the first time in recent memory and somewhat frustrated until a vintage pounding of an opponent on the ropes ended it at 2:55 of the round.

"I tried my best," Bruno said. "He beat me fair and square. There are no excuses. I hit him fairly solidly. I was trying to make him miss, trying to make him tire himself out."

Lady Hawks use depth to beat cold, field

From staff reports

CASSELBERRY — What had promised to be an interesting track meet wilted in the cold that hit the area over the weekend. Still, Track Shack-sponsored Lake Howell Invitational girls track meet at the Lake Howell High School stadium on Saturday had its share of top-notch performances.

Originally scheduled for Friday, Lake Howell coach Tom Hammontree moved the meet back a day to avoid the worst of the cold weather. Even so, only six of the invited teams opted to join the host Lady Silver Hawks — Lyman, Deltona, Apopka, Winter Haven, Winter Park and DeLand.

The Lady Wolves of Deltona, in their first year of competition, took the early lead in the team standings as they dominated the field events. After the first five events (four of which were won by Deltona), the Lady Wolves held an 83-69 advantage over second-place Lake Howell.

Then it was time for the Lady Silver Hawks to do their thing.

Despite winning just four events, Lake Howell staged a strong rally in the running events to win the meet going away, 182-135, over Deltona. Winter Park was third (93.5), followed by Winter Haven (72.5), Lyman (48) and DeLand (16).

"We just scored well in all of the events," said Hammontree. "We took three and sometimes four places in some events. Basically, we won on our depth. That's a nice advantage to have."

Hammontree scored the meet to eight places in each event (except the relays), a system that is being looked at for possible implementation state-wide in the near future.

Taking first places for the Lady Silver Hawks in the meet were Stacy Johnson in the 440 dash (1:03.7), Jessica Cardarelli in the 330 low hurdles (53.3), Miki Palumbo in the two-mile run (12:35.3) and the two-mile relay squad of Sheryl Palumbo, Cardarelli, Monica Compton and Johnson.

Vinyl vs. tile in floor coverings

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald correspondent

Europeans have been using ceramic floor tile to beautify and, in some regions, to cool their homes for centuries. In recent years, the trend has caught on in this country, mostly due to the aesthetic value of the product.

Americans, it would seem, are in love with ceramic tile. The trend is catching on in Central Florida homes as well.

Steve Phillips, a customer service representative with Mid State Carpet and Tile in Altamonte Springs, said that a lot of people are putting ceramic floor tile in their homes because it increases the value of the building.

HOME & GARDEN

"The value of flooring is twofold," he explained. "There is the apparent value—that's the financial aspect. Then there's the perceived value—that's the value that people put on it because they believe what they want."

For example, some people put a higher value on vinyl tile over ceramic tile because they feel the latter is too hard on their backs. Others feel the ceramic will keep their homes cooler in the Florida heat.

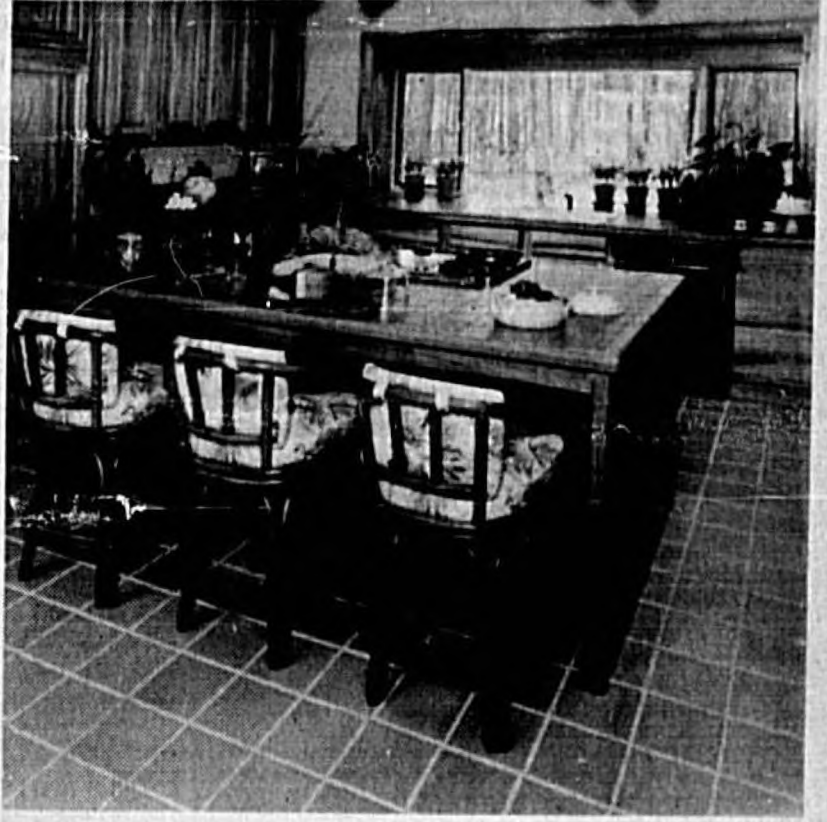

Sam Nobles of Quality Carpet and Sheet Vinyl in Lake Mary argues that ceramic tile is no longer popular in Central Florida.

"We've had cooler winters here and people don't want that cold, hard floor under their feet," he said.

Aileen Jenrect, a representative of the Olean Ceramic Tile Company, says that area rugs will alleviate the problem of chilly toes, while at the same time offering texture to a room's decor.

"The rugs make cleaning even easier and you can change styles by changing the rugs," she said. "And, in Central Florida, most floors are concrete slabs, and vinyl is just as hard as ceramic."

Independent studies have shown that while high-grade vinyl flooring lasts nearly 20 years under the pressures of normal residential use, ceramic tile of similar value will take nearer to half of a century of similar abuse before showing signs of wear.

Ceramic tile floors and countertops can work together, as in this no-fuss kitchen.

Arguing in favor of the vinyl product, Nobles said that ceramic is a difficult tile to clean.

"The grout collects dirt and just absorbs oils. It makes a sticky mess that's hard to clean," he said. "Vinyl just wipes clean."

In that respect, Phillips agrees.

"Vinyl is easier to clean, but with a little soapy water, ceramic cleans up with no problem," he said.

"Ceramic tile is popular today because it's easy to take care of," said Jenrect. "Working couples just don't have the time to be cleaning. Ceramic tile fits their lifestyle perfectly."

Both ceramic and vinyl tile are in the same price range. Depending on the quality of the product, it should be between $2 and $5 per square foot, including installation. Bear in mind, however, that the ceramic appreciates in value and the vinyl depreciates.

There are a myriad of other floor coverings available on the market today ranging from vinyl sheeting to wood tiles. Most products are suitable for the Central Florida environment and lifestyle, though the wood products would be less desirable for a room off of a pool area.

"Tell the professional at the store what your lifestyle and traffic patterns are like and he can help you choose what's best," Jenrect advised.

Child tests guest's limits

DEAR ABBY: When "Truly Enraged" complained that her guest's children behaved badly in her home, you said she had every right to discipline them.

Hooray! What if you are a guest in someone's home and there is a child there who acts rudely? One small guest took it upon herself to start kicking me for no reason at all. I was very embarrassed and could not hit a 4-year-old with her mother looking on. I had no idea what to do, so I finally left the party.

Since I am engaged to the son in the family, I will be seeing this little girl frequently. What do you advise?

The child's mother refuses to discipline her child, and I do not care to be abused by a pint-sized bully.

PROBLEMS IN PARAMUS, N.J.

DEAR PROBLEMS: First, I'll tell you what not to do. Don't get into a power struggle with a 4-year-old who is obviously making a bid for attention and testing her limits.

Resist scolding her, and ask, in all sincerity, "Why are you kicking me?" Then wait patiently for her reply.

She will have accomplished her mission in gaining your attention, and you will have reached out to her in a non-combative way that will open the door for further dialogue.

I hope you realize that this child is probably jealous of "the other female" (you) for having captured the male in her family.

DEAR ABBY: Each time we invite a certain couple to our home for a party, they make a point of getting in touch with me or my wife to find out who else is coming.

Is it proper for them to inquire, and should we simply tell them, as we have in the past, and try not to let it bug us?

BUGGED IN WOOSTER, OHIO

DEAR BUGGED: It is not proper to ask "who else" is coming. And since it bugs you, you are under no obligation to disclose your guest list.

Because it's rude to point out a person's rudeness, you could respond lightheartedly. "Pope John Paul and Mother Teresa are trying to clear their calendars"—or something equally preposterous.

From gardens to salads, daylilies have beautiful versatility

Merle Kent examines a sturdy-stalked daylily in a Longwood nursery.

Would you like plants for your garden that will bloom from spring until fall, seldom bothered by insects, diseases or nematodes (soil-borne parasites)? Would you also like to have a wide range of colors from yellow to red to purple and have the ability to multiply them so that in a few years you can share your favorites with your friends?

If this sounds like the perfect plant for you, consider planting daylilies in your garden. The daylily is as perfect a plant for Central Florida as one could hope to find.

Modern daylily hybridizers like Merle Kent of Big Tree Daylily Garden in Longwood have given us daylilies that range from 8 inches to 3 feet tall.

They have given us ones that are sturdy, can withstand neglect, and with outstanding form and color. And new hybrids, unlike the old varieties, don't need to be staked to hold their flowers high.

Daylilies are classified into three groupings—evergreen, semi-evergreen and deciduous. The evergreen and semi-evergreen ones are best suited for Central Florida. Deciduous daylilies are best suited for our northern neighbors.

"The selection of daylily varieties is important because many of the lilies that were developed up north are not happy here because of our mild climate, and these varieties go dormant in the winter," Kent said. "Some of them can adapt to our conditions but others can't."

"Who wants a bare space on the ground for two or three months if you could just as easily have an evergreen daylily instead?"

Daylilies can be planted at any time, but spring and fall are the preferred times. If your daylilies are crowded and interfering with each other's growth, it is time to divide them. Spring and fall are the best times to divide.

GARDENING

CELESTE WHITE

To divide daylilies, dig up the clump and separate the "fans" from one another. Many varieties can simply be divided with your fingers, but some need to be carefully cut with a strong knife. It is a good rule of thumb to keep 2 or 3 fans in a clump when you are dividing them. Cut the leaves back to about 6 inches from the crown of the daylily.

After you've planted them, don't let the roots dry out! Wait two or three weeks to fertilize, using a 6-6-6 or similar fertilizer with minor elements.

Water well before you fertilize and then water again afterwards. Be careful to keep the fertilizer off the foliage so you don't spot or burn the leaves. Daylilies like to be fertilized in the spring and fall.

As a general principle of landscape design, groupings of a single flower color will produce a bold accent and draw the eye. Always plant daylilies in mass plantings with clumps of 10 to 12 fans of the same color together.

Most people are unaware that the flowers of the daylily are not only edible but an excellent and tasty addition to salads. They also can be dipped in a light batter and fried. They give an interesting color and texture to the culinary adventurer.

Lilies to aid Easter Seals

Lilies soon will be in full bloom at Texaco gas and convenience stores throughout Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties during Hang-A-Lily Month.

Beginning March 1, customers donating one dollar or more to Easter Seals will receive a cut-out of a royal blue lily. Each lily will be signed by the donor and displayed at the store.

All funds raised will stay in Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties to help local people with disabilities. Funds are used to provide therapy and equipment to disabled residents and to send area children and adults with disabilities to Camp Challenge, the wheelchair-accessible Easter Seal camp.

Girl Scouts' annual brunch to aid council

ORLANDO — Joan Ruffler, former Girl Scout and currently chairman of the Florida State Board of Regents, will speak at a Champagne Brunch Celebration sponsored by the Citrus Council of Girl Scouts on Sunday, March 5, at the Omni International Hotel in Orlando.

Ruffler will provide the kick-off for the annual Girl Scout Week activity by highlighting ways in which Girl Scouts can "Take the Lead" as they work to make an impact on the community at large.

The brunch is open to the public at the cost of $50 per person or $500 for a corporate

Hysterectomy may not be cause of problems

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had a hysterectomy about three years ago during which I had my ovaries removed. Since then I have had a bout of depression and lack of libido. My doctor wants to change me from Premarin/Provera to Estratest, but he says I might get facial hairs. Just what I want at 48. What are my options?

DEAR READER: You have several options.

To begin with, your depression and loss of libido (sexual urge) may not be related to your hysterectomy. You might be helped by some counseling or psychotherapy, with or without the use of antidepressants. Many women in mid-life experience an alteration of feelings that can be aided by professionals trained in treating depression and mid-life crises.

If your emotional state is, indeed, due to the hormone changes taking place in your body, revision of your hormone pills (or change to a different brand or strength) could relieve your symptoms. Although some women do notice an increase in facial hair from certain hormone preparations, the hair disappears once the medicine is stopped or its dose reduced. I think it's all right for you to try the Estratest (a combination of female and male hormones), and if you are unhappy with it, make a change.

Finally, you can always request a second opinion. Judging from your comments, I think your doctor is doing a good job. Nevertheless, do not hesitate to share your concerns with him and, if appropriate, ask for additional guidance from another specialist.

In summary, I think your best approach would be to follow your doctor's suggestions and, at the same time, consider counseling.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My serum calcium level is high: 12. What problems will this cause?

DEAR READER: Hypercalcemia, an excess of calcium in the blood, can reflect a number of diseases, including cancer, over-active parathyroid glands (the calcium-controlling glands), over-active thyroid glands, too much vitamin D in the diet, and bone disorders. The cause of your elevated calcium must be investigated and corrected before kidney failure,

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Every now and then someone complains that we serve too many crepes Suzette and not enough meat and potatoes in our column. So get ready for some elementary of plays — the finesse. Studying such a basic concept should not upset anyone's digestion, but bear in mind that more often than not the right play is to refuse a finesse.

North opened one no-trump and South bid four spades. West had no convenient safe bid, so he passed. The defense began with K-A of clubs and another club, ruffed by East. Back came a heart. Declarer played the queen, losing to the king for down one.

South's carelessness was criminal. To make his contract, he was going to need the diamond king to be in the West hand anyway. If it was outside, then by taking the finesse twice in diamonds he would be able to shed his heart queen, a potential loser. So he should have risen with the heart ace, drawn trumps and played a diamond to the A-Q-J, finessing. When that worked, he should take the finesse again to get rid of the losing heart queen. Yes, it is true that he might lose an extra trick if both the king of diamonds and the king of hearts are with East, but that is a small premium to pay for doubling his chances of making the contract. The appropriate rule is simple — when there are two finesesses, only one of which is needed to make the contract, take the finesse that will make the contract. Forget about the other.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
February 28, 1989

Conditions in general should be much more harmonious for you in the year ahead than they have been the past few years. You'll now know how to strike the right balance between your worldly interests and your social life.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If something teasy develops today and you get dragged into it, don't let it cause you to lose your cool. Your image and reputation could suffer if you handle it poorly. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you do not have a tight agenda today, you might find yourself in a position of doing things you'd rather not that may be imposed on you by others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

Follow your instincts if they warn you to avoid certain cliques or groups today. Being involved with the wrong people could make you feel ill at ease.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You are not likely to advance your self-interests today if you are stubborn or uncooperative. A failure to work harmoniously with others will greatly lessen your chances for success.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Attempting to spread yourself too thin today where your work is concerned could result in a lot of aggravation but precious little productivity.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Guard against inclinations today to loosely treat assets entrusted to you. If you manage matters poorly, you'll be held accountable for your mistakes.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A family member might be a bit more sensitive than usual today. Try not to do anything abrasive that could hurt feelings and put a chill on your household.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you're required to perform some type of work today that demands your utmost concentration, treat it with the seriousness it deserves or you might goof up.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not give in too easily to those in your charge today. If you handle critical matters too loosely, it will set a bad precedent and weaken your authority.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It could turn out to be an exercise in futility today if you attempt to promote something in which you do not truly believe. First be honest with yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Associates are likely to lose patience with you today if you fail to bring out into the open a matter that bothers you. They're not apt to have any tolerance for guessing games.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Frivolous involvements could prove a bit costly today. They might encourage your extravagance or take you away from something where you should be spending your time trying to make money.
