

Western Military Experts Worried Over Red Nuclear Weapon Advances

LONDON (UPI) — The Western powers are beginning to have second thoughts on the present moratorium on nuclear test explosions because of reported startling advances in Russian nuclear weapons, Western military experts said today.

The experts told United Press International the Western delegates at the Geneva nuclear talks are caught between the devil of public opinion which opposes further nuclear explosions and the dog bite of advanced Soviet nuclear techniques.

For nearly a year the world has watched the negotiations in Geneva, hoping that the specter of a deadly nuclear arms race can be avoided. The talks resumed in Geneva this week after a two-month hiatus.

At the moment the "nuclear club" of Russia, the United States and Britain have a verbal understanding that no nuclear tests will be made before next year.

The military experts in London said Western leaders recognize the strong public demand for a ban on tests. But, they said, evidence so far of the danger to health by radioactive fallout is not conclusive.

Western statesmen and military leaders have the responsibility for deciding whether the military risk to the West of a prolonged ban on tests outweighs the improved danger to health, they said.

The experts recalled evidence given by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission early this year in a closed session of a Senate subcommittee. AEC scientists said that fallout, trapped and analyzed after a particularly dirty Russian nuclear test last year, indicated that Russia had developed a "super atom bomb."

Analysis of this fallout led the U. S. scientists to the conclusion the Russians had enormously greater supplies of uranium than the West suspected. It also indicated they had solved the problem, which still baffled Western scientists, of bringing large quantities of uranium—235 together in the casing of their superbomb without producing an automatic nuclear reaction.

The military experts here said Russia's Spoutnik and Lunika have shown she has missiles capable of delivering her super atomic bomb. No country yet has a missile powerful enough to carry a hydrogen bomb, they said.

One of the main problems is in the method of detonating the hydrogen bomb. The start of a fusion reaction requires such vast heat and energy that Western scientists have so far been able to produce it only by using an atomic bomb to detonate the hydrogen bomb.

The Russians also appear to be ahead of the West in finding an alternative to this, according to the London experts.

A Soviet explosives expert, Gen. Georgi Iosifovich Pokrovskiy, said recently all Russia's latest hydrogen bombs are detonated by what he called an "electrical explosion" instead of by atomic bombs.

Western military experts said the value of the hydrogen bomb, even in massive retaliation, was seriously limited by its weight and that at present it can be delivered only by manned bombers.

Experts Say Pressure Off Home Loan Interest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Experts say the pressure is off home loan interest rates.

They may not be going down in foreseeable future but are not likely to go up either.

Money is still going to be comparatively tight, with lenders checking potential borrower qualifications and financial resources pretty carefully.

According to the National Association of Real Estate Boards, NAREB, conventional loans commanded 6 per cent in three out of five areas in 25 areas of the country surveyed in September. In June the 6 per cent rate prevailed in 22 per cent of the areas and in March in 24 per cent.

One reason for the trend toward easier borrowing, NAREB President James M. Udall of Los Angeles said, is that lenders are forgetting the impact of high rates on the housing industry.

"The growing practice of making mortgage decisions primarily on the basis of yield with minimum apparent regard to the future is a serious source of trouble to the housing industry," Udall said.

He leveled sharp criticism at lenders who did not reduce discounts enough on FHA loans when the maximum FHA interest rate was increased on Sept. 24 from 5 1/2 to 5 3/4 per cent.

Instead of trimming discounts by an expected four points, Udall said, the interest boost led to discounts reductions of about two points. "The current price level of FHA-insured mortgages appears more a matter of assessing the burden that the public and the housing industry will bear and less a matter of judicious decision in terms of the long-run residential market," Udall said.

He noted that the 8 per cent rate on conventional loans—those that are not backed by the government—is "bumping against the usury laws" in about a dozen states. As a result discounts—common on conventional loans—are coming into use.

Loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration for former servicemen "are practically unavailable in many areas because of the 5 1/2 per cent ceiling on the interest rate," Udall said. The VA reported a further decline in appraisal requests in September.

a sign that lenders are shying away from GI loans.

According to James J. Carney Jr., a University of Miami finance professor, the interest rate climb is leveling off but there is no prospect for "any substantial lowering of interest rates for at least six months." Carney gave this assessment to the National League of Insured Savings Associations, in convention in Miami.

Crippled Freighter Reaches Key West

KEY WEST (UPI) — Pumps worked through the night to keep a British freighter afloat here, but the ship got into port.

The 445-ton Crystal, with a hole ripped in its hull, limped into port shortly after midnight with a Coast Guard escort.

The 225-foot vessel had reported it was sinking with 20 persons aboard Wednesday afternoon. The crew realized that its single pump could not keep ahead of the water pouring through the hole.

Just what caused the tear in the hull was not known.

The Coast Guard sent airplanes which dropped two extra pumps to the Crystal. Using these, the crew was able to get underway and made it to Key West with a cutter as escort.

The Crystal, a two-masted converted yacht, was bound for Tampa when it sent the SOS.

Leaves For Meet

Dr. and Mrs. L. T. Doss left today to attend the annual convention of the Florida Chiropractic Assn. at the Robert Meyer Hotel in Jacksonville. Dr. Doss is president of the Gavel Club, an organization of past presidents of the association.

The nation's leading tobacco companies spent a total of nearly 116 million dollars to advertise the 20 top brands of cigarettes during 1958. This, according to Advertising Age, was less than half a cent a package.

Worry Clinic

Timmy's case should be discussed tomorrow in churches. And by all means memorize that proper "Pause & Praise" technique for it can stimulate such quelling. It also produces faster sales of ideas, as well as merchandise. Few delinquents come from Sunday Schools, Boy Scouts or former newspaper boys.

BY — GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M. D.

CASE C — 472: Timmy R., aged 7, is a lonely youngster.

"Dr. Crane," a local clergyman began, "Timmy needs to be in Sunday School."

"His mother approves of my idea but his father is dead set against it. The father claims to be an atheist and says churches just ruin people."

"Besides, he argues it is unfair to prejudice a child's mind, so he says we should wait till Timmy is 21 and then let him decide for himself."

"I know you have taught a Sunday School class for 40 years, so how would you answer Timmy's father?"

PAUSE & PRAISE

When I taught my psychology classes at Northwestern University on "Advertising and Selling," I always urged the students to "Pause & Praise" when a prospect raised an objection.

This is the best single bit of strategy any salesman can ever acquire. It helps parents and school teachers, too, when children shoot questions back at us.

First of all, it gives us a chance to collect our feeble wits, if we have been wool gathering.

Second, it inflates the ego of the questioner. Instead of being met with a sharp retort or angry reply, he now receives a compliment. That puts him into an agreeable and often agreeing frame of mind.

Each of us at birth is branded across the chest with this lifelong, though invisible tattoo:

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."

So the "Pause & Praise" strategy fulfills his hunger for some public recognition. It creates the proper "mental set" for probable acceptance of your logic.

EARLY VACCINATION

"You have raised a good question," you can thus begin your reply to Timmy's father, "and you are quite right in urging that we let a child make up his own mind on many issues."

"Sometimes, however, we adults have more experiences so it is helpful if we add our mature judgment to tip the scales in the proper direction."

"For example, we now know that measles and diphtheria and polio can be prevented almost completely by vaccinating children."

"The youngsters seldom want to be vaccinated, so if we left it solely up to them, they'd risk infection rather than suffer the minor needle prick at the time of vaccination."

"Thus, we parents must tactfully 'sell' them on what is good insurance for their later adult health."

"By the same logic, we should tactfully vaccinate them against social unpopularity by teaching them table manners, plus cleanliness with a toothbrush, soap, etc."

"And team work is no more necessary than ever before, because of our zooming population, so we need to train a child in fair play and the Golden Rule."

"Most of us parents fail to tutor our children specifically on such points, so it is convenient to let them attend a Sunday School where some unselfish person donates time to teach the youngsters moral manners."

"If you left it up to Timmy, don't you think he'd prefer to go with his playmates and spend an hour singing inspirational songs and listening to tales of moral heroism?"

In fact, why not come along with Timmy next Sunday and inspect the modern Sunday school? You are an analytical thinker, so maybe you could offer us some good suggestions for improving it?"

Famed Picture Valued Over A Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — The "other" Mona Lisa, a disputed version of the Da Vinci masterpiece valued at $1,500,000, may get a home in a Texas museum.

The Vernon family, owners of the painting, and the prospective purchasers in Houston, Tex., confirmed today that negotiations are going on and have been for some little time.

But neither party would say how near to a sale the negotiations have gotten.

Purchase of the painting would rank as one of the biggest art transactions in American history. A reliable report indicates the Vernon family already has turned down an offer of $800,000 for the work, but this could not be confirmed.

"The price under discussion is $1,500,000," said Christian W. Slagle, a Vernon lawyer and family spokesman. "This painting is the hottest thing in the art world even though it is an eighth of an acre away from complete authentication. But one must remember that the Louvre Mona Lisa has a mystery of its own."

The beautifully preserved Vernon Mona Lisa is believed by many experts to have been painted by Leonardo da Vinci in 1502, five years before he painted the nearly identical but more famous canvas which hangs in Paris' Louvre. The Vernons keep it in a bank vault in Summit, N. J.

Slagle said negotiations are being handled in Houston by Mary Frances Pettig, an agent retained by the Vernons. The Houston group negotiating for the Mona Lisa is headed by Dr. Edwin C. Connor, a wealthy retired physician, and includes several bankers, doctors, an insurance firm president and a prominent attorney.

William Henry Vernon of Newport, R. I., an ancestor of Vernon was entrusted with the painting by Marie Antoinette of France at the time of her arrest during the French Revolution. The queen told her young American friend that he could keep "the portrait of the nun by Leonardo" if she were executed.

The owners of the painting are Slagle's wife, Mrs. Agnes Vernon Slagle of 289 Fairmont Chatham, N. J.; her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Vernon Landis of Pound Ridge, N. Y., and their mother, Mrs. Alice C. E. Vernon.

They never have been able to enjoy it in their homes because they fear fire and theft. Even the Louvre Mona Lisa was slashed from its frame and stolen, but later was returned to the museum.

Bars Can Operate On Election Day

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Bars and cocktail lounges in the state won't have to close Nov. 3 when the people vote on the reapportionment amendment.

In an opinion Wednesday for Beverage Director L. Grant Peoples, Atty. Gen. Richard Erwin ruled that a 1953 act changed the closing law so that bars could be kept open during special elections.

The election on the 44-senator, 100-member House apportionment will be a special election to decide only that one issue.

'The Bells Of St. Mary's' TV Show Not Too 'Warm'

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Having watched "The Bells of St. Mary's" Tuesday night, the coxies of my heart should be warm enough to cut into winter fuel bills.

But it didn't work out that way. The 90-minute CBS-TV production put together some engaging personalities to tell the story of St. Mary's parochial school, its troubles with a neighboring millionaire and its faith in itself and prayer. The troubles were many.

The millionaire, played by Charles Ruggles, was a hypochondriac who wanted the school rated for a parking lot; Sister Benedict, played by Claudette Colbert, developed tuberculosis; Patsy had family troubles; Eddie couldn't fight; the school was falling apart and, in the idiom of the day, one student took a dive on a quiz. Enough troubles here to last through a full 36-episode series, I'd say.

Because a play of this sort sugar-coats life, the troubles, though many, were really superficial. Even the tuberculosis was a very mild case. Prognosis: excellent. And the millionaire really had a heart of gold. Since his new office building was noticeably lacking in traffic, it was no surprise when he donated it to the parish for a new school.

The most genuine performance of the night was turned in by Marc Connelly, as Dr. McKay. He had an honest, natural approach while the masterful brow-wrinkler, Hubert Preston and Miss Colbert were fine in a scene to outdo each other. . . . However, Miss Colbert was fine in a scene that had her boxing and, later when she learned of her illness. Otherwise, she was well — Claudette Colbert, complete with superfluous hand-waving. Preston's role called for complete, believable warm-hand ingenuity. He came over with excessive stiffness.

The labored mechanics of this story have been rendered obsolete by time and I thought the fundamental message — dealing with faith rewarded — could have been twice as effective if half of the underdeveloped sub-plots were discarded.

I saw only the last half of Art Linkletter's NBC-TV "Starting special Tuesday night — the one in which Linkletter the TV personality plugged a new book by Linkletter the author, which was published by a firm that Linkletter the businessman is a partner in. So far as is known, Linkletter doesn't own the automobile firm that sponsored him. The interviews with children appeared to have a carefully rehearsed air of unrehearsed behavior about them. The interview with Mrs. Hannah Nixon and her son, Vice President Richard Nixon, didn't belong on this show.

The Channel 5 unit: Ralph Edwards brings his NBC-TV Wednesday night show, "This Is Your Life, back to New York for two programs in November, undaunted by his encounter with Lowell Thomas during the last visit.

Carl Reiner has been added to the guest list of Dinah Shore's "Parlour" review on NBC-TV this Sunday because of a postponed appearance by Les Harootian, a puppet act. Metropolitan Opera star Cesare Siepi appears on the Nov. 5 CBS-TV "Big Party," show the late Errol Flynn had been booked into. Backstage, Abe Burrows has assumed his duties as executive producer of "Party," now that some Broadway directorial commitments are ended.

Allied Artists, a film company that has produced "The Al Capone Story" and "Friendly Persuasion" will produce two as yet unspecified TV film series for ABC films starting in January. Ethel Shtuta, the popular band singer of the 1930, stars in "Special Delivery," a forthcoming CBS-TV Alfred Hitchcock thriller.

One out of every seven medical bills covered by health insurance in the U. S. is $500 or more while more than half fall between $100 and $499.

Lutheran Church Services To Mark Reformation Day

The Lutheran Church of the Redeemer in Sanford will celebrate Reformation Day Sunday. The Protestant Reformation dates from October 31, 1517, when Martin Luther broke with the Roman Pope and began the movement out of which the modern Protestant churches were born.

In commemorating this occasion the pastor, Rev. Herbert Goeras, will deliver the morning message on the significant event of church development. The morning worship begins at 10:30 a. m. in the church at 103 W. 25th Place. Sunday at 7 p. m. the church will show the famed picture, "Martin Luther," an historically documented film depicting the life of Luther, the father of the Protestant Reformation. Mr. Goeras issued a cordial welcome to all who would like to see the film.

IT'S A SMALL WORLD

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verse
Sunday	Psalms	89	11-13
Monday	1st Peter	2	13-14
Tuesday	Daniel	4	1-2
Wednesday	John	4	26-40
Thursday	Psalm	133	1-3
Friday	Matthew	28	26-28
Saturday	Psalms	65	1-4

Ever run into a friend in Tokyo, or meet one of your neighbors in Amsterdam? Maybe not—but such things are happening every day!

It makes you stop and think—the way this world is shrinking. It makes you wish that the men and women who live on opposite sides of the globe had more things in common.

There can be no more unifying force in the world than a common belief in God. And toward that ideal we are rapidly progressing. Christians the world over are feeling and expressing their unity of faith and purpose.

Sunday is World-Wide Communion! Sunday, on that day, within the space of a few short hours, Christians in every land will reverently participate in the Lord's Supper which has been a mark of Christian faith for almost two thousand years.

Worship with the World in the Church of your choice!

Happiness Through Health

(By DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

What Is Arthritis?

Arthritis is essentially an inflammation of the surfaces of the joint. This inflammation involves not only the bony surfaces, but the musculature and the ligaments surrounding the joint.

In many instances, this joint inflammation results from excessive stresses and strains arising from improper functioning. This is a matter of faulty body mechanism arising from bad posture, curvature of the spine, bones out of place, and other conditions which would induce body unbalance.

Another factor that is often involved in arthritis is faulty calcium metabolism. This means the body's ability to utilize for its own purpose the natural calcium salts found in certain foods.

Recent research has demonstrated that there is definite relationship between arthritis and an upset nervous system. Disturbances in the nervous system interfere with metabolism.

The chiropractor, in dealing with arthritis, seeks to restore normal body balance, and normal functioning of the nervous system. By removing the pressures which clog, he reestablishes the body's proper calcium metabolism as well as corrects mechanical functioning of its joints. When he does so, symptoms of arthritis disappear.

Military Career Chosen By Student

Mary Alice Neville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Neville Sr., of Sanford has chosen a military career. She graduated from Robert E. Lee High School in Jacksonville this past June.

Before that she attended a great many schools. Her father was serving with the U. S. Navy during her childhood. She was born in Honolulu, Hawaii and lived there until she was six years old. The family then moved to California. She attended schools in Alameda, Calif., Norfolk, Va., Tennessee, Pensacola and Jacksonville.

August 5, this year, Mary was sworn in the U. S. A. F. and sent to Lackland Air Force Base, in Texas for eight weeks for basic training. She came home on leave for a week the early part of this month, then left for a 12 week technical training course in I. B. M. at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Since she was born in Hawaii, she was given a Hawaiian name, "Pua lani", meaning "Flower of Heaven", but in the service and to her friends she is just "Mary". Her father retired from 23 years service in the navy and has purchased 40 acres of land near Lake Jessup on the Sipes Rd. near Sanford.

Her mother, Mildred Neville, R. N. is employed at Seminole Memorial Hospital as staff nurse.

Response To Jets Good For Airlines

By GORDON J. TOLL
Manager, Security Association, Inc.

"Enthusiastic public response to the superiority of jet travel and fare increases authorized by the Civil Aeronautics Board in 1958 and 1959 should bring American Airlines' total revenues for 1959 to approximately $200 million, an increase of about 20 per cent over 1958," C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines, Inc., told the New York Society of Security Analysts.

Smith emphasized the fact that the combination of rising volume and higher rates brought about a definite increase in profits for the nine months ended September, 1959. Earnings after taxes for this period amounted to $1.94 a share of which $1.21 was from operations and 73 cents a share from gains on property sales. Contributing strongly to this showing were record revenues and earnings during the third quarter. Earnings for all of 1958 amounted to $1.97 a share; $1.66 from operations and 30 cents from sale of property. Total 1958 earnings, including gains from sale of capital equipment, "may be in the area of $1.25 a share."

Utilization of Boeing 707 jets and Lockheed Electras at lead factors of 98-99 per cent is unusual, commented Smith, reflecting as it does the public's enthusiasm for a new travel adventure. Although it is anticipated that these lead factors will drop, their maintenance at profitable levels has been "conclusively indicated by the broadening air transport market."

Earnings in the immediate future will be aided substantially by the sale of piston equipment made obsolete by jet transports and by the public's recognition of jet travel advantages. These prospects suggest that the company will do well in the jet age.

It is always interesting to follow the changes that large investment funds make in their portfolios of holdings. The management of the Putnam Fund issued a statement claiming, as a part of a program to reduce steel stocks because of a "steel price reduction" in various other steel securities. The overall effect has been to reduce their proportion of steel from a maximum of about 12 per cent to the present level of around 7 1/2 per cent.

D. Morris Berringer, chairman of the board of Delaware Fund, opines that whatever the outcome of the steel strike may be — and it may be still far distant — "everybody is going to get hurt, including the bystanders." This may be somewhat far-fetched but one can not help but respect the opinions of men who have proven themselves in the investment field. Berringer further comments that "steel stocks have stayed surprisingly high, but the few third quarter reports that have appeared are eloquent of the fact that corporate treasuries are going to be saggingly depleted, just as union treasuries are going to be deeply damaged. When the issues are finally resolved there will doubtless be a spell, at least, of capacity operations; but many capital expenditures planned by the steel industry, and probably by other industries as well, may be postponed or cancelled, for lack of steel, or money, or both."

Twice mentioned before in this column were the shares of American MARC, now listed on the American Stock Exchange, manufacturers of outboard diesel engines, generator sets and boats. In approximately six weeks they have risen 95 per cent in price. Seems like the outboard business is flourishing just as well as ever.

Assignment Washington

By ED SOTERBA

WASHINGTON — The lobby one jammed with luscious men that made the hotel look like a sea of smiling penguins. They were waiting for the President of the United States.

Just outside the first set of doors that led to the grand ballroom sat a leathery, elderly gentleman. He was just sitting, meditating there since said this reason. Hearty.

I guess the reason former Sen. Henry Aldrich had placed himself there was to be closer to the kind of people who used to be his way of life.

Vice-President Richard Nixon flanked by Sen. Lyndon Johnson straddled in, Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield moved by at the elbow of William Randolph Hearst. A parade of taxes going through the door to party with the President.

The world kept going by Senator Aldrich, who was perhaps the greatest orator in the history of the U. S. Senate. Occasionally, someone would stop.

Henry Fountain Ashurst, 85, Arizona's first U. S. Senator, remained behind alone when the doors, at last, closed. All that was to be heard now was the muffled sound of rum-ming.

I don't mean to make this sound like Senator Ashurst was feeling sorry for himself. That man is as alive physically and mentally today as when he "retired" in 1908. He's lived at the hotel since then.

Oddly enough, something that happened in the Senator's recent past may bring him back to Capitol Hill — not as a golden orator, but as a quiet witness.

Senator Ashurst was a contestant on "The $64,000 Question," the program which Congressmen are going to look into at a hearing in November.

The former Senator was saying, "I'm probably one of the few people on these quiz programs who wasn't given the answers."

Even The Mailman?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A research team has decided that two-thirds of all dog bite cases, the bitter bites without malicious intent.

When dogs bite people, the team found, the people usually are to blame, one way or another.

These and other conclusions were reported in the October issue of Public Health Reports, a monthly magazine published by the Public Health Service, in an article entitled "Epidemiology of Dog Bites."

The article was written by Drs. Henry M. Parrish of the University of Vermont, Frank B. Clark and James F. Mock of the Allegheny County Pa. Health Department, and Duane Probat of the University of Wisconsin.

The authors reported or cited the following findings:

Dogs bite more children than adults and more boys than girls. There is no evidence that they are "more partial to biting non-white than white persons."

One-third of bites result "from dogs biting maliciously without human provocation." Another one-third occur while the victims are playing with or petting dogs. The remaining one-third are the result of "human activities which goad dogs to bite."

"High-risk groups" among possible dog bite victims are "school children, pre-school children, persons coming to the dog owner's house in line of work (delivery men etc.), newspaper boys, mailmen, and veterinarians."

The authors said "probably tens of thousands of newspaper boys and postmen are bitten by dogs in this country annually."

Young dogs are worse biters than old dogs, females bite oftener than males, and so-called working and sporting dogs are more likely to nip than hounds. Working dogs, "the worst offenders," include boxers, collies, Eskimo dogs, German shepherds, great Danes, Saint Bernards, and Doberman pinschers. Sporting dogs include pointers, setters, retrievers, and spaniels.

Dogs bite least in winter, more often in spring, and oftentimes in July and August. This supports "popular notions of dog days."

Coffee Break Runner Shakes Capital

By FRANK BLEASER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A disturbing rumor has just swept government buildings. At high levels, it was said, something was brewing to curb coffee breaks.

Has it gotten your employees' coffee breaks? Specifically, not since 1958, the year a new administration took office pledged to wipe out government waste.

That was the year Martha S. Aldrich, then assistant to the chairman of the Republican National Committee, held a vicious campaign gathering of GOP leaders government workers not only were coming in now a half hour earlier than before, but that they were working full time.

As a government institution the coffee break had been dealt a death blow, Martha clearly implied.

That was also the year Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson planned his series of office trips to milk vending machines, and passed out word he expected from each machine employee a full day's work every day.

Many of Benson's employees took this as a hint to stay clear of the department's milk bars and cafeteria except at lunch time. Some even switched from coffee to milk.

At the White House meantime Sherman Adams had so averted the help the girls took to hiding their penicillins and hot plates in the ladies rooms. Everywhere spirits sank low in the government buildings.

Things were especially bad in the cavernous structures occupied by the Interior Department. The late Douglas McKay, then interior secretary, decided at last he had grounds to take action.

One morning at 10:15 — peak hour of the day — Eisenhower's enthusiasm for coffee — McKay popped down to the cafeteria.

He answered correctly the $22,000 question and decided to go on to $64,000 and missed. He got a Cadillac.

Now the scene shifts through the double doors and to the crowded presidential birthday party. You focus on a table just below the.

It's the Wall Street Journal table-for newsmen and guests. But there's a face that seems out of place — that of James Hilda Hoffa, president of the Teamsters. What is he doing here, singing happy birthday to the President? He's simply a guest of one of the Wall Street boys, somebody said. At the same table top man away, another familiar face — that of Sen. Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.). "You a close friend of Hoffa's?" you ask, and he laughs. "It's just a coincidence that I'm at this table," he said. "I just met him here for the first time in my life."

The seating arrangements produced many strange bedfellows. A truck's width away at Hoffa's would be actress, Robert F. Kennedy.

"See your friend Hoffa over there?" you chide, and he says, "No, where?" and he spies the man and smiles wryly. Then you say, "Great party, eh?" and he replies: "It was, until you told me that."

Thus it went behind the scenes.

Stassen Fights For His Political Life In Philadelphia Mayoralty Election

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Republican Harold E. Stassen will be fighting political obscurity when he seeks an upset triumph over Democratic incumbent Richardson Dilworth in the Philadelphia mayoralty election next Tuesday.

In the past two weeks, Stassen has had to divert much attention from campaigning to answer berbs that he has failed to pay $1,200 in wage taxes for the years 1953 to 1954.

Stassen, a former presidential aspirant, needs a triumph over the popular Dilworth to bolster his political fortunes, which have been skidding since his drive to "dump" Vice President Richard Nixon backfired in 1956.

Shunned by national GOP leaders, Stassen turned to Pennsylvania in search of the gubernatorial nomination last year only to get the cold shoulder from state bigwigs who dubbed him a "stranger."

He then made a futile primary race against Arthur McConigle, the organization choice. The Republican City Committee here endorsed Stassen as its mayoralty candidate in an effort to halt a tide of Democratic vic-

Party grip on Philadelphia, which broke the Republican Party grip on Philadelphia.

THE RADICALLY RESTYLED 1940 FORD is now on display at Strickland-Morrison Motors Inc. Salesman C. D. Tillis is shown here with the Fairlane tudor sedan.

Railroad Negotiators Have Their Troubles Too

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Railroad labor negotiations, now simmering in Chicago, invited comparison with bargaining in the steel industry and the similarities are obvious.

Collective bargaining on the railroads is regulated by the Railway Labor Act, a far more flexible law in curbing strikes than the Taft-Hartley Act being used in the steel situation.

ROMANS VIKINGS ESKIMOS

They SAID they could sell FLORIDA'S FRESH-FROZEN ORANGE JUICE (that's our famous CONCENTRATE) . . . worlds and worlds of it. Even if they had to drum up a market among the Romans, Vikings, and Eskimos.

Well, they ARE selling it . . . Right here in AMERICA . . . Without having to pitch a single sales pass at the Romans, etc.

Just plain Americans (that includes the Eskimos now, you know) are already drinking considerably more F-FOJ . . . since the first part of September when FLORIDA'S 22 enterprising CONCENTRATORS put up $3,300,000 for a national advertising and promotional drive to boost present CONCENTRATE markets — and certainly to create new ones.

Here's how these 22 CONCENTRATORS are concentrating that $3,300,000 in every marketing community in the U.S.A.

● $1,500,000 worth of advertising in 191 daily newspapers; in LIFE, LOOK and The SATURDAY EVENING POST; and in the Sunday supplements, AMERICAN WEEKLY, THIS WEEK, PARADE and FIRST THREE MARKETS. — Total circulation: 93,000,000 (that's just for ONE edition of each of these periodicals, and the ads are running several times in each.)

● A first Sweepstakes Prize of $25,000 in cold cash (it's being kept cold in a G. E. electric refrigerator, which also goes to the winner); 10 Second Prizes, each a brand new Corvair auto; 50 Third Prizes, each a G. E. combo refrigerator-freezer; and 1,000 Fourth Prizes, each an electric can opener (so's to open the cans of CONCENTRATE without even having to twist the wrist.)

● Trade Sweepstakes for ANYBODY employed in America's Grocery Trade. Five First Prizes, each a 1960 Thunderbird; and 50 Seconds, each a 1960 G. E. 17-inch portable TV set.

● The ads feature 12- and 20-cent coupons redeemable by customers everywhere (not including the Romans, etc.) with their purchase of CONCENTRATE — any brand. (For more coupon news of concentrated interest to you, see coupon in this ad.)

A QUARTER of a BILLION of these coupons are being distributed.

This CONCENTSATIONAL (what gives, etymologically, when you jam CONCENTrated and senSATIONAL together) campaign will profit every Citrus Grower in Florida because it will not only sell more oranges already processed into CONCENTRATE, but it will result in even more favorable markets for Florida Citrus Growers in the future.

Every community in Florida (this means YOU!) will profit from this program. Because the economic impact (that's business lingo for the force of $$$ and $$$) of the Florida Citrus Industry reflects itself upon ALL Florida business and in every walk of Florida life. (Total retail sales of Florida citrus last year: $650,000,000)

The Board of Directors of FLORIDA CITRUS MUTUAL enthusiastically endorse this program and wholeheartedly congratulate the CONCENTRATORS for dreaming up this novel and forceful way to sell more Fresh-Frozen Orange Juice — and for backing up this dream with action.

Through FLORIDA CITRUS MUTUAL'S 21 Directors, now representing more than 10,000 Florida Citrus Growers, MUTUAL'S fundamental policy is to be factual in all matters concerning the Florida Citrus Industry and to do everything realistically possible to see that the Grower maintains his rightful standing and shares mutually in industry responsibilities and benefits.

They're Doing The JOB!

Debbie Reynolds To Appear On TV Comedy Hour

Although under "exclusive" contract to ABC-TV for three years, Debbie Reynolds will be seen on CBS-TV next year. She'll be in a Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz comedy hour, in exchange for which Lucy will appear on Debbie's first ABC-TV special, tentatively set for next September.

NEW YORK (UPI) — I hadn't gauged the impact of the TV quiz scandals until: —President Eisenhower put the attorney general on the case. —A manufacturer issued, "rig you the 'most' button." —Walter Lippman turned his attention to it. This, incidentally, in violation of our agreement. He wasn't going to write about TV if I stayed out of international affairs. —So, before the fixed fifties turn into the sincere sixties, and congressional quiz-quashers resume their hearings, I thought I'd set down some thoughts on the scandals.

Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON
I think the most wonderful person I have had the privilege of knowing is a sportsman.

In 1955 when the Giants staged their first PGA tournament here at the Mayfair, several members of the team came to participate in the Pro-Am portion of the event. Among them was the then captain of the newly crowned world champions, Alvin Dark arrived at the Mayfair Inn carrying his golf sticks and a small leather suitcase and if he hadn't had to register nobody would have known he was a great baseball star.

In his quiet, friendly manner he began to win the friendship of all the employees at the Mayfair and everyone who came in contact with him.

I first came in contact with Al one Sunday afternoon while I was on the desk at the hotel. As all the golfers and members of the Giants began to file into the bar, Dark made his way to the desk and asked where the Baptist Church was.

Being a Baptist myself, I invited him to go with my wife and me. From this point on, we have become the dearest of friends. After I got to know Alvin I began to find some of the wonderful works that he had been doing that were going unnoticed.

Nobody had known much about Al being such a deeply religious person until the Giants won the World Series in 1954. (By the way he hit over .500 during the Series.) While being interviewed by a sports writer, he was asked what he was going to do with his share of the Series money. Right off the bat he told them that the first thing he was going to do was send 10 per cent of it to the Baptist Church in his hometown, Lake Charles, La.

This statement probably caused the biggest change in Al's life. Since then he has been asked to speak before practically every young people's Christian group in the United States. While Al professes to be anything but a speaker, he has gone about his Father's business and from his works many young people have been brought back on the right track.

Two years ago while Al was with the St. Louis Cardinals in spring training at St. Petersburg, he invited me down for a weekend of golf. Well, I need not say who won the match because Al is one of the outstanding amateur golfers in the country. He has won the baseball players' tourney three times in the last five years. While there I had the privilege of meeting his lovely wife, Adrienne, and his children, Eve, Allyson, Gene, and Margaret.

Famed golfer Jack Burke says that Alvin is the greatest athlete in the country. Before signing his baseball bonus with the Boston Braves for an estimated $75,000, he had been at LSU and was named on the honorable mention All-America football team. Although only a weekend golfer, he consistently shoots in the middle 70's. He has been one of the outstanding shortstops in the last 15 years. You can see why Burke would make such a statement.

Along with all of his athletic ability, he also has the distinction of being a Christian. This is why I feel that he is the greatest man I have ever known.

FSU Poses Big Question In Tilt With Georgia Team

United Press International

Can Florida State University, knocking at the Southeastern Conference door after the girls let boys attend school with them, knock out the SEC-leading Georgia Bulldogs Saturday.

Georgia's homecoming partisans hope not, but FSU, which turned from lace to lacing opponents without prejudice, including some SEC braggarts, could pull the upset of the year.

FSU likes the spoiler role, like any underdog, and Coach Perry Moss has one big factor on his side. Georgia has been its worst in non-conference games. They were dumped by South Carolina, 30-14, and while trouncing Hardin-Simmons 35-6, they made so many mistakes a heavier club could have maulled them.

Georgia worked out for 90 minutes in the rain Thursday for the FSU attack. FSU tapered off, as did most teams.

Tulane and Texas Tech square off in the Sugar Bowl and Miami and Kentucky in the Orange Bowl tonight in games beginning another big football weekend involving SEC teams.

Tulane and the Texas Red Raiders practiced on kickoff pursuit and the Greenies also worked on their passing. Miami's offensive "new look" was worked over Thursday in practice.

Other non-conference games this weekend include the North Carolina-Tennessee tilt at Chapel Hill. The Vols are reported in good physical shape including tailback Bill Maurs.

North Carolina worked hard on protecting kickers, with Jack Cummings, Ray Farris and Skip Clement doing the punting.

Duke quarterbacks George Harris and Don Altman used their final home drill to work on passing for their game with Georgia Tech in Atlanta. Tech drilled indoors and checked on assignments.

Grid Twin-Bill Slated Tomorrow

Football fans will be treated to a double game Saturday at 7 p. m. in Memorial Stadium as the Sanford and Lyman Junior High teams clash. The two games will mark the end of the 1959 junior grid season.

The preliminary game will be an intra-squad game with the Sanford Junior High "lightweights" divided into two equal teams.

The main tilt will see the Sanford Junior High "heavies" against a strong Lyman Junior High team. During the halftime period in the second game, the football queen will be crowned amid colorful ceremonies staged by the girl's physical education department. The Sanford Junior High band and majorettes will make its first appearance.

Tickets for these junior grid games can be purchased from any Junior High School student.

LYMAN STANDOUT Calvin Reiter talks to Coach Bill Proctor as the Greyhounds prepare for tonight's grid tilt with Dunnellon. Reiter, a senior center at 165, has seen considerable action on both offense and defense this season.

TWO OF LYMAN'S SPEEDY HALFBACKS, Ed Ballard and Dick Heath will see action tonight against Dunnellon in the Greyhounds' homecoming game. Both boys are seniors.

Lyman Hosts Dunnellon In Homecoming Contest

The injury-riddled Lyman Greyhounds take the field tonight against Dunnellon for their homecoming contest.

The Greyhounds have a 4-2 record so far this year but will have to go all out to whip the Dunnellon squad since Brazzil and Everidge are out with injuries and Keith Tennant, standout fullback, won't be in top form because of an injury.

Dunnellon plays a wide-open brand of football and the Greyhounds will alter their defense to try to stymie the visitors' option plays around end and their passing attacks. The Dunnellon eleven has an exceptionally good fullback, Lyman Coach Bill Proctor said.

The coach also said that he was going to give two comparatively green boys, Landress and Griffin, an opportunity to play and commented on the fine job Ed O'Neal has been doing as fullback.

A large crowd is expected to witness the game and the crowning of the homecoming queen at halftime. The queen and her court will pass in review in front of the stands and then will disembark at the 30 yard line. As the band plays, the former Miss Betty Robinson, the 1958 queen, will present the queen's garland to Mary Ann Renninger who will be the guest of honor at a dance after the game.

Tigers, Ole Miss Clash In Top Grid Game Of Weekend

United Press International

Top-ranked Louisiana State puts its perfect record on the line against third-ranked Mississippi Saturday in the feature game of a college football program which may decide the fate of at least a dozen teams with post-season bowl ambitions.

The pressure has been building up all week throughout the South for the LSU-Mississippi showdown battle and a sellout crowd of 68,000 is assured for the night game at Tiger Stadium in Baton Rouge, La.

With the Southeastern Conference title and probably the national championship hanging on the outcome, the Bayou Tigers have been made slim one-point favorites to beat the Rebels as they did a year ago in a similar situation while on the way to a perfect season.

The game will bring together two of the nation's top backfield stars—All-America halfback Billy Cannon of LSU and Charlie Flowers, the Rebels' powerful fullback. But the deciding factor may be Wendell Harris, who has kicked field goals in five of six games for the Tigers this season.

The Air Force, playing a service academy rival for the first time, will be in New York for its meeting with Army. The West Pointers are six-point favorites to beat the Falcons before an anticipated sellout crowd of 70,000 in Yankee Stadium. Joe Caldwell, Army's long-throwing quarterback, is expected to mean the difference.

While second-ranked Northwestern, the Big Ten leader, is expected to romp over Indiana, the Wildcats' closest rivals will be tied up in key battles. Ninth-ranked Wisconsin is a 10-point favorite over Michigan. Purdue is a six-point pick over Illinois and Michigan State is a one-point favorite over Ohio State. Wisconsin, Purdue, Illinois and Michigan State are tied for second place in the Big Ten, which will produce one of the Rose Bowl teams.

Navy Gives Helping Hand To DeBary Woman

The Navy gave a helping hand to a stranger who needed it Wednesday.

Seven Navy men walked into Seminole County Hospital and gave their blood. They didn't know who was to receive it, only that someone needed their help.

C. T. Cloyd, a gunner's mate second class at the Sanford Naval Air Station was the one who informed the Navy men of the need. Cloyd, who lives in DeBary, learned that one of his neighbors, an elderly woman who is ill, needed blood.

Cloyd had just donated to the blood bank Monday and medical authorities would not allow him to donate again so soon. He told Chief Warrant Officer Ernie Smith about the woman as they rode to work and then informed the men in the Ordnance Shop at the Naval Air Station. All of them volunteered immediately and were soon on their way to the hospital.

When they were interviewed back at work in the afternoon, only one remembered the name of the woman who had received their blood. Their answers as to why they volunteered so quickly were almost identical, "I heard someone needed help. I wanted to go."

The seven donors were Ernie Smith, Harry D. King, Jack Erickson, Marvin Lester, Stanley Schrader, Charles Stout, and Leonard Zieller.

Sermon Series Planned By Church

Rev. William D. Timms, the pastor of the Ebenezer Methodist Church on the old Orlando Highway south of Sanford announces a series of sermons for the Sunday Morning Worship services on the subject, "Who is God?"

A songfest will be held Sunday evening beginning at 7:30. Several notable singers will be heard as soloists. The public is cordially invited.

ONE OF THE BRIGHTEST COMEDIES of the year will open at the Movieland Drive-In tomorrow. "A Hole in the Head" starring Frank Sinatra and Carolyn Jones will begin at the Drive-In tomorrow and continue until Wednesday.

'A Hole in the Head' Featured At Drive-In

Lone Survivor Of Mystery Air Accident Tells Of Crash

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Virginia (UPI) — One survivor was alive today to tell the fate of 25 victims of a plane crash in the rugged Blue Ridge Mountains. The plane, missing since Friday, was found Sunday. Ernest Phillip Bradley, spent 36 hours in the wreckage of the Piedmont airliner with the bodies of 26 others who were aboard the plane.

"I was getting close to a feeling of despair. I kept hollering and no one heard me," Bradley said he heard cars on a nearby highway and human voices and the screams of wildcats at night. He shouted to rescue planes and to the mute bodies of his companions in hopes at least one might be alive. He sat strapped and wedged in his airplane seat which he buried from the fuselage of the DC-3 with eight bodies that were thrown through the broken nose of the plane when it crashed Friday night. Bizzarris circled overhead. Bradley was unable to move because of a painfully dislocated hip. He had nothing to eat or drink but managed to keep warm with a coat and blanket he fished from the fuselage with a stick. The wreckage, hidden beneath overhanging trees, was not found until Sunday morning. Even then Bradley, a union organizer from Clifton Forge, Va., thought the Army helicopter which hovered overhead had not seen the plane. A vast air-ground search which involved some 1,000 persons and a score of planes and helicopters ended when rescuers fought their way up a rough ice trail to the wreckage some 500 feet below the peak of a 2,500 foot mountain. The hunt started Friday night when the plane, en route from Washington to Roanoke, Va., vanished after radioing the Charlottesville Airport that it would land in 10 minutes.

Former Convict Admits Beating Deland Teacher

DELAND (UPI) — An ex-convict from Pittsburgh has confessed the robbery-beating of a Florida high school teacher who befriended him. It was reported today. The Missouri Highway Patrol disclosed that Edward Sterling Fisher, 29, signed a detailed statement in Kirkwood, Mo., admitting the attack on Paul H. Fisher, 52. Fuller was severely beaten on his head last Tuesday while sleeping at his home here. He regained consciousness over the weekend and was reported improved at the Orange Memorial Hospital at Orlando today.

The Missouri Highway Patrol arrested the suspect in Fuller's car on U. S. 66 near St. Louis Sunday. He was held in Kirkwood, a St. Louis suburb. Authorities from Volusia county were en route to Kirkwood today to return Fisher to Florida. Fisher said he was an unemployed laborer from Westminster, Md. The Highway Patrol said Fisher told this story in his statement: He met Fuller in DeLand Sunday and met him again following school Monday afternoon. He got the idea of robbing Fuller after the latter went to sleep Monday night. He took a heavy stick of firewood and struck the sleeping teacher once across the right side of the head. A short time later Fuller got up and sat on the edge of his bed holding his head. Fisher struck Fuller again on the head, and then several more times after the teacher slumped to the floor. Fisher took Fuller's ring and wrist watch and left in his car. He pawned the ring and wrist watch in Charleston, W. Va.

Casselberry Plant Safe Is Robbed

Burglars broke into the Johnson Electronics plant in Casselberry sometime Saturday night and stole an undetermined amount of cash from the safe, the sheriff's office reported today. Chief Deputy Jim Singletary said the work apparently was done by professionals. He said that the safe was "literally peeled off." Entry was gained through a back window. Officials of the firm and deputies still are investigating the break-in today. The theft was discovered this morning.

Probe Of NAACP To Be Resumed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Legislative Investigating Committee will resume its much-delayed probe into possible Communist infiltration of the NAACP Wednesday. Rep. The committee has subpoenaed four Miami NAACP leaders to testify and bring their records.

Suspect Caught

Bunnell authorities apprehended a Sanford Negro Saturday in connection with the theft of a truck from the parking lot of the Florida Precooling Co. on Laurel Ave. The man was identified as Chester Singletary, according to the sheriff's office.

Police Hunt Ex-Daytona Officer On Ticket Fraud

SOUTH DAYTONA (UPI) — A state attorney said he would file formal charges today against two former police chiefs accused of giving phony traffic tickets to tourists and keeping the money. Mealmine, police from Florida to Illinois are looking for one of the suspects, Edward S. Collalti, who authorities say skipped town when the alleged racket came to light. Collalti and C. H. Futch were accused Saturday of bilking numerous out-of-state motorists with the bogus tickets. The present police chief, Donald Patton, said he had no idea how much money the two got. The alleged scheme was uncovered by a former Connecticut state policeman, Stephen Howell of Fairfield, Conn., who became suspicious when he got a $20 amount that was not numbered. His letters to the governor touched off an investigation which led to the charges State Atty. W. W. Judge said he would file in circuit court today. At the time of the alleged racket, Futch was chief of police and Collalti was a patrolman. Later Futch was asked to resign for insubordination and Collalti took over as chief for about a month. Officials said Collalti was reported en route to Rockford, Ill., where he works for lives.

'Mild' Halloween Celebrated Here

City and police officials today are shaking their heads in happy wonderment over the mild Halloween here in Sanford. "It was the quietest Halloween I've seen in five years," said City Manager Warren Knowles. Police officials were equally jubilant, with only a normal number of complaints with no serious damage done to private or public property in the city limits. A check of police records this morning revealed reports of firecrackers going off Saturday night, a few store windows chipped up, some broken bottles on door steps and other minor acts of vandalism. But all-in-all one of the most quiet Halloween nights in Sanford on record. There were a few odd events. A man walked into a restaurant on Park Ave. and ordered "the best steak in the house and a cup of coffee," according to the police report. The waitress brought the steak and coffee. The man promptly drank his coffee, laid a nickel on the counter and walked out. The steak was not touched.

Board Accepts Court's Decision

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — The Virginia Pupil Placement Board, threatened with a federal court contempt citation, agreed today to the assignment of four Negroes to previously white schools in Norfolk. It marked the first time the board, last remnant of the state's old "massive resistance" doctrine, had approved integration after making thousands of classroom assignments on a strictly segregated basis. The three-member board was told last month in a hearing before Federal Judge Walter E. Hoffman it would be cited with contempt if it failed to approve the four transfer requests.

Nine Die On Roads

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The State Patrol today reported at least nine deaths on Florida roads and highways during the past weekend.

Quiz Show Was Rigged, Van Doren Testifies

Even Had A Script, He Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charles Van Doren admitted today that his 14 money-winning TV quiz show appearances were rigged—even to the point of following a script written in advance. Van Doren, who won $129,000 on the now defunct "21" show, told a House subcommittee that Producer Albert Freedman supplied him with questions, and with some of the answers, before each of his appearances. "I have deceived my friends, and I had millions of them," Van Doren said, dry-eyed and somber. The 33-year-old Columbia University English instructor thus publicly abandoned for the first time his protestations of innocence.

He opened his testimony by reading in a low, steady voice a prepared statement telling his experiences on "21." Some 600 persons packed the hearing room. Testifying under subpoena, the one-time "quiz whiz" said a friend first suggested that he ask to appear on "The Tac Dough," a show which, like "21," was produced by Dan Enright and Jack Barry. Van Doren said he easily passed the first examination for "The Tac Dough." Then he took a second test which was much longer and more difficult. He said he was called the next week and told he had been chosen for "21."

This, he said, was "supposedly an honor." Van Doren said he was instructed in the rule, "By, I think, Dan Enright." He testified that before he got on the show, Freedman called him to his apartment. They had a conversation in the bedroom about the then champion, Herb Stempel. Van Doren said Freedman told him Stempel was "unbeatable because he knew too much." Even though Stempel was unpopular, he quoted Freedman, he continued to win.

Van Doren said Freedman then asked if "as a favor to him I would agree to an arrangement" to tie with Stempel when he appeared on the show. Van Doren said he asked to appear honestly, but Freedman said that wouldn't work, that Stempel would beat him.

Freedman, he said, explained that the show was "merely entertainment and giving help to contestants was a common practice." Van Doren said that "foolishly and wrongly" and after an "intense moral struggle," he persuaded himself that he should go along. Before the show, he said, he received a list of questions that would be asked. He said he could answer many of them. But he said Freedman was dissatisfied with his answers, and coached him on how to hesitate how to skip some answers, and gave him other acting hints.

Van Doren said Freedman also gave him a script to memorize before the show and that Freedman rehearsed with him. On the first show, Van Doren tied Stempel three times. The second time they were pitted against each other, Van Doren beat Stempel—according to the script. Van Doren said the same pattern was followed on the next 12 programs, with Freedman reading questions to him in advance. Sometimes, he said, Freedman gave him the answers in questions he didn't know. But when there was time, he liked to look them up for himself. Van Doren said he finally could no longer stomach the arrangement.

"I didn't know what to do or where to turn and frankly I was very much afraid," he said. He begged Freedman to let him go off the show. In January 1957 Freedman agreed, with the provision that "I had to be defeated in a dramatic manner," Van Doren said. Eventually, he was beaten by Vivienne Neasing.

Reds To Send 2 To Moon, Italian Agency Claims

ROME (UPI) — The Soviet Union will attempt to send two men to the moon aboard a space station on the Nov. 7 anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, the Italian agency Continental said Sunday. In a dispatch dated Prague, the agency, which specializes in Communist affairs, claimed it obtained the information from usually well informed sources. The agency said the two men who will be in the space station were picked from a number of volunteers who knew their chances of return to earth were slim.

Government Enters Steel Talks Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government re-entered steel negotiations today in an effort to end the 111-day-old strike. There seemed to be little chance for an early settlement. United Steelworkers' President David J. McDonald, arriving for sessions with federal mediators, made it plain he felt nothing would come of the talks unless top steel company executives attended.

County Votes On Reapportionment, School Trustees; City On Council Post

Seminole County voters go to the polls starting at 7 a. m. tomorrow to vote on a reapportionment issue that has the backing of the county legislative delegation, a city council post, school board millage and three school trustee posts. Indications are that the voting will be tight among the 12,500 eligible voters in the county. Mrs. Camille Bruce, supervisor of registration for Seminole county said today she had received 22 absentee ballots. Of interest to Sanford voters will be the election of a city commissioner as incumbent Merle Warner is being opposed by J. H. Jimmy Crapps.

Warner has served with the commission for three terms. Crapps, vice president of the Hill Lumber and Supply Co., has been active in civic affairs and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Anyone wishing to vote in the city election must cast their ballots in City Hall. Senator Douglas Stenstrom and Representatives Mack Cleveland Jr. and Gordon Frederick have urged the county voters to back the controversial reapportionment issue as "it will mean a great deal to the county."

Where To Vote

- Precinct polling places in tomorrow's election:
- No. 1—Sanford, 116 S. French Ave.
- No. 2—Lake Monroe School.
- No. 3—Sanford, canning kitchen located on 25th St. near Sanford Ave.
- No. 4—Paola, Wilson School.
- No. 5—Oviedo, Town Hall.
- No. 6—Geneva, Community House.
- No. 7—Chuluota, in the old school building.
- No. 8—Goldenrod, Community Building.
- No. 9—Longwood, Town Hall.
- No. 10—Lake Mary, Presbyterian Church Annex.
- No. 11—Altamonte Springs, Community House.
- No. 12—Forest City, Mrs. Hodges' home.
- No. 13—Slavia, St. Luke's Christian Day School.
- No. 14—Fern Park, Prairie Lake Legion Building.
- No. 15—Sanford, National Guard Armory on First St.
- No. 16—Bear Lake, Florida Power Lounge.

All three stressed the point that if the amendment passes, the county will have its own senator rather than sharing a Senator with Brevard County. In the school election, residents will vote on acceptance of the school board's recommended eight mill tax levy and two mills for the building and bus reserve fund. They also will vote on three incumbents to school trustee posts, R. F. Cooper, Jim Birkenmeier and Roy Mann who are running unopposed. The polling places will close at 7 p. m.
