'It's Just Human Decency'

Child Support Bill Passes; Sent To President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has a message for parents who don't make child support payments: Own up to your responsibility or we'll see that it comes out of your paycheck or tax refund.

On the unanimous vote of 419-0, the House Wednesday approved a conference report on child support legislation, a report already endorsed 99-0 by the Senate, and sent it on to President Reagan for his signature.

The most recent government figures show that two years ago 8.4 million women were single heads-of-household with at least one child under 21 at home. Just 59 percent of those women were awarded child support, and fewer than half actually got full payment. Fully 30 percent lived in poverty.

And, nearly $4 billion in court-ordered child support payments went uncollected, something Rep. Harold Ford, D-Tenn., said amounted to the children being "cheated out" of support money that rightly should be theirs. "It is far too easy today for parents to escape this legal and moral responsibility."

An author of the legislation, Rep. Barbara Kennelly, D-Conn., said it was a "victory in the battle against the feminization of poverty, against parents who abdicate their responsibility to support their children, and against growing economic inequity in our country. Today it wasn't Democrats or Republicans who won. It was children who won."

Children Against Deadbeat Dads (CADD), a child support enforcement group, will meet at 7 p.m. Friday at Longwood City Hall to hear a talk on how the Seminole County court system enforces court-ordered child support.

Among the bill's provisions is a requirement that states use wage withholding should a parent fail to make a court-ordered support payment after 30 days. It also provides for intercepting federal and state tax refund checks to cover past due support payments.

"It's just human decency to support the children that you have," said Rep. John Kasich, R-Ohio, one of series of Democrats and Republicans who stepped forward in the House to praise the bipartisan measure. He termed the problem a "national disgrace."

And Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., said, "The great tragedy is most people pay more for their car payments than their child support. If you can buy a car, drive it across a state line and not pay for it, that would be a national scandal."

The legislation strengthens the child support collection program Congress set up nine years ago by raising the amount of federal money available to states that make improvements in collection efforts.

'I Didn't Want Him To Beat Me'

Wife Testifies In Murder Trial

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

She was a 14-year-old bride who entered a marriage that became 10 years of threats, beatings and infidelity.

On November 9, those years of growing fear ended when Joseph Husted, apparently slipping into a familiar pattern of drunken violence while arguing with his wife, was killed by a single shotgun blast to the head.

Wednesday, his widow, Sammie Earl Husted, testified for her life.

In a trial in Sanford before Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize, the state rested its case Wednesday against Mrs. Husted, of Forest City, a woman the prosecutor says committed premeditated murder. The defense says the death was an accident. The trial is expected to continue at least through Friday.

Mrs. Husted, who spoke in a soft drawl punctuated with many a polite "yes sir" and "no sir," testified that her husband, 29, beat her so often he had a term for the punishment: "settle it," she said.

He beat her when she was pregnant with her two of her three children, she said.

He was killed before their third was born.

She said he beat her when they had financial problems. He beat her in front of her parents. He beat her after he had been drinking his six-pack to a case of beer a day.

She testified he slapped her when she didn't snap to his commands fast enough or when his socks did not match.

She recalled that he chased

her with a butcher knife threatening to cut her throat, an incident reported to the police.

One day, after beating her twice on the floor of her parents' living room while they were home, he was forced out of the house by Mrs. Husted's father. Outside, Husted picked up a cement block and smashed the windows of their cars and pounded the block on the hoods.

At another time, he heated a spoon over a flame intending to brand his wife for sleeping with his brother, she said. There were also indications he was not faithful.

Worst of all, there was little escape. Even when she ran from the house, he followed, she said.

She said that even though he treated her badly, she loved him.

When the 16-gauge blast ended his life, however, he was long past the warm man the child-bride fell in love with, she said.

In 1974, Husted, his wife-to-be and her father, went to South Carolina so the couple could legally marry. She was pregnant a month later.

Husted was a gentleman then, she said — one who opened doors for her and was polite.

Teachers Threaten To Picket

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Threatening "informational picket lines" of teachers if the Seminole County school district's negotiators continue efforts to remove key teacher rights and "quality education needs" from contracts for the 1984-85 school year, Ron Boeth of the teachers' union is calling on the public for support.

He said he is not asking the public to show up en masse at teacher-school bargaining sessions, but would rather have supporters let the school board members know their feelings.

Meanwhile, School Superintendent Robert Hughes, who Boeth has singled out for criticism because under law he is the "chief negotiator" in the contract talks, said the union demands will be considered like any other proposal "in the good faith bargaining."

"We are open-minded and will consider any of the presentations," Hughes said.

At a press conference Wednesday, Boeth, executive director of the Seminole Education Association, the teacher's bargaining group, charged school negotiators are trying to eliminate maximum class sizes, references to teacher sick leave, promotions and transfers and are refusing improved language on discipline in a new contract.

Boeth said discipline is a real problem in 20 percent of the schools where principals are not enforcing the school districts' discipline code.

He cited an instance where two boys attacked a girl at one of the schools, but the principal did not follow the code by immediately suspending the boys and sending them before the school board for expulsion.

"The boys were sent to the office and nothing was done. They were again allowed back into the classroom without being punished," he said.

'We are moving from collective bargaining to collective begging.'

Boeth said the "informational picket line" is already established and dates and places for the picket line will be announced. He added that a "crisis action team" of teachers is also discussing other ways to show their displeasure at the "slave-master" attitude of the negotiators and the lack of progress at the bargaining table.

Negotiations between the union and school representatives have been underway for the past month.

Boeth said, "All the great strikes made in the past few years have been swept under the table. We are moving from collective bargaining to collective begging."

He said in talks today at Lake Mary High School, SEA negotiators would urge that $488,000 awarded by the state to the county for "merit schools" be used in part for the "purchase of instructional supplies and materials and educational equipment that will benefit the total school population in each of the chosen schools."

Boeth said it would be suggested that 25 percent of the money be used to give each teacher at a merit school a one time bonus of $100.

Secondly, Boeth said the union is asking for the implementation of the 7th period school day, noting the county was slated to receive an additional $418,000 from the state for the seventh period. He insisted the state money will pay the costs of a seventh period if the money is used to pay existing teachers for the work rather than hire new ones.

'Living' Contact Lenses Come To Florida

Custom-fitted human corneas promise to make glasses a thing of the past say two Altamonte Springs eye surgeons who have brought the experimental technique to Florida.

Doctors John Iser and Mitchell Shapiro, who operate the Florida Eye Clinic across from Florida Hospital/Altamonte, are among 50 doctors in the United States who are participating in a trial of the effectiveness of epikeratophakia, or EPI. The program is headquartered at Louisiana State University where the technique was developed in this country.

"This is really the frontier into which ophthalmology is moving," Shapiro said. "In five years it may be possible to eliminate anybody from wearing glasses with this procedure."

The "living" contacts are fashioned from a human donor's cornea, the outermost glassy membrane of the eye, that is frozen and ground to fit the recipient.

Once sewn over the patient's cornea, the new lens can permanently correct vision loss from cataract surgery, nearsightedness and farsightedness. Astigmatism cannot be helped with the procedure.

People who had cataract surgery and who did not receive plastic lenses often inserted into the eye to replace the clouded lens will be the first to benefit from EPI.

It also will be used to help people who cannot be helped by glasses or contact lenses because of cone-shaped corneas.

Iser said within three months the operation should be available to nearsighted patients.

Stage Set For Lewis' Olympic Finale

By Fred McMane
UPI Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Like a symphony conductor, Carl Lewis has carefully orchestrated these Olympic Games. He has played the crowd's heartstrings as if he were plucking a harp and has danced to the beat of his own drum.

If he doesn't drop the baton Saturday, he will write the perfect Olympic torch song.

Lewis, who set his sights on winning four gold medals in the Games, notched his third Wednesday by leading an American sweep of the men's 200-meter dash. He can equal the immortal Jesse Owens' record of four gold medals in track and field, set in Berlin in 1936, by helping the U.S. to victory in Saturday's 4X100 relay. Unless someone trips and falls or messes up the baton pass, it should be a cinch.

Although Lewis, admittedly a loner, may not have made a lot of friends among his fellow track athletes on the way to his pre-arranged goals he has certainly earned their respect. There simply is no one around who can beat him in any of his events.

"He knows how to run the 200," said Kirk Baptiste, who ran the race of his life of 19.98 and still finished second to Lewis. "I'm just learning how. This is only the second year I've been running it. Why is Carl so great? He's Carl. He runs more relaxed."

Lewis won Wednesday's race in a Olympic record time of 19.80. Another American, Thomas Jefferson of Moreland, Ohio, finished third in 20.26, giving the United States its first sweep in that Olympic event since 1956.

Lewis broke the Olympic record of 19.83 set by Tommie Smith of the United States in 1968. World record holder Pietro Mennea of Italy also competed in the final but finished seventh in the eight-man field.

At the conclusion of the race, Lewis put his arms around his teammates and the three athletes paraded arm-and-arm together around the Coliseum

Caught up in the whirlwind pace of rapidly growing Seminole County, it's easy to lose touch with one's roots. In this week's Leisure magazine, we'll tell you how several organizations are trying to preserve our past.

NATION IN BRIEF

N.Y. Welfare Chief Resigns In Widening Child Care Scandal

NEW YORK (UPI) — The city's welfare commissioner, under increasing criticism for his agency's handling of child abuse cases, has resigned in the midst of allegations up to 38 children were molested at four city-funded day care centers.

Human Resources Administration Commissioner James Krauskopf quit his job Wednesday, the day after his top assistant, Gail Kong, who headed the Office of Special Services for Children, resigned her post.

Both have been under fire as the number of children molested in city-run shelters grew to 38, and the number of centers involved reached four. City officials have said it is the largest case of child abuse ever reported.

In New Jersey, officials said a grand jury would be empaneled Aug. 22 to investigate the alleged abuse of children at two state-run facilities.

Murder Confessions A Hoax

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two convicts' lurid confessions to at least 11 of the 26 Green River murders in the Seattle area were nothing more than a hoax designed to provide an escape opportunity, police say.

In fact, authorities said Wednesday there was a question whether the two men were ever in the state of Washington or knew each other at the time they said they went on a murder spree.

Richard Carbone, 32, and Robert Matthias, 25, lied when they told reporters earlier this week they abducted, raped and killed the women during a three-month crime spree in 1983. San Francisco and Seattle authorities told a news conference Wednesday.

Authorities suspect one killer is responsible for all the deaths. Two other hoax confessions have been reported in the past two months.

"Today was very special because I looked back at the finish and saw two other Americans right behind me," said Lewis. "We really celebrated our sweep of the race. There's an added joy when you can share this feeling with your teammates. It was great to jog around holding the flag with two other guys and not just by myself."

"I've held up really well and am looking forward to the relay. It's the easiest event for me because I have three guys that are unparalleled in front of me. The finals will be kind of depressing because all I have to do is run against the clock. I've met the clock many times, but I like to compete against people, too."

Lewis' triumph in the men's 200-meters highlighted a day in which U.S. athletes won 19 medals, including six golds.

Other American gold medal winners included Alonzo Babers of Colorado Springs, Colo. in the men's 400-meters, Greg Louganis of Mission Viejo, Calif. in the men's 3-meter springboard diving competition, Jonathan McKee of Seattle and Carl Buchan of Bellevue, Wash. in the Flying Dutchman yachting event, Robbie Haines of Coronado, Calif. in the solo class yachting competition and Bill Buchan of Kirkland, Wash. in the Star class yachting event.

this operation is going to take place," he said.

Fred Glover, a 33-year-old Orlando computer company owner, was the first Florida patient to get the living lens. Dr. Isler said he performed the procedure on Glover Tuesday at Florida Hospital/Altamonte. Glover, according to Dr. Isler, had a rare case of his cornea developing into a cone shape, "much like a football," making it difficult for him to use conventional contacts. Dr. Isler said the procedure took two hours and was performed on Glover as an outpatient. Essentially, Dr. Isler said, Glover's cone-shaped cornea was corrected and the "living" lens attached. "That lens will eventually become a part of him and will make it unnecessary for him to have to change anything in the future," Dr. Isler said the operation eventually will take only about one hour. "I took my time with this one ... it was the first time I'd done it." The operation costs $3,500, according to Isler, and another $700 for the lenses. Dr. Isler explained that the donor's lenses are sent to a lab in California where they are ground to the specifications of the patient's needs to correct vision in each eye. Glover said when he tried contact lenses it was "like trying to balance a plate on the head of a football," because he saw things in triplicate.

Isler said the results of Glover's surgery will not be known for one or two months.

But the risks of the operation are small because the patient's cornea is not removed and the process is reversible.

Unlike a corneal transplant, problems with rejection are not present because the cornea has no blood vessels, which carry the antibodies that attack foreign tissue.

To attach the corneal contact, Isler and Shapiro etched a groove around Glover's cornea and the donor cornea was stitched in place over the original.

to have sex with them for five minutes.

Mrs. Husted said she was angry but cannot remember telling Ms. Hammock, who is married to Husted's stepbrother, that she was going to kill her husband, as Ms. Hammock testified. However, Mrs. Husted said she does remember saying something to the effect that if she did get a gun and he did try to "jump" on her, pregnant as she was, that she would "aim at the waist down so he wouldn't have anything to jump on me with."

When the niece called a second time, to tell Mrs. Husted that Husted had been drinking, was angry, and was coming home, she said decided to ask her husband to leave for a few days.

She testified that she packed some of his clothes, put them by the front door, and got their 16-gauge shotgun, loaded it for protection.

"I didn't want him to beat me," she said.

She set the gun on a living room chair, she testified.

When Husted arrived, staggering, she said, he asked why the clothes were by the door. She said she wanted him to leave, which he refused to do. She then told him about the phone calls from his niece.

She said her husband went into their small kitchen, she followed with the loaded and cocked gun.

Mrs. Husted testified that her husband sat at the kitchen table and began to raise his voice, swear, and flail his arms. "That meant he was getting violent," she testified, saying it was a pattern of behavior she had seen many times.

She said that as he sat at the kitchen table, she stood holding the gun pointed at a window.

She testified that her head was turned when he started to get up from the table and that she "blinked or something."

"There was a scratching noise," she said, her voice trembling as she neared tears. "Something hit the gun and it went off. Then I turned around a he was laying there."

Iraq Claims To Have Hit Another Oil Tanker In Gulf

KUWAIT (UPI) — In the second attack in 48 hours, Iraqi warplanes struck a "very large naval target" near Iran's Kharg Island oil terminal today, Baghdad Radio said, but there was no independent confirmation.

In Iraqi military jargon, "naval targets" generally means oil tankers. Kharg Island, 40 miles off the Iranian Gulf coastline, houses the main oil export terminal for Iran, which has been at war with Iraq for nearly four years.

Iraqi jets broke an informal one-month truce in the Persian Gulf tanker war Tuesday and bombed the Liberian-registered supertanker "Friendship L," causing a small fire on board but no casualties.

Iraqi officials said they started attacking tankers lifting Iranian oil earlier this year to pressure Iran to talk of diplomatic ways to end the nearly 4-year-old Persian Gulf war.

Bomb Kills 3, Injures 25

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — An explosion ripped through a west Beirut street vegetable market today, killing at least three people and wounding at least 25, state-run Beirut radio said.

"The military investigator estimated the force of the explosion at 12 kilos (25 pounds) of TNT," Murabitoun radio said.

Security sources said the reason for the explosion was not known.

The explosion came a day after the Lebanese Cabinet approved sending the army to the hills overlooking Beirut "in 10 days' time" to quell almost daily clashes between Druze Moslem militiamen and Christian Lebanese fighters.

Soviets Round Up Pacifists

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet authorities arrested some 50 members of a peace group that has called for a U.S.-Soviet summit and told at least two of the pacifists they would be sent to a psychiatric hospital, a member of the group says.

The unsanctioned organization, known as the Group to Establish Trust Between the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R., aims to establish better understanding between the two superpowers.

Coast Guard Takes Over Salvage Of Grounded Freighter

KEY LARGO (UPI) — The Coast Guard took over salvage of the 5,900-ton freighter Wellwood late Wednesday when the owners failed to meet an ultimatum ordering them to get the vessel off a federally protected coral reef by high tide.

When the deadline passed at about 7:45 p.m. EDT Wednesday, a Coast Guard strike team officially took control, said Coast Guard Petty Officer Dan Waldschmidt.

The Coast Guard has arranged for super-powered tugboats to sail to Key Largo for a last-ditch effort to refloat the vessel Thursday, Waldschmidt said.

If that fails, the Coast Guard will pump 120,000 gallons of fuel from the Wellwood's tanks.

"The continued presence of the grounded vessel in an environmentally sensitive marine sanctuary creates an unacceptable potential for oil pollution," said Coast Guard chief petty officer Bob Beaten.

Child Died Of Suffocation

TITUSVILLE (UPI) — Police say 5-year-old Amanda Griffin, whose nude body was found near a rain-swollen drainage ditch Tuesday, probably died of suffocation, but no suspects in the death have been identified.

A preliminary autopsy report released Wednesday indicates Amanda died sometime Saturday night, shortly after she disappeared from her family's Titusville apartment complex.

The child's body was found Tuesday about 11 a.m. in a ditch 7 miles from her home.

U.S. Tapes Reportedly Show Soviet Arms Going To Salvadoran Rebels

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Army intelligence officials say that by shrimp boats, canoes and pack mule trains, Soviet-bloc arms are flowing from Cuba and Nicaragua to leftist guerrillas in El Salvador.

AC-130 spy aircraft, flying at night along El Salvador's Pacific coast near Honduras, recorded on heat-sensitive tapes outlines of boats unloading apparent caches of arms and supplies on motor-powered canoes.

Numerous "hot spots" on the tapes — bands of guerrillas — greeted the canoes on the beaches and loaded the cargo onto mule trains that worked their way into the interior.

Gen. Paul Gorman, commander of the U.S. Southern Command based in Panama, told reporters Wednesday that declassified intelligence supports the administration's charge that the Soviet bloc, Cuba and Nicaragua are funneling arms and supplies to the leftist guerrillas in El Salvador.

The guerrillas say they operate on U.S. arms — captured from or surrendered by Salvadoran forces.

"The guerrilla front is ludicrous in insisting that it gets no ordnance from abroad," the four-star general said. "External support for the guerrillas continues to be a mainstay of the guerrillas."

Gorman and Thomas Pickering, the U.S. ambassador to El Salvador, appealed to Congress to approve an extra $117 million in military aid for President Jose Napoleon Duarte's government this year.

"A guerrilla offensive is imminent," Gorman said. "The insurgents are determined to damage Duarte's prospects by any means at their disposal."

Gorman said Congress is providing assistance "in dribs and drabs, making systematic planning difficult" and the new Duarte government "cannot long endure without U.S. assistance."

Time To End The Violence

Something is rotten in the United States. We have one of the world's highest standards of living. We have one of the best systems of justice. Our education level is high. Our medical facilities are excellent. We provide our people with greater economic security than do most societies.

But something is rotten in the United States.

— Recently a man went berserk and killed more than 20 total strangers in a restaurant.

— A couple of weeks ago a woman was kidnapped off a city street, was held captive for more than 24 hours in an apartment, and was raped by 20 or so men.

— Two mountain men kidnapped a young woman recently whom they planned to use as the wife of one of them. When questioned by two hikers, they shot the woman and killed one of her would-be rescuers.

— Last year a woman was gang-raped in a bar while other patrons watched and cheered.

The list goes on and on. Violent crimes against women are reaching an epidemic point. Mass killings are no longer unusual.

Before the Vietnam War, such crimes were virtually unknown in the United States. Today they are common. What has happened to our society that has made it so violent?

Part of the blame can be placed on the increased tensions of society. Some of the blame rests with the treatment of violence and the attitude toward women in movies and television. Increased use of drugs also must be blamed.

These are superficial and easy answers. But the problem of increased violence is complex and it cannot be ignored or dismissed.

The sickness is so serious that it must be faced as a nation. In order to find answers, the president should appoint a non-partisan, blue-ribbon commission of psychiatrists, scientists, social workers, law enforcement officials, educators and religious leaders to try to find causes and cures. We cannot allow the disease of violence to get any worse.

Democracy Tool

George H. Gallup, who died recently week in Switzerland, left a permanent mark on America and the world. He once called public opinion polls "one of the most useful instruments of democracy ever devised." Indeed they are, if used with caution and an awareness of their limitations.

Poll results are no better than the questions asked and the answers given. There are countless ways to skew the results by concocting the questions and placing them in a continued context. And, as for the answers, there is no way to measure the degree of confidence established in a brief interview nor the amount of candor present or absent in the answer given.

Polls have an important function in society, and Gallup's statement about their value as "instruments of democracy" contains much truth. In a democracy like our own, the governing power resides in public opinion. Any instrument that gives valid expression to that power makes our system of government more responsive, more efficient and more just.

But, in advising our elected leaders, we also hold with Winston Churchill, who said: "Nothing is more dangerous than to live in the temperamental atmosphere of a Gallup Poll, always taking one's temperature. There is only one duty, only one safe course, and that is to try to be right."

BERRY'S WORLD

"Pity, Dr. The royal obstetrician has become a London bookmaker and plans to retire after September."

By Donna Estes

Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles has insisted for months that the state is responsible for the EDB contamination of seven of Sanford's wells and ought to pay the nearly $700,000 it has cost the city to correct the problem.

Four state agencies in a July newsletter appear to admit the liability by requiring those cities and private well owners that receive state money to decontaminate their water systems of EDB to sign waivers releasing the state and its agencies from liability for damages caused by the pesticide.

Knowles' argument has been since the state licensed the use of EDB and controlled its application through permits. It should be responsible for the costs to Sanford when its seven wells at the Mayfair Golf Course became contaminated after the pesticide was injected into the soils by golf-course operators to kill worms there.

The cities of Lake Wales and Lake Alfred are to be given first crack at the $3.1 million appropriated by the Florida Legislature during its 1984 session for EDB cleanup, says the newsletter, called the "EDB Update" and published by the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, Department of Environmental Regulation, Department of Community Affairs and Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

Third in line for money are owners of private wells whose water is contaminated by EDB.

The state agencies say the money must be used to "purchase and install appropriate filters and inhibitors for these wells or other cost effective alternatives that are approved" by the state.

Sanford used a method of redrilling to a greater depth within old well casings and slipping in new casings, filling with concrete the void between the two to seal off the EDB. That method has worked in large part, but a few of the wells rehabilitated in this fashion have become slightly contaminated again.

Priorities for receiving the funds are established by DER after Lake Wales and Lake Alfred get shares with the most privately owned contaminated wells receiving assistance after that.

At Knowles' recommendation, Sanford City Attorney Bill Colbert is to ask the Seminole County Legislative Delegation to seek reimbursement from the state for Sanford's costs.

Those with questions about the funding program may call the toll-free EDB hotline at 1-800-342-3557.

Awash In The Porn

The recent uproar over the replacement of Miss America, who appeared in what the press referred to as "sexually explicit" poses in Penthouse magazine, points to a deeper problem in American society — the problem of pornography. The country is wallowing in porn.

Millions of copies of Penthouse are sold each month. The most recent issue, with the photos of the former Miss America, were snapped up within hours after they were placed in newsstands. These sales are evidence of a public appetite for much that is worse than Penthouse. It seems as though almost every convenience store that sells cold drinks, beer, and potato chips also sells a wide range of pornographic magazines that specialize in the depiction of perverted sex and that contain advertisements for goods and services for the most depraved tastes.

Respectable Americans and their institutions, churches and schools, have largely averted their eyes from the tide of filth that has swept over this country in recent years. Even 10 years ago, the sale of these materials in thousands of towns and cities was unknown except in squalid shops that catered to perverses. Now, society seems not to mind that this garbage is a multi-billion dollar a year business and that young people are exposed to it every time they look at a newsstand. A few groups are active in combating pornography, and attempt to dissuade store owners from selling this filth. Those who raise moral objections are often treated as old-fashioned or violators of civil liberties. Libertarian organizations are outspoken in stating a citizen's right to possess or sell pornographic materials.

Can this tide of snot not have any effect on American society? How could that be? Pornography debases human beings. It reduces human beings to things. It accepts the brutalization of women and presents the unnatural as natural. The existence of pornographic materials throughout American society in the 1980s cannot but affect human relations in the ugliest way. Pornography has the capability of creating a mentally and morally sick society.

A healthy society cannot coexist with pornography, especially when it is a mass industry crowding out respectable journalists, as is the case in the United States today. The failure of the American people to stamp it out is a reflection on the understanding and will of the American people.

The U.S. public also needs to understand that the production of pornography is an activity in which organized crime is heavily involved.

JEFFREY HART

Okay, Mrs. Ferraro

When he named Geraldine Ferraro to his ticket Walter Mondale attached a jump starter to what until then had been a stalled campaign. Mondale had actually been sinking in the polls since locking up the nomination, and may have been as much as 30 points behind Reagan. He was perceived as a gray hack, a prisoner of interest groups, and in the word-association polling the words Mondale and wimp showed a fatal correlation. Ferraro changed all of that, and the Reagan strategists have exhibited a good deal of uncertainty in dealing with her. The Ferraro factor, indeed, has meant an early beginning to a Reagan campaign that was supposed to begin a month from now, and it is because of Ferraro that Reagan found himself eating spaghetti with a Catholic bishop in Hoboken, New Jersey.

A key political question, therefore, is whether Ferraro will stand up under a hundred days of scrutiny, riding on the idea of a woman on the ticket, or whether she will collapse as a political asset.

Early signs are beginning to appear of some unravelling of Ferraro's image as a feisty, warm-hearted ethnic.

We now know that her attack upon President Reagan's Christianity was not an amateurish gaffe but a stink bomb cooked up with Ferraro by New York's Governor Mario Cuomo.

"The president walks around calling himself a good Christian," she said, "but I don't for one minute believe it because the policies are so unfair." But this was not merely an astonishing lapse of taste. A Los Angeles reporter informs us that Gov. Cuomo had egged her on in this attack, telling her "she could get away with it, because she is a woman."

Nice work, Mario and Geraldine. This is the same Cuomo, by the way, who recently told Newweek: "I'm 52 years old with gnarled fingers and a bad back, but get me in a basketball game and I can land a nice six-inch punch to your kidney. Then it's anybody's game." Not all ethnics are warm-hearted chaps. It seems, no matter how much they talk about "families."

Then there has come to attention Ferraro's strangely chilling formulation about abortion. She has every right to her pro-choice opinion on this issue, though it puts her on a collision course with her Catholic Bishop John O'Connor, not to mention the pope, but her precise statement is eerie: "As a Catholic," she said, "I accept the premise that a fertilized ovum is a baby." Then she went on, "The cost of putting an unwanted child through the (welfare) system far outweighs the cost of funding (abortion) procedures."

Then there is the matter of her financial disclosure statement. Her situation is not identical to that of Rep. George Hansen, who has been sentenced to a prison term for his failure to disclose income, but it is close enough to Hansen's case to be embarrassing. For six years, Ferraro has claimed an exemption from disclosure in the case of her husband's assets, and under the rules she does not appear to have been entitled to such an exception.

Then there is that damnable building, part owned by Zaccaro and Company, of which Mrs. Ferraro is secretary-treasurer and a major stockholder. The building houses one of the nation's largest distributors of pornography, a firm linked by New York officials to two mob "families." Mrs. Ferraro has said through a spokesman that she had no idea of these activities, though Zaccaro and Company headquarters is in the building next door.

Dallas Gambles On GOP

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Probably no city in America is as image conscious or has as large a civic inferiority complex as Dallas.

For more than 20 years, the city has tried to live down the stigma of the Kennedy assassination. More recently it has been in the shadow of its Texas neighbor, Houston, which is possibly America's most booming metropolis.

In the last year Dallas has been bedeviled with bad publicity. First there was the woman who died of a heart attack while a city ambulance dispatcher argued with her family, then the case of Lennell Geter, a black aerospace engineer falsely imprisoned for robbery. The real thief was found after the case was featured on "60 Minutes." And Dallas's image as "gun-happy" resurfaced after the shooting deaths of six at a suburban night spot.

So Dallas is looking upon the '84 Republican convention, which will attract 10,000 journalists, as a way to finally erase the negative images, and, once and for all, to get out from under the shadow of Houston.

Dallas will attempt to sell itself, as perhaps no other convention host has done, during the week of Aug. 20.

The image polishing began with a massive clean-up, fix-up campaign. Miles of streets were repaved and thousands of trees planted. City inspectors issued countless citations for code violations to be corrected before the convention.

Both the delegates and the press will be treated to parties and other festivities hosted by local businesses and a volunteer corps of 20,000.

Meanwhile, city fathers are terrified that something will happen during the convention to mar the city's image. Most of their fears revolve around security and demonstrations. In their worst nightmares, city leaders see Chicago in 1968.

A massive security net will operate throughout the GOP convention. Some 1,100 Dallas police officers will work a 12-hour-on, 12-hour-off schedule at a cost of over $1.5 million in overtime.

Because of the presence of the president, vice president and many government officials, the federal security force on the scene will number more than 1,000 and will include the FBI's new paramilitary hostage rescue team. Also on duty will be Max, the city's $40,000 bomb disposal robot named after the City Council member who pushed through the legislation to buy him.

One controversial aspect of convention security is a 6-foot-high chain-link fence being constructed around the convention center at a cost of $70,000.

JACK ANDERSON

Congressmen Helped Terrorists

Several members of Congress unwittingly gave a boost to the leader of a terrorist organization that has the blood of American servicemen on its hands. The group claimed credit for the murders of Air Force Brig. Gen. Harold Price, Col. Paul Shaeffer and Lt. Col. Jack Turner, and Army Lt. Col. Lewis Hawkins — members of the U.S. military mission to Iran during the shah's regime.

Yet recently such prominent members of the Senate as Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Gary Hart, D-Colo., sent letters to Maaouf Rajavi, chairman of the National Council of Resistance, in response to the Iranian exile group's call for recognition of its mass demonstration against Ayatollah Khomeini on June 20, 1981.

The senators were unaware that the council's parent group, Mojahedin-e Khalq, a leftist anti-shah terrorist group, has boasted of killing the American officers in the mid-1970s. Without checking the background of Rajavi and the "council of resistance" that he runs from exile in Paris, they praised the group's struggle against Khomeini.

About 50 members of Congress were asked for letters marking the third anniversary of the Tehran demonstration. Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., went beyond that and pledged support for the work of the council.

An aide to Conyers told my reporter Dinah Wisenberg that he had "made it very clear" to the Iranians that the endorsement was intended only in the context of human rights. Staffers for Sens. Kennedy and Hart made similar assurances.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., praised the Mojahedin and the council in a Senate speech for their opposition to Khomeini. A Proxmire aide said the senator had been unaware of the Mojahedin's anti-U.S. terrorist activities.

BEASTLY FUROR: Llamas are hardly the sort of animal likely to inspire controversy. Michael Jackson owns one of the fluffy Andean critters, possibly for what one llama breeder calls the "biofeedback," or tranquilizing effect they are reputed to have on humans.

But all is not tranquil in llama-land. Domestic ranchers are upset over the Agriculture Department's decision to allow the importation of 350 llamas and alpacas from Chile, despite the danger that they'll bring in foot-and-mouth disease, a deadly cattle killer.

The department's rule change last June — and particularly its emergency waiver of the usual period for public comment — smacked of favoritism, according to the International Llama Association.

In April, a U.S. llama breeder was denied permission to import some llamas from Chile. The department explained that, "because of inadequate research ... we do not know whether or not the standard tests ... would be sufficient to detect the foot-and-mouth carrier state in llamas and alpacas."

But two months later, the department decided to allow other llama breeders to import the beasts under a speeded-up review process. The Llama Association smells a rat among the ruminants.

Paul Taylor, a Montana llama breeder and the son of Glen Taylor, former Idaho senator who ran for vice president with Henry Wallace on the Progressive Party ticket in 1948, suspects political pressure was involved in the expedited import approval.

An Agriculture Department official denied this, suggesting that the llama breeders' outcry was motivated by "worry over competition." He acknowledged that the speeded-up process wasn't "the way we usually operate," but said it was necessary because cattle importers had the U.S. Quarantine Center in Florida booked solid later in the year.

Sen. John Melcher, D-Mont., who is a veterinarian, said he will oppose the importation because of the foot-and-mouth danger.

Two Cars Involved In Chase, Shooting In Sanford

Sanford police are looking for the occupants of two cars involved in what appeared to be a running gun battle early today at a Sanford convenience store.

Between 12:30 and 1:30 a.m., a green Cordoba raced past the service island of the One Stop Center at Celery and Locust avenues, according to Jim Robert, of Sanford, who witnessed the event.

He said the Cordoba was followed by a white Monte Carlo occupied by a gunman who fired several shots at the Cordoba as it sped by. Both cars drove through the service area, the Cordoba striking an ice machine, a police report said.

Robert said the gun shots sounded like those made by a .25-caliber handgun. No spent bullets were found and no injuries were reported.

bery, aggravated battery and grand theft after being singled out in a jail lineup. Another suspect has not been caught.

The two bandits allegedly confronted Betty Ruth Heath, 39, of Orange City, and Jenia Loughlin, 25, of DeLeon Springs, after they had just gotten out a car at the Barn, 1200 S. French Ave., Sanford, around 12:30 a.m. on July 27, Sanford police reported.

The suspect who was charged reportedly threatened Ms. Loughlin with a gun while the other man brandished a knife. The robbers demanded valuables and the gunman reportedly hit Ms. Loughlin in the face with the weapon as she handed over $7, a $50 ring and then finally gave up a $4,000 ring to the robber.

The bandits fled on foot and Ms. Loughlin was treated at the West Volusia Memorial Hospital where she received 11 stitches in her face, police report.

On Aug. 1, Ms. Heath identified a suspect in a photo lineup at the Sanford police station and both she and Ms. Loughlin reportedly identified the same man in a jail lineup Monday.

Richard Williams Jr., 25, of 1501 Southwest Ave., was arrested at the jail at 2:05 p.m. Monday and is being held without bond.

At the time of this arrest, Williams was being held without bond, charged with burglary, aggravated battery and attempted sexual battery for allegedly climbing through the bedroom window of a Sanford home on July 29 and attempting to sexually assault a female resident as she slept.

The woman awoke, and was cut on the hand by a knife the suspect brandished, but he fled when she resisted. That arrest was made Aug. 1, after the victim saw a photo lineup, police report.

BORROWED OR STOLEN?

An Altamonte Springs man who insists he just borrowed a co-worker's moped has been charged with theft and was released from jail on $500 bond.

When Altamonte Springs police officer Jim Carlin received a report on the missing 1979 moped at about 10 a.m. Tuesday, he remembered seeing a man riding a moped at 1 a.m. that morning in the parking lot of Plantation Apartments, 693 Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs, a police report said.

Carlin went to the apartments, spotted the moped and confirmed that the identification numbers on the vehicle matched those of the missing moped. Carlin knocked at the door of the apartment he had seen the moped rider enter, questioned the man and arrested him.

The suspect reportedly said he had borrowed the moped Sunday from owner J.K. Serbek, as he had several times before. Both the suspect and Serbek work for Masion Et Jardin restaurant, 430 S. Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs, the location from which Serbek reported the moped stolen Sunday.

Timothy Paul Sinard, 20, of 548 Spanish Trace Drive, Altamonte Springs, was arrested at 11 a.m. Tuesday. He was charged with grand theft and is scheduled to appear in court Aug. 24.

Thief Got Man's Clothes Before Dry Cleaner Did

A.K. Timberman Jr., 66, left $600 worth of clothes on his porch for a dry cleaner to pick up, but a thief showed up before the cleaner did.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies reported the four pairs of slacks, six shirts, a $400 key chain, two dresses were stolen from Timberman's porch at 230 Flame Ave. Maitland, at about 4 a.m. July 30. The loss was reported to deputies Tuesday.

The thief or thieves who burglarized the home of a Lakeview Middle School teacher left a message written in lipstick on a bathroom mirror telling the victim, "We were good students, ha, ha," deputies report.

Arthur H. McDaniel reported that his home was entered through a sliding glass door between 11:15 a.m. and 2:15 p.m. Tuesday. Taken were three handguns with a total value of $550, two shotguns along with ammunition and several pieces of stereo equipment.

Locksmith equipment including a $1,200 key making machine, a $50 vise, a $400 key cutter, and other tools were taken from an A. Aaron Locksmith truck, parked outside that business at 1188 state Road 436, Altamonte Springs. Deputies report the truck was entered through a rear door between Aug. 2 and Tuesday.

Gregory D. Fagan, 18, of 154-D Springwood Way, Longwood, told deputies that his 1975 Toyota, which he left on Knollwood Drive near state Road 434, Longwood, at 5 p.m. Sunday because it was disabled was not there when he returned at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

A laundry worker at Fern Park Developmental Center, Fern Park, reported that $100 was stolen from her purse while it was left unattended in an office at the center between 6 and 7 p.m. Tuesday. Denise Lynn McSwain, 27, of Tiffany Square Apartments, #103, Fern Park, reported her loss to sheriff's deputies.

A motor, two oars and an anchor with a total value of about $800 were stolen from a U.S. Navy recreational boat which was rented from a civilian custodian, T. Donovan, 30, of 128 Bayberry Court, Winter Springs, who rented the boat, reportedly left it on county Road 419, Oviedo, when a trailer hitch problem developed Friday. The missing items belong to the U.S. Navy and were available for use by Navy personnel, according to a sheriff's report.

A $2,600, 40-horsepower boat motor was stolen from the boat of Bobby J. Becker, 36, of 1818 Dover Road, Winter Park, Monday or Tuesday, deputies report.

Football Countdown: Practice Is Just A Week Away

Physicals For Preps

SEMINOLE HIGH — Physicals: All football players Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the gym. First varsity practice: Wednesday at 8 a.m.

LAKE MARY HIGH — Physicals: All fall athletes at 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday at the gym. First varsity practice: Wednesday at 9 a.m.

LYMAN HIGH — Physicals: to be announced. First varsity practice: Early Wednesday morning (time TBA).

LAKE BRANTLEY — Physicals: Varsity football players Monday at 5:30 p.m. at the gym. Junior varsity and freshman player Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. at the gym. First varsity practice: 8 a.m. Wednesday.

OVIDEO HIGH — Physicals: All football players Wednesday at 4 p.m. at Dr. Robert Likens office on state Road 436 in Casselberry. First varsity practice: Wednesday at 9 a.m.

LAKE HOWELL HIGH — Physicals: All fall athletes Tuesday at 12 noon at the gym. First varsity practice: Wednesday at 9:30 a.m.

Baseball will have to take a backseat — at least for one day. Seminole football coach Jerry Posey and his fellow mentor, Harry "The Ram" Nelson at Lake Mary, have started the countdown.

In just a week, Seminole County football players will put their summers behind them and pull on the shirts, shorts, helmets and cleats for next Wednesday's opening day of fall football practice — Aug. 15.

Posey, entering his 10th year, is coming off a 4-6 season which was quite an improvement considering the unmentionable year of 1982. But Posey, who has had three district championships during his reign, was far from satisfied with his .400 winning percentage.

"We're due," he said Wednesday night. "It's time for us to get back on track."

Posey ticked off Apopka and Lake Mary as the teams to beat. "We'll have some experience back, but there's a couple of others who are loaded for bear. Apopka and Lake Mary should be the teams to beat."

All Fighting Seminoles should be in the gymnasium Monday, Aug. 13 for a 5 p.m. team meeting. Physicals, free of charge, will be administered at 4 p.m.

Sam Cook

on Tuesday, Aug. 14. Practice for the varsity team will open Wednesday, Aug. 15 at 8 a.m. The players will wear shirts and shorts for three days.

Posey said he heard from three new arrivals over the summer. Steve Smith will transfer from a private school in Altamonte Springs, Mike Woods will join the squad from Eatonville's Wymore Tech, and Billy Back has moved back to Sanford from Orlando Evans.

"None of them is real big, but all three said they have defensive experience," said Posey. "Smith and Woods are defensive backs and Back is a noseguard."

Posey also said premier track hurdler Franklin Barnett will play football. Barnett, a muscular 180-pounder, has never played football, but Posey is anxiously awaiting the opportunity to observe the speedy physical specimen.

Posey expects to team Barnett with sprinter Cliff Campbell, breakaway threat Deron Thompson, hard-running Jo-Jo White and scatback Dexter Jones to give Seminole its finest stable of running backs in many years.

Brainy senior Mike Wheelchel is back at quarterback.

Nelson, meanwhile, has just returned from Washington, D.C. where he was trying to acquire some culture while visiting our country's various museums and other inspiring spots.

"I saw Teddy Kennedy," quipped Harry. "I said, 'Teddy, Lake Mary 1984,' but he didn't give me much of an acknowledgement."

Opposing teams, however, should be more attentive. Nelson produced an incredible 6-4 season during the Rams' first year in the Five Star Conference, and he returns just about all of his studs.

Lake Mary will hold its physicals at 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday for all athletes at the gymnasium. Varsity practice will begin at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Nelson, like Posey, is anxiously awaiting the return of his best all-around player, Ray Hartsfield. The all-purpose performer was tripped up academically and missed the spring game, but got his act back together with 2 A's, 1 B and 3 C's, according to Nelson.

"That embarrassed Ray when he couldn't play," said Nelson. "But maybe this is a good omen. He's going to be quite a football player."

Nelson also returns his top three running backs in the county's leading rusher, Charlie Lucarelli, fullback Scott Underwood, and pile driver Billy Caughell, who also led the county in tackles from his linebacking spot. Wide receiver Donald Grayson could rate all-state status.

"It will be a senior team. We should be right in there," said Nelson. "But Apopka will be very good, too. I saw them in a jamboree and the tailback (Sammie Smith) is great, but so is the slot back (Sidney Lowman)."

Elsewhere in the county, Lyman's Bill Scott, Lake Brantley's David Tullis, Oviedo's Jack Blanton and Lake Howell's Mike Blaseglia are planning to open on Wednesday.

At Lyman, Scott said practice will begin early Wednesday morning. The Greyhounds return two hard-hitting linebackers in Mike Henley and Mike Crespo.

Nationals Will Battle Georgia Or Kentucky

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

After winning the Little League Baseball State Tournament, the Altamonte Major National League All-Stars had a week off before going into the Southern Region Tournament starting Monday in St. Petersburg.

Altamonte spent that week tuning up with intrasquad games. Altamonte may have had a tougher time playing itself than some of the competition it faced in the sectional and state tournaments.

"The intrasquad games have proven to have helped us during breaks," Altamonte manager Jerry Thurston said. "Going against our own pitchers really helps. We feel if we can hit our own pitching staff, we'll be ready for anybody who comes up against us."

Altamonte will leave for St. Petersburg Sunday morning at 11 and its first game isn't until Tuesday, since it drew a first round bye. Altamonte will play the winner of Monday's Georgia-Kentucky game Tuesday at 4 p.m. The Southern Region Tournament is single elimination.

"We haven't seen anybody to this point better than Southwest Volusia, the team we beat in the District Tournament," Altamonte pitching coach Greg Ebbert said. "Beating them was the turning point for us."

Baseball

Since it drew a first round bye, Altamonte will be able to scout its first opponent (Georgia or Kentucky) on Monday.

"Drawing a bye gives us an advantage since five teams in the tournament will have already been eliminated before we even play," Ebbert said. "So it would be possible for us to win the tournament in three games instead of four."

"And, if ever I thought a team had a shot at it (Little League World Series), it's this ballclub."

Altamonte will continue practice today and Friday and, depending on how they practice the next two days.

"We're working hard in practice and they boys are looking really good," Thurston said. "Our objective the next 3 or 4 days is to get mentally prepared. Because, in a single elimination tournament, one mistake and you go home."

TOURNAMENT TIDBITS — Speaking of going home, the Altamonte Nationals sent the team from Bay Point (St. Petersburg) home, beating them twice in the state tournament last week. Bay Point had no hard feelings, though. In fact, some of the Bay Point parents and coaches invited Altamonte to dinner this coming Monday night in appreciation of the outstanding job Altamonte did running the State Tournament.

...A Hand For Hovis

Don Crawford, District 14 administrator, said he is retiring this year. If so, he is definitely going out with a bang. The 12-year-old Altamonte Nationals won the state tournament as did the 14- and 15-year-old Altamonte Seniors, who need one win at Coral Springs for the Southern Region title. The 16- to 18-year-old District 14 Big Leaguers need just one victory this morning at Tinker Field to win the Southern Region.

"It's really been an unbelievable season," said Crawford. "The fact that we hosted two of the tournaments (Little Majors' state and Big League's Region) has made it that much more enjoyable."

Crawford cited Altamonte Little League president Jim Hovis and his staff as doing a "tremendous job" of running the state tournament at Altamonte. "It might have been one of the best jobs of hosting a tournament that I've ever seen," said Crawford. "There were no problems and all of the kids had a great time."

Hovis' staff included ground crew chief Jack Lang and his assistant, John Robb, announcers Ray (Coell) Orlando and Al Barbiero, official scorers Dave Jackson and Dick Sienkiewicz and trainer Dr. Nate James.

Check Or Not?

Mike Schmit claimed he checked his swing. In this sequence, but as the camera attests, photos don't lie. Above, Schmit has his head down, but then tries to stop his swing. At the far left, he has already crossed the plate. At the left, Schmit takes the long walk. The Altamonte Seniors can clinch a trip to the World Series with a victory Friday night.

Phillies Errors Lift Expos

Cubs, Moreland Sweep Mets — L.A. Tips Braves

United Press International

If to err is human and forgive divine, then "The Pope" has earned sainthood.

Not John Paul II, but Philadelphia Phillies' manager Paul Owens, whose nickname is "The Pope." He's sure put up with enough errors by his team this year.

The Phillies added three costly errors to their league-leading total Wednesday night which contributed to their 3-1 loss to the Montreal Expos.

"I wanted to hit my head on the wall after those three errors helped the Expos to that 3-0 lead," said Owens. "The game should have been 0-0, especially the way (Montreal starter Bill) Gullickson silenced our bats most of the way."

Errors by left fielder Jeff Stone, second baseman Juan Samuel and losing pitcher Jerry Koosman, 12-9, in the first inning put the Phillies' season total at 120 and opened the doors to three Montreal runs. With one out, Derrel Thomas and Andre Dawson singled. When Stone bobbled Dawson's hit for an error, the Expos had runners on first and third. Gary Carter hit into a fielder's choice for a 1-0 lead. On the play, Samuel threw the ball over the head of first baseman Len Matuszek trying to complete the double play, and Carter moved to second.

Koosman couldn't handle a throw while covering first base on Dan Driessen's grounder and Montreal had men on first and third. Tim Wallach walked to load the bases and Jim Wohlford then doubled to left to make it 3-0.

Gullickson, 7-7, coasted with a one-hit shutout until consecutive eighth-inning singles by Greg Gross, Ozzie Virgil and Tim Corcoran produced a run and knocked him out in favor of Jeff Reardon. The right-hander induced pinch hitter Sixto Lezcano into hitting an inning-ending double play and went on to record his 15th save as he combined on a six-hitter with Gullickson.

"Up to then Gully was pretty sharp," said Montreal manager Bill Virdon. "It turned out well. You're never wrong when the bullpen is good."

The victory was only the third in the last 10 games for the Expos, who are lingering in fifth place in the NL East, 13 1/2 games back of the Cubs.

The Phillies dropped to 7 1/2 games behind Chicago, but Owens still thinks there's plenty of time for the Phillies to repeat as NL champions.

"Our pitching has stood up very well and our spot in the standings doesn't bother me at the present time because there are still 50 games left to play," he said.

Tim Lincecum went 0-for-4 for the second straight day.

Cubs 7, Mets 6

At Chicago, Keith Moreland had three hits and drove in four runs to help the Cubs complete a beanball-filled four-game sweep. The victory was the sixth straight for the Cubs and their seventh in a row over the Mets, who dropped 4 1/2 games behind Chicago in the NL East. Reliever Lee Smith, 7-4, was the winner but was ejected along with Chicago manager Jim Frey in the ninth when he threw a pitch over the head of George Foster.

Dodgers 5, Braves 1

At Atlanta, Mike Scioscia had two hits with an RBI and Los Angeles turned three Atlanta errors into two more runs. Bob Welch, 9-11, extended

Don Sutton ...strikeout master

Record-Setting Sutton Stops Brewers' Slump

United Press International
Don Sutton is alone in the record book and his performance Wednesday night helped keep the Brewers out of it.

A.L. Baseball

White Sox 5, New York 4

At New York, hot-hitting Harold Baines had three hits — including his 19th homer — to lead surging Chicago to its seventh victory in the last eight games. Baines extended his hitting streak to 12 games with his third-inning blast off Phil Niekro, 13-6. Floyd Bannister, 10-7, continued his mastery of the Yankees as he improved his lifetime mark against New York to 10-2.

A's 5, Twins 0

At Oakland, Calif., Ray Burris and Bill Caudill combined on a four-hitter to pace the A's. Burris, 11-6, faced only one batter over the minimum through seven innings. Caudill pitched two innings for his club-record 25th save.

Mariners 7, Angels 2

At Seattle, Mark Langston, 10-9, and Ed Nunez combined on a five-hitter and rookie Alvin Davis drove in two runs with his 22nd homer and a single to help the Mariners break a six-game losing streak. Despite the loss, California remained a half-game behind first-place Minnesota in the AL West. Mike Witt, 11-9, took the loss.

Orioles 7, Indians 4

At Cleveland, rookie Mike Young belted a three-run homer and Benny Ayala smacked his second pinch-hit homer of the season to highlight a 15-hit attack that powered the Orioles. Mike Boddicker, 13-8, was the winner and Tippy Martinez got his 15th save. Steve Comer, 2-7, was the loser.

Reds 8, Tigers 0

At Boston, Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, 7-8, scattered seven hits for his first major-league shutout and catcher Rich Gedman knocked in five runs to lead the Red Sox. Boston jumped on Glenn Abbott, 3-5, for five unearned runs in the first inning, capped by Gedman's three-run homer.

Blue Jays 7, Rangers 2

At Arlington, Texas, Dave Collins drove in three runs and Ernie Whitt and Tony Fernandez each homered to lift the Blue Jays and Jim Clancy, 9-11, who won his second straight start. Danny Darwin, 6-7, took the loss.

Sutton surpassed the 100-strikeout mark for the 19th straight season — a major-league record — but more importantly to the Brewers, he sparked Milwaukee to a 3-2 triumph that prevented the club from setting a franchise-record 11 straight defeats.

"I figured the record was going to come sometime, but I wasn't too sure about the end of the streak," said Sutton, who allowed six hits and walked none in seven innings for his 277th career win.

"We needed a shot in the arm. It's unbelievable what's happened on this 0-10 ride. It seems like we'd play well and the other team would play better or we'd make a mistake and it would cost us three runs."

Sutton had shared the record with more notable strikeout artists Cy Young, Walter Johnson and Gaylord Perry.

"It was exciting because no one ever considered me a strikeout pitcher," the curly-haired right-hander said. "When you consider guys like Nolan Ryan and Walter Johnson and Christy Mathewson, I don't think anyone would have ever considered me."

At Cincinnati, Tom Foley slammed a two-run homer with one out in the bottom of the ninth off Rich Gossage to lift the Reds. Pinch hitter Kevin McReynolds tied it with a two-out solo homer off Mario Soto, 12-5, in the top of the inning.

Pirates 6, Cardinals 4

At St. Louis, Dale Berra drove in five runs with a grand slam and a single to power the Pirates. Berra's homer off reliever Jeff Lahti erased a 4-2 St. Louis lead in the sixth. John Candelaria, 10-8, got the win and St. Louis starter Rick Horton, 6-2, took the loss.

Astros 7, Giants 6

At Houston, Phil Garner's one-out single with the bases loaded in the bottom of the 12th inning scored Bill Dawley and lifted the Astros. Dawley, 6-4, pitched two innings for the victory. Mark Calvert, 1-2, was the loser.

COLUMBUS, Ga. — Mark Portugal and Curt Wardle combined on a seven-hitter as the Orlando Twins trimmed the Columbus Astros, 6-4, Wednesday night to move within two games of first place in the Southern League's East Division. League leader Charlotte lost to Jacksonville, 9-5.

Portugal earned his 10th win in 16 decisions by going the first 6 1/2 innings and giving up all four runs on six hits. He struck out six and walked eight. Wardle nailed down his 14th save with 2 1/2 scoreless, one-hit innings.

Mike Ryan and Greg Howe provided the power as Ryan clubbed a two-run homer in the fourth inning. Howe followed with his solo later to push the advantage to 4-1.

WEEK A GREAT DEAL IS HAPPENING

BMX: How You Can Get Involved

The sport of bicycle motocross has grown very popular in the past three years. A lot of kids want to get involved, but don't know how to do so.

Riders race 20-inch dirt bikes around a supervised clay track. The track consists of a gate time to a light, jumps, berms (steep curves), and small hills, called "whoop-de-dooos."

All riders and bicycles must pass track safety specifications. Riders are required to wear long pants, a long sleeve shirt, shoes, and a helmet with a faceguard. Some of the more serious riders invest in padded pants and jerseys made especially for BMX.

A racer's bicycle must have all reflectors, kickstands, and chainguards removed. The bike must be equipped with pads on the crossbar, gooseneck, and bodytube. A number plate is also necessary.

A new racer is put into a beginner class. This class is for a person who has never ridden a BMX track. The first three meets a racer races in are the only time they race beginner. Usually, all tracks award beginners trophies no matter what place they come in.

After a rider moves out of the beginner class, he must do one of two things: Either pay $20 and join the National Bike League and race novice, or race the open class.

The open class is beginners, novices, and experts mixed. This is a very tough class to compete in, because of all the different proficiencies.

As a new member of NBL, you are classified as a novice. This means you're not a beginner, but not a veteran either. As a member, you can race both novice and open class.

After the novice BMXer has earned 20 first, second or third place trophies, he can move up to the expert class. The expert class is for the riders who really know what they are doing. These kids are the veteran racers of the track.

Christy Davis
Herald BMX
Writer

The powder puff class is the girls class. Because there are so few girls racing, they are only classed by age, not ability.

The cruiser class is for 24-26-inch bikes. Because the bikes are so big, usually older people ride them.

Racing at Barnett Park in Pine Hills starts at 8 p.m. Registration is from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. After registration and inspection is completed, riders are free to practice until 7:30.

Just before race time, sheets are posted telling a rider when his race is and what lanes he has. Motors (races) are staged in back of the starting hill. Each class races three different times, with riders in three different lanes. The points from each rider's finish are added up, and the rider with the lowest overall score is awarded first place. The same with second through eighth place.

For more information, contact Art Beeler at 293-1139.

Racing at Barnett Park this week was different from any other. Orange County came out and built up the jumps for the racers.

In the 13-beginner class, Scott Lucia placed third in his last beginner race. Next week Lucia will join NBL and race novice.

Mike Deag raced his second beginner race in the 13-beginner class and placed fourth.

Sixteen-year-old Tony Clancy raced his last beginner race, and finished the night with a second.

In the 7-novice class, Jason Wesson was slick as oil, as he came out of retirement to win a first in his class.

Eight-year-old Jamie Garner placed second in the 8-novice class.

Eight-year-old Dusty Cummins placed second for the night.

In the 11-novice class Daryl Bowles had some tough competition, and still managed a fifth place.

In the 12-novice class, riders had to make a main event. In the main, Andy Spence captured first place, with Stacy Johnson crossing the finish line in second. Craig Bowles came in sixth, and Mike Davis finished up in eighth place.

Also racing 12-novice was Brad Dyess. Unfortunately, Brad was unable to qualify for the main.

In the 12-open class, J.P. Adams placed eighth.

In the 13-novice class, Ronnie Brewer had another perfect night. First again.

Also participating in the 13-novice class was Mike Garner. Lately, Mike seems to have fallen in a slump. Mike could only pull an eighth place.

Thirteen-year-old expert Shawn Cummins placed fourth in the action Saturday night.

In the 14-novice class, Brian Lane of Lake Mary placed third.

Fourteen experts were combined with the 15-novices. Fourteen-expert David Sanborn placed second, while 15-novice John Poole came in first.

This Saturday is double points and Super Trophy Night at Barnett Park. Aug. 18 is Double Points at Lake Alfred.

A BMX rider goes airborne at Barnett Park in Pine Hills. Racing begins every Saturday at 8 p.m. Many Seminole County riders participate in the fast-growing and exciting sport.

At Lake Brantley, Tuillis said physicals for varsity players will be Monday at 5:30 p.m. in the gym. Physicals for junior varsity players is Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. There is a $5 charge for each physical.

Tuillis said the varsity will open practice Wednesday at 8 a.m. and the junior varsity will begin at 9 a.m.

The Patriots return some quality players. Quarterback Dennis Groseclose returns for his third varsity season. Steve Emmons, a senior, and Mike Beams, a sophomore, led an explosive backfield. Cornerback Scott Salmon and tackle Dean Shirley lead the defensive returns.

At Oviedo, Blanton has physicals scheduled for Dr. Robert Likens office in Casselberry on state Road 436 at 4 p.m. Oviedo's first varsity practice will be Wednesday at 9 a.m.

"We're optimistic this year," laughed Blanton. "We expect five offensive linemen to move in on Monday. We haven't had a kid move in for two years."

The Lions do have some nice holdovers, though. Charles "Pop" Bowers and Andrew Smith form an explosive backfield along with quarterback Kevin Thompson.

To bolster the line, 200-pounder Larry Grayson has been moved to tackle and former linebacker Scott Iner shifts to guard. They join returning center Tim Willis. Defensively, Mark Howell is a top performer at linebacker.

At Lake Howell, Biscaglia is facing a major rebuilding job. Physicals for all fall athletes will be Tuesday at 12 noon in the gym. Lake Howell will hold its first varsity practice at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Biscaglia's number one priority is finding a quarterback to replace third-team all-stater Darin Slack. Tight end Allan Jack and sophomore Terry Gammons are the top prospects. Senior Steve Innanen is top returnee at running back while defensive tackle Harold Crowley returns to bolster the line.

Opening games will be Friday, Sept. 7.

Breland Leads Boxers Into Semifinals

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Genaro Leon of Mexico made two big mistakes. First, he listened to the talk about three-time world amateur welterweight champion Mark Breland becoming tentative and being afraid to risk injury to his right hand. Second, Leon believed it. Breland, the overwhelming Olympic gold medal favorite, was bombarded with criticism following two decisive but lackluster victories in preliminary rounds in which he refused to use his vaunted right hand, on which he required surgery a year ago.

"Tonight you saw the real Mark Breland," he said. "The real Mark Breland had been hiding behind a lot of pressure."

Friends Invited Stowe Honored On 90th Birthday

E. B. Stowe, popular Sanford artist and art teacher, will be honored on his 90th birthday with a party at his home in Indian Mound Village on Aug. 30, from 5-7 p.m.

Hosless for the gala event is Pat Sentell who invites friends and former students to call during the appointed hours. "No gifts, please," is the order of the day. Attire is casual.

Stowe, who still teaches art in his home, was born in Mt. Dora and spent part of his youth in the West. His colorful Florida landscapes have been in demand and many of his paintings hang around the nation as well as in the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and Seminole County Courthouse.

Stowe said he didn't start painting until he was 19 and didn't take his work seriously until he was about 50.

He selected the site for his home 40 years ago with his artist's eyes for tropical beauty. Stowe has an affinity for nature which he expresses in his painting.

Assisting at the birthday celebration will be Bettye Smith, Betty Place, Jan Place, Martha Yancey, Wanda Steffens and Lourine Messenger.

Woman A Four-Time Loser In Counseling

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you two years ago when I was having a midlife crisis. I signed myself "Fat and Forty." You said, "Get counseling," so I took your advice and here's what happened.

I saw four psychologists. The first one tried to talk me into going to bed with him. He said it would be good "therapy," for which I was supposed to pay him.

The second one (a woman) told me if I wanted to be fulfilled as a woman, I should quit my job and have babies before it was too late.

The third therapist was also in a midlife crisis, and he kept telling me his troubles.

The fourth one wanted me to get high with him.

None of these counselors was cheap, and they were all recommended by a reliable source.

I'm still going through a midlife crisis, but I just wanted you to know that counseling isn't the answer for everybody.

Sign me...

STILL FAT (BUT FORTY-TWO)

DEAR F. AND F.: After four lemons, I don't blame you for being soured on counseling. If you're still going through a midlife crisis, I stand by my original advice. Get counseling. But this time seek a referral through your county mental health association.

It is imperative that you report the unethical conduct of the four therapists to the professional association that licensed them to practice. And also tell the "reliable" source who recommended them that they were anything but reliable.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My brother was recently married in a church wedding. During the service, three times the minister made a reference to the "long and loving marriage of the bride's parents." And each time, he implored the young couple to follow the shining example set by the parents of the bride.

No mention was made of the groom's parents, who had also had a long and loving marriage until death parted them a short time ago.

My mother, still a grieving widow, was deeply hurt by this omission, and at the third mention of the "long and loving marriage of the bride's parents," my mother, my sister and I were reduced to tears. Later, in private, and with the hopes of sparing some future parents a similar hurt, we explained our feelings to the minister.

Although my father was not physically present at the wedding, he was present in the hearts of all of us. Death does not invalidate 32 years of loving and caring.

My question: Was it improper for us to express our pain to the minister? Or do you think we were being oversensitive?

HURT IN DOWNER'S GROVE, ILL.

DEAR HURT: It was not improper to have expressed your pain to the minister. I'm sure he learned a lesson he will not soon forget. (So will other clergymen who read this.) His "sin of omission" can be attributed to thoughtlessness and lack of preparation. He was obviously acquainted only with the bride's family and didn't bother to inquire about the family of the groom. It was an unfortunate oversight.

You were justifiably sensitive, but I'm sure the minister meant no harm.

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand one more letter concerning how older people feel when nurses, doctors, etc. address them by their first names?

One morning I was sitting in the waiting room of my dentist's office along with five or six others waiting to be called. The new dental hygienist (about the age of my granddaughter) appeared and called out loudly, "Gerrude" ADD

I stood up and as I followed her into the dentist's office I informed her that I preferred to be called "Mrs. Eastman." In a rather sarcastic tone she said, "Well, excuse me. I was only trying to be friendly."

I informed her that this was not a social call.

Did Giving Up Steroids, Or Accutane Cure Acne?

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — Can you give me some information on a drug called Accutane? My husband's dermatologist has recently prescribed this for his acne. He's 36 and has real problems with scarring acne, especially when he is using steroids, which he does on occasion for his powerlifting training.

Is this drug safe for him to take? I can see a definite improvement in his acne but now he has been off steroids for quite a while, so I don't know which is causing the improvement.

DEAR READER — I see that you do know that steroids can cause acne. That's why it first occurs in both boys and girls at the time of puberty, when the sex steroid hormones are active. Giving steroids for a variety of medical problems can also cause acne. I would think with your husband's history that stopping steroids and not using them in the future is a must for the best control of his acne problem.

The use of steroids for building muscles is questionable; it can cause more serious side effects than the benefit of larger muscles. Ask if your husband's dermatologist knows that your husband uses steroids.

Accutane is a relatively new drug and has a drying effect on the skin, literally drying up the oily secretions associated with acne. But it's not recommended except for severe cases of acne or for those who won't respond to the more conventional treatment outlined in the Health Letter 8-2, Acne Can Be Treated, which I'm sending you.

The main complication of Accutane is the dryness that it causes. It can dry the nose and even cause the eyes to be so dry that artificial tears must be used. Careful observation while taking it is necessary.

Patients usually take it for 15 to 20 weeks. In many cases, that will induce a relatively permanent remission of acne. When it doesn't, another course of treatment can be given. It has been reported to be successful in clearing cystic acne in 70 percent to 90 percent of the patients treated with it.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your column about the 55-year-old woman who had lost all interest in sex. The same thing has happened to me, only I'm just 29.

DEAR READER — Don't be too hasty. Not everyone is as gung-ho for sex as you might imagine from all the emphasis on it. Sexual desire may be related to habit and emotional factors. Technique is sometimes a factor. Hormones are a factor in some cases. You can have an early menopause.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby
"Avoidance," as a bridge term, is defined by The Official Encyclopedia of Bridge as a plan of play designed to prevent a particular opponent from gaining the lead. If declarer had remembered this definition, he might have worked out a way to apply technique.

On the opening lead, South covered East's spade queen with the king and started on the diamonds. When West showed out, there were only eight tricks available, and three no-trump was down one.

Declarer should not mind relinquishing a diamond trick if he can keep the lead away from East. Since the original opening bid marks West with the heart ace, South can safely lead a low heart at trick two. If West grabs the ace and tries to cash spade tricks, nine will be made. If the heart jack wins, declarer can safely pass the nine of diamonds. Even if West holds the diamond jack, the defenders will be unable to take more than four tricks.

On the actual layout, there is a reward for virtue. When the diamond nine wins, declarer can score an overtrick as frosting on the cake.

This type of play, which sacrifices a trick when West has the diamond jack and diamonds split evenly, is always right at rubber bridge. The play is questionable, but should be taken if your judgment as declarer is that most North-South pairs will not reach game.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY AUGUST 10, 1984

This coming year you are likely to become involved in a number of partnerships. The ones you establish for social purposes will turn out to be fun, but business alliances might not. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Take care today that you are not extra-nice to one friend at the expense of another. This is a bad day to attempt to play favorites. Major changes are in store for Leos in the coming year. Send for your year-ahead predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Small repair jobs around the house could turn out to be expensive if you call in outside help. Get your tool kit out fast and see what you can do yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Unless you manage your resources prudently today, there's a good chance you could slip into a spending spree and waste more cash than you should at this time. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Persons who like you will be looking out for your interests today, but don't take the good things that are do for you for granted. Be appreciative. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Weigh your words carefully today so that they can't be twisted by one who likes to create problems. Don't let this person conjure up unintended meanings. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Think carefully today before becoming involved with a friend who has a rather unlucky business history or you could end up sharing his dark cloud. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) An important objective could elude you today if you fail to tackle the situation head-on. Nothing will be gained by skirting issues. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your best opportunities today are likely to be of a fleeting nature. When you see the signals, get off your duff and swing into action. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Proposals that you suggest today may not be acted upon by the other parties involved, since they could have motives they're reluctant to reveal. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Let your own intuition and judgment guide you today in important career matters. Don't rely too heavily upon the conclusions of associates. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In joint ventures today, be sure the burden and responsibility are distributed equally. Each person must carry his or her own weight. CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll handle unusual or unexpected developments in stride today, but you could have difficulty with a problem you haven't yet resolved.

Richard Nixon Still Controversial After All These Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard Nixon bade an emotional farewell to his staff, promised "I'll be back" and, waving his fingers in the familiar victory sign, left the White House in disgrace 10 years ago today.

At the height of the scandal that drove him from office, Nixon asked Americans to stop "wallowing in Watergate" and get on with the business at hand — the Vietnam War, then winding down; oil shortages with nerve-frazzling gasoline lines and rising inflation.

Richard Nixon ...resigned presidency 10 years ago today

His plea was in vain. For more than a decade — and with no prospect of subsiding — America's fascination with Watergate and its leading figure has approached an obsession.

Even those citizens who in apparently increasing numbers are willing to forgive are not ready to forget. Richard Nixon remains one of the most controversial leaders ever.

Ever since he entered politics by defeating Democratic Rep. Jerry Voorhees for a House seat from California in 1946, Nixon has inspired controversy on a national scale. Opinions of him range from reverence to hatred — but never indifference. After the "smoking gun" White House tapes revealed he had ordered the CIA to halt the FBI's investigation of Watergate, Nixon announced on the night of Aug. 8 that he would resign effective at noon, Aug. 9.

Elliot Richardson, whose resignation and that of his deputy William French Smith in what came to be known as the "Saturday Night Massacre" prompted the first public calls for Nixon's impeachment, commented Wednesday: "I think he (Nixon) still thinks in terms of self-justification rather than an apology to the American public. I think that is sad. He had it in his grasp to be a great president," he said.

Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward, the investigative reporters for The Washington Post who were largely responsible for exposing the link of the Watergate burglary to the White House and subsequent developments, appeared separately on television Wednesday to comment on the anniversary.

On ABC's "Good Morning America," Bernstein was asked if he thinks the former president has been rehabilitated.

"I think a man has a right to redeem himself," he said. Watergate "had a cleansing effect on our system," Bernstein said. "I think we're probably better as a country in some ways."

Woodward, on NBC's "Today" program, asked if he is re-evaluating Nixon 10 years later, said recent reports about Nixon's private dictations during his presidency reveal "the other face of Richard Nixon."

"I don't think this amounts to a re-evaluation but I think it amounts to realization ... that that side exists," he said.

"It's All In God's Hands," De Lorean Says After Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — With the jury finally deliberating drug trafficking charges against John De Lorean, his attorneys say they are "... nervous, scared, anxious, hopeful," and the former automaker says his fate is "all in God's hands."

The six women and six men began deliberations at 9:48 a.m. Wednesday, the 82nd day of the celebrated trial. The panel met less than four hours, adjourning at 1:30 p.m. The jury was not sequestered.

"We're nervous, scared, anxious, hopeful," chief defense attorney Howard Weitzman said. "We hope the jury will do what we think is the right thing."

"It's all in God's hands," De Lorean said after U.S. District Court Judge Robert Takasugi instructed the jury on the law.

Prosecutors declined comment. If convicted of all eight counts, De Lorean, 59, could be sentenced to 87 years in prison and fined $180,000. He left the courthouse with his fashion model wife, Cristina Ferrare, and planned to await the verdict at her family's home.

De Lorean is charged with investing $2 million in a scheme to import and distribute $24 million worth of cocaine, hoping the profits would bail out his dying Northern Ireland sports car company. The Belfast factory was closed hours after De Lorean's October 1982 arrest.

Takasugi told jurors they should not worry about whether their verdict would be seen as a victory or defeat for the government, and explained: "The government always wins when justice is done, whether the verdict is guilty or not guilty."

Although De Lorean's attorneys have carefully avoided saying their client was entrapped by federal agents, Takasugi told jurors to consider the possibility of illegal entrapment and explained the legalities.

To acquit him under that circumstance, he said, they must find evidence that De Lorean would not have committed any crimes unless first approached by government agents.

Conversely, he said, "if you find evidence that John De Lorean was induced, then you must go on to consider whether (he was) 'already' predisposed ... willing to commit the act," which the prosecutors claimed he was.

The judge also told jurors to use the "utmost caution" and "great care" in considering the testimony of the prosecution's star witness, paid informant James Hoffman, because he is a convicted drug dealer and admitted perjurer.

It was Hoffman who launched the government's investigation by claiming De Lorean approached him in June 1982 and asked him to engineer the drug deal. De Lorean claims he was interested only in a legitimate business deal.

Union To Keep Doctors On Ice

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI) — A union has come up with a morbid new tactic for winning its industrial dispute with doctors.

The union, which is backing affiliates in a battle with Canberra orthopedic surgeons over medicare, Wednesday ordered workers not to bury or cremate the surgeons if they die.

Bob Elkin, an organizer for the Federated Engine Drivers and Firemen's Association, which represents cemetery and crematorium workers, said the workers would keep any surgeons who happened to die in cold storage until the dispute was settled.

Elkin said he saw nothing wrong with the tactic.

"If they want to carry on like scalywags, well the bastards can sit in the fridge," he said. "I'm sure once one or two of them have dropped off they might have a change of heart and start talking."

Peter Hughes, a spokesman for the Australian Medical Association, said: "I don't know of any doctors who are crook (Australian slang for sick) so it doesn't worry us."

The union ban followed the refusal of the orthopedic surgeons to sign medical certificates and workers' compensation reports for unionists in Canberra, the nation's capital.

The surgeons took the measure after the unions, angered that many doctors were moving from public to private hospitals, refused to do construction work on a new fracture facility at a hospital.

The unions claim the doctors are destroying Australia's universal health care system by working in private hospitals where they can earn higher fees.

Hawkins: Officials Involved In 'Narco-Terrorism'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Photographs taken by Drug Enforcement Agency informants and released by Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Winter Park, allegedly show Nicaraguan government involvement in "narco-terrorism."

Mrs. Hawkins Tuesday displayed photographs she said showed members of the Nicaraguan military at Los Brasiles air base outside of Managua loading an airplane with crates of cocaine.

"The drugs-for-guns scheme, dreamed up by (Cuban leader Fidel) Castro and perpetuated by Nicaragua is working like a charm," she said at a news conference.

Mrs. Hawkins, chairwoman of the Senate Caucus on Drug Abuse, said, "The Nicaraguan government, with utter contempt for its democratic neighbors, is conspiring with Colombian and other Latin American drug dealers to run drugs to the United States."

She said the photographs taken June 26 by Paula Hawkins...says Nicaraguan officials are actively involved in export of narcotics to the U.S.

DEA informants were part of an agency "ating," in which a C-130 transport airplane was provided the drug smugglers. She said 800 pounds of cocaine were seized in the operation. Three photographs, though dark and cloudy, clearly showed four men passing crates or boxes in the shadow of the transport.

Mrs. Hawkins said the photographs showed Frederico Vaughan, an assistant to Nicaragua's interior minister, Thomas Borge, and Pablo Escobar, an elected Colombian official, supervising and taking part in the loading.

She identified men in the photographs as Escobar, Vaughan, a DEA informant and a figure wearing a hat, military clothing, and a sidearm.

Mrs. Hawkins acquired the photographs from Stanley Marcus, U.S. Attorney for southern Florida, who used them as evidence in the arraignment of 11 people, including Vaughan and Escobar, in Miami on drug-related charges.

A spokeswoman for the Nicaraguan Embassy in Washington said, "We haven't seen the pictures, but we understand they are not that good. We consider it just part of Reagan's propaganda."

She said Vaughan had worked in a shoe factory for Nicaragua's interior ministry three years ago but has not been employed by the Sandinista government since.

Mrs. Hawkins said a former Nicaraguan diplomat, Antonio Farach, told her that Cuban defense minister Raul Castro, brother of president Fidel Castro, and Nicaraguan defense chief Umberto Ortega hatched the drug plot that Vaughan later carried out.

Farach testified last week before the Labor and Human Resources subcommittee on alcoholism and drug abuse, which Hawkins also heads.

"It's not by accident that Miami is being flooded with cocaine. Nicaragua is a drug smuggler's dream," Mrs. Hawkins said.

"Imagine a country, halfway between all of the world's cocaine and the United States," she said. "A country that would allow you to use its military airstrips and its soldiers."

"As these photos demonstrate, that dream has come true."

Congress Tired Of $9,600 Wrenches, $357 Hammers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Making a move to end spare parts horror stories, the Senate has unanimously approved a measure that would reform Pentagon and general government purchasing practices.

The legislation, approved 94-0 Tuesday, now goes to conference with the House.

In addition to attacking problems in Pentagon buying, the legislation expands opportunities for small businesses to get government contracts and standardizes buying practices government-wide.

The provisions on spare parts initially were added to the nearly $300 billion defense authorization bill. That bill, however, is stalled in a conference committee, so backers added them to Tuesday's legislation to keep them alive.

The author of many of the reforms in Pentagon spare parts buying, Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., said the legislation could save "hundreds of millions of dollars a year at the outset, and perhaps billions of dollars a year ultimately."

He said Pentagon spare parts buying should top $18 billion this year.

The legislation, he said, will "stimulate a great deal of competition that otherwise would not have existed."

Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., head of the Small Business Committee whose bill contained many purchasing reforms and became the vehicle for Levin's amendments, said more competition "will benefit large business as well as small business and, equally as important, will result in substantial cost savings and quality improvements, as more agencies reap the benefits of the full and open marketplace."

Also in the bill are provisions restricting the ability of prime contractors to keep the government from buying parts directly from subcontractors. It also includes provisions to expand the access of small businesses to contracts awarded by government agencies.

The provision requires the Pentagon to take into account when deciding what firm gets a contract the length of time bidding firms say they want exclusive rights to the data. It would give the government possession of the proprietary rights if development of the part was paid by the taxpayers rather than the contractor.

In addition, the amendment would:

—Restrict the amount of overhead a contractor can add on to a part, a requirement aimed specifically at such horror stories as the $9,600 allen wrench, the $357 hammer and the three plastic caps for an airplane seat that cost the government about $1,000. That provision would apply only to the Pentagon, while the rest would apply government-wide.

—Require contractors selling an item to the government that also sold to the public to pledge the price is at least equal to the lowest commercial price. If that claim is false, the contractor could be prosecuted.

—Ask contractors to notify the government when a purchase is too small to be produced economically. This would help cover cases where the government needs one or two of an item in the short run but by stockpiling the part with a bigger purchase could save in the long run.

—Reward employees who save the government money.

—Require wider distribution of information on government purchasing regulations.

Florida's Wild Porkers Live High On The Hog

PORT SAINT LUCIE (UPI) — Marauding bands of wild pigs are terrorizing Florida in growing numbers, rooting up gardens, unearthing buried cables and even making an occasional forays onto the Kennedy Space Center.

"They're all over the place," said Helen Ridsdale, supervisor of the Port St. Lucie Animal Control Office.

"They live on the island and swim across to the mainland to forage. They're just like a pig — when they go through an area, they turn everything over."

Five wild hogs charged through the Spanish Lakes mobile home community last week plowing up flower gardens, rooting out plants and even excavating a buried television cable.

No accurate estimate is available for how many wild pigs are roaming the state.

"No one really knows, but there are certainly as many wild hogs as there are alligators," said Lt. Bill Lampton of the Florida Game Commission.

In Sarasota, more than 280 of the wild pigs have been rounded up in the past year. Another 113 were trapped or shot at the Lakes Wildlife Management Area near Orlando.

Wild pigs have even been sighted on the landing strip at the Kennedy Space Center. Those animals are descendants of domestic pigs turned loose by farmers who sold their land to the government for the space center.

In Brevard County, deputies round up porkers in the Cape Canaveral area, fatten them up, slaughter them and feed them to county prisoners.

The hogs have the same temper as wild boars, are smarter than dogs and have few natural predators, officials said.
