peace "in a world where stable civilization is actually threatened." He declared that in this day of undependable treaty obligations "on the part of others," this nation must be "adequately strong in self defense."

limits to the extent government could go in effecting them. He stressed the necessity of co-operating between capital, labor and government. Business practices which the President said "most people" believe should be ended, he listed as:
(1) Tax avoidance through corporate and other methods.
(2) Excessive capitalization, investment writeups, and security manipulations.
(3) Price raising and collusive bidding in defiance of the spirit of the antitrust laws by methods which "baffle prosecution under present statutes."

Rebels Battle Loyalists In Guerrilla War

Troops Fight At Rifle Range On Ice Encrusted Streets Of Ancient City

Both Sides Are Claiming Victory

Independent Reports Indicate Rebels Are Gaining Lost Ground

SENYAYE, Franco Spanish Frontier, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Besieged insurgents and Spanish government troops fought at rifle range through the ice crusted streets of Teruel in a guerrilla warfare that may determine the tide of the civil conflict.

Snow checked a mass offensive by 200,000 troops of the two armies on the front encircling Teruel and street fighting in the city and bogged the motorized units in a mountainous terrain.

Both sides claimed a victory but independent reports seemed to give the insurgents a slight edge on the fighting.

Over the week-end the insurgents, in the greatest battle of the year and a half-civil war, reported they had won control of Teruel. Government forces who had held it for 10 days were said to be retreating in disorder.

Control of the city was expected to be a determining factor in the outcome of the war. Dispatches from both armies indicated no-quarter fighting.

For operations against the back-ground of Teruel's outlying, snow-mantled hills, government forces wore white coats for camouflage. Government troops shielded their attacks on the insurgent right flank with waves of tanks.

A communique from Salamanca, Generalissimo Francisco Franco's capital, said the government, despite reinforcements, had been driven from Villastar, about five miles south and slightly west of Teruel, after a fierce struggle in clinging banks of snow.

(Dispatches from Madrid said the snow and numbing cold hindered the insurgents' counter-offensive. The Madrid reports asserted government artillery at Teruel slowly was reducing the Citadel of the beleaguered insurgent garrison within the city to ruins at point-blank range.)

Government artillery mounted on the helix east and south of insurgent-held La Muela, strategic position a mile and a half west of Teruel, inflicted severe punishment on insurgent reinforcements moving into position, a communique from Barcelona said.

The communique also reported two insurgent planes had been shot down while reconnoitering over the government's lines.

Hudson Company Plans Low Priced Car

DETROIT, Jan. 4.—(AP)—A. E. Berk, president of the Hudson Motor Car Company, told reporters his company will recall 6,000 cars to work within the "next few weeks" as part of a plan to put "men and money back to work."

At the same time he announced, the Hudson Company will start production this week of a new car "in lowest price field."

The recalling the 6,000 workers, he said, will increase the factory payroll to 12,000 men and add $1,000,000 to the monthly payroll. Estimated $11,000,000 will be needed for tools, production plants and other costs.

Failure To Release Brake Brings Firemen

Believing that the late model Plymouth sedan driven by Jim Richards was on fire, nearby residents summoned local firemen to Thirteenth Street and Sanford Avenue late yesterday afternoon.

On arrival the firemen found that the smoke seen when the car was in motion was caused by driving with the emergency brake on. The brake was released and the firemen returned to the station.

The "Big Apple" by some of the Nation's leading professionals will be the featured performance in this season's first vaudeville at the Ritz Theatre tonight.

Besides the "Big Apple" dancers, the all-star cast features many other attractions, which have been proving a source of great pleasure to theatre-goers, the director of the show asserted.

George Helmer Declares Reds Back CIO Union

President Of Vigilante Association Sees Communists As Fomenting Trouble

Declaring that Communists have aligned themselves with the activities of the Committee for Industrial Organization in Florida and highly commending Chief of Police Roy G. Williams for the "efficient and lawful handling" of the recent CIO sponsored strike at the Key-son Fruit Cannery, George B. Helmer of Jacksonville, president of the Southern Vigilante Intelligence Association, Inc., which collects and compiles data on all Communist and anti-American activities in Florida, asserted in an interview with a Herald reporter that in his opinion the defeat of the CIO in their initial attempt to organize the fruit cannery industry of this state has established a valuable precedent.

Contrasting sharply with the statements of the organizers while in Sanford that the United Cannery, Agricultural, Packing and Allied Workers of America was well organized in positions of the state, Mr. Helmer's assertion that so far as he knew there was not a single contact held by the CIO affiliate in force in the citrus, lumber, crate, or truck gardening, industries in Florida at the present time.

"The association of which I am President is in no sense a strike breaking organization," (Continued on Page Three)

Negro's Violation Of "No Smoking" Rule Causes Theater Fire

A match tossed carelessly into a trash can in the projection room of the Ritz Theatre caused an estimated $20 damage in a fire about noon today.

A negro employee, violating orders to refrain from smoking, lighted a cigarette and threw the match into the can with discarded films which immediately burst into flames, spreading to a table where reels of previous lay.

Flames from these filled the small room searing the paint on the walls and blazed through a partially open window to burn the awning outside. The projectors were unharmed. The Fire Department was called but the fire was nearly out when the apparatus arrived.

C. W. Mary Escapes In Automobile Plunge

C. W. Mary, local Metropolitan Life Insurance Agent, narrowly escaped serious injury when his car left the highway and plunged into about five feet of water west of Sanford on the Lake Shore Boulevard about 8:00 o'clock last night.

Mr. Mary, who was driving a 1934 model Ford V-8 sedan, was returning to Sanford from DeLand when the left front tire on his auto blew out causing the car to leave the highway and plunge into the murky waters of Lake Monroe.

The auto which was removed from the lake by a wrecker from Reel's garage was apparently none the worse for its dive.

18-Year Old Girl Leaves School To Wed

DETROIT, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Captain Donald S. Leonard of the state police said today that Georgette Bennett, the missing 18-year-old daughter of Harry Bennett, Ford Motor Company general director, and Russell Hughes were married at 6:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Auburn, Ind.

Leonard said he learned of the marriage from the county clerk there but added the couple had not been found. A wide spread search for the girl started this morning when she failed to return home during the night after attending college classes yesterday. Her father had reported several threats recently.

Japanese Troops Drive South Far Into "Holy Land"

Vanguard Seizes Chufu Where Confucius Was Born 550 B. C.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Japanese infantry columns drove deep into the "Holy Land" of China, the central Shantung province, today and reported the capture of cities more than 50 miles south of Tsinan, the already occupied provincial capital.

Domei, the Japanese News Agency, in a dispatch to Tokyo, said the Japanese vanguard Chufu where Confucius, China's great sage, was born in 550 B. C.

The Japanese army said it would accord full protection to the tomb of Confucius, to the Great Temple and to the present Duke of Kung, the seventy-seventh lineal descendant of the sage, now the chief ritualist of the temple.

Japanese bombing planes supported the infantry advance.

To the east of the southward advancing Japanese units, bombing planes raided the Tsingtao Peninsula, Pingtu, 60 miles northwest of Tsingtao, was bombed. Nineteen missionaries of the Southern Baptist Church, with headquarters at Richmond, Va., are at Pingtu.

The planes scouted Tsingtao and a Japanese warship dropped anchor briefly in Tsingtao Bay.

The widespread belief the city was to be attacked by the Japanese navy was heightened when the man-of-war swung alongside the luxurious waterfront hotels. It turned about and, set out to sea, however, without disclosing the object of the visit.

A Japanese spy spokesman said the coastal provinces from Shantung south to Kwangtung were bombed without opposition.

The Chinese airforce presumably using recently delivered Soviet planes, began an aerial counter offensive Sunday with an attack on Japanese captured Nanking, once China's capital.

Chinese claimed two Japanese planes were destroyed when the airbombs outside the city were bombed. Japanese however, said five raiding Chinese bombers dropped 10 bombs but without damaging the airport.

High Court Hears Flog Jury Arguments

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Counsel for five former Tampa policemen who were once convicted of kidnaping in connection with the Tampa flog case told the Supreme Court it had no authority to consider the prosecution's request for a clarification of its opinion last year reversing the five's conviction.

Lex Farrior, prosecutor in the case, said he would claim all the remaining charges if the Supreme Court held the future trials would put the defendants again in jeopardy on a charge on which they had been freed. The charge is conspiracy to kidnap.

The case grew out of the abduction and flogging of Joseph Shoemaker, Eugene F. ... and Sam D. Rogers at Tampa more than two years ago.

Five former policemen were convicted of the kidnaping of Poulton but the Supreme Court granted them new trial. They and one other man were acquitted by a directed verdict of second degree murder in connection with Shoemaker's death.

Ford Asks Labor Board To Vacate Wagner Decision

Petition Says Company Denied Fair Hearing Under Constitution

DETROIT, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The Ford Motor Company asked the National Labor Relations Board yesterday to vacate its recent decision that the company violated the Wagner Labor Relations Act, and the board announced it would defer court action against the company while considering the petition for a new hearing.

The 11-page petition, filed with the Labor Board in Washington, said the company had been "denied a fair hearing both within the meaning of the statute and in violation of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States."

It said evidence would be offered at a rehearing to disprove the anti-Union activities charged to the company in the decision, or justify them in the light of the "history of the time."

The Labor Board gave no indication as to when it would act upon the petition. Should the rehearing be denied, the board's next move would be to apply to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for an enforcement order.

The board held the company responsible for violence which occurred at the Ford Dearborn plant May 26. It ordered the company to reinstate 29 men discharged allegedly for union activities and to (Continued on Page Three)

Isador Lubin Testifies At Senate Probe

Labor Department Official Says Some Firms No Longer Try Spreading Work

Budget Deficit Is More Than Billion

Wall Street Views Roosevelt Message As "Conciliatory"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(AP)—A Labor Department official testified today that some firms which sought to combat unemployment by spreading work in 1929 are "not attempting to spread work today."

Appearing as the first witness before the special Senate unemployment committee, Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, said he did not know "whether or not this change was deliberate."

"Perhaps these companies felt they over did it in 1929. There may be a thousand and one reasons for it," he added.

He estimated seven to seven and half million persons are currently unemployed. He did not name any firms specifically but emphasized that not all had abandoned work-spreading practices.

And predictions that President Roosevelt would revise his deficit estimate for this fiscal year upward to $1,250,000,000, the Treasury announced that the deficit for the first half of the year reached $615,687,777.

The President expects to send to Congress tomorrow his budget for fiscal year of 1939 which begins next July 1. Informed officials here said the budget would propose a $1,000,000,000 deficit.

Wall Street generally viewed President Roosevelt's message on the state of the union yesterday as conciliatory to business.

While operators approved the absence of vitriolic allusions to big business and Mr. Roosevelt's assertion that "the overwhelming majority of business men and bankers intend to be good citizens, some were apprehensive over that portion of the message which referred to preparation of a special address for "reconstruction" of certain laws pertaining to business.

They believed that Mr. Roosevelt thereby gave plain notice to big business that the administration may seek curbing legislation unless there is cooperation on the government's terms.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

Let my counsel be acceptable to thee, and break off thy sins by righteousness, and thine iniquities by showing mercy in the poor; if it may be a lengthening of thy tranquility.—Daniel 4:27.

THOMAS THE TRAPPER

Thomas the Trapper was cold of gear, And his knife was like the steel Of the cruel traps, and woodland ways, Which he set with cunning and seal. Thomas the Trapper was cold of heart, And he racked off the pain He inflicted in the hateful art. Thus panted for golden gain, But retribution came at last! One night, on the trapping line, The faithful jaws of steel snapped fast. On Thomas's foot, hapless And helpless to fly, And all in vain Were his stivies to wrench free, So blue with the cold, and mad with pain. He shrieked but hopelessly.

If it hadn't been for a cunning tramp Who passed near the break of day, Had never got free from that frightful clamp Which held him in cruel way. Now, Thomas the Trapper has changed his trade; And he traps no beast or bird, For what he suffered that night in the traps With mercy his hand heartily stirred.—Charles Mansfield Lindsay.

Noting that one high CIO official in Florida is a negro, Martin Andersen in the Orlando Sentinel insists "Most Florida negroes are far too smart to be used as guinea pigs in this selfish campaign of a handful of communists who would take over and socialize industry." Most Florida negroes know, too, not to bite the hand that feeds them though the feed sometimes is not as good as they would like.

Another thing that takes some of the joy out of life: No soon as a fellow starts acting up to a psychical's slogan, "Keep your mind young," than someone begins badgering him and whispering, "The year age!"—Boston Herald.

The Morris Plan Bank in Orlando celebrated New Year's eve by announcing its closing, or perhaps, as some have said, its bankruptcy. Forced by the State Comptroller to secure federal guarantee of deposits, denied admittance to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation when federal agents ruled it was not a bank, the Morris Plan Bank was between the devil and the deep blue sea. "Little fellows" who have found it a convenient place to make deposits, as well as to borrow small sums of money, will wonder what it is all about.

The President's Speech

Comments on President Roosevelt's address yesterday at the opening session of Congress are for the most part unusually favorable. Both of Florida's senators commend it, as also does Mark Wilcox who will oppose Claude Pepper in the coming senatorial race. Even the Republican leader in the House said, "It was more conciliatory than I expected," while that "unreconstructed rebel" Carter Glass characterized it as "an agreeable and engaging sort of message from his viewpoint."

After the recent virulent and vituperative attacks on such recognized leaders of American business as Henry Ford by the Assistant Attorney General Robert Jackson, and Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, the President's remarks on business co-operation with labor and Government were extremely heartening, and lend encouragement to the belief that it is only the abuses of business which would be done away with, not business itself.

As defined by the President, no decent citizen can object to the abolishment, by co-operation, if possible, by legislation if necessary, of those abuses: illegal tax avoidance, over-capitalization and security manipulations, price rigging, unfair competition which drives the smaller business man to the wall, concentration of economic control to the detriment of the masses, the use of patent laws by large corporations for the same purpose, or the intimidation of local governments to prevent the protection of labor.

But it is not all business which is guilty of these practices. One had been led to believe from the speeches of Ickes, Jackson, and others that every business man, from the first sixty families of the nation which Ickes talked about, to the first sixty families of the smallest village in the land, was little better than a highway robber who got possession of his little business and his little home by stealing it from his employees. But President Roosevelt admits that the overwhelming majority of business men and bankers intend to be good citizens. In fact, he insists that "only a very small minority have displayed poor citizenship by engaging in practices which are dishonest or harmful to society."

Furthermore, he declares that Labor's responsibility is equivalent to that of capital in promoting the welfare of the nation. "Unfortunate divisions relating to jurisdiction among the workers," the President said, "have retarded production within given industries and have therefore, affected related industries." He also said that in some cases wage rates have been too high, retarding progress, and that the earnings of labor over a period of a year are more important than high hourly wage rates.

"For economic and social reasons," he said, "our principal interest for the near future lies along two lines: first, the immediate desirability of increasing the wages of the lowest paid groups in all industry; and, second, in thinking in terms of regularizing the work of the individual worker more greatly through the year—in other words, in thinking more in terms of the worker's total pay for a period of a whole year rather than in terms of his remuneration by the hour or by the day."

Trotsky On War

Leon Trotsky, one of the Old Bolsheviks who was exiled from Russia by Stalin, predicts the United States will be unable to stay out of the next world war which will be started, he says, "toward the end of the next three or four years," by a world-wide depression and the betrayal of Hitler by Mussolini. "The United States is anxious to steer clear of the conflagration," he writes in a recent issue of Liberty magazine, "but it was in 1914 too. It is impossible to be a great power with impunity. It is easier to decree neutrality than to practice it, and Washington is now changing its course."

The Russian exile insists another depression will strike soon and "Hitler would be happy to seize France's colonies in alliance with Great Britain, even in a war against Italian Fascism. For his part, Mussolini... will betray Hitler, as the Italian government in 1914 betrayed Hohenzollern and Hapsburg."

War is now being delayed while the powers increase their supply of arms, he says, but adds, "the status of armaments... is not the principal factor. The blow which will set off the new war will, in all likelihood, be struck by a turn in the economic cycle."

Trotsky holds no hope of averting the catastrophe or staying it off. "This," he says, "would require at least the razing of customs barriers, the restoration of international debts, and an increase in mass buying power through reversal of the armament machine."

"All but the blind will recognize that there is no reason to expect such a miracle."

MANY LURID PROMISES have been made in recent years by so-called economic planners that the chance to fall is going to be eradicated from our social system. . . . But failure may have its virtues. Remove the chance to fall, and we shall miss one of the best means of developing character. Have you ever known a person who never failed at anything he undertook?—Dr. Harold Stonier.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—The weather bureau computes that it is better able by $700,000 to help aviation get through the winter with fewer accidents than last winter. The figure is the amount congress voted last year to help out. Yet aviation will go into the winter with two big weather problems unsolved—fog and radio blackouts.

Ice forming on the wings and fuselage brought down a plane last March near Pittsburgh; 13 were killed. Blotting out of radio—both communication and beacon—was depicted at the weather bureau as likely responsible for the crash of a plane two months ago in northern Utah, 19 dying.

FULL-TIME SERVICE

But with $600,000 added to its $1,000,000 of previous year, the weather bureau has done three things to assist: 1. It has put 11 radio stations on a 24-hour basis to supply forecasting service at all hours. From that forecasting service from these points was available only 16 hours a day except during emergency periods when the staff worked overtime. With full crews on duty at all times, storms in dozens, and sometimes out of the country appear novel. They can be expected forecast throughout the 24 hours, without an eight-hour lapse.

Eighty stations have improved instruments and all now take four balloon observations daily to determine upper air conditions. Under the economy program, such observations had been cut to two through telegraphs, help trace air currents' cloud and mist elevations.

Expatriates are being contacted of Boston and Burbank, Calif., with radio meteorographs which use small balloons and through an ingenious device send back radio messages of temperature, air pressure, elevation, wind direction and may possibly show ice conditions. If successful, use of these will be widespread.

Eight new stations which take daily airplane observations of air conditions have been added, bringing the number to 26 in the United States. Four other stations, including one at Fairbanks, Alaska, to report airplane data gathered outside the United States.

NIGHT CEILINGS MEASURED

Thirty stations now have skilled technical men to direct observations and recording of weather data. Before, these stations had depended upon "amateurs," but unskilled reporters. Senator Copeland, chairman of the senate commerce committee, calls these unskilled men "goose bone" observers. As a special recognition of the devised by the bureau of standards for the weather bureau which may be traced at night to an elevation of 8,000 feet to measure height of cloud masses and visibility ceiling. An earlier light in use could be seen only 2,000 feet up. Department of commerce aircraft stations reporting hourly weather observations to the weather bureau now number 210, an increase of 50 during the year. As a special recognition of the

Secretary Gray Warns Against Licensing Bill

Says Proposed Federal Law Would Apply To Every Business

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 4. (AP)—Secretary of State R. A. Gray said today the O'Mahoney-Borah Corporation Licensing Act pending in Congress would apply to virtually every corporation doing business in Florida.

In cooperation with the secretaries of state in the council of state governments, Gray is preparing information on the number of corporations registered in Florida, their capitalization and receipts by the state from corporation licenses.

The O'Mahoney-Borah bill, now before the Senate Judiciary committee in Washington, would negate the powers of the Federal Trade Commission and regulate interstate and foreign commerce by prescribing conditions under which corporations may engage in such commerce.

The bill would make corporations subject to licensing by the federal trade commission and would regulate labor conditions and trade practices.

Gray said the secretaries of state section of the council of governments became interested in the proposed law because the secretaries of state handle the issuance of corporation licenses. The law would transfer power from the state corporations departments to the federal government, he said.

The secretaries of state section which compiles and distributes information to officials in all states was organized while Gray was president of the National Association of Secretaries of State.

George Helmer Declares Reds Back CIO Union

which advocates taking the law into its own hands. Mr. Helmer began. "The activities are confined solely to the investigation and compiling of statistical data to be furnished to the Communist and anti-American activities."

"The Association," he pointed out, "is a Florida chartered, non-profit organization, and at no time has it been involved in activities which are detrimental to the rights of labor to organize as prescribed by the Wagner Act."

"This organization," he became connected with the labor movement in Florida when it was found that communists have aligned themselves with the CIO labor movement, headed by George Jackson, state organizer, and temporary president of the association, which has for its vice-president a man by the name of Lullio Nicholas, whom Sheriff C. L. Chace of 24th county charged as a bad guy many because of his activities in that county during the prohibition period."

Referring to the Communist tendencies of the CIO movement which incited the strike here, Mr. Helmer asserted that Ed Norton, an official of the Winthrop Haven local No. 10, is a full-fledged Communist, as are also his colleagues, George Jackson, who according to recent press accounts, has admitted he has Communist affiliations, and Edward Southworth, who Mr. Helmer branded as a notorious Communist organizer of Jacksonville and who, he said, was arrested in that city on charges of inciting a riot and several sentences in jail.

On investigation of the recent labor trouble at the Eberhard-Fourn Corporation, Inc., reported to be CIO activities, it was found that Jackson, Norton and Southworth were in the foreground, advocating a walkout and strike on the part of the employees. This, to our knowledge, is the first attempted CIO strike in the citrus and canning industry in the state.

"Showing the real weakness of the State CIO membership," he stated, "is the fact that in just activities the organizers have drawn no color line in enlisting members, advocating a CIO equality, equal rights, of franchise and abolition of all so-called Jim Crow laws."

Mr. Helmer extended the highest commendation to Chief of Police Ray G. Williams for his "firm and logical" course in which he denied what may have become a serious situation threatening the peace of the citizens of Sanford.

In conclusion, Mr. Helmer stated that it is doubtful if the CIO state membership of the Committee for Industrial Organization exceeded 200.

Higgins Again Named Mayor By Commission

Walter S. Coleman Installed As Commissioner In Place Of W. A. Leffler

Edward Higgins was unanimously re-elected Mayor of Sanford and chairman of the City Commission at the organizational meeting held in the City Hall last night.

Mayor Higgins in bidding farewell to the retiring Commissioner stated, "This Board greatly appreciates the valuable services you have rendered during your term of office and I know that the people of Sanford, too, appreciate your untiring efforts in handling the affairs of the City."

County Commissioner W. B. Williams of Ojeda was unanimously re-elected chairman of the Board of County Commissioners at their regular monthly meeting in the Court House yesterday.

Following the installation of the chairman, Fred H. Wilson, city attorney, appeared before the Board and requested the cancellation of the County taxes on the Bell Air property which has been foreclosed by the city for non-payment of taxes.

The Commissioners agreed to the cancellation of the delinquent taxes as is permitted by an act of the State Legislature.

A resolution was also adopted requesting the Comptroller to grant permission to transfer $255.00 now in the Health fund to the Mother's Pension fund which is reported as depleted at the present time.

Following some agitation on the part of residents of Forest City and Bear Lake vicinities, which heretofore has been unproductive, the Commissioner yesterday approved the creation of precinct No. 16 at Bear Lake.

W. H. Bach and Mr. Burton, appeared before the Board and requested that the Smith Canal west of Sanford be cleaned out.

President Predicts New All Time High In U.S. Public Debt

Senator Andrews Talks To Kiwanis On Farm Problem Also Urges Construction Of Canal As A Control Measure

Pointing to the difficulties faced by Florida's delegation in Washington and the Secretary of Agriculture in securing legislation to benefit farmers in every section of the nation where problems vary greatly, Senator Charles C. Andrews of Orlando told Kiwanians at their weekly luncheon today that he was hoping someone would sponsor the St. Johns-Indian River Canal as a flood control and mosquito control measure.

Florida has outgrown Sanford in the last few years," Senator Andrews asserted, "they did it by pulling together."

The President's big volume of deficit of $1,088,129,800 for the current fiscal year and $600,000,000 for 12 months following.

Another thing which the Senator denounced was the fact that there is no tariff imposed on truck crops shipped in from neighboring countries which he asserted destroyed the market for Florida grown products.
