New flights link Sanford to Atlanta and D.C.

Vacation Express plans to bring 350,000 additional passengers through OSI

By Dan Ping
Editor

SANFORD — More than three months after the Sept. 11 terrorists attacks put the major players in the airline industry in an economic tailspin, officials at Orlando-Sanford International Airport continue to add flight service for Central Florida travelers.

On Friday, city and county dignitaries joined OSI President Larry Dale in welcoming executives and passengers from Vacation Express to Sanford.

"This is a big deal for the airport and for Sanford," Dale said. "Vacation Express is going to bring 350,000 more passengers to this area."

Sanford will serve as Vacation Express's hub and will connect six domestic cities with five Caribbean destinations. Flights will operate Friday, Saturday and Monday originating in the morning from Atlanta, Charlotte, Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville and Washington, D.C. These flights will arrive in Sanford midmorning to unload and load passengers and allow other passengers to connect. The jets will depart for Aruba; Cancun; Liberia, Costa Rica; Jamaica; and Punta Cana, Dominican Republic. After receiving service in their Caribbean destinations, the jets will return to Sanford in the early evening to unload and load pas-

Coming off a superior season in which Oviedo finished as the state runner-up in Class 6A, the Seminole Athletic Conference last week had eight of its members make the Class 5A and 6A All-State Girls Volleyball Teams as selected by the FSWA (Florida Sports Writers Association). The Lions, who went 28-8 this season, dominated the picks, with four players being named to the top four Class 6A teams.

Group raises $14,000 to help families at Christmas

By Michelle Jeria
Managing Editor

CASSELBERRY — Members of a local Veterans organization are doing everything they can to make sure more than 60 Seminole families have a merry Christmas.

The Casselberry Veterans Inc., and Ladies Auxiliary raised more than $14,000 to buy gifts, clothing and food for 67 local families, said Don Coleman, junior vice president of Casselberry Veterans Inc. During the weeks before Christmas, volunteers spent numerous hours buying and wrapping hundreds of presents for more than 170 children.

"We do this because we want to help our community," Coleman said. "We want every child to have toys and clothes for Christmas."

As the organization's biggest charity event, fund-raising for the annual Needy Family Christmas Basket effort began in January. The main source of revenue for the fund was the club's weekly Wednesday dinner, with raffles and other money-raising events supplementing the venture. Casselberry Veterans Inc., which boasts a membership of more than 600 men and women, initiated the Christmas basket project in 1997 by helping about 10 families with their holiday needs. Five years later, the club sextupled the number of people helped by the project and raised more money than expected. As a result of this year's successful fund-raising, each family will receive a gift basket with food, clothing, non-perishables and numerous presents for each child, Casselberry Veterans Inc. President Dick Moriarty said. The gifts reflect the child's age and Christmas wish.

"The kids were asked what their likes and dislikes are, and they pretty much got what they wanted," Moriarty said.

Families are selected to participate in the program through recommendations from local schools, case workers from various social service organizations and Casselberry Veterans Inc., members.

State lifts West Nile alert in 53 counties

By Christopher Patton
Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Florida Department of Health announced Wednesday that it will lift the West Nile Virus and Eastern Equine Encephalitis medical alert that covers 53 counties — including Seminole — at the end of the year.

"In general, all the sentinels [chickens] we've been doing have shown a downward trend in mosquito activity," said Dr. Lisa Conti of the state health department.

Although the medical alert will be lifted, state officials are still advising care in rural areas of high mosquito counts. These added precautions are due to the fact that 2001 was the first year for the West Nile Virus in the state, and officials are unsure if the virus will completely subside before next year's mosquito season.

"We're just not sure what to expect of the West Nile Virus," Conti said.

She urges all residents to wear mosquito repellent if they know mosquitoes are still active in their area. A total of 11 West Nile human cases and three Eastern equine cases were

Longwood debates barring vinyl siding

By Christopher Patton
Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Longwood city commissioners Monday night approved one ordinance and sent another one back to the drawing board.

Commissioners unanimously approved an ordinance that establishes a city manual of design standards for streets, stormwater systems and subdivisions. The 14-chapter 100-page ordinance will act as a city public works manual to ensure consistency in development of public right-of-ways.

A second ordinance came under scrutiny from several commissioners including Steve Miller. If approved the ordinance would have regulated appearance requirements for single-family residential structures in more than 30 city subdivisions.

The ordinance was drafted several weeks ago in reference to a manufactured home being built in the Longwood Green neighborhood.

"It looks like a storage shed — you can't miss it," said Commissioner Butch Bundy. "The residents are extremely irate about it."

According to Bundy, the cities of Maitland and Casselberry have similar ordinances restricting subdivisions. "I question the necessity of the whole ordinance," said Mayor Paul Lovstrand.

Bundy assured commissioners that several homeowners associations were "very much in favor" of the ordinance. Subdivisions without an architectural review board were particularly in favor of it, he said.

Miller debated the strict nature of the ordinance that would of disbarred vinyl siding and flat roofs in the established subdivisions.

"It looks like an attempt to disallow mobile homes from someone's subdivision, but it goes way beyond that," Miller said. "The whole thing is ridiculous in my eyes — subdivisions should have the right to govern themselves."

The agenda item failed with a 3 to 2 vote with Bundy and Commissioner John Maingot voting in favor of it. However, commissioners agreed to hear the ordinance again after some of the more strict items were removed.

Miami thieves caught after gunpoint robbery

From Staff Reports

Seminole and Orange County deputies captured three suspects Friday morning, who are accused of a late night hold-up at the Publix grocery store at Howell Branch Road and State Road 426 in Seminole County.

The suspects, Macius Webster, 20, Harold Vixamar, 21, and William Jackson, 21, allegedly held up the manager and two employees of the Publix as they were locking up the store for the night. It happened around 11:15 p.m. Thursday. The suspects reside in Miami, but may have been staying in the Pine Hills area.

The victims said that three to four black male suspects, wearing Halloween masks, forced them back into the store at gunpoint. The employees stated they were forced to give up their wallets while the manager was forced at gunpoint to turn off the store alarm and then go into the cash room.

Once inside, he was then ordered to open the safe and empty the safe's contents into a garbage can. He further stated that he was also forced to turn over his wallet. He was then pistol-whipped by one of the subjects and told not to dial 911. He called 9-1-1 when the suspects left.

A witness, who was working at a pizza parlor nearby, stated that she noticed a suspicious car, with no license tag, stop in front of her business. She later saw the vehicle pull down to the entrance of the Publix. The witness then observed three sub-

Candlewood Hotel Co. will build facility in Lake Mary

By Michelle Jeria
Managing Editor

LAKE MARY — Visitors to the city may have another choice in the near future when it comes to deciding where to stay for the night.

City Commission unanimously approved Thursday a request by The Generation Companies for the conditional use of property along Greenwood Boulevard to build a 122-suite hotel. If and when it is constructed, the hotel will be the fifth Candlewood Suites in Florida.

Before approving the ordinance, Commissioner Gary Brender voiced concerns about the hotel's proximity to Interstate 4 and the landscaping along the right-of-way. He said there are some problems with weeds and vegetation in the area adjacent to the road.

"Businesses like the exposure on I-4," said Henry Antes, who attended the meeting on behalf of The Generation Companies. He added the company would probably plant trees behind the hotel to give guests more privacy and there shouldn't be a problem with the landscaping or distance from I-4.

Candlewood Hotel Co. owns, operates and franchises Candlewood Suites; and operates and franchises Cambridge Suites. Both concepts serve travelers on short- or long-term stays.

Chairman and Chief

Executive Officer Jack DeBoer founded Candlewood Suites in 1995 and is the creator of the extended stay concept. There are currently more than 90 Candlewood Suites throughout the nation, including one location in Altamonte Springs, with more under construction.

Commission also approved on first reading Thursday the rezoning of property at the corner of Lakeview Avenue and 4th Street, from R-1A to C-1. The applicant, Shaw Construction & Management Services Inc., indicated there are plans to build a dance studio at the site.

Terry Shaw said his company will own the building, but the studio will be operated by Georgio Fagan. The facility will be similar to Georgio's American Dance Centre, located in the Shoppes at Lake Mary.

Education

In 1998, Florida voters approved a constitutional amendment that mandated a new public education governance system to be led by an appointed, rather than elected, State Board of Education and Commissioner of Education. During this year's legislative session, a bill was passed that addresses the changes that were mandated by the constitutional amendment, giving Florida students more streamlined access to public and private education, from kindergarten through graduate school. This is a historic piece of legislation that will, hopefully, result in a better education system for all of Florida's students.

Meeting Notices

Senator Constantine has held a series of town hall meetings in conjunction with local members of the Florida House of Representatives over the past several months. He enjoyed meeting many constituents and discussing your ideas in person. Below is a list of meeting dates.

Rep. David Meador	November 13	Seminole Community College
Rep. Tom Feeney	November 20	Winter Springs City Commission Chambers
Rep. Jim Kallinger	December 10	Aloma Elementary

If you would like information regarding future meetings or any state government matter, please call my office at 407-331-9675.

Legislative Review

In his first Session in the Florida Senate, Sen. Constantine filed legislation on a variety of topics, including public safety, the environment and consumer protection. Below is a partial list highlighting some of the legislation Lee sponsored.

is essential to the environmental health and quality of life in our state. This year legislation passed to expedite state permitting of restoration projects by eliminating time consuming redundancies in the process. In addition, the state appropriated $100 million as called for in the Everglades Restudy passed in 2000.

Payday Transactions...

are often the only legal option available to our citizens who do not qualify for bank loans. In order to protect these consumers from rollovers and high interest rates that have locked many Floridians into a worsening spiral of debt, reasonable regulations have been established to cap the interest rates, maximum value and number of these transactions. Additionally, credit counseling is being made available to people that can not repay their debt to help them gain control of their financial lives.

Helping the Homeless...

has been a priority for our communities for some time. This legislation provides for a coordinated statewide effort to address the problem. The bill establishes annual grants for housing projects for the homeless and other assistance programs. It also makes it easier for homeless children to register in public schools, improving their access to education and, hopefully, ending the cycle of destitution.

Growth Management...

is a complicated balancing act between the interests of economic development, the environment, local and state governments and, most importantly, the rights of individual property owners and the public interest. Though this bill passed only in the Senate, vigorous debate brought the key issues into the open and much was accomplished. Growth and the challenges it brings will not go away and growth management will be addressed at the state level again next year.

The Florida Building Code...

will take effect early in 2002. The nation's first statewide code brings to fruition decades of work, including the last four years in the Legislature, to provide Floridians with safe and affordable construction, particularly in our vulnerable coastal areas.

2001-2002 General Appropriations Act

($ in billions)

Your Money

Again this year, the legislature was able to address the state's critical needs, particularly education and human services. The following are some of this year's budget highlights:

Statewide...

- $373 million increase in public school funding
- $152 million for incentive programs to recruit and retain teachers in Florida classrooms
- $116.5 million increase in services to the elderly
- $60 million to increase staffing and improve training in nursing homes
- $12 million per year for two years to improve Florida's election system, making it an example for the entire nation

Locally...

- $11.9 million for projects in the Middle St. Johns River Basin (Wekiva River, Lake Monroe, Lake Jesup, etc...)
- $3 million for I-4 High Technology Corridor (UCF & USF)
- $2.5 million to extend Western Beltway

Share Your Opinion

Due to reapportionment, the 2002 Session will begin in January rather than March. As a result, I am already beginning to prepare and would like you to consider a few key issues now. Please take a moment to respond to the questions below and return them to my office by mail or fax.

OPINION

'Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus'

From The People's Almanac, pp. 1358-9.

Francis P. Church's editorial, "Yes Virginia, There is a Santa Claus" was an immediate sensation, and became one of the most famous editorials ever written. It first appeared in the The New York Sun in 1897, more than a hundred years ago, and was reprinted annually until 1949 when the paper went out of business.

Thirty-six years after her letter was printed, Virginia O'Hanlon recalled the events that prompted her letter:

"Quite naturally I believed in Santa Claus, for he had never disappointed me. But when less fortunate little boys and girls said there wasn't any Santa Claus, I was filled with doubts. I asked my father, and he was a little evasive on the subject.

"It was a habit in our family that whenever any doubts came up as to how to pronounce a word or some question of historical fact was in doubt, we wrote to the Question and Answer column in The Sun. Father would always say, 'If you see it in the The Sun, it's so,' and that settled the matter.

"Well, I'm just going to write The Sun and find out the real truth," I said to father.

"He said, 'Go ahead, Virginia. I'm sure The Sun will give you the right answer, as it always does.'"

And so Virginia sat down and wrote her parents' favorite newspaper.

Her letter found its way into the hands of a veteran editor, Francis P. Church. Son of a Baptist minister, Church had covered the Civil War for The New York Times and had worked on the The New York Sun for 20 years, more recently as an anonymous editorial writer. Church, a sardonic man, had for his personal motto, "Endeavour to clear your mind of cant." When controversial subjects had to be tackled on the editorial page, especially those dealing with theology, the assignments were usually given to Church.

Now, he had in his hands a little girl's letter on a most controversial matter, and he was burdened with the responsibility of answering it.

"Is there a Santa Claus?" the childish scrawl in the letter asked. At once, Church knew that there was no avoiding the question. He must answer, and he must answer truthfully. And so he turned to his desk, and he began his reply which was to become one of the most memorable editorials in newspaper history.

Church married shortly after the editorial appeared. He died in April, 1906, leaving no children.

Virginia O'Hanlon went on to graduate from Hunter College with a Bachelor of Arts degree at age 21. The following year she received her Master's from Columbia, and in 1912 she began teaching in the New York City school system, later becoming a principal. After 47 years, she retired as an educator. Throughout her life she received a steady stream of mail about her Santa Claus letter, and to each reply she attached an attractive printed copy of the Church editorial. Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas died on May 13, 1971, at the age of 81, in a nursing home in Valatie, N.Y.

The following is The Sun's editorial responding to Virginia's letter:

We take pleasure in answering thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The Sun:

I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, "If you see it in The Sun, it's so." Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?

Virginia O'Hanlon

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a sceptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus.

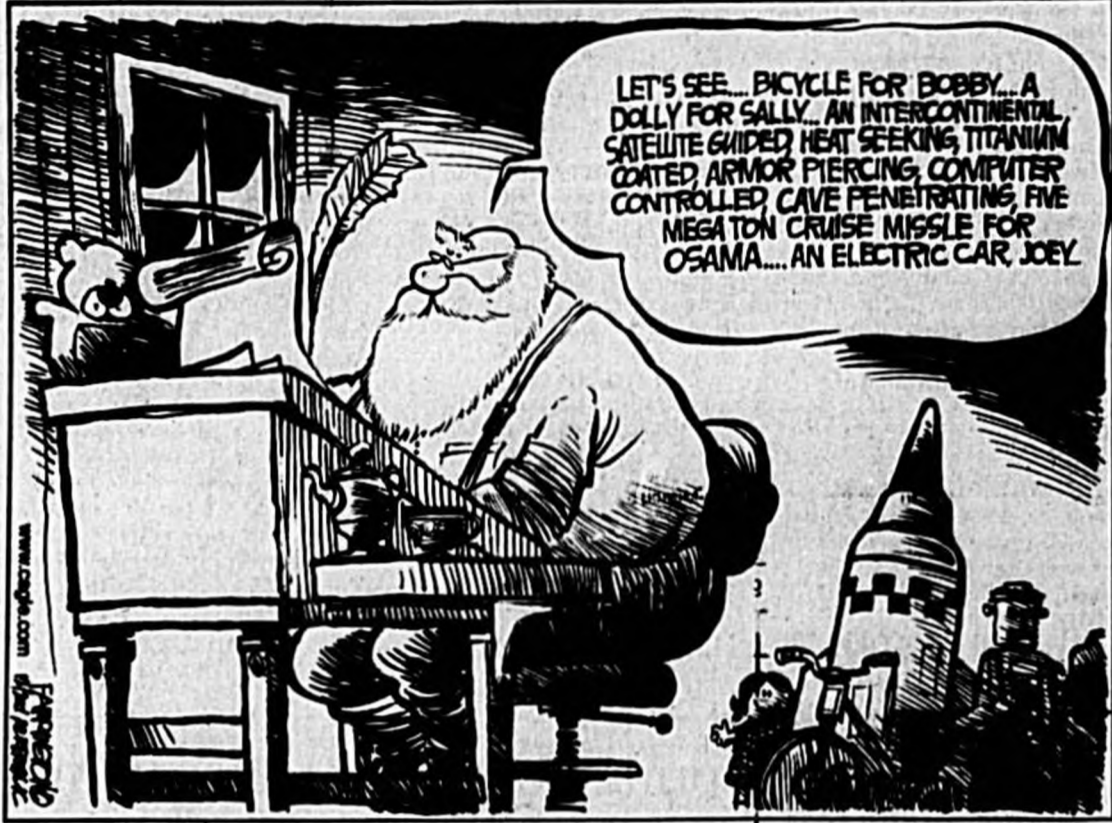

He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The external light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies. You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if you did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived could tear apart. Only faith, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus? Thank God he lives and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay 10 times 10,000 years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!!!

The Indian scenario: From bad to worse

The harder part of the American war against terrorism began last week as Taliban and al-Qaida fighters in large numbers began to cross from Afghanistan into Pakistan along ancient smugglers' trails through the mountains that divide the countries. And then, in a plan from hell, a Pakistani suicide squad attacked the Indian Parliament meeting in New Delhi.

Richard Reeves

These are terrifying developments for anyone who knows that part of the world. We're not in Afghanistan anymore, a country only by courtesy of mapmakers, which functions in many of its places as if the Middle Ages had never ended. India and Pakistan, enemies since they were laid out by fleeing British mapmakers in 1947, are countries of a different order; blessed and cursed by many of the tools of modernity, from pharmaceuticals and air conditioning to modern armies with jet fighters and nuclear missiles.

At the end of October, I wrote of the "Indian Scenario," describing it this way:

"If United States and British forces accomplish their goal of driving the Taliban from power in Afghanistan, defeated Taliban (and al-Qaida) fighters will flee to the only place they can go, Pakistan. The military government of President Pervez Musharraf could soon itself be fighting off a resurgent fundamentalist movement in the streets and in the countryside. ... The United States, concerned about Pakistan's stability — and its nuclear weapons — talks about moving in to secure nuclear sites. But India may not bother to talk, preferring to just do it. Indian troops might parachute into Pakistan, taking those nuclear storage and missile areas. At the same time, the Indians could move up and across the Pakistan border in the Punjab and Kashmir ..."

Friends in Pakistan quoted 50-50 odds on that scenario two months ago. Those odds are worse now. The next bet will be whether Pakistan itself survives — and how many people would die in its bloody breakup. Hundreds of thousands died in 1970 and 1971, when what was then called East Pakistan produced an independence movement and was invaded and brutally occupied by the Pakistani army, which was based in West Pakistan. Then the occupiers were defeated and captured by the Indian army, creating the new country now called Bangladesh. West Pakistan retreated into what we now call Pakistan.

If there are Indian attacks now into the west, it is likely that the Pashtuns we have come to know would attack across the Khyber Pass into Pakistan's North West Frontier Province, a land of Shia Muslims who speak a dialect of Farsi, the Persian language.

This is close and complicated. It depends on at least four factors: (1) How patient can the Indians be, particularly with nuclear missiles pointed their way? (2) Will the Indians trust the guarantees of the Americans who have been (irrationally) pro-Pakistan most of these 50 years? (3) Can the Pakistani army control the 5,000 or so Pakistani, Afghan and Arab Muslim terrorists in the divided and disputed territory of Kashmir? (4) Is there a chance that the Pakistan military will divide into pro-Taliban and anti-Taliban factions?

If war comes to the subcontinent, the Indians will win, as the United States would be able to defeat Canada or Mexico on our continent. India spends only 2 percent of its gross domestic product of $469 billion on the military, but that fuels an active military force of more than 1.1 million men. Pakistan spends 5 percent of GDP on defense, but with a GDP of $61 billion, it has only 400,000 men under arms.

The news of the day is about American (or British) military forces moving into Somalia or Iraq in an extended war on terrorism.

But those countries will be a sideshow if the war in Afghanistan becomes an aggravating factor in rising tensions between Pakistan and India. Working out a peaceful settlement — not an easy thing — should be on the Americans', the alliance's or the world's next agenda.

Cream of college crop rich in scholarship and service

In pre-Sept. 11 America, news stories and academic studies were often given over to dire predictions about the current generation of American youth. They were seen as spoiled slackers ruined by affluence and corrupted by a culture of sex, violence and drugs.

But a post-Sept. 11 culture has forced us to acknowledge that many young Americans are committed and courageous, notably those in the U.S. military. And there are many others — aspiring teachers, doctors and physicists, would-be lawyers, diplomats and geneticists. I know, because for four years I have had the privilege of being a member of the committee that judges the Georgia applicants for the Rhodes scholarship.

The Rhodes, which pays for study at England's Oxford University, may be the most prestigious academic scholarship in the Western world, and the standards for recipients are very high. The candidates — vetted first by their colleges or universities — are not only academically outstanding but they are also committed campus and community leaders.

Cynthia Tucker

Any doubts you may hold about the future of America would be readily dissipated if you spent a little time with these outstanding young adults. You might also acquire a new respect for public education. While many of the candidates hail from prestigious private academies and colleges, several were also products of public high schools and universities.

That includes Robert J. Smith, 22, of the U.S. Military Academy, a graduate of Decatur (Ga.) High School. Deputy brigade commander of West Point's Corps of Cadets, Smith has already spent a summer in tank training in Uzbekistan, which shares a border with Afghanistan. Before he goes off to Oxford to study economics, he will attend Army Ranger school at Fort Benning. The U.S. Army can only benefit from Smith's leadership.

Another public school graduate is William Roper, who attended Morgan County High School in Madison, Ga., about 50 miles east of Atlanta. Roper, who will graduate from Georgia Tech with a master's degree in physics in May, is already working on a Department of Defense contract involving radar. Somehow, he also found time to sing the lead in Handel's "Messiah" for Tech's college choir. He plans to study math at Oxford and hopes eventually to teach college physics.

The most difficult part of spending a day in early December with a group of highly accomplished young Americans was choosing the two finalists, Smith and Roper. Set up like other state committees, the Georgia committee interviewed college students with a Georgia connection; they have usually gone through either a Georgia high school or college. We interviewed students from not only the University of Georgia, Agnes Scott, Emory and Morehouse, but also from Harvard, Yale and Johns Hopkins, among others.

While the winners were spectacular students, those who were not chosen were also a stellar group — scholarly and ambitious but also well-rounded. Many had traveled abroad on academic projects. While carrying daunting academic loads, they also found time to enjoy hobbies. Several had performed onstage, singing and dancing. One had a double-major in political science and clarinet performance.

They also had accumulated countless hours of public service. They had volunteered in emergency rooms, nursing homes and hospices while also serving as campus leaders. A number of them had served as tutors in public schools in poor neighborhoods, where they shared the blessings of educational bounty with children much less fortunate.

While there may be tough times ahead for this country, these young adults seemed poised to meet any challenge. They proved the perfect tonic for my post-Sept. 11 blues.

The Way We Were: History of local DAR

Sallie Harrison Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution are indebted to Elisabeth Boyd for researching and writing in 1989-90 a history of the chapter's first 12 years. She also included the chapter's placing of several historical markers through 1946.

Grace Marie Stinecpher

Her sources included chapter minutes, newspaper clippings from old scrapbooks an annual reports made by chapter regents. She states that she also received help and inspiration from Virginia Powell, Tommy Peterson, the American Legion Commander, a clerk in the county land records office, Lorraine Whiting from the Museum of Seminole County History and Alicia Clarke, curator of the Sanford Museum. She mentions, too, that a previous history had been written by members Carolyn True and Cathy Wiley.

I have edited her excellent history for publication; it will appear in three installments.

The history of Sallie Harrison Chapter DAR offers a fascinating story of energetic and ambitious women who joined together in 1918 to promote the work of the National Society.

The Chapter was organized by Mrs. Elizabeth Harris Starling, formerly of Jacksonville and a member of the Katherine Livingston Chapter there. Mr. and Mrs. Starling; their daughter, Clarissa; and Mary Jones Starling, Mr. Starling's mother, moved to Sanford in 1904. Mrs. Starling was the grandmother of the late Tommy Peterson of Sanford.

In May 1918, an organizational meeting was held and an item in the Sanford Herald stated that the papers for 15 members had been passed upon by the Registrar General. The organizing regent, Mrs. Starling, invited "any woman having the right and privilege of filling out a membership back to do so."

The DAR chapter was named for Sallie Harrison, the sister of Mrs. Starling's father, Gideon

Harrison. Gideon and Sallie were the children of Revolutionary War veteran Edward Harrison.

The first official meeting of the chapter was held at the home of Mrs. Starling on Magnolia Avenue. In addition to the charter members present, guests were Mrs. Gilkes, state regent, and Mrs. Robert W. Simms of Jacksonville, sister of Mrs. Starling.

At this first meeting, Mrs. Simms presented a $100 Liberty Bond to the new chapter. Over the next several years, Mrs. Simms became Sallie Harrison Chapter's "Angel." Whenever their financial situation became desperate, Mrs. Simms would send a donation.

The next regular meeting was held at the home of Mrs. George Bishop. At this meeting, Mrs. Starling presented the Chapter Charter to the treasurer, Mrs. Forrest Lake. This charter now hangs in the DAR Room of the Museum of Seminole County History.

This new chapter wasted no time in getting involved in the work of the Society. During the years 1918-20, War relief was the most pressing issue. At a meeting at the home of Mrs. George Chamberlin on Beardall Avenue, Mrs. Lake was authorized to collect $1.50 per person; $1 went to the third Liberty Loan (a state project) and .50 cents for the Tillolay Fund. Tillolay was a village in France destroyed during the war. Its restoration was a National DAR project. The state society was to build a home for the mayor of Tillolay. At the end of the drive, the entire town, including the water system, was rebuilt and the homes furnished.

Each member of the chapter also pledged to make at least one garment for Belgian Relief. In all 53 garments were made.

In the annual report given at the state convention in April 1919, the Regent reported on the work of the Aspirin Fund Committee. Under its chairman, Brenda DeVere Morrison, contributions totaling $220.93 were collected and used to purchase 49,300 aspirin tablets. These were sent to seven hospitals in England and France. A note received from the King George Hospitals in London expressed gratitude from the staff, stating that they had been without aspirin for the wounded veterans for nearly a year.

The involvement of Sallie Harrison chapter in the community also began immediately. In 1919, the ladies had the Flag Code printed and copies were placed in each school. They had the Code printed in the Sanford Herald and urged that copies be preserved in each home. The following year, copies of the Constitution were placed in all public schools and all public places. Copies were also given to the Swedish Settlement in Upsala. The latter was in response to a National Project urging work among the foreign born.

From its earliest years to the present, Sallie Harrison has awarded students for good work in American History and for excellent essays on patriotic subjects. In 1922, the chairman of the Conservation and Thrift Committee, Mrs. George Herrins, presented small individual banks to the public school teachers to give to their students.

Picture Identification

In the 1951 SHS Football team photograph published Sept. 23, Frankie Stenstrom has been identified by several people as the person between Jim Brodie and Stanley Oglesby on the front row.

I received help from four people identifying the unknowns in the photograph of the Men's Bible Class of First Methodist published Nov. 7. These callers were Sonny Raborn, Faye Williams Carson, Camilla Lundquist Meyers and Jack Benton.

In the front row, Ernest Brotherson is to the right of Woodrow Cash and Nolley Trawick is on the right end.

In the second row, John Crawford and John Fuller are the two people to the left of Dr. Rucker.

In the very back row, Elmer F. Lundquist is on the left end next to the post. The white-haired man in glasses behind Robert Rumbley is Julian Varn; to the right of him are B.H. Whitner and John Carver. There are still six people unidentified, so look at the picture again and call me at 407-322-4381.

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Graduate is proud to announce she's earned a degree

DEAR ABBY: After many years of part-time college classes squeezed in between working and parenting our children, finally at age 42, I have earned my bachelor's degree. I skipped the traditional graduation activities, such as the commencement exercise, but I did order announcements to send to close friends and relatives. My husband said I shouldn't send announcements. He views them as bids for gifts, which he thinks are for 20-somethings just starting out in adult life. Abby, I mailed the

Dear Abby

..... announcements anyway. Some people did respond with gifts, none of which were inappropriate or overly expensive. Others brought bottles of wine to our party to celebrate my accomplishment. However, I would still like to know if announcements for mature graduates are in poor taste.

PROUD "OLDER" GRADUATE

DEAR GRADUATE: Announcements of accomplishments such as obtaining one's degree are not in poor taste. It's never too late to celebrate becoming the person you want to be. Just because it took you longer to get your degree than those who were fortunate enough to study full-time, no one should minimize your hard work.

Congratulations on your tenacity and your degree. You are a role model for your children and other adults.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old high school student. Until I was 13, I did some modeling and my mother entered me in beauty pageants. I constantly worried about my appearance and considered myself ugly if I didn't win. At 13, I began what my mother called "the ugly years."

At my last pageant, the judge told me I was gaining some "chub" and needed to lose weight. After that, I became bulimic for a year. Fortunately, I realized what I was doing to myself and stopped binge and purging.

During the four years I have not competed in pageants, I've become happier and more self-confident. My mother recently told me that now that I'm through the "ugly" stage, it is time to begin modeling again.

Abby, I don't think I can do it. I never told my mother about my bulimia, and she refuses to listen to my reasons for not wanting to model. I don't want her to know about this disorder, especially since I am over it. What should I do?

NO NEED TO SHOW OFF

DEAR NO NEED: Tell your mother exactly what her ambition cost you the first time around. It's time she stopped projecting her own ambitions on you. At 17, you are nearly an adult. Under no circumstances should you allow yourself to be pushed into a career that's potentially so damaging to your physical and emotional health.

DEAR ABBY: My brother-in-law's father recently passed away. We had met him several times, but were unable to travel to the funeral services.

My husband and I want to share our sympathies with the family, but we don't know to whom we should send our condolences — my brother-in-law, his mother or both. What is proper in this situation?

WONDERING IN WASHINGTON

DEAR WONDERING: Send an individual note of sympathy to each of them. While one letter might suffice, they are both grieving and would appreciate a personal message acknowledging their loss.

Dear Abby is written by Pauline Phillips and daughter Jeanne Phillips.

What teens need to know about sex, drugs, AIDS, and getting along with peers and parents is in "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $5 to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447.

 reported this year, with two of the Eastern equine cases ending in fatality. More than 1,000 positive tests of West Nile came from horses, chickens and various dead birds this year. New positive tests may still occur as labs are backlogged, she said.
 According to Conti, the new virus is different than other mosquito borne diseases because it tends to inflict humans more than other diseases and it doesn't appear it will subside in off years. The St. Louis Encephalitis was only recorded in a few sentinel chickens this year, said Conti. Eastern equine has recorded fewer statewide outbreaks as it tends to be confined to certain regions.
 "We generally tend to see St. Louis Encephalitis in outbreak situations every 10 years and Eastern equine is in sentinel chickens and horses typically," Conti said.
 Various species of birds also tend to be more acceptable to the new virus. The susceptibility of the wild bird population to the West Nile virus next year may determine the virus' force in the future, said John Cochrane, manager of the Seminole County Health Department.
 Cochrane said the cycle of the West Nile is between mosquitoes and birds with horses and humans being "incidental" casualties. The county health department will continue with its public education of the mosquito borne diseases and monitoring next year, said Cochrane. A conference call between county health agencies and the state department Friday will also help coordinate the "plan of attack" for next year, said Cochrane.

 The recent snap of cold weather may further help decrease mosquito activity, said Conti. She advises weather in the 40 degree range and frosty mornings will "definitely deter mosquito activity."
 Monitoring of mosquitoes will not stop during the winter months as the state department will continue to test sentinel chickens for mosquito borne diseases. Locals may also help in the tracking of the disease by reporting any dead birds via the Internet at wld.fwc.state.fl.us/bird or call 1-800-871-9703.

 sengers before continuing on to northern domestic destinations.
 Vacation Express is the South's largest tour operator. While much of the company's flight service will be geared toward vacation packages, consumers can purchase tickets to any of the destinations without buying a tour package.
 Despite industrywide declines in the number of airline passengers, Vacation Express did not delay its start date, said Rene Jongmans, president of Vacation Express.
 "Response from the travel agents has been tremendous," he said. "We have a very flexible organization, so as things change, we can respond quickly to market forces."
 The decision to locate the company's hub in Sanford was based on location and prior business dealings, Jongmans said.
 "We were already familiar with Sanford because our parent company, Air Tours, already operates here," Jongmans said. "The support we got from the people here has been tremendous. When you find a business relationship where people want to work with you and want your business, it makes the decision very easy. For us, Sanford had all the right things."

 Pace Airlines will provide six Boeing 737-300s and pilots for the Vacation Express flights. Pace provides jets to Patriot Airlines in Dallas and operates charters for about 25 percent of the teams in the National Basketball Association, including the New York Knicks and the Atlanta Hawks.
 "We see a tremendous amount of growth opportunity in this venture with Vacation Express and the Orlando Sanford Airport," said Darrell Richardson, president and CEO of Pace.
 In addition to the new flights into Sanford, OSI officials reported that passenger traffic in November was 4.5 percent higher than November 2000. Both international and domestic counts were up, with 40,378 international travelers, a 4 percent increase, and 20,691 domestic passengers, a 33.5 percent increase. The number of transit passengers was down 58 percent, with 2,980 making trips through OSI.

 "Considering the environment we are in, we would have considered ourselves lucky if we could have repeated last November's performance," Dale said. "Pan Am's new destinations and better awareness about Sanford Orlando have been the prime reasons for our growth in November. The highlight of the month was the Sunday after Thanksgiving, which Pan Am reports as the most passengers carried in a single day since their start in 1999."

 For the year, passenger numbers have increased by 22 percent over the first 11 months of last year. Already more than 1.2 million passengers have traveled through OSI this year, breaking the 1.1 million record set in 1998.

Florida Solar sees big growth in "one-stop" pest control services

Florida Solar Technology, Inc. established a "one stop" pest control division last month and has already seen big growth in sales.

Skip West, founder and president at Florida Solar said the division projected 19 sales worth about $7,000 during its first month of operation and saw more than 75 sales worth more than $30,000.

"There is significantly more demand for our 'one stop' approach than we anticipated," West said. The pest control division now has five employees and West said he expects to double that staff by next spring.

Florida Solar is best known as the world's largest and most active pool-heating contractor. The company also markets a wide range of solar and conventional hot water systems and water purification systems.

Earlier this year West initiated a new "one stop" strategic plan for the company to offer a wide range of homeowner services on a statewide basis including swimming pool maintenance and services.

Real estate company will end year with $70 million in sales

ERA Breese, Craft, Hensley & Associates Real Estate, with offices in Altamonte Springs, Winter Park and Mount Dora, should end the year with more than $70 million in residential sales. Partner and co-founder Pete Craft said negotiations are under way now to open offices in Windermere, Oviedo and Lake Mary in 2002.

The real estate services company opened in Altamonte Springs in June, 2000, and expanded to Mount Dora before the end of the year. The Winter Park office opened in August. ERA Breese, Craft, Hensley was recently named the fastest-growing ERA real estate franchise in Florida.

Craft said the firm currently has 58 associates and plans to expand to more than 100 associates next year.

Alaqua Lakes reports sales $30 million in 2001

Alaqua Lakes, Taylor Woodrow's premier golf course community near Longwood, reported sales of 62 luxury homes and home sites in 2001.

Charles Ayers, project manager at Alaqua Lakes, said sales represent a dollar volume of more than $30 million for the year.

Ayers said the average price of a home for sale now at Alaqua Lakes is more than $700,000. There are currently 54 home sites available.

Home sites at Alaqua Lakes are priced from $125,000 to $290,000, Ayers said.

Alaqua Lakes developer Taylor Woodrow Communities is part of the Taylor Woodrow group of North American companies that has been developing and building lifestyle communities and luxury homes for nearly half a century. Headquartered in Sarasota, Florida, the North American operations currently have more than 50 active projects throughout Florida, California, Texas and Ontario, Canada, and recorded revenues in excess of $833 million in 2000. The company is a wholly owned subsidiary of the London-based real estate group Taylor Woodrow plc, which was founded in 1921.

Lake Forest start work for 'The Enclave'

Lake Forest, the premier luxury community developed by NTS Corp. off S.R. 46 in north Seminole County, has started engineering and development work on The Enclave. Richard D. Bavec, vice president and general manager at Lake Forest, said work has been planned in two phases that total 60 home sites. Bavec said work on the first phase should get underway by the end of the year.

Morrison Homes will begin construction of a new model home in The Enclave at Lake Forest in March. New homes in The Enclave at Lake Forest will be priced in the $240,000 range, Bavec said.

At the same time, Bavec said Morrison Homes will begin construction of a new model and spec home at another neighborhood in Lake Forest. The model which will be located in The Village will be in the $300,000 range and the inventory home which will be built on a custom lot will be priced in the high $200s.

America's war on terrorism will mean substantial growth for Lake Mary IT company

America's war on terrorism has significantly increased demand for the country's top information technology providers and Lake Mary-based TEAM Information Services, Inc. expects one of its companies to triple in size over the next two years.

Teresa Moore, chief executive officer at Dragon Development Corporation, which serves companies that provide computer expertise to government agencies, expects to add as many as 100 computer experts by 2003. TEAM Information Services acquired Dragon earlier this year. Moore said currently Dragon employs some 35 IT specialists.

"Since January, Dragon has added 15 new IT workers," said Moore. "By the end of 2002 we expect to hire 100 computer engineers, systems analysts and software designers."

Moore said TEAM will see growth in other areas that are less directly related to the anti-terrorism effort. Last month Moore announced the formation of a new Government Solutions

Division to offer the expertise of more than 150 computer engineers, software designers and analysts in reconfiguring IT systems to meet new requirements for security and privacy.

"The large information technology systems that serve our airports, power plants, utility systems, ground transportation networks and law enforcement and health care agencies have been under review for some time," said Moore; "and many of them will have to be reconfigured."

Since Sept. 11, that work has taken on new urgency, Moore explained.

TEAM Information Services has also formed a new division to play a bigger role helping companies organize the complex, time consuming process of managing multiple vendors providing human resource capital.

"Businesses are faced with a complex network of providers today that ranges from computer programmers to office clerical personnel and services," said Moore. "Our Vendor Management Division offers companies a one-stop source that manages and coordinates all the vendors and suppliers and provides the company with a single invoice."

Moore said TEAM Chief Operating Officer Rob Ogden will oversee the Vendor Management Division.

TEAM Information Services is a 10-year old information technology and computer consulting company that is part of a network of firms that includes Vereon Technology, Inc., in Jacksonville and Dragon Development, Inc., in the Washington, D.C. area.

Kampf Title & Guaranty Corp.

"Performing Good Deeds For Over 38 Years"

Buying a home is one of the most important purchases in your lifetime. Once the deeds and mortgage documents are signed, the property is yours, so you think, but it may not be. Chances are, you are the owner, but a sure title is not having a deed in hand. A deed alone will not cancel prior "rights" others may have to your property—rights and claims you would never expect to exist.

When a title policy is issued by Kampf Title & Guaranty, you can rest assured that your property is protected by the policy subject only to its terms. If a flaw in the title is discovered, Kampf Title & Guaranty, through its underwriter, will defend the title as issued, at its own expense, and will correct or clear the title or will pay any loss incurred, up to the face value of the policy.

A low, one-time premium covers the entire cost for as long as ownership remains in your name and even thereafter. Protection of your property rests on the financial stability, professional integrity and responsible management of the title insurance company. So select your title insurance as carefully as you would any other insurance. Protect yourself against loss due to title defects. Insist on an owner's title insurance policy issued by Kampf Title & Guaranty, located in Sanford at 200 West 1st Street, in the Suntrust Bank Building. Phone (407) 322-9484 for additional information today. Merry Christmas and happy holidays to all from the employees of Kampf Title & Guaranty Corp.

Veterans

 However, families not signed up for the program are not turned away at the door.
 "We have families call in and tell us they need gifts for their children," Linda Johnson said.

"As long as we still have gifts, they are welcome to come in." Johnson, along with about 10 other women from the organization, spent hours reviewing applications and selecting gifts at local stores for the children.

None of the women would even estimate how many items were purchased in the past few weeks.

"Who knows how many we bought — hundreds," Johnson said. "There's at least three gifts for each child, if not more."

Some of the most requested items were CD players, GameBoy games, scooters and the always popular Barbie doll. Along with the toys, every child will also receive clothes collected through the organization's Angel Tree.

Gift wrapping began earlier this week, with volunteers from the community and Milwee Middle School giving the organization a helping hand. By Thursday, most of the gifts were wrapped, and people were already coming in to pick up the gifts and food.

"Each basket is so large, it almost takes a pick-up truck to take away all of the items for each family," Junior Vice President Coleman said.

After Tuesday, the organization will start planning for next year's fund-raising and holiday project.

"As an independent, one of a kind veterans organization, it is very gratifying to be able to help the less fortunate in our community," Coleman said. "Our corporate constitution and by-laws call for us to help all we can, and we are proud to do so."

Herald photos by Tommy Vincent

Two judges for the Sanford Christmas Parade, Iona Brown and Melanie Winterheimer, left, present a trophy to Mary Lehmann of Airport Lanes, which won 1st Place in the float division. Also pictured are Christy Bremer and 6-year-old Mackenzie Mannerberg, both of Girl Scout Troop #2123, which won 2nd Place; and Joe Henley and his son, Ahtam, 3, representing Calvary Temple of Praise, which won 3rd Place.

Winners in the 2001 Sanford Christmas parade

1st Place float: Airport Lanes led by Mary Lehmann

This float was an ingenious, three-piece work of excellence. There were actually three different trailers joined to form one 60 foot float. The scene was a series of hilly snow banks. There were reindeer pulling Santa's helpers in a sleigh. Santa's costumed elves walked alongside guiding the float.

One section represented the bowling alley by showing a bowling ball rolling up the alley to knock down the pins which were, of course, all Santa dolls. The ball was actually moved on a string mechanism actuated by children hiding under the hill structure. Assorted toys, Christmas trim and a Christmas tree added to the panorama. An interesting tidbit - to make certain the driver of this self-propelled float could navigate the turns in the parade route, the producers actually brought the float downtown in the middle of the night to test it out before completing their decorating task.

2nd Place float: The Whispering Winds Girl Scouts Troop #2123, led by Christy Bremer

Santa's sleigh, a large robust snowman, toy soldiers, candy canes, Christmas candles and more spread Christmas cheer in a light-hearted, fun loving mood. Red, gold, green, and silver were the flavor of the trim. Children and presents rode along, sang, and made merry.

3rd Place float: The Calvary Temple of Praise, led by Joe Henley

This float recalled the birth of Christ ("A King is Born") and presented the Christ child lying in a life-size, three dimensional manger embraced by angels trumpeting to his glory. The float was trimmed in white, purple and gold. The sides were constructed at a 45 degree angle and trimmed with petal paper and fringe to make the float appear as if were, indeed, floating down the street.

Honorable Mention: The Sanford Church of God, led by Yolanda Tanksley
The Church of God celebrated the "Gift of Liberty" by presenting a patriotic float trimmed in r/w/b with flags, balloons, and fringe. A replica of the Statue of Liberty was escorted by firemen. Children on board waved small flags. This float was not considered for 1st, 2nd, or 3rd place because it was not in concert with the parade theme. It was awarded an Honorable Mention because of its outstanding presentation.

Honorable Mention: Soap Box Derby float, led by Judith Robison

This float did not represent the parade theme so it was not judged for place. Its execution was clever and Christmas colorful. The soap box car was presented coming down a hill driven by the Grinch who might have stolen it for an unknowing child's Christmas present.

1st Place band: Lake Mary High School, led by Terry Pattischal

This group looked smart, performed with precise drill team excellence and played well. Their professional, crisp, and regimented demeanor was evident even during the preliminary stages while they were waiting for the parade to start.

1st Place walking unit: Junior Girl Scouts Troop #3050, led by Barbara Cook

This unit paid tribute to the Girl Scouts' cookie sales fund raising program. The girls were presented as assorted cookie boxes, each Scout depicting a different flavor cookie. Three-dimensional cookies were attached to the fronts of the boxes. They looked pretty cute.

Special Mention: The Sanford Elks Club, Lodge #542, led by Gail Ford

This was a very pretty, lavishly decorated float worthy of a special mention because of its detail and beauty. The judges, however, were not certain what the theme was. We assume it had a special message for the makers, and celebrate their penchant for detail.

Special Tribute

The Judges extend a "Special Tribute" the Shriners. They participated in full strength to the delight of the parade spectators. The following units were present and performing: equestrian team, the little racing cars, the fun and frolic truck, the Keystone Kops, the motorcycle drill team, the performing motorbikes, antique cars and trucks, the little miniature trucks cavorting around, the Spirit of St. Louis, and even Gus, the camel, came to our parade. The Shriners made a very, special effort.

Two other organizations were recognized with honorable mention awards, the Sanford Church of God and the Soap Box Derby organization. Reardon earns SCC law enforcement award

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Jennifer Reardon, a December 2000 graduate of the Seminole Community College Law Enforcement Academy, received the Creegan/Hylton Memorial Law Enforcement Scholarship Thursday as part of the college's Criminal Justice Academy's graduation ceremonies.

The first of its kind at SCC, the Creegan/Hylton scholarship was created to honor two Orange County Sheriff's Office deputies killed in the line of duty: Deputy John Creegan and Deputy Chris Hylton. As decorated veterans of the U.S. Navy and U.S. Marine Corps, respectively, both men were dedicated law enforcement officers who displayed exceptional talents and fortitude in their duties.

To honor the deputies' contributions to their families, friends, co-workers and the citizens for which they gave their lives, the "Creegan/Hylton Law Enforcement Memorial Scholarship" was formed.

Candidates for the $1,000 Creegan/Hylton

Scholarship were required to show financial need, maintain a 2.5 GPA, complete a background investigative process and application and be enrolled in SCC's Law Enforcement Academy. In addition, students submitted 40 hours of documented community service, a written essay and three letters of recommendation.

A Criminal Justice graduate from the University of Central Florida, Reardon enrolled in SCC's Law Enforcement Academy as means to obtain her ultimate career goal of becoming a homicide detective.

"Being a homicide detective has always intrigued me," she said. "I figure you're the only voice the deceased have to try to solve their case. It seems like a lot of pressure, but it will be well worth it in the end."

"She has been a great team player and she displays calm and collective ways of problem solving," said Wesley Delliz of Recruit and First Squad Leader of Class 65. "She has never lost her bearings in any of the tasks brought before her."

Currently, Reardon serves as a deputy in the Polk County Sheriff's Office.

Parade celebrates Midway style

By Marva Hawkins
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Students from Midway Elementary School of Performing Arts recently hosted their first holiday parade, "America Celebrates Midway Style."

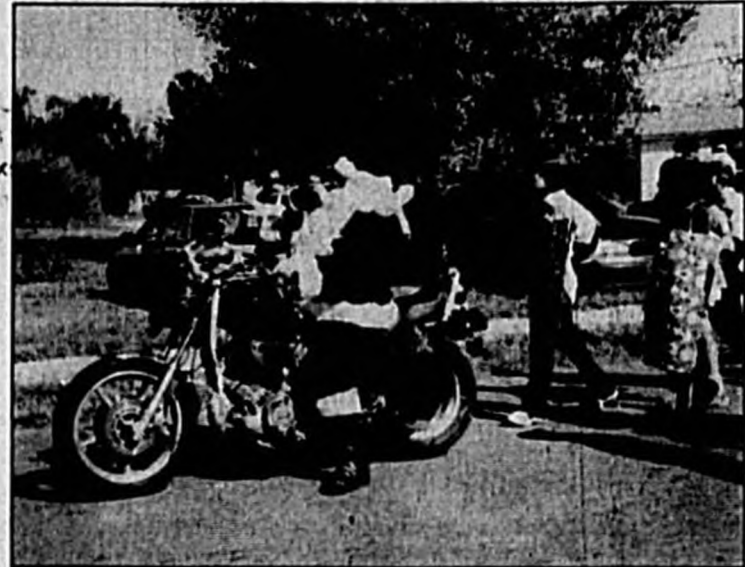

Santa came to town on a big red fire engine, and many community members shared in the festive occasion. Groups from various other schools also participated in the event.

The Santa Elves Dance team, along with Santa Students Learn To Read and the giant swamp gator led the way, as the Midway jugglers performed a colorful routine.

Midway second-graders proclaimed, "Let there be peace on Earth."

The Goldsboro Safety Patrol was on hand to keep everyone safe. The Hamilton chorus sang Christmas carols, and the Midway band celebrated America with "She's A Grand Ol' Flag," and God Bless America.

According to Midway staff, who organized the first parade commemorating the American holiday spirit, the students had

Other winners included kindergarten through first, who won best costume; second-grade won best banner; third-grade won most humorous; fourth-grade won most creative theme; and fifth-grade won best song and dance. The song was written by Zizz Robert, a fourth-grade teacher. Besides Santa on the fire engine, there were two others, including Kenneth Bevens, who traveled by bicycle, and Richard Green, who traveled by car.

A Seminole County Sheriff's deputy later made contact with the suspects' vehicle in the area of Dean Road and University Boulevard. The suspects' car crashed at State Road 50 and Alafaya Trail. One suspect was arrested immediately. A handgun was recovered and so was money.

A second suspect was arrested at a nearby apartment complex, after being tracked by Orange County's K-9. A third suspect was arrested while trying to hide at a nearby business. The fourth suspect remains at large.

Marine Corps Pfc. Charles A. McLain, son of Barbara and Daryl G. McLain, of Sanford, recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

McLain successfully completed 12 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marine recruits both physically and mentally.

McLain and fellow recruits began their training at 5 a.m. by running three miles and performing calisthenics. In addition to the physical conditioning program, McLain spent numerous hours in classroom and field assignments which included learning first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand combat and assorted weapons training. They performed close order drill and operated as a small infantry unit during field training.

McLain and other recruits also received instruction on the Marine Corps' core values — honor, courage and commitment — and what the words mean in guiding personal and professional conduct.

McLain and fellow recruits ended the training phase with The Crucible, a 54-hour team effort, problem solving evolution which culminated with an emotion ceremony in which the recruits were presented the Marine Corps Emblem, and were addressed as "Marines" for the first time since boot camp began.

McLain is a 1999 graduate of Seminole High School.

During the five-week course, Petrovich learned the basic theory, construction and operation of nuclear-powered submarines. Petrovich also learned shipboard organization, damage control, and submarine safety and escape procedures.

Petrovich participated in hands-on training with reality simulators, practicing firefighting and flood control on board a submarine. Petrovich also learned about a submarine's basic hydraulic, water and air systems, and practiced escaping from a simulated sinking submarine.

Petrovich is a 2000 graduate of Seminole High School. He joined the Navy in November 2000.

Early tournament returns mixed

By Dean Smith

LAKE MARY — With high schools winding down for the Holiday Break, athletic teams have begun what for most is a grueling two-week grind of travel and tournament play.

The Michelle Akers Soccer Classic for girls' teams kicked off on Wednesday and what is usually a good showcase for Seminole Athletic Conference schools, turned into a nightmare for most of the local entries.

The worst was at Lyman High School's Seminole County schools batting around .500 after first day of play

Carlton D. Henley Sports Complex where both the host Greyhounds and Oviedo suffered losses, Lyman being mauled by St. Augustine-Nease, 6-1, and the Lions being blanked by Seabreeze, 2-0.

At Lake Mary's Don T. Reynolds Stadium, the host and No. 4 state-ranked Rams were whitewashed by undefeated Edgewater, 2-0 and Winter Springs High School's A.W. Epps Sports Complex, Two-time defending State Champion Lake Howell was edged by Orangewood Christian, 3-2.

The only positives was the host, and No. 8 state-ranked, Bears romping past Spruce Creek, 6-0, and Lake Brantley getting past Bishop Moore, 2-1, at Tom Story Field.

In other games, No. 1 Class 4A state-ranked DeLand shutout Boca Raton, 2-0, at Lake Mary, and Winter Park ran past Clearwater-Countryside, 4-1, at Lake Brantley.

The tournament was to have continued with the second round at the same sites on Thursday, before the tournament moved for the final two days, Friday and Saturday, at Lake Mary's Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

Eight SAC players on FSWA list of elite in Volleyball

GAINESVILLE — Coming off a superior season in which Oviedo finished as the state runner-up in Class 6A, the Seminole Athletic Conference last week had eight of its members make the Class 5A and 6A All-State Girls Volleyball Teams as selected by the FSWA (Florida Sports Writers Association).

The Lions, who went 28-6 this season, dominated the picks, with four players being named to the top four Class 6A teams.

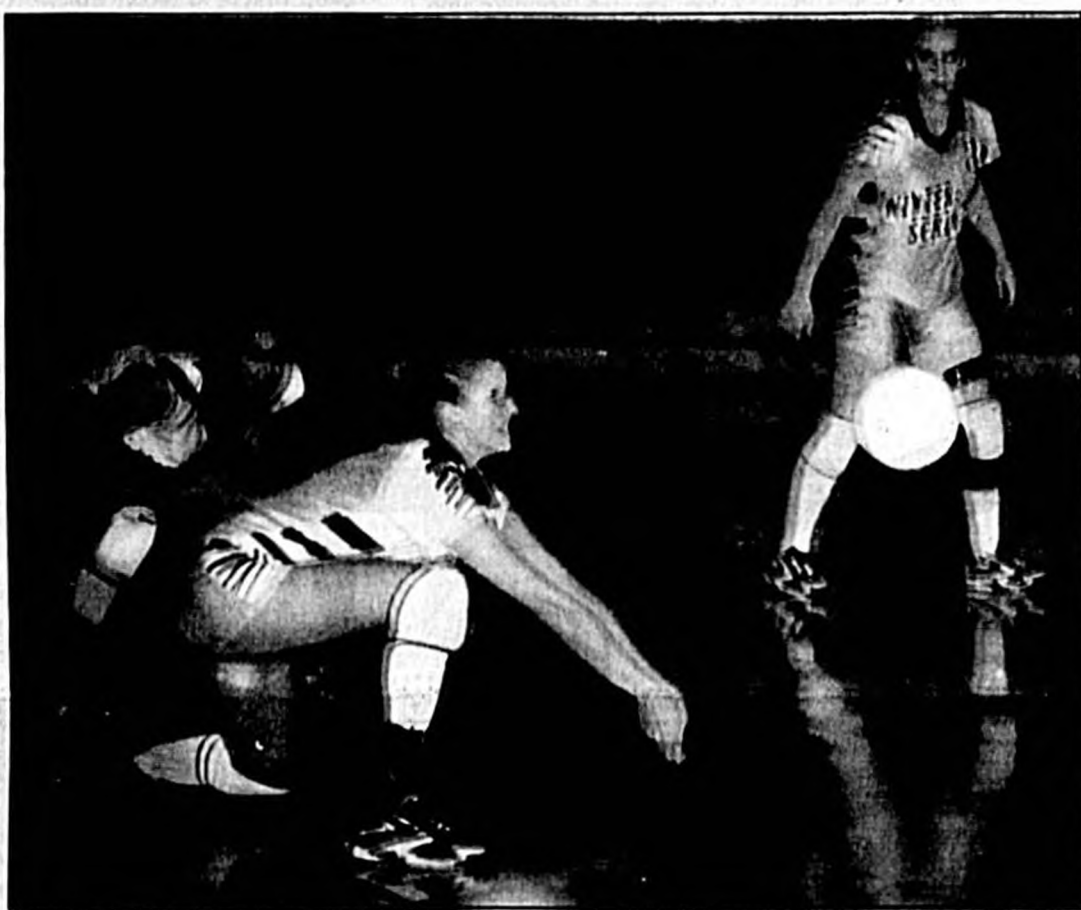

Senior outside hitter Brittany Kauss was the only player from Central Florida to make the First Team.

Kauss, who had 229 kills and 117 digs, made the First Team along with five-time defending Class 6A State Champion Boca Raton-Olympic Heights teammates Julie Caner, a senior outside hitter who was also the MVP of the State Tournament, and junior setter Kim Harper.

Olympic Heights knocked off Oviedo 15-8 and 15-5 in the State Championship Match at Disney's Wide World of Sports complex last month.

Also earning All-State honors from coach Allan Rubenstein's Oviedo squad were Second Team pick Nellie Liljenquist, a junior outside hitter, Third Team selection

Senior setter Kelsay Combes (digging up a shot, above) and senior middle blocker Tiffany Kitaoka (right) were two of three Winter Springs players to be selected to the Class 5A All-State Teams recently picked by the Florida Sports Writers Association. Comes was a Fourth Team pick, with Kitaoka making the Third Team along with junior Ally Hock. Making the Class 6A All-State Teams were Oviedo teammates senior outside hitter Brittany Kauss (First Team), junior outside hitter Nellie Liljenquist (Second Team), senior hitter Rachel Bellamy (Third Team) and senior middle blocker Jen Holsler (Fourth Team). Also making the Class 6A Third Team was Lake Mary sophomore outside hitter Angie Pressey.

Mahoney stars for Bullets in Winterfest

Special to the Herald

AUBURNDALE — Lake Mary's Caitlin Mahoney was the leading hitter as the 16-U Bullets took First Place out of 10 teams in the "A" division at the ISA (Independent Softball Association) Winterfest in Polk County this past weekend.

The Bullets, a fastpitch softball team based in Clearwater, went 5-0-1 for the tournament. They tied the Jacksonville Players 0-0 in their first game with Danielle Hofer pitching a three-hitter and striking out eight.

The squad then beat the Naples Illusion 1-0 on a one-hitter, nine strikeout performance by Bree Spence and then capped off Saturday's Round-Robin play by shutting out the Zephyrhills Blaze, 3-0.

Natalie Bale hurled a two-hitter with Mahoney, Hofer and Stephanie Seaman leading the offense.

The Bullets entered Sunday's Elimination Playoffs seeded number 1 and played the Plant City Invasion in the first game.

The Bullets erupted for nine runs in the first inning and held on to defeat the local nine, 9-6.

The semifinals found the Bullets in a rematch with the Players, and this time the Bullets came out on top by a 2-1 scored.

Hofer tossed a two-hitter, striking out seven, to put the Bullets in the Championship Game.

The finale found the Bullets matched up again with the Naples Illusion, who had beaten the powerful Clearwater Bombers in the quarterfinals.

The Illusion jumped out to a first inning lead on a two-run home run, but the Bullets responded in the bottom of the first as Hofer drove in Ashley Arcuri and Mahoney and Bale brought home Spence to give See Softball, Page 2B

SCC women finally back on home court

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

SANFORD — After spending the better part of the last month-and-a-half on the road, the Seminole Community College women's basketball team will finally make a home appearance when it hosts the SCC Holiday Classic at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center next weekend.

Since romping past Hillsborough Community College on November 14th, that Raiders have spent each of the past five weekends playing in tournaments or classics, two weekends in the Panhandle, one weekend in Port St. Joe, one weekend in Daytona, and one weekend in Ocala.

But now local fans will get to see the team up close and personal on Saturday, December 29th when the Raiders take on Black Hawk Junior College from Illinois at 6 p.m. The game will be preceded by a game between Miami-Dade Community College and Okaloosa-Walton Community College from Ft. Walton Beach at 4 p.m.

On Sunday (Dec. 30), the Classic will wrap up with Black Hawk battling Okaloosa-Walton at 1 p.m. and SCC tackling Miami-Dade at 2:30 p.m.

As always, admission is free to all home games at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center.

Raiders head coach Ken Patrick had hoped his squad had turned the corner as they had gone to the Port St. Lucie Shootout and swept to two easy victories to improve their record to 6-4.

Survey says
g crappie
e biting at
k. Monroe

Special to the Herald

TALLAHASSEE — Crappie, or speckled perch, biting at Lake Monroe is slowly heating up compared to last year, says Joe Jenkins, freshwater fisheries biologist with the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC).

Angler creel surveys show a tremendous improvement in fishing success over last year from Oct. 1 through Nov. 15. Anglers caught on average more than three crappie per hour compared to less than one fish per hour last year at the same time," Jenkins said.

While the number of hours anglers fished (known as fishing effort) was similar to last year (1,481 hours this year compared to 1,135 in 2000), this year they caught 4,916 crappie compared to 710 last year, which averages out to 3.28 fish per hour in 2001 compared to only 0.78 in 2000.

In an effort to establish the area as a quality crappie fishery, the FWC in 1998 established a 12-inch minimum size limit on black crappie in Lake Monroe. In addition, the bag limit of crappie in Lake Monroe, as well as statewide, was established at 25 fish per day. The management tactics seem to be working.

"We've measured 374 crappie at our boat ramp surveys so far this year and the average site fish that anglers kept was 12.5 inches, with the largest being 15 inches," said Jenkins.

"Those are good sized fish." In fact, a 12-inch crappie averages just under a pound so it only takes about 12 fish to equal the same 10-pound harvest that would require 25 nine-to-10-inch crappie, which average less than a half-pound each.

"Lake Monroe is one of the top crappie lakes in the state. The opportunity is there for anglers to catch a lot of fish and take home a good heavy mess to eat - and crappie make great eating," said Jenkins.

For more information on fishing in Florida, as well as information on the FWC's angler recognition programs - Big Catch and Record Fish - log onto the agency's Division of Freshwater Fisheries website at www.floridafisheries.com.

the team a 3-2 lead.

In the fifth inning Mahoney, a sophomore at Lake Mary High School, put the game away with a towering three-run home run over the left-centerfield fence.

Spence went on to pitch the complete game victory and finished with seven strikeouts as the Bullets prevailed 6-2.

Mahoney led the Bullets in hitting for the tournament with a .462 batting average and a 769 slugging percentage.

The tournament was the final one for the Bullets this year as they end their fall season with a 14-2-1 record.

They will return to the field in January to play in the ISA Winter World Series.

Basketball results have also been mixed as freshman Darryl Merthle tossed in 20 points, but his Lake Mary squad dropped a 75-64 home decision to Father Lopez on Wednesday.

But Oviedo picked right up from where it left off last year in the Great Florida Shootout in Kissimmee as the defending champion Lions ripped Miami Senior High, 68-51.

Oviedo (9-0 and ranked No. 2 in the state) had little trouble with No. 8 and previously undefeated

Miami (7-1), quickly turning an 11-4 deficit into a 42-17 lead at halftime, outscoring Miami 38-6.

Just the opposite happened to the Lake Howell girls in the first round of the Kaylee Scholarship Association Classic Basketball Tournament at Disney's Wide World of Sports complex on Thursday.

The Silver Hawks got off to a slow start, but battled back to tie the game at 13-13 late in the first period.

But the Lady Bees from Upperman High School in Tennessee got hot from the floor and went on an 18-0 run to take a 31-13 lead with 3:51 left in the second period.

The lead ballooned to 30 points, 56-26, with 2:22 left in the third period and ended as a 40-point differential, 79-39.

The Lady Bees hit 11 three-point shots in the game, five coming from Kim Blankenship, who ended with a co-game-high 19 points along with teammate Emily Christian. Amanda Austin scored nine of her 13 points on 'three's' and Kristen Hartung scored all nine of her points from behind the arc.

Sophomore Kat Luetzow paced the extremely young Lake Howell quintet with nine points, with fellow sophomore Abby Kohn tossing in eight points.

The Silver Hawks were to have played Sebring, a 53-34 loser to Honeoye Falls Lima High School from New York, on Friday and then take on either Convent of the Sacred Heart from New York or Palm Bay High School from Melbourne on Saturday.

If Lake Howell won, the game will be at 2:30 p.m. and if the Silver Hawks lost on Friday, their game would be at 12:45 p.m.

Other boys tournaments were to begin on Thursday and Friday, with Seminole going to DeLand, and Lake Howell going to Clearwater.

Lake Brantley was to have played at Lake Mary on Friday and then most of the county teams will head to Lake Mary for a tournament starting Wednesday.

Lyman is one squad that will go elsewhere, heading for the Beach Classic in Vero Beach.

But Patrick still worried if his charges could keep up the momentum against the better team.

Unfortunately for Patrick, his fears were realized when SCC traveled to Daytona Beach Community College to face the top two teams in the State Poll, Gulf Coast Community College from Panama City and Tallahassee Community College.

Taking on No. 1 state ranked, and No. 2 nationally ranked, Gulf Coast, the Raiders were humbled, falling behind 51-17 at halftime and going on to suffer a 96-56 setback.

Let fans think that SCC may be having a down year, the Commodores came back on Sunday to hand host Daytona Beach its first loss of the season, also by 40 points, 84-44.

The Raiders played better on Sunday against No. 2 state-ranked Tallahassee, but still could not muster a victory, falling behind 37-25 at intermission and losing 78-57.

Sophomore guards Charnesia Bailey and Narie Berggren led the way for SCC against Gulf Coast, Bailey pouring in a team-high 14 points and Berggren hitting four three-pointers for 12 points. Freshmen Ditte Jakobsen, a forward, and Yelena Leuchanka, a 6-foot-5 center, were also in double figures for the local quintet with 10 points each.

Leuchanka had her best individual game of the season against Tallahassee, making 10-of-19 from the floor and 13-of-17 from the free throw line for 33 points and also pulled down 10 rebounds and added two assists and two steals for good measure.

MANATEE DECAL ART CONTEST OPEN TO MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENTS

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) has announced that the 11th annual Manatee Decal Art Contest is open to all middle school-age art students who attend public, private or home schools in Florida.

Students will need to submit their artwork via their art teacher and school. Each school is allowed to send up to five entries for consideration in the contest. Middle school art teachers can request a copy of the contest rules and requirements from the FWC Bureau of Protected Species Management (BPSM) by calling (850) 922-4330, e-mailing the BPSM education section at abelle@gfc.state.fl.us or by downloading the rules from www.floridaconservation.org/p-sm. Design entries must be postmarked before Jan. 25.

Selected artwork will be used to design a manatee decal that is distributed for a $5 donation to the Save the Manatee Trust Fund. This fund supports manatee protection efforts such as manatee rescue, research, habitat protection and public education. Donations received for the 2000-2001 decal brought in over $80,000 to the trust fund.

The manatee is Florida's state marine mammal and is listed as an endangered species. Middle school students can help support protection efforts by learning about manatees and participating in this contest.

All-State

A surprising selection in Class 6A was Lake Mary's Angie Pressey.

That the sophomore outside hitter made All-State was not the surprise, that she was picked for the Third Team after playing for a team that lost in the District semifinals.

Pressey, whose father Paul is a former star guard in the NBA and current assistant with the Orlando Magic, had a tremendous game in helping the Rams come within a point of upsetting defending District Champion and this season's District runner-up, DeLand, in the district semifinals.

The final three SAC players were named to the Class 5A teams and all three came from District Champion Winter Springs.

The Bears appeared to have a good shot at state title because they had finally got out of Olympic Heights' shadow by dropping back to Class 5A.

But after rolling to a 28-3 record and being ranked No. 2 in the State Polls, Winter Springs ran into a red-hot Deltona squad and was ousted in the regionals.

Ally Hock, a junior outside hitter, and Tiffany Kitaoka, a senior middle blocker, made the Third Team, while Kelsey Combes, a senior setter, made the Fourth Team.

Failure to file a petition within this time period shall constitute a waiver of any right such person may have to request an administrative determination (hearing) under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, F.S., concerning the subject permit application. Petitions which are not filed in accordance with the above provisions are subject to dismissal.
Because the administrative hearing process is designed to formulate final agency action, the filing of a petition means that the District's final action may be different from the position taken by it in this notice of intent. Persons whose substantial interests will be affected by any such final decision of the District on the application have the right to become a party to the proceeding, in accordance with the requirements set forth above.

The District gives notice of its intent to issue a permit to the following applicant(s) on January 8, 2002:
Florida Department of Transportation, 719 S. Woodland Blvd., Deland, FL 32720, application #4-117-22124-2. The project is located in Seminole County, Sections 06, 18, 20, 21, 29, 31 & 32, Township 19 South, Range 30 East. The receiving waterbodies are Lake Monroe, the Welwa River and unnamed lakes.
The file(s) containing each of the above-listed application(s) are available for inspection Monday through Friday except for legal holidays, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the St. Johns River Water Management District Headquarters or the appropriate Service Center. The District will take action on each permit application listed above unless a petition for an administrative proceeding (hearing) is filed pursuant to the provisions of Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes Chapter 28-108 and 40C-1.1007, Florida Administrative Code (F.A.C.).
A person whose substantial interests are affected by any of the District's proposed permitting decisions identified above may petition for administrative hearing in accordance with Sections 120.569 and 120.57, F.S., or all parties may reach a written agreement on mediation as an alternative remedy under Section 120.573, F.S. Choosing mediation will not adversely affect the right to a hearing if mediation does not result in a settlement. The procedures for pursuing mediation are set forth in Section 120.573, F.S., and Rules 28-108.111 and 28-108.401-.405, F.A.C. Petitions must comply with the requirements of Florida Administrative Code, Chapter 28-108 and be filed with (received by) the District Clerk, located at District Headquarters, 4049 Red Street, Palatka, Florida 32177.
Petitions for administrative hearing on the above application(s) must be filed within twenty-one (21) days of publication of this notice or within twenty-six (26) days of the District depositing this notice of intent in the mail for those persons to whom the District makes actual notice. Failure to file a petition within this time period shall constitute a waiver of any right such person may have to request an administrative determination (hearing) under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, F.S., concerning the subject permit application. Petitions which are not filed in accordance with the above provisions are subject to dismissal.
Because the administrative hearing process is designed to formulate final agency action, the filing of a petition means that the District's final action may be different from the position taken by it in this notice of intent. Persons whose substantial interests will be affected by any such final decision of the District on the application have the right to become a party to the proceeding, in accordance with the requirements set forth above.

and begin gaining altitude in a half circle maneuver," Tise said. "The pilot would hold a constant 4G's as he approached an altitude of 60,000 feet."

Tise said the bomb would slide out the back of the jet. The momentum created by loft maneuver would throw the bomb higher into the air, sometimes as high as 70,000 feet, allowing the pilot time to evacuate the target area before the bomb hit its target and created a giant mushroom cloud.

"You had to give the plane time to escape," Tise said.

The Navy soon developed the Polaris missile program and the A-5A/A3J mission was scrapped. But the jet was too advanced for the Navy not to utilize, and the aircraft was converted to reconnaissance duties and renamed the RA-5C Vigilante.

A "canoe" containing radar, photographic equipment and other reconnaissance sensors was designed to fit under the aircraft's fuselage. The bomb bay was equipped with electromagnetic intelligence devices and additional fuel cells to give the Vigilante long-range capabilities.

The support systems for the Vigilante's were high-tech, as well. Once the jets returned from their reconnaissance missions, the electronic and photographic information gathered was processed by an Integrated Operational Intelligence Center (IOIC) aboard the aircraft carrier. The IOICs were equipped with a Kodak EH-38 high-speed processor that provided one-hour processing for the photographs collected by the Vigilantes. At the time the processors were highly classified, but today millions of civilian snapshots are developed in the same type of machines located in neighborhood stores.

What pilots loved most about the plane, though, was the fact that the Vigilante was "fun to fly," Tise said.

"The faster it flew, the easier it was to fly," he said.

"It was the fastest thing around. Nothing could keep up with it," Dow added.

The jet's stability at speeds greater than twice the speed of sound (Mach 2) was made possible by an innovative flight control system. Instead of using ailerons, moveable parts on the trailing edge of the wing that control lateral movement, the Vigilantes used spoilers and deflectors.

After arriving in Sanford from China Lake, Calif., a crane lifts the Vigilante off the flatbed truck so volunteers can restore the jet.

"They had these rectangular boxes cut into the wing about two-thirds back from the leading edge," Tise said. "That made the plane much easier to fly, especially at high speed."

The Vigilante's flight control system was also the first production jet to use "fly-by-wire" technology. To that point, the control sticks used by pilots to maneuver were mechanically attached to the moving parts on the aircraft. The Vigilante's stick was electronically connected its flaps.

"On the F4 Phantom, the faster you flew, the more sensitive the stick got," Tise said.

"That could lead to what they called 'pilot-induced oscillation.' You didn't have that problem on the Vigilante because the stick was not mechanically attached. You moved the stick and the signal was sent down the wire."

Tise said the Vigilante was "about five years ahead in its technology than any other aircraft." The jet's high-tech features included:

- The first operational heads-up display system.
- The first Bomb Navigation System to integrate radar and television sights for check-point verification.
- The first monopulse radar with terrain avoidance features.

- An airborne digital computer for bomb and navigation computations.
- The use of nitrogen instead of hydraulic fluid in some of the hottest parts of the airframe.

- A one-piece, bird-proof,

- Mach 2 capable windshield made of stretched acrylic.
- A rain removal system that utilized hot air blown over the front windscreen to provide clear visibility in the heaviest rainstorms.

The jet also set a new altitude record on Dec. 13, 1960 when it carried a 2,500 pound payload to an altitude of 91,451 feet, breaking the old record by more than 4 miles.

Despite all the high-tech equipment, the Vigilante had the highest loss rate of any aircraft flown over Vietnam. The loss rate had more to do with the types of missions assigned to the Vigilante squadrons rather than any defects in the plane, Tise said.

"The RA-5Cs would come in after everything was stirred up," the veteran aviator explained. "After an airstrike, the North Vietnamese knew the Vigilantes would fly over on a post-attack recon mission. They would just wait to fire at it."

Eighteen were lost during the war: 11 were shot down by anti-aircraft fire; two were lost to SA-2 Guideline surface-to-air missiles (SAMs); one was lost to an Atoll missile fired from a MiG-21 fighter; and four were lost for unknown reasons.

Use of the Vigilantes gradually decreased during the last years of the Vietnam War. By 1980, the aircraft was no longer in flight service with the Navy.

Pursuing the Vigilante

Sanford Naval Air Station was home to a squadron of RA-5C Vigilantes, one of the Navy's most advanced reconnaissance jets. The Vigilantes left when NAS Sanford closed in 1968, but one of the planes assigned to the base has returned home.

SANFORD — Patty Mahany couldn't ask for a better Christmas gift.

As vice president of the Sanford Airport Memorial Committee, Mahany and her committee members have spent 24 months writing letters, making phone calls and bending the ears of anyone who would listen in an effort to secure an RA-5C Vigilante reconnaissance jet for a veterans' memorial at the Orlando Sanford International Airport.

One week before Christmas, the jet was delivered, not by Santa and his sleigh, but by and Les Chapman Transportation Inc. on two flat bed trucks.

"I can't tell you how excited I am," Mahany said as she watched the driver maneuver the Vigilante's 70-foot fuselage next to Building 125, west of the airport's domestic terminal. "Everyone has worked so hard for this day to come, and it's finally here."

"The Navy didn't really want to give it up," Mahany said. "There were also several groups vying for this particular plane. The National Museum of Naval Aviation in Pensacola determined that Sanford had the closest ties to the Vigilante of any of the groups petitioning the Navy for it."

Though the Vigilante has arrived, Mahany noted the work's not done. The labor-intensive job of sanding and refurbishing the plane in preparation of a new paint job still remains. But with the jet finally on site, Mahany said motivating volunteers to donate a little elbow grease won't be difficult.

"We probably have about 12 to 18 months of work ahead of us before we're ready to put the Vigilante on the pedestal at the memorial site," Mahany said. "The more volunteers we have the better, and you don't need to have any experience. All you need is a willingness to work. We can show you what needs to be done."

Jack Dow, the committee's president, said the group has a committed core of about 20 people, and he expects to tap into the community of retired military veterans who live in the area for more volunteers. Dow also said the Vigilante, bureau number 156632, is in good shape.

"Despite the fact that it's been out in the desert for 20 years, it has withstood the weather pretty well," Dow said.

Why all the work for a plane that hasn't flown in more than 20 years? The Vigilante is not just any plane, particularly to the aviators assigned to Naval Air Station Sanford during the 1960s. When it was built, the Vigilante was considered one of the most technologically advanced jets in the world. NAS Sanford was the training site for Vigilantes and home to one of the first RHAV squadrons.

"This memorial has always been about honoring the U.S.

Patty Mahany, vice president of the Sanford Airport Memorial Committee, helped lead the effort to bring a RA-5C Vigilante reconnaissance jet back to Sanford.

servicemen stationed at the Sanford Naval Air Station," Mahany said. "The Vigilante is the perfect symbol to do that."

Local businessman and Sanford native Don Knight couldn't agree more.

"I've seen many of these flying through the air, day and night," said Knight, who was at Building 125 when the Vigilante arrived. "This is a great symbol of the Navy and the times when the Navy was in Sanford. It brings back a lot of good memories."

Mahany said the plane has taken on added significance since the conflict in Afghanistan began.

"We've always thought this was a worthy goal, but I think after the events of Sept. 11, it's more significant now than ever," Mahany said.

In addition to volunteers, Mahany said the Sanford Airport Memorial Committee needs donations. So far the group has raised about $50,000, approximately the cost of shipping the plane to Sanford from the Naval Weapons Training Center in China Lake, Calif.

"We'll need to raise another $100,000," Mahany said, adding that the state has budgeted another $150,000 for the project. "But with the budget cuts in Tallahassee, we're being cautious. The first installment of $50,000 is pretty much guaranteed, and Rep.

David Meador says we will get the rest of the money. We're very hopeful."

Mahany said several businesses have donated services. A local company, ESI Inc. paid the bill for Ed's Crane Service to move the Vigilante off the flatbeds, she said.

"We can use just about any type of help someone wants to contribute," Mahany said. "The more people we can get involved, the better."

For more information about volunteering or donating to the memorial project, call 407-585-4000.

High-tech jet was 'fun to fly'

By Dan Ping
Editor

SANFORD — Originally known as the A-5A/A3J, the Vigilante was designed as a supersonic, carrier-based attack bomber to deliver nuclear weapons.

The aircraft's mission drastically changed shortly after its production began for two reasons: the design of the linear bomb bay was flawed, and nuclear submarines were designed to deliver Polaris missiles, which eliminated the Navy's need for attack bombers.

"The bomb bay was an engineer's idea that never really worked as well as they thought it would," said Jack Dow, a Navy veteran and president of the Sanford Airport Memorial Committee.

Retired commander Donald Tise, who served as NAS Sanford's chief training officer on the Vigilante, explained that the bomb bay was contained within the A-5A/A3J's fuselage between the jet exhausts at the rear of the jet. To deliver the weapon the pilot would execute a "loft maneuver."

"You would fly at low altitude, and as you neared the target, the pilot would pull back Upon high school graduation, the students will receive a 2+2 Florida Prepaid College Scholarship (two years at a community college and two years at a Florida university).

The five scholars are Rosa Malagon and Mona Nsouli from Sanford Middle School; and Kayla Abrams, Dominick Conyers and Lavosha Williams from Millennium Middle School.

Before signing the scholarship contract, each student must be matched with a mentor. If you would like to mentor an eighth-grade scholarship student, please contact Lisa Reineck, Take Stock in Children Coordinator at 407-320-0196.

AARP members enjoy Christmas celebration

The Lake Mary Chapter of the AARP held their Annual Christmas Luncheon on

Mary Rowell

Tuesday, Dec. 18. The annual luncheon is a chance for everyone to celebrate the holidays together. For the AARP, it's also time for installation of officers. First Vice President Jim Carmona, filling in for President Irene Lober, welcomed the members to the meeting. Dave Blackwell, visiting from the Sanlando AARP, took charge of installing the officers and the board members for the upcoming year.

There was a really good turnout for the Christmas luncheon. According to Jim Carmona, the thanks for the great turnout go to Addie Rossi and her telephone committee. Addie and her committee make sure each member gets a phone call before every meeting. Jim presented Addie with a thank you gift. Addie then presented gifts to her committee; Mabel May, Julie Scott, Helen Sims, Ruth Lauria, Beverly McDonald and Esther Sterling.

Jim also gave out door prizes to every single person attending the luncheon. Of course, events like this don't come off without a lot of help.

In addition to all the hard work done by Jim Carmona and his better half, Marge, this luncheon was a success thanks to help from Ron and Gloria Van Kleck, Paul and Maria Fratto, Ann-Marie Liakos and the Lake Mary Seniors.

Several businesses also helped out including Publix, Eckerd, Albertsons, Macaroni Grill, Chill's, Bob Evans, Uno's, Winn-Dixie, Sunstar Theatres, Walmart, TGI Friday's and the Cut and Perm Beauty Salon.

After lunch, members sang Christmas songs with a little help from some organ music courtesy of Fletcher Music Center.

So you're a member of the National AARP. Why join the local AARP? The best reason to join is to meet and be around people your own age. The National AARP keeps you informed about national laws affecting seniors. The local AARP also keeps you informed about state and local laws that affect seniors. If you'd like to join the Lake Mary Chapter of the AARP, you don't have to be a Lake Mary resident, just a senior and a member of the National AARP. Just stop by any meeting. The Lake Mary Chapter meets at 1PM on the third Tuesday of every month at the Lake Mary Community Building.

was stated that the Lake Mary Woman's Club gave the non-perishable food donations from Holiday in the Park to Good Samaritan only. The donations were actually divided between Good Samaritan and Safehouse.

Local Girl Scouts, finding out that the needy families in Lake Mary still needed help, visited Fire Marshall Tina Brady at the Lake Mary Fire Department and presented her with gift certificates to a local grocery store.

The Fire Department has been collecting food and toys for the needy families in Lake Mary. The Fire Department has nine needy families they are helping this holiday season.

Ornamental plants can be protected from the cold

Many different tropical and subtropical plants are found in a typical Florida landscape. While tropical plants need to be protected from temperatures below 50 degrees, subtropical plants can harden to withstand freezing temperatures. The ability of plants to tolerate freezing temperatures is influenced by temperature changes prior to a freeze.

A gradual decrease in temperature over a relative long period of time prepares the plants to withstand cold temperatures. Plants normally tolerant to low temperatures may be injured if a sudden decrease in temperature occurs. Cold injury can occur to the entire plant or to plant parts such as buds, flowers, fruits, trunks, stems or roots.

Containers

Plant roots in small containers can be frozen by low temperatures, but under the same conditions, roots of plants in the landscape will escape cold injury. Roots of plants in exposed containers can be injured by low temperatures and show no apparent damage until the plants are stressed at higher temperatures.

Soil Heat

Radiating heat from soil warms the air above ground and low-growing plants will greatly benefit from this source of heat. Soil heat is best preserved by mulches placed around plants to protect the roots.

Fertilization

Most landscape plants are fertilized two or three times a year. In Central Florida, usually one application is scheduled in March and another in September. Late fall applications should be avoided as it can promote untimely late flush of new growth.

Fertilizer rates should be reduced in the fall because plant nutrient consumption declines during the colder months. Plants should receive in the fall about one third to one half the normal fertilizer rate.

Irrigation

Watering plants several hours before a freeze will protect plants because a wet soil will absorb more solar radiation than a dry soil. This heat will be released during the night thus helping to protect the roots of the plants. After a freeze, plants should be watered to provide water to the plants which may be losing water through transpiration and the water in the soil may not be available because it is frozen, this is especially true in container plants.

Al Ferrer

Coverings

Materials such as cloth sheets, quilts and plastics can be placed over plants to protect them from frost damage.

Covers that extend to the ground and do not touch the plant tissues, will protect plants by reducing radiant heat loss from the plants and the ground. A light bulb can be placed under the covers to provide heat to the plants when very low temperatures are expected.

The covers must be removed as temperatures rise during a sunny day. Contact between the plant tissues and the coverings, may result in cold injury.

Pruning After A Freeze

Pruning should be delayed until new growth is visible. Dead leaves may be removed as soon as they have turned brown. Cold damaged to woody tissues can be best determined by examining the food conducting tissues under the bark. If scratching into the bark reveals black or brown tissues, continue the search until you find green tissues when scratched.

Prune back to the live wood to promote healthy growth of the branches.

Cold Injury To Palms

Remove damaged portions of leaves but keep the green, not injured portions of the leaves to maintain a high level of photosynthetic area. Spray palms with a copper containing fungicide at the recommended rate. Repeat the spray 10 days after the first treatment with the copper fungicide or another broad spectrum fungicide.

Palms growing in containers should receive a fungicide soil drench to suppress possible root infecting fungi from causing root rots. A monthly soluble nutrient solution containing minor elements can be applied to help palms recover from light freeze injuries.

Al Ferrer is Seminole County Urban Horticulturist. Inquiries may be directed to him at the Cooperative Extension service, 250 W. County Home Road, Sanford, FL 32773 or phone 685-5558. Keeling honored during Naval ceremony

A Sanford son has been awarded the "Admiral's Accelerator Award" during Change-of-Command ceremonies of the Navy Recruiting District Jacksonville. NCI (SS) Wayne R. "Rusty" Keeling Jr., First Class Petty Officer USN, was the recipient of the award, the highest "new" contracts objective for the Navy Recruiting District Jacksonville.

Doris Dietrich

Keeling, who was born in Sanford and is a 1990 graduate of Seminole High School, is Zone Supervisor for 10 recruiting offices that include Orlando, DeLand and Sanford. In 1999 he was named "Zone Recruiter of the Year."

Navy Recruiting District Jacksonville covers South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. It is one of the 31 Districts across the United States that make up the Navy Recruiting Command.

Linda and Wayne Keeling Sr., were the only parents invited to attend the festivities for about 250 Navy personnel. They received the invitation from Cmdr. Anne-Marie Hartlaub, Navy Recruiting District Jacksonville, to attend her Change-of-Command ceremony, held at noon, Dec. 7, at the Adams Mark Hotel in Jacksonville. She was formerly Executive Officer of that District.

"It was very, very impressive," Linda said. At the Awards Ceremony that evening, Linda said the men wore their Navy Dress Blues complete with medals, and the ladies all wore evening dresses. "It certainly was patriotic and refreshing to see all these young men," she continued.

Linda said she and Wayne felt very privileged to attend the prestigious affair. "All the patriotism shown gave me goose pimples," she added.

Wayne Jr. "Rusty" and his wife, Marcy, make their home in Sanford where she is a Seminole County school teacher.

Bridge Social Meets

High score was won by Betty Bruestle.

Other players included: Carol Dennison, Rose Edith Jacobson, Mary Dale Jones, Zelda Siskind,

Frances Mitchell, Thelma Smith and a guest, Mary Ann Smith

Children Sing For Women

The United Methodist Women of the First United Methodist Church held the annual Christmas luncheon at McKinley Hall. Mary Williams and her committee decked the halls with a variety of decorations. Others lending their talents to the event were Marian Rethwill, Margaret Fontaine, Ethel Thornton and Denise Swain.

Members and guests brought a variety of dishes to share and as usual, there was an abundance of delicious foods.

The Children's Choir of the church's Daycare Center entertained the women. The choir, directed by Alice Smith, is composed of 4- and 5-year-old children who performed par excellence. The children also said the food grace and "did a really nice job," according to Marian.

The church staff members were invited as guests.

Sorority Celebrates

Laureate Gamma Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held the annual couples Christmas dinner and party at the home of Betty Jack. The group enjoyed the food, fun and friendship synonymous of the holiday season.

Betty had her home festively decorated and set a beautiful table complete with fine china and silver. She baked a ham and provided two potato casseroles while the other members brought dishes to share.

Other members and their husbands attending were Phyllis and Eddie Senkarik, Susan and Rex Byrd, Viola and Dickie Frank, Marion and Joe Farella, Cathy and Joe McGuire, Margie and Bob Beine, Wanda and Frank Hubbard and members Libby Gordon and Kitty Corley.

Pilots Entertained

The Pilot Club of Sanford gathered for the annual holiday luncheon, Thanksgiving and Christmas, at the home of Marian Rethwill. Marian served her guests turkey and dressing with all the trimmings.

Ruth Gaines transported Florence Mapes, 94, Doris Stein, 89, and Mae Pawlson to the luncheon. It is noted that after falling and breaking her hip, Doris is making her home in Longwood.

Lydia Watt, of Seminole Community College and an Honorary Pilot, was a luncheon guest.

This year my true love thought it would be romantic to give me the 12 days of Christmas. What would I do with seven a swimmin' and make a milkin'?

What I need is make a cleanin' my house! "No problem" said my true love,
"you'll get what you want and I'll still give you the twelve days of Christmas". I couldn't understand what he was going to do. You can imagine how surprised I was when he changed the final verse of my favorite song to:

12 rugs a vacuumed
11 floors a mopped
10 rooms a dusted

9 windows a washed
8 beds a made
7 lawns a scrubbed
6 kitchens a cleaned

Newman, OB/Gyn Saying Farewell For Now!

LONGWOOD, FL - On December 30th, 2001, Dr. Willie Newman, will commence an indefinite leave of absence from the active practice of Obstetrics and Gynecology. A number of events have prompted this decision and pursuit of some other long desired life challenges. "I am fortunate to have been given opportunities that allow me to apply my talents," states Newman. While he has completed a multitude of activities, which certainly has defined a unique position for him in this community, Newman elaborates, "I still have a number of projects and unresolved aspirations that I plan to give my full attention to. I must not squander this chance for never shall I be younger, healthier, nor possess a greater potential for influence in the present and future. I am simply unable to complete these tasks while engaged in my present active practice of medicine." Fortunately, at this point in his life, he is without any excuse for further delay to entertain his choices and pursuits. Providing for the common good of individuals and groups within society in deference to personal profit, self-interest, and sacrifice have defined Newman's professional career. "There is clearly no greater good than an individual can strive for beyond the improvement of his fellow man," articulates Newman.

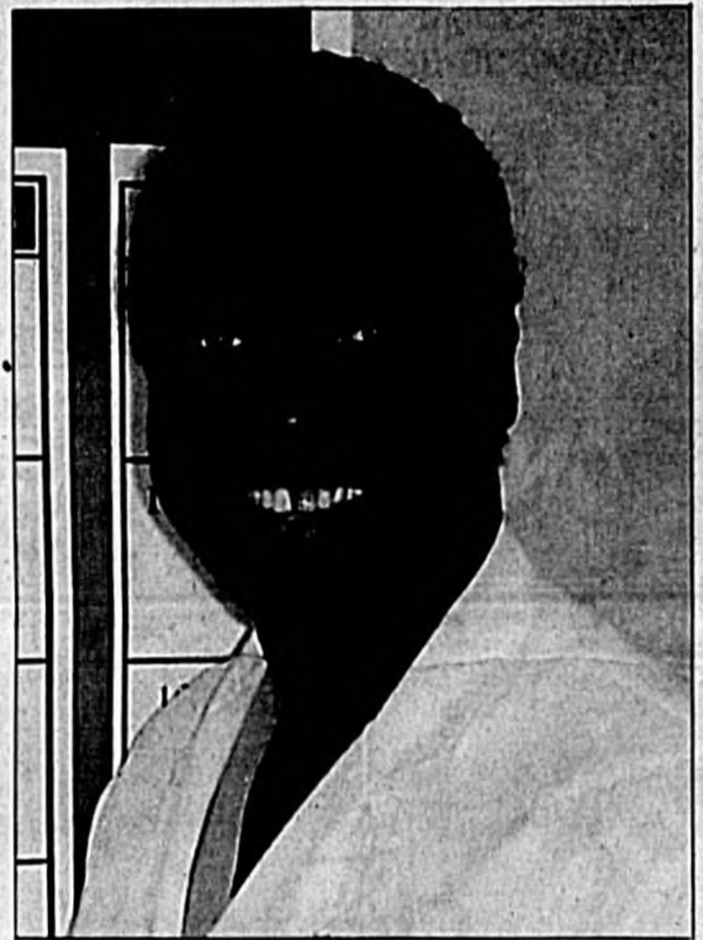

Newman's roots are in the very Central Florida community he has served and his educational endeavors serve as a role model. Born and raised in Sanford, Florida, Newman attended Seminole High School and Florida State University. He went on to graduate in the top 1% of his class at Tulane University School of Medicine. From early jobs as a migrant worker to often being the number one admitting physician at local hospitals has earned him a much loved and respected reputation among his patients and peers. He is a sought after commodity on the speaking circuit for his ability to relate to the masses on nearly all levels, his humility, and sense of humor. "Perhaps others less fortunate will likewise be motivated to achieve," Newman expounds.

Among these recent endeavors will include a PhD in Education Leadership, the Florida Bar exam, cruising in his '57 Chevy, and time with his family.

After some 12,000 deliveries and as many surgeries, Dr. Newman will indeed miss much from his past 18 years, but mostly he will miss the fact that so many have allowed him to share such a precious part of their life. Newman acknowledges, "I will cherish these memories forever. In exchange for your gift and the needed time off to complete my mission, you will have my everlasting gratitude.

I thank you for all the support that you have demonstrated and I sincerely hope the next 18 years will contribute an impact that will match my past invaluable experience."

Front Porch receives $98,000 grant

By Dan Ping
Editor

SANFORD — Seven months after Gov. Jeb Bush named Goldsboro as a Front Porch community, the local council has secured $98,000 in funding for one of its primary goals.

The Goldsboro Front Porch Council identified a void in services for elderly residents living in the community and established an assistance program to enhance the quality of life for seniors.

"We want to provide an umbrella of services for our elderly," said Velma Williams, the Sanford City Commissioner from District 2, which includes Goldsboro. "They are one of the most vital parts of the community. The youth may be the future, but they can't truly succeed without the help of our senior citizens who have invaluable life experience."

Council will use money to help provide transportation, home repairs and visitation program to Goldsboro community

The Council has set a budget of $260,000 to provide transportation services, minor home repairs, arts and crafts activities, landscaping services and a regular home visit program to monitor the overall welfare of seniors. More than half the money, $133,980 has been pledge in in-kind services from local businesses, with the remaining funding to come through state grants, fund-raising projects and private donations.

With the $98,000, the council has nearly met its budget to fulfill the first of several community initiatives.

"Sanford is doing a very good job," said Yolanda Boronell, community coordinator for the Governor's Office of Urban Opportunity. "In a very short time, the community has come together and established a working board. The hope for a new Front Porch community is that it will secure $50,000 in funding within its first year. The council has nearly double that goal within the first six months. They've hit the ground running."

In its proposal, The Front Porch Council listed six specific areas of service it will establish, including:

- An arts and crafts program designed to exercise dexterity, provide mental stimulation and allow seniors the opportunity to socialize. Activities would range from ceramics and photography to holiday activities and sing-a-longs.
- Yard care services to assist elderly resi-

Britannia Airways making move to Sanford airport

SANFORD — Officials at the Orlando Sanford International Airport recently announced that Britannia Airways is moving to OSI beginning in January.

The relocation of Britannia is part of an agreement that will make Sanford the airline's Central Florida gateway for the next seven years. Britannia, part of the Preussag Group which also owns Thomson Holidays, will operate 315-seat Boeing 767-300ER aircraft. The airline will operate year-round service from the United Kingdom, and is expected to increase OSI's traffic by more than 80,000 passengers per year.

"We have been watching the growth of Orlando Sanford and are impressed to see the airport continue to refine and enhance its operation," said Paul Cooper, purchasing manager for Britannia. "Its overall convenience, combined with recent terminal expansion and additional gates will provide an excellent experience for our passengers. Landing at Orlando Sanford ensures our guests' holiday gets off to the best possible start."

Larry Gouldthorpe, president of TBI Airport Management at OSI, noted Britannia had moved its service from Sanford to Orlando International Airport two years ago.

Airport Council International ranked OSI as the fastest growing North American airport in 2000, among airports with one million or more passengers.

Robinson unearths academy's history

Time capsule found after five decades

By Marva Hawkins
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — During the recent construction work at Crooms Academy, Mr. Robinson, a janitor at the school, recently found a time capsule buried at the school some 50 years ago.

In the time capsule was information about the groundbreaking and the dedication of the new Crooms Academy building in 1949. During those ceremonies, the citizens of Sanford honored Professor and Mrs. J.N. Crooms, the principal and assistant principal.

Included in the capsule was a program from the May 16, 1947 Testimonial Banquet given in honor of this dedicated couple. They were educational servants in the community for 40 and 37 years respectively. The address for the occasion was given by Dr. William H. Gray, president of Florida A&M College in Tallahassee, and Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, president emerita and founder of Bethune-Cookman College in Daytona.

The capsule also included the commencement schedules and class rolls of the classes of 1948 and 1949.

The Class of 1948 held their Junior/Senior Social on Friday, June 4 at 8:30 p.m. at Jerry's Arcade. On Sunday, June 6 at 4 p.m., the Baccalaureate sermon was delivered by the Rev. C.L. Jones, pastor of St. John Missionary Baptist Church in Sanford. On Tuesday, June 8, at 12:40 p.m., the class had its Senior Chapel. On Friday, June 11, at 8:30 p.m., the commencement address was delivered by Dr. Richard V. Moore, president of Bethune-Cookman College.

The Class of 1949 heard a Baccalaureate sermon by the Rev. A.C. McQueen, pastor of New Mt. Calvary Missionary Baptist Church. The com-

Deputies finish roof started by former colleague

By Christopher Patton

Friday afternoon a dozen sheriff's office employees converged at a DeLand home to give a widow and fellow Seminole County deputy a special and needed Christmas gift — a new roof.

Deputy Helen Kilgore lost her husband, Deputy Mark Kilgore, on Nov. 10. He reportedly suffered an injury from trying to fix a leak on his home's roof. That injury caused an aggressive staph infection and spread too quickly for doctors to treat.

A local corporation made the holiday efforts last weekend possible. The Sunniland Corp. in Longwood donated thousands of dollars in roofing supplies to Seminole County Sheriff's Office deputies helping in the home project that, a month ago, took the life of one of their own.

"They gave me an estimate [in materials], but not a price," said Sgt. John Negri about the Sunniland Corp. "I asked what's the price? They said no we want to take care of this for them."

Officers turn into elves for Christmas

By Christopher Patton
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Local law enforcement agencies lent a helping hand in recent weeks to ensure the holidays are merry for all Seminole County kids and seniors.

On Dec. 13, Seminole County Sheriff's Office employees played the role of Santa's elves again as they answered hundreds of Christmas letters.

The delivery of the letters from the US Post Office to the sheriff's office was a little delayed this year because of anthrax concerns. For the first time since its inception in 1995, postal officials opened all the letters, inspected and presorted them to ensure the safety of sheriff's office personnel.

"At that time [1995] no one had been doing it before, so the post office was kind enough to let us do it," said Sandy Cannon of the sheriff's office intelligence center. "It's very satisfying for the employees."

In two or three days, employees completed responses to the Santa letters during their lunch breaks and at home. In the beginning employees were handwriting the responses. This year a uniform black and white letter was used encouraging children to color in various Christmas pictures on the letter.

"We're pretty good at it. We've been doing it for awhile," Cannon joked.

The sheriff's office also helps any underprivileged children that are identified through the Santa letters by buying gifts with money from the sheriff's office Employee Benevolent Fund, said Cannon.

The sheriff's also collected items to donate to seniors who are shut-ins. The Meals on Wheels program picked up the gift baskets of personal care and food items Dec. 14 to distribute. According to Cannon, the Meals

Pageant organizers looking for someone to wear Miss Seminole crown

By Michelle Jerla
Managing Editor

SANFORD — Two months from now, someone's dream will come true when the 2002 Miss Seminole County is crowned.

Miss Seminole County Scholarship Pageant organizers, in the meantime, are encouraging young women from the area to submit applications for the third annual event.

"The pageant offers some very exciting opportunities for the young women," Pageant Executive Director Beverly Baird Boothe said. "It is a stepping stone to the Miss America Pageant, and numerous scholarship opportunities are offered in their various areas of talent."

The 80-page application contains the rules and regulations for the pageant — ranging from the type of clothes contestants can wear to what makes a good platform of interest. The deadline to submit applications is Feb. 1.

Contestants must be between the ages of 17 and 24 and must be enrolled in college or have had college training, Boothe said. Additionally, those interested in participating in the pageant must live within a 75-mile radius of Sanford.

Although the pageant is held in Sanford, Boothe emphasizes it is a community affair.

The winner will represent Seminole County throughout the year at various events and during June's Miss Florida pageant.

"Being part of the community is an integral part of the pageant and Miss Seminole County," Boothe said.

The third annual event will be held Saturday, Feb. 23, in the Helen Stairs Theatre. The program opens with morning interviews and culminates with the evening's pageant. Participants will have the opportunity to meet one another during rehearsals and the lunch and dinner provided during the day of the event.

Competitions include interview, swimsuit and evening wear, and contestants are judged on their poise, style and platform. The panel of judges are trained in the rules and regulations of the Miss America Scholarship Pageant.

Once Miss Seminole County 2001 Sasha Marie Platt hands over her crown, this year's winner will have numerous scholarship opportunities offered to her from various colleges, including Seminole Community College and Stetson University. She also receives a scholarship from the local pageant franchise.

In June, the winner will participate in the
