SANFORD - Louis Rotundo remembers when the Veterans Parade was three times as long as it was Tuesday and the streets of the city lined with people.

Rotundo, who'll be 92 in December, used to be in charge of Sanford's Veterana Day parade. Tuesday, Rotundo was an observer. He and Dorie Rotundo brought along a couple lawn chairs and watched the program at Memorial

He wore a 51-year-old, blue Dinabled Veterans Cap and a spiffy white shirt. Both Louis and Dorts stood at attention to salute each of the units that passed in the parade and again when colors were posted by the National Guard Company B 2nd Battalion.

Commission opens door for controversial development

SANFORD - After nearly five hours of public opposition, the Sanford City Commission on Monday approved by a 3-2 vote a land use change that will allow a developer to build a 636-unit apartment complex.

Voting in favor of the amendment were Mayor Larry Dale and commissioners Brady Lessard and Velma Williams. Opposing the measure were commissioners Whitey Eckatein and Kerry Lyons.

Wallace Devlin Jr., the developer of the proposed Twin Lakes Project, had requested about two months ago an amendment to Sanford's comprehenatve plan regarding a 50-acre site between

Originally, Devito had proposed an 850-unit complex. however in response to realdenta' strong objections, lowered that number and agreed to a density of 12.5 units per acre in the southem portion of the tract and 16.4 units in the northern part.

in the standing room only commission chamber, residents of the Hills of Lake Mary and Kaywood aubdivisions, located adjacent to the proposed site, offered a wide range of views. & Auditary in Sanford

There were 300 or so parade participants said Dan Johnson, president of the D. Duke Woody Branch 147 Fleet Reserve Association, that was the host organization for this year's parade and program. Half that number witnessed the event, many coming from the City Hall building or County Courthouse.

If the numbers were down, there was no lack of enthusiasm or pride by those who did participate, Sandy Cass, president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10108 Auxiliary, huddled with the women in the group almost an hour before the parade.

Cass was a Radioman Third Class in the Navy from 1952 to 1955 during the Korean War period. She said she served in Jacksonville and at Bainbridge, Md. Her husband, Norman, was a Master Sergeant in the Air Force and is now president of the VFW Post 10108.

Sadly, there are towns that have ceased holding Veterans Day parades. For the first time in 51 years, Vero Beach had no parade this year. The soldiers from that town had become too old to walk the route which is little more than a mile long. Many were in their 80s and could not carry the heavy flags they did 20 years ago.

Joining the veterans were JROTC troops. Crooms Academy, Seminole High School and Lake Mary High School each had units in Sanford's parade. The Seminole County Sheriffs Office Honor Guard participated, too.

This was Larry Dale's first Veterans Day as mayor of the city, an oversight in the fourpage program distributed at Memorial Park. Dale spoke briefly. "I'm very proud to be here," he said. This is a good reminder that freedom is not free, that it is something our veterans had to fight for. It should not be taken for granted.

Dale, 49, proclaimed this Veterans Appreciation week in Sanford, and during a visit with Louis and Doris Rotundo, he said, "I regret more than ever the fact that I did not serve in the military."

Leo Salvail, 82, a Navy pilot in the Philippine Islands in World War II and a 24-year veteran who has been in Sanford since 1951, marched proudly with the 147 Fleet Reserve unit on Tuesday. He came to the parade after attending the 8 a.m. Mass at All Souls Catholic Church.

"On a day like this you remember in thought and prayers all those who flew missions. with you - most of them gone now but a few like myself still around," he said. There are veterans who are hurting today, veterans who are homeless. I prayed for them today. I prayed that they will not be

Kudos, Sanford Fire Department

Are you satisfied with the service you are receiving from your fire department, Sanford?

The Sanford Herald would like to be the first respondent to this question with an affirmative answer.

We recently learned firsthand how well our firefighters respond and handle the calls they receive. Although our specific incident was only a small electrical fire which caused a smoldering air conditioning duct, the department responded with several units and personnel in a matter of

Of course, when it comes to an emergency, fire departments are expected to answer the call quickly. That's their job. The ensuing actions of our local firefighters are the reason we wish to offer our deepest thanks.

Once they were on the scene, Lt. Doug Luce spoke with representatives of our office in a professional, calm manner and dispatched his personnel according to the needs of the moment.

Luce and Battalion Chief Jim Poovey, who arrived later, constantly advised us of their strategy to handle the situation as it evolved and made sure we understood how their actions would affect the contents of our building.

The only thing worse than fire for rolls of newsprint is water. Thanks to the Sanford unit, however, neither element came in contact with our paper inventory or press. In fact, the fire corps made every effort to extinguish the burning duct without water. When it became apparent only a shot from a fire hose could remedy the problem, we were advised and steps to protect our contents were taken.

There were no cavalier firefighters dousing everything that smoked with torrents of water. Nor were there any of the ax-happy butchers dismantling our building which Hollywood often portrays. What we saw were men and women attacking a problem calmly and quickly.

They are definitely an asset to our community and a testament to the department's training and leadership. Thank you for answering our call.

only to their mother, was exactly right. I would like to add my own

I am the oldest daughter of eight children. When any of us called home and my sad answered the phone, he would barely say. Helio, how are you?" before passing the phone to my mother. When we visited, he'd sit and watch the ballgame while we talked with Mom and filled her in on all our news. If we became too loud, he'd comment on our "yakking," just like "Good Old Dad." Although we loved him, we were never able to have a meaningful conversation with our father.

Then about 10 years ago, my mother convinced Dad — against his better judgment - to take a course in self-awareness. I received a phone call from him shortly after he completed the course, and we actually talked for about 10 minutes! He asked me questions, listened to my answers and spoke about himself. When I hung up the phone, tears were streaming down my face. My husband couldn't believe it was my father I had been talking to.

After that, Dad made it a point to call all of his children and ask how they were doing. He also spent a little time with us when we visited. We grew much closer and discovered we really enjoyed each other's company.

Dad passed away a few years ago, and I am so grateful to him for reaching out so we could have some time together before it was too late. Abby, please tell "Good Old Dad" that his daughters are dying to be close to him. He should call them at home or take them to lunch and build a relationship with them outside the mother-daughter loop. It may be a little awkward at first, but it will be well worth it.

KAREN CLARK, HOLLAND, PA.

DEAR KAREN: Yours is an important message. To dads everywhere (and it is usually dads who do this): If this sounds like you, please take the time and get to knew your children. You and they will to richer for the experience.

Medhanie's layup keeps SCC women undefeated

SANFORD A win is a win is a

It was not a thing of beauty, but the Seminole Community College women's basketball team stretched its unbeaten string to four games as Izzy Medbanie hit a driving baseline layup with six seconds left as the Raiders nipped St. Petersburg Community College 65-83 at the BCC Health and Physical Education Center Tuesday night.

The Raiders, fresh off 82-45 and 102-30 wins in a tournament at Central Florida Community College this past weekend, appeared to be lethargic and a step slow most of the game.

"It was Tony's (assistant coach Tony Mandeville) fault," kidded SCC head coach Ken Patrick. "He's the defensive coach.

"No, we just didn't rebound to-night," added Patrick. "We are not that agreeate on the boards and I don't know if you can teach a team

But Mandeville was not in a kidding mood.

"It was one of the worst performances I've ever seen," said Mandeville, "We didn't rebound. you've got to anticipate a missed shot if you are going to rebound and we didn't do that tonight."

The Raiders are now 4-0 on the season and will continue a threegame homestand Thursday night at 6 p.m. against Hillsborough Com-mainty College from Tamps. The final game will be at 2 p.m. on Sunday afternoon against Mismi-Dade Community College, Admission to all home games at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center are free of charge

Sweep gives Paul's women's softball title:

From Staff Reports

SANFORD _ With the title on the line. Paul's Auto and Truck Repair rose to the occasion.

Through three-and-a-half innings of its battle with Vivona's in the Sanford Recreation Department Women's Fall Slowpitch Softball League at Chase Park Tuesday night, the game was tied at 2-2.

Paul'a Auto and Truck Repair then used backto-back doubles by Melisag Lanza and Cathy Carosone to score three runs and went on to score five runs in the bottom of the fourth inning to take a lead it would not relinquish.

Paul's Auto and Truck Repair added four more runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to take what appeared to be an insurmountable 11-2

But Vivona's did not go quietly as it scored a single run in the sixth inning and plated four more runs in the top of the seventh inning. But that was as close as it would get as Paul's Auto and Truck Repair held on for an 11-7 triumph. But that victory was not enough as Paul's Auto and Truck Repair also needed a win over the Nightmares to clinch the championship.

Paul's Auto and Truck Repair put a six-spot on the board in the bottom of the south inning to make things less tense, but the Nightmares made a game of it, closing to within 10-7 in the top of the fifth inning and 14-11 in the top of the sixth inning, but Paul's Auto and Truck Repair was just too strong, holding on for a 15-12 title-clinching victory.

In the games at Pinehumt Park, Today Homes did all that it could to keep its hopes alive as it of the first, second and third innings and rolling to a 15-2 thrashing of Insurance World.

In the other game, the Sharks took a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning and never trailed as they moved within a game of third place with a 19-7 whipping of Vaughan Incorporated.

Paul's Auto and Truck Repair has finished its season with a 10-2 record, while Today Homes has also carned at least a tie for second place with a 9-3 record. Third place is still up for grabs as Vivona's is 8-3 and the Sharks are 7-4. Vaughan Incorporated will finish fifth with a 4-9 record, while insurance World and the Nightmares are both 1-10.

The league will conclude its season with a pair of games at Pinehurst Park next Tuesday night. At 7 p.m. Insurance World and the Nightmares will square off in a battle for sixth place, while at 8 p.m., the Sharks will challenge Vivona's. If Vivona's wins, they will tie Today Homes for second plus, but if the Sharks win, they will tie Vivona's for third place.

Chronic cough may have many causes

DEAR DR. GOTT: For use years, have coughed almost continuously. My doctor took a chest X-ray and to me that I have chronic brenchitis which there is no cure. Also, I have occasional hearthurn. My only medi-cine is Vasetee, for high blood pressure. I am Absolutely worn out. Can

DEAR READER: I hope so. There are at least four possible causes for your cough. First, your doctor has diagnosed chronic bronchitis. In simple terms, this is an ongoing inflammation in your bronchial tubes. The inflamma-tion releases mucus, which makes you cough. Chronic bronchitis is comm in cigarette amokers and in people who live or work in areas with signifi-cant air pollution.

I don't agree with your doctor that this ailment is incurable. Chronic bronchitis usually responds to antibi-otic treatment — and, of course, discontinuation of smoking. Avoiding air pollution is a more difficult challenge.

Second, your hearthurn may reflect a common intestinal condition called "reflux," the backwash of stomach acid into the esophagus. Reflux can lead to chronic cough, as well as to digestive symptoms. In my opinion, you should have an upper GI series (special X-rays of your stomach).

Third, you have been prescribed Vasotec, which, in about 10 percent of users, can cause a troublesome, dry cough. Ask your doctor to substitute a different medicine to control your blood pressure. If the Vasoiec is to blame, you'll stop coughing within a couple of weeks.

Pourth, your hypertension may have damaged your heart, resulting in congestive heart failure. Mild forms of this affliction may cause only cough, without the breathlessness that accompanies more severe forms. Your doctor may choose to order a cardiac ultrasound exam to assess your heart's function.

As you can see, your physician has his work cut out for him. I believe that the cause (or causes) of your cough can be diagnosed through further testing, and — now the good news — the diseases I mentioned are all treatable, even curable. Let me know what the testing reveals.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 78 years old and for the past few months have experienced uncontrollable attacks of sneezing every morning for about 15 minutes. My doctor can find nothing to be concerned about, but I am curious as to the cause.

DEAR READER: As a general rule, sneezing is one of the ways the body responds to inhaled irritants such as pollen, mold spores, smog and so forth. Although not a health bazard. periodic sneezing probably indicates that there is something in your environment to which you are allergic. Ask your doctor to refer you to an

DEAR DR. GOTT: Many states ove such eigeratic makers. Why are abore of alcohol not being sued?

DEAR READER: A good question, especially when you consider the formous amount of death, disease and injury associated with alcohol

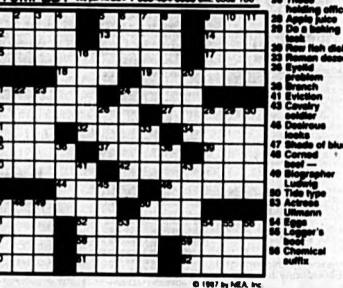

One reason that brewers, distillers and vintners aren't sued may be that atterneys enjoy their evening cock-tails and wine with dinner.

I'm just kidding, am I not?

I don't know the answer to your question, but I'd welcome responses from readers who may have opinions on the matter.

Bridge for dummies — and declarers

By Phillip Alder

Finally, a beginner's book with modern bidding methods has hit the book-stores: "Bridge for Dummies" by Eddie Kantar (IDG Books).

runs through all aspects of the game and then some. Actually, I think that the book is too long, running just over 400 pages. If you know everything covered, you are already the secondor third best player at your club. However, if you take it slowly, playing as much as you can with friends, you will learn a sound game by keeping this book at your elbow.

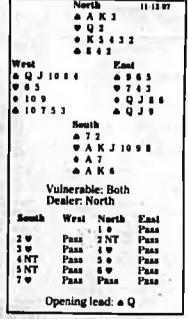

Two final points: The publishers have used stylized clones of real cards: a very bad idea, to my mind.

And there are so many errors that an errata sheet has been produced.

Kantar starts with card play, then goes on to bidding. In this deal from the book, you are in seven hearts. With only 12 top tricks (two spades, six hearts, two diamonds and two clubs), the 13th will have to come from dummy's diamond suit. But you are short of dummy entries. Win with dummy's spade king, play a diamond king, and ruff a diamond in hand. Lead a trump to dummy's queen, ruff another diamond in hand, draw trumps, play a spade to dummy's ace, and cash the established diamond five, on which you discard the losing club six. Your first grand slam no less!

The book is available for $19.93. postpaid and autographed, from the author at 2700 Nielson Way, Apt. 334, Santa Monica, CA 90405.
