SANFORD - "The guys on the road, sure we have guns, but the bullets we're using aren't worth anything," a Seminole County sheriff's deputy complained.

Since March 30 when deputy Paul Schuck had to fire his 9mm pistol several times before penetrating the windshield of a car occupied by an accused bank robber who was shooting deputy Thomas Johnson, some deputies independently loaded their guns with what they believed is a "better bullet." the deputy said.

When Capt. Jay Leman learned some deputies were buying their own bullets, Leman said he told them that under the department's general orders they could only use department approved and issued bullets.

Leman said that is for conformity and because of "liability. They shouldn't carry the hydroshock until its approved," Leman said of the bullet some deputies want.

"I agree with the guys for their plea for a better builet," Leman suid. "If there is such a thing." Undersheriff Duane Harrell added.

Some deputies say they have no confidence in the issued silver-tip Winchester Western 9mm rounds that are the current choice of the Bee Builet, Page 5A

Nelson's campaign running low on cash

TALLAHASSEE - U.S. Rep. Bill Nelson's campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination is so expensive, he has been forced to rely more and more on his own financial resources, aides say.

Although the multimillionaire Melbourne congressman has raised more than $5.2 million in contributions. Nelson this week had to write two checks for his campaign when his war chest dropped below the $100,000 level.

Jay Hakes, Nelson's campaign manager, said Friday the campaign has about $18,000 in cash on hand, but has bought TV spots through Tuesday and expects to remain on the air until the Sept. 4 primary. Former U.S. Senator Lawton Chiles has about $800,000 on hand and has not dipped into his own pockets for funds. Gov. Bob Martinez - the Republican incumbent - has about $3.2 million and is spending it frugally while waiting to see who his Democratic opponent will be.

Florida honey safe, inspectors say

TALLAHASSEE - Florida's honey bees have won a clean bill of health from state and federal inspections arching for signs of a pesuicide that turned up in some tainted hives in Massachusetts.

The inspections took place during the past week after some contaminated hives were found in Massachusetts. Florida got involved because the hives were thought to have been stored here during the winter before being transported north for pollination.

Butch Coombs at Butch's Chevron & Wrecker Service on West First Street reported only three or four calls a month from three or sour calls a month from car phones, while a spokesperson at Sanford Towing on Country Club Road said. "Most of our calls come from pay phones or regular telephones." Nationally, however, the use of cellular telephones is being con-sidered as highly beneficial to law enforcement and other law enforcement and other emergency personnel. According to the Cellular Communications Industry Association in Wash-ington, D.C., someone makes a cellular call to a police or fire department every 11 seconds.

The Korean War

I.D.C. KOFEAN VVAL Finally, the nation is getting around to remembering the Korean War after trying to lorget it for 40 years. At least we're not calling it a "police action." the label initially given to the U.S.-led United Nations challenge of North Korea's invasion of South Korea. That was the droadful suphemiam for the 37-month-long conflict in which 3.4 million soldiers and 4.4 million civilians were killed or wounded, including 163,000 Americans. The war ended in a truce agreement July 77, 1963, at the barren village of Panmunjom some distance above the 38th parallel across which North Korean armor and troops plunged on that day 40 years ago. Because the war did not end in victory for the United States, it has too often been forgotten as an inglorious adventure that was hardly worth the terrible toll inflicted on such killing grounds as Chosin Reservoir and Heartbreak Ridge. Maude's 16th birthday a 'big' event

By NICK PFEIFAUF Herald stalf writer

SANFORD - Maude the elephant turned 16 yesterday. In an all day celebration at the Central Florida Zoological Park. But unlike people in some work places, she didn't get the day off. It was rides as usual, with only a brief pause for special honors.

At 11 o'clock the rides stopped for a short period as a large birthday cake was presented to Maude, Andrea Pryor, Marketing Coordinator, gave the honoree a large piece which was promptly shoved from trunk to mouth in a slightly unladylike manner, getting leing all over.

During the course of the day, there were elephant related events for children such as an elephant coloring contest and a guess the weight contest. One young man estimated Maude's

Sierra Club endorsement favors Sturm

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald staff writer

SANFORD - The Sterra Club of Florida has endorsed Seminole County Commissioner Bab Sturm for his re-dection bid.

Although Sturm has also been endorsed by the Home Builder's Association of Mid-Florida. Sierra chapter president Sharon Carveth said Sturm does not espouse development over environmental protection needs.

'He's probably the one person on the commission who isn't that way," Carveth said. "He's been very supportive of the Econ-(Econlockhaichee River) He's the only one who has consistently voted against the Hi-Oaks project."

Carveth, who contributed $25 to Sturm's campaign in August 1989, said he did not participate in the Central Florida chapter's endorsement decision-making process. She said the Central Florida chapter executive committee voted 6-0 for the endorsement, with her abstention. She said the state executive committee voted 20-0 for the endorsement.

Carveth said Sierra members looked favorably on Sturm's leadership of the county Solid Waste Committee, which formulated the county garbage collection and recycling program that will begin in October. They were also supportive of his efforts to have the state purchase lands in Seminole County for preservation.

weight at 100 pounds while another guessed ten tons.

Artists were also on hand to paint elephant pictures on children's forcheads and checks. Diane Hancock, a zoo employee said they felt as if they had "painted every face in the place."

Eight year old Shelby Allaway of Longwood said the paint brush tickled. "I love clephants," she said. Her parents explained she has a collection of stuffed elephants at home.

The "Adopt the Elephant" desk was also kept busy, as children donated their dollars to adopt Maude for the day, receiving in return an adoption certificate.

The attendance for the event. was very high according to Pryor, and lines of children, parents and grandparents wait-ing for a ride on Maude were long, at times containing 20 to 30 people.

Last Wednesday, children from the Altomonte Springs Rocking Horse Child Care Center had a parade for Maude at the Central Florida Zoological Park. They gave her a hat, a birthday cake made out of hay and even an elephant sized driver's license, although she'll probably never be able to use it. She can't afford a car on her salary Maude works for peanuts.

Maude romped with some kids in recent birthday warmup.

Red Cross sets meeting for Iraq-crisis families

By NICK PPEIFAUP Herald staff writer

The Central Florida Chapter of the American Red Cross Service to Military Families Department will hold its first support group meeting Friday evening, even though there is no word on how many local families of servicemen involved in the iraq conflict there might be.

"We believe some families of men overseas live in the Seminole and Orange County arcas," said Lisa Lorenze-Hicks, at the Central Florida Chapter, "but we don't know for sure. We hope that if any do live here, they'll call us and be able to attend our support group meeting."

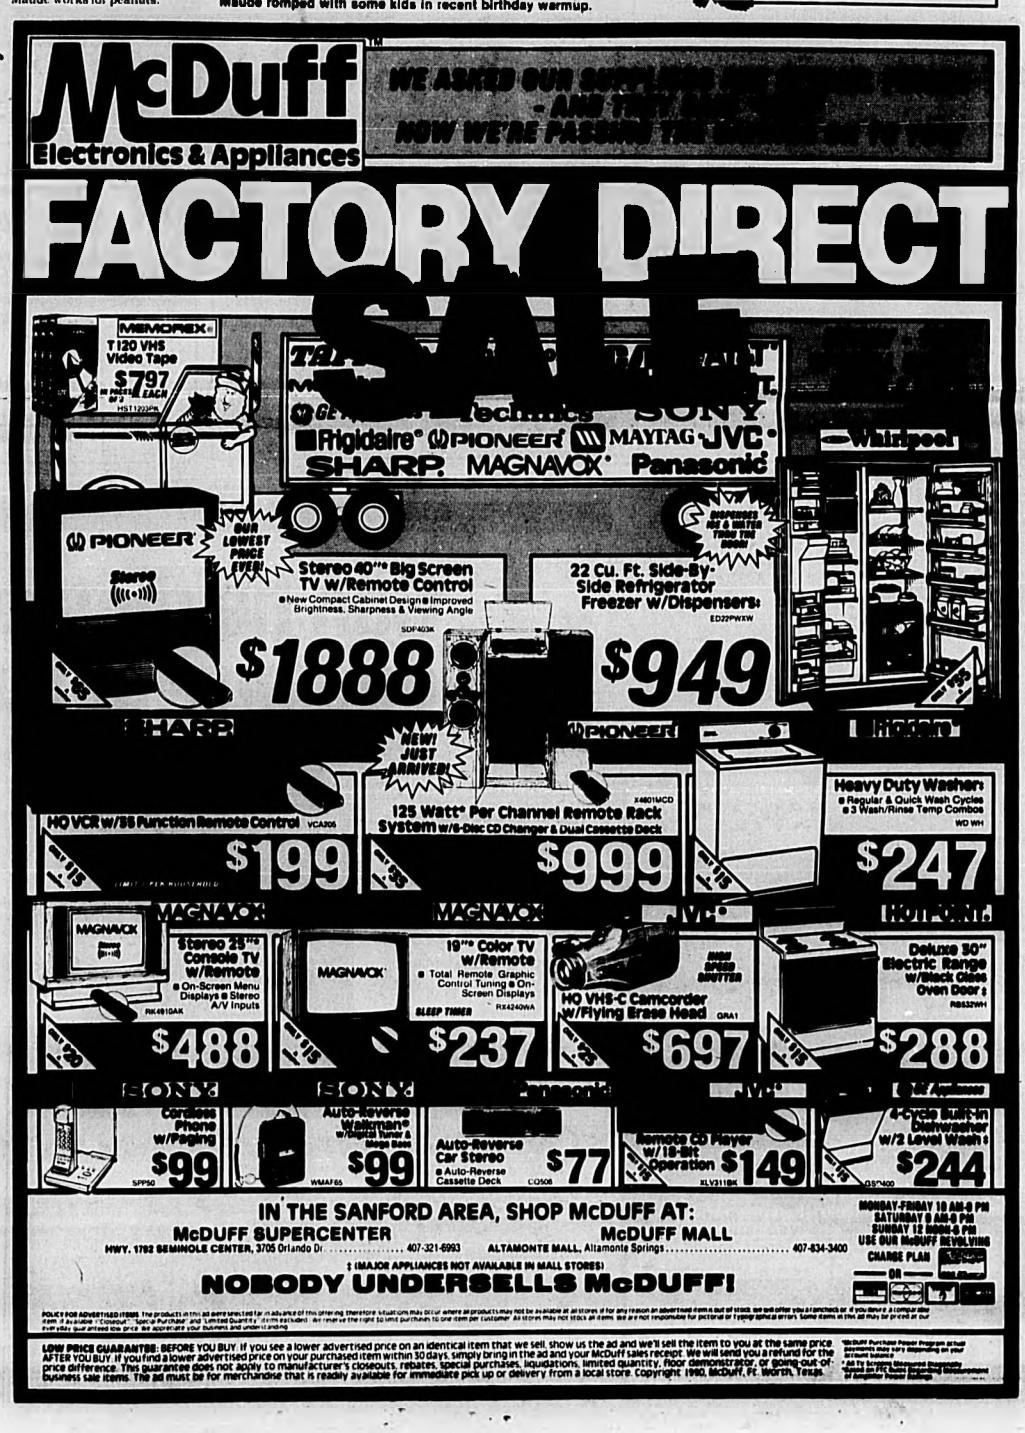

Lorenze-Hicks said the meeting is an opportunity for parents, spouses and friends of service personnel stationed overseas to share common concerns, interests, ideas and fellowship. Guest speakers on related subjects are also planned.

Meanwhile, the Central Florida Chapter has released a mission statement directed to all military connected people. The statement says, "Our current Mission Statement in support of Operation Desert Shield is to provide assistance in maintaining communications between those military personnel who have been deployed and their families at home, particularly regarding medical or other family crises. This is accomplished through the American Red Cross network of chapters in communities and stations on milltary installations. Also, American Red Cross will assist U.S. Nationals as they depart affected countries in the Middle East due to the crisia."

The First Suport Group meeting will be at the Chapter House, 5 North Bumby Ave., Orlando, Aug. 24 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Carveth said Sierra political and executive committee members gave low marks to Sturm's opponents, former Lake Mary mayor Dick Fess and Bob Desmond.

"He (Fess) has only had a vote for a year," Carveth said. "He didn't think about his recycling plan before he came out with it. it sounded good on the surface, but he didn't think through the ramifications. To say only products made from recycled mate-rials can be sold in the city. Give me a break. There are only three recycling plants in the country that recycle newspaper and they can't supply enough. The city doesn't even use recycled paper.' "It looked like grandstanding," Carveth said.

Carveth said Fess didn't take a public role on the Lake Mary Boulevard beautification project. a project Sturm led. She said Fess was not supportive of Lake Mary's sign and open space regulations, issues Sturm has supported in the county.

Of Desmond, Carveth said, "Bob Desmond obviously has no understanding of the issues." Carveth said Desmond announced his candidacy after Sturm and Feas had been sent questionnaires that were used for the endomement review process. She said she attended the forum hosted by the Seminole County Young Republicans Aug. 1 and said based on Desmond's comments at the forum, he would not have gained any endorsement.

They had players coming to play from all over the eastern United States. Currently, three SCC graduates are playing professional baseball: Bobby Thigpen of the Chicago White Bos Walk-ons, Page 3B

Getting closer Agreement between WBL, locals in works

By TONY Desonal Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD - It now appears that the Winter Beschell League and a local group headed by former Lake Mary City Commissioner Charlie Lytic are close to reaching an agreement that would put the league's first franchise in Sanford.

In fact, according to Lytle, the steps that remain to be taken on both sides are simple, straightfoward acts that don't present a problem to either side.

"There are some basic, small things that need to be done to satisfy the league," said Lytle. "First of all, a clubhouse has to be built and it has to been agreed that it will be built by the ownership. Also, a professional-quality scoreboard would need to be installed."

Wayne Granger, former Cincinnati Red pitcher and WBL president, said that a concrete ownership group would need to be in place with the league's projected operating budget of $950,000 committed.

It appears that none of these present a problem.

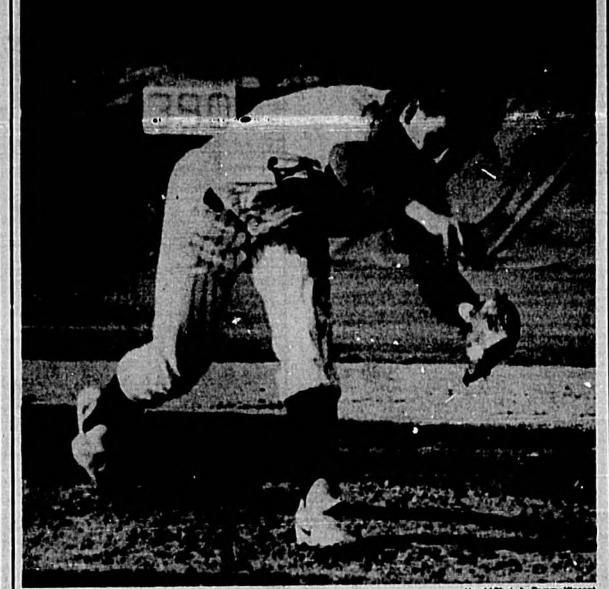

Wes Rinker, who leases Sanford Memorial Stadium from the City of Sanford and has complete control of what goes on there, already has plans for a clubhouse to go along the third baseline, complete with an extra 400 scats (which would raise the stadium's capacity to 2,660, half of the WBL's preferred minimum capacity of 5,000). And, according to Lytie, RC Cola has agreed to install a new scoreboard.

Lytle, who assists Rinker in the business operations of the stadium and Rinker's Florida Baseball School, would also be the key figure in the ownership group.

"It would be a cartel," said Lytic. "It wouldn't be one person. We already have quite a few people in and out of the area who want to invest in the team. We have more than $1 million pledged for the operation of the team. And these people know that the team will probably lose money the first couple of years.

"We siready have the interest money raised. Another $700,000 has to be raised, but the first $250,000 has been put up and is in encrow. Now we want to see them (the WBL) do some things. We have until November of 1991 to raise the balance of the money."

What Lytie and his group are waiting for the WBL to do is come up with a signed-and-sealed agreement with Major League Baseball assuring the availability of major and minor league players currently under contract.

Lake Brantley, Lake Mary lead county in changes

By INCODENE STOCK Herald Correspondent

Despite winning five state titles last year and capturing the Terry McDonald sports award two of the past three years, Lake Brantley High School is having trouble keeping its coaches.

This year, the Patriots have made six coaching changes, four of them involving head conches. Only Lake Mary High School, with 10 transactions (six involving head coaches), has more new coaches than Lake Brantley or any other school in Seminole County.

But according to Athletic Director Bob Peterson, the coaching turnover at Lake Brantley is just average.

"We generally have four to five changes per year." said Peterson. "I have 24 varsity sports and 30 to 35 coaches. People do leave education for other areas."

Peterson cited underprojected student enrollment and lack of state funds which can dissolve jobs that can lead to coaching depiction. Also, some teachers must return to college to pursue a master's degree and must give up their coaching job. Even one of the sports that won a state title last year will receive a new coach this year. Cynthia Massung, a UCF graduate, takes over the gymnastics program. She will coach both the boys' and girls' squads.

After finishing fourth in the state last years, the boys' volleyball team will be controlled by Hugh Parnish. who takes over for John Gay. Parnish has been involved with the U.S. National Volleyball Championships for several years. Elicen Gabbard takes over the girls' volicyball team, which hopes to

Miami voted No. 1, FSU tabbed No. 3 in first UPI grid poli

NEW YORK - The Miami Hurricanes, the dominant college football team of the 1980s with three national titles. Saturday were named No. 1 by the United Press International Board of Conches in the first poll of the 1990 season. As they did in the final poll last year, the Hurricanes best out Notre Dame and Florida

State for the No. 1 position in voting done by 58 members of the Board of Coaches.

For the first time, the ratings reflect the nation's top 25 teams, up from the 20-team poli UPI has used since the inception of its ratings in 1950. In addition, the Board of Coaches has been expanded from 50 members to 59 in 1990.

bliami received 25 first-place votes and 799 of a possible 870 points, easily outdistancing No. 2 Notre Dame, which received 15 first-place votes and 755 points. No. 3 Florida State was named first on eight ballots and finished with 686 points. "It's nice to have respect from people. That's what presenson ratings mean to me - presenson respect." said Miami Coach Dennis Erickson. who took the Hurricanes to the 1989 national championahip in his first year as coach. "Early ratings don't mean a whole heck of a lot. The ratings at the end of the year are the most important."

Miami finished 11-1 last year, its only loss coming against rival Florida State. But the Hurricanes toppied previously unbeaten Notre Dame 27-10 in the regular-season finale and beat Alabama 33-25 in the Sugar Bowl to become the first team since the 1983 Miami squad to win the national title without going undefeated.

The Hurricanes are seeking to become the first team in 20 years to repeat as national champions. The last team to win back-to-back UPI national titles was Texas in 1969 and 1970.

"It's very difficult to repeat as national champions. It's difficult to be the national champion once," Erickson said. "You've got to have a lot of luck. Last year we were very fortunate in winning some key games and having some people beat each other. To have that happen twice in a row, you've got to be really lucky.

The Hurricanes also will try to become only the accord team in the last 13 years to win the national championship after being named No. 1 prior to the scason. Notre Dame accomplished the feat in 1977, and Oklahoma matched it in 1985

Notre Dame finished 12-1 last year, the best record in the country, after beating previously undefeated Colorado 21-6 in the Orange Bowl. The Fighting Irish traditionally play the toughest schedule in the nation, but that was wiped out in the minds of voters last year by the loss to Mismi.

They take dreams seriously Clients learn to cope with mental illness disabilities

By VICKI DESO Herald staff writer

SANFORD - The Seminole Community Mental Health Center is housed in an innocuous strip mall on Park Ave. in Sanford.

Walk in the front door and you'd think you were in any bureaucratic office, but follow the maze of hallways back into the heart of the building and you will begin to see that something special is happening there.

In a room to your left there is a group of people, many of them elderly, sitting in a not-so-round circle and singing. Bob Brown, the center's program director, jumps into the middle of the group and begins to dance, his arms waving in the air. The clients are delighted. In a common area several groups of two or three people are sitting together chatting. Some are in wheelchairs. Some are young. others are not. A cage, home to several chattering birds, sits on the shelf.

"The clients love the birds," Brown said, jokingly covering his cars. Brown came to Seminole County about a month and a half ago from Portsmouth, New Hampshire where he oversaw a program similar to the Job Store program he has started here.

The Job Store was created to help people with mental illness disabilities learn skills that will help them cope with their disabilities and the prejudices that often arise from them

"If you are diagnosed as mentally ill," Brown said, "you are no longer a reporter, someone's wife, some-bine's mother or whatever. You are just mentally ill."

Brown said that his program hopes to teach clients to com partmentalize their mental illness.

"I like to compare it to the 360 degrees of a circle," he said. "Say that mental illness takes up 40 degrees of that circle. They've still got 320 degrees of them that can be active and productive in society."

Brown said that in New Hampshire his Job Store program was able to place people in jobs that paid everything from minimum wage to $45,000 a year.

"We take people's dreams seriously," he noted.

Setting goals, doing assessment of the situation and possibilities with help from community businesses is one way Brown helps clients reach for their dreams.

Sometimes clients have set dreams for themselves that they can't achieve, but we don't let that stop them. We work within that framework and help them set more realistic goals."

Brown said there are people currently in the Seminole County program who have college degrees. but because of some mental problems, lost their jobs and are trying to work their way back to the level

Stylish senior lives by rules

By LACY DOMEN Herald People Editor

SANFORD - Ah, retirement! Decisions are reduced to planning meals. You can watch television all day. You don't even have to get dressed.

Pshaw! says Irene Brown, who at 67 and retired five years, is even busier than when she was a local banker for 21 years.

Stylishly dressed and sporting a golden tan. Brown says she has two rules for retirement.

"After I get out of bed in the morning and take my shower. I always put on my makeup." she says. "I also never go into my kitchen if I'm not dressed."

Brown dresses and makes up every morning to report to the Sanford Christian Sharing Center, where she serves as director for $200 a month. roughly the cost of her transportation when representing the center.

She has her theory about retirees who do a little but complain a lot.

"Some seniors sit home and complain about aches and pains. There is so much need in the community...if they would get out and give of themselves they'd not have time to have aches and pains," she emphatically says.

Brown "volunteered to keep the books" for then president of the center. Rev. Dan Coy, after her retirement.

"I said I'd do it for three months. At the end of three months I said I'd do it for a year." she smiles and says. "That was three years ago."

Brown not only watched the center grow out of a ramshackle building where volunteers had to wear gloves to ward off winter wind whipping through holes and cracks, she helped it grow into the bright, efficient structure built with donations of time and money from a community that cares.

"There are so many people to thank for this." she says, geturing toward the pastel walls, framed art and flower baskets designed to make clients feel like they are visiting friends in their home.

The center originally had a parcel of land and a building fund "but nobody was building anything." Brown explains.

Brown used her banking contacts to help raise the additional $11,500 needed after Carolyn Stenstrom and the Sanford Rotary Club pledged financial support.

"We built the whole thing for $46,500 and its valued at $150.000 now." she proudly says. "And its paid for.

Over 700 people pass through the sharing center's doors in a month, according to Brown.

Shirley Reilly and her Irish Setter, Seanic, are regular visitors at the Longwood retirement home Village in the Green. Seanic often dresses in a clever costume to amuse residents. He is the recipient of hugs and much petting in a program that matches screened animals with hospital, school and nursing home facility residents: Project PUP: Pets Uplifting People.

Shirley has been with the program since it began and has watched many reticent patients warm up to friendly Seanie. She said one man with Shirley said trips to facilities are emotional.

"The visiting peus bring back memories of their pets to the residents so we see some tears." she said. "But very soon everybody is laughing and smiling," she added. Shirley said that Seanic is well-trained.

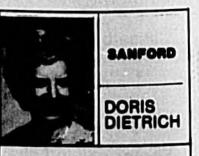

"If we're out somewhere and he sees a wheelchair, he thinks it's his job to go up and talk to the person," Shirley said.

Director for Project PUP. Linda Kumanchik, said the biggest criteria for your pet to become a PUP'er is that it be friendly and loving.

"We check them out around nursing home apparatus, but we have not turned down any pets. We even have lots of cats." she said. "If your pet is loveable and controllable, we need you!" she said.

Women create bright future

North Seminole Charter Chapter of The American Business Women's Association create visions of a bright future. The Chapter meets every third Wednesday.

The guest speaker this month was Ruby Homaysai, director of the Volunteer Center of Central Florida. Volunteers do make the difference in local agencies, Ruby says, adding that volunteers are placed in organizations to help defray operating costs.

The Volunteer Center of Seminole County The Volunteer Center of Seminole County is a branch of the Volunteer Center of Central Florida and acts as a go-between for non-profit organizations and people who would like to become volunteers. Ruby told the group that the center is always recruiting new volunteers and that they serve Sanford. Lake Mary, Casselberry, Longwood Altamonta Springer Winter Longwood, Altamonte Springs, Winter Springs and Oviedo. The center provides volunteers to the community and it becomes a better place because of them.

"The need is for non-profit organizations who aid teenaged mothers, drug addicts, handicapped children and seniors," Homaysei said. She said no longer are parents and grandparents around to offer guidance in child-rearing or give advice on coping with problems and stress. The majority of today's community's disadvantaged are left to fend for themselves.

It doesn't take a great deal of talent and skill to be a volunteer. All it takes is dedication and dependability to volunteer because there is always a need for you.

Do you want to feel needed, help others? Be a volunteerl Call the Volunteer Center of Seminole County, 100 Weldon Blvd., San-ford, 321-5739. Help build the community by aggressively promoting and assisting volunteerism. Be and activist in initiating community problem-solving.

However, he stayed in the music business. Rich remembers other earlier experiences with the Lord. His first at age 11 and again at 13. Brown said that with the confidence he is build-ing in his own abilities and with the experience he is getting, that may be within the realm of possibility. 57

The center is presently un-dergoing a transformation. "We want to get to the point where the clients run the day-to-day things and we merely act as facilitators," Brown commented. "One gentleman came in here who said he was a musician." Brown said. "Turned out he's played with some Big Band and another client had played with another band and now we're going to have our own music." Brown emphasizes that the Job Store only makes up a small portion of the lives of his clients, so it is his job to see to it that they learn how to incorporate what they learn into the rest of their lives.

"They are here maybe eight hours a day," he said. "What are they doing the other 16 hours a day?

While the Job Store staff acts as a support group for the clients, Brown wants them to learn to be independent so that they can live on their own and hold down jobs, keeping their mental illness disability as a small, manageable part of their existence.

"We're excited about what we're doing here in Seminole County," Brown mid. "We're making some big changes and doing some great things.

The last book by the author of "In Patagonia" and "The Songlines" is a collection of miscellaneous short pieces. Bruce Chatwin's profiles have a vitality that conveys the personality of the subjects, particularly the interview with the aged Madeleine Vionnet. But the easys on the visual arts lack the spontaneous case of his other writing: Chatwin seems unsure of himself and nervously the sections on travel showcase the writer at his best, capturing the essence of a family dinner in Yunan or life in a small village in Tibet (where he investigates the rumors of Yeti) in a few well-chosen words. A trip down the Volga with a group of German veterans culminates at Stalingrad, with the lugubrious spectacle of former enemies mourning their dead.

Chatwin died in 1989 at age 47, of a rare disease he contracted in Asia, and the art of travel writing is the poorer for his passing.
