MTA Says Lives, Money Would Be Saved With Road Plan

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Traffic fatalities will decline, the average household will save $1,728 annually and auto accidents will decrease by almost 18 percent if voters approve the Metropolitan Transportation Authority's regional transportation plan on June 3, according to a report the MTA released Thursday.

The report will considerably strengthen the MTA plan's chances at the polls and also quiet its critics, MTA vice-chairman Sue Lewis said today.

"I can't see how any arguments can be made against these facts," she said of information in the report. "This defines the advantages we've been talking about all along."

The report reinforces "the need" for adoption of the MTA plan, according to Seminole County Commission Chairman Bob Sturm, who serves as the county's elected delegate to the MTA.

"If voters realistically look at all the facts regarding what our road needs are today, they'll see we've run out of options and they'll vote yes," he said.

The MTA hopes to finance a $689,000,000 road plan for Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties through voter approval of a four cent gas tax and a $1 per $1,000 assessed value property tax.

The information released Thursday "clearly spells out" the lives, money and travel time that would be saved if the MTA plan is approved by voters, Ms. Lewis said.

The report is based on a 1995 projection the state Department of Transportation developed through data submitted by East Central Florida Regional Planning Council representative Dan Grovdahl, Orlando Transportation Director Dan Brame and Transportation Consulting Group member Bob Cambell.

Undertaken during the week of May 5-9, the DOT study considered existing state and federal

Board Splits On Drug Center In Historic Longwood Area

By Jane Caselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The Longwood Historical Commission split 4-4 Thursday night on whether a new drug counseling center for chemically dependent adolescents should be allowed to operate in the Longwood Historical District.

Friends in Recovery, Inc., located at 398 N. East Lake St., has been ordered by the city to close by 5 p.m. today and remain closed until it obtains the proper city and state permits, which are all contingent on getting zoning approval.

While the final zoning decision is up to the city commission, everything that is added to the historical district gets review by the Historical Commission.

Deputy Mayor June Lormann, who is a member of the Historical Commission, and who voted against the center, said "Most of the board, even some who voted for it, felt it wasn't compatible with the area. Nobody objected to the program, it is something that is needed, but in a proper location."

Mrs. Lormann said it would be safe to say her vote on the city commission would be against the center. She is the only Historical Commission member who also sits on the city board.

According to Dr. Daniel Glennon, co-owner, the center has 12 young chemically dependent clients between ages of 13 and 18 years and can accommodate a maximum of 20.

Anne Reul, co-owner, has a masters in education degree and is well known in the community and has experience in treating adolescents for alcohol and drug dependency. She also has a Families in Recovery counseling program in the Big Tree area.

There is a full time staff of six at Friends in Recovery, including a school teacher so that the students can continue their school work while overcoming their addiction.

A medical doctor and psychiatrist with specialty in alcohol and drug dependency, Dr. Glennon said he hopes to resolve the problem with the city.

"I made a mistake when I moved the program in to the historic district without getting necessary approval by the city," he admitted.

He said his clients mostly have tried other ways to overcome their addiction such as Narcotics Anonymous or own their own. "Some have been in treatment before and they are in our day treatment program while continuing to work on their school work," Glennon said. "We provide group therapy, films, lectures, counseling, step-type recovery programs while they can continue living at home."

"We work with the courts, HRS, and the parents so they can continue to function while recovering," he said. "Sometimes they can avoid a long term

P&Z Recommends Alcohol Permit For Downtown Gourmet Food Shop

Downtown Sanford will acquire a gourmet wine and cheese shop that sells and serves alcohol next month if Sanford City Commissioners endorse a Planning and Zoning Board recommendation to allow the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages at one of the shops architect Gerald Gross is developing on East First Street.

The P&Z endorsement came Thursday night, and must be sanctioned by the city commission under Chapter Three of the city code. Commissioners are scheduled to review the proposal at their May 27 meeting, Sanford Zoning and Arbor Inspector Betty Sonnenberg said today.

The shop, Soup to Nuts Gourmet and Catering, will open in the 210 East First Street building next to the Magnolia Mall. It will share the building with a newly opened book store and, under Gross' plans, the Dollar General store next to it will be transformed into 10-12 small retail outlets within the next few months.

The structural rehabilitations will be completed by the fountain Gross said he plans to design for Magnolia Mall. Private funding, including $5,000 from Rich Food Plan owner W.E. Duke Adamson, will enable its construction, Gross said.

In other P&Z action Thursday night, approval was recommended for a less restrictive level of single family residential zoning to allow construction of six homes, rather than four, on a tract of land in the Kaywood subdivision. The P&Z's recommended approval will be forwarded to the city commission for final action.

The P&Z also approved of site plans for a private school the California based Page School will build at 119 West Airport Boulevard. The school will offer pre-school through eighth grade instruction, Page representative Andrew Kutz said.

Defeated by a 5-2 vote Thursday night was a rezoning request to enable the Sanford Christian Church to open a day care and educational center on Airport Boulevard land adjacent to the church. Church representatives said they would have purchased the site if the rezoning had been sanctioned.

The P&Z majority cited the owners request for general commercial rezoning as being inconsistent with multi-family office/industrial zoning in that area. The P&Z's recommended denial will be sent to the city commission for final action.

Impact Fees Stalled

Builders Irk Lake Mary Commission

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary city commissioners nearly enacted a building moratorium Thursday in reaction to a sharply worded letter from a builder's group demanding repeal of the city's recently imposed impact fees on new construction.

Instead, they rescinded the fee resolution and are scheduled to consider a "modified moratorium" in a specially called session May 29.

The commission recently adopted an interim impact fee resolution to collect fees for new construction in an effort to fund expanded city services such as police and fire protection needed due to the growth. The interim resolution was to be in place until an ordinance on the fees could be adopted after a more complete study of the impact cost of growth in the city.

A resolution is a preliminary statement, while an ordinance is considered law, with due public notice.

The interim fee schedule was produced by commissioner Buzz Petros. The consensus of the commission is that impact fees need to be collected while land is still being developed in the city. Much construction is expected this year.

Petros said he felt the fees he developed were "reasonable," and that all monies collected were to be held in escrow until an ordinance was adopted. Then if the fees collected were too high, some money would be refunded, and if they were too low, additional fees would be collected.

"This commission adopted the resolution unanimously. The only reason we're wavering is because of the threatened suit," commissioner Paul Tremel said.

At the time the fee schedule was adopted by resolution, city attorney Robert Petree warned that an ordinance backed up by detailed study would be required for the fees to stand up to court challenge.

The (Impact fee) resolution is not legally defensible.

—Robert Petree

The resolution was threatened by legal action in a letter from a builder's group read by Petree at the commission's regular meeting Thursday night, so the commission rescinded the impact resolution, and considered a moratorium on building altogether.

The moratorium was suggested by commissioner Ken King in response to a letter from Bob Lewis, president of the Home Builders Association of Mid-Florida.

Lewis' letter said the interim fees are "inequitable and illegal."

"The Home Builders Association of Mid-Florida demands that the City of Lake Mary immediately repeal (the) resolution," Lewis' letter read. He called for the "refund (of) all fees collected" under the resolution" and said he would consult their "chief legal counsel."

No fees have been collected under the newly adopted, and now rejected resolution, city manager Kathy Rice reported.

"The resolution is not legally defensible," Petree said. "If it is challenged, they will win, and the resolution will be stricken by the court. We do not have a defined study."

Mayor Dick Fess suggested rescinding the resolution, and beginning work on an ordinance.

"I object to the (association's) letter. The word 'demand' is not appropriate or befitting of the president of any association."

Heroic Medical Efforts To Revive Frozen Climbers

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Doctors at five hospitals attempted the nearly impossible — the methodical thawing and revival of eight people whose bodies had become partially frozen in a mountaineering nightmare atop Mount Hood.

Thursday was the second day in a row trauma teams feverishly worked to save members of a climbing party from an Episcopal school caught in a freak spring storm on Mount Hood.

They succeeded in keeping two alive, Giles Thompson and Brinton Clark, both 15. But six others whose body temperatures had dropped 40-60 degrees below normal died. The same fate befell three others who were found on the mountain a day earlier.

"Two out of 11 is not very good odds," said Medical Examiner Duane Bigoni.

"World medical literature shows no one has survived with a temperature below 13 (celsius, or about 55 Fahrenheit)," said Lori Callister, a spokeswoman for Emanuel Hospital.

The doctors said they had to try because there have been cases where people have been brought back from freezing death with few ill effects.

A total of 150 searchers — all members of mountaineering and rescue groups — scoured the south slope Wednesday and Thursday, with dogs, metal detectors and "avalanche poles" used to probe the snow. They were in the final hour of the search for the day Thursday when one man uncovered a backpack with his pole.

The leader, Air Force Sgt. Rick Harder, called together the 33 members of his party and they began a shoulder-to-shoulder search of the area. They uncovered another pack, and then searcher Charlie Ek's pole uncovered the short tunnel leading to the snow cave. They began digging and swiftly found the victims.

"The cave entrance has been found and our people have entered the cave," Harder

Shuttle Comeback To Cost Half Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency's struggle to recover from the Challenger disaster will cost more than a half billion dollars, including $250 million to redesign suspect rocket boosters and $125 million to upgrade shuttle main engines.

On another front, NASA engineers have pinpointed dozens of significant safety issues that must be addressed before space shuttle flights resume next year, top agency officials revealed Thursday.

"To date, 95 different potential safety concerns involving orbiter, external tank and space shuttle main engine hardware and software have been considered," Arnold

Aldrich, shuttle program chief at the Johnson Space Center in Houston, told the House space subcommittee.

"Of these, 44 are of a level of significance that improved hardware, software, processing and/or operations may be required before resuming flight activities."

In a hearing before a Senate appropriations subcommittee, the space agency asked Congress for an extra $626 million in the budget for this fiscal year to pay for the recovery operations after the Jan. 28 Challenger disaster.

"We want to do as much as possible to make sure everything is absolutely safe when we fly again."

new NASA Administrator James Fletcher said.

NASA Comptroller Thomas Newman said corrective actions alone in the wake of the Challenger accident are expected to total $657 million. Salvage and investigation costs account for most of the rest of the extra expense.

But Senate subcommittee chairman Jake Garn, the Utah Republican who flew on a shuttle last year, said his committee was trimming the overall request to $696 million because he did not expect all the money to be spent before the fiscal year ends Sept. 30.

In any case, the request does not include an estimated $5 billion that will be needed if President Reagan decides to ask Congress to authorize a replacement shuttle.

Challenger's destruction was caused by the failure of a joint between two segments of a solid-fuel booster rocket and Newman said it will cost $250 million this year to redesign the suspect joint.

Rear Adm. Richard Truly, director of the shuttle program, told the House space science and applications subcommittee the first post-Challenger launching tentatively is set for July 15, 1987.

NATION IN BRIEF

Child Suicide Rate Jumps 800 Percent in 35 Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — Suicide among children younger than 15 has risen more than 800 percent in a little more than a generation and adults who kill themselves do so at an earlier age, a survey shows.

Statistical Bulletin, published by Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., said that although the suicide rate in the United States has remained stable in recent years, the suicide rate rose nearly 800 percent among youngsters under the age of 15 during the past 35 years.

"In 1950, fewer than 40 children died from suicide, while the current number has risen to about 300," said Stanley Kranczer, author of the report. "I'm only guessing, but drug problems, more pressure on kids" may be to blame.

About 28,500 people killed themselves last year in the United States, making suicide the nation's eighth leading cause of death, the report said.

In 1983, the last year for which numbers were available, 28,295 Americans killed themselves.

The highest proportion of suicide now is among men between ages 15 and 24 and ages 25 to 34, the report said.

The study said New Jersey had the lowest suicide rate in the country and Nevada had the highest, with New Mexico coming in a close second.

Model Pterosaur Makes Debut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An ugly, flying, plastic lizard — the wing-flapping, radio-controlled, lifelike replica of one that disappeared from Earth about 65 million years ago — goes public for the first time today.

The creature is called Quetzalcoatlus northropi, and it's already a screen star in "On the Wing," the museum's new film about natural and mechanical flight that premieres at the Air and Space June 20.

Today is the creature's social debut, and visitors can gawk at the gangly, 44-pound model with the 18-foot wing span at the museum's Hall of Air Transportation.

But scientists and engineers who worked with the Smithsonian Institution's Air and Space Museum admit the big moment comes Saturday, when their $700,000 man-made pterosaur takes to the skies in a public demonstration at Andrews Air Force Base, Md.

A tow line will help yank the plastic contraption into the air and will disconnect at 500 feet. The model's autopilot then takes over, moving the head from side to side like a rudder and twisting and flapping the wings to keep it stable and provide propulsion.

Battery-powered motors and a computer assume the roles of muscles, ligaments and brain. Radio commands tell the computer where to go and it translates the orders into directions for the "muscles."

Teamster Chief Facing Indictment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department said it expects a federal grand jury decision today on whether to indict Teamsters President Jackie Presser on fraud charges.

A Justice Department official said Thursday a decision was expected from a Cleveland grand jury that has been investigating Presser's role in a ghost payroll scheme, but declined to predict whether an indictment against the Teamsters boss would be handed down.

Despite the grand jury scrutiny, Presser is expected to be re-elected easily to another five-year term as head of the nation's largest union.

Presser was not immediately available for comment.

A federal grand jury in Washington has been investigating charges that at least one FBI agent made false statements to the Justice Department, saying that the bureau had approved the scheme that put Presser's uncle, Allen Friedman, and others on the payroll of Teamsters Local 507.

IRA Deduction May Be Saved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican leader Robert Dole is hinting that a sore point in the tax reform bill — the plan to drop most IRA deductions — may be fixed, and a bipartisan group is pushing a new way to save the cherished tax break.

Dole, of Kansas, noted Thursday several areas in the Finance Committee's bill drew numerous complaints, including the plan to eliminate most tax deductions for the popular Individual Retirement Accounts. "We may be able to fix up some of those," he said.

The statement, though far from a mark of support for restoring the IRA deductions, seemed to be a softening of Dole's earlier position. Previously, he had said there would be attempts to restore the tax break, but he would fight such amendments and expected them to lose.

The Finance Committee plan would cut individual income tax rates to their lowest level in about a half century — a two-bracket scheme of 15 percent and 27 percent — and pay for that by curtailing a host of tax breaks. Many of the items that would be dropped are used mostly by the wealthy, but some are considered basic provisions for the middle class.

April Wholesale Prices Dip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices declined 0.6 percent in April for the fourth consecutive monthly decline, the Labor Department said today.

The dip in prices was due almost entirely to the continued erosion of energy costs. Crude petroleum prices rolled back 16.9 percent last month following declines of 20.3 percent and 24.8 percent in February and March, according to a Bureau of Labor Statistics report.

The April Producer Price Index decline, which followed drops of 0.7 percent, 1.6 percent and 1.1 percent in the first three months of this year, was somewhat smaller than expected.

The modest deflation rate reflected a 0.7 percent increase in the wholesale price of durable goods and a 0.3 percent rise in the cost of capital equipment.

State Approved, County Opposed

Land Use Map Approved By City

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford commissioners formally adopted the city's new land use map during a regular meeting Monday night. The map illustrates city land development trends and includes 550 acres of property Sanford acquired from Seminole County through annexation last year.

Commissioners also accepted $61,800 in open space fees for purchase and development of park lands.

Of the $61,800 in land fees accepted Monday night, $34,200 will be used to develop the Hidden Lakes community's Lee P. Moore Park and a park at the 1 1/4 acre Hovnanian tract that was donated to the city last fall. The $27,600 balance will be supplemented with additional anticipated space fees for a large park land purchase in southeast Sanford.

Under city policy, development or project expansion requires builders to allocate a portion of their project land for future development as a park, or pay an open space fee in lieu of the land dedication. The fee is $150 for every dwelling unit.

The requests to pay the city, rather than dedicate land, were received by commissioners from former Sanford City Manager Pete Knowles. Now a private land development consultant, Knowles said the payments would assist the city's need for park project funding, while also benefiting his clients. Knowles was representing the developers of the Carriage Cove and Pinewood Trails communities Monday night.

Commissioner John Mercer opposed the city's acceptance of $27,600 from the Carriage Cove developer in lieu of a land contribution for park development.

The Carriage Cove trailer park lies in southeast Sanford, behind Seminole Centre, and Mercer said there is not enough open park land in that part of the city. The developer's land dedication would have been approximately 4.5 acres, city parks staff said.

The rest of the commission sided with Knowles, and targeted a larger park for that area by establishing a fund with the $27,600 and having it added to by developers who are planning to build on nearby parcels.

Commissioners unanimously accepted the Pinewood Trails $34,200 open space fee, due to this project's proximity to the Hidden Lakes and Hovnanian parks.

The $34,200 covers Pinewood Trails 258 dwelling units, which are being built on 13.2 acre tract of land.

Commissioners also unanimously adopted the new Sanford land use map. Developed by city engineers and P&Z members earlier this year, the map was approved by the state and opposed by the county.

The county contended the map's designating approximately 410 acres of annexed county land for future industrial and commercial rezoning by the city should have been preceded by studies to address the impacts the planned development will have on these areas.

The properties had been zoned by the county for low intensity utilization and will remain that way until their owners approach the city with rezoning requests. The map's land use designations anticipate these requests and city engineers say Sanford has addressed the impact of their development through the future land use plan the city adopted in 1979.

The new Sanford map is one of two the city can develop annually under the state's 1985 comprehensive land use act to formally recognize development trends and new city areas for planning purposes.

Battery With A Shovel Charges Filed

Oviedo police jailed a 34-year-old Oviedo man after he allegedly hit a woman in the back several times with a shovel.

Police said they were first called to 112 Ave. B, at about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and broke up a fight between Virginia Walker, 26, of that address and the man. The man was told to leave, and he did.

But police returned to the home at about 5:45 p.m. and Ms. Walker told them the man had come back, kicked a door in, and chased her from the house. She fled through a window, but the man caught her hand and allegedly hit her with a shovel.

Ms. Walker's brothers pulled the suspect off her and reportedly hit him in the face.

After police arrived the second time the suspect and Ms. Walker were taken to the Oviedo Fire Station for treatment. The man was arrested there.

Albert Wilson, 34, of 112 Ave. B, has been charged with battery. He was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

CHARGED WITH GRAND THEFT
Seminole County Sheriff's Department at about noon Wednesday. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court June 2.

BOMBING ARREST
A Seminole County sheriff's deputy, called by neighbors to 74 Sweetbriar Branch, Longwood, at about 6:15 p.m. Wednesday, reported the owner was away and there were trespassers in the home. He ended up arresting the homeowner's son on a possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia charge.

Before entering the home in question, deputy John E. Negri reported he called homeowner Gary I. Adams, who told him no one was supposed to be in the home, not even his son, and he wanted the intruders removed or arrested.

Negri reported finding four persons in the house and the owner's son reportedly had possession of a small quantity of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

He was arrested, but the three other persons he reportedly invited to the home were not charged, a sheriff's report said.

Mark Gary Adams, 20, of Sweetbriar Branch, was arrested at 6:39 p.m. Wednesday. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
Tommy Lee Gooch Jr., of 319 Salem Drive, Altamonte Springs, told sheriff's deputies he wants to file charges against a man he knows only as "BoBo" who allegedly took $10 from him when they went together to the Disco Food store, on Magnolia Avenue at County Road 427, Altamonte Springs, at about 11 a.m. Tuesday. The suspect left Gooch at the store, a sheriff's report said.

An air conditioner valued at $800 was stolen from outside a building at 108 River Oaks Blvd., Sanford, between Monday and Tuesday, according to a report Mitchell H. Weiss, 39, of 300 Saddleworth Drive, Heathrow, filed with sheriff's deputies.

Donald Metz, 61, of 1780 Lake Markham Road, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that $160 in coins and about $150 worth of other items were stolen from his car while parked at the Fleet Reserve Assoc., 3040 W. State Road 46, Sanford, on Monday.

Leola Pryor, 312, of 1802 Coldridge Drive, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $1,300 diamond watch was stolen from her home on May 10 or 11.

An extension cord, a drill and a ladder with a combined value of $400 were stolen from a truck belonging to Tri-City Electric of Altamonte Springs, on Saturday, when Christopher Green, 21, of Longwood, parked the vehicle at 400 Sunlake Circle, Lake Mary, a sheriff's report said.

Golf gear valued at $850 was stolen from the garage of John R. Atwood, 36, of 342 Presaview Ave., Longwood, on Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

GUNPLAY
Sanford police who searched for a man in a Jeep after a shot was fired in the parking lot of Food Giant in the 300 block of Sanford Avenue on Tuesday stopped the vehicle on Bahford Avenue at Seminole Blvd., and arrested the driver after a loaded, 12 gauge shotgun and a spent shell were found in the vehicle.

David Lee McKinnon, 22, of Osteen was charged with possession of a short barrel shotgun at 11:15 p.m. Wednesday. He has been released on $1,000 to appear in court June 2.

The Sanford Fire Department has responded to the following calls:

TUESDAY
—6:12 p.m., 2854 S. Sanford Ave., Child World, fire. The call was determined to be a false alarm caused when a youngster pulled the store's fire alarm.

—9:41 p.m., 1001 E. Fourth Street, rescue. A 62-year-old man was reportedly experiencing abdominal pain. He was transported to the hospital.

WEDNESDAY
—12:55 a.m., 1500 West 17th Street, rescue. An 84-year-old woman, who had suffered a possible heart attack, received hospital transport.

RIDERS BOUNDED UP
Three men who reportedly sped away on all-terrain motorcycles, spinning dirt onto a Lake Mary policeman who approached them in a wooded area off Lake Emma Road, were chased and caught by police.

A policeman reported he first approached the three because he thought they might be smoking marijuana, but when they rode away that brought a chase, which took the suspects to jail on charges of resisting arrest, attempting to elude police and failure to obey a lawful command.

Arrested at 7:36 p.m. Wednesday, near Lake Emma Road in Lake Mary were: John Albert Boograaf, 20, of 441 Surrey Run, Casselberry; Gregory Lee Owings, 20, of Orlando; and Douglas K. Owings, 28, of 227 E. Tullie Ave., Longwood. All have been released on $500 bond each to appear in court May 23.

Judge Dismisses Manslaughter Charge

A judge has dismissed a manslaughter charge against a Sanford man who was accused of drowning a drinking buddy in Lake Mary.

The state will appeal the dismissal of the charge.

Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Lefler said there was not enough evidence to support a charge against Michael Leon Price, 21, Price, along with codefendant Johnny Robert Parks, 28, was charged with the Sept. 7 drowning of Clarence Fox III, 20, of Lake Helen.

A manslaughter charge against Parks was dismissed in March by Lefler just as the case was about to go to the jury. In that incident, Lefler said the state failed to prove Parks was negligent in Fox's death. Dismissal of the charge against Parks in the case was also submitted as reason why the charge against Price should have been dropped. The state cannot appeal the dismissal of the manslaughter charge against Parks because it was a judgment acquittal by Lefler.

Fox drowned after he, Price and Parks were horseplaying in a man-made lake off Rinehart Road in Lake Mary. The men had been drinking and smoking marijuana, according to court records. The state maintained the men dunked Fox until he was motionless. Parks and Price said the drowning was accidental. They said Fox tried to swim across the lake but got cramps. When they tried to save him he reportedly tried to pull them under forcing them to abandon him.

The drowning incident was investigated for two months by Lake Mary police. An autopsy didn't jibe with Price's and Parks' accounts of Fox's death, according to Lake Mary Police. Fox's family also questioned reports that the death was accidental and cited a skirmish in the past between Fox and one of the men.

Medical Examiner D.V. Garay said Fox would have to have been dead several hours before the men swore they arrived at the lake based on analysis of the dead man's stomach content. Also, the autopsy indicated that Fox had consumed only about two beers whereas his companions said he had been drinking a lot.

The autopsy also said Fox's was 6-foot-1 and the point in the lake were he drowned was 5 1/2 feet deep.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Violent Midwest storms mauled Missouri with tornadoes that killed two people and forced officials to seal off devastated towns today as they worked to preserve order and restore telephone, power and other services. In all, the National Weather Service said severe thunderstorms in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys Thursday produced an estimated 26 tornadoes — concentrating their fury on the southeastern corner of Missouri.

The extent of the damage was difficult to calculate because the storms knocked out the AT&T microwave transmitter near Bloomfield, cutting telephone service in southeast Missouri, and police prevented traffic from entering the towns of Vanduser and Sikeston so they could "get a handle on things." "The tornado is reported to have produced widespread destruction in Vanduser, Mo., and there have been two deaths and many injuries," said Brian Miller.

School Board Shuffles Five Administrators

Assignments of several county school principals and assistant principals were shuffled in action taken during the regularly scheduled School Board of Seminole County meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The chain reaction of appointments started March 19 when Lakeview Middle School principal Ted Barker was selected by the school board to be the principal at the new Greenwood Lakes Middle School, set to open in August.

Barker, 53, has been the Lakeview principal since 1968 when the school opened.

Named to replace Barker as Lakeview's principal is Richard C. Mossman, 40, Teague Middle School principal. Before he became Teague principal last year, he was the assistant principal for ten years. He was also a Teague and Tuskawilla Middle School teacher, and began service in Seminole County in 1971.

Sidney A. Boyette, 50, South Seminole Middle School principal will move to Teague's principal position. Boyette came into the county schools as Seminole High School assistant principal for two months before moving to the principal's job at South Seminole in August of 1969. He began his education career in Virginia in 1965.

Boyette will be replaced at South Seminole by Curtis L. Hughes, 49. Hughes has been principal of Tuskawilla Middle School since 1977, and has been a teacher and administrator at South Seminole Middle School, Idyllwilde Elementary, and Milwee Middle School starting in 1964.

Promoted to Tuskawilla principal is Ronald G. Brewer, Rock Lake Middle School assistant principal since 1979. Previously, Brewer had been assistant principal at Milwee Middle School for two years, and South Seminole Middle School assistant principal for three years. He has been employed in the county school system since 1967.

Barbara K. Kirby, 38, was promoted to the principal's post at the new Crooms School of Choice Alternative Education Center. She is presently assistant principal at Hamilton Elementary school, and was also assistant principal at Southside Elementary School during the 1983-84 school year.

In other personnel action, the school board accepted the resignation of longtime Lyman High School assistant principal

Barbara Kirby

Marshall Moser, 64, who is retiring.

Moser was hired as Lyman assistant principal in 1971. Prior to that, he was a school instructor in Tennessee, Michigan, and Kentucky, starting in 1945.

His first job in education as a sixth grade teacher in Clifton, Tennessee, paid an annual salary of $1,250. He presently earns $32,790 at Lyman.

Replacements for Brewer, Kirby, and Moser have not yet been recommended.

Bingo To Begin

Lake Mary's Community Improvement Association (CIA) will begin holding weekly bingo games at their new CIA Civic Center, 280 North Country Club Road next week, according to CIA President Charlie Webster.

Webster said he hopes money made from the games will pay for the completion of the interior of the CIA building. The CIA is a non-profit, community service organization.

Continuous games will be held starting May 28, and will kick off with a $100 jackpot. Webster said. Games will be held from 1-4 p.m. every Wednesday thereafter.

CIA board of directors member John Conally said the group recently held a car wash to earn the money to start the bingo games.

Information on the bingo games or rental of the Civic Center can be obtained by calling the CIA/Chamber of Commerce phone number, 322-1212, or Webster at 323-2070.

SCC Student Wins $1,000 In National Essay Contest

By Paul Schaefer

William C. Carter, Orlando, a Seminole Community College freshman, was awarded $1,000 for his seventh place finish in a national essay writing contest.

The award was given to Carter for his essay titled "Protectionism, The Consumer and Consumer Advocates."

The essay took seventh place in the California-based Americanism Educational League's 4th annual Milton Friedman National Essay Contest for College Students, who sponsored the contest and offered the prize money.

According to SCC economics instructor Lucinda Coulter, Carter's 1,500-word essay is the only community college entry to ever be a finalist prize winner in the contest.

"We are extremely proud of Mr. Carter," said SCC president Earl Weldon, "and feel that his winning reflects favorably on him and Seminole Community College."

Carter is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, Phi Beta Lambda, and the Invisible Hands Society, Ms. Coulter said.

Other students honored at Tuesday night's SCC Board of Trustees meeting include members of the SCC Brain Bowl team, who recently won the Academic Challenge Brain Bowl Interstate Championship. SCC sophomore Gerry Doyle, Brain Bowl team captain, accepted the championship trophy from Dave Elhert, a representative of the State Board of Community Colleges.

SCC's team recently beat state champions Walker College of Alabama and East Central Junior College of Mississippi to win the interstate title.

Rate Increase Expected

Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

After delaying several weeks to answer concerns of the residents of Columbus Harbour and Skylark subdivisions, the Longwood City Commission is expected to take final action Monday night on an ordinance that will double sewer rates for the city's residential customers.

Commercial rates will also be raised to 300 percent of their water bill or a minimum of $24 a month. These revenues will go to pay for sewer maintenance and operation.

Residents of Columbus Harbour and Skylark, who have been attending Longwood City Commission meetings en masse recently to question the city's plans for expanding its sewage treatment facilities and increasing sewer rates, had all of their questions answered at last Monday night's work session.

A printed list of their 104 questions with answers prepared by the city's consulting engineers in conjunction with City Administrator Ronald Waller and staff members was available for all those attending

Monday night. Dyer, Riddle, Mills & Precourt, Inc. vice president Alan Fickett and project engineer Rachel Christensen were on hand to answer any other queries from the audience.

The increase is necessary in order to borrow money to construct a $2.5 million sewage treatment facility with a 600,000 gallons per day capacity to replace the package plants at Skylark and Columbus Harbour, according to city officials.

The latter will be phased out and the site bulldozed over. Regulations call for the property to remain out of use for at least a year. The residents wanted a definite commitment on what the city will do with it then. Some of the options are to leave it a greenbelt, make it into a park, or to sell it. The residents said they would prefer it be restored as a greenbelt and if possible turned over to the Homeowners Association.

The Columbus Harbour plant percolation ponds are not able to handle all the treated effluent and it is being hauled to Skylark by two trucks, which make 10 trips a day at a cost of $8,000 a month. This is expected to continue until the city completes a force main from Columbus Harbour to transport sewage to Skylark.

At least some of the commissioners said they were not interested in an offer by Al Stolte to sell his Oak Villa 10.5 acre development property for $750,000 to the city as a site for its proposed sewage treatment plant. Reasons given were the amount he was asking was too high and the property too wet for the purpose.

At a special meeting prior to the work session, the commission again tabled a request by Stolte for acceptance of the final plat for Oak Villa until he could meet all of the city's requirements.

In other business, the commission approved the naming of City Clerk Don Terry as acting city administrator while Waller is out of town attending his son's graduation May 29 through June 1 and authorized preparation of an ordinance to transfer funds to provide a salary for an accounting clerk position in the finance department.

Crystal Lake Tests Improve

Tests for coliform bacteria in the City of Lake Mary's Crystal Lake show continued improvement, according to a report from Teer Laboratories to the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, to whom the city has applied for a public swimming permit.

The first week's test results designate bacteria levels as "unsatisfactory" on only one day, the first day of the tests, May 5. Samples taken May 6 and May 7 were rated as "satisfactory."

According to the first week's test result averages, the 1,392 coliform bacteria were found per 100 milliliters of water taken from the east beach, and only 565 were found in samples taken from the west beach. The monthly allowable average count of coliform bacteria is 1,000.

Ellis Teer of Teer Laboratories said that coliform bacteria is an "indicator bacteria," signifying possible presence of human waste or disease producing bacteria.

"No swimming" signs have been posted at the lake's two beaches since November, when high bacteria counts were discovered. A broken septic tank pipe at a lakefront property was blamed for the pollution, and was quickly repaired, city officials have said.

"We would like to see the counts even lower," City Manager Kathy Rice said. "We hope the rest of the tests will provide even better results."

Testing ends May 21, and city officials hope to reopen the lake for swimming by June 1.

Comet Like Sweet Potato

LONDON (UPI) — Halley's Comet has an icy heart but its dust-shrouded surface is hot, scientists said Thursday in a symposium of reports on the heavenly traveler.

They said the comet is shaped like a potato with a major axis of 9.3 miles and a minor axis of 4.3 miles.

The scientists presented the portrait of the comet in 35 specialized articles published in a special 116-page section of Nature magazine.

The teams who contributed to the articles were involved in at least one of the five European, Soviet and Japanese space probe missions to the comet, which passes near Earth once every 76 years.

John Maddox, Nature's editor, said the symposium showed there is nothing that "sharply contradicts" the generally accepted "dirty snowball" theory propounded by American scientist Fred Whipple.

Blackmail Might Backfire On U.S.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar has responded to American criticism of the world body, and to U.S. threats to reduce this country's financial support of the organization, by agreeing that Washington pays too much to support the United Nations. No country, Perez de Cuellar told reporters recently, "should be in a position to threaten to blackmail the United Nations," a pointed reference to legislation enacted last year that would reduce the U.S. share of the U.N. budget from 25 percent to 20 percent next October unless "progress" is made toward shifting General Assembly voting to a weighted system based on contributions.

Some U.S. officials took offense at the reference to blackmail, but that's exactly what the congressional action amounts to. The law authored by Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., ignored the well-established procedure by which national contributions are adjusted through negotiation — a procedure followed scrupulously by this country in the past — and laid down an ultimatum to the United Nations. Yet to ask the weaker and poorer nations, whose only real forum in the United Nations is the General Assembly, to vote away the limited influence they have is to suggest that the Assembly become the special preserve of the rich and powerful.

What's worse, the U.S. threatens come at a time when the United Nations faces its most serious financial crisis ever. The combined effect of U.S. cuts mandated by the Kassebaum amendment and by the Gramm-Rudman budget-cutting law, and the failure of a number of countries (including the Soviet Union) to keep their payments current, raises the real possibility of bankruptcy for the United Nations by the end of this year. In that context, Perez de Cuellar's remarks about the U.S. role in financing the United Nations are strikingly bold.

Indeed, by stating publicly that he feels the U.S. contribution should be reduced, perhaps to as low as 15 percent, the secretary-general has offered the United States an opportunity it should have seized much sooner: to negotiate, not dictate, a justified reduction in the U.S. contribution and an increase in the share of other, newly prosperous, nations. Failure to do so will signal other countries that Washington is more interested in rendering the General Assembly impotent than in saving money.

American displeasure has focused both on the United Nations' often profligate ways and on the anti-American, anti-Israel and "anti-imperialist" rhetoric that has characterized General Assembly debates in the past. Yet U.S. pressure has already succeeded in moderating that rhetoric to the point where the U.S. mission to the United Nations pronounced itself very satisfied with the conduct of last year's Assembly session. At the same time, under Perez de Cuellar, the United Nations has slashed spending by freezing salaries and promotions, reducing the number of meetings, publications and outside consultants' contracts and curbing staff travel. All of this reflects the success of the U.S. policy of pressuring the United Nations, but at some point such tactics can become counter-productive. That point has now been reached.

That being the case, Congress should take the conciliatory step of repealing, or at least postponing, the effective date of the Kassebaum amendment and, with the administration, enter into serious discussions with the United Nations about adjusting the United Nations without adjusting the budget formula. Many of the organization's severest critics in this country say they want to reform, not destroy, it. Perez de Cuellar has given them an excellent opportunity to prove it.

Aide Defends Reagan Appointments

"By and large the president feels that he has appointed good people," Larry Speakes, deputy press secretary, told reporters recently.

He was responding to the latest tally by The Washington Post on the number of top Reagan administration appointees who have been accused of improper conduct, resigned under fire, been dismissed, their nominations withdrawn or rejected.

More than 100 of the ranking administrators he has appointed have fallen by the wayside.

But when asked if President Reagan was concerned to have so many of his key employees be forced to resign following allegations or revelations, Speakes said "that seems to be quite a generalization....the president, by and large, feels that he has appointed good people. I think the record of his administration as far as accomplishments, speaks volumes."

When pressed on the subject, Speakes said the reporter was "overgeneralizing."

No other administration in recent times has had so many top-ranking appointees precipitously and unexpectedly depart the scene. The Nixon administration had more staffers who faced criminal charges; 21 who worked for President Nixon were charged with crimes and 17 convicted.

The Post noted that those facing charges in the Watergate scandal were accused of wiretapping, obstruction of justice, burglaries, illegal campaign contributions, while those in the Reagan era are distinguished by allegations of conflicts of interest, favoritism and personal aggrandizement.

The Carter administration had only a handful of top appointees who were forced to bow out under a cloud.

Reagan takes it all in stride. He has publicly defended most of his appointees, who eventually were forced out of government and if the time comes when it is clear they must resign, he leaves that unpleasant task to others.

At the same time, the Reagan magic prevails and none of the failures of his administrators ever rubs off on him. He remains above the fray, untouched by it all.

The president's ability to steer clear of any blame shines through in his 5½ years in office.

Carter, on the other hand, was personally touched by everything that happened in his administration, and criticized for it.

One reason may be the different styles of operation. Reagan is the chairman of the board. His deputies run the shop. Carter had his hand in all aspects of White House life and paid heavily for it.

More recently Reagan said that allegations of possible conflict of interest on the part of former deputy chief of staff Michael Deaver are "ridiculous."

He also has proclaimed his faith in his longtime confidante, friend and image-maker who left the White House a year ago to open a public relations office, and to admittedly make money.

Former White House counsel Fred Fielding, who gave the final clearance to most of the Reagan appointees who had to quit under fire, said the post Watergate laws are "tougher now" and there is more scrutiny by the media.

Reagan has appointed a number of inspectors general to keep the government clean and honest.

Where The Jobs Will Be

The American labor force will continue to grow until the end of the century and so will the supply of jobs.

But forget about "re-industrialization" of the economy. Virtually all of the growth will be in services, which already employ nearly three-quarters of all working Americans.

The word comes from the Conference Board, the New York-based economic research organization that has released a study of long-term employment trends.

It finds that while the number of workers employed in manufacturing will hold roughly steady at 28 million, this will represent only 15 percent of the expanded work force in the year 2000, as opposed to 18 percent today.

Services, or "the production of intangible goods," is a category that covers a lot of job territory, from financial consultants collecting fees in six and seven figures to street sweepers. And growth is not uniform.

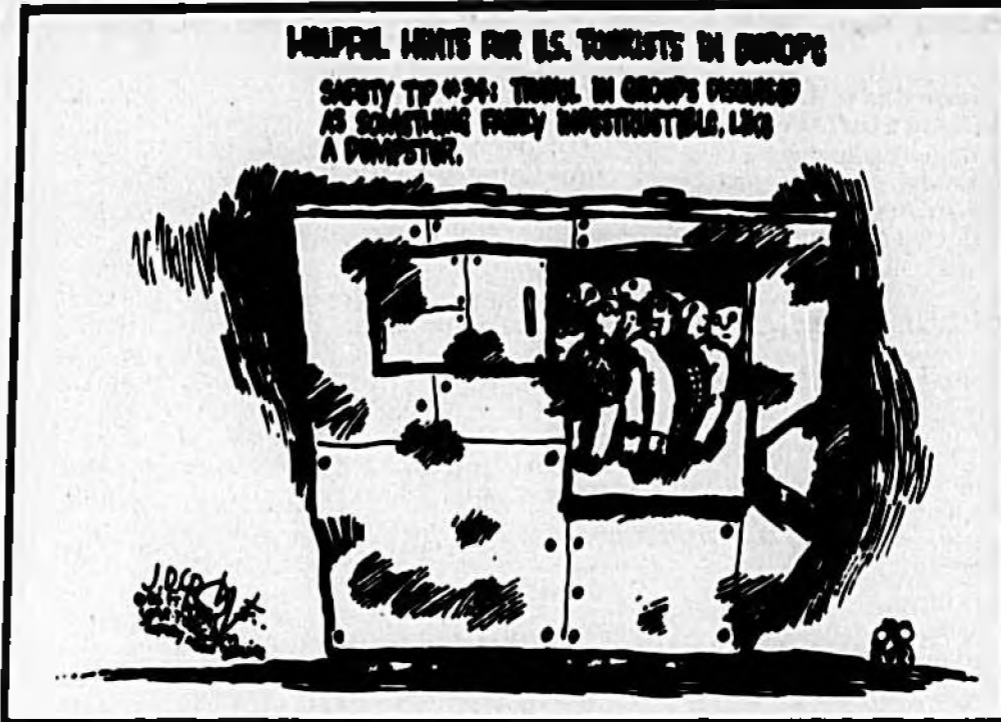

One of the most robust sub-categories is business services, which currently account for some 4.5 million jobs, more than double the number 10 years ago.

Another is what the study terms "people-caring," covering people employed in health and social services ranging from medical specialists to day-care workers.

Yet another is "protectors of people and property," which includes such traditional services as police and fire but now extends far beyond them. For example, private security guard services now employ more than 400,000, which probably says something about the state of the society that is enjoying this job boom. Thousands more are in such "soft security" positions as receptionists, building superintendents and just plain door-watchers.

And then there are the "cleaner-uppers" — the refuse collectors, cleaning crews and window washers. Their numbers are increasing because — here comes another social statement — "a more complex and litter-prone society requires plenty of manpower to handle its mess."

One service area that is not showing growth is government, which includes state, local and federal, as well as some 8.5 million jobs in education. The snare of total employment has held steady at 15 to 16 percent since the 1970s, suggesting that something other than the Reagan "revolution" is at work here.

Blacks In The Military

There is a fascinating article — mixing sociology, race and politics — in May's edition of the Atlantic magazine. The piece is "Success Story: Blacks in the Army," by Dr. Charles C. Moskos, a Northwestern University sociologist who specializes in race relations in the U.S. military.

To begin, Moskos believes this: The U.S. military is the most successfully integrated institution in America.

Consider: There are 400,000 blacks in the U.S. armed forces. That's almost 20 percent, while blacks make up only about 12 percent of the total population. In the Army, which Moskos has studied with particular care, 30 percent of the personnel are black.

Blacks, says Moskos, do pretty well in the Army. About 30 percent of the Army's non-commissioned officers are now black. That's almost 100,000 black sergeants!

It doesn't stop with NCOs: Fully 10 percent of the Army's officers are black, and the rate is rising. One in five of the Army's new ROTC graduate officers are black. The proportion of blacks in the incoming West Point class has gone up tenfold in one generation. Of the active generals in the Army today, 7 percent are black.

Moskos is not foolish enough to say everything is all racially wonderful. He notes reflections in the military of an American society where blacks are poorer and less educated than whites. He sees the reflections, too, of a society that has still not fully conquered discrimination. But he says this: "Today one is more likely to hear racial jokes in a faculty club than in an officers' club. And in an officers' club, one will surely see more blacks."

Moskos points to another heartening fact: Each year about 5,000 black officers and NCOs reach the young military retirement age and return to civilian work. This number will be growing as the decades roll on. These are productive, disciplined people. They have been bossed by whites. And they have bossed whites. In the years to come, one may expect that these veterans will play a large role in making integration more successful in the rest of America.

Moskos also has a political point. He notes that black elected leaders are out of touch with this large group of upwardly mobile blacks — and the feeling is mutual.

The elected blacks (says Moskos) are almost invariably very liberal; not so the military blacks among whom, for example, some substantial Reagan support exists, as well as support for moderate to conservative Democrats. Most elected blacks favor preferential treatment for blacks; blacks in the military are often dubious and draw pride from having made it on their own. And there is foreign and defense policy. Recall that Jesse Jackson has called for a 25 percent cut in defense spending and that the Congressional Black Caucus always leads the parade for less defense spending.

Here's what Moskos says about the black elected liberal leadership: "Most of them are uninterested in, even alienated from, the long-term goals of American foreign policy.... When foreign-policy issues are raised by black leaders, the discussion generally involves racist features of U.S. behavior overseas, especially in Africa and the Caribbean...."

When the Congressional Black Caucus issued a formal condemnation of the U.S. invasion of Grenada, Moskos reports the reaction of one black general was, "Why can't they support us just this once?"

Effective Hiccup Relief

A muscle relaxer used commonly to alleviate chest pain has been found to be effective for treating patients suffering from severe hiccups.

Dr. Phalguni Mukhopadhyay of the Olin E. Teague Veterans' Center in Temple, Texas, used the drug nifedipine on a 61-year-old man who developed constant hiccups apparently brought on by chemotherapy he received for cancer.

"It's not uncommon for some patients to experience hiccups from chemotherapy," said Mukhopadhyay, who outlined his findings in a letter to The New England Journal of Medicine.

"Usually when you stop the treatment the hiccups stop. In this case it didn't stop and became the most serious and debilitating symptom. He couldn't eat, he couldn't sleep. He was miserable," said Mukhopadhyay in an interview.

Mukhopadhyay tried all the standard hiccup treatments, including a series of drugs and household methods such as breathing into a paper bag. Nothing worked and Mukhopadhyay thought he may have to resort to surgery.

But because hiccups are caused by a contraction of the diaphragm, which is a layer of muscles between the chest and abdominal wall, Mukhopadhyay finally decided to try nifedipine.

The drug is used to alleviate chest pain known as angina, which is caused by the muscles in the heart contracting, he said. After three days on the drug, the hiccups finally subsided.

Lasers vs. cancer
A combination of lasers and drugs may be effective in treating some inoperable skin cancers, including melanomas, according to researchers at the University of Cincinnati Medical School.

The treatment, dubbed photo dynamic therapy by its creators, halted the growth of several types of skin cancers and completely appeared to destroy other cancers in clinical trials conducted at the school.

Dr. Leon Goldman, director of the research project, said the treatment consists of injecting the drug dihematoporphrin ether into the skin then flooding the cancer site with fluorescence from a laser.

The drug binds to cancer cells and, in combination with the laser beam, destroys them, said Goldman.

Pentagon Studies Secret Soviet Forces

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — They are the true mystery men of the Soviet Union — that riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma. Only the few Kremlin officials who even know about their existence refer to them by their proper name: "Spetsnaz," or Special Purpose Forces.

Needless to say, the Soviet man on the street knows exactly "nitchevo" about the Spetsnaz. He has read no tales of their derring-do in far-off lands; he knows none of their names, though some could be classified as Soviet heroes.

A secret Pentagon report explains why the Spetsnaz have been kept a deep dark secret:

"Considering these units as clandestine assets and being an integral part of their intelligence and security organization, the Soviets have kept these units out of public scrutiny to a far greater degree than their conventional forces. "Glorious descriptions of their achievements in training exercises are never published (and) there is no distinctive uniform or insignia identifying them. Instead, the usual uniform is that of the airborne forces, or in the case of naval (Spetsnaz) simply the standard navy uniform."

Because of this, it has taken Western intelligence services years to form even the murkiest picture of Spetsalnaya Naznacheniya. What Western analysts have determined is that the Spetsnaz are used for special missions at the behest of Soviet intelligence and security services.

Whether these special agents report to the GRU (military intelligence), the Red Army or some other Soviet agency, U.S. intelligence experts have decided that the KGB retains ultimate control and responsibility, under direct supervision of the Soviet Central Committee.

In addition, though, the KGB has its own Spetsnaz people, the most notorious of whom are the professional killers of Department Eight of the KGB's First Chief Directorate. Department Eight "has been connected with assassinations, kidnappings, sabotage and other direct action operations for decades," according to one Defense Intelligence Agency expert.

There are also the KGB troops on the Soviet Union's borders, numbering at least 250,000, who could be classified as special forces. And while the Pentagon and CIA experts may haggle over the fine points, they agree that certain units under the Ministry of Internal Affairs, which maintains Communist Party control, should count as Spetsnaz — like the Moscow-based pretorian guard known as the Dzerzhinsky First Motorized Rifle Division. But the most dangerous Spetsnaz operatives are those who report to the Soviet military intelligence organization, which is the second largest spy outfit in the world (second only to the KGB).

In each Spetsnaz brigade, the career officers "are the most highly trained individuals and are fluent in one or more foreign languages," the Pentagon report states, adding: "Their primary mission is reported to be the assassination of enemy leadership."

Each brigade includes three reconnaissance and destruction battalions of some 30 teams of 10 men each, plus signal, engineer and medical units. Naval Spetsnaz units, though smaller, include paratroops, frogmen and mini-submarine forces.

"Evidence of the (Spetsnaz) being a growth industry is both recent and convincing," the secret Pentagon report warns. "This trend appears to extend to the non-Soviet Warsaw Pact Special Purpose Forces also. ... Collectively, these factors show the Spetsnaz threat to NATO's rear area is growing."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Gorbachev Says U.S. Reaction To Chernobyl Imperils Summit

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev warned that "a vicious anti-Soviet campaign" launched by the United States in reaction to the Chernobyl nuclear disaster had hurt chances for a summit with President Reagan, the Tass news agency reported today.

Gorbachev's comments on prospects for a second summit were reported in the Tass account of a meeting Thursday between the Soviet leader and American industrialist Armand Hammer.

Gorbachev "confirmed his consent in principle to a new meeting" and repeated the Soviets' terms for the summit, including "an appropriate political atmosphere," the official news agency said. The story was reprinted on the front pages of almost all national newspapers.

But the Soviet leader added Chernobyl to the obstacles to a Washington summit that he and Reagan agreed to when they met in Geneva last November.

The atmosphere for the summit had "worsened still more as a result of a vicious anti-Soviet campaign launched by Washington in connection with the accident in Chernobyl," Tass reported Gorbachev as saying.

A nuclear reactor at a power plant 80 miles north of Kiev exploded and burned April 26, spreading radiation as far as Japan and the United States. The government has said nine people have died from the accident.

"It is shameful speculation on the accident and gross attempts to exploit it to discredit the entire policy of the Soviet Union and to sow distrust toward its peace initiative," the story said of Washington's reaction.

Falkland Commanders Sentenced

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — A military court sentenced the former president, Gen. Leopoldo Galtieri, and two other former military leaders to prison for failing to lead Argentina to victory in the Falkland Islands war, two Argentine news agencies reported.

Thirteen other defendants on trial for their part in the 1982 conflict with Britain did not receive jail sentences Thursday, but may receive administrative sanctions, such as demerits or house arrest, the news agencies Noticias Argentinas and DYN said.

The sentences handed down by the Supreme Military Council were expected to be announced formally today, the agencies said.

Galtieri, who was both army commander and president at the time of the abortive invasion of the British-ruled Falklands, was sentenced to 12 years in prison, the agencies said. Galtieri ordered a surprise attack on the disputed Falklands in April 1982, but the Argentine invasion force was defeated in a British counterattack 10 weeks later.

The former navy commander, Adm. Jorge Anaya, was sentenced to 14 years in jail, and the former air force chief, Gen. Basilio Lami Dozo, was sentenced to eight years.

The charges against the ex-commanders are secret, but trial witnesses said they were accused of misconduct and mismanagement of operations.

roads, those committed for construction by 1995, and county road projects that will be built by 1995 with local option gas taxes and impact fees.

According to the resulting urban area transportation study, if the MTA road plan is adopted, in 1995 the Tri-County area will experience:

- 16 fewer traffic fatalities.
- Savings of $1,728 for the average family through reductions in accidents, fuel consumption and travel time.
- 38 percent increase in average driving speed, from 20.4 mph to 28.3.
- 30 percent reduction in travel time due primarily to more direct travel routes and reduced traffic congestion.
- Approximately 13,619 fewer accidents.

- 15 percent reduction in carbon monoxide emissions. This represents 80 tons less per day.
- 11 percent reduction in hydro carbon emissions or five tons a day.
- 2 percent per day reduction in fuel consumption.
- 60 percent reduction in delays caused by heavy traffic. If the referendum fails, Tri-County drivers can expect to sit in traffic 570,193 hours a day, the report states, while its adoption will reduce this time to 226,186 hours a day.
- 50 percent reduction in unacceptable driving conditions on freeways. The same substandard conditions will be reduced from 41 to 17 percent on Tri-County arterials.

Ms. Lewis said the report not only "outlines the advantages" of the MTA plan, but also "details the catastrophe that would happen without it."

radioed. "There are people in there."

"I have two patients," Harder radioed tersely to doctors in Portland. "Patient 1 is male, young. He has no temperature. When I put a thermometer in his mouth he bites it off. EKG is as follows: very slow, pulse rate about 40."

A normal pulse rate is 72 beats per minute. His second patient, Harder radioed, had a pulse rate of 30.

"Both patients' extremities are frozen," he radioed. "We cannot get IVs in them. They are both conscious."

Harder reported he was concerned about moving the victims because "they are so cold we are afraid they'll go into ventricular fibrillation" — a rapid, irregular heartbeat.

A doctor at Emanuel Hospital in Portland said that could not be helped.

"Get them out of there," he ordered.

"OK," Harder said. "We will move slowly."

They were flown to five different hospitals in Portland — selected on the basis of how far their helicopter pads were from their surgical facilities. Waiting medical teams sprinted with their patients into the hospitals, examining them even as they ran.

Fluid began leaking into Thompson's lung tissues during the night but doctors said the condition was improving. They were also treating his feet for frostbite by emerging them in 100-degree water.

Clark arrived at Emanuel Hospital conscious but delirious, Dr. Clark Chipman said. Her body temperature was 73 and her pulse rate was 30 beats per minute.

Her body temperature rose to normal and she was taken off a heart-lung machine. Her vital signs had not stabilized early this morning but hospital spokeswoman Paul Anderson said "she briefly opened her eyes and showed signs of purposeful movement."

"She was much warmer than the ones they brought in yesterday," said Chipman, adding that she was semi-conscious and "flailing around." She had to be given a sedative to quiet her down.

Michele Schindler, a Life Flight nurse who flew on the helicopter bringing Thompson to Providence Hospital, said she thought from the start that his chances of survival were very good. She said that he had on a lot of clothing and was "well wrapped" in blankets for the flight.

Long said that one good sign about the girl's chances for recovery were that her kidneys began functioning and making urine. He said the kidney was one of the body's most sensitive organs and its function was important to survival.

The two survivors were discovered in a snow cave, although their arms and legs were so frozen paramedics were unable to insert needles.

commissioner Russ Megonegal said.

"I think it is a disgrace," Megonegal continued. "I support rescinding the resolution on the city attorney's advice, not because of the letter."

"I don't think we should let the letter scare us, but we should listen to our attorney," Webster said.

Petree called the letter "unfortunate" and said his discussions with the association's attorney were "not in the same tone."

Lake Mary based builder and developer Larry Dale objected to a complete moratorium.

"I think you are doing this out of spite because of the letter," Dale said, threatening legal action of his own.

"I have a family, livelihood, and business to run. You would be putting me out of business. I would have to take some kind of (legal) action on this," Dale said.

He added that he was in no way connected with the letter.

"I have never objected to paying an impact fee when a project has created an impact," Dale said.

King withdrew his moratorium motion, and Webster withdrew his second.

Petree then suggested commissioners consider enacting a "modified moratorium" on all building in the city. Developers who voluntarily pay the interim fees would be exempt from the moratorium, and be able to start construction. Those who don't pay, can't build. Fees are to be paid at the time the building permit is issued.

"I doubt there is any such ordinance in existence (elsewhere)," Petree said.

"No doubt it won't be subject to (legal) assault, but it reduces the number of potential plaintiffs," he said.

The rescinded fee schedule was as follows: law enforcement fees, $42 per dwelling unit, four cents per square foot of commercial space; fire protection fees, $100 per dwelling unit, $82 per multi-dwelling unit, nine cents per square foot commercial, seven cents per square foot industrial, 16 cents per square foot office; parks and recreation fees, $125 per square foot residential; public works fees, $150 per dwelling unit, 25 cents per square foot commercial.

Author Theodore White Dies At 71

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pulitzer Prize winning journalist and historian Theodore H. White, best known for his chronicles of the American presidency and elections, has died less than a week after suffering a stroke. He was 71.

White died at 11:45 p.m. EDT Thursday, Anne Warner, a spokeswoman for Lenox Hill Hospital, said. She said White suffered a stroke May 9 and had been in critical condition since then.

White, a native of Boston, won the Pulitzer Prize in 1963 for "The Making of the President," his first account of a presidential campaign, based on the primary that led to the nomination of John F. Kennedy and the 1960 election in which he defeated Richard M. Nixon.

Theodore Harold White was born in Boston on May 6, 1915. He was a summa cum laude graduate of Harvard University. He went to China in 1939 to cover the civil war between the government of Chiang Kai-shek and Communist forces led by Mao Tse-tung for Time magazine.

He was among correspondents aboard the USS Missouri when the Japanese surrendered to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in 1945 to end World War II.

Greene Gets Chance After SCC Seasoning

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Jeff Greene, a baseball player nobody wanted after a fine prep career two years ago, has become quite a commodity with a little seasoning. Enough of one that the 19-year-old ex-Oviedo High School standout signed a professional contract with the Chicago White Sox last Friday. Greene, who was signed by scout Al Widmar, said he received a $20,000 bonus. The left-handed hitter and thrower will report to the White Sox's Rookie League team in Sarasota after the June Summer Free Agent Draft. Greene said he will earn a basic rookie's salary of $700 per month. Greene, who will turn 20 on June 8, said the money and his advancing age were the determining factors as to whether he would sign or return to Seminole Community College where he enjoyed a tremendous season this past spring while helping the Raiders to a berth in the Florida Junior College State Tournament. "I was all set to say, 'I'm going back to SCC,' when Mr. Widmar offered me $20,000," Greene said. "I looked at my mom (Rita) and looked at my dad (Ron). Nobody was saying anything. They were stunned. I said, 'Okay, where do I sign?'" Greene, who played first base this year but was an outfielder most of his prep career, was selected in the fifth round of baseball's Winter Draft. He said it came as a surprise because he had yet to play a junior college game. Greene was ineligible due to poor grades his freshman year ("I thought it was like high school," he said.) A tip from SCC coach Jack Pantelias, however, got Widmar's attention. "In December they (the White Sox) called me about him," Pantelias said Wednesday night. "They asked about weaknesses that scouts had observed. I convinced them a lot of those things were not really weaknesses. "They looked at him in fall and weren't completely satisfied, but I told them he could play outfield, throw well and could pitch." Whatever apprehension the White Sox had in the fall was erased by a superb regular season. Greene batted .375 with eight homers and 59 runs batted in. He led the team in both categories during the regular season before slipping slightly in the state tournament to finish second in both hitting and ribbies. Greene's most valuable asset was his consistency. Along with playing a sure-handed first base, he hit safely in an incredible 37 of 40 games. After going 1 for 23 to start the season, Greene hit safely in seven consecutive, went hitless in two and then hit in seven more. After going hitless one more game, he reeled off 23 in a row. Greene, a 6-1 and wiry 168 pounds, said he doesn't mind playing first base but he would relish a return to the outfield. During his prep career, he exhibited a strong and accurate throwing arm and an ability to roam center field from alley to alley. When his prep days ended, however, neither scouts nor college coaches came calling. Greene, his parents, Oviedo coach Howard Mable and fellow coaches were confused at the lack of interest. "Some people said he wasn't fast enough," Mable said. "But the clock can't measure what's in a kid's heart. Jeff has always had the dedication and desire." Greene said it may have been his speed and lack of strength. "I was only 153 pounds in high school," he said. "Still, I didn't understand. It seemed like nobody cared. I had good seasons (11 homers and a .400 average his last two years) in high school."

'Noles Send Rookie Trio To Decathlon

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High didn't exactly have any Daley Thompkins last season, but it had three well-rounded athletes in Frank Barnett, Deron Thompson and Leo Peterson and they combined to give the Fighting Seminoles their first-ever State Decathlon title. This year's Seminole team is not as strong, especially since senior Alvin Jones won't be competing, so the Tribe's chances of repeating are pretty slim. Although Seminole can't be counted out, coach Ken Brauman said the Tribe threesome will just look to give it their best shot and have fun.

The State Decathlon Championships begin today at 4 at Lake Howell High. The meet will resume Saturday afternoon beginning at 2 and ends with the mile run Saturday night. This year's Seminole High team will include seniors Louis Brown and Andre Jackson and junior Jerry Parker, all three of which have not competed in the decathlon before. Brauman does not expect them to score over 18,000 points as the team of a year ago did.

"I doubt very seriously we would be a threat to repeat," Brauman said. "People may think so, but we don't have the personnel coming back as some of the other schools." Brown, one of Seminole's leaders by example, is the strongest of the Seminole trio with his best events being the 100 meters and 220 dash. Brown is also strong in the 440 dash and Brauman said he is pretty strong in the field events other than the pole vault.

"Louis (Brown) will probably be the highest scorer for us," Brauman said. "Barnett has the school record (6,500 points) and that would be pretty tough for Brown to break. His goal is to get over 6,000." Jackson's specialty is the hurdles and he should score a good number of points in the 120 highs where he led Seminole County this season. Jackson, though, has been hampered by hamstring pulls and did not compete in the state track meet.

Parker's best event is the high jump where he cleared 6-6 this season to break the school record. He is also strong in the long jump and sprints. Brauman said the teams to watch are West Orange, which won the event two years ago, and West Palm Beach Twin Lakes, which has two of the best all-around athletes in the state in Mark McIntosh and Chris Wilcox.

"Our team goal is to do as well as we can and have some fun," Brauman said. "The kids are still pretty much emotionally shot after last week's meet. Jerry (Parker) and Andre (Jackson) didn't participate in state and will be a little more fresh but last week was an exciting time for them too. They'll just do as well as they can."

Lake Mary's Rams will look for their best team finish ever with the threesome of junior Jeff Pommier, senior Roger Baker and senior Roger Baker. "This team has a chance to break the school record (over 14,000)," Lake Mary coach Mark McGee said. "Our best finish was 12th so if we finish in the top 10 we'll be doing pretty well."

McGee looks for Pommier to be one of the top individuals and he also has a shot at breaking Pat Murray's school record for the decathlon. "If Pommier comes through, he ought to beat the school record by about 700 points," McGee said. "And if he gets over 6,000 points he'll be in the running for the championship." Pommier is strong in all the sprints where he was among the Seminole County leaders in the 100 meters, 220 and 440. He also was on the county honor roll in the long jump.

"Jeff (Pommier) has done all the events before individually," McGee said. "The only thing he hasn't really worked on this year is the pole vault."

King regularly competed in the hurdles, long jump and high jump for the Rams this season.

Another Seminole County athlete who hopes to do well is Oviedo High sophomore Karl Wright. Wright is strong in the hurdles as well as the sprints and the long jump.

Posey: Champs Responded Like Champs

Athletic Director Jerry Posey, who has been a behind-the-scenes contributor to Seminole High School's track and field success the past few years, hit both championship nails on the head while adding the finishing touch to a luncheon honoring the twin state champions Wednesday at Sanford's Western Sizzlin.

Posey, a fine track and field performer during his prep days at Haines City, said the championships could not have been won in two better ways. One was convincing and the other spine-tingling. The dominance and the drama.

The boys wrapped up the meet after winning the 440-yard relay. They went on to score 54 points with four first, two seconds and two thirds. It was believed to be the most points scored in the state meet in 25 years.

"That's what was impressive," Posey said. "A lot of teams might have gone through the motions, knowing they had it wrapped up. Our kids continued to compete and finished it like the winners that they are."

Coach Ken Brauman's state delegate — comprised of seniors Alvin Jones, Billy Penick, Louis Brown and Pat Davis along with juniors Eric Martin and Dwayne Willis and freshman Maurice "Ethi" Roberts — scored 54 of a possible 65 points. Now, that's dominating.

Posey said the girls' crown, which wasn't expected, was even more exciting. Coach Emory Blake's Lady Seminoles came from behind with a second-place finish in the mile relay — the meet's last event — to pull out a 37-35 win over Orlando Oak Ridge, which was the defending state champion.

"Coach Blake told me about halfway through the meet, 'If it boils down to the mile relay, we'll win the state title,'" Posey informed. "Being the champs that we are, we went out and did it. That's what championships are all about — coming through when you have to."

Blake's winners included sophomores Dorchelle Webster, Shownda Martin and Shun Cash along with freshman Adrian Hillman, Taaha Wynn, Ramona Jamison, Tammi "White Shadow" Scott and Michelle Pearson.

The luncheon, sponsored by the Optimists and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, featured addresses from Sanford Mayor Betty Smith, Seminole High Prinincipal Wayne Epps, Chamber President Jack Horner, Superintendent of Schools representative Benny Arnold along with Optimist President Greg Harrell and past Optimist President Ernie Butler.

Mrs. Smith opened the acknowledgements by commending the coaches and athletes for the hard work which went into both state championships. "This is just a great accomplishment for Sanford and Seminole High School," she said. "I don't know these two coaches (Brauman and Blake), but I've heard so many wonderful things about them I know they must be good people."

Epps was next and he lauded his teams for not only winning but acting like champions. "I'm really happy for coach Blake and the girls because he had been close so many times before," Epps said. "I'm proud of the whole boys team but especially the seniors (Jones, Penick, Brown and Davis) because they have been excellent leaders on the track and in the classroom."

Horner, who announced the Seminole Invitational this year, said the championships have made the city proud and that Seminole has a great future with its athletic program.

Arnold, who was representing Superintendent of Schools Bob Hughes, was a fitting choice. The former Palatka South High School principal hired Brauman for his first job and recommended him for the Seminole job three years ago.

Arnold, the assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation, impressed upon the athletes what excellent memories the championships will provide. "I was the member of two track teams (at Jacksonville's Robert E. Lee) which lost the state tournament to the same team by one point each year," Arnold said. "I remember both of those meets very well to this day."

Coaches Brauman and Blake then introduced their athletes and told of their accomplishments. Both also commended their wives (Lisa Brauman and Bernadette Blake) for the sacrifices and their contributions to making the seasons a success.

Brauman, who has coached teams which have won four state titles (two each at Seminole and Palatka), said the character of the Sanford athletes is excellent. "They are good athletes and good people," he said. "And they have a commitment to improve."

Blake said the sacrifices (running several events) made by his two standouts — Webster and Martin — were the keys to winning. "It was tough for them but they did it to help the team," Blake said. "Sometimes it may have seemed like it wasn't worth it, but it was well worth it Saturday night."

For girls and boys.

University of Central Florida coach Chip Connor announced Thursday he had signed two basketball players to play for the Knights this coming season.

The players are Brenton Earley of Sarasota, a 6-8 center-forward, and Edsel Bester of St. Louis, Mo., a 6-0 guard. Earley attended Sarasota's Booker High School last year and averaged 15 points and 12 rebounds per game.

Ken Brauman, right, points out a few of his state champions to Benny Arnold.

Rozelle: No Smoking Guns In My Holster

Football

NEW YORK (UPI) — NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle has denied involvement with two of the "smoking guns" the U.S. Football League's attorney said would be produced from NFL files to prove the league was trying to destroy the USFL.

Rozelle appeared Thursday as the USFL's first witness in its $1.3 billion antitrust suit against the NFL, and was expected to be questioned again today by USFL attorney Harvey Myerson. Rozelle is named in the $1.3 billion suit filed by the USFL and its 16 present and former owners against Rozelle, the NFL and 27 of its 28 member teams.

Myerson opened his questioning Thursday by referring to a February 1984 seminar for NFL executives and staff and its presentation of a study by the Harvard Business School. "How to Conquer the USFL." The seminar was one of the "smoking guns." Myerson said in his opening statement Wednesday, that would come from the NFL's own files to prove the league's conspiracy to ruin its competition.

Rozelle said he had not been involved in the arrangement of the seminar, and it had been handled by the NFL's Management Council, the owners' labor negotiating arm.

Don's Royal Onslaught Tops Texas

United Press International Don Slaughter is already an All-Star with headline writers. Get the picture? "Don Slaughter Leads Onslaught as Rangers Ransack Tigers." Or, "Don Slaughter-Tigers."

Slaughter grabbed the headlines Thursday night by driving in five runs with a triple and a homer to lead the Texas Rangers to an 8-1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Slaughter hit a three-run triple in the first inning and a two-run homer in the third as the Rangers pounded left-hander Frank Tanana.

Tanana was a former teammate of Slaughter's when both were with the Rangers last season, and Slaughter said he learned a lot about the left-hander from catching him.

Left-hander Mike Mason scattered six hits over eight innings, and Mitch Williams hurled the ninth to drop Detroit to 2-7 against lefties this season.

At Baltimore, Juan Boniques and Mike Young each hit their first home runs of the season to pace the Orioles to their sixth straight victory.

At Kansas City, Mo., Frank White hit a grand slam in the eighth inning to help the Royals to their fourth straight triumph.

At Houston, Ron Darling scattered eight hits over eight innings, and Danny Heep blasted a two-run homer to lead the Mets. Darling, 4-0, walked two and struck out three before being relieved in the sixth by Jesse Ojeda, who got the last three outs.

At Montreal, Ken Oberkirk hit a three-run homer in the 10th to lead the Braves. Dale Murphy led off with a single off Dan Schatzeder, 2-1. Bob Horner walked, and one out later, Oberkirk cracked his first homer of the season.

Lakers Need Split; Bucks Avoid Rout, But Fall To Celtics

United Press International HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Rockets left Los Angeles with a split in the first two games of the NBA Western Conference finals and the Lakers would like to leave Texas Sunday with an equal claim.

"They got what they wanted, a split on our floor," Lakers guard Michael Cooper said. "Now it's up to us to win at least one game in Houston."

The Lakers will get their first shot in Houston Friday in Game 3 while Game 4 of the best-of-seven series is set for Sunday afternoon in Houston.

The Lakers won the series opener 119-107 last Saturday, but lost 112-102 Tuesday at the Forum.

The Lakers have been in the NBA finals five of the last six years. In 1981, they were eliminated by Houston in the first round. In 1985, the Lakers were tied with Denver at 1-1, won three straight (two in Denver) and went on to beat Boston for the championship.

Los Angeles had won 14 straight games at Houston's Summit until losing to the Rockets there April 6.

"History means nothing," Lakers coach Pat Riley said. "Forget our past success. After beating us at our place, Houston will be stoked at the Summit."

Houston has been tough at home this season (42-5) and beatable on the road (18-29). However, the Rockets have won big games on the road in the playoffs, clinching their first- and second-round series with victories at Sacramento and Denver.

"At this time of the year, you have to be able to prove that you can win anywhere," Houston's Ralph Sampson said. "I don't know how the Lakers feel about us. We know we are a very confident basketball team."

"We've got a lot of confidence coming back to Houston because we can't lose here," said Alkeem Oluajun, the other half of Houston's "Twin Towers" attack.

The Rockets' confidence received an additional boost in the way they handled the Lakers in Game 2. Sampson and Oluajun blocked 12 shots and shut down Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

First Federal Creeps Into National Hunt

By Chris Pister Herald Sports Writer While Sunniland and Poppa Jay's have been waging a battle for the top spot in the Sanford Little National League, nobody paid too much attention to defending league champion First Federal.

The Feds quietly stayed in the hunt, then made their move Thursday night and ambushed Sunniland, 14-3, behind an 11-run first inning outburst at Bay Avenue Field.

The win over Sunniland, combined with Poppa Jay's loss to D.A.V., moved First Federal, 7-3, into sole possession of second place, one-half game behind Sunniland, 6-3.

First Federal had just three hits in the 11-run first frame, a lead off single by Richard Anderson, an RBI double by Mike Dillon and an RBI single by Matt Pettker. The Feds also took advantage of five walks and five errors in the inning in which they came to bat.

Sunniland went through three pitchers. First Federal also got a strong pitching performance from Andrew Bipes who gave up just three runs on three hits to a Sunniland team that had been dominating offensively the past few weeks.

Quinn Byrd had an RBI single in the first and David Dunn a run-scoring triple in the third for Sunniland while RoJack Hunt walked twice and scored twice. First Federal had just six hits in the game including a pair of doubles by Dillon.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Lukas: No Advantage To Draw In Small Field For Preakness

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The principals in Saturday's 111th running of the Preakness shrugged at the results of Thursday's draw.

"Are all the gates going to open at the same time?" asked D. Wayne Lukas, trainer for the entry of Badger Land and Clear Choice. "If they all open at the same time, there is no advantage in a small field."

Small it will be when the second jewel of racing's Triple Crown goes off at Pimlico Race Course. A field of seven will vie for the $411,900 first prize in the $534,400 race.

Badger Land, fourth-place finisher in the Kentucky Derby, drew the outside post, Clear Choice, making his Classics debut after breaking his maiden, drew the No. 3 slot. The Lukas entry is the second choice in early betting.

Ferdinand, winner of the Run for the Roses and the 9-5 favorite to become the 24th horse to claim the first two Triple Crown victories, drew the No. 5 slot.

The chestnut grandson of Northern Dancer drew the rail in the Derby, but was closed out early and dropped into last place. Veteran jockey Bill Shoemaker cut his mount to the rail in the stretch, and rallied Ferdinand to victory.

Despite his horse's circuitous route after his last start from the rail, Hall of Fame trainer Charlie Whittingham would have preferred the No. 1 hole.

"I wanted to go from the inside, but the middle of the pack is fine," he said. "With only seven horses, there shouldn't be all the bumping there was in the Derby."

Sauers Chips Into Colonial Lead

FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI) — A touch of experience usually is needed to play the Colonial Country Club course, especially when the wind is blowing a gale as it was Thursday.

Only those who are playing well coming into the Colonial National Invitational are normally given a chance. So it made no sense at all that the top two players at the end of the opening round were Gene Sauers and Bill Rogers.

Sauers had never seen the course until Thursday, and entering the tournament, Rogers had posted only one sub-par round all year.

Sauers, 23, in his third season on the pro tour with no finish better than fourth to his credit, used only 21 putts and chipped in three times while shooting a 4-under 66 that was good for a one-shot lead in one of the most prestigious stops on the circuit.

Two shots off the lead were eight players: Howard Twitty, Dan Pohl, Nick Price, Scott Simpson, Danny Edwards, D.A. Weinberger, Lennie Clements and Jim Thorpe.

Seminole Boasts Big Sprint Field

One of the biggest fields to ever compete in a stakes race gets underway tonight when the Seminole Greyhound Park in Casselberry begins its $10,000 Sprint Championship.

Forty greyhounds will run tonight and 40 more will compete Saturday in Sprint qualifying races, according to Happy Ison, track publicist.

Ison said Charter and Andrews kennels are the pre-stakes favorites as each has 10 greyhounds entered. Charter boasts the defending stakes' champion in Pyramid, which upset All-America Wyldie Show Biz last year. Colburger is another hound whether of championship consideration.

Madda Teddy, the Super Seminole's inaugural champion, is the pick of the Andrews' litter. Lake Mary's Rod Connell has a prize pup in Bass Boat and the Mendheim Kennel is putting its money on Cope With It.

Racing begins at 7:45 nightly.

Andretti: A Feeling Of Terror

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — A feeling of terror gripped Mario Andretti, a 21-year auto racing veteran, as he skidded toward the Indianapolis Motor Speedway wall and his first head-on crash.

"It's the most horrifying thing we face as drivers, because you have no steering factor and it is a total surprise," Andretti said. "It's what I fear the most. Everything happened before I could even think of reacting."

Andretti returned to the speedway Thursday after suffering bruised knees and an injured left foot in the practice crash Wednesday. The Italian-born veteran walked with a crutch and bandaged left foot, but vowed to be back on the track Saturday for practice in a backup car.

Blake's Leg Surgery 'Goes Well'

Surgery to insert a rod in the fibula of Jeff Blake's right leg was declared a success Thursday by Dr. Thomas Brodrick, according to Emory Blake, Jeff's father.

"The surgery went real well," Blake said Thursday morning. "The bone is stable and Jeff will not need a cast. He should be able to try walking and go home next week."

Blake suffered a broken right leg, a broken arm and 40 stitches in his right knee when the motorcycle on which he was riding collided with an automobile on May 4. The 15-year-old sophomore was an All-SAC quarterback and a shortstop-pitcher last year for Seminole High School.

Blake's father said Jeff will not be able to play football this fall but he hopes to be able to play baseball in the spring.

Sports Hall To Dedicate Today

The Florida Sports Hall of Fame will hold dedication ceremonies for its new home at the Mystery Fun House on International Drive today at 5:30. The public is invited to attend.

The dedication is the initial activity in a big four days for the FSHF. On Monday, five new members — swimmer Rowdy Gaines, baseball player Hal McRae, Miami baseball coach Ron Fraser, stock-car driver Bobby Allison and former FSU football coach Tom Nugent — will be inducted.

New York Mets' pitcher Dwight Gooden and Florida quarterback Kerwin Bell will also be honored for Florida's 1985 professional athlete and amateur athlete of the year, respectively.

Wynn Sparks 16-1 Medco Romp

Tasha Wynn tossed a four-hitter and was backed by a 20-hit offensive barrage as Medco Pharmacy trounced Kiwanis, 16-1, in Sanford Junior League softball action Thursday at Fort Mellon Field.

Wynn, a member of Seminole High's state track championship team, also helped her own cause with a pair of three-run homers. Chirita Burke and Ann Perry had three hits each for Medco while Patrice Brown, April Thornton and Rita Harris added two each.

Valencia Hills had two of the four hits and scored the only run for Kiwanis while Late-la Reddicks drove in the only run with a single in the third inning.

Mario's Marauders Take 2

Morgan Tosses No-Hitter As Frank's Blanks Teer Lab

By Mark Blythe
Special to the Herald

Mario's Marauders took home a pair of wins, while Discount Door and Glass and Sanford Scale came away with a victory apiece in Seminole Pony Baseball Pinto Division action last week.

Mario's narrowly escaped Orange Paving edging out a 12-11 win with a 21-hit attack. Mario DeLafco homered driving in two runs, and Liam Andrews also drove in two runs while scoring three.

Mario's then outlasted Burgers Boys for a 10-5 victory. Winning pitcher Tommy Powers only allowing one hit and DeLafco came relief and not giving up a hit while striking out five. Ryan LaBar led the way on offense driving in three runs with a double.

Discount Door and Glass opened a 24-hit onslaught to overtake Lake Mary Fire Department, 16-1. Richard Burks led the way offensively hitting a single, double, and a triple while driving in three runs. Lee Williams, Chris Louma, and Billy Applling all had three hits strikeouts and issuing only one walk.

Pants USA beat Albertsons, 22-12. Leading the way offensively was Shawn Shapiro with a double and a triple that brought in three runs. Greg Hirsch tripled scoring two more runs. Eric King also hit an RBI single. Scott O'Brien led the way defensively making a couple of outstanding catches in the outfield, and pitcher Chip Polito went the distance.

In Mustang action, Crown Sunglasses came up with a 9-6 victory over Bill's Boys to up its record to 17-0. Randy Meadows led the attack with three singles and a double. Dana Coates doubled in two runs and Mike White also plated two runs for Crown. Winning pitcher struck out five and walked only one and Randy Meadows came in relief picking up the save getting four for the professional level just yet. "I would have liked to see him come back for another year of college ball," Pantelias said. "He is not as quick as the pros would like."

Pantelias said the biggest rap against Greene is his slow bat. Sometimes he drags the bat through instead of whipping it. Pantelias said it's that bat speed which will decide whether Greene makes it in pro ball or washes out.

"He's going to have to hit well and not drag the bat," Pantelias said. "If he can keep his bat hot he has a good chance to continue."

"For him to make it he has to hit and I think he will. I hope he has enough time to overcome his weaknesses. It's a business now and they may not want to wait, but he can overcome the weakness."

"It's just a question of how quickly," he added.

Greene, who will play first base in the rookie league, said it was a dream come true. "Playing pro ball is something I've always wanted to do," he said. "Now, I'm going to get the chance."

A chance which wasn't offered two years ago.

Homes Keeps Chances Alive

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Writer

Casselberry Construction by Home Sweet Homes kept its hopes alive in the third round of the Starlings Division with a pair of narrow victories, 12-10 over Environmental Services and 3-1 over the Longwood Stars.

Against Environmental Services, Michelle Blahop and Tina Leman each socked home runs while LeAnn Massey added two singles and a triple. Against Longwood, Blahop reached up and snared a line drive with two runners on base for the last out of the game to preserve the win. She also had two hits and drove in one run on offense and Katie Knoddel and Leman also knocked one run each. Gina Bazler drove in the only run for Longwood.

In other Starlings Division play, Environmental Services knocked off Rinker Materials, 18-10. Kim Carlisle rocked a single, double and triple and drove in three runs to lead the offense while Kristi Colamarino and Kim Gaines added three singles each.

Sanford East 46 Auto Repair picked up a 15-14 win over Rinker when Erin Huguley smacked a two-run double in the last inning. Erin Rethwill added a pair of doubles and Tara Williams and Heather Veira added RBI singles. Kristi Richards and Williams combined for the pitching victory.

Seminole will be sophomores; Shownda Martin and Dorchelle Webster and freshman Adrian Hillsman. Martin and Webster competed on the Seminole High team that took fourth in the state a year ago.

"It would be good to have a double winner," Seminole coach Emory Blake said. "Shownda (Martin) and Dorchelle (Webster) have been there before and Adrian (Hillsman) performs well under pressure."

The events in the heptathlon competition include the shot put, discus, high jump, long jump, 100 meters, 110 high hurdles, 220 dash and 880 run.

Seminole's top competition will most likely come from Gilder Gladis Central, which won the event the past two seasons. Evette Lyman returns from the team that won a year ago.

This season, Webster, seventh in the state a year ago, was among the Seminole County leaders in the 110 hurdles, 220 dash and long jump and she is also strong in the high jump and 880 run. Martin, fourth in last year's competition, was on the county honor roll in the 880 and long jump and she too is strong in the high jump and 220. Hillsman was in the honor roll in the 220 and long jump.

For Lake Mary, senior Jodie McCurdy, junior Lisa Shelby and sophomoreONEYKE Berry will compete. McCurdy's strengths are in the hurdles and sprints while Berry is strong in the hurdles, sprints and long jump and Shelby's strengths are the hurdles and high jump.

Oviedo High junior Kelly Price looks to place high as an individual as she was the top performer in the county in both the 110 high hurdles and long jump this season. Price is also strong in the 220.

Lyman High's Jeannine Gavin will also look for a strong finish led by the discus and shot put.

Constant Problems With Healthy Plants Could Be The Soil

Do you have any plants that grow poorly for no apparent reason? Sometimes a healthy plant can be set in what seems to be good soil, gets plenty of sunlight and water and still looks sickly and performs poorly. If you have areas around your home where plants react this way, you may want to check for a soil problem. Especially the wrong soil reaction or pH for the plants you are attempting to grow.

So what is pH? Well, the pH level is nothing more than a chemist's shorthand for describing the amount of hydrogen in the soil. The capital letter "H" is the chemical symbol for hydrogen and pH is a figure describing the concentration of hydrogen in the soil. This determines the acidity of the soil.

To make things simple, a numerical scale is used to express soil pH. The scale goes from 0.0 to 14.0. The midpoint, pH 7.0, is the value for pure water — neutral — neither acid nor alkaline.

Figures below 7.0 on the scale indicate acid soils. The lower the number, the more acid the soil. Each whole number drop in pH denotes ten times the acidity. For example, a soil having a pH of 5.0 is ten times more acid than one having a pH of 6.0. Numbers above 7.0 indicate an alkaline soil. Again the higher the number, the more

Alfred Bosseson
Urban
Horticulturist

alkaline the soil.

Two good examples of acid and alkaline liquids are orange juice and sea water. Orange juice has a pH of about 3.7, which is very acid. Sea water has a pH of 7.9, which is slightly alkaline.

Why is soil pH so important? Soil pH influences several soil properties which directly affect the growth of plants. Among these properties are soil bacteria, nutrient leaching and availability, and elements toxic to plants.

Most plants we grow have a range of tolerance to pH. Nutrients needed by plants are available, for the most part, in the pH range of 5.5 to 6.5, this being on the "slightly acid" side. This is a good range for soil bacteria, too. And, most important, this is the best range for most plants in our gardens.

I say "most plants" as there are certain ones that thrive best on acid or alkaline soils having pH values out of the usual "best" range. For example, azaleas, bougainvillea, croton, dogwood, gardenia, hibiscus, holly, and magnolia grow best in acid soils having a pH value below 5.5. These plants grow poorly and many have yellow leaves if you attempt to grow them in areas where soils have a higher pH value or in alkaline soils. In contrast, cabbage palms, yucca, sea grape and many other plants grow quite well on alkaline soils.

A pH determination will tell whether your soil is within a range that produces good plant growth, but it certainly is not an indication of fertility. If the pH is not optimum, it can be raised or lowered using materials readily available to all home gardeners. But, remember, it is a lot easier to raise the pH of a soil than it is to lower it.

If excess alkalinity exists near your home, the only solution is to remove the soil and replace it with a more suitable material. If the soil pH is too high because of liming, several acid-forming materials can be used to reduce the soil pH.

Super-fine dusting or wettable sulfur can be used to acidify a soil, but it should not be applied unless a soil pH test indicates the need. The sulfur must be washed into the soil immediately after application or it will severely burn grass or shallow-rooted plants. Even with the most care, some burn may occur after an application of sulfur. The safest approach is to apply an acid-forming fertilizer, such as ammonium sulfate. This material applied at the rate of 5 pounds per 1,000 square feet of area will help acidify the soil without burning the plants.

Normally, dolomitic lime is used to increase the pH of the soil. Dolomite contains both calcium and magnesium carbonate, which are needed for growth of all plants. Dolomitic lime is generally slow to react, so six months may be required before the soil pH rises.

What can you do if you think soil pH may be a problem in your garden? First, find out the pH value of the soil where planting is anticipated. You can purchase test kits at most garden supply stores, or you can have it tested at the Agricultural Center for a small fee. Second, learn the pH reference of the ornamentals to be planted. Then, if necessary, you can raise or lower the pH of the soil to best suit the plant. If this isn't possible, you can select a plant which will thrive at the natural pH of the soil.
Happy gardening!

Engagement Skinner-Poovey

Mrs. Ruth Skinner, Sumnerlin Ave., Sanford, announces the engagement of her daughter, Charla Ruth, to Richard L. Poovey, Cypress Ave., Sanford.

Miss Skinner, who was born in Forest City, is the maternal granddaughter of Robert Fee and the late Mrs. Anna Fee, Bellmawr, N.J.

Miss Skinner is a 1985 graduate of Seminole High School. Her fiancé, born in Washington D.C., is the son of Mrs. Virginia Poovey, Valencia Ct., Sanford. He graduated from Seminole High School in 1970 and attended Seminole Community College. He is presently a police officer with the Sanford Police Dept. motor squad.

The wedding will take place at the Sanford Alliance Church, Sanford, on May 17, 1986.

98th Birthday Celebrated

Joseph Martin celebrated his 98th birthday with family and friends as they gathered at his home May 10. Born in Camilla, Georgia, Mr. Martin moved to Sanford in 1922. He is the father of 13 children, 43 grandchildren, 122 great grands and 61 great great grands. Attending the party were: daughters; Mindelle Kendrick, Nora Black, Joseline Harris, Rochester, New York, Sammy Crawford and Allie Payne, sons; Johnel, Theodore, Willie and Sam. Sons-in-law, daughters-in-law, grandchildren, great grands, great great grands, nieces, nephews and friends.

Hurry Up And Slow Down Is Good Advice For Elderly

DEAR ABBY: You missed the mark in your response to "The Mrs. in Orlando..." whose husband wouldn't slow down. I've spent 34 years running after a husband who is in a hurry to get to the car, get up from the table, rush to the check-out counter, etc., and I'm tired of it.

Most of the time he has to wait until I get there anyway to leave or set out for wherever we're going. He simply doesn't see his actions as being inconsiderate.

That poem, "Slow Me Down, Lord," was beautiful, but it was too long. A man in a hurry would never get past the second line.

TAGALONG

DEAR TAGALONG: Sorry, I received a lot of positive feedback on that poem. A "rebuttal" from a retired woman in Anaheim:

DEAR ABBY: Not all retirees continue the frantic pace of "The Mrs. in Orlando." Some seniors have the opposite problem: we have trouble "getting energized." For us I paraphrased the Rev. Peterson's poem, "Slow Me Down, Lord," as follows:

Speed me up, Lord!
Start the pounding of my heart
And concentration of my mind.

Quicken my slow pace
With a vision of my limited earthly time.
Give me,

Amid the confusions of my day,
The calm of self-chosen priorities.
Let not soothing music or television

Keep me from activities.
Help me know
When to wake up,
When I've had sufficient sleep.

Teach me the art
Of channeling my energy
So I get things done —
And still have time
For flowers and friends,
Pets and children, smiles and books.

Remind me each day
That there is more to life
Than "setting around."
Let me look upward
Into the branches of the lowering oak

And know that it is still producing.
Speed me up, Lord,
And inspire me to spend my strength wisely.

Remembering life's important values
That I may meet more challenges

Dear
Abby

And fulfill a greater destiny.
THREE SCORE AND FOUR IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR ABBY: You credited "Slow Me Down, Lord" to the Rev. Wilferd A. Peterson. It seems to me that it was written by the late Cardinal Richard Cushing of Boston, who died in 1970.

COULD BE MISTAKEN

DEAR COULD BE: The poem was erroneously credited to the late Cardinal Cushing by others — not by the cardinal himself — but it was in fact written by the Rev. Wilferd A. Peterson, who is well and alive at 85 in Grand Rapids, Mich.

DEAR ABBY: I am assigned to a base in Japan and don't often get a chance to see my family. Last year, when I was back in the states, my father seemed a little more fragile than I had remembered him the previous year. Later I took the advice I read in your column just before Father's Day: "Write a letter to your father and tell him how you feel about him. And why." Although I love both my parents very much, I didn't often say it.

Dad died of cancer in January. His was a very brief illness, lasting only a few months from the time of diagnosis.

At his funeral I learned that the letter I wrote, which made me feel a little foolish for saying what was in my heart, had made the rounds of the family. He was proud of that letter and read it to anyone who would listen — he had even sent it to his sister three states away.

Although I never heard it from him, I came to realize that my letter gave him much more pleasure than I thought it would.

A wonderful person is now gone, and a big piece of my life is missing. But thanks to you, I feel that I completed the final segment of the circle. I thank you for being thoughtful enough to stress the importance of this final act of family love. It made his day, and it made mine.

DAVID GREEN,

North Central Florida Friends will become Altamonte Springs Chapter of The Links, Inc. on May 31. After five years of successful endeavors as NORCEFF, this Seminole County organization will realize a dream come true.

Dr. Dolly D. Adams, McLean, Va., National President of The Links, Inc. will be the guest speaker at the 1 p.m. luncheon held in the Malland Sheraton Center. Other National Officers present and will bring greetings and share in the weekend festivities will be Link Regina Jolivet Frazier, Miami, national vice-president; Link Jacquelyn J. Robinson, McLean, Va., national chapter establishment officer; Link Lorena Albury, Pensacola, national recording secretary; Link Carolyn Washington, Mississippi, southern area director.

The Links, Inc. throughout its forty year history has been committed to community service through the arts, services to youth, and national and international trends and services. This organization has been gathering momentum, continuously redefining its purposes, sharpening its focus, and expanding its program dimensions in order to make the name "Links" not only a chain of friendship, but also a chain of purposeful service.

NORCEFF wants its friends to know that although the name will change, the purposes and community services will remain the same. The new Altamonte Springs Chapter of The Links, Inc. will continually strive to ENRICH THE LIVES OF

A Drug Awareness workshop has been slated in an effort to inform the community about the seriousness of drug abuse.

A group of concerned citizens has formed a drug-awareness organization, WADE — Working Against Drug Explosion, has planned a week long workshop to explain the symptoms of drug abuse. This workshop will be held at Crooms High School at 7 p.m., May 19-23.

Counselors will be available to facilitate questions about recognition of the abuse of various drugs. The community is invited and urged to attend these workshops. For more information contact Fannie Miller or any member of the group WADE.

Kappa Sigma Omega Alpha Sorority, Inc. will honor their Scholarship recipients with a reception from 4-6 p.m. Saturday, May 17, at the Chamber of Commerce Building. Scholarships will be awarded to the following students by The AKA Sorority: Melonie Barrington, Lake Mary High School; Marvin Johnson, Seminole High School; Sarah Gibson, Seminole High School and Alicia Knighten, Seminole High School.

The Agricultural and Labor Program, Inc. has funds to help farm workers and fruit pickers pay their gas, utilities and light bills. If you are not employed fulltime, call Stan at 322-8683 or bring your last paycheck stub, social security number and bills to the Central Florida Community Clinic, 25th and Park Ave. May 19 and every other Monday until funds are used.

The Good Samaritan Home invites you to attend their Annual Open House from 1-4 p.m. May 18 at the home on Mulberry Avenue. The residents and staff will be looking forward to your special visit. Timothy Papa Wilson, Mrs. Thelma N. Mike and the residents wishes to thank the many well wishers and supporters for all their kindness shown during the year.

Lumbar Puncture Relatively Safe

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Seven years ago I had a spinal tap and haven't felt well since. I get a pressure across my back and down my rib cage, and a general feeling of inflammation and not feeling well. Could you tell me about this procedure?

other joints in the body, a sprained neck can produce long-lasting pain and stiffness. However, the symptoms usually become much less severe as time progresses.

Apparently, your passenger continues to have neck pain that is probably muscular, because alcohol relieves it. I wonder if her pain would be more bearable if she no longer were experiencing secondary gain from the accident — "collecting" as you put it, presumably from an insurance company.

DEAR READER — A spinal tap or lumbar puncture is a relatively safe method by which a physician can withdraw small quantities of spinal fluid for analysis. The technique is useful in diagnosing meningitis (infection of the sac covering brain and spinal cord) and bleeding into the spinal fluid (from stroke or injury).

When performing a spinal tap, the doctor ordinarily numbs a small button of skin over the lower spine, introduces a slender hollow needle, guides it between the vertebral bones, penetrates the disc, passes into the space surrounding the spinal nerves and extracts some of the fluid for examination. The test must be done using strict antibacterial methods, like those used in surgery. Although, when properly performed, the test is essentially painless and harmless, some patients will experience headache after the tap. This usually is eased by a few hours of bed rest. To my knowledge, back and rib pressure seven years after a lumbar puncture probably bear no relation to the test itself.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Greed is a terrible thing, whether exhibited in everyday living or at the bridge table. When dummy's ace of spades took the first trick, declarer showed his contempt for the adroitness of the defenders by quickly leading a low diamond from dummy. But East was ready. He rose just as quickly with his ace, thankful that he didn't spear a singleton king in his partner's hand, and returned a spade. That was curious for our selfish declarer who got his just deserts for trying to squeeze an unconscionable number of overtricks from a contract that should easily have been made.

Since declarer started with eight top tricks, he needs only one more to score his game. With eight clubs in the combined hands, he has a perfect safety play available. He should play a club back to the king in his hand and then lead a low one up toward dummy. If West plays low, he will play dummy's nine. That may lose to East, but the ace will next drop the last outstanding club, establishing declarer's (or dummy's) fourth club. Should West show out on the second club, declarer can rise with the ace and lead back toward his jack, guaranteeing a trick and the contract.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
MAY 17, 1968
 You will be given greater job responsibilities in the year ahead. Substantial acknowledgment and rewards are in the offing if you produce what is expected of you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 Don't be too possessive of someone you love today. Allow him or her the same freedom you expect for yourself. Is there romance in your future? To find out what's in store for you in the year ahead, get your Astro-Graph, Mail #1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 Your mate may not help you do something you think will please your family. If you truly believe in it, do it unaided.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Attempting to dominate others today will produce unpleasant results. But if you are charming and polite, things will work out.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 Do some comparison shopping today before making an important purchase. It will be a bit of an imposition, but your purse will appreciate your efforts.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 A fresh approach will be required today to resolve a persistent domestic problem. The solution may be only temporary, but it's better than marking time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 Your productivity will be greatly reduced today if you are easily discouraged. No one promised you a rose garden, so don't expect one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
 Your activities might be limited today owing to a lack of resources. But if you use your imagination, you'll find ways to shake money from the cookie jar.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec.

21) Ambition is an admirable quality, but selfishness isn't. Strive to be considerate when pursuing your aims today so that you don't awaken resentment in others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 Unless you pace yourself sensibly today, you may run out of steam before you finish what you hope to accomplish.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
 Making do with what you have is a wise course of action for you today. Don't borrow money from anyone unless it's absolutely essential.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
 Someone who caused you problems previously could be a thorn in your side again today. Avoid this person, and mingle only with your tried-and-true pals.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 A task you're hoping to complete today might have to be temporarily shelved. Use your time constructively by switching to another project.

Home Art: Paint, Paper, and Stenciling

Stenciling

Stenciling

Since America celebrated her 200th birthday in 1976, there has been an upsurge in interest in the folk crafts that our forefathers, or more likely foremothers, practiced in a practical way.

Longwood's Nancy White said stenciling has been around since 500 B.C., and the primitive look produced by stenciling is a hallmark of Early American crafts. Our Bicentennial celebration opened Mrs. White's eyes to the simplicity of this artform, which she and friend Tricia Heller have elaborated on and escalated into a cottage industry.

They started stenciling their own homes, finding that with a pattern cut into acetate, a pot of paint and a paint brush decorative designs, such as flowers, shells, pineapples — just about anything that comes to mind, can be added to walls, floors, fabrics, window blinds — any surface that takes paint.

"I like the fact that you can shade using the brush," 26-year-old Mrs. Heller said. "It has evolved from the basic. When people started stenciling it was a primitive look. From there we have learned different strokes and shading and develop techniques. We can overlap and layer. That gives a real different look to it."

Mrs. White explained the stenciling process as the use of a cutout pattern through which one or more colors of paint (or ink) is applied to a surface.

"Any surface that has any porosity to it," she said. "You could stencil on a slick surface, however you could probably peel the paint off eventually."

"You use acrylic paint for walls, anything that won't go into the washer. For the washable stuff you use a fabric paint."

"Our basic interest is interior design. We stencil all kinds of accessories for homes."

Although some stencilers buy commercially made patterns and others cut theirs into sheets of millar, using a hobby knife, Mrs. Heller said she and Mrs. White have developed their own secret cutting method, which makes it easier to produce complex patterns.

But despite their more perfect patterns, Mrs. White said a major part of the appeal of stenciling is, "It's an imperfect art. It's not going to be exact. It's not going to be perfect on your walls and that's what makes the charm of it. There's a lot of fudge factors in stenciling. That's part of the art."

You can limit stenciling to a few touches marking borders or corners of a wall, or you can go all out and create a wallpaper effect by stenciling an oil-over pattern on a wall, Mrs. Heller said.

"It's versatile. It can be anything you want and compared to wallpapering, when you're tired of stenciling you can paint over it. When you're tired of wallpaper you have to go through a stripping process. Wallpapering turns out being more expensive," Mrs. Heller said.

Although Mrs. Heller has a background in art, she said, stenciling is something she and Mrs. White just fell into.

"We didn't go to school to learn it, in other words," Mrs. White said.

But if you don't think you can master the technique of stenciling on your own, Geneva Spaulding, a Sanford crafts shop owner, teaches the craft in two-hour sessions, for a $5 fee.

Mrs. Spaulding said she started stenciling about four years ago and many Sanford crafters are drawn to this art.

It's fairly inexpensive to start as a stencilers with paint, pattern and a paintbrush being the basics, she said.

The patterns can be cleaned and reused and choice of design is left to the imagination of the stencilers.

Mrs. Spaulding said she has added a stenciled cat to one of her skirts. Working with the brush from the outside of the pattern toward the inside of the design will give the work a life-like look, she said.

"Whatever you like," you can have as far as a colorful decorator touch goes, Mrs. Spaulding said.

Violence Vs. Style

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Sometimes, rarely, TV rises above its ratings rituals to give a quality series a chance to catch on.

A case in point is "Spenser: For Hire," a stylish private eye show.

All season long the 60-minute ABC series took a pounding in the A.C. Nielsen ratings in the 10-11 p.m. Friday night time slot against NBC's "Miami Vice" and CBS's "Falcon Crest."

The two cops-and-robbers series could hardly be more different. Essentially they appeal to different types of viewers.

"Miami Vice" is one of the most violent shows on the tube. Its driving rock background and music, glitzy lighting and camera angles (not dissimilar from music videos) is a perfect setting for the grungy, bestubbed cop hero as played by heart-throb Don Johnson. The show is, moreover, set in the sultry heat and passion of sonked-out Miami.

In contrast, "Spenser: For Hire" employs a minimum of violence, relying instead on story lines and a witty, articulate hero played by clean-cut Robert Ulrich in the title role. The series is set in cool, historic Boston.

From the beginning it was no contest between the shows in the ratings.

On the week of Oct. 1, 1985, when "Spenser" made its debut, "Miami Vice" was featured on the cover of Time magazine.

The ratings for "Spenser" on its opening night, Oct. 4, could not have been worse for Ulrich and ABC.

"Miami Vice" was rated No. 8. "Spenser: For Hire" was rated No. 64, dead last according to Mr. Nielsen.

On Wings Of Eagles: The Real Rambo

By Mark Schwed
UPI TV Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — They say there's a little bit of Rambo in all of us, but Texas millionaire H. Ross Perot makes Sylvester Stallone look like the fairy godmother.

Stallone's commando story about rescuing Vietnam War Prisoners was pure flag-raising fantasy. Perot's story about rescuing Americans from Iran is hard fact.

NBC tells the tale well with its new five-hour miniseries, "On Wings of Eagles," airing Sunday (May 17, 8-11 p.m. EST) and Monday (May 19, 9-11 p.m. EST). The drama is based on Ken Follett's best-selling book about the daring rescue of two American businessmen imprisoned in Iran during the country's violent takeover by Ayatollah Khomeini.

Perot, 55, started as a paperboy in Texarkana, Texas, became a hotshot IBM computer salesman and then a billionaire corporate whiz who lost $470 million in one day in frantic over-the-counter trading of stock in his company, Electronic Data Systems.

Of that day he says, "The day I made Eagle Scout was more important to me than the day I discovered I was a billionaire."

The miniseries begins after Perot has made EDS one of the most spectacular companies in U.S. business history. It is 1979 in Iran and the country is in turmoil. The shah has fled, there is rioting in the streets and American companies like EDS, which had an office in Tehran, become symbols of the hated West.

As followers of Khomeini proclaim their victory, two EDS computer engineers are arbitrarily imprisoned with bail set at $12.75 million — in effect, a ransom.

Perot would have paid the money if he thought it would result in the release of his two employees. He did not. Instead, Perot hired retired Army Col. Arthur D. "Bull" Simons to plan and lead a commando raid.

Like Perot, Simons was no softy.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)

— Elizabeth Taylor will make a rare television appearance when she co-stars with Robert Wagner for the first time in "There Must Be A Pony" for Columbia Pictures Television and ABC-TV.

Based on the novel by James Kirkwood, "There Must Be A Pony" will be produced by Wagner's company with rehearsals scheduled to begin May 12. Taylor will play an actress who is making a successful comeback in Hollywood while developing a new personal life with Wagner when tragedy strikes.

She's Tied In Knots Over Shackelford

Dear Debra — I would like some information about a "Knots Landing" star: Ted Shackelford. How old is he? Is he married? Does he have children? What is his home town? — Y.E., Pasadena, Calif.

The blond, blue-eyed Shackelford lives in Studio City, Calif., with his wife, Jan Leverenz. They have no children. Shackelford was born on June 23 in Oklahoma City, Okla. — he's not giving out the year but a good guess would be that he's in his mid-30s. He was raised primarily in Tulsa, and lived for a time in Long Island, N.Y., and in Guam, because his father was a doctor stationed there for the military.

Dear Debra — Could you please tell me where "Showtime's" series "Robin Hood" is filmed? Is it in England or here in the States? Any information on the location would be greatly appreciated. Thank you. — T.O., Rogersville, Mo.

"Showtime's" award-winning "Robin Hood," which stars Sean Connery's son, Jason, in the title role, is filmed in Bristol, England. The series, which this season began its story after the original Robin Hood was killed, also stars Judi Trott as Maid Marion and Nicholas Grace as the Sheriff of Nottingham.

Dear Debra — Sometime, in your column, I hope you print a list of Shirley Temple's movies. I saw every one that was shown in my rest home, but cannot find any list. I think there was one movie called "The Littlest Rebel." Thank you. — F.K., Warsaw, Ind.

"The Littlest Rebel" ran in 1935. Here are the rest: "The Red-Haired Alibi," "To the Last Man," "Out All Night," "Carolina," "Mandalay," "Stand

Celebrity Corner
Debra Katz

Up and Cheer," "Now I'll Tell," "Change of Heart," "Little Miss Marker," "Baby Take a Bow," "Now and Forever," "Bright Eyes," "The Little Colonel," "Our Little Girl," "Curly Top," "Captain January," "Poor Little Rich Girl," "Dimples," "Stowaway," "Wee Willie Winkle," "Heidi," "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "Little Miss Broadway," "Just Around the Corner," "The Little Princess," "Susannah of the Mounties," "The Blue Bird," "Young People," "Kathleen," "Miss Annie Rooney," "Since You Went Away," "I'll Be Seeing You," "Kiss and Tell," "Honeymoon," "The Bachelor and the Bobby-Soxer," "That Hagen Girl," "Fort Apache," "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College," "Adventure in Baltimore," "The Story of Scabscuit" and "A Kiss for Corliss."

Dear Debra — My mother and I have an outstanding bet. The problems are: Who played the father on "Bachelor Father"? Also, what was the name of the program (family program) that starred Brian Keith (Judge Handcastle) whose little girl had a doll named Mrs. Beasley? What are the names of the co-stars? Thank! — D. & S.E., Coppens Cove, Texas.

You see the star of "Bachelor Father" every Wednesday night on "Dynasty": He's John Forsythe, who now plays Blake Carrington on the ABC nighttime soap opera. Brian Keith (of ABC's "Hardcastle and McCormick") was the patriarch on "Family Affair," which ran from 1966 to 1971. Sebastian Cabot played Mr. French; he died in 1977 of a stroke at the age of 59. Johnny Whittaker played Jodie; he is a theater major at Brigham Young University. And Antona Jones, who played Buffy, died of a drug overdose in 1976 at the age of 18. Kathy Garver played Casey and Nancy Walker played a part-time housekeeper, Emily, in the final season of the show.

Dear Debra — Is Father Guido Sarducci, who appears on the "Johnny Carson" show for real or is he a put-on? Is he a real priest? Many thanks. — A.E., Steubenville, Ohio.

Father Guido is a character created by Don Novello on "NBC's Saturday Night Live" in the late '70s. He is strictly for laughs.

Dear Debra — My husband and I were recently watching a rerun of "Kojak." The credits listed a George Savalas. Is he any relation to Telly Savalas? And what character does he portray? — P.M., Long Lane, Mo.

That's been observing on your part. George Savalas, who died last Oct. 2, was indeed Telly's brother. He played the role of Det. Stavros. If you were credit-watching from the start of the series, however, you might not have noticed this because for the first two seasons, he was listed as Demosthenes in the credits rather than Savalas.
