SOVIET TROOPS SAID MASSING IN SIBERIA For Taxable Items

Military Operations Are Daily Routine At Vladivostok, It Is Reported By Japs

TOKYO, Apr. 1.—(A.P.)—An official war department communique from Harbin, Manchuria, yesterday told of a concentration of 30,000 soviet troops at Vladivostok, Siberia.

The report added that the soviet troops were confiscating property of the inhabitants of maritime provinces who were suspected of "White Russian" sympathies, and that fortifications and food stores were being reinforced and replenished.

Under new regulations, citizens of Vladivostok were being drilled from gas attacks, and heavy mortared artillery was passing through the streets of the city every day.

The former naval arsenal on the Russian island at the entrance of Vladivostok Harbor was reported working at capacity, while the fortifications were being strengthened with additional heavy guns.

HARBIN, Manchuria, Apr. 1.—(A.P.)—Chinese irregulars are within 20 miles of their objective, Changchun, the new Manchurian capital, while further north in Kiangsu province, Chinese troops are reported to be within 100 miles of their objective.

NEW YORK, Apr. 1.—(A.P.)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith called for four percent beer and prosperity bonds to relieve the country's economic ills last night. He said he spoke as a "citizen once honored with the nomination for the presidency of the United States."

Smith advanced a six-point tax program calculated to balance the federal budget, and chided the federal government for what he termed an indifference toward the problem of unemployment.

SUMMERALL IS CHOSEN HEAD OF CANAL SPONSORS

Former Chief of Staff Accepts Presidency Of Big Association

NEW ORLEANS, Apr. 1.—(A.P.)—Representatives from the Gulf States yesterday organized the National Gulf-Antarctic Ship Canal Association to promote interest in a proposed ship canal linking the Atlantic with the Gulf of Mexico through the Florida peninsula.

Shipping men and representatives from civic organizations throughout the Gulf states attended the organization meeting, which was held in the Roosevelt Hotel. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, native Floridian, former chief of staff of the United States Army and now president of the Citadel, the military college of South Carolina at Charleston, was elected head of the newly formed organization.

The announced objective of the association is "to encourage and promote the early construction by the United States government of a ship canal across Florida, connecting the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico; and to further encourage and promote an extension of the intra-coastal canal along the Gulf of Mexico to connect with the western terminus of said ship canal, thereby providing a short route for ocean going shipping, both coastwise and foreign, and also furnishing the missing link in the coastal canal system between Boston and Mexico."

The association will carry on nationwide activities under plans formulated here.

In announcing his acceptance of the responsibility of directing the association's work, General Summerall said, "I feel that here is a real opportunity to serve the nation and my native state in accepting the presidency of the organization. As nearly as can be determined this ship canal will benefit industry and agriculture and the people of 37 states."

"It is estimated that more tonnage will pass through the canal than through any other ship canal in the world. It will handle each year one and a third times the tonnage which passes through the Panama Canal. The canal not only will benefit the Gulf states, Mississippi Valley and the Atlantic seaboard but the Great Lakes states as well."

"The fact that the United States government is now making a physical survey, which is costing $150,000, indicates that its benefits are large and widespread, and that the government considers it a meritorious project."

It was announced that General Summerall would serve without salary. The general will remain as the head of the South Carolina Military School, it was also stated. Roy Miller of Corpus Christi, Texas, will be chairman of the committee of the association. Jacksonville, Fla., was selected as headquarters for the association because of its location between the Atlantic and Gulf States. Offices will be maintained in Washington.

W. B. Smith, attorney of Bell county, Kentucky, and a group of deputy sheriffs and a crowd of about 250 met the students at Cumberland Gap, where they entered the state, Hall said, and asked them to go back.

The students declined, he continued, and told Smith their object was to study "the conflict in the Kentucky mine fields." He added as explanation for the senators that "here the miners charge a reign of terror exists and that starvation is the level of living," continuing with the remark he "felt these charges are true."

"We were not able to make the investigation because of the illegal acts of officials who forcibly prevented us," Hall said, urging a federal investigation on these grounds:

Actions of officials; violations of constitutional rights; actions of coal mine operators and the consequences of the three on the miners.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Apr. 1.—

(A.P.)—A delegation of five students and instructors of Commonwealth College, labor leader training institution at Mens, Ark., addressed a small crowd on a street yesterday in behalf of their relief mission to the Kentucky coal fields and then left for Memphis, their next stop.

Each member of the delegation, headed by Lucien Koch, 24-year-old director of the college, spoke briefly on their plans to enter Harlan and Bell county mining sections in Kentucky to bring aid to "starving miners."

While Koch spoke, denouncing Kentucky mine operators and declaring miners were starving as a result of labor conditions, other members of the group offered souvenir copies of the Bill of Rights (the first 10 articles of the United States Constitution) for sale to raise funds for their relief work.

Koch said they planned to distribute copies of the bill of rights to miners in the mining areas, if they are not permitted to enter the mining regions. Koch said, they case of their exclusion, by the would be aided in making a test American Civil Liberties union.

RAIN INTERRUPTS PLAYERS TRYING FOR LOCAL NINE

Manager Barnes Finds Plenty Of Material Seeking Positions

Rain cut short a busy practice session engaged in by nearly 25 young men and boys working out at Municipal Park yesterday afternoon as potential candidates for the 1933 edition of the Sanford baseball team.

Joe Barnes refused to allow his spirits to be dampened as a result, for, with the exception of a hole at short, there appears to be enough material on the field to put a creditable team in the league within the next three weeks.

That short-stop position may be taken care of by Bob Pittman, who saw service there last year and is now the leading batter on the University of Florida team. Arrangements have been made whereby Pittman's appearance on the local club is more of a certainty than ever before. If he does accept terms, every fan in the circuit knows that Sanford has the pick of the infielders of the loop.

New faces at the park yesterday were those of Cal Dennis the burly right hander who can hurl with the best of them, and "Bookie" Bach, as steady and reliable an infielder as any town can boast. Dennis needs tapering off, but is full of enthusiasm and anxious to get back into action.

Manager Barnes declares that a great portion of his pitching problem will be satisfied if he can land Dennis as a regular. Bach is busy, engaged in farming, at the present and his appearance at daily practice is uncertain. However, he intimated a strong intention of making a bid for the second base position, and, despite some strong competition, Bach should land the post with ease.

As was the case on opening day of practice, Manager Barnes merely had the players tossing balls, doing a little batting, and romping about the outfield, snaggling flies. No attempt is being made to bring the players along too quick, Manager Barnes realizing that he must conserve all the energy and muscles of every man on the field, for he must

Smith Asks For 4 Percent Beer To Relieve Ills

Smith, speaking over the radio, said his program would serve the dual purpose of relieving unemployment and balancing the budget at the same time.

He suggested an issue of prosperity bonds, "Just as we issued Liberty Bonds during the World War," to foster an expanded public works construction program. Bonding the cost of the $320,000,000 public works program for 1933, he said, would eliminate one-third of the deficit.

Another third of the deficiency could be made up, he said, by a "tax" upon beer. He urged Congress to enact a "reasonable and sensible" definition of what constitutes an intoxicating beverage and suggested that four per cent would do the trick.

Such a move, Smith said, would eliminate the necessity for the so-called nuisance levies, upon which he said an agreement "is apparently in sight."

For the final one-third, Smith accepted the additional taxes recommended by President Hoover and the Treasury and agreed to by the House.

In amplifying his proposal for prosperity bonds, the former governor said the pay-as-you-go policy of financing public works in normal times should be abandoned "in times of stress such as we are now passing through."

Asserting the $500,000,000 public works program contemplated for 1933 was "only a flea bite," the former governor suggested "careful consideration" of expanding the program by purchasing municipal securities to enable the carrying out of local building projects.

With reference to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Smith said it would be a "long while before anything really beneficial will grow from this effort."

"Aside from passing the problem on to the localities," he continued, "the federal government as such has done nothing to stimulate employment and relieve distress."

He observed that legislation of four per cent beer would stimulate business, afford employment to "countless thousands," and in the end prove to be "both good economics and good politics."

His recommendations were presented upon the theory, Smith

SOVIET TROOPS SAID MASSING IN SIBERIA

(Continued from Page One) rine Province the irregulars were fighting Japanese around Hallin. The Hango (Japanese) News Agency yesterday reported Japanese forces had captured the railroad station at Hallin from Chinese irregulars, killing 150 Chinese and themselves losing three dead.

Japanese forces in the south around Nangun, were reported in sharp skirmishes with irregulars who were marching on the capital. A Japanese plane which left Harbin for the south of Kirin Wednesday was reported missing and Japanese military authorities feared it had been forced down in hostile territory.

The rebels around Nangun were reported to be 7000 strong, and the Japanese were consolidating their forces with those of the Chinese Governor Hsi Hala of Kirin Province to meet the advancing force.

SHANGHAI, Apr. 1.—(A.P.)—Ill-feeling between Chinese and Japanese civilians, stirred by an attack of Chinese ruffians on a Japanese man in the International Settlement, threatened further trouble for the peace negotiations yesterday just as they made definite progress.

The Japanese were injured severely by a Chinese crowd that set upon him in the street. Apparently only a quick rescue by the French police saved him from death.

Japanese consular officials said they considered the incident a grave illustration that the Japanese here could not walk through the streets without danger of attacks. They planned to protest the attack to the French authorities, under whose jurisdiction it occurred.

A breakdown of the peace parleys, expected in some quarters, over the major issue of withdrawal of Japanese troops from the Shanghai area had been averted. But the delegates still had many questions to decide before complete harmony could be reached.

Mutual concessions were made yesterday before the conference adjourned until Saturday.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

A SUN AND SHIELD—The Lord God is a sun and shield; the Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly.—Psalm 84: 11.

HILL BOY

I have not forgotten Lonely roads among the hills— Chilled by evening notes of juncos, Vibrant with the rumbles Of a home-returning wagon On a bridge— Lonely because of cowbells In another valley. —E. H. Flecker Jr.

It begins to look as if practically all office holders, good, bad, and indifferent, will have more or less opposition.

It wouldn't surprise us a bit if the Lindbergh child is returned to his parents in the next few days.

Looking over the advertisements on the new Ford, it strikes us it has about reached the point where it is cheaper to buy a new Ford than to get the old car washed.

The Herald's straw vote may not prove who's going to be the next governor, but for that matter the Literary Digest poll doesn't tell you where your next drink of corn is coming from either.

Gov. Roosevelt has captured the Maine delegation to the Democratic convention. If there is any truth in the old saying that "An Maine goes so goes the nation," it seems evident that Roosevelt will be the Democratic nominee. But may be there is no truth in that saying.

City tax collections are low in Sanford. They almost aren't at all. A few days ago, with the limit almost up, less than twenty percent had been paid. The maximum for the entire year looks like thirty percent or even less. No city can operate long on thirty percent tax collections.

Hoosier John Alsop has decided he'd better get busy in his race for congressman-at-large. He made a speech in Macclenny in which he declared himself in favor of a referendum on the liquor question. It looks from that as if he might make his campaign on a wet and dry issue. How does he stand on the cross state panel?

Down in Tampa they are kicking about an increase in the city water rates, and the Tampa Tribune remarks: "An increase of rates by a publicly owned and operated utility, when privately owned and operated utilities have not found increases necessary, isn't encouraging to advocates of public ownership."

At the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Laundry Owner's Association held recently in Miami, Fred McPherson, laundry man from High Point N. C. told fellow members that the effective use of newspaper advertising space is one of the most essential elements in the success of laundries. What is true of laundries is also true of other concerns. To get the business you have to ask for it through advertising which reaches the public.

The Miami Daily News recommends in the place of the defeated sales tax bill, a measure broadening the scope of the income tax and limiting exemptions. The present income tax is not only a burden on the taxpayer but it is also a burden on the state. The News believes that the sales tax is a better method of raising revenue in the state.

How Did It Start?

One of the peculiar newspaper terms with which we have been familiar all our life but of which we have always been ignorant of the origin, is the word, or figure, "30", used to designate the end, usually of a story or editorial, but sometimes of almost anything else. Any linotype operator or makeup man, when he sees those mysterious figures, knows that that is all. Any newspaperman knows when he sees those figures as the caption of an editorial that someone has died. It is the end.

But how did this custom get started? We always thought it had something to do with Morse telegraphy, or some code system meaning the end. It has been evident from talking with innumerable printers that almost everyone has his own idea about it. Recently a member of the Utica (New York) Press staff compiled no less than eight different theories on the origin of the term, every one of which seems to be more or less well founded. Here they are:

1. When newspaper stories were written and set by hand, a period was indicated by "x" in the manuscript "copy"; the end of a paragraph by "xx", and the end of the story by the sign "xxx", Roman for "30".

2. The journalistic symbol "30" has a peculiar East Indian origin. In Bengali, "30" means "farewell" or "I quit." An English officer in Calcutta used the figures at the end of a letter he sent to the East India Company in 1788. The company, using the figures in their publication, made them "30" by mistake.

3. Typesetting machines that cast their type in slug form, set a maximum length of line known to printers as 30 pica ems, "30" meaning the end of the line. (Old time printers combat this version with the claim the symbol was in use for years before the linotype.)

4. During a disaster, information was being wired to the outside world by a telegrapher whose number was 30 and who remained at his key and met death after his assistants had fled.

5. Early telegraph operators had a code of their own for sideline conversation on the wire. The figure "1" meant "wait a minute"; "4" meant "when shall I proceed?" "7" was "go ahead"; "8" indicated "I'm busy on a line"; "13" said "what's the matter?"; "17" stood for "I'm sending an important message"; "30" was "end of item"; "73" meant "kindest regards," and so on.

6. Years ago, in the west, before newspapers had special wires in their offices, the telegraph operator would write out dispatches in long hand and send them to the newspapers by messenger. His office closed at 3 A. M. and at the bottom of his last sheet he wrote "3 o'clock," which was changed gradually to "3 o'c"; then to "3 o" and finally to "30".

7. When the Associated Press was established, each member of the association (morning or evening paper) was entitled to 30 telegrams each 24 hours. When the last message had been sent it was marked "30".

8. The 30 magistrates appointed by Sparta over Athens at the termination of the Peloponnesian War were called the "30 tyrants," and were overthrown after one year's reign. The end of the sway of the tyrants was heralded with a spirit of gladness—"30".

Time Changes All

Don't you often wonder what becomes of people? No, not after they die, but after they pass out of your life to live on somewhere else. These used to be a lot of people here in Sanford whom we saw every day, talked with, understood their problems and their joys, who are gone now. We don't know where. Just gone. As much a part of some other community as they used to be of this.

But life is like that. We remember a touseled-headed senior in college who once talked to a group of freshmen about hockey. The next time we heard of him was when he was appointed assistant secretary of the navy in charge of aviation. And then there was a captain in the Lafayette Escadrille. He was riding the crest of the wave right after the war and had just been awarded a croix de guerre for bringing down a German plane behind the enemy lines. He disappeared completely for nearly ten years and then turned up one day as a publicity man for a second rate circus.

McIntyre printed an interesting letter in his column the other day which illustrates what we have in mind as well as anything we know. It was from a former New York chorus girl whose name once shown in the bright lights of Broadway and who was pres-agented at that time as one of the most beautiful girls in the world. McIntyre was reminiscent in his column not long ago and, calling her by name, asked what had become of this particular girl.

The letter told the story. She had fallen in love with an exuberant man from the middle west who wanted to "get her away from it all". They married, but his parents could never quite forgive him for marrying a chorus girl. Her husband turned out to be not such a good sort as she thought. He drank, gambled, and was generally no account. Finally she left him and went back to New York. She tried to return to the stage but without success.

Finally winding up in a manicure shop in Lower Broadway, she had about decided to take the easiest way, when she was given a place in an ocean liner's barber shop. The chief cabin steward, a foreigner, perhaps from Norway, fell in love with her, and she, for want of anything else to do, married him. They quit the ship and went to his birthplace to live.

They still live there, in a town of three thousand, her three children speaking the foreign tongue perfectly, knowing no English whatever. Her husband, she says, "is honest, loyal, devoted, but I cannot say I love him". "Class distinction", she goes on, "is strong here and my children will probably grow up to be servants". She spends her time now milking the cows, feeding the chickens, and doing the housework.

Withal she says she is reasonably happy.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

The contract has been closed in Ocala for the erection of a $600,000 hotel on the site now occupied by the old Montezuma Hotel. In the building there will be seven large stores which will face Main Street and King Avenue. The hotel will contain 75 bedrooms, 27 of which will have private baths. The United States Senate has passed the Smoot invalid pension bill in lieu of the Sherwood bill. The measure increases the payment for pensions about twenty million dollars. The only vote against the bill was cast by Southern Senators. It is numbered. The bill now goes to conference.

United House Peers In Every Direction For Taxable Items

(Continued from Page One) bringing the whole to $1,271,000,000. With this in prospect a surplus of $30,500,000 appears in the offing.

That an effort will be made to reinstate the defeated $600,000,000 Manufacturers' Sales tax provision that caused the spectacular revolt in the House became known yesterday. Representative John Republican, South Dakota, informed Acting Chairman Crisp of the committee he would demand a record vote on the 2.28 percent provision. It was defeated last week, 223 to 153 on a teller vote. Crisp will make an effort to have stricken from the measure the Swing amendment restoring wartime surtax rates on incomes in excess of $100,000. This provision is estimated to bring in $17,000,000.

Representative McCormack, Democrat, Massachusetts, has prepared for a showdown on the one cent a gallon tax on oil imports, estimated to yield $25,000,000.

Along with this will be an effort to eliminate the $2 a ton import tax on coal inserted through an amendment supported by delegations from oil producing states.

Through an amendment by Crisp, adopted shortly before the House adjourned, all special excise taxes inserted as substitutes for the sales tax would become effective 15 days after President Hoover signs the bill and terminates July 1, 1934.

The Georgia Democrat said a sub-committee would go over the measure before morning to see whether any additional revenue was needed. The way was left open for the offering of any further amendments to make up any sum necessary.

The change in the administrative provision of the income tax that is expected to return $100,000,000 restricts the amount of losses in the stock and bond market that can be charged off against taxable incomes during the fiscal year 1932.

The amendment provides specifically that losses in stock and bond trading can be deducted from taxable income in an amount not exceeding actual profits in similar transactions during the same taxable year.

It was made applicable both to "capital" losses (on stocks or bonds held more than two years) and regular current losses.

Bearing approved a tax of one-fourth of one percent on all stock transactions. This was estimated to yield $75,000,000. The vote was 277 to 39, with the opposition coming mostly from the East. Although the House rejected an

FIGHT DUELS BUCHAREST, Roumania, Apr. 1.—(A.P.)—Mihail Sturza, prominent journalist, was shot through his clothes by Grigore Filipescu, chief of the Rumanian fascists, in a pistol duel yesterday, but neither was injured. Afterward Filipescu took off George Bratianu, liberal leader and head of one of the most famous families in Roumania. In this duel there was no damage at all.

Spirit Of Rockne Is Evident In Services Held In Notre Dame

(SOUTH BEND, Ind., Apr. 1.—(A.P.)—Knu's Rockne's spirit marched on at Notre Dame yesterday, the first anniversary of his tragic death.

Memorial services were held after which his successor, as head football coach, Heastly Anderson, assembled Notre Dame's 1932 football army, 250 strong, for the first spring practice.

The entire student body arose at dawn and attended a solemn requiem high mass at the Church of the Sacred Heart, where Rockne's funeral services were held. Mrs. Rockne and her four children were present.

In the afternoon the Monogram Club, an organization of letter men at Notre Dame, went in a body to the grave in Highland Cemetery and placed a wreath. No monument has been erected as yet.

The memorial services over Coach Anderson got his first close-up of the big football army which will carry on again next fall.

Yesterday's initial spring football practice was important as it marked the beginning of Anderson's full control of the team. A year ago, when the university reeled under the shock of Rockne's tragic death in an airplane crash on a Kansas prairie, no selection was made.

Yesterday Anderson started as

Without opposition, a 10 percent tax on fire arms and ammunition excluding pistols, to yield $4,500,000, was approved. It expires on July 1, 1934.

Without a vote the Ramseyer amendment levying a gift tax beginning at one percent on those over $50,000 and graduated up to a maximum of 33 1-2 on those in excess of $10,000,000, was adopted. Its yield is estimated at $20,000,000.

When the gift tax amendment, proposed by Representative Ramseyer, (R. Iowa), was debated, La Guardia made public a letter signed by Reeve Schley, vice-president of the Chase National Bank, in New York, urging persons of wealth to set up irrevocable living trusts at once to evade the estate tax, also sponsored by Ramseyer and accepted by the House.

La Guardia said other big banks already were "showing their clients how to evade the taxes we are levying."

Crisp said that "the thing to do is to pass the bill as quickly as possible to prevent the evasion of these taxes."

A committee amendment revising the depletion allowances of the income tax, expected to produce $12,000,000, was adopted without opposition.

Cora Anderson, always noted for optimism, said: "Prospects are good."

CHICAGO, Apr. 1.—(A.P.)—A warning that prohibitionists must be "aroused from lethargy" if they want a dry president and vice president elected next fall has been sounded by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Speaking before delegates to a W. C. T. U. conference, she endorsed Pres. Hoover for another term as a man "whose brain is clear of the fumes of liquor."

Bank Difficulties Have Been Relieved Says Late Review

NEW YORK, Apr. 1.—(A.P.)—The "fundamental improvement in the country's banking situation is viewed hopefully in the monthly review of economic conditions by the National City Bank of New York issued yesterday.

While declaring the general course of business has been disappointing, the review finds "definite progress has been made with respect to credit and banking difficulties," thus constituting the first step toward the betterment of trade and industry.

The failure of business to gain during the month, "states the bank's summary," "is evidence of the formidable character of the obstacles which still stand in the way of recovery. However, some of the restraints upon the 'spring rise' appear to have been more accidental than otherwise, including the unseasonable weather and the postponement of automobile buying until the new Ford models are ready for inspection.

The review cites the fact that total bank failures in this country have dropped to much smaller figures and that a number of the closed institutions already have reopened.

The most formidable of all obstacles to recovery, "the review continues, "are those in the way of international trade, including the uncertainty as to the status of reparations and government debts upon the expiration of the moratorium year on June 28, next."

Britain's Budget Is Balanced With Big Surplus Remaining

LONDON, Apr. 1.—(A.P.)—The British treasury announced last night that the budget for 1931-32 had been balanced with a surplus of £364,000 ($1,822,000 at par), bringing to a happy ending what threatened to be the gloomiest year in British financial history.

The surplus was achieved after providing £22,500,000 (nominally $102,500,000) for redemption of Britain's debts and the withdrawal of £12,750,000 ($63,750,000 at par) from the dollar exchange account, instead of the £23,000,000 contemplated last September.

The revenue for the year amounted to £770,903,000 and the expenditures were £770,539,000. (The pound sterling is worth about 25 at par, but had depreciated to $2.75 since England went off the gold standard.)

Most of the funds necessary to balance the budget were raised by new taxation.

The treasury disclosed that bills amounting to $30,000,000 which matured Mar. 29 in New York had been paid and that a balance of $9,000,000 (45,000,000) of a credit extended by a group of French banks had been paid off.

A loan of 2,500,000,000 francs ($100,000,000) from the French public has not been repaid.

Income taxes yielded the most money—£287,000,000—for the budget and customs duties were next with £254,000,000. The surtax yielded £76,000,000.

AT DELAND FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

DELAND, Fla., Apr. 1.—A "Wild-West" rodeo program will be staged by cattlemen of the state in DeLand Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening when a line of mustangs, plunging bronchos, eight steers with the light of battle in their eyes and the picturesque trappings of cowboys will feature one of the greatest entertainments held in the spring in Central Florida.

Calf roping, steer bulldozging, steer riding, cow whip popping, lariats throwing, fancy roping, steer roping from horseback, sideswing will be among the events.

Special features are to include: a "cowboy scramble" with 12 men participating; three bucking, steer riding demonstrations of fancy riding on three bucking bronchos, two exhibitions of bulldozging, a tick riding and fancy roping contest, four calf roping events, competition in high jumping and running races.

Running races on cow ponies will take place during the afternoon program, with the substitution of six added rodeo features in the evening.

Allice Forster, one of two cowgirls in the United States to rope steers will do tick riding and roping. A feature event will be bulldozging a steer from an automobile; a feat which will require a left handed and a right handed cowboy working from both sides the machine.

The rodeo is open to all cattlemen and horsemen in Central Florida. There are to be no entry fees. It inaugurates the Central Florida Trade Carnival and will be topped by an old-fashioned square street dance Saturday evening. The DeLand Chamber of Commerce and The DeLand Retail Merchants Association are sponsors of the event.

Cowboys will be on hand to attempt to tie any horse, mule, steer or bull brought to the grounds including three "bucking outlaws" that to date have not been tied.

The running races will consist of five features, three 1/4 mile and two 1/2 mile races, and will include eighteen or twenty of Florida's fastest cow ponies. G. C. Zigler of Orlando is in charge of the races.

As a special attraction Fred Spierhase, trainer of guideless horses, will enter his horse, Dolly May, world's champion guideless trotter in an exhibition mile race, and Peter Mount, who will be driven by the police dog, Pell.

A parade will be held at twelve o'clock on Friday and Saturday, in DeLand. The rodeo will be held at the Volusia County Fair Grounds in DeLand at 2:30 and 7:30 on Friday and 2:30 and 7:00 on Saturday. The night program will be varied by the elimination of the running races and the substitution of six added features.
