Demos Request Anti-Inflation Bill Extension

Spence Says Plan Will Give Congress Time To Examine Economy Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The administration today proposed a six-month extension of the Republican-sponsored voluntary agreements anti-inflation law.

That law expires Feb. 28. Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the House Banking Committee said the idea back of the proposed extension is to give Congress time to study and act on President Truman's new economic program.

Spence told a reporter he will introduce legislation to extend the law for six or seven months and a second measure to continue export controls for a year or more. The present export control law also expires Feb. 28.

Almost simultaneously, Chairman Maybank (D-SC) announced the Senate Banking Committee had agreed unanimously to speed:

First, a six-month extension of the present program of "voluntary controls" over steel and other commodities in short supply.

Second, a 27-month extension of the export control program through June 30, 1951.

Velasco Spent $29,000 In Two Tampa Elections, Paper Reports

TAMPA, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Tampa Tribune and today's state papers of Jimmy Velasco, slain Tampa gambler, show he spent $29,000 in two Hillborough county primaries last year.

The Tribune also said brothers of the gambler-politico are related in a sworn statement that Velasco spent $29,000 in 1947 city election here.

This disclosure came as a special investigator sent by Governor Warren began probing the murder of Velasco who was killed before his wife and child Dec. 12.

State attorney Rex Frazier and Sheriff Hugh Culbreth said they would be hired to take the life of any citizen in Tampa. No person there is really safe as long as this assassin and the person who paid him for the murder remain on the loose.

Warren's action followed publication of a notarized statement by the brothers in the Tribune that the widow, Mrs. Velasco, had identified the killer to investigators.

Frazier and other leaders in the probe stoutly denied this. Detective Inspector D. D. Stephens said Mrs. Velasco had failed to pick out the man in a lineup whom she first believed was the killer.

Neither, he said, will the Chinese foreign office ask liaison diplomats to pull out of the potential battle ground. Instead, they will be told that the Chinese government no longer can be responsible for the safety of those who choose to remain. Almost all embassies are expected to stay on.

Meanwhile, the old capital of Peking, controlled by Red armies, is expected to fall or surrender momentarily. A new paper published by Peking's commander, General Lu Tsi-Yu, hinted as much.

Nanking filled with more departing Nationalist troops as the government pulled back its forces from north of the Yangtze.

There was some discussion in foreign quarters as Nationalist troops moved into the Nanking area. Foreign owned and Chinese properties were seized as bullets.

Various foreign embassies, including the American, protested the seizure to the foreign office. The Chinese foreign office was cooperating excellently. Nevertheless, Chinese troops moved in and held the Standard Oil Company's Pukow tank farm, where a new tank farm is under construction.

On the Nanking side of the Yangtze, an artillery barrage started to move into another Standard Oil installation where a considerable stock of gasoline is stored. (Continued on Page Two)

State To Be Asked To Lower Track 'Take'

MIAMI, Jan. 18 (AP)—The State of Florida will be asked at the next session of the legislature to reduce the "take" on horse racing betting from about 17 to 12 per cent.

Dan Chappell, president of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, said today he will propose that the state's share be reduced from 8 to 5 per cent and the track's share remain at seven per cent.

Chappell, who introduced the original racing bill that gave Florida legalized betting, said actually the take from each dollar amounts to about 17 per cent.

The state gets eight per cent plus the odd cents "breakage" and the track gets seven.

"With things getting back to normal and money getting tighter, bettors certainly aren't going to continue to bet with 17 per cent taken from every dollar they wager," he said.

St. James A. M. E. Church Seeks Aid To Pay Off Special Obligations

St. James A. M. E. Church, one of the oldest negro churches in Sanford, today issued an appeal through its new pastor, the Rev. S. H. Hunter, for aid in raising $1,500 to pay off some special obligations and floating local debts.

The church, located on Cypress Avenue at Ninth Street, is situated in the most densely populated negro section of the city and has made and is making a very definite contribution to the social, moral and religious well being of the negro residents of the community, declared Rev. Hunter.

For a long period of years, the members of the church assumed and cared for all of its obligations, he stated. However, obligations faced by it at this time are beyond its ability to meet without the aid of "sympathetic white friends," he added.

Pointing out the value of the negro church and the negro preacher who teaches against the evils of Communism, gangsters, mob violence and racial troubles, he said: "Most of our members are tenants and poor people, but are worthy. The men are mostly common laborers and the women are domestic servants. They have struggled hard and given to the (Continued on Page Six)

Expert Says Divided Guam Police Nearly Allowed Killers To Escape

PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 18 (AP)—A lie detector expert said last night that divided police jurisdiction on Guam almost allowed three suspects in the rape-slaying of Miss Ruth Farnsworth to escape.

Police inspector Al Riedel, of Berkeley, Calif., said in an interview that "pure dumb luck" played a big part in the arrest last week of the three negroes, now charged with the rape-murder of the former San Francisco girl.

One of the three, Riedel said, had been questioned and cleared by the Air Force Criminal Investigation Division before he got there or before Lt. Col. James T. Henshaw, deputy island police chief, had a chance to talk with him.

It was three weeks after the former WAO was found near death in a jungle on Dec. 11 before (Continued on Page Six)

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

From within the Communist camp comes the sound of timbrel being beaten and of nails being driven.

The suspects the Reds are building a wooden house of peace with which to trick the dumb democrats.

Specifically, Palmiro Togliatti, Italian Communist leader, declared in a recent speech at Bologna that the Communist world is not and never will be a bloc.

When you get two prominent Red minds thus synchronized, especially in the case of Washington procedure officials, say they are not between the East and the West.

When you get two prominent Red minds thus synchronized, especially in the case of Washington procedure officials, say they are not between the East and the West.

Why? That remains to be seen, but it probably is one of two things: the Russians desire some concession from the Western world...

In any event, we may be certain that a Red in Moscow from within the party is a wooden...

There is one more thing about Redheim that is of the slightest importance and of no consequence...

Therefore, the Western Allies must continue their utmost efforts for collective economic and military security and for individual security.

That point is well illustrated by developments in the plight of little Czechoslovakia, which succumbed to Soviet aggression a year ago...

Washington has reported to the United Nations that the Communist Party now has Czechoslovakia completely within its grasp.

The collapse of Czechoslovakia was achieved partly by Russian agents but also by fifth column forces working from within the state.

There is plenty of evidence that Communism and democracy cannot be mixed. The nation which doesn't brand the Red as a subversive and eliminate it is inviting certain disaster.

Poignant testimony to the peril of temporizing with Bolshevism comes to us in the form of a confession by the late Dr. Eduard Benes, president of Czechoslovakia, who died a broken-hearted man...

Civil Rights Group Swarms Into Capital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A police-estimated crowd of 200 civil rights demonstrators swarmed on the Capitol today.

They were out to carry first-hand to individual congressmen demands for civil rights legislation and to protest the trial of Communist Party leaders in New York.

The demonstration, advertised as a "freedom crusade," was headed by the Civil Rights Congress, an organization cited by the Justice Department as subversive.

A southern delegation from the Congress tried without success to get House Speaker Sam Rayburn to intervene.

He said Britain was not obligated to ask the United Nations Security Council for permission to send forces to Arabia. He added that future actions will be determined by our treaty obligations and United Nations decisions.

"We hope that the truce which now exists will be maintained and that no further question of military operations will arise."

Churchill, referring to his suggestion that Britain recognize Israel, said he would support the Arab-Jewish dispute. Bevin replied he always had supported negotiations in Palestine.

Russian Heckler Wanted By Reds For Radio 'Work'

By DANIEL DE LUCE, AP Newswriter

BERLIN—The prettiest heckler of the Russians in Berlin is on the "wanted" list of their political police.

Twice a week, storm or shine, she makes jokes at Russian expenses. Most of Berlin chuckles.

As long as she sticks to the allied side of the boundary dividing this city, blonde Christina Ohlsen hopes she'll be safe. But regardless of dangers the future may bring she is now the most popular entertainer on RIAS, an American-sponsored radio station here.

She's a "Newshab" Christina calls herself, in Berlin being a newshab. Pretending to be hawking newspapers on a downtown street, she cries out the headlines with pin-pricking comment.

It's a rare week that word or action by German Communists and their Russian bosses doesn't make her script-writing easy.

The newshab's fall has grown so much that little dolls in Christina's supposed gamin likeness are sold in western sectors of Berlin. Each clutches a bundle of papers and wears two blonde pig-tails.

RIAS discovered Christina was one of the Soviet spies who were on the Berlin radio station when it was recently in East Berlin. Russian officers grilled her anxiously about the newshabs.

"Six gut, we'll catch her yet," the reporter said he was told before the reluctant Soviet released her.

Christina says her ambition was to be a ballerina. But the Nazis, she says, sent her to work in a factory after the war began. Her health broke down. After convalescing, she became a minor comedian in films and on the stage.

Her next job was to be a letter bearer in East Berlin postman and is in the grade handwriting of a day laborer. It arrived just before the anti-Communist city election in December.

"If we could elect you, little newshab, we'd do it," the letter promised. "Then all the politicians could sell papers and we'd have peace in the world."

Unlike most German theatrical folk, Christina denies any wish to emigrate from her ruined homeland. She says: "I want to stay in Germany and have a really beautiful life—getting paid in laughs."

She likes RIAS because her program doesn't have to a rigid ideological line. Her barbs find a variety of targets. For example, she disagreed with the American-licensed Tagesspiegel the other day when it called upon all Berliners to boycott all theaters in the Soviet sector.

FIC Seeks To Halt Fraudulent VA Claims

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 18. (Special)—The Florida Industrial Commission will continue its efforts to eliminate fraudulent claims from the Veterans' Readjustment Allowance program, Raymond E. Barnes, newly appointed Chairman of the Commission announced today.

Pointing to the most recent prosecution under the program, that of a High Springs veteran who this week received a six-month prison sentence and $200 fine under federal court, Barnes urged self-employed and unemployed veteran claimants under this program for the week they are coming allowances.

Barnes said this veteran was drawing full benefits of $100.00 a month as a self-employed farmer under the G. I. Bill of Rights and at the same time was working almost full-time for a construction company. The veteran failed to report his outside earnings which would have made him ineligible for benefits although he was questioned about this each week by representatives of the Florida State Employment Service.

Barnes said that under the law veterans can be prosecuted in federal courts and if found guilty may be fined up to $1,000.00 and imprisoned as much as one year.

Three weeks later Riedel arrived at his home in Miami, Fla., and until then, Riedel went on, that Hackett got a chance to talk to Dennis.

Dennis Riedel's clothing was searched by a private Dennis Riedel said they found the girl's torn and bloodstained dress stuffed behind the "luck," Riedel said. "Imagine, three weeks after the crime and they had not tried to get rid of the dress."

Riedel said he and Hackett subsequently found out the driver of the truck was Pvt. Calvin Dennis, 23, of Frederick, Md., a half brother of Herman. Proceeding from there Riedel said the investigators obtained statements from the Dennis pair implicating a third man, S-Sgt. Robert W. Burns, 32, of Spokane, Wash. Riedel said that Burns had a connection with the case but that both Dennis youths say Burns carried Miss Farnsworth from the curio shop in which she was surprised alone.

Riedel said the Navy fully realizes the fault of the district police jurisdiction on Guam. That is why Hackett is there, to organize the force, that he had been there only two weeks when the rape occurred.

Riedel stopped here on route home by plane.

Baker Death

Stoutamire said no trace has been found of the bullet which passes completely through Baker's head. He said it also has not been determined whether the empty shell was ejected from the gun fired by Baker.

A 21-year-old divorced tavern waitress who was with Baker when the jeep was wrecked could offer no explanation for the bullet wound, neither could other witnesses who were with Baker shortly before the accident.

Stoutamire said Baker's mother, Mrs. George E. Baker, Sr., was at the scene and she has entertained some of the world's highest society figures. The Duke and Duchess of Windsor were visitors there two years ago.

Baker, who was known to his friends as "Beans", was separated from his wealthy Mexican wife. They married in 1933, but had been living apart for some time.

Sheriff Stoutamire declared "I will do everything possible to find out how Baker was shot, whether it was accidental, by himself, or somebody else."

State Attorney William D. Hopkins also said he would continue his investigation of the case.

It was noted that Larkin Hader, a negro tenant farmer on the Baker plantation, told authorities that he heard two shots after hearing the jeep strike an embankment and later heard a third shot also.

Surviving the young heir are his mother, a brother and two sisters, all of New York.

The family fortune was founded by Baker's grandfather—George F. Baker. He was an associate of J. P. Morgan and was known as the "phoenix of Wall Street." When he died in 1911 at the age of 91 he left an estate of more than $10,000,000 to his son.

Baker, the phynix, was one of the nation's greatest bankers. He started his career as a clerk in the state banking department at Albany and when he had saved $3,000 he helped a friend expand his banking business into the First National Bank.

Meanwhile, Baker's widow, Mrs. Abena Gramates Baker, arrived in New York by plane from Mexico City accompanied by her brother, Jacques. She declined to talk to reporters.

However, George F. Baker, Jr., brother of the dead man insisted to reporters that his brother was "not estranged" from his wife, as was reported in Florida. He added: "I don't know anything about what happened to my brother. I just know that it was an automobile accident. He had been in accidents before. The roads down there are dangerous."

Citrus Marketing

James C. Morton, organizing director for Mutual, said "Florida was handed a golden opportunity to make a little money for the grower. Instead of tempting its enthusiasm, it tried to see just how many leaves could be sent out in two weeks."

Wholesale prices yesterday were generally quoted at $2.35—a drop of 10 cents below weekend figures.

California Freeze

On-hand heating started in the Redlands area, 50 miles southeast of here, at 9:00 o'clock last night. A heavy smoke pall rose from other nearby sections soon afterwards.

Palmdale on the Mojave Desert, where forecast continued cold, with valley showers and snow in the mountains tomorrow, said the snow over the area. The weather reported a low of 15 degrees. However, the mercury rose there early today as cloudiness increased. Meanwhile, Los Angeles and neighboring communities continued cleaning up debris left by the weekend gale, which fell trees, broke windows and electric wiring.

The city council approved an emergency appropriation of $30,000 to clear streets and parks of fallen trees and to remove those weakened by wind and snow.

The state highway patrol reported that all Southern California roads open, but chains are required on mountain routes.

HONOLULU, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Heavy rains continued today and southerly winds freshened in the second phase of a storm sweeping the Hawaiian Islands.

Two were known dead and five were injured in the storm, which brought 25.14 inches of rain in 24 hours to the Navy weather station at Kaneohe, on the southeast coast of Oahu Island. Winds from 40 to 60 miles an hour have been recorded.

Ambassador Alling Dies In Bethesda

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Paul H. Alling, American ambassador to Pakistan, died today at the Naval Medical Center at nearby Bethesda, Md.

Alling, a veteran of 24 years diplomatic experience, had been under treatment since he returned to the United States last July. He was named the first American ambassador to the new state of Pakistan Sep. 25, 1947.

A native of Hamden, Conn., Alling was 52 and a graduate of Trinity College and the University of Pennsylvania. He entered the diplomatic service as a vice consul in London, England, and served as an Army lieutenant overseas and four years in banking and editorial work.

St. James Church

"It can be easily realized that there are no two races that can get along as do the southern negroes and the southern white folks. There is no negro born in the South who wants to live apart from his southern white friends, and there is no negro in the South who wants social equality, but he does want justice, equal opportunity and better understanding," he said.

The Rev. J. E. McKinley, pastor of the First Methodist Church, today termed the drive as for a "worthy cause." Dr. E. D. Browne, pastor emeritus of the First Presbyterian Church stated: "I am sure that any money given them for the work that lies immediately ahead will be well used."

Panzi Dies

He was deported from the United States to his native Italy and he came to Brazil in about 1930.

Doctors said hardened arteries and a blood clot in the brain caused his death.

Panzi's friends were perpetrating a scheme to stretch his funds and he even attracted some from Europe. In those days he was a slight man only a fraction more than five feet tall.

His girls promises to double money within three months lured young men and able business men alike. Many, in and out early enough, pocketed profits from the great financial juggling act. But most were stuck. Panzi served four years in the county jail in Plymouth.

By the time he reached Brazil, Panzi had lost nearly all, but was not quite destitute. He made a meager living teaching English and drew a little Brazilian unemployment compensation.

The hospital ward where he died has 20 beds. At one time during his last days, he was flanked by an old man with a hacking cough and a quiet old negro who stared most of the time at the ceiling.

Panzi took his fall from fortune with philosophy. He still was able to chuckle when he remembered his get-rich-quick schemes.

The man who used to carry up to $2,000,000 in his pockets recalled recently how he once was rolling in money—somebody else's money.

His body appeared destined for Potter's Field.

Legion Meet

(Continued From Page One) Paul E. Godwin, Robert E. Brown, and Fred V. Bell, guests present included Donald H. Norton, past department commander of the Legion in Vermont and two other Vermont Legionnaires, J. Albert Wolf and Joseph C. Lamour, all of whom are now staying in Geneva. Other visitors were John Brewton of Ft. Pierce, and G. B. Marsh of Hopkinton, N. Y.

Plans were made for a memorial meeting on Feb. 21 to honor charter members of the Post.

A letter from National Commander Perry Brown, urging all Legionnaires to protest to congressmen and representatives against proposed legislation which would strip jurisdiction of the Federal Security Agency, was read.

This would mean the end of specialized veteran hospitalization such as the Legion has fought for through all the years," wrote Comdr. Brown. "The medical committee of the Hoover Commission recommends one Federal hospital system, placing the veterans hospitals and hospitals of the Bureau of Indian Affairs under one head, the PSA, he pointed out in the letter.
