Relapse Follows Slight Operation

Chief Executive With Wife Rushes Home From Swampscott

PLYMOUTH, Vt. June 29.—Marked improvement in the condition of Col. John Coolidge, aged father of the president, who is ill at his home here was reported today by attending physicians.

The president, who made a hurried trip here from Swampscott, was assured that the patient was out of danger although it was emphasized that in view of the colonel's age a setback was possible.

The president came home Sunday night to the bedside of his father, arriving here at 6 o'clock standard time. He went immediately to the sick room finding his father resting comparatively comfortably after an operation performed shortly after noon.

Physicians met the president at the door, reassuring him the developments had progressed as well as hoped.

After a conference with the president, the physicians issued a statement declaring the father's condition "now very satisfactory."

Reassured about Colonel Coolidge's condition, the president and Mrs. Coolidge left the home soon after their arrival to visit the nearby country where just a year ago they buried their younger son, Calvin. The president's mother also lies there.

Colonel Coolidge, who is 80 years old, joked with doctors while they worked. E. Cram said. He refused to be carried from his bed on the night of his operation, but he was carried to his room in the presidential car of office three years ago, and where the operation was performed Sunday.

The president's father suffered relapse Saturday and abdominal trouble developed. Word immediately was sent Swampscott and the president, who had been in the hospital, was called to Plymouth.

Evolution Trial Is Scored By Edgerton

NEW YORK, June 29.—The forthcoming evolution trial in Dayton, Tennessee, is regarded by John Edgerton of Nashville, Tennessee, president of the National Association of Manufacturers as a "travesty of law, mockery of religion and burlesque of science." "Such a spectacle as turning an American court into an advertising arena for publicity seekers with warped mentalities and a parade of freaks, fanatics and fools ought to be impossible in any country which gave John Marshall to immortal fame," he said.

The walking delegates of Agnosticism, Atheism, Communism and Bolshevism will be there. Everything will be represented except science and religion."

DAYTON, Tenn., June 29.—Dr. George W. Rappleyea, closely connected with the defense of John T. Scopes in Tennessee's evolution case, yesterday resigned as superintendent of the Five Points Methodist Episcopal Church.

The man who has been closely connected with the case since its origination and who first served as prosecutor of his friend, will become affiliated with the Dayton Methodist Church. He resigned as superintendent of the Sunday school after a conference with Rev. H. G. Bird, pastor of both churches, who assured him a cordial welcome in the Dayton Sunday school.

Rigid fundamentalists for the most part, the Five Points Sunday school gave him a respectful hearing as he told them briefly of his reasons for resigning, and evidenced friendly regard for him at the conclusion of the services.

Dr. Rappleyea addressed the audience briefly, telling them that on the week before he went to New York several stries had been brought him concerning the situation. "I have heard the report," he said, "that I had been asked to resign and that the Sunday school had gone to practically nothing since I have been superintendent. I went to my pastor and after talking with him determined to resign. There is no feeling except the best in my heart. I have the deepest love for George Spivey, the founder of the church."

He urged them to support the school, told them he would continue to come to their school frequently, and requested that Warren Spivey be elected to replace him as superintendent. "We must keep religion by faith," he said, "and must follow the teachings of Christ throughout. I am leaving the Sunday school. It is better that I leave than for two or three others leave because of my staying."

George Spivey, a venerable man of the Tennessee hills, arose at the conclusion of Dr. Rappleyea's talk and expressed the hope that all members of the school would manifest the same spirit as Dr. Rappleyea.

Rev. Bird then told the crowd that "if we know Christ we shall know the truth and the truth shall set us free."

"This conference promises to be the greatest of the kind in the company's history," said President Roosevelt in 1907. Governor Brewster said, "Its importance is great inasmuch as a sincere attempt will be made to adjust the difference between the state and federal governments, the cause of much misunderstanding today."

United States Eagle Boat And Members Of Its Crew Return To Port In Safety

NORFOLK, Va., June 29.—Tired and hungry but happy that their experience had not been worse, 56 reserve officers and enlisted men of the fifth naval district, mostly Virginians, were landed at the naval base at 11 o'clock Sunday morning after having been helplessly adrift at sea for a week, aboard the Eagle boat No. 9, 300 miles off the Carolina coast. The little vessel was towed into port by the coast guard tug Carrabasset, which picked her up early Friday morning after the disabled craft had been received by radio here.

The civilian sailors, ten officers, and 46 enlisted men, immediately were transferred to submarine chaser No. 210 which was in waiting and left during the afternoon for Richmond.

The Carrabasset Saturday night reported she was making but three knots an hour and would not reach Hampton Roads until 4 p.m. yesterday and for that reason few of the reserve officers had been waiting for her. The vessel was towed into port by the coast guard tug Carrabasset, which picked her up early Friday morning after the disabled craft had been received by radio here.

The engine breakdown occurred last Sunday. Stale conditions made it impossible for those aboard the reserve craft to know what a shortage of food, those aboard experienced no great discomfort though some were uneasy at times when heavy seas rolled them to ticklish angles. By Wednesday bread had given out and biscuits minus baking powder and canned corned beef and salmon constituted the daily menu.

Milane Theater Is Being Remodeled

J. L. Marentette of Atlanta Is Local Manager For Big Motion Picture Company

The management of the Milane and the Princess theaters of this city, is in new hands today as the local picture show is being renovated and redecorated, after several months ago and which went into effect on Saturday, June 27.

On May 7 of this year the E. J. Sparks Enterprises, Inc., announced the acquisition of the Milane Theater on a 20 year lease from the local operating company and the Hyman Block in which the Princess Theater is located on a 29 year lease basis. Since that time negotiations with O. P. Herndon, former manager of the Princess, have been completed, it is announced, whereby the Sparks Enterprises will have charge of the operation of the Princess as well as the Milane.

As was announced at that time the Milane Theater is to be closed for a period of two or three weeks to undergo a complete renovation, which will include the local picture manager of the local interests of the Sparks company, announced today. The improvements to be made will cost approximately $5,000, it was said.

Work began today. Mr. Marentette announced that remodeling will be erected in the building today and that the painting of the walls, ceiling and inside woodwork will begin at once. It was learned further that runners will be placed in the aisles of the theater, new curtains will be hung on the stage and a number of other improvements will be made, making the Milane one of the finest small theaters in the state.

Outside woodwork and the main entrance of the Milane will also be renovated, including the new inside decoration, he said. Parts of the projection machines are being sent to the factory for repairs, which will add materially to the clearness of the pictures when the theater opens again, it was announced.

In speaking of the pictures to be shown in the future Mr. Marentette asserted that only the best will be exhibited at the two houses and that the management will endeavor to plan the local picture program as far as possible, he stated that the company now controlling the theaters have available practically all of the good pictures that are being filmed and that on—

PARIS PAPER NOW URGES PAYMENT OF FOREIGN DEBT

Petit-Parisien Declares Now Is Time to Hold Meeting For Purpose of Opening Negotiations For Funding

PARIS, June 29.—The Petit Parisien, commenting on the International debt, will say today: "The time has come to take up the debt situation with the United States. A personality, recently come from America, has even told us that the time has not been more favorable in several years; therefore we should profit thereby and not expose ourselves by an attitude contrasting with that of our Italian, Belgian and Czechoslovak friends to render more bitter a discussion which will in itself be delicate enough."

The paper enumerates the following reasons for the delay of the discussion:
Figures Disagree
"Our figures and those of the American Treasury do not agree. We are in the grip of grave financial difficulties and it is shocking to our spirit of justice, after the enormous losses suffered and the sacrifices agreed on as to reparations due by Germany, to see ourselves asked for the capital and interest of the money paid entirely by the United States to pay for our debts and the material necessary for the fighters."

"These sentimental arguments which today are valueless, can acquire some value only when presented over the conference table and we frankly accept the debate, let us wait upon the occasion, because it means definitely on the consolidation of our debt, and not its immediate reimbursement."

Kellogg Asks Jury Payable
The Petit Parisien asserts that Mr. Kellogg, Secretary of State, let us wait upon the occasion, because it means definitely on the consolidation of our debt, and not its immediate reimbursement."

"There is only one thing, whatever the difficulty may present itself, the number of times for and postponing the discussion longer."

The negotiator is our own, that it is only in clearing up the situation, "in vindicating ourselves of this incessant menace, that we will be able in the economic field to stabilize our exchange and politically recover our liberty of action."

The Petit Parisien understands that the C-312 Administration intends to present before Congress in December precise arrangements regarding the debts.

Hospitable Monks To Reap Guest Revenue

ST. BERNARD, Switzerland, June 29.—The monks of the convent of St. Bernard are to enter the hotel business. Their hospitality, which has been proverbial for centuries, has been taken advantage of to such an extent that it became impossible to accommodate all who wished to be their guests. The monks, therefore, decided to build a hotel near the convent where travelers might be put up for the night. Their original plan was to let the hotel concession to some restaurateur. Now they have decided that they might as well conduct the place themselves and obtain the revenue for their order.

Man Wants to Pay For Meal He Stole in 1885

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., June 29.—W. Stans Hill, postmaster of Williamsport, has received a letter from a man now living in California who wishes to make restitution for a basket of edibles which he stole from a picnic ground in Williamsport 28 years ago.

The California declared that he has joined the Salvation Army and that the memory of the wrong he did years ago was recalled to him by his changed life. He desires to square his debt with the owner of the basket, which he stole while passing through Williamsport in August, 1887.

Postmaster Hill has made some inquiries but has been unable to discover who lost the lunch basket.

No Damage Recorded But Tremors Severe Causing Buildings To Sag Considerably

Half Million Damage Is Done In Montana Towns In 36 Hours

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., June 29.—Four are known dead and 100 to 300 injured in the earthquake that shocked this city at 6:45 o'clock this morning, damaging practically all structures and largest buildings, wrecking several of the largest business structure in the city, completely collapsed along one third of its length. The quake appeared to center in the business district. Two severe shocks were followed by about 20 others of minor violence.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 29.—A severe earthquake shock rocked Los Angeles at 6:43 o'clock this morning. Downtown buildings swayed considerably but the movement was slow and even and there were no indications of damage although the motion continued for more than a minute.

The earthquake continued at intervals but all were slow and steady, yet extremely severe. Movement of the ground was felt at Newhall, 31 miles from here, and were felt with unusual degree of severity at Mojave and Lancaster, 100 miles north of here. The center of the disturbance seemed to be in Los Angeles and to the north. El Centro reported that tremors were not felt in the Imperial Valley.

Round House Caves In

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—An earthquake at 6:44 o'clock today caused the Southern Pacific roundhouse at Santa Barbara to cave in and demolished the railroad station at Goleta and thrust railroad tracks out of line at Napa. The Southern Pacific dispatcher's office was informed here just before the telegraph wires failed. All wire communication with that section believed most seriously affected has failed but the quake did not reach San Francisco.

HELENA, Mont., June 29.—Residents of the Gallatin valley the apparent center of an earthquake which shook four states Saturday night and yesterday, remained out in the open spaces today looking back at about $500,000 worth of ruins. An aggregate one being killed, but nearly a score cost of the trembler.

It was a whimsical quake, no of buildings cracked and fell. There were a half-dozen landslides, the crevice extending at irregular intervals from Manhattan to Three Forks, a distance of 19 miles, remains as one of the scars caused by the quake force.

Two thousand laborers are being put to work clearing wreckage covered by 100-feet sand and a cliff 800 feet high toppled and fell. Three Forks residents counted 41 distinct shocks.

No loss of life has occurred, according to advices reaching here from cities and towns in the affected areas. Only three persons have been injured, it is reported. The tremors Sunday were confined to the south central region of Montana, whereas last night's shocks covered sections of four states in the northern half of the Rocky Mountain range.

In the three states, Idaho, Washington and Wyoming, the tremors were slight and no material damage was recorded.

Property damage estimates in the stricken area of Montana have soared to the $500,000 mark tonight with reports coming in from the smaller towns and villages. Three isolated towns are reported to be seriously damaged by the tremors, incomplete reports stated. At White Sulphur Springs, which reported a new shock Sunday, virtually all of the county buildings of Meagher county and many of the business structures have been demolished with an estimated loss of $100,000. A property damage toll of $100,000 was also exacted at Three Forks, it was reported.

The center of the disturbance, authoritative information here indicates was in the lower Gallatin Valley where smaller towns bear the brunt of the earth's damaging effects.

Northern Montana Saturday afternoon was in the lower Gallatin Valley where smaller towns bear the brunt of the earth's damaging effects.

Scopes, Awaiting Trial, Is Keeping Cool

John T. Scopes is going on trial in Daytona, Tenn., on July 10 for teaching evolution, but meanwhile he isn't worrying greatly about it. Here he's shown taking a dip in the old swimming pool near Dayton. And he doesn't have to swim alone, either, you'll note.

FLORIDA FACTS

During an eight weeks rush season 28 ferries in the section of Orange County between Apopka and Zellwood shipped more than 1,500,000 ferns to northern markets including Canada.

Florida now has 135,000,000 acres of forest lands. At one time there were 322,000,000 acres of forest lands. Fire has destroyed 180,000,000 acres of timber land and it can never be reclaimed.

If the present rate of timber land destruction is continued forestry experts estimate that within 12 years Florida will be buying her crating from California and in 20 years the yellow pine will be almost extinct.

The first state election in Florida was held May 26, 1845, W. D. Moseley, Democrat, was elected governor over Richard K. Call, Whig, who had served two terms as territorial governor. Davis Levy, Democrat, was returned to Washington as representative.

The revolt against the Spanish rule began in 1812 on the east coast and the territory between the St. John's and St. Mary's rivers was established as the Republic of Florida. A peace truce was effected in 1816 at Waterman's Bluff.

The soils of Florida are classified by the State Department of Agriculture as Pine lands, Swamp lands, The Everglades, Low hammocks, High hammocks, and Prairie lands. The greater portion of the state lands are designated as pine lands because of the predominance of pine timber. The land on which there is a mixture of pine and hardwoods is called hammock lands.

The state legislature met for the first time on June 23, 1845 in Tallahassee. It adjourned immediately on account of the death of Andrew Jackson, who was the first governor of Florida, holding office as military governor or the territory July 1821 to 1822. On July 1 David Levy and James Westcott, were elected United States Senators. Levy was succeeded in the lower house by a Democrat named Brockenbrough.

The first Indian outbreak that was opposed by an officially organized military unit at the order of the governor was in 1852. Governor Thomas Brown ordered General B. Hopkins, at Mellowville (now Sanford) to organize a company and proceed against the Indians at Lake Harney, where the Indians had been disturbing the community 150 miles north of their reservation. One hundred men went into service in March 1852 and remained under arms until December of the same year.

Severe Quake Shock Rocks Los Angeles Early This Morning

Railroad officials in the South Central section of the state are organizing their forces to repair the damage wrought by sandalises and the boulders tossed down from mountains by the tremors on their tracks.

The Chicago-Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad officials announced that all transcontinental trains would be routed over the Harlowton. Great Falls-Batte line while the cavern in the Lombard tunnel is being cleared.

Prisoners in the county jail at Billings were panic stricken when the second tremor split the floor of the court room located in another building adjoining the jail. In virtually every city in Western Montana, when the temblors bespoke their fury last night had subsided late today before the new shocks occurred and work of estimating the damage was begun.

The damage in Butte was negligible consisting of bricks being in and chimneys toppled over, stripped from the facades of buildings. The quakes left no marks on the more than 1,000 miles of underground workings of the Butte copper mines. Thousands of men labored in the slopes and drifts while the tremor was most severe.

HEARS HILLS WHISPER OF GOD

By ALLENE SUMNER DAYTON, Tenn., June 29.—"We humans haven't no call to comprehend the incomprehensible, or scrutinize the inscrutable."

The little mountain cabin of "Old George" Morgan, mountain preacher, hugs the green breast of Waldon's Ridge, 2100 feet above the town of Dayton, where "the monkey war," as the mountaineers call the evolution battle, rages.

The "Worst Reader" Generation after generation of Morgans have lived atop Waldon's Ridge and watched the valley folks far below.

They call George Morgan, "the worst reader in the county." That means that he reads the most.

Mountaineers who sometimes see a newspaper and who keep the Holy Bible and a patent medicine almanac upon their bare tables, look at Morgan with awe.

"Old George Morgan's read this Darwin fellow," they tell you, and a bit of respect and fear for one who would so defy his God, runs through their voice.

We found "Old George" Morgan hoeing his dahlia plants and gazing at the blue-misty valley more than 2000 feet below him.

"So much wrangling and jangling," he said, "all because folks want to comprehend the incomprehensible and scrutinize the inscrutable."

The Mountains Know "Look at my mountains," and his lean brown fingers pointed to a distant peak creamy with chestnut bloom. "They know and they keep still. When folks know, they keep still, too."

Morgan studied to be a minister-long years ago in a little theological seminary down in Athens, Tenn.

But he came back to the mountain of his fathers without his de-

"Folks can't begin to doubt word in the Bible," says the mountain preacher, "without beginn to doubt all of them. And where'll they be?"

Favors School Law Any evolutionary teaching deny the special creation of man are a menace to the state," declares Morgan, and he's for law that will keep the schools for children.

"At night I sit in front of the in and watch the stars," he on.

"They make me hunger to things! Why we came and we're going and if our folks waiting for us over there.

"But that's sin, and I make self stop bothering God and sit still and watch 'em up there crisp and cold like fire, and I know, an' that's enough."

"I'm just a homespun plan and he is God. Who am I to comprehend the incomprehensible?"

Easy to Believe "But God comes closer to folks on the mountains than those down in the valley. It's fier for us to believe.

"There were 10 of us kids ning over these mountains, our mammy and pappy didn't much, but they tawnt us that mountain air and spring water the green grass and the blue were enough, and not to be as for other things.

"I learned to keep satisfied life. I got another suit of clothes and enough money for buryin. I got in Bible and my wife an' aim I'm the happiest man as I can live on $100 a year up here.

Black smoke rose like a wre from the lowlands, and the foot a factory whistle echoed faint through the ridge.

"They slave s down there things they don't need," said mountain preacher. "I don't wan o take noth away from life with me but happiness and my bief in my Bible. I want those little children down there to have thit, too."

Japanese Prince Visits Mountain He Was Named For

TOKYO, June 29.—Mt. Chichibu, where the mountain azaleas are always at their best, was visited by Prince Chichibu and his suite, recently. The second son of the emperor and empress takes his title from the Chichibu district, lying west of Tokio within which Mt. Mt. Chichibu stands.

Early in the morning the prince arrived at the small village lying at the foot of the mountain from which the climb is usually commenced. He was given an enthusiastic if respectful welcome by all the villagers, who lined the main street of their village through which the prince passed.

That way up the mountain is the Chichibu shrine where the prince lunched. After lunch he started the real stiff work and reached Peak Myoho, as it is called, as the sun was about to set. The clear weather afforded an extended view in all directions.

The night was spent at the Mitsumine shrine near the top of the mountain, where the prince was entertained with sacred dances performed by country girls in the dancing hall of the shrine.

Many Workers On New York Cathedral Unite In Earnest Prayer Service Over Work

NEW YORK, June 23.—The Lord's Prayer was recited in half a dozen tongues when nearly 100 masons, stonecutters and laborers in workclothes joined with contractors and clergy in a prayer service at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, before laying the first stone for interior walls of the nave recently.

The service was requested by the men themselves, according to Bishop William T. Manning, who in full episcopal robes, conducted it in the open air on the nave foundation near the south wall.

No tradition of the men's crafts was involved, Bishop Manning said. The request came from their spontaneous feeling of the special and sacred character of the work they are doing in rearing one of the great cathedrals of the world.

Athletes Of China Show Eccentricity In Sportsmanship

ANKING, June 23.—Sports meets which are being held throughout the Yangtze Valley in central China are demonstrating the lack of appreciation among Chinese youth of the spirit of sportsmanship and the need of training along this line. At an Anhwei meet recently a government technical school was playing basketball with the local Mission Cathedral school. The technical school was ahead most of the first half, but a few minutes before the whistle sounded the Cathedral boys picked up and tied the score.

In the second half it became quite obvious that the Cathedral team was the stronger and would doubtless win. The technical boys, seeing themselves losing stopped playing on the pretext that the baskets were not round. They proceeded to tear down the baskets, then went to the government dressing building and wrecked the place.

Two days later St. Paul's high school in Anking was playing football against a local government school. The head master of the mission school saw to it before the game that the back gate to the grounds was unlocked as a precaution against trouble. St. Paul's won, and the minute the game was over the winning team made a hasty exit through the gate and hurriedly found refuge in the mission compound, closely pursued by the losers and their supporters.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, June 23.—"Coolidge has forgotten Oklahoma." This was getting to be quite a slogan among "sooner state" Republicans.

Job after job had come up in Washington to be filled, but no Oklahomans were picked to fill any of them.

Again and again they thought they had a dandy candidate. Time after time it looked as if their man was sure to win out.

Just as regularly, somebody else nosed in ahead of him at the last minute.

This went on until Oklahoma Republicanism began to show signs of considerable fractiousness, which was alarming. Oklahoma being a very doubtful state politically, with a senator to elect next year, not to mention eight congressmen.

It and settle down to practice law. "There was precious little of it for the first few weeks—a little federal authority, but not much, and no local organization at all."

"Shootings," the new attorney general continued, "were so common they went unnoticed. A man was killed three tents from mine one night and I didn't think it worth while to get up, or find out next day what the fight was about or who the killer and his victim were."

"I never learned. Gambling was wide open. Let 'er roll! Let 'er roll! Let 'er roll! NOW SHE ROLLS!" came day and night from the big tent where they ran the wheel.

But Coolidge hadn't forgotten. He simply was waiting for a duly qualified Oklahoma candidate's name to be submitted to him for a nice federal appointment.

When, finally, such a candidate did turn up, the president promptly named him, assistant attorney general in charge of government land litigation. He's Bert M. Parmenter.

Bethel's his "old home town"—about 15 miles from the Coolidge place. Also in Attorney General Sargent's neck o' the woods. Parmenter lived there until he was 20.

"It may have been only a coincidence," Parmenter observed, "but Lawton started with just 150 lawyers and just 150 saloons."

"The saloons are neither here nor there. But you can understand with so many lawyers, we had to have some law. So we organized a local government in a month or six weeks."

"We established order. We began building wooden shacks in place of our tents. In six months the railroad built in."

"Then Oklahoma was admitted as a state."

Parmenter is going to be popular with the press—for he doesn't bluff.

I called on him a few hours after he'd assumed his new duties. He wasn't fairly started and hadn't much to do.

That's the time the average officeholder pretends to be up to his neck in work. But not Parmenter.

When I promised to be brief, "Take your time, I'm not very busy," he said.

He landed on the site of Lawton 24 years ago. The site alone was there at the time.

"The Kiowa, Comanche and Apache reservation," he explains, "had just been opened to settlement. The government had cut the land into farms, to be drawn for."

In their midst the town of Lawton had been decreed and staked out in city lots. They were auctioned off."

"That town certainly was made to order," Parmenter reminisced. "At the beginning of the week—a thriving, little tented city of about 8,000!

I wasn't quick enough to get a number for the farm lottery, so there was nothing for me to do but buy a town lot, pitch my tent on

Streamline Shells Preferred by English

LONDON, June 23.—Despite the fact that the Oxford University Boat crew lost the annual university boat race this and last year in a "streamline" shell designed by Dr. Bourne, there has been a growing demand for this kind of racing craft from the builders at Putney.

American, Continental and British boating clubs have placed a number of orders for "streamline" shells to carry fours and eights, thus testifying to the growing favor and popularity of this kind of racing craft.

Stores of Manila Are In Control of Chinese

MANILLA, June 23.—The Chinese control 58 per cent of the retail stores in Manila, the Filipinos 36 per cent and the Japanese 6 per cent, figures compiled by the Bureau of Commerce and Industry show.

There are in Manila 1,955 retail stores, known as "Sari-Sari Stores," where articles necessary in the household are sold.

Milk Federation To Meet at Philadelphia

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The National Co-operative Milk Producers Federation, representative of approximately 300,000 dairy farmers in the United States, will hold its ninth annual meeting Nov. 23 to 25, at Philadelphia. Charles W. Holman, the federation's secretary, in making this announcement today, said the meeting would coincide with the convention of the Inter-State Milk Producers Association, of Philadelphia.

The Conning Tower in the New York World publishes an account of a wedding in Rochester, the story having been written by a young member of the staff of one of the Rochester papers, but was withheld from publication for obvious reasons. The story is as follows:

The wedding of Miss _____ daughter of Mr. and Mrs. _____ of Gates, and Mr. _____ son of Mr. and Mrs. _____ of Brockport, took place at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents.

The lawn was attractively decorated with household furniture, on and over which Gates and Brockport swains and maidens draped themselves in appropriate languidness in anticipation of bountiful wets to be served later. The family dog wandered amiably about brushing his hairs off on the Sunday trousers and meeting gowns of the guests. Today, the pet cat of the Nichols household, inspired by a commendable ambition to contribute to the feast, crawled under the cow barn and dragged out a fat female rodent and her brood of eleven. A big Shanghai rooster hopped up on the corn crib and gave three cock-a-boodle-dos for the bride and then strutted majestically over into a neighbor's barnyard and knocked hell out of a couple of smart cock-ezels who made biting remarks about the groom's bag-kneed trousers. After that, the wedding proceeded according to etiquette, as all nice weddings should.

A Case of Rare Honesty

Society in a Kentucky town was set a-buzzing the other day by the announcement of the divorce of a well-liked couple, a man and a woman who are models of good behavior. They have five children, too, who are popular with their playmates and beloved by the neighbors—than which there is no finer compliment for five American youngsters.

The divorce, however, has started everybody talking. And the story has come out. It is for the sake of the children that this couple have decided to separate! The man and woman say they thoroughly respect each other but are so utterly uncongenial, so utterly at variance in their likes and dislikes, their home is not a home at all. The children are old enough to feel the absence of love, that one paramount necessity of a happy home. And things were going to be worse and worse, as the nerves of their parents were wearing thinner every day.

Having enough money to divide equitably, the couple are going to dissolve partnership, that's all, and have done with the make-believe. They say they both are sick and ashamed of the dishonest lives they have been living, sick of living to "show the neighbors", sick of trying to fool their children. So he will get him a country place with dogs and horses and hearty farmer friends. She will attend chateaus, go to Grand Opera, and feast her soul on the things that appeal to her. And the children are to go with the parent that offers them the greatest happiness, until they choose their mates and make their own homes.

It required an especially fine kind of courage for that couple to take such action. They knew of the gossip it would start. They knew of the things of habit with which they had bound their deceit. But it was a case, they say, of "to thy own self be true, and then 'twilt follow as the light day, thou canst not then be false to any man."

In the magazine section of the newspaper which tells, with the usual sensationalism, of this Kentucky divorce was a picture of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, another mother of five children. The picture was in no way connected with the story of the Kentucky couple, but by a coincident The Herald has a clipping from an interview Mrs. Roosevelt once gave regarding American home life which seems to apply very aptly to this case where two sane people have calmly agreed to end a martial farce.

"Marriage," says Mrs. Roosevelt, "is based on a MUTUAL understanding of each other's rights—neither should attempt to control the life and ideals of the other. It is a partnership in which both pull together for the good of all—each has a right to individual expression—but their interests are mutual in fundamentals in the home."

That unfortunate Kentucky couple did not set out in the beginning of this married life to give and take on a frank and just basis. They set out to live for public opinion, and in the meanwhile let their love sputter out. Without love there can be no home, regardless of "partnership" and all the rest of it. And now that there is no chance to grow together from their far-diverged paths, that man and woman have decided to give their children something better than false standards, something better than Madame Grundy living. There is much to think about in this story. Many a couple would profit by a calm discussion of this case; and, incidentally, by a careful investigation of their own adjustments to each other's tastes and ideals.

A Matter Worth Consideration

In The Herald of last Wednesday there appeared an article telling of the wonderful results being secured by T. I. Hawkins on his Celery Avenue farm, due to the fact that every year he renews the life of the soil on which his celery crop is grown.

Having his property located comparatively near the St. Johns River, it is quite a simple matter for this progressive farmer to cart muck from the lowlands and spread it in thin layers on his land. And The Herald wonders if other farms would not be greatly benefited by treatment of a like nature. Not having made a study of farming, we do not know much about it, nor are we in a position to give advice to those who have for years been growing the world's finest celery. But it seems to us—and to others we have heard talking about the matter—that the continual growing of one crop on the same soil, will be certain to eventually weaken the productive power of the land and then we may expect the grade of the product to suffer.

At a comparatively low cost, Mr. Hawkins spreads muck on his land. His crop increases tremendously. The grade of his celery and his corn is continually improving. His soil is steadily getting richer. He finds he has made a good investment. If his method of restoring humus to the land is proving satisfactory to one farmer, we wonder if it wouldn't be good business for others to follow his lead. Perhaps other growers in and around Sanford have other methods they use for enriching of soil on their farms. Wouldn't it be a help to the community and to the agricultural industry to pass the word along so that Sanford's reputation for producing the finest crops in the world can be made even more world wide?

At any rate the matter is worth consideration by the growers of our section.

WHEREVER YOU GO, in the world of the vast territory of the States, you discover that sort of freedom in the soul which is the breeding soil of happiness. I have said that I could discover no cause—certainly no moral cause—for the candor which is at the root of all this happiness; but at any rate I am sure that the cause of the happiness is candor. MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

A rich man had a dissipated son. The son was not generally regarded as a very valuable asset to society but his father seemed to set some store by him. The youth fell gravely ill. A distinguished surgeon was called in. He decided that an operation was imperative and performed it. The operation proved a success and the patient recovered. In due course of time the surgeon sent a bill for $10,000. Mr. Moneybags protested against the size of the fee. He thought the charge entirely too high. "Well, let's consider the situation," said the eminent practitioner. "You'll concede, won't you, that I saved the boy's life?" "Yes-s," admitted the parent. "Then listen here. Suppose your son had been accused of a serious crime and was in danger of being convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. Suppose I was a lawyer and I took his case and got him off scot-free and charged you a cool hundred thousand dollars for my services. What would you say to that?" "I'd consider it a fair proposition," said the capitalist. "Then why not be reasonable? You'd pay somebody a hundred thousand to keep him out of jail but you don't want to pay me ten thousand for keeping him out of hell!"

As Brisbane Sees It

Europe interests you. Voice from the Clouds. Shocking? Yes. But Old. The Apple and the Tree. By ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

If they pay us the billions they owe, we shall be, by thousands of millions more, the richest of nations. But, IF THEY PAY US, they will have to ruin us by taking away our trade, through price cutting. At least, they tell us so.

PERHAPS WE shall be saved from that ruin. A parley called at Brussels is supposed to be the first step toward repudiation of Europe's debts to us. If she does not pay us, Europe won't have to ruin us. The very best that we can hope for seems to be the worst of it. Either we lose our ten billions, or we get the money and are ruined.

THE BRITISH say that if America does not call another arms conference, Britain will do so. The cry from at least 100,000,000 deep United States hearts will be, "Go ahead and call your conference, and PLEASE leave us out."

WE HAD ONE conference, at Washington, and it was plenty. It made us junk our brand new battleships, some only part finished, costing hundreds of millions. It made us the world's policeman in the Pacific, guaranteeing to Europe and Japan their loot on that broad ocean.

If Uncle Sam has ANY brains, he ought to feel about conferences with Europe as a small boy feels about going to the dentist.

THE UPRISING in China grows worse. That also is news for Europe, which for years has been skimming the cream from China. The United States is requested by Europeans in China to take a hand and restore order. Chinese chestnuts should be pulled out of the fire by those that GET the chestnuts—not by the United States.

We might send warships to take aboard our good missionaries and other Americans, leaving the Chinese to save their own hereafter. But that ought to be all.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, who does not know what to do with a vacation when he gets it, will spend July Fourth at his father's farm, and pitch hay. He will do some thinking about the men that made July Fourth what it is. Very likely he will give thought to Washington's advice about keeping out of European entanglements.

There are plenty of those entanglements. See today's news from Greece. A rebellion in the army and navy has swept the country, and swept the government out of power.

We sympathize with both sides, as you sympathize with your neighbor and his wife in a family row. But you don't go over and try to settle it. You remember the French proverb, "Never put your finger between the bark and the trees," and that is what Uncle Sam should remember.

THIS IS NEW. On July Fourth fliers far above the earth will talk to each other in the air, using transmitters and receivers on their planes. The conversation will be taken by a receiving station on the ground, sent broadcast, and men on earth will hear other men talking to each other, up in the clouds.

EXTEND THAT a little, and you see the planet listening to conversations on other worlds. They may come, quite easily although, any journey to the moon or outside planet, in the flesh, will probably forever remain physically impossible.

YOU READ of the latest divorce suit charges. The husband accuses his wife, who "listens coldly," of giving late entertainments at which guests of both sexes wore, by way of clothing, exactly nothing at all.

SHE COUNTERS by naming three correspondents, one of them a lady ninety-four years old. But all that, even if true, simply means not NEW viciousness, but merely slipping back to old-fashioned evils.

A Prince Regent of France is said to have given parties as bad, and worse, since members of his family were present.

We are not really getting worse. A FEW are as bad now as a great MANY used to be—that's all. It is just a slipping back toward the monkey house.

CHICAGO'S CITY Council unanimously requested advice from the Corporation Counsel as to separating Chicago from the rest of Illinois.

The best advice is "DON'T." The feet wanted to separate from the head, in the old fable, because the head seemed to be having all the pleasure, while the feet carried the load. You know what would happen to a pair of feet with no head to guide.

IT IS FOOLISH for the head to demand separation from the feet. A great city in a fine State is like a beautiful apple growing on a good tree. It would be foolish to suppose that the apple would say, "I don't NEED this tree." Its mind would change if the sap were cut off.

SOMEBODY HAS TO BE THE GOAT

BROADCASTING FLORIDA TAMPA TRIBUNE

Florida is being vividly described simultaneously in four or five cities before large and eager audiences convened from all America at a most auspicious time. Hundreds of realtors of the "Land of Flowers" are telling thousands assembled at the National Realtors' Convention in Detroit the business facts about the peninsula. Detroit traffic, including its native flivvers and visiting cars was jammed for blocks while Winter Haven realtors distributed oranges to more than 20,000 people.

LU GIM GONG NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE

In death Lu Gim Gong ran true to form, as our sports would say. He who had received much from America and who during a long and busy life had paid back all that indebtedness, in the end gave over all that remained of his life's accumulation, not to a Chinese or to China but to an American.

Lu Gim Gong's career was such as to make those blush who assume too great superiority of the white over the yellow race in either mentality or morals.

Maybe that grapefruit, so near-seedless and so tender of pulp, you enjoyed for breakfast would not have been available had not "Chinese" Sampson, a factory owner at North Adams, Mass., more than half a century ago had trouble with his labor and brought in (it then was not against the law) some hundreds of Chinese laborers as strikebreakers.

Among the miscellaneous lot of "Celestials" was one boy of twelve with the resounding name of Gong—Lu Gim Gong. There were in North Adams two sisters, sternly religious of the faith. They became interested in the little almond-eyed foreigner and found him not only quickly receptive of Christianity, but of exceptional intelligence.

THE SAME OLD WAR PROVIDENCE NEWS

When General Smedley Butler obtained leave of absence from the marines in order to clean up Philadelphia as Director of Public Safety, he set about his new job in a most spectacular manner. So spectacular was he, indeed, that newspapers sent special correspondents to the city of Brotherly Love in order to see how General Butler would accomplish the apparently impossible. They did see a number of picturesque raids and they were able to report that General Butler had succeeded in closing several saloons and speakeasies.

All over the country the "drys" rejoiced. And their rejoicing continued for a few weeks. Then someone spread a rumor that General Butler's work was not progressing very well. It was more than hinted that the Republican machine in Philadelphia had, in fact, employed him in order to spike the guns which Governor Pinchot was about to train on the law-breakers.

At any rate it soon became clear that General Smedley Butler would have to fight many hidden forces if he was to vindicate law and order. Thus passed, and General Butler was no longer much in the news. But travellers through Philadelphia, and all Pennsylvania for the

Good Road Shows Looked
In addition to motion pictures, a number of the best road and stock company shows coming to Florida during next winter will be booked for the Milano Theater, declared Mr. Marentette. It is probable, he said, that Keith's Vaudeville Circuit for this state will include Sanford, once a week, during this time which will give this city the best in that line.

Improvement of the Princess Theater, it was learned, will be dependent upon the patronage of the two picture houses here during the next few months. If warranted, the Princess will be completely rebuilt and made into a new and modern theater. This work, however, will not begin before fall, the manager said.

Mr. Marentette has long been identified with theater work. He comes to Sanford from Atlanta, where he has resided for the past 14 years and where he has been connected with the Sparks Enterprises for some time. The new manager of Sanford's theaters is well pleased with the city, believing that it is one of the most progressive and wide-awake cities in the state, he declared.

In regard to the operation of the Princess while the Milano Theater is closed Mr. Marentette said that pictures will be shown daily as in the past, this showing starting at the same hours. He further announces that through special request he has secured the picture Colleen Moore in "So Big" for today's attraction.

Youthful and Snappy

This ensemble outfit, worn by Marion Davies, is of pearl gray flat crepe trimmed at the bottom of the coat and the dress with plectrol metal made of the silk. The lines are straight and youthful, and the only ornamentation allowed is at the hemline.

CALGARY, Alta., June 29.—Two full-grown Alberta buffaloes hitched to a cart and driven are to be a feature of an historical pageant July 6 to mark the 50th anniversary of the founding of the city of Calgary.
When two cowboys first began branding the bison to harness they were almost unapproachable, but were soon "gentle broken," following anyone who showed them a tin of oats.

FEDS RETURN FOR SEVEN GAMES IN TWO SERIES HERE

Start Three Game Series Here With St. Petersburg Today; Play 2 Games On July 4 With Lakeland Highlanders

Sanford and St. Petersburg teams of the Florida State League will take horns here this afternoon at 7 o'clock on the Municipal Athletic Field in the first of a three game series.

The Celerymen are returning from a disastrous road trip of a week and a half of play with Lakeland, Tampa, and the Saints, but are now "getting set" to display a different brand of baseball which will result in the winning of the majority of the games played in Sanford throughout the week, according to reports from various local fans and ardent supporters of this sport in the city.

In the series with the Saints during last week only one game was lost by the Celerymen, but a large score while they almost won one game and the other was well played. They won a game from Tampa earlier in the week by a decisive score. "Old Man Jinx" has been in the camp of the locals for several weeks, now, and certainly it is time he was finding other sleeping quarters, that is, if he ever sleeps.

Several players will appear in the local lineup this afternoon who make their initial appearance in this city, having been added to the team since it began its long road trip.

On Thursday Lakeland will begin a four game series here with the Celerymen, playing twice on Saturday. The morning game of July 4 will start at 10:30 o'clock while the afternoon contest will begin at the regular time, said President C. L. Britt of the local organization last Friday.

Leaders In Major Leagues Pennant Races Beat Way Through Worst Of Season

NEW YORK, June 23.—Leaders in the Major League pennant races Sunday had beaten their way through the worst baseball squall of the 1925 series, slightly battered, but still upright after a turbulent week.

For three days, the Giant craft, once so far ahead of the fleet that National League pilots were barely able to hold the trail of the back wash, was tossed dangerously close to the shoals. During the same period, Connie Mack and his Philadelphia crew, were blown hither and yon with the swift speeding Senators driving down on them. But steady hands on the tillers guided the two outfits safely past every threat and tonight both clubs held the pace-making course only to find in the offing signs of further testing.

Unexpected breaks first threw the Giants temporarily out of first place and then tossed them back again in the closing games of the week. The Boston Braves used a step for the Philadelphia Quakers to climb from seventh to sixth place earlier in the week, unexpectedly jolted the champions for an eight to three defeat yesterday afternoon, while the Pirates nosed out the Reds, 3 to 2, in the first section of a double header.

This defeat for Cincinnati marked their fifth straight reverse for the week, but the Reds turned on their feet and beat off the Corsairs, 6-2, boosting the New York club back into the lead. The upset left the Pittsburgh team within two percentage points of the leaders and set the stage for a crucial series between the rivals here, starting July 7.

GIANTS DEFEAT BOSTON, RETAIN NATIONAL LEAD

Pirates Down Reds By Score Of 5 To 2; Cardinals Take Double Header From Chicago Cubs, 3 to 1 and 8 to 3

NEW YORK, June 23.—The Giants retained their slim hold on first place in the National League by defeating the Boston Braves Sunday, 6 to 5. Meusel's triple with Kelly on base in the eighth decided the game. Young's circuit drive with two on the sacks led the score at five all in the seventh.

Pirates Down Reds
CINCINNATI, June 23.—Three Cincinnati pitchers failed to stop Pittsburgh Sunday, the Pirates winning, 5 to 2. Yule kept the Red's hits scattered except in one inning when the home team scored two runs. Carey's home run over the left field fence in the seventh was one of the longest drives ever seen here.

Cards Bag Double Header
ST. LOUIS, June 23.—Holstered by stellar pitching and timely hitting, the Cardinals bagged a double header with the Cubs before an audience of 22,000 Sunday. The first game was won, 3 to 1, when Jess Hynes tossed only three hits. A circuit club by Jim Bottomly with the bases full in the fifth inning, accounted for half of the Cardinals' runs in the second game. The score was 8 to 3. Ray Blades got a home run in the closing contest. No one was on base. Cooper was pitching.

Auto Race Will Be Inaugural Feature Of Halifax Frolics

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., June 27.—As an inaugural feature of the Halifax Summer Frolics of July 1 to 4, Sig Haugdahl, driving a Hudson-Essex special, in a match race with Dave Goetzla, driving a Peugeot, proposes to break all competitive auto race records on the Seabreeze-Daytona Beach speedway.

Haugdahl, who is now a permanent resident of Daytona, made the date unapproached exhibition record of 180.27 miles an hour on the beach in 1922. In his match race Wednesday he hopes to eclipse both exhibition and race records of all drivers who have guided the speedway fanned throughout the world.
