THIS RAWLS GIRL CAN SWIM, TOO

Katherine Rawls isn't the only member of the Rawls family who can swim. Her sister Evelyn, also shown at the right, has already had her first swim lesson. The recently known Katherine, who was a swimmer in college, taught both of her sisters to swim in the second floor of their home, which they now live in Fort Lauderdale. (Associated Press Photo)

BATTLING FOR BLUE EAGLE'S LIFE

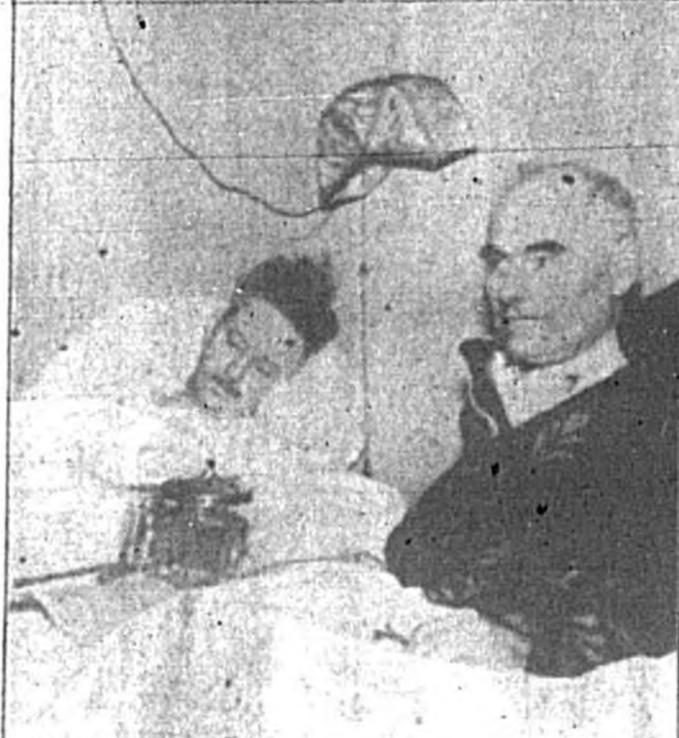

While Congress debated the proposed NRA bill, the administration's chief spokesman, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, left, and Senator George Norris, right, were discussing the fairness of the proposed legislation. Their argument, like that of the NRA supporters, was that it was unconstitutional. (Associated Press Photo)

WOMEN WIN PULITZER AWARDS

The highest honors in the field of American drama and literature for 1934 went to women with the award of Pulitzer prizes to Zora Neale Hurston for her play, "The Old Maid," and to Josephine Johnson (right) for her first novel, "Now in November." Both native Missourians, Award of the play prize stirred up a controversy because it was adapted from a story. (Associated Press Photo)

KIDNAPING AROUSES TUMULT

Ill-feeling has flared up in Gallup, N. M., between Robert Minor, New York commando, and David L. Levinson, Philadelphia lawyer, on the one hand, and officers investigating their abduction and flogging to a hooded band. The investigators charged "Every effort was made to conceal the facts and prevent us from getting to the bottom of the kidnaping" of the past six weeks. To New Mexico to defend 10 counts charged with murder in a riot of the jibes. Levinson (left) and Minor are shown in the hospital after they were found unconscious and barely able to walk. Smiling Princess Awaits Divorce

Completing 25 years on the throne, King George of England was paid tribute by millions of subjects who joined in a monster silver jubilee celebration. This picture, sent to New York by radio, shows the King and Queen in St. Paul's Cathedral in London as they attended the service. The rulers rode to the cathedral from Buckingham palace in a great procession. (Associated Press Photo)

HOOVER HITS NEW DEAL AS 'ZOO'

Many people are now ready to believe that the administration's new deal is lighter and more effective than the suppressed version of it. President Hoover, left, has been advised to act quickly to make his new deal more effective. (Associated Press Photo)

SAMSON HAD NOTHING ON HIM

Engaged in a bitter controversy with the state highway department, Gov. Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina became a potential Samson when J. W. Keen of Cross Hill, S. C., sent him the jawbone of an ass and advised him to use it like the biblical strongman did against the Philistines. The governor, shown with the bone, replied it would be "mighty need it in the near future." (Associated Press Photo)

Cutting's Opponent Is His Successor

SANTA FE, N. M., May 14 (UPI)—An urgent campaign for the nomination of Democratic Senator Charles E. Cutler to succeed him in the Senate was under way here yesterday. He is the only member of the Senate to oppose the new Revenue Act, which cut taxes on the rich. A minimum tax of 47 cents was accepted by the Senate and endorsed by Gov.

Coast Line Pays $5000 To Van Meter's Widow

BARTOW, May 14 (UPI)—The Atlanta Coast Line Railroad has paid $3,000 to the heirs of Benjamin F. Van Meter, Lakeland engineer who died in Thomasville hospital last December from injuries received when his train, the Southern, was wrecked near Perry, according to administrative sources. Van Meter died in County Judge Chester M. Wiggin's office. It was stated that the deceased possessed no real personal property.

The widow, Gertrude Van Meter, 411 Hillcrest drive, Lakeland, received $1,000 from the company, but it was necessary for her to pay attorney fees and other incidental costs out of her portion. A stepson, Benjamin, Jr., age 9, got $1,000 and a step-daughter, Joann, 6, was given $500. It was stated.

The United States has become the chief source of Poland's imports, replacing Germany, which formerly held first position.

If the Telephone were Not There!

MANY TIMES each day you reach for the telephone on your desk at the office or in its familiar spot at home. It is an old and trusted friend. You scarcely give a thought to what it means to a busy day.

Yet suppose the telephone were not there! Suppose—for a week—or a month—you could not call anybody by telephone and nobody could call you! The whole machinery of business and the home would be thrown out of gear. Orders would be lost—efficiency and profits reduced. You would be out of touch with your world.

America needs quick, reliable telephone service to get things done in the brief, crisp American manner. And it enjoys the best service in the world. America leads in telephone service. In relation to population there are six times as many telephones in this country as in Europe and the telephone is used nine times as much.

Greater progress has been made in this country because of the Bell System's one policy, one system and universal service.

National, House Split Over RA Extension

Representatives Will Have Nothing But
Two Year Renewal
Asked By President

WASHINGTON, May 15.—A major conflict extending the NRA died today between the Senate and the House.

A measure extending the act six months was whacked by the Senate yesterday. At today's House leaders, Rep. Speaker Burns, indicated they would accept less than the two year term desired by President Roosevelt.

Present law expires June 30.

SUCCUMBS

Hughes May Be Boosted For Presidency

Chief Justice's View On Railroad Pension Bill Makes Him Potential Candidate

ROBERT PLUMMER WASHINGTON, May 15.—The dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Hughes in the railroad retirement act test immediately was hailed in some political quarters in Washington as qualifying him for the Republican presidential nomination in 1936 if the party goes "Jiberal."

The converse of that picture would seem to be that Justice Roberts of Pennsylvania, whose name has tickled about in 1936 G. O. P. talk due to his previous affiliation with the liberal wing of the court, has read himself out of the race by joining the conservative bloc of the court on the same issue.

It seems fairly certain, however, to those politicians who have studied the text of the Hughes decision that it will be revived at Republican sectional meetings now in the offing.

The sponsors of these meetings have said flatly no questions of nominations will be permitted to interfere with their effort to evolve a new party code of principles.

As a matter of practical politics, however, they know that personal leadership is the greatest force in shaping party destiny.

Consider William Jennings Bryan in 1908. It was the man who made the issue then and not the issue the man. The same was true with Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, the results of which are obviously the underlying causes of this wave of western party reorganization activity now.

Charles Evans Hughes, 74, will be 74 in 1936. It might be a different story if ultimately the issue between conservatism and liberalism is to reach a crisis in the supreme court. Hughes' attitude and political history in view of his consistently liberal record since he returned to the supreme court, conceivably could make of him a figure around which the progressive element of the Republican party could rally.

The decision was unanimous. The Board voted to call upon the United States Department of Agriculture to continue its market news service for a longer period in the future so that the Orlando section might avail itself of the service until its season has ended.

W. H. Schmidt was elected to represent the organization on the Seminole County Health Council, and each community in the county was asked to select a representative to serve on the council.

An address by Carl F. Bohle, assistant state forester, was the feature of the evening after business had been disposed of.

The Board expressed its appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Williams for the map which they recently prepared in which Sanford is featured as the ideal point from which to start for visits to other Florida points of interest.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

LEVE EIGHTY TODAY: Bowt not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.—Proverbs 27:1.

AND IT WAS SO

In the long darkness before spring,
In the cold rain's hour,
What air was too long empty of song and wing,
As earth of flower.

I awoke into the void the weeds
That had troubled my breast;
And suddenly all the air was filled
With birds.

And suddenly flowers pressed.
Out my feet... and it was so

For an hour with earth and sky—
And I thought of a word that was spoken long ago.
And why.

David Martin.

NO FORGOTTEN SONG

Be gentle, new friend, remember much.

The older waters knew
Of clouds like sheep, and golden sun.

And swallows birds which flew
Beyond the outer rim of sea
To meet the fading sun.

Oh, burden which the waves bear!
Alone must take along
The love of one I would forget—
A strain from some old song!

Virginia Scott Miller.

BURDEN

The complete words printed beneath like a hand out through
And there is a steady resonance

in the silence,
And the sound of a lone tree-saw

Followed by others

in minutes of silent, aching silence.

Taken with rest

A hundred voices sing eager from the depths

No longer worn in bloom but, still great beauty

that sing three notes, three notes

To listening hearts

Singing in glee full, and another

tried to sing

of iron plates crawling on a base expense.

(The watchman's phone booms,

The echo of load,

The pipe-smoke curling down a temple dance

From a tall palm island from down board.)

Movie Magic

When you are sitting in a theater watching a moving picture and you see what looks to be a terrific storm at sea, with driving sheets of rain and huge waves breaking over the bow of a ship, you are really seeing what actually took place in a studio back yard.

The Hollywood technicians have become so skilled they can produce any kind of weather the movie directors want. Hurricanes, blizzards, thunder and lightning are "child's play" for the weather-makers. The only weather problem which they haven't yet mastered is how to make hail stones. They have tried moth balls, but they are said to bounce too high.

On one Hollywood studio lot there is a huge man-made pool holding 4,000,000 gallons of water. It was here that the storm sequences of "Moby Dick" and other sea thrillers were made. Over the top of the pool are located large tanks of water which supply the "rain," and nearby are fans which supply the "wind."

If thunder and lightning are desired, the head of the electrical department takes charge. He can make a half dozen varieties of lightning. Thunder is supplied later by the sound effects department. All this is called a "kinder-garden job."

Snow is supplied by means of bleached corn-flakes and bags of feathers wafted down from over-head. Sacks of marble dust, gypsum and such are used for hard-packed snow. A real snow machine, which whittles off little flakes from blocks of ice, is a supplementary device brought into use when close-ups are made.

The Hollywood experts had one request which almost stumped them. A director demanded a fog effect which would blanket the ground but would not conceal the actors. After much puzzling a system was evolved for bringing glycerine and oil down to a very low temperature and then spraying it over the floor. Because the mixture was colder and heavier than the air, it hung cloud-like around the actors' ankles.

So realistic are the weather effects in the movies, it is said that when a dust storm was portrayed, half of the audience in a certain city began coughing.

Death Ray

Before every war it is heard that some instrument of destruction will wipe out whole armies and civilian populations in one fell swoop. Everything that had ever been thought of for killing people was tried out in the last great conflict but nothing was discovered which could not be done.

Now it is the death ray which the Miami News says Professor Jacques Brettman, radiologist of the University of Paris has discovered. "It will kill a mouse instantly at 30 feet." French scientists say the News, have done remarkable things with rays of various sorts. With artificial sunshine they once grew strawberries far superior to those produced by ordinary means, and in much less time. The rub was that the cost of the current made the price $5 per berry. Professor Brettman's death ray has the same handicap. It cost him $2,000 to kill the mouse. He has done away with further experimentation of that sort because of the financial outlay required.

"What it would cost to kill a man with this death ray were that possible, might be too much even for the dandified extravagance of war, particularly when there are so many other cheaper and equally practical methods of extinguishing human life." But professor Brettman says there is a more important reason why we need not worry about such a weapon in a dimensional conflict. The death ray which is likely to be realized if at all, for many years. If Professor Brettman were to discover it he thinks he would throw the formula into the sea. He is a skeptical sort of the reports that German scientists have developed a beam which stops the motion of a bullet miles away.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Woodmen of the World was founded by the Woodmen of the World in 1883 and had their Memorial service and meeting of a thousand at the Lakewood cemetery on Sunday afternoon, June 12, 1911. The service will be most impressive and interesting and everyone is invited to attend the exercises. The program will be performed on a late issue of The Herald. In the evening Rev. Stevensen of the Methodist Church will preach the sermon for Memorial. Woodmen may at the Star Theater.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian Church have a debate tonight on the merits of the proper way to reach a man's heart. The debate will be held in the Brothman room at the Presbyterian Church on the public is cordially invited to attend.

W. W. Britt was here this week from Longhorne and sold his place to Mr. and Mrs. Will Prevatt—three acres of land and a house at Moore's Station.

Plans were made by the Plant Board of Florida yesterday which will enable the advisory committee to go ahead with the eradication of the citrus canker and other pests protecting the growers and farmers of the state.

Everyone is invited to the meeting of the executive head which is to be convened at a later date. This was adopted by the board. The committee is composed of three members as follows: Dr. H. P. Holtz, director of the experiment station at Gainesville; L. E. Tenny of Orlando, manager of the Growers and Shippers League; and W. J. Krome of Homestead, chief engineer of the Florida East Coast railway corporation.

Miss Louisie Hillberry was the guest of honor at a very charming party given by Mrs. Fannie Munson, Thursday evening. Mrs. Munson's guests were those who will take part on the radio program Monday night.

VISUAL NEWS of the WORLD in PICTURES

FATHER, SON HELD IN INSURANCE 'TORCH' MURDER

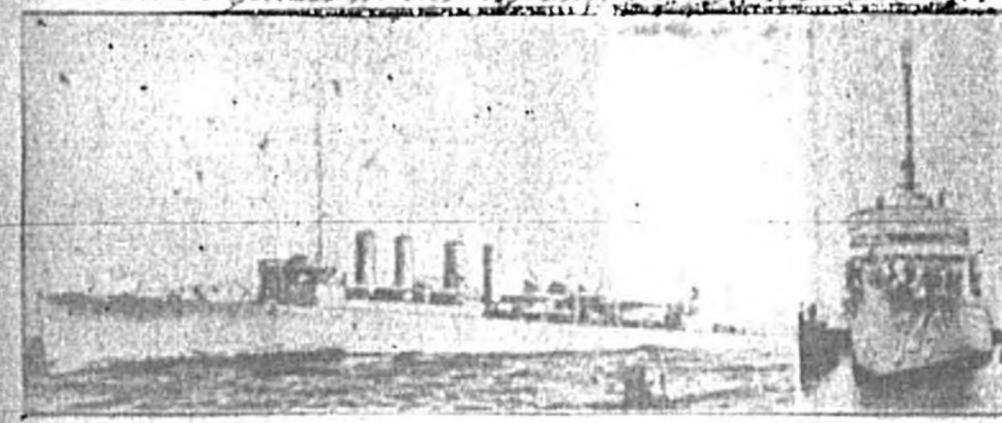

Frank J. Stasio, 51, Revere, Mass., candy shop proprietor, and his son, Anthony, were indicted at Cambridge, Mass., after police said they had焰ed burning to death an unidentifiable man in a plot to collect $12,500 insurance. The man burned to death was picked up in Boston by the two and was known only as "Dan." Police said the accused thought his body would be identified as the older defendant and thus Anthony would collect the insurance. The car to which the men were attached is shown above and inset is Anthony J. Stasio. (Associated Press Photo)

SOUTHERN FARMERS JOIN 'MARCH ON WASHINGTON'

Joining the farmers "march" on Washington for a demonstration in support of the Roosevelt agricultural program, this crowd of Georgia farmers is shown boarding a train in Atlanta for the capital city. Already the capital has been picketed by farmers, a group of whom is shown here in front of Abraham Lincoln's statue. (Associated Press Photo)

TWO PERISH IN NAVAL MAN-OF-WAR ACCIDENTS

Maneuvers of the United States Navy in the Pacific drew poor reviews when accidents cost the lives of two men and resulted in injuries to four others. Edward Chadek of Blissfield, Mich., gunner's mate, was killed in a collision of the destroyers Lewis and Award (right) and four men were hurt slightly. Meanwhile Lieut. Martin H. Wright of the Wright, Sinf, fell to his death when his plane plunged into the sea after taking off from the aircraft carrier Saratoga. (Associated Press Photo)

ILLINOIS HUNGER MARCHERS

Following the failure of the Illinois legislature to vote emergency approval of state relief funds demanded by federal authorities for more aid is given, a general "hunger march" on the capital was threatened. Already the capital has been picketed by Jobless, a group of whom is shown here in front of Abraham Lincoln's statue. (Associated Press Photo)

AMELIA SCORES ANOTHER FIRST

Amelia Earhart, America's foremost woman flier, added another to her list of "firsts" by flying nonstop from Mexico, D. F. to Newark, N. J., a distance of 2,100 miles. She was tired and her face and hands were dirty but she smiled as she brought her plane down 14 hours, 22 minutes and 50 seconds after taking off. She is shown being greeted at Newark by her husband, George Palmer Putnam (right) and Edward Vilesenous (left), Mexican consul general. (Associated Press Photo)

MAUREEN ORCUTT WEDS BROKER

Maureen Orcutt, noted woman golfer, is the bride of John D. Crows, Miami, Fla., investment broker. They tried to keep the marriage a secret, but it became known when they went to Tallahassee, Fla., on their honeymoon. They are shown in Augusta, Ga., a few days before the wedding. (Associated Press Photo)

TYPICAL MOTHERS MEET

Mrs. Fletcher M. Johnson (right) of Lexington-on-Hudson, N. Y., formerly of Mason and Gainesville, Ga., chosen as the "Typical American Mother" of 1935, is shown chatting with Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, who won the same distinction last year. They met at a luncheon in New York. Mrs. Roosevelt is inspecting the medal presented Mrs. Johnson. (Associated Press Photo)

Becomes Judge

John D. Martin, president of the Southern Bassin Association, is shown at his swearing-in ceremony. He was a federal judge of the western district of Tennessee. (Associated Press Photo)

FOUND GUILTY

Elizabeth R. Thompson, 18, of Greenwich, Conn., was sentenced to death yesterday for having invited the recent killer of her mother to her home. She now is in hiding in Florida.

Hoover Calls For Complete Scrapping Of NRA Structure

Former President Says We Cannot Build Nation's Economy On A Fundamental Error

PALO ALTO, Calif., May 16.—Federal agents putting pressure on state legislatures to get them to enact state laws in support of the NRA, have not yet found the right answer, which the House of Representatives should make to the Senate's action extending its life.

"We do not construct new buildings through local authorities with delegated powers of how we're un-American in principle and a proud failure in practice," he said.

The NRA has been crushing the life out of small business and the community," he said. "They are a cloak for conspiracy against the public interest. They are and will continue to be a weapon of bourgeoisie devices for intensification of decent living."

To the critical answer of "destructive criticism" or the other question "what substitute is offered?" I suggest that the only answer is that the NRA is a definite economic error to stand by.

"Present NRA programs are as bad as any that could be devised. We do not construct new buildings through local authorities with delegated powers of how we're un-American in principle and a proud failure in practice."

"The beneficial objectives of a greater social justice and the prevention of sweating, child labor and other things, are to be carried forward into the next Congress and with the federal government's action in the future.

Mr. Hoover did not say so but undoubtedly he meant that what he suggested would be true only so long as the public remained compliant as it is at present.

All past experience has shown that once people generally believe that unconstitutional inflation is bad, they are likely to other more extreme steps, then the currency

shrinks rapidly in value, price sky-rocket in a mad scramble to buy tangible things, and monetary reserves pour out of a tremendous hole.

Washington was less surprised than it might be supposed when

Governor Shultz, in the winter of 1934, proposed a bill to prevent the banks from loaning out more than they had on deposit.

Redemption of $471,000 in th-reasury bonds due to mature

July 1, 1934, saved the city $400,

000,000 in interest charges.

It is a matter of mathematics that there is no way to make more than $400,000,000 in interest outstanding.

The question with which Washington is faced is not whether $400,000,000,000 addition to the currency can be met with proper reserves. It is whether the removal of such a sum from the bank system and banks is wise public policy.

It is an old but eloquent concern over the future of the country.
