Claims To Ties With Law Enforcement Agencies Refuted

3 Arrested In Newspaper Advertising Scam

Herald Staff Writer

Three men, including a company president, have been arrested in Seminole County in connection with a police newspaper fraud scam that for the past couple of years has spanned the state and bilked thousands of advertisers and subscribers.

Arrested at the headquarters of "Florida Law Officers in Dade County, and at least one Quarterly," located at 2314 Winter Woods Bivd., Winter Park, at about 3 p.m. Tuesday were: company president Paul Wilson McCannon, 28, of Orlando: David Marcus Zastrow. 26, who lives at the headquarters: and Anthony Gene Candelore, 35. of Orlando, Zastrow and Candelore were telephone solicitors for the newspaper.

The arrests, made by Seminole and Brevard County sheriff's deputies, are linked to one arrest other suspect is being sought, Seminole County sheriff's Sgt. Ken Starr said today. Thousands of subscribers and advertisers throughout the state have been bilked in the scam, he said.

Starr said Seminole County first investigated "FLOQ" about two years ago, but at that time no evidence of misconduct could be found. That wasn't the case of the latest two-month investigation, he said.

The men arrested have been released on $1,000 bond each and are scheduled to appear in court Sept. 28. They face charges of use of a device or article to obtain contributions by false pretense, misrepresentation of endorsements in order to solicit funds, misrepresenting benefits to be received. misrepresentation as a charitable organization, engaging in a scheme to defraud, misrepresentation of sponsorship, and failure to register with the secretary of state as professional nolicitor.

"FLOQ" lables itself as "an independent newspaper." It was available through subscription at rates of $30 for eight issues to residents, $10 to police, and $12 to libraries. Free copies were available at police agencies, including the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

The articles published relate to law enforcement, and in soliciting advertising and subscriptions to the newspaper, company representatives are accused of identifying themselves as police officers, sheriff's deputies, state troopers and other lawmen. Investigators said the solicitors claimed that a portion of the newspaper's carnings went to the survivors of lawmen See SCAM, page 10A

Deltonans Say 'No' To Be City

By Deane Jordan Herald Staff Writer

Voters in the retirement enclave of Deltona rejected a bid Tuesday to become Volusia County's newest city.

The incorporation referendum was defeated 5.208 to 4.533, a 675-vote maigin. About 800 absentee ballots were to be counted this morning, but opponents and proponents of the measure do not expect the outcome to change. Voter turnout totalled 53 percent, with 9,741 out of 18,214 registered voters casting their ballots.

Communities can hold incorporation referenda every two years. A spokesman for the Committee to Incorporate De-Itona predicted this issue will likely come to ballot no later than 1990.

The incorporation battle pitted those who wanted the community to stay an idyllic low-crime, low-tax retirement haven against residents who wanted better services for their tax dollar, a share of state revenues given to cities, and better management of local affairs.

The commissioners adopted the ordinance levying rates recommended by Beamer and other staff members. County Imposes Impact Fee

Sales Tax Vote Set For November Referendum

By Brad Church

Herald Staff Writer Builders of new homes and corporated parts of Seminole County will begin paying a new tax Oct. 1-an impact fee to help pay for keeping the county's fire and rescue service up to county standards.

And county residents, both within and outside incorporated areas, will get the chance in November to vote another tax sales tax, with proceeds going to improve city and county infrastructure.

County commissioners approved an impact fee of $75 per new house and a fee of $50 per "equivalent residential unit" (ERU) for non-residential deveiopment. An ERU, as it applies to businesses, is the number of employees divided by the average household size in the county. The commissioners also voted businesses in the unin- 4-1 to place the I cent local option sales tax on the November ballot.

Commissioner Barbara Christensen was the only dissenter. She said she was not in favor of the sales tax being applied to services, which the local tax would be as long as the state sales tax is. She also said she does not think the county into existence-an extra one cent has spent its penny gasoline tax proceeds wisely, and so it should not impose another local option

> The commissioners also adopted the official list of projects for which the county and cities intend to use the proceeds from the one-cent sales tax, with one exception.

Employee Contract Ratifications Also Expected

Hearings Set On $260 Million School Budget

By Richard Whttaker Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board will hold the first of two public meetings on its $260 million proposed 1987-88 budget at 7 p.m. today. Immediately after the hearing, the board is expected to ratify new contracts giving its 4.469 employees average salary increases of 7 percent this year.

The tax increase that Supt. of Schools Robert W. Hughes calls for would raise the property tax rate for school purposes about 19 cents per $1,000 assessed property value. This would bring the rate from last year's $7.44 per $1,000 assessed property value to $7.63 for the coming year.

Under this property tax rate, the owner of a home assessed at $75,000 in Seminole County would pay $381.50 in school taxes this fiscal year after deducting the $25,000 for the homestead exemption. Last year the tax on the same home was $372.

Hughes said Tuesday he thinks the increase is an insignificant amount for people with the same appraised value on property they had last year.

This year's tax rate for schools is expected to generate $47.1 million in revenue to help pay for the education of the 40,839 students in the school district. That figure is based on the estimated $6,498,406,758 tax base in the county, representing the aggregate assessed value of all taxable properties.

Last year's tax rate produced $39.9 million in revenue for the school district's use, based on a tax base of $5,643.642,506.

The proposed operating budget for the district for 1987-88 is $141,951,562. This portion of the budget, which includes salaries and benefits for school employees (except food service workers), is $14.9 million more than this fiscal year's figure.

In presenting the budget to the board last July. Hughes said the percentage increase in revenue provided by the state legislature this year is down from the 1986-87 appropriation. "Bringing the proposed expenditures within available revenue, as required by law, has been especially difficult this year," Hughes said over the decrease in state funding.

Some of the reasons for the tax hike, according to Hughes, are increases of 30 percent in the district's insurance premiums, a 22 percent increase in hospitalization costs for school employees, increases in the employees' required contribution into the Florida Retirement System and Increases in utility costs for additions to school plants scheduled to open during the 1987-88 school year.

Carey E. Ferrell, the district's assistant superintendent for business and finance, blames the tax increase on the property assessment level of the county. Ferrell claims Seminole County has the third lowest assessment level in the state.

Hughes said he's confident the school board will approve contracts recently negotiated with the four associations representing the district's employees. The board directed the negotiating team's actions through executive session, he said. "These contracts are within the parameters they (the board) gave us and should not be controversial at all." Hughes said.

Lake Mary Commission Calls Special Meeting

The Lake Mary City Commission will complex and outfitting the building with hold a special meeting tonight to discuss alternative revenue sources to replace $20,500 that would have been generated by the recently repealed water utility tax. The money was pledged to the debt service requirement for the sale of $3.17 million in public improvement bonds.

The money from the bond sales will be used to help finance the building of the proposed city hall complex that Lake Mary hopes to start constructing this on residents hooked up to the city's water year. The money would go toward acquiring the property, building the equipment and furnishings. While last week's commission vote to repeal the water utility tax was unantmous, it remained doubtful whether the company insuring the bond sale (Bond Investors Guaranty Company) would be happy with the city doing away with a source of revenue promised to cover its payments of the bonds.

The commission voted to repeal the tax system after some citizens called it See SPECIAL, page 10A

Record In Miami, But 'Cooler' Here

Staff And Wire Reports

Tuesday was a little steamy but the temperatures were not really near record highs. For that you had to go to Miami. The thermometer hit the top for the state, and for that date in history: 97 degrees. Historic old Miami. It's getting news on other fronts also.

Temperatures around here slumped to a cool 94 degrees with traces of rain to dampen things more.

Doesn't appear Cindy poses any threat to Seminole County, or even the mainland of the U.S. It's milling about in the Atlantic, aimlessly, getting waeker, and will maybe go away like its forebears.

Now, you want improvement in the weather. How about warm and the probability of rain in the afternoon or early evening. Temperatures should be in the low 90s. Now more about Cindy.

Tropical storm Cindy was expected to gradually weaken today as it quickens its pace north over the open Atlantic Ocean with its 40-mph winds.

At 6 a.m., Cindy's center was estimated about latitude 35.2 north, longitude 39.2 west or about 500 miles west southwest of the Azores. It was expected to accelerate to the north northeast today.

"Maximum winds are estimated to be near 40 mph. and some weakening is likely during the next 24 hours, said forecaster Bob Case of the National Hurricane Center.

Cindy is the third tropical storm of the Atlantic. Caribbean hurricane season, which runs from June I to Nov. 30. The first, Arlene, grew into the season's only hurricane on Aug. 20, but like tropical storm Bret, which formed Aug. 19, never made landfall.

The remains of a tropical depression that flooded at least 60 roads and forced the evacuation of more than 500 people in Virginia and Pennsylvania sloshed north today, threatening New England.

At least eight inches of rain soaked south central Pennsylvania overnight. pushing the Schuylkill River over its banks and flooding low-lying areas, authorities

"I think we are going to wake up ... with a real mess," said Bill Johnson of the Lancaster County Emergency Management Agency.

Floodwaters from the Schuylkill forced the evacuation Tuesday of an undetermined number of people in the small community of Birdsboro and the town's sewer and water pumping station was knocked out, police dispatcher Peggy Fleagle said.

In Pottstown, Pa., Fire Chief Harold Moyer said the town's main street and Industrial highway were closed by flooding from the river.

Earlier Tuesday, officials evacuated up to 20 people near the Cocalico Creek in Ephrata. Officials said were considering evacuating another 15 to 20 families.

The thunderstorms were spawned by a tropical depression that broke up Tuesday as it pushed inland from the Atlantic Ocean. "It's now just a weak area of low pressure pulling moisture into New England," said Dan McCarthy, National Weather Service meteorologist. "There are flood watches for small streams in eastern New York, eastern Pennsylvania and Vermont." He said the rain was expected to end by midday. Virginia was hard hit by flooding Monday and Tuesday. and a flood watch was still in effect for the James River, expected to crest today or Thursday.

Local Report

The high temperature Tuesday in Sunford was 92 degrees and the overnight low was 72 degrees as reported by the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center, Celery Avenue. There was no rainfall recorded. Mostly sunny today with expected high in the low to middle 90s and a 30 percent chance of afternoon showers

Area Forecast

Today...mostly sunny during the morning and partly cloudy with scattered afternoon thun derstorms. Highs in the lower to mid 90s. Variable wind 5 mph.

Chance of rain 40 percent. Tonight...widely scattered evening thunderstorms then clear. Lows in the mid 70s. Light wind. Chance of rain 20 percent.

Thursday...mostly sunny during the morning and partly cloudy with scattered afternoon thunderstorms.

Extended Forecast

Florida Bar Sponsors First Amendment Show

Constitutional issues related to the criminal justice system and the First Amendment in the classroom will be debated on two 90-minute special programs funded by the Florida Bar and aired over the Public Broadcast

The programs were produced by Columbia University Seminars in Media and Society and directed by Fred Friendly. former president of CBS.

The programs feature local and national experts who are led through a hypothetical situation by Harvard Law School professor Arthur R. Miller. The 16-members on each program have very different opinions and share their perceptions in a decision-making process.

"These programs give a realistic picture of issues dealt with every day and hour in our courts when judges, lawyers and litigants struggle to reach a balance between the rights of individuals and the needs of society," said Roderick Petrey, president of the Florida Bar Foundation.

"Viewers should gain a greater understanding and appreciation of our legal system after seeing the programs," he said.

According to Bar president Ray Ferrero Jr., the programs "closely parallel real life situa-tion and are fast-paced. informative, entertaining and down-to-earth."

Tapes of the programs are also being distributed to schools. libraries, civic organizations, Bar associations and other groups throughout Florida to be used in connection with the Consitutional Bicentennial activities in Florida. The tapes will be supplemented with other educational material designed to further assist the viewer in understanding the Constitution.

Funding for the project was provided by a $200,000 grant from the Florida Bar Foundation Interest on Trust Accounts Program under its administration of Justice grant program. Some $50,000 in costs were underwritten by the Florida Bar.

Panelists included appeal judges, Florida Supreme Court justices, élected officials and well-known national journalists.

Locally, the first program will air 7 p.m., Sept. 17, on Channel 24. WMFE, and the second show 7 p.m. Oct. 29.

Peace Plan Needs Support

It is difficult to imagine a more daunting task for would-be peacemakers than the one facing the presidents of five Central American nations. Costa Rican President Oscar Arias Sanchez, the principal author of the peace accord the presidents signed in August, said it best: "If today we see hope," he told a Jubilant crowd of his fellow countrymen a few days ago, "there are still a thousand obstacles before us. We scaled one peak only to see another higher one. And we know that beyond that one there will be another and another."

By Nov. 7, each Central American country must lift restrictions on dissent, issue a political amnesty, end press censorship and agree to hold elections under international observation. Each also must negotiate a cease-fire with rebel groups and forbid the use of its territory by guerrilla groups seeking to overthrow governments in other countries. A legacy of failed peace efforts and the Reagan administration's strong reservations about the plan only add to the difficulty the Central Americans face.

They deserve help, not hindrance, from the United States.

We could offer suggestions, for example, on reintegrating the Contras into Nicaraguan society. That's a need Contra leaders expressed to President Reagan at a recent meeting in Los Angeles. It's also a concern for the government of Honduras, where most of the Contras are now based.

The Contra leaders asked President Reagan to seek congressional approval for renewed military and non-lethal aid, but to hold the military aid in escrow unless the Nicaraguan government fails to comply with the terms of the peace plan. The Contras have reason to be concerned, though an administration effort to seek additional aid is also cause for concern. It will further complicate the tenuous negotiations that may lead to a more lasting peace than the Contras can ever achieve.

 There are more constructive approaches. The United States could help develop verifiable and enforceable security arrangements in Central America. We could assure the Central Americans that if Nicaragua and its Soviet-bloc suppliers abide by the arrangements, we will too. Enforceable security arrangements would be a more effective way of protecting the region against any threat from Nicaragua than trying to alter the Sandinista regime by force.

Peace in El Salvador may be even more clusive than peace in Nicaragua. President Jose Napoleon Duarte desperately needs international support in his efforts to achieve a negotiated settlement with the armed opposition in his country. He needs support not only to end the fighting, but to find ways for the opposition to participate openly in El Salvador's political life. We can play a constructive role.

Throughout the region, there is much we can do - constructively. Consider, for example, suggestions from a Washingtonbased, non-governmental group called the Inter-American Dialogue:

We can engage in vigorous public diplomacy in favor of democratic movements: we can sponsor initiatives to strengthen legislatures, judicial and law enforcement systems and non-governmental civic institutions; we can enthusiastically support freedom of the press; we can provide technical assistance in support of free and fair elections; we can support efforts to establish and preserve civilian contol of the military; we can provide aid to address the fundamental problems of inequality and injustice that breed revolution and repression.

Despite our great influence in Central America, peace and stability in the region depend, ultimately, on Central Americans themselves. The Arias plan, a plan of the Central Americans' own devising, offers us the opportunity to be a positive influence. It's in our interest and theirs for us to take advantage of the opportunity.

AIDS And Discomfort; Tale Of Two Cities

Southern parents like those in Arcadia, Fla., have marched across our weary consciousness before. Arcadia was a sickening deja vu.

In the '60s, we watched hysterical parents shricking epithets at children with a different skin color. Enough parental venom flowed to manufacture a homb in 1963 that killed four little girls attending a Birmingham church.

But in 1987, the skin color of the children and protesting parents is the same. And the screeching voices have been lowered.

Three little Arcadia brothers with AIDSinfected blood were the targets. No bombs this time, only bomb threats, death calls and a house-gutting fire of suspicious origin.

Southern bigotry had exchanged white sheets for white T-shirts. If that censure appears to indict an entire region, compare a tale of two cities, tronically with the same name. In Arcadia, Ind., the Hoosiers warmly welcomed an AIDS-infected youth to school.

In Arcadia, Fla., rednecks declared communal war on three AIDS-infected brothers. The differing response may lie in the South's

From the Southern "Super Tuesday" prestdential primary and self-deluded arrogance that assumes only a Southern Democrat can be elected president in 1988 to public displays of still cherished "separate but equal" mentality.

affection for that divisive symbol - the Confederate flag - many Southerners still come on like refugees from a Faulkner novel.

"Separate but equal" assumes many forms: A third of all inmates on death row are now confined in only four Southern states: the largest percentage of people living below the poverty line is to be found there.

AIDS, however, is not a "separate but equal" disease

Anybody can be infected, in several ways. Its most heartbreaking side effects are children infected at birth. Last week, a Newsweek cover story described their hard fight for life by focusing on the miracle of a cute, little pig-tailed Hispanic girl. Celeste, born with AIDS - still alive at 91/4.

Should we punish this child because of the sins of her parents? Florida Arcadians would say Looking at the hope in Celeste's pretty dark eyes. I could only think of Marvin Gaye's classic song. "Save the Children":

When I look at the world, it fills me with sorrow Little children today are really gonna suffer tomorrow. Oh, what a shame, such a bad way to live. But who really cares? Who's willing to try?

In Florida, three newspapers published near Arcadia care.

The St. Petersburg Times called its governor "irresponsibly silent" and urged him to speak out "for the right reason."

The Fort Myers News-Press wondered why those Arcadians who were now trying to help the three boys had not shown the same compassion before the fire.

The Bradenton Herald denounced Arcadia's 'hypocritical show of mercy'' after the besieged family had left town.

Mortal Wounds & Women

Summer ends, and it's time to clean out the closet. A few scribbled notes and a few clippings turn up:

(BU) Not long ago somebody from one of the morning network news shows phoned me. They were thinking of doing a segment built around the notion that, even though Attorney General Edwin Meese hasn't been proved guilty of any wrongdoing, he has been attacked so heavily, and thus become so controversial, that he has jost all utility and ought to resign. Would I be interested in discussing the idea?

Why yes indeed, I replied. The proposition that a public official might be wounded so savagely by wholly unfounded criticisms as to lose all usefulness and become obliged to retire struck me as a thoroughly exhilarating idea. I even had a couple of thoughts. I said, as to Democrats I would like to try the

The next day the staffer called back again. Forget it, she said. They were dropping the whole idea.

(BU) Now that national attention is focused on the millions of illegal altens whose presence in this country is being legalized under the provisions of the new immigration law, we are in some danger of forgetting about those aliens who obeyed, years ago, the regular mission to the United States and who are still waiting patiently for approval. The Immigration and Naturalization Service has a lot on its plate, heaven knows, but one hopes these law-abiding people aren't being neglected altogether in the rush to sanctify the illegals.

To take just one example: Applications for permanent restdence under the Hong Kong "sixth preference" filed in November 1981 were only being reached for processing in April 1987, five and a half years later. Moreover, in May 1987, owing to a bureaucratic loop-theloop that only an immigration lawyer could explain, the whole procees "regressed" 22 months and the INS was suddenly back to processing applications filed in January 1980! No wonder many aliens prefer the illegal route.

(BU) Would you kindly bow your head and join with me in mourning the passing of that grand old verb. "to persuade"? It has been pushed rudely aside by a grossly improper use of the equally distinguished verb, "to convince." Nowadays one hears on every side "I convinced him to" do thus and so, whereas the proper formulation would be "I persuaded him to" do it.

Group Saves Jobs

CHICAGO (NEA) — For years, the secretive Stewart-Warner Corp. refused to publicly acknowledge that its mounting financial problems might be endangering the hundreds. of jobs at its three manufacturing plants here.

For the company's workers, that position was intolerable because Stewart-Warner, an auto instrument manufacturer, is the last major source of blue-collar jobs on Chicago's Northwest Side - and its work force here already has shriveled from almost 3,000 in the late 1970s to about 1,700 today. plant shutdown, those workers and their union in late 1985 launched an unusual effort to protect the factories and their jobs.

They formed the Coalition to Keep Stewart-Warner Open. It. in turn, sought assistance from every available source, including government officials, churches, community organizations - and a unique Chicago-based organization called the Midwest Center for Labor Re-

The non-profit center, founded five years ago by labor activists. stresses the importance of planning positively to preserve jobs instead of merely reacting to plant closings.

Such planning produces not only satisfied workers but also "a more productive, healthy company," explains Dan Swinney, the center's executive director who lost his previous job when the factory in which he worked was abandoned by

Swinney and a staff of 10 conduct research, provide information and suggest strategies to employee organizations, union locals and community groups concerned about potential plant closings and other issues associated with the decline of the country's "smokestack" industries

The center can be likened to a management consulting firm, although it differs in one important respect - its highest priority is keeping workers productively employed and appropriately compensated.

Corporations often blame financtai problems on rising labor costs and think that closing a factory will improve their balance sheet. The center, however, can often show the company that such a move may not only fail to improve the company's competitive situation - but could make ii worse Although the center is proud of its worker orientation, Swinney insists that it is "not simply pro-labor." Its commitment to professionalism is important, he says, to gain credibility with the owners and managers of companies whose operations it analyzes.

In one case, the union local at a Wisconsin auto plant turned to the center after managers insisted upon concessions from workers. After studying the situation, the centerconcluded that some employee sacriflees were necessary.

The center publishes an "Early Warning Manual" that identifies the precursors of plant closings, including ownership problems, declining sales, substantial job losses and management instability.

A number of those elements became apparent when the center examined Stewart-Warner. A lack of capital investment, for example, impaired the firm's ability to compete with other producers of motor vehicle instrumentation.

Net income, which exceeded $15 million annually throughout the late 1970s and early 1980s, dropped to less than half that in the mid-1980s.

Diet Debate Continues

By Gayle Young UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) - Testimonies from parents in a National Institutes of Health report on hyperactive children are tales of frustration and

"My son Johnny ta 2 years oldand has totally disrupted our household since he was infant," said one unidentified parent. "He has few friends because he kicks, pushes, shoves and screams at other kids. He opens the refrigerator and tries to sit in it. He climbs onto kitchen counters, turns off the water heater and unscrews almost anything, even the storm door.

"To top it all, he as been expelled from nursery school."

Childhood hyperactivity has been cited in medical literature for over 100 years, but doctors still have not reached a consensus on the cause and treatment of the syndrome. which usually strikes children before they reach age 7 and disappears at puberty.

More boys are hyperactive than girls, but the actual number of children affected is in dispute with estimates ranging from 1 percent to 15 percent of all school-age

Children with the disorder have difficulty controlling their impulses and are noted for their short aftention spans. Doctors say they are a whir of activity from morning to night, constantly disrupting schoolrooms and households because they cannot sit still, complete tasks or listen to directions.

"It's not willful disobedience. It's like an itch they have to scratch." said Bernard Rimland, director of the Institute for Child Behavior in San Diego.

For decades, the syndrome has been treated with stimulants amphetamines such as Ritalin. Dexedrine and Cylert. But how the drugs work is still not known.

"No one knows the answer," said Rimland. "One theory is that because of the peculiarity of their nervous systems, they hunger for stimulation and the drugs feed to that.'

According to the report on hyperactivity from the NIH, the drugs reduce hyperactive behavior in 70 percent to 80 percent of children with the syndrome.

"With the medication, a child is able to control his impulses and behavior," the report states. "As a result, he gets along better with his peers and his classroom performance also improves."

JACK ANDERSON

Iran Flirts With Bankruptcy

By Jack Anderson And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON - As Iran's minister of heavy industries. Belizad Nabayi is the proverbial steward rearranging the deck chairs on the sinking Titanic. The Khomeint regime is foundering on the icebergs of fundamentalist inefficiency, corruption and, most of all, the war with Iraq.

Though Nabavi makes numerous speeches and grants interviews to the kept Iranian press, he is generally closed-mouthed about the devastating effect the war has had on Iran's industrial base - a key Indicator of the Iranian economy's slide into bankruptcy.

But even his cheerleading public statements sometimes contain revealing juggets of information. And secret conversations he has had with confidants, the gist of which has been slipped to us by Tehran sources, are even more candid. First the public revelations.

- In a speech at Tehran's Melli University, Nabavi complained that his ministry "should be capable of building factories, but it lacks the capacity to create a fan-making unit." As a result, he said, the ministry has inherited "a bunch of little, inefficient vehicle and engine assembly plants."

- In an interview with the newspaper Jomhouri Islami, Nabavi disclosed that he had shut down the Iranian Mazda factory, "Of course, in reality, I did not shut it down," he said. "The lack of foreign currency did. If foreign currency were available, I would not have done this. We would have had to come up with $45 million to keep Mazda from closing, which we could not do."

- In a speech reported by the government newspaper Kayhan, Nabavi said: "Planning for heavy industries is a difficult job. For example, although we have not made our plants dependent on foreign currency, they are dependent on electricity. In the wake of frequent blackouts, our production projects are at a standstill." - In a speech at Tehran University's school of economics, Nabavi voiced this pitiful plaint: "Some people say. 'Change the line of products; don't shut down industry." But how can we miraculously change our product line? To do so, we need foreign currency."

At a hush-hush meeting with newspaper executives. Nabavi gave an astonishingly frank appraisal of fran's desperate economic situation, so that the editors could do a better job of censoring and keep hints of trouble from reaching their readers. He ordered that no notes or tapes be made of the meeting, but not everyone obeyed. A detailed summary of the meeting was smuggled out of Tehran to us.

Nabavi revealed that the only way the regime made it through the year that ended in March was "to draw on $2 billion of foreign currency reserves, which was against the law and which we falsely denied. But (this year), we can no longer do such a thing and the situation will be that much worse."

fran's once thriving auto industry is a shambles. Nabavi confided. To pay salaries at the Khodro plant, the government had to sell shares at ruinously low prices. A British manufacturer "has totally stopped sending spare parts because of our failure to meet our debts," and the parts on hand are taken by influential officials "for themselves and their families and friends."

Nabavi complained to the news executives: "The parliamentary deputies have made so many requests for Nissan (vehicles) that we have been forced to resort to a lottery for the people who already paid for Nissan light trucks and were supposed to take delivery."

Factories are kept running at a loss. Nabavi said, because they turn out materiel for the military as well as their normal products. Obviously, none of this creates revenuc-producing heavy industry for Iran, and Nabavi knows this better than anyone. "The situation is so bad that it cannot be controlled," he lamented at the secret meeting.

Iran Claims Hits On Iraqi Jet; Iraq Claims Hit On Tankers

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) - Iran claimed today its anti-aircraft defenses shot down an Iraqi jet fighter as other Iraqi warplanes shattered a three-day full in the Persian Gulf war by bombing two oil tankers in Iranian waters.

The Islamic Republic News Agency, IRNA, said Iranian navy anti-aircraft gunners downed the Iraqi jet Tuesday in southern gulf waters, hundreds of miles from Iran's main Kharg island oil terminal where Iraq said it attacked two "large naval targets" Tuesday night.

In another development, a Kuwaiti oil tanker was re-flagged Tuesday under the British flag, officials said. The 263,679-ton Al Faiha was renamed the Tonbridge and is expected to make the southbound voyage to the Strait of Hormuz later this week.

Entire Philippine Cabinet Resigns

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Ali 28 members of the Philippine Cabinet submitted their resignations today, saying they wanted to allow President Corazon Aquino to reorganize the executive branch in the wake of last month's deadly coup attempt.

Among the first to resign were Executive Secretary Joker Arroyo and Special Counsel Teodoro Locain, whose leftist leanings and criticism of the military had sparked demands for their resignations.

Press Secretary Teodoro Benigno said 11 of the 28 Cabinet members "spontaneously" handed in their resignations during a special luncheon meeting with Aquino. He said the others, who were unable to attend that meeting, later gathered at the presidential palace and resigned.

Home Town Cheers Opposition

MOKPO, South Korea (UPI) - Opposition leader Kim Dae Jung received a hero's welcome today when he returned home for the first time in 16 years, with thousands of people crowding downtown Mokpo, chanting "Long Live

Kim arrived in the port city of Mokpo, 200 miles southwest of Seoul, after an emotional welcome Tuesday in Kwangju, where between 300,000 and 500,000 people celebrated his return to Chollanamdo province and the recent restoration of his civil rights.

The dissident, who has been jailed, banned, exiled and sentenced to death during his 26-year political career, lashed out today at the government of President Chun Doo Hwan for "changing its mind" about implementing sweeping democratic reforms.

Israeli Leftists May Be Charged

JERUSALEM (UPI) - An Israeli prosecutor is looking into possible criminal charges against four leftist parliamentarians who hugged and kissed Palestine Liberation Organization chairman Yasser Arafat at a conference In Geneva.

Avi Pazner, a spokesman for Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, said Tuesday the government's chief prosecutor will be asked to determine whether the legislators violated Israeli laws against meetings "of any kind" with the PLO.

Shultz Confident Of Treaty

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Secretary of State George Shultz, opening "a very, very busy" autumn of diplomacy, said Tuesday the superpowers are near an agreement on medium-range missiles that will have the strongest verification procedures in history.

In an interview with United Press International and the Associated Press, Shultz - tan and fit after three weeks of vacation in California - also expressed confidence that such an agreement could win Senate ratification early next year.

The secretary of state returned to Washington over the Labor Day weekend to start preparations for his meeting next week with Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze, seen as a prelude to a possible summit between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev later this year.

Although the Sept. 15-17 Shultz-Shevardnadze meeting in Washington will cover a host of issues, including human rights, the top of the agenda is expected to be basic agreement on a pact eliminating short- and medium-range nuclear missiles.

An agreement on medlumrange weapons likely would be followed by a summit in which the pact would be signed.

The verification regime that I think is in prospect is undoubtedly the strongest of any arms control agreement we've ever had," he said.

Verification has long been a sticking point in the Geneva arms talks, and settlement of the issue was made possible, Shultz said, by "a breakthrough" at the Conference on Disarmament In Europe in Stockholm last spring.

At that conference, the Soviets unexpectedly agreed to on-site verification of their military maneuvers by international inspectors, a process quietly carried out last week.

Shultz, in the interview, emphasized his desire to "systematize" the U.S.-Soviet relationship, to put high-level meetings on a regular basis.

We are approaching this very, very busy fall coming up in a businesslike, strong manner," he said. "We have a strong hand and we intend to play it."

OPEC Production Hits 12-Month High high of 19.8 million barrels a day in August but is expected to slip in September, Petroleum Intelligence. Weekly reported Tuesday

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries' Persian Gulf members accounted for the entire rise in OPEC's August output from 18.7 million barrels a day in July, the authorisative oil journal said.

The gulf states took advantage of a temporary lull in the tanker war waged by OPEC members Iraq and Iran against shipping inthe waterway to step up exports in August

"Even if OPEC produces 19 million barrels a day of crude over the final three months of 1987, the group's output would average about 17.8 million barrels a day for the full year, or nearly 600,000 barrels a day lower than in 1986," the publication said.

Mass Murderer Richard Speck Denied Parole, Vote Unanimous

SPRINGFIELD, III. (UPI) - Mass murderer Richard Speck, sentenced to 1,200 years in prison for the shocking slayings of eight student nurses in 1966, was denied parole today by a unanimous vote of the Illinois Prisoner Review Board.

The decision was announced in a brief written statement by board chairman Paul Klincar and came without explanation. Officials at the board refused to elaborate.

Speck's next parole hearing is set for September 1990. The announcement comes one week after friends and relatives of his eight victims packed a hearing arguing he should remain behind bars.

Howard Beach Trial Jurors Set

NEW YORK (UPI) - Lawyers for four white teenagers on trial for attacking three blacks and chasing one to his death said the Howard Beach melee had no racial overtones and "if the fellow who died was white we wouldn't be here."

Jury selection in the case began Tuesday before state Supreme Court Justice Thomas Demakos with the questioning 150 prospective panelists in state Supreme Court in the borough of Queens.

Selection of jurors was scheduled to resume today in preparation for the trial expected to last at least a month.

Michael Griffith, 23, Cedric Sandiford, 36, and Timothy Grimes, 20, were attacked by a group of whites outside a pizzeria after entering Howard Beach when their car broke down in the early morning of Dec. 20, 1986.

Swedish Visit May Ease Strains

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The first White House reception in 26 years of a Swedish prime minister signals an effort by both countries to ease strains left by the Vietnam war and U.S. support for the Contras rebels in Nicaragua.

Prime Minister Ingvar Carlsson, who met Tuesday afternoon with Secretary of State George Shultz, was to continue the high-level meetings today with a session in the Oval Office with President Reagan and a State Department luncheon hosted by Shultz.

Hart: Yes To Adultry; No To Race

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Gary Hart, admitting he cheated in his 29-year marriage and reiterating that his tryst with Donna Rice was a mistake, says he is out of the 1988 presidential race and seeking the higher office of "patriot."

"I'm not a candidate for president, and I'm not making any plans." Hart said early today in a much-ballyhooed television interview on ABC's "Nightline."

In his first interview since the Rice furor led him to end his front-running campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination May 8, the former Colorado senator said he still wants "to be part of the debate" in the current race.

But asked by "Nightline" anchor Ted Koppel whether that meant he is leaving the door slightly open to resurrect his candidacy, Hart replied: "I'm out."

Herman's Herd Rallies Support

"LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Legendary big band leader Woody Herman, bedridden and broke, has been saved from eviction from his home of more than 40 years by the promise of help from such entertainment glants as Frank Sinatra and Tony Bennett.

The music world came together Tuesday to save the Jazz great from being kicked out of the h Internal Revenue Service auction sale, and the new owner agreed to let the 74-year-old bandleader and his daughter remain until at least the end of 1988.

Lawyer Kirk Pasich worked out an agreement with Herman's landlord, William Little, providing the Hermans pay their $1,150 monthly rent on time and pay $4,600 back rent by today.

Jazz radio station KKGO-FM said said it would pay the $4,600, and Herman's daughter, Ingrid Herman Reese, sald celebrities such as Sinatra, Bennett, Peggy Lee and Stan Getz called and offered to help with Herman's future rent and overdue medical bills of more than $18,000.

Papal Mass Site Called A 'Zoo'

MIAMI (UPI) - Last-minute concession stands. preparations rendered the mass site a "zoo" Tuesday but archdiocese officials predicted things would fall into place as hundreds of people worked to greet Pope John Paul II on his U.S. arrival.

More than a year of intense work by about 25 area priests will end in just 23 hours when the pope leaves Friday afternoon for Columbia, S.C., the second of nine cities on his 10-day U.S.

Other stops on his visit include: New Orleans, San Antonio, Phoenix, Los Angeles, Monterey, Calif., San Francisco and Detroit.

"Everything that's humanly possible has been done," said Monsignor Jude O'Doherty, the chief organizer. "You just go with the tide. It happens.

Workers elsewhere were sprucing up other sites. After his arrival, the pope's itinerary calls for a visit at St. Mary's Cathedral, a meeting with more than 500 priests at St. Martha's church and a visit with President and Mrs. Reagan at Vizcaya museum and gardens. An evening 3.1-mile parade follows.

On Friday, John Paul will' meet with 196 Jewish leaders. The mass follows.

"I feel really high about it all," said Ed Ryan of Albany, N.Y., who came to Miami early for his winter visit to help out at St. Martha's. "There's a lot of anticipation. There's real reverence for what's going to happen."

Castle's 'Areas' Of Tennis Types

There are many interesting tennis types among us.

We have all been put in "boxes" or categories. Some of tis are called "baseliners," or "backboards," some are called "big hitters" or "power players."

We are called A players or B players or (shudderff) C players. We are labeled and stereotyped and if we are told often enough by others what they think we are we become that.

We are given ratings or numbers by the USTA. We might be a 2.5 or a 3.0 or a 5.5. This is supposed to put us exactly in the place in tennis that we belong. In our box, so to speak.

Does it work? It does not. I have seen C players who can beat B players, etc., etc. I have seen players who are 5.0s lose to 3.5s. It really depends on where you are, who is testing or who has put that label on you. I don't like putting players (people) into divisions or categories because of their abilitles. I like to put them into areas because of the way they react on the court. It's more meaningful and a lot more fun to observe the sittitudes and actions of tennis players, rather than their physical abilities

It gets boring to just watch the strokes and shot making ability of tennis players. It's never boring to watch and listen to tennis players react and adjust to various situations on the court and to observe how they deal with anxiety, success, failure, joy, rage, anger, indecision, frustration, glee, despair, compassion, and all the emotions hat go with playing this game of

I have to put these players into my own boxes, my own categories. I've had 500 tennis students a year for many, many years so I have had a chance to observe all kinds of attitudes. Plus, I've played for 25 years and have used most of the following myself from time to time.

• The Chatterbox: This player cannot play without talking. They chatter after every point and even sometimes during a point. Everyone around them knows exactly what's going on in their lives and exactly what kind of day they have had. It's a glant distraction for everyone within a few miles.

• The Landowner: This player might be playing on one court and maybe there are several ether matches going on on other courts. The landowner does not care what's going on around him though, because he feels put off and angry if any balls roll on his "land," or if any sound penetrates his "air" or if anyone makes a move that will distract from "his game." The landowner is hard to deal with because he does not want anyone else playing around him. He wants absolutely no distractions. The landowner needs his own private court.

give you help with your game, anytime, any place. They will offer instruction, tips, suggestions anytime - even during a tough match. More often than not, the mentor is just an average player and the advice they give is not even correct advice. It is particularly distracting if it happens after or while you are trying to concentrate. Leave the instruction to the pros or at least wait until a practice session.

• The Play-By-Play Announcer: This one is a little like the chatterbox but the announcer is more specific. This player will give a running commentary on each point. Most of the time they wait until the point is over to go back over it but sometimes they will tell you about it right during the rally.

• Maple Syrup (Let's take the tocus off my error): This is a meaky one. On the surface it looks like this player is just trying to be nice. Here is the scene: You serve to your opponent, it is a short serve, to the forehand and not very hard. They hit the return into the net, then yell over to you "Great serve, super shot," or "What great spin." They will do this over and over again. Every time they make an error they start

Players Pitch For Sept. 22 Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Declaring that "management really left us no choice," the NFL players' union has set Sept. 22 as its strike deadline with both sides far apart in contract talks.

Jack Donlan, executive director of the NFL Management Council, the league's bargaining arm, accused the union of trying to hurl the labor talks into a crisis atmosphere by announcing such a close strike date.

The work stoppage would occur after the second week of the season, with the last game a Monday night contest between the New England Patriots and New York Jets.

"The history of this union is to put negotiations in a crisis. They've never had a negotiations without a strike." Donlan said.

The players struck in 1988, 1970, 1974 and 1982, but the 57 day 1982 strike was the only walkout to affect the regular season, crasing seven weeks of play.

The strike date was approved 24-4 Tuesday by the union's Board of Player Representatives after being set one week earlier by the union's policy-making Executive Committee.

"Management really left us no choice but to set a strike date," Gene Upshaw, executive director of the NFL Players Association, said at a news conference Tuesday. "These guys want to play football; that's all they want to do. But they will not accept the servitude they want us to accept."

Meanwhile, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozeile acknowledged earlier Tuesday that the parties were "beyond the 11th hour" and he would be willing to join the talks to facilitate a settlement.

Union president Marvin Powell of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers demanded management bargain on the major

"We are willing to meet anywhere and at any time, but we are not there to talk to a teacup and smile at a wall," Powell said. "No NFL player wants to go to strike but we'll do what we have

The five-year collective bargaining agreement that settled the 1982 strike expired Aug. 31, leaving NFL players without a contract. The union and management have bargained only once since Aug. 14. The union broke off talks Thursday after management refused to protect roster spots of player representatives.

The union is also demanding unfettered free agency, improved pension benefits and more guaranteed contracts. The owners seek mandatory random drug-testing and a restrictive rookie salary scale.

"The players felt this was the time we had the most leverage," Upshaw said. "If we delayed it any longer, they would delay longer. We have to bring this thing to a conclusion."

But he left open the possibility it could be delayed, saying. "The date is there, but everything is negotiable."

The action by the union, which represents some 1,600 NFL players, came one day after management issued its latest contract offer to the union, including a "liberalized" freeagency system, a two-man roster increase and improved benefits for players.

"The whole proposal was a $45 million take-back." Upshaw said.

Jeff Smith, third from left, leads the Seminole cross country team in a luneup practice run for Thursday's opener at Titusville's Dunn Airport Field. Coach Ken Brauman's boys and Nate Perkins' girls, who were reclassified from 4A to JA this year, face tough competition from Titusville High, Titusville Astronaut and Rockledge in district action.

Competition Does Not Drop With Class 3A For Seminole

Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High has been working hard to get in shape for the 1987 season and rightly so. The Florida High School Activities Association did not do the Seminole cross country team any favors when it switched the school from Class 4A to 3A due to an enrollment shortage.

'We're in a 19-team district which is probably the strongest in the state," Seminole coach Ken Brauman said. "I couldn't believe it when I saw who they put us in with. It will defin!tely be a tough district to get out of."

Defending state champion Orlando Bishop Moore and traditional 3A powers Titusville High, Titusville Astronaut and Rockledge, all in Seminole's district, are expected to be on hand Thursday.

"We'll get a good indication of what our district will be like," Brauman said of Thursday's meet. "We also want to see where our training is at this point. We're using it mainly as a time trial and we will work right on through this meet and run

Also running varsity in Thursday's meet will be sentors Alan Seward and John Herberger, junior Brent Posey, sophomore Joe Peeples and freshman Dalvin Davis.

"Seward and Posey work very hard in practice and will help us a lot as the season progresses," Brauman said. "Herberger is in his fourth year running and is a good steady performer. Peeples has been up and down but he will do a good job for us by the end of the season.

Injuries To Ron Blake, The Mentor: This player will Farrier Cloud Openers

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

With the start of the regular season only two days away, the Seminole County football coaches are making final adjustments before the season openers on Friday night.

 At Sanford, Semtnole coach Roger Beathard said he was concerned about a sprained ankle suffered by Ron Blake, a key ingredient of the Tribe's aggressive defense at monsterback.

"Ron is questionable for the opener," Beathard said about Friday's home clash against Titusville Astronaut. "If he can't play, we'll move Nick Casiello to monsterback and use Curtis Rudolph some at defensive back. Otherwide, we're in pretty good shape.

Beathard said special emphasis has been placed on the special teams the past week, especially the punt return team.

 At Longwood, Lyman coach Bill Scott said that his team may be without the services of tailback Victor Farrier for awhile. Farrier injured his ribs in last week's 3-0 jamboree victory over Oviedo. "He is questionable for this week's ball game," Scott, whose team will travel to Orlando Boone on Friday, said. "He hasn't really been able to run all that well, and I doubt if he'll play.

Scott said that sophomore Kennis Morris will replace Farrier if he is unable to go.

• At Lake Mary, coach Harry Nelson said that his team is ready to go. "We have had a couple long, hard, and hot practices." Nelson, whose team dumped Lake Howell, 10-0, in the fall jamboree, said. "We looked at the film of the jambboree, and our defense looked good. We had spurts of being very well oiled."

The Rams will open Friday when they host Winter Park. Nelson is hoping that his tenaclous defense will hold the Wildcat offense at bay.

• At Casselberry, Lake Howell coach Mike Bisceglia is preparing his team for its opener against Apopka on Friday night. The Silver Hawks, 9-1 a year ago, will be looking to avenge last year's 10-7 loss to Apopka.

Bisceglia said that three of his key players are questionable for Friday's contest. Starting guard Jason Rosenblatt, freshman running back Marquette Smith and starting running back Cornel Rigby all are hurting with twisted ankles.

 At Oviedo, coach Jack Blanton will be without the services of son, Matthew, in Friday's opener at Lake Brantley. The younger Blanton, who was competing for the starting quarterback job. fractured his collar bone two weeks ago and will be out for an unknown length of time. John Pettit will be handling the signal-calling duties.

 At Altamonte Springs, Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon said that his club is healthy and eager to host the Lions. "Nigel Hinds is all healed up, and we are ready for Ovledo." Almon said of Hinds, who missed the jamboree with a separated shoulder. "We have looked sharp in practice, and I'm confident that we are going to do a good job on Friday night.

DeBerg Gets Start At QB

TAMPA (UPI) - Vinny Testaverde won the acclaim and the money, not the Job.

Veteran Steve DeBerg, in the best shape of his 11-year NFL career after a rigorous off-season conditioning program. Tuesday was named Tampa Bay's starting quarterback for Sunday's season opener against Atlanta.

Rookie coach Ray Perkins told DeBerg and Testaverde separately of his decision on Friday, before Tampa Bay's 23-16 loss at Indianapolis in the exhibition finale. On Tuesday morning. Perkins spoke to both quarterbacks together.

Testaverde, the Heisman Trophy winner from Miami (Fla.), signed an $8.2 million contract before being selected with the first pick in the draft. His arrival has prompted a marked increase in ticket sales and has generated substantial national publicity.

"I expected to start and would have been surprised not to, but I've been surprised before," said DeBerg, who started all four exhibition games and completed 29 of 45 passes for 314 yards and three touchdowns, with one interception.

The Buccaneers placed two rookies, running back Don Smith and defensive end Harry Swayne, on injured reserve

Expos Deck Cardinals; Plan Sweep

MONTREAL (UPI) - Montreal Manager Buck Rodgers expects the strong pitching that has lifted the Expos within three games of first-place St. Louis to complete a sweep of the Cardinais tonight.

Bryn Smith and Andy McGaffigan combined on a four-hitter and Mitch Webster scored twice Tuesday night, helping the Expos to their 10th victory in 13 games, a 4-1 decision over St.

"We've won two out of two and I'm confident Wednesday because Dennis Martinez is our ace," Rodgers said.

Martinez, 8-3, faces St. Louis rookie Joe Magrane, 7-6. Martinez has faced the Cardinals twice this season without earning a decision.

"Sure the Expos are contenders but so are the Pittsburgh Pirates, they haven't been elimi-nated yet. St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog said.

The Cardinals, who lead the league in batting average and runs scored, have mustered only 12 hits and three runs in the first two games of the three-game set. games behind the Cardinals and a half-game ahead of the Expos in the National League East.

Tim Raines singled and scored

In three trips. "We're not going to quit," Cardinals shortstop Ozzle Smith! said. "We'll be back to play them on Wednesday, we've learned that to win the pennant; you've got to win key games and that's what the Expos are doing

Smith scattered three hits over six innings to improve to 9-6. McGaffigan yielded one hit in three innings for his 10th save.

Lucchesi Faces Limited Future

CHICAGO (UPI) - Frank Lucchesi, returning to the dugout 10 years after last managing in the major leagues, limited his tenure there to 26 games.

Lucchesi took over as manager of the Chicago Cubs Tuesday after Gene Michael resigned Monday. Lucchesi, who has previously managed at Philadelphia and Texas, joined the Cubs last winter and served as their eye-in-the-sky, making notes in the press box on the Cubs and their opponents. Although he accepted the invitation of general manager Dallas Green to put on a uniform again, the 59-year-old Lucchest is not planning to make himself a candidate for the permanent?

0-For-27 Years? Falling Angels Frustate Mauch

United Press International

California Manager Gene Mauch may not receive the chance to narrowly miss a pennant this year.

The defending American League West champions Tuesday night lost for the sixth time in seven games, falling 4-2 to Kansas City. The Angels are 6 1-2 games behind first-place Minnesota with 23 games left on their schedule.

Last year Mauch came within one strike of reaching the World Series for the first time in his 26-year career. He was a victory away with the 1982 Angels and his 1964 Philadelphia Phillies blew a big lead in the closing weeks of the season.

Mark Gubicza surrendered four hits over 6 2-3 innings to snap a personal six-game losing streak and George Brett homered and drove in three runs to pace the visiting Royals.

A key play came in the sixth. when Johnny Ray hit a hard shot to Brett at first base. Brett stopped the ball and beat Ray to the bag, leaving runners at second and third with one out. "I don't think anybody realizes just what kind of play that was," Mauch said. "Brett turned the whole game around right there. No left-handed baseman could have made that play."

Stubbs Slugs Reds

CINCINNATI (UPI) - Franlin Stubbs hopes to start contributing to the Los Angeles Dodgers offense by borrowing a teammate's bat.

Stubbs ended an 0 for 33 slump by driving in three runs with a triple and a single Tuesday night to power the Dodgers to a 5.3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Cincinnati's loss, coupled with San Francisco's 6-4 victory over Houston Tuesday night, dropped the Reds six games behind the National Leauge West-leading Giants.

Astros; Increase Lead HOUSTON (UPI) - Third baseman Kevin Mitchell, traded by the World Series champions during the off-season, sees similarities between this year's San Francisco Giants and last year's

New York Mets. Mitchell, who moved from the Mets to the San Diego Padres and then to the Glants, blasted two-run homer and stole three bases Tuesday night to help the Glants to a 6-4 victory over the Houston Astros.

"I don't doubt this team one bit," said Mitchell, who gave the Giants a 4-0 lead in the fifth inning with his 19th homer. "They play a lot like the team I Sisk IS 31 played on last year - the Mets. They never say die. I didn't think a four-run lead was enough, especially against this team here."

Mitchell was right. The Astros railied to tie the score with a four-run seventh inning, but Mike Aldrete slapped a basesloaded two-out double in the ninth inning to extend the Giants lead in the National League West to 5 1-2 games over the Astros and six over Cincin-

Tenacious Defense Lifts Howell Past Tribe In Freshman Opener

A tenacious defense and an opportunistic offense led the Lake Howell freshman football team to a convincing 20-0 victory over Seminole on Tuesday night in the opener for both teams at Seminole High School.

"Our kids came out and played their hearts out," Lake Howell coach John Brady said. "They worked hard, and they deserved to win."

After a scoreless first half, Howell turned three second-half turnovers into scores. Seminole had its problems offensively as it committed four turnovers.

'We were a little sloppy on offense," Seminole coach Mike Ferrell said. "But it was the first game, and that can be expected. I have to give Lake Howell credit, though, because they did a good job."

After John Myslinski recovered a Seminole fumble, Frank Sales took a handoff and scored on a five-yard touchdown run. Ryan Thomas' PAT made the score 7-0.

Howell's defense accounted for its second touchdown. Nose guard William Ennis forced a fumble that Scott Golden scooped up and raced 25-yard for a touchdown. The PAT gave the Hawks a 14-0 cushion.

Howell scored its final touchdown when Adam Toth, who had a pair of interceptions on the night, stepped in front of a pass and returned it 55 yards, to the Seminole two-yard line. Joe Smith did the honors as he scored on a two-yard touchdown plunge.

Howell will return to action next Tuesday when it will travel to Oviedo. After an open date next week, Seminole will host Lake Mary on Sept. 22. - Scott Bander

Lake Brantley Opens With Split

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots defeated Apopka and lost to Space Coast power Merritt Island in a season-opening tri-match Tuesday night at Lake Brantley High.

The Lady Patriots of coach Stephanie Glance upended Apopka, 15-12, 15-8 while Merritt Island downed Brantley, 15-3, 15-13. Merritt Island also defeated Apopka, 15-12,

"The whole team contributed in the win over Apoka," Glance said. "I really believe we could have beaten Merritt Island. We had the lead most of the second game and I think we would have won the match if we could have pulled out the second game."

Glance was pleased with the play of Pam Wittig and Dawn Gebhart at the net and said setters Marianne Rodriguez and Heather Meyer also looked good.

McEnroe Looks For Revenge

NEW YORK (UPI) - After a day of calm at the U.S. Open. John McEnroe is seeking revenge.

In 1985, the four-time champion lost the Open final, his title and his No. 1 ranking to Ivan Lendl. Tonight, if weather permits, they will try to complete their first rematch in two years.

Tuesday's rains allowed the completion of only one match. Helena Sukova, seeded sixth, advanced to the semifinals with a 6-1, 6-3 victory over No. 9 Claudia Kohde-Kilsch. The forecast is for improved weather today.

In August, McEnroe and Lendi took the court in Stratton. Vt. for the final of the Volvo International, but the match was halted by rain midway through the second set. McEnroe led 7-6, 1-4.

UCF To No. 5, But Loses Bogan

There was good news and bad news for coach Gene McDowell's Central Florida Knights Tuesday.

The good news: UCF, ignited by a 17-9 victory over Bethune-Cookman College Saturday, zoomed to No. 5 in the NCAA Division College Football Rankings.

The bad news: Wyatt Bogan will miss at least five weeks with a fractured right foot, according to McDowell. Bogan, a first team All-America last year, injured his foot in practice, then hurt it again warming up for Bethune.

James Goodman, who stepped in for Bogan with 11 tackles Saturday, will replace him again when the Knights host Elon College, Saturday, Sept. 19.

Father Smith Returns For FSU

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Florida State tallback Sammie Smith returned to practice Tuesday celebrating Monday night's birth of a daughter.

Smith's wife, Angie, gave birth to Janay Chantelle Smith, 6 pounds, 4 ounces, at 7:52 p.m. on Labor Day. Smith was called to the hospital before Monday afternoon's

Texas Withdraws Lott Appeal

AUSTIN, Texas (UPI) - The University of Texas has withdrawn its appeal to the NCAA in the eligibility case of defensive back James Lott because the school learned of a contract between Lott and a sports agent. Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds said Tuesday.

Lady Hawks Drop Opener

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

CASSELBERRY - Lake Howell spotted Oak Ridge a 9-0 lead in the third and final game and could not recover fully as the visting Lady Pioneers trimmed the Lady Silver Hawks. 16-14, 6-15, 15-13 in the season opener for both squads before 101 fans Tuesday night at Lake Howell High.

Lake Howell returns to action tonight at 5 at Orlando Evans and the Lady Hawks open the Seminole Athletic Conference season Thursday at home against Seminole. In seasonopeners tonight, Seminole hosts Lake Brantley at 7:30, Oviedo entertains Lyman at 7:30 and Lake Mary hosts Winter Park at 5:15.

"I saw a couple good things come out tonight's match both offensively and defensively." Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "What we need to work on now is a smoother transition from offense to defense."

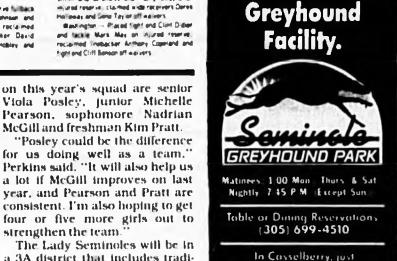

Lake Howell built an early 4-0 lead in Tuesday's first game with Carey Manuel serving four points. Susan Hayden's spike highlighted the rally. Lake Howell went on to take a 7-1 lead on Stormi Littrell's serve with a victous spike by Hayden accounting for the seventh point.

Oak Ridge later battled back to tie the score at 11-11 and later took a 14-13 lead. Lake Howell tied it on Littrell's serve but Oak Ridge got it back and Trina Castell served the last two points of the first game.

With seniors Tammy Lewis and Carey Manuel and Junior Heather Brann turning in some inspired play, the Lady Silver Hawks dominated game two. The turning point came early with Oak Ridge holding a 1-0 lead. On a bad pass into the net, Brann scooped the ball out and kept it in play and Manuel unleashed a riveting spike from the back row to give Lake Howell a lead it would not relinquish. Manuel went on to serve Howell to a 6-1 lead. Brann came on to put the finishing touches on as she served the last three points. with Lewis' spike ending the game.

As dominant as the Lady Hawks were in game two, however, they could not get anything going in the third game.

Seminole Summertime Jamboree, Martin is currently the top-ranked runner in Seminole County with Webster third. Both have the potential to qualify for state as individuals if the team does not come together.

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) - Stock prices opened lower Wednesday in active trading of New York Stock Exchange Issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which fell 16.26 Tuesday, was down 10.37 to 2534.75 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 520-421 among the 1.397 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 12,357,000 shares.

Stocks posted widespread losses Tuesday as rising interest rates spurred nervous investors to lock in some of the huge profits produced by the bull market.

We had a lot of sell programs from the moment the market opened," said Monte Gordon, research director at Dreyfus Corp.

proposed that one proposed county project-the extension of Florida Avenue from State Road 434 to State Road 426, budgeted at $2.5 million-be eliminated. Kirchhoff said that the extension of Florida Avenue could be interpreted by some people as being of direct benefit to him. "It will be hard enough getting this proposition to pass," he told his fellow commissioners. "I don't think we should give any excuse to opponents of it to criticize the whole plan because of one item on it."

Commissioners Bob Sturm and Sandra Glenn said county commissioners have talked about the extension of Florida Avenue for years as a needed project.

Commission Chairman Fred Streetman said he thinks the extension is a good project, but he added he could sympathize will Kirchhoff's objections. "I've seen how opponents can take a good project and make it look like it is only being proposed to benefit a particular person," he

County Manager Ken Hooper said the staff had included the project on the list because the Florida Avenue extension would be an east-west route connecting the two state roads and would be a more direct route west than is now available.

However, Commissioner Glenn amended her motion to approve the list as proposed. eliminating the Florida Avenue extension and placing the $2.5 million allocated for it into proceeds to be used as matching funds for federal or state funds which may be available for road projects. The list of projects then was passed unanimously.

Hooper said about $85 million would be available to the county for projects by a bond issue, and using the proceeds from the tax to pay off the bonds over 15 years, the length of time the tax would be in effect if voters approve it.

The penny sales tax is projected to raise $19 million in its first year. Of that amount, $12 million would go to the county, which plans to use the entire amount for road projects. The remaining $7 million would be divided among the seven cities in the county on the same basis as the penny gas tax is now allocated.

The one-percent sales tax would apply on the first $5,000 of any purchase, including the purchase of services included under the state's sales tax law.

The board approved the fire/rescue impact fee at the rate recommended by the county staff, but it is lower than the rate recommended by the county's Impact Fee Advisory Committee.

The impact fee is based on what is needed to achieve a five-minute response time for a fire unit or ambulance to reach any building in an unincorporated area of the county.

The full cost of achieving this was calculated at $110 per residential unit. The advisory committee recommended phasing in the full amount over four years, beginning with a 30 percent discount which would drop to 20 percent, then to 10 percent, then phased out compictely.

However, the staff recommended a flat fee of $75 for residential and $50 per ERU for non-residentials for two years. According to the ordinance adopted, the fee schedule must be reviewed every two years and can be reviewed and changed at shorter intervals. The fee, as adopted, is projected to raise $104,000 in the first year.

Roger Neiswender, chairman of the advisory committee. argued for the phased-in rate schedule reaching the full amount recommended. He told commissioners that the county's fire/rescue system now is at minimum staffing and needs additional equipment.

"You now have two men per truck-the minimum allowed," Nelswender said. "If any problems come up. if response times start to go up dramatically, you have no flexibility. You will either have to raise property taxes to improve the system, or reduce the level of service." He predicted the system would run into a deficit within two years without additional funds.

round from the small caliber

He also pointed out that the average five-minute response time is a goal, and is not available now. He said the board. in studying the proposed impact fee, had figures from 1981 to 1985 on which to base its findings. Response times averaging just over or just under five minutes were available those years, he said.

"Just as we were completing our study, the 1986 figures came in and showed response times between 5 1/2 and 5 3/4 minutes. When the 1987 figures come in, I'm sure the average response time will be increased again," he

Commissioners said that before the policy's two-year review comes up, the staff should try to come up with a more definitive division of industries. Currently, only the manufacturing category

Randy Young, a consultant who helped draw up the fee schedule, said the study on which the ordinance was based did not have a breakdown of types of industries. Without doing a complete local study, those figures were not available. Young said.

He said that as fees are levied, companies and individuals may appeal them to the commissioners, who may change individual levies. Those actions will set precedents for future levies. In time. Young said, policies may delineate between different types of industries and businesses. based on how much of a fire risk

Many who subscribed never received the newspapers they paid for. And many who bought ads at rates of $50 to $500 each received nothing for their money. Starr said some ordered ads were never published.

About 2,000 persons, including Seminole Countians, may have been bilked in the statewide scheme, Starr said. He said those who subscribed, didn't receive the paper and reported the lack of deliveries were told by "FLOQ" representatives that the newspaper was so popular, someone must have stolen the copies, which the representatives claimed had been delivered.

Starr said Tuesday's arrests were in a Brevard County case where a call was made and a solicitor falsely claimed to be law enforcement officer. He said additional charges are pending against the three in other cases.

Cook Of The Week

Recipes For A Happy Home And A Delicious Meal Go Hand In Hand For Delfiacco Family

By Dorothy Greene Herald Correspondent

Hurried, but never harried, Frances Delflaceo, our Cook of the Week, gives the home and career combination yet another dimension and says she loves every minute of it. She also makes it look ever so casy while she juggles business calls with homemaking without losing the smile on her pretty face.

When you come from a family of 10 children, there's got to be some good cooks among them and Mrs. Delflacco is the perfect example of that. "We lived on a farm in Chester, W. Va.," she explains, "and my father was a steelworker. Every day, when we came home from school my mother would have freshlybaked bread, ples, cakes, you name it, all over the counters. everywhere. Every day! I don't know how she did it. I know I couldn't have done it. She always had everything under control. There was a full meal every night." Needless to say, the dining table was huge and inviting, and the children helped in the kitchen.

Mrs. Delflaceo goes on to tell about the massive amount of work that went into maintaining the family's 200 acre farm. "I got to work out in the fields with my father. When he came home from working at the steel mill all day," she says, "he'd go out into the fields and work until sundown. Besides all the other things that he grew, we had acres and acres of strawberries. and that's a lot of strawberries. We'd have to go out there and pick all those strawberries, and then my mother would can them. We canned everything we grew on the farm." Mrs. Delítacco's parents still share their love for farming, but on a smaller scale. "That's something you can't get out of my father's blood," she adds. "He loves to farm. And my husband loves to farm, too, so we went up and hought a little farm for ourselves. It's such a nice way of life. It's different."

Frances Delflacco puts the finishing touches on Easy Pineapple Cake after preparing Stuffed Hungarian Hot

When the Crucible Steel Company mill closed down in West Virginia, the Delflaccos began to revamp their plans for the future and decided to move to Lake Mary, "since most of my husband's family is here," says our cook. "We were going to get into the restaurant business." she says, "but we decided to try building houses." Mrs. Delfiacco enjoys the building business every bit as much as her husband does. "I leave at 8 o'clock in the morning after the children go to school," she says, "and I go to the job sites with him." She is deeply involved with many phases of the construction, especially the decorating. "I go from job to job to job," she says, "picking out tiles or picking out lights or helping homeowners choose and making sure things are done correctly. With her talented eye for de-corating, Mrs. Delflacco adds her expert touch as soon as the home reaches the drywall stage. She then chooses all the cablnets, wallpaper, lighting. tilework, colors and even exterior paint and shingles. "I love doing that," she says. "There are so many things you can do, and every house is different. It makes me feel so good when people come in and say, 'How beautiful. She did such a gorgeous job.

Mrs. Delfiacco admits that she conceives many new Ideas from her decorating duties and already has some tucked away for use in their next home. At the present time, "home" is a comfortable, tastefully decorated haven that spells welcome to all. "I love it when friends can come in and kick their shoes off and feel comfortable, just like being in their own home," she says. And helping to make her beautiful house a home are the two children. Angela, 11, and Mario III, 9.

"That's our out-of-town hideaway," she adds, laughing. And whenever the Delflaccos find some spare time betwixt weekends, they enjoy bowling and golfing together. Pointing out her beautiful backyard pool, our cook confesses that "panic" takes hold when she is confronted with deep water so one of her goals is to learn how to swim. "My children are excellent swimmers, but if anything happened I know I could jump in and save them," she adds. But for now, she is happy floating on her raft in shallow water. Mrs. Delflacco enjoys casual entertaining at home, usually in the pool area. "On weekends we have barbecues and have friends and family members over," she says, "and I'm the cook. And on holidays we always have big parties with about 20 relatives."

Remarking about her family background of French, Russian and Polish ancestry, Mrs. De-Islacco points out ther her mother-in-law and her husband both had a hand in teaching her about Italian cooking. mother would say. 'Mario likes this and Mario likes that," she explains, "so I'd get her recipe then I'd be cooking and he'd come in and add his spices to my food. And it turns out better than mine! He's an excellent cook. He's good at cooking the meats. I'm good at everything else but the meats." The De-Islaccos make a fine duo in the kitchen and the proof is in the sauce. "We make spaghetti and meatballs together." she says. "He usually makes the meatballs, while I start the sauce then he adds the spices." She adds that her husband is also a champ at making chill, but her specialty is veal scallopine. which is Mario's favorite. "He loves that," she says. "I'm a connoisseur on that, because I've made it so many times. And if I'm making stuffed peppers. I'll split them and he'll come in and stuff them and fry them up for me. We really blend so well together."

Not only in the kitchen, but in every other facet of their marriage and business relationship. Mrs. Delflacco says that she and her husband are truly a perfect match. "We just go together so well," she exclaims. "We agree on everything. I don't think there's one thing that we disagree on. We make the same choices and we have the same tastes. We just think the same on everything."

Recipes for a happy home and recipes for a delicious meal usually go hand in hand, and below is Mrs. Delfiacco's answer to at least one of the above:

WEDDING SOUP

A traditional Italian dish made for all festive occasions.

I bag fresh spinach

I bag fresh endive

8 boiled eggs, chopped

4 boneless chicken breasts

6 chicken boullon cubes 3 stalks celery, chopped

Blackmailer Makes Sure Wife Won't Forget Her Indiscretion

DEAR ABBY: My husband travels for his business about three or four days a month. We've been married for four years, and I really do love him. One of my friends (she's divorced) invited me to a party. and she had a lot of unattached guys and girls there. Anyway, I got very drunk and went to bed with a guy I had never seen he showed me the evidence; he had some guy take pictures of us "In the act. The guy I went to bed with is a me up for money. I don't have a whole lot, but I'm not about to help him support his habit. I've given him $100 twice, then $50

'Motown On Showtime' To Return To Cable

Sanford Herald, Sanford, Fl.

"Motown on Showtime" returns to the cable network on Sept. 19, 25 and 28 with "The Temps & Tops." The one-hour special highlights the sweet soul sounds of The Temptations and The Four Tops. Along with concert performances, the show features Motor City colleagues Aretha Franklin and Stevie Wonder reminiscing about the veteran bands.

(BU) Also on Showtime, the "Interdependence Day Concert." a July 4 performance by American and Russian bands in Moscow, will be aired on Oct. 9. Domestic groups who participated in the concert included the Doobie Brothers. Santana, James Taylor and Bonnie Raitt.

(BU) "Miami Vice" producer Michael Mann went off to mine the '60s in his "Crime Story," a stylish TV drama that uses music from that decade to enhance its flavor. Now, "MV" co-creator Anthony Yerkovich is returning to the small screen this fall with "Private Eye," a (presumably) stylish semi-cop show that will focus on the sounds of the '50s. The pilot episode was scored by eclectic rocker Joe Jackson.

(BU) The Movie Channel will air the granddaddy of motionpicture sound tracks, "A Clockwork Orange," on Sept. 18. The Stanley Kubrick movie, rarely shown on television lit was rated X back in 1971). features a still-remarkable synthesizer score by Walter (now Wendy) Carlos.

(BU) Gossip Department: Ex-Police-man Andy Summers is catching up to cohort Sting in the baby-boom race. Summers' recent pair of twins brings his offspring total up to three: Sting has five....

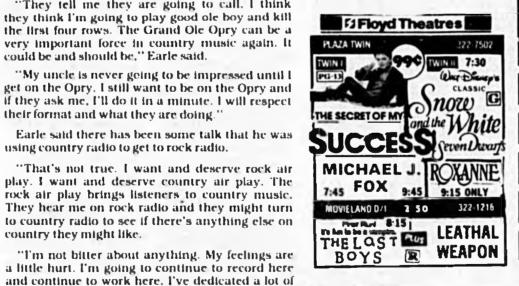

Eurythmics' Dave Stewart married Bananarama's Stobhan Fahey in time to make their baby - due in November - all nice and legal. Insiders say that Stewart spent $800,000 to fly wedding guests from London to the ceremony location in France...

Whitesnake vocalist David Coverdale has announced his engagement to actress Tawny Kitaen (she swears that's her real name) - best known for the film "Bachelor Party" and as the former steady lady of Ratt guitarist Robbin Crosby. Whitesnake's been doing better than Ratt on the charts this year.

(BU) Legal Notes: The Sam & Dave revival show that's been playing around the country lately turns out to be not the original Sam Moore and Dave Prater, but rather Dave Prater and newcomer Sam Daniels. Now. Sam Moore has filed a cease-and-desist suit against his former partner, and wants a portion of the proceeds from the concerts that took his name in

(BU) Department of Strange Bedfellows: Playgirl magazine's latest list of the Ten Sexiest Men in America included U2's Bono Hewson (who actually lives in Ireland) and computer construct Max Headroom....

A recent Jimmy Buffett concert at Jones Beach, New York, featured guest percussionist Ed

Bradley, of TV newsmagazine '60 Minutes."..

(BU) Since the original phrase was "politics makes strange bedfellows," this item is most appropriate: Presidential hopeful Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) has found unlikely support from the American Society of Composers. Gore's choice in spouses.

You remember Senator Gore thanks to his wife. Tipper, who did her best to stifle any songwriting that didn't conform to her ideas of morality.

Sen. Gore, however, has been a major opponent of proposed "source licensing" legislation. which would allow many broadcasters to use music on television without paying songwriter royalties.

It's a cause dear to ASCAP's pocketbook, naturally, and so the organization is overlooking

'Silhouettes' Set For JCC Nursery School

Silhouettes '87, a hair, fashion and dance extravanga under the direction of Hairessence Salon, Longwood, will be held at the Peabody Hotel on International Drive in Orlando on Sept. 20. Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m. and the show will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served following the conclusion of the show at 9 p.m.

Fashions for Silhouettes '87 will be provided by August Max. Jarrods, Sacino's Formalwear, Tuni's and Unique Boutique. Regina Lang from the School of Performing Arts, along with Susan Weinman of GW Consultants, Inc. and Sherry Hunt from the New Trend Modeling Studio will work together with members of the community on the choreography and modeling.

Tickets are on sale for $25 and may be purchased at the Jewish Community Center, (305) 645-5933. All donations are taxdeductible. Proceeds of the event will be used to renovate the Jewish Community Center's nursery school facilities.

The Jewish Community Center currently serves more than 6,000 people. The center is a non-profit, family-oriented social service agency whose activities include a nursery school, day camp, activities for youth. singles, adults and senior citizens. Programs are designed to strengthen family life and help individuals achieve their full range of potential growth.

Trailblazing Star Claims He Deserves Rock, Country Play

By Jim Lewis

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) - Steve Earle is a powerful and influential new force in country music these days. So it's reasonable that his feelings were a little hurt when he received zero nominations for the Oct. 12 Country Music

Earle was nominated in the preliminaries for 10 awards, but when the accolades were trimmed down to five finalists, nowhere was the San Antonio native's name to be found.

He's also disappointed that he has never performed on the Grand Ole Opry

For the time being Earle will have to settle for selling lots of records and selling out concerts. He'll also have to settle for the fact that his records are played on both country and rock

But Earle is not sitting around sulking. He has written a short story which he hopes to publish, is producing an album for an aspiring artist and is part-owner of a dirt track race car. "My feelings are a little hurt about the CMA awards." Earle said as he deltly handled his chop sticks over a takeout lunch that looked suspiclously un-country. "But I'm doing something for country music. I'm certainly trying. I think I'm bringing new listeners in. I don't think I'm doing anything to hurt country music "I was a finalist in 10 categories in the original nominations and I didn't get a single nomination. I was hurt in the original nominations because my album ('Exit O') wasn't included. To me the most important thing I'm making is my albums. Earle is not alone in that. Dwight Yoakam, also regarded as a major new influence on country music, was not mentioned on the final CMA list.

But, in fairness to the CMA, there has been a virtual explosion of new talent on the country music scene in the past few years and competition is flerce. The 32-year-old entertainer and father of three says he still wants to perform on the Grand Ole

Opry and "they still won't let me."

They tell me they are going to call. I think they think I'm going to play good ole boy and kill the first four rows. The Grand Ole Opry can be a very important force in country music again. It could be and should be," Earle said.

if they ask me, I'll do it in a minute. I will respect their format and what they are doing. Earle said there has been some talk that he was using country radio to get to rock radio.

"That's not true. I want and deserve rock air play. I want and deserve country air play. The rock air play brings listeners to country music. They hear me on rock radio and they might turn to country radio to see if there's anything else on country they might like.

time promoting this city as a music community and country music and that's supposed to be what the CMA is all about," Earle said. "People will say to you, Well. I'm selling records and don't care about the awards. Anybody that says that is lying. People say the same thing about the Grammys. I was thrilled to get two nominaations. At first you are honored

but then you want to win. I want to win. "I'm very proud and that's why me and Yoakam got crossways in the first place. I'm proud of working and living here. That's not going to change at all. He does have something against Nashville. He came through town and got the cold shoulder. He was only here a month and I was here 13 years. So I have a hard time feeling sorry for him," Earle said.

Earle also had some comments about double platinum seller Randy Travis, whom he regards as his friend.

"Randy is just a great singer. You can't get around that. His manager won't let me anywhere near him. She's afraid I'll corrupt his morals.'

Florida A Long Shot In Collider Competition

(UPI) - Florida is considered a long shot in the national competition for a super atom smasher, partly because key members of its congressional delegation are lukewarm toward the pro-

U.S. Rep. Charles Bennett, D. Jacksonville, whose district includes the Nassau County site Florida has proposed for the up to $6 billion federal research facility, has not decided whether he supports the U.S. Department of Energy proposal.

U.S. Rep. Kenneth "Buddy" MacKay, D-Ocala, who sits on the House Budget Committee that will help decide whether Congress pays for the scheme, has strong reservations about it.

Energy department officials want to build a 53-mile, Superconducting Super Collider (SSC) to study high phylsics questions like the origin of matter and the "Big Bang" theory of the creation of the universe.

Florida and 24 other states submitted proposals last week in competition for what would be the biggest physics experiment since the Manhattan Project that produced the atomic bomb, and the biggest federal construction program since the interstate highway system. States considered the heavy favorites are California, home of President Reagan and the prestigious Stanford University physics department: Illinois. which has the most powerful atomic accelerator currently in operation; and Texas, which put together $1 billion in various enticements.

Department of Commerce Secretary Jeb Bush declared in a press release accompanying Fiorida's $88 million package of land, road, railroad and educational offerings he is "increasingly confident" of his state's chances in the SSC sweepstakes.

The Florida State University physics professor instrumental in Florida getting into the competition, however, said the state's odds are not good. And Bush acknowledged in an interview with the will be hampered by less than enthusiastic support from many of its national legislators.

"Would I put Florida in the top 10? I think I would, but I wouldn't go much further than that," says Joe Lannuttl, director of the Supercomputer Research Institute at FSU. "If we can get on the short list - and that's what I hope we will be able to do then it becomes a political thing."

A 20-person panel appointed by the National Academy of Sciences and the National Academy of Engineering will review the 25 proposals, then forward a "short list" of half-a-dozen to the energy department. The federal agency will select a state next summer, with a lot of imput from the White House and Congress.

"Let's assume we make the short list and we don't have a united delegation. That could be a negative, no question about it," Bush told the Democrat.

Congressman Bennett says he is undecided whether Congress should authorize the atom smasher, even though the project would mean millions of dollars and thousands of Jobs for his district if Florida wins the competition. He has asked the energy department to justify what would be an awesome investment of federal financial resources.

"I don't envision my job as one just to bring In money for the community," Bennett says. 'You have to have a valid project because you have too many other things...like the welfare of the poor, like an adequate national defense...that take priority. MacKay sits on both the Science, Space and Technology Committee, which endorsed the super collider earlier, and the Budget Committee.

"I'm catching some heat because I have not been willing to put aside my objections in order to help Florida grab the golden ring."

"I'm not opposed to having a super collider, but I am opposed to getting it committed until we have discussed the kind of impact it is going to have on the rest of America's civilian

Baptist Convention dorsement of Bork's decried the Baptist acsaid Tuesday the endorsement of Supreme Court nominee Robert Bork by the denomination's fundamentalist-controlled Public Affairs Committee violates the convention's bylaws.

Porter Routh, who served from 1951 to 1979 as the top paid executive of the nation's largest Protestant denomination longer than any other head of the Southern Baptist Convention's executive committee also said the action breaks Baptist precedent of not endorsing political figures.

Routh, in a letter to editors of state Baptist newspapers, said he was "shocked" to learn of the Aug. 21 action by the Public Affairs Committee, which controls Southern Baptist contributions nomination confirms warnings by denomination moderates that the decade-old struggle by fundamentalists to win control of the convention machinery had political as well as theological ends.

The endorsement came on a 7-5 vote after the committee was reorganized at the SBC's June meeting and fundamentalists gained control.

On Sept. 15, the Senate Judiciary Committee is to open confirmation hearings on Bork

The Baptist committee's action has also prompted other religious groups, usually neutral on such issues, to break with their histories and oppose the flercely contested Bork nomination.
