Games Panel Seeks Diving Champ For Honorary Chairman

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Dr. Samuel "Sammy" Lee, U.S. high dive champion in the 1948 and 1952 Olympics, may be the honorary chairman for the 1986 Golden Age Games, the Games Executive Committee was told Tuesday.

Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce President Jack Horner said Lee, a surgeon, was contacted last year and expressed interest but had to decline because he had another commitment. Horner said Lee said he would like to do it this year, but he has not yet been in touch with him to reconfirm his coming here for this year's Games.

With the successful 1985 Games behind them, committee members are now focusing on plans for the 12th annual senior citizen event scheduled for Nov. 10-15 in Sanford.

Some of the changes proposed by Games General Chairman Jim Jernigan for this year's games include eliminating the Fallen Arches Parade that has kicked off the week's activities for the past several years; adding a sports medicine clinic for senior athletes to be sponsored by the Central Florida Regional Hospital; cutting the six-mile mini-marathon to four miles; and having a double elimination tournament for table tennis to allow participants more chances to play.

Participants are also getting anxious for the big event. Even though the entry forms for 1986 are not yet printed, one eager 67-year-old golfer from Casselberry has already sent in his entry for the golf tournament. It was received on Feb. 14 on a

Search Resumes For Boater

Seminole County sheriff's deputies resumed searching today for 62-year-old Claud Garland of Titusville who is believed to have drowned in Lake Harney after a boating accident Monday.

Garland and his brother, Hugh Garland, 53, who was in satisfactory condition today at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, had been fishing from a boat that capsized about 4 p.m., Seminole County sheriff's deputies reported. The younger brother was rescued following a harrowing 12 hours in the cold, choppy, lake water.

The brothers clung to the boat until about midnight when Hugh Garland, of Swartz Creek, Mich., told sheriff's deputies, his brother slipped under the water. Hugh Garland was rescued about four hours later after a woman who lives on the lake shore in the Genesee area heard his cries for help and called deputies.

Hugh Garland was found clinging to the boat, deputies said.

Tuesday Seminole and Volusia county sheriff's deputies and firefighters searched the lake for the missing brother, with assistance from divers and a helicopter.

Claud Garland is believed dead and sheriff's deputies said today that the cold temperature of the water may delay the surfacing of the body.

President Aquino: The Long Agony Is Over

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Corazon Aquino, saying she would be "magnanimous in victory," announced her Cabinet today and said she would not seek the extradition of exiled former President Ferdinand Marcos.

"We are so proud to be Filipinos precisely because millions of Filipinos risked their lives only to regain our rights and freedoms," Aquino said in her first news conference as president.

"All the world saw and recorded people who knelt in the paths of oncoming tanks," she said. Marcos took off in an American C-9 Nightingale medical evacuation plane from the U.S. Clark Air Base today and flew to Guam.

His wife, Imelda, loyal armed forces chief Gen. Fabian Ver, their families and aides departed in two separate aircraft, also bound for Guam.

U.S. officials said the ailing former president was carried onto the aircraft on a stretcher but when he arrived in Guam he got off the plane unassisted.

Asked if she would ask the United States for Marcos' extradition, she said, "I can be magnanimous in victory and I would like to show by example the sooner we can forget our hurts the sooner we can start rebuilding the our country."

Aquino also announced 17 appointments to her Cabinet and other high-level posts that included the reappointment of Juan Ponce Enrile, Marcos's defense minister, for a new term.

Enrile with then-Deputy Armed Forces Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Fidel Ramos, led the revolt against the Marcos regime Saturday.

Aquino also appointed former senator Jovito

Lease Violated, Mercer Charges

Mayfair Golf Course To Get City Scrutiny

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Longtime dufer John Mercer is using his position as Sanford City Commissioner to hold a club over the Mayfair golf course, which he contends has violated its lease with the city and is driving members from its greens.

Mayor Bettye Smith said she has heard from 35 to 40 members and ex-members during the past year who complained about the treatment they received at the club and "it appears management is trying to run people away."

Mercer said the club has failed to comply with lease stipulations which call for a five year improvement program that is to be completed next month.

He said the club "has one of the worst practice ranges I've ever seen," and Mayfair operator Jack Daniels has failed to implement the tree plantings and improved food services called for in the lease.

Commissioners on Monday night scheduled a workshop for March 10 with Daniels. If commissioners direct Daniels to bring the course up to par and he fails to do so, the city could then pursue measures to invalidate his 67-year lease, said City Attorney William Colbert.

According to Mayor Smith, the meeting will provide opportunity "for us to finally clear the air. I've gotten a lot of complaints about the club and I think it's time for the commission to determine whether there are serious problems."

According to Daniels, however, the commission's concerns are "unfounded" and he can back up his position "with all the necessary documentation."

"I've put a fortune into the club and it's never been better," he said.

He also told the Evening Herald, "I'm putting you on notice. I'm going to be at the (March 10) meeting and have all my ducks in a row."

Mayor Smith, however, said she feels. "There are a significant number of concerns to warrant the session [with Daniels]."

She also said the comments made to her regarding staff's attitude at the course "might very well tie into" Mercer's allegation that the lease is being violated.

Colbert recommended the meeting as a way for commissioners to discuss their concerns with Daniels regarding the club's operation before determining if measures will be taken to nullify the lease.

Following the session, the city could bring suit to invalidate the lease if commissioners "conclude there are problems" and Daniels fails to amend them within a specific amount of time, Colbert said.

He suggested a 30 or 60 day compliance period if commissioners collectively determine that Daniels is in violation.

Mercer said he had played the

Lightning Awareness Day Brings Safety Tips

By Sarah Fischer
Herald Staff Writer

If your mother ever told you not to take a bath or talk on the phone during a thunderstorm, then she gave you some pretty good advice.

In fact, those are much the same tips the national weather service is offering today during lightning awareness day in Florida.

"Florida is the lightning capital of the U.S.," Seminole County Disaster Preparedness Coordinator Harry Pinkman said.

From 1959-1985, lightning caused 259 deaths, 699 injuries and almost $22 million in damage, according to national weather service statistics.

In Seminole County, lightning accounted for two deaths and 17 injuries in the last 26 years.

Any thunderstorm can produce fatal lightning bolts, however, unlike most weather phenomena, specific lightning warnings are not issued by the national weather service, Pinkman said.

Persons struck by lightning receive a severe electrical shock and may be burned, but they carry no electrical charge and can be handled safely, he said.

A person "killed" by lightning can often be revived by prompt mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, cardiac massage and prolonged artificial respiration, Pinkman said. In a group struck by lightning the "apparently dead" should be treated first, while those who show vital signs will probably recover spontaneously although burns and other injuries may require treatment, he said.

Recovery from non-fatal lightning strikes is usually complete except for possible impairment or loss of sight or hearing, Pinkman said.

When thunderstorms are occurring, or skies become threateningly dark, the following safety rules should be observed, he said:

- Stay indoors and don't venture outside unless absolutely necessary

- Stay away from open doors and windows, fireplaces, radiators, stoves, metal pipes, sinks and plug-in electrical appliances

- Don't use plug-in electrical equipment such as hair dryers, electric tooth brushes or electric razors during the storm. Turn off the television set

- Don't use the telephone during the storm. Lightning may strike telephone lines outside

- Don't try to take laundry off the clothesline

- Don't take a bath or shower during the storm

NASA Officials To Get Their Turn

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three NASA officials were called before the Rogers Commission today to answer charges that they criticized a recommendation from the shuttle booster rocket builder to delay Challenger's launch.

Engineers from Morton Thiokol Inc. told the presidential panel Tuesday that the challenge from the space agency rocket managers led company officials to approve the launch despite unanimous dissent from Thiokol's engineering staff.

Attending the crucial launch eve conference for NASA were Lawrence Mulloy, manager of the booster rocket project office at the Marshall

Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., George Hardy, deputy director of science and engineering at Marshall, and Stan Reinartz, manager of the shuttle projects office at Marshall.

During the 6½-hour hearing Tuesday, commission members repeatedly sought clarification of the reasons four company vice presidents eventually approved the launch.

"I think the problem is it's not convincing," said chairman William Rogers.

Robert Lund, Thiokol vice president for engineering, said NASA's objections put the company in the unique position of trying to justify its stand by proving the solid propellant rocket motors would fail.

"We were unable to do that," said. "We couldn't prove absolutely the motor wouldn't work."

The concern of the Thiokol engineers was that the record cold spell at Cape Canaveral might harden the crucial O-ring seals in rocket segment joints to the point they might fail to prevent the escape of 5,900-degree gases.

The engineers argued against launching Challenger in temperatures lower than 53 degrees — the coldest conditions in which a shuttle had flown previously. It was

Brian Harris, of Arch W. Roberts and Co., financial consultant for the Seminole school board, begins to verify bids Tuesday using a computer to triple check the calculations.

Trust Company Wins Bid To Finance School Bond Issue

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

The School Board of Seminole County is in the money — or will be by March 19 — when the transfer of nearly $15 million is made from Chicago based Northern Trust Company and Associates to the district. The board awarded the company their bid to finance the first portion of phase-one money as part of the district's $105 million bond issue.

Nine "money center banks" bid on the bonds, and Northern Trust won the bidding contest in a "photo finish" according to Arnold W. Schneider, representing Arch W. Roberts & Company, who is acting as the district's financial advisor on the bond issue.

Northern Trust's bid was an interest rate of 7.023 percent, just four-thousandths of a percent lower than runner-up Merrill Lynch, who bid an interest rate of 7.027 percent, according to Schneider, who along with Brian Harris calculated and certified all the bids received. Schneider said the interest rate came in below the 7.75 percent he had anticipated, and that the board should be pleased. The lower the interest rate, the lower the tax rate will be for residents in the county, he observed.

Accompanying all bids was a good faith check in the amount of $300,000. A total of $2.7 million in checks were on hand in the board's conference room Tuesday afternoon. Northern Trust's check was to be deposited later Tuesday, and the other checks will be returned.

Man Dies After Head-On Crash

A head-on collision killed one man and seriously injured another on Interstate-4 early today, according to a Lake Mary Police Department spokesman.

The accident occurred at about 12:20 a.m. in the east-bound lane of the highway, one mile west of Lake Mary Boulevard, the spokesman said.

Dead is Mairmon Knapp, 70, Ruskin. He was driving his 1985 Ford west-bound in the east-bound lane of the highway, when he struck head-on a 1979 Toyota being driven by 24-year-old Mark Nicholas, Orlando.

"Both cars were totaled. The front ends were just smashed," the spokesman said.

Knapp was helicoptered to Orlando Regional Medical Center, where he was reported in serious condition early today, according to police.

Knapp died shortly after surgery at 7:15 a.m., a hospital spokesman said. A cause of death had not been determined.

Nicholas was taken to South Seminole Community Hospital. A hospital spokesman said he was in serious condition in the intensive care unit suffering from facial injuries.

The crash remains under investigation. —Paul Schaefer

Cyanide Found In Tylenol Pill And In Dead Man's Body

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Medical examiners found traces of cyanide in the body of a man who had been dead for days before being discovered and also in a Tylenol capsule lying near the body.

Authorities refused to speculate on the cause of death of Timothy Green, 32, a bachelor who lived alone, pending the release of the autopsy results today.

Metro Police Homicide Detective Larry King said Tuesday night Green's body was found in his bed Sunday in Green's duplex apartment.

"He had been dead for three or four days," King said. King said Dr. Charles Harlan, the medical examiner, was conducting the autopsy. He said Harlan would not speculate on the cause of death.

King said a Tylenol capsule was found lying underneath Green's bed. He said the bottle was from batch No. APA 327.

4 Grammys For 'We Are World'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — "We Are the World," the all-star record that raised millions for starving Africans, capped 13 months of emotional and commercial success with four Grammys — including top honors as record of the year.

The charity record was defeated in the best album category by veteran rocker Phil Collins, who also collected two other Grammys at the 28th annual show Tuesday night. The British rock group Dire Straits picked up two awards.

A call to compassion that sold millions of records and raised public consciousness of world hunger, "We Are the World" also won Grammys for best song, pop group performance and short video.

Dire Straits won Grammys for best rock group performance for the single "Money for Nothing" and best engineered recording for the album "Brothers in Arms."

Gerber Agrees To Delay Lawsuit

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Faced with a $150 million lawsuit, state health officials have agreed to review Gov. Harry Hughes' order removing all Gerber strained peaches from Maryland stores.

In return, attorneys for Gerber agreed Tuesday to delay the federal lawsuit and present its case before a state health department hearing officer.

Hughes ordered the Gerber products pulled Sunday after state health officials confirmed the presence of glass shards in seven opened jars of strained peaches and one jar of Heinz baby food.

Gerber officials filed suit Monday charging that Hughes violated the company's constitutional rights, and had planned to seek an injunction Tuesday halting the removal order before the two sides worked out the compromise.

Affirmative Action War In Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration, carrying its fight against affirmative action to the Supreme Court, told the justices hiring and promotion goals or quotas foster discrimination rather than erase it.

William Bradford Reynolds, head of the Justice Department's civil rights division, presented the administration view Tuesday in oral arguments on two cases from Cleveland and New York challenging the constitutionality of affirmative action plans in those cities.

The cases involve one of the most important civil rights debates to reach the court in years — whether giving hiring and promotion preferences to minorities to rectify past discrimination tramples instead on the rights of whites. The court's decision, expected before summer adjournment, will affect cities that have adopted such plans.

Eastern, Texas Air Executives See Tough Negotiations Ahead

MIAMI (UPI) — The chairmen of Eastern Airlines and its suitor, Texas Air Corp., say they have a $674 million merger agreement that no bidder can thwart, but admit they still face difficult negotiations with Eastern's labor unions.

Eastern Chairman Frank Borman and Texas Air Chairman Frank Lorenzo, appearing together for the first time Tuesday, stopped short of saying they will force Eastern's 12,500 machinists to accept paycuts or layoffs.

"Eastern management has to clearly decide what makes sense," Lorenzo said. But he added that "It's my impression it is essential that Eastern get changes in its (machinists' union) contract."

Borman merely said "negotiations, I'm sure, will be tough."

Borman also disputed industry speculation that other carriers could top the Texas Air bid, saying "The deal is done."

Meek: Stop The 'Brain Drain'

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — State universities must establish partnerships with the public sector in order to survive a new era of funding cutbacks proposed under the Gramm-Rudman law, says state Sen. Carrie Meek.

Speaking at an affirmative action conference at the University of Florida Tuesday, Meek and state university system Chancellor Charles Reed said the partnerships will be necessary to continue the state's commitment to get qualified minority students.

"Don't let anyone fool you. There are a lot of qualified black students in Florida," said Meek, D-Miami. "Other colleges and universities outside this state are recruiting them and taking them away from our universities. We want to place a stop on this brain drain."

Study Cites Rise In Infant Deaths

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An increase in child abuse, teen pregnancy and lack of proper medical care — especially among blacks and the poor — is showing up as a decline in the health of American children and a rise in infant deaths, a public health group says.

The American Public Health Association, drawing findings from various health statistics, concluded there is no coordinated national effort to help suffering children or an effective way of monitoring health trends nationwide.

The "most disturbing" finding of the association is that death rates are rising for infants who survive the first month of life.

reversing a post-World War II trend, researcher Sharon Adams-Taylor told a news conference Tuesday. She said the Reagan administration has glossed over the statistics.

The association is a national organization of health professionals.

Arden Miller, of the University of North Carolina, which conducted the research, called current national efforts to provide care to disadvantaged mothers and children "a jerrybuilt system of compromises" without specific policy recommendations.

"Our policy recommendations would be that we need to do more than we are doing," he said. "This country spends a smaller proportion of its gross national product or welfare programs than almost any other country in the Western World."

"Circumstances surrounding the birth and growth of children are undergoing rapid change," the association report said, and the "social supports and health services available for children are exceedingly variable from one part of the country to another" and from one population group to another.

The proportion of U.S. women receiving late or no prenatal care has increased by 10 percent since 1980. Blacks are more than twice as likely as whites to receive late or no prenatal care, the report found.

Georgia Disputes $2.5 Million Award

ATLANTA (UPI) — The state Attorney General's office filed a motion for a new trial in the case of a former University of Georgia professor, claiming the punitive damages awarded were excessive.

Attorney General Mike Bowers filed the motion Monday, saying the award to Jan Kemp was so high as to "shock the conscience of the court."

In a second motion, Bowers asked U.S. District Judge Horace Ward for a stay of the original $2.5 million judgment against two University of Georgia administrators, Drs. Leroy Ervin and Virginia Trotter, pending a new trial.

At a news conference, Bowers said he filed the second motion because lawyers for Kemp had indicated they intended to try to seize the assets of Ervin and Trotter.

The attorney general said in his motion that Ervin and Trotter were "now personally liable to pay the judgment" and asserted the verdict was against the two defendants in their personal capacities, not against the state.

Bowers denied that in alleging Ervin and Trotter and not the state were responsible for paying the damages, that state officials were abandoning the pair and leaving them to pay the award.

"The size of the award is our main concern," he said.

He also said his office currently is conducting an investigation of "the maladministration of the university's development studies program."

Kemp, fired from the university's remedial English program, was awarded $2.5 million — including $2.3 million in punitive damages, a sum Bowers said was excessive. He outlined five grounds in asking the U.S. District Court for a new trial.

"Punitive damages in the amount of $2.3 million against two individuals in their personal capacities are so excessive as to shock the conscience of the court," Bowers' motion said.

In her lawsuit, Kemp maintained when she was fired by the university in 1982 her right to free speech was violated by Ervin, director of the university's remedial studies program and by Trotter, vice president for academic affairs. Kemp maintained that athletes and children of contributors to the university were given preferential treatment in courses.

A federal jury awarded Kemp nearly $80,000 in back pay, $200,000 for mental stress, $1.5 million in punitive damages from Trotter and $800,000 punitive damages from Ervin.

Florida Denies Ted Bundy Execution Stay

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court has denied a state of execution for Theodore Bundy, who is scheduled to die March 4 for the 1978 murders of two Florida State University sorority sisters.

The justices offered no explanation for the ruling, which was handed down Monday.

Bundy's lawyer said the appeal will be carried to the federal courts.

Bundy has already been moved to a special cell near the electric chair at the Florida State Prison at Starke.

He received separate death sentences in the Jan. 15, 1978 murders of Margaret Downan, 21, and Lisa Levy, 20, in their rooms at FSU's Chi Omega sorority house. Bundy received a third death sentence in the murder of Lake City schoolgirl Kimberly Diane Leach, 12, that same year.

According to court records filed by Nelson, the U.S. Supreme Court has scheduled a closed door conference in Bundy's case for March 7 — three days after Bundy is scheduled to die.

No stay has been issued in the case, and it was unclear why the hearing date was set.

Bundy filed a handwritten plea for a stay with the U.S. Supreme Court on Feb. 13. Justice Lewis F. Powell denied the stay, but said he would reconsider if Bundy found a lawyer.

Graham signed Bundy's death warrant on Feb. 5.

County Moves Ahead With Fluoridation Plans

By Sarah Fischer
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County is moving ahead with plans to fluoridate its water supply, while awaiting final word on a $119,600 grant it is seeking to pay for implementation of the program.

The county commission voted Tuesday to forward a letter containing final project cost estimates to the state public health dental program in order to receive the Florida fluoridation grant.

The grant consists of federal funds administered by the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

Cynthia Wright, administrative assistant with the county environmental services division, said the county is optimistic it will receive the money because the state has already given conditional approval by okaying preliminary cost estimates.

The county should hear official word on the grant within the next month or two, Ms. Wright said. Initially, four water systems will be included in the fluoridation program, including the Indian Hills, Consumer, Greenwood Lakes and Country Club plants, she said.

Some 7,600 customers served by those facilities could receive fluoridated water within six months, County Director of Environmental Services Jim Bible said.

The four plants were chosen because they are undergoing improvements and all are interconnected, Ms. Wright said.

The county's remaining five plants are also slated to be included in the fluoridation program. The county could apply for grant funding for those facilities within the next one to three years, she said.

County engineers have estimated the fluoridation program will cost $104,850 for equipment and installation and $4,250 for the first year's supply of fluoride, Ms. Wright said.

The grant will pay for equipment and fluoride supply for two years, she said. The county will go ahead with the program even if it does not receive the grant, using user fees and funds budgeted annually for capital improvements, Ms. Wright said.

Implementing the fluoridation program will not necessitate a rate increase, however the cost of the fluoride after two years would be passed on to water customers, she said.

Ms. Wright estimated the fluoride will cost the county $1.25 per household per year.

The county commission okayed the program by passing a resolution last August. In February of last year, the county sought citizen input on the project through a survey.

Thirty-two percent of the county's water customers responded to the poll, with 77 percent of those favoring the fluoridation program.

Historical Fair Starts Saturday

"A Day in the Past," the second annual Seminole County Historical Fair, will be held Saturday, April 26 at Seminole Community College. The fair is co-sponsored by the Seminole County Historical Commission, Seminole Community College, Seminole County Public Schools, and the community historical societies of Seminole County.

It will again be held in conjunction with the Social Studies Fair being held the same day on SCC campus, according to Alexander K. Dickson, chairman of the Seminole County Historical Commission.

Individuals or groups interested in helping with the planning or participating with historically oriented displays, demonstrations, presentations or entertainment should contact the Seminole County Historical Museum at 321-2489 Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT:

Snow and ice melted by a record winter heat wave gorged rivers and weakened mountainsides across the Northwest, unleashing a mud slide in Idaho that could keep the state's north-south highway closed for 10 days. In California, ravaged by storms and floods last week that killed 13 people and caused $319 million in damage, some 2,500 people in Yuba, San Joaquin and Lake counties were still unable to return home today because of high water. Gov. George Deukmejian said Tuesday he would ask the Legislature for $115 million in flood relief — in addition to the $43 million already committed. Meanwhile, a storm packing snow, freezing rain and rain prompted travelers advisories from Minnesota to Indiana. The storm was expected to push into the Ohio Valley today with heavy snow expected in Ohio and West Virginia. The heat wave in the West set 44 record highs in 11 states Tuesday, including readings of 74 in Denver and 70 in Boise, Idaho. Melting snow flooded river basins in Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Montana and Wyoming. More flooding was expected today along the Sun River in northwest Montana and in parts of Oregon, Idaho and Washington, and mud slides were possible in areas of the Pacific Northwest soaked by heavy rain earlier in the week. In Idaho, a wall of mud and rock 15 feet high Tuesday blocked U.S. 95 near Grangeville, forcing travelers from northern Idaho to detour to Oregon or Montana to reach Boise and other areas in the southern part of the state. Officials hoped to clear enough mud today to allow for local traffic, but the highway was expected to be closed to other traffic for a week to 10 days. In Boise County, a mountainous region just outside the city of Boise, about 600 people in one area and 75 in another were stranded after a mud slide late Monday closed a road that crews had worked 32 consecutive hours to clear. "But if nothing unusual happens, residents should be all right because they have all the essentials needed to survive," Boise County deputy Chuck Richards said Tuesday.

Rain and melted snow washed out a 250-foot-long strip of state Highway 22 east of Salem, Ore., in the central Cascades Tuesday. State highway crews said they hoped to build a detour in the next few days. The National Weather Service said the warm temperatures in the West resulted from unusually strong upper atmospheric conditions and predicted they would last for at least two more days.

AREA READINGS (8 a.m.): temperature: 43; overnight low: 39; Tuesday's high: 61; barometric pressure: 30.03; relative humidity: 79 percent; winds: SW at 5 mph; rain: None; sunrise: 6:53 a.m., sunset 6:24 p.m.

18-Year-Old Raped After Encounter At Bar

Seminole County sheriff's deputies have the name of a suspect who allegedly raped an 18-year-old Orlando woman who had been left with him by friends at a Club 436 near Altamonte Springs.

The incident reportedly occurred between 4:40 and 5:30 a.m. Tuesday. The woman said she went to the club with the man and two friends, who said they had to go home. When the woman tried to use a telephone the suspect, who was supposed to take her home, reportedly intervened and "physically moved" her to a nearby field where he held his hand over her mouth and raped her, a sheriff's report said.

After the alleged attack the woman went to a home on Jackson Street in Altamonte Springs, and reported the rape to sheriff's deputies. She was examined at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford.

Wekiva Springs Road #220. Longwood, between 9:30 and 11 a.m. The loss was reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies by Richard L. Gibson, 40, of 1317 Avenue De Rjos Toros, Winter Springs, who works for that company. The deposit bag was taken from a desk in the lobby, a sheriff's report said.

MUFFLER TO POT
A man stopped by Sanford police because his vehicle had a loud muffler has been arrested for possession of a small quantity of marijuana and cigarette rolling papers police reportedly spotted in his possession.

Police said the contraband was seen in the wrapper of a regular pack of cigarettes in the suspect's possession.

Thomas Lee Watson, 27, of 414 Edith Circle, Sanford, was arrested at 4:36 p.m. Monday on 16th Street. He has been released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court March 5.

BATTERED WIFE
A 28-year-old Sanford man has been charged by police with battery-spouse abuse after allegedly beating his wife.

Sanford police said Tammy Rash of 1220 Randolph St., told them, when they arrived at her home at about 11:40 p.m. Monday, that she had been battered during a dispute with her husband.

Larry Dean Rash, 28, was arrested at his home and has been released on $500 bond to appear in court March 5.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
Two vehicles parked at the home of Donald C. Rackerd Sr., 60 of 9436 Albermarle St., Altamonte Springs, were burglarized on Sunday or Monday. Sheriff's deputies reported tools and a tool box and an equalizer with a total value of about $320 were stolen.

A lawnmower worth $629 was stolen from the carport of Ruth E. Dye, 76, of 5129 Woodcrest Circle, Winter Park, on Sunday or Monday, sheriff's deputies reported.

From Dec. 31 through Jan. 1, about $400 was stolen from the till at Tenneco, 1900 Howell Branch Road, Maitland, according to a report manager James Cardinal of Fern Park, filed with sheriff's deputies Monday. A suspect has been named.

Two microwave ovens with a combined value of $750 were stolen from a home being built on lot 93 Hyde Park Drive, Winter Park, on Feb. 21 or 22. Sheriff's deputies reported the ovens belong to Harris American Homes of Winter Park.

GAS SPILL
A gas truck missed its target and the resulting spill left 15 gallons of gas in front of the pumps at the Joy Food Store, 2623 Orlando Drive, on Monday morning, a Sanford fire report said.

While assisting in the cleanup, firmen discovered the center island was operating with an illegal nozzle and told the owner to close it until it could be repaired, the report said.

JEWELRY THEFT
More than $30,000 in gold and silver jewelry was taken from a locked stall at the Sanford Village Flea Market, 1500 S. French Ave., between late Saturday afternoon and early Sunday morning, according to Sanford police. The merchandise belonged to vendor Andrew Guy, who told police it was worth $30,260, the report said. Police reported no sign of forced entry. Detectives are investigating.

ROADSIDE STUMBLE
A Sanford man who said he had fallen after "drinking all day" was found seated curbside on East 9th Street by firemen on Sunday, a Sanford fire report said.

The 58 year old man was in a "lethargic state" and had bruises on his head, but refused treatment or hospital transport, the report said.

The man's wife appeared on the scene and escorted her husband home, the report said.

Seminole County DUI Arrests

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

- David Anthony Pittman, 19, of 100 Moree Loop #18, Winter Springs, was arrested at 11:50 a.m. Saturday after his car was in an accident on U.S. Highway 17-92. He was also charged with driving with a suspended license.
- Virginia Lee Oakley, 28, of 170 Sorrento Circle, Winter Park, at 10:57 p.m. Saturday on 25th Street in Sanford after her car was seen weaving on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford. She was also charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana after a pot cigarette was reportedly found in her possession when she was being booked into jail.
- Ronald Gene Wettlaufer, 40, of 801 Laurel Ave., Sanford, at 2:57 p.m. Sunday, after his car failed to maintain a single lane on State Road 46, Sanford. He was also charged with driving with a suspended license.

—Earl Marshall Lee, 56, of 665 Riverview Ave., Sanford, at 2:15 a.m. Sunday after his car was seen weaving on Park Avenue in Sanford.

—Columbus Carswell, 54, of 17 Castle Brewer Court, Sanford, at 5:55 p.m. Sunday after his car was seen weaving on Airport Boulevard, Sanford.

—John Brian Pflug, 22, of DeLand, at 5:58 p.m. Sunday on Third Street in Sanford after his car reportedly hit a gas pump at the Joy station on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford.

—Loni Llewellyn Robillard, 23, of 521 Foothill Way E., Casselberry, was arrested at 2:53 a.m. Tuesday on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, after failing to maintain a single lane. Charges of driving with a suspended license were added.

Man Sentenced In Stolen Property Case

A Longwood man who pleaded guilty to four charges of trafficking in stolen property and initiating theft and trafficking, has been sentenced to a year of community control, a form of in-house arrest.

John Stuart Emerson, 42, of 450 Columbus St., was sentenced by Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Lefler who also ordered Emerson to fulfill several other requirements set down by the court or, failing to do so, spend a year in jail.

Emerson was arrested July 25 following a 4-month investigation by the Sanford Police Department.

Lefler ordered Emerson to serve 3 years probation, maintain full-time employment, pay a fine and other costs totaling $1,295, complete 125 hours of community service and return a television and microwave oven to the Sanford police in lieu of restitution.

According to sheriff's records, Emerson bought "stolen" goods on several occasions during a one-month period from a Seminole County sheriff's deputy working as an undercover agent for police.

The deputy made it clear to the suspect that the goods were stolen and the suspect purchased various items on several occasions at prices far below their worth. The transactions occurred at the State Farmers Market in Sanford, the report said.

Emerson also gave the deputy a shopping list of items he wanted which included televisions, microwave ovens and video recorders, according to the report. Transactions between Emerson and the deputy were recorded and photographed by police.

In other court action: —David Butler, 45, of 29 William Clark Court, Sanford, arrested Oct. 19 on charges of aggravated assault and carrying a concealed weapon. He was sentenced by Lefler to one year of probation and ordered to pay the Public Defender's office $300. Lefler also ordered Butler not to be on 13th Street in Sanford except when riding on it in a vehicle. He also ordered him not to enter a bar in the area. Butler's arrest came after he allegedly brandished a handgun in Tony's Bar, 12th Street, knocked over a man's beer, used abusive language and refused to leave, a police report said. The bartender and patrons told police they feared the man who allegedly threatened to kill them.

—Donald Farmer Jr., 28, of Winter Haven, arrested Sept. 29 on charges of possession of cocaine and marijuana. He was ordered by Lefler to serve 3 years probation, pay a $500 fine, court costs and complete 250 hours of community service. Farmer, and a codefendant who awaits disposition of her case, were arrested after a sheriff's deputy smelled marijuana wafting from their car while parked at Fern Park Station, Fern Park. A search of the suspects and the vehicle they were near turned up a small quantity of marijuana in Farmer's car and a small quantity of cocaine and drug related items in his possession. A razor blade and a straw with white powder on it were reportedly found in the woman's purse, a sheriff's report said.

—Charlott Robinson, 22, of P.O. Box 125, Oviedo, arrested May 15, 1984, after allegedly threatening an Oviedo policeman with a knife and pushing and shoving him. She was sentenced by Lefler to 2 years probation and 62 days in the county jail with credit for 62 days served. She was also ordered to pay the Public Defender's office $250. According to police reports, an officer responded to a disturbance call at 288 Geneva Drive where he heard someone screaming. He entered the house and found a woman holding a knife with a 6-inch blade. He ordered the woman out of the house. She continued to scream and reportedly warned him, "If you touch me, I'll cut you where it hurts." The woman struggled with the officer and shoved him as he tried to restrain and handcuff her, the report said.

Congress Must Agree To Cuts

The outline of a federal budget compromise is clear. But it will take concessions from the Congress, as well as from the White House. It is not clear that members of Congress are ready and willing to make the necessary concessions.

That is why it is absolutely essential that the automatic budget-cutting mechanism of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings amendment be kept in place, ready to slice across the board if necessary. It would be the worst way to reduce the budget deficit, crippling all programs alike and sparing none, without any priority. But it may be the only feasible way.

The alternative is compromise. Knowing Ronald Reagan's record as governor of California makes us confident that in the midnight hour he will be willing to raise taxes and cut defense, even though he swears now that he won't. He is a tough and skilled negotiator, experienced as head of the Screen Actors' Guild. He knows when to hold 'em and when to fold 'em.

The task of compromise is harder for the Congress, divided into two independent bodies, one dominated by the Democrats, the other by the Republicans, and both composed of independent members, each with his own parochial interests to defend. Each of them knows it is more popular to spend than to tax. Can they bring themselves to cut spending and raise taxes? Can they accept the discipline of fiscal responsibility?

The Reagan budget points the way, for openers. Nobody in the White House expects the Congress to swallow it whole. But some of the changes in domestic programs will have to be accepted, if there is to be a compromise that can escape the whirling knives of Gramm-Rudman-Hollings.

Since the president's budget message, the air has been filled with cries of alarm.

— Sell the Bonneville Power Administration? Congressmen from the Pacific Northwest, Republicans and Democrats, representatives and senators alike, recoil in horror. It would certainly mean an end to billion-dollar subsidies for their region and higher energy costs for every user of electricity in Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho.

— End federal support for construction of local sewage treatment plants? Building trade unions predict financial chaos. "Programs will fold. Jobs will be lost. And emergency relief will be harder to come by."

— Require higher contributions from parents and students and require all borrowers to demonstrate financial need for student loans? "A disaster for students and institutions of higher education," says the American Council on Education.

— Require a user fee for all government-sponsored enterprises? The housing industry says the budget proposals would be "shameful and ultimately ruinous" to the government-sponsored mortgage loan market and would threaten affordable housing.

— Establish a means test for health care in veterans' hospitals? "Wrong, callous and indefensible," cries the national commander of the American Legion. "We know this nation must get its staggering spending excesses under control," says Dale L. Renaud, the Legion commander. "But it must be done across the board, with corresponding cuts in all federal agencies."

Mr. Renaud is asking for the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings sword. Does he fear the effect of a careful item-by-item examination of the spending programs for veterans?

Congress should not abdicate its authority and its responsibility to establish spending priorities. Congress should not only consider the president's budget-cut proposals; it should also propose some other budget cuts of its own. And it should suggest the tax measures necessary to reduce the deficit.

The economy is in good shape. There never will be a better time to cut federal spending and increase federal revenue. Congress must do its part.

Kids File Suit Over Federal Budget Deficit

WASHINGTON — A futuristic television commercial, set in a courtroom, puts today's adult generation on trial for impoverishing their children and grandchildren with massive, perpetual government debt.

The dark Kafkaesque dramatization shows a youthful prosecutor asking the accused, in the year 2017, why his generation did nothing to halt the national debt when it was shooting past the $2 trillion mark in 1986.

"Don't you see," the accused replies, "no one was willing to make the sacrifices."

As the camera pans the gaunt faces of the impoverished, ragged children huddled in the cavernous courtroom hall, the accused asks them, "Are you ever going to forgive us?"

A voiceover grimly observes, "No one knows what another generation of unchecked federal deficits will bring. You can change the future. You have to."

The television spot was sponsored by W.R. Grace & Co., whose feisty 72-year-old chairman, Peter Grace, says that "we're mortgaging our children's future, forwarding this generation's ills" onto the next generation.

Although Grace's ad has been banned by the big three networks, the intergenerational trial it portrays in the next century may actually occur this year if a federal class-action lawsuit brought by seven children and their parents gets its day in court.

In Bonner vs. Baker, William W. Bonner, 7, of Harwood, Md., Margaret A. Wilkinson, 1, of Salt Lake City, James W. Palmer, 14, of Indianapolis, and four other minors, with their parents, have filed suit against Treasury Secretary James A. Baker III to halt what they call "unlawful federal borrowing."

At its core, the suit, sponsored by the National Taxpayers Union in behalf of the nation's 60 million children, argues that debt being transferred to future generations violates their constitutional right to equal protection under the law.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs charge that in the last decade, both the Congress and the president "have engaged in a pattern of federal borrowing which is unprecedented in the history of this nation," engaging in "large-scale borrowing unsupported by any compelling governmental interest, with no present intent or ability to retire" the principal on a growing debt.

Since 1980, the gross national debt has nearly doubled. Meanwhile, more and more money is being borrowed — piling debt upon debt — just to keep up with the $130 billion in interest payments on the debt.

From 1951 through 1975, funds needed to pay interest on the debt averaged less than 10 percent of total federal revenues. Last year, however, 24.4 percent of federal revenues was needed to pay interest on the debt.

If the debt continues to grow at its present pace, 27.3 percent of yearly federal revenues will be eaten up by interest payments on the debt by 1990.

Such "perpetual debt imposes unique and discriminatory burdens on persons who are not currently taxpayers, but who will become taxpayers in the future," the children's suit maintains.

ROBERT WALTERS

Promoting Of The Statue

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Hurry, hurry, there's not much time left to purchase your "Official Statue of Liberty Commemorative Buckle with 14K Gold Electroplate and Genuine Diamond."

You'll also want to buy the bonded bronze, genuine marble, 15-inch "Lady Liberty Commemorative Sculpture" that can serve as "a beautiful addition to your home" or "a patriotic conversation piece in your office."

Is this reminiscent of the clamor on a carnival midway? Are we degrading and debasing the very special symbol of hope and freedom that we claim to cherish and revere?

Do we want scores of vendors commemorating the 100th anniversary of the Statue of Liberty by hawking not only belt buckles and statuettes but also everything from swizzle sticks to sweat shirts?

Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca, who is in charge of fund-raising for the Statue of Liberty restoration project, insists that the promoters and merchandisers have been conducting themselves with dignity.

"We are always in touch with them about what is in good taste, but we don't have to try to direct them," claims Iacocca, chairman of the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation Inc. "They're not going to schlock it up."

Is this good taste or schlock? The foundation's largest single non-government source of financing is a Florida firm that has paid $12 million for all of the debris and discarded materials from the rehabilitation project.

The company hopes to sell that scrap as mementos of the original Liberty and Ellis Islands. Among its offerings: 160 "commemorative urnials" from the Ellis Island men's rooms.

Is this good taste or schlock? The foundation several years ago went to court on behalf of a "Founding Sponsor," Stroh's beer, because a Budweiser beer television commercial included photographs of the reconstruction project.

The court summarily rejected the audacious argument that the foundation could restrict portrayals of a national monument to those corporations that had paid it for the privilege.

Is this good taste or schlock? The foundation offers shopkeepers "a monumental profit opportunity... of historic proportions" if they are designated as "Official Retail Headquarters."

FBI Is Up To Its Old Tricks

By Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta
WASHINGTON — The FBI has been spying on peace activists again.

Several years ago, the Justice Department laid down "guidelines" for the FBI that supposedly prohibited the G-men from infiltrating peaceful domestic political groups. The reforms were instituted in response to disclosures that the FBI had tried to sabotage activities of groups opposed to the war in Vietnam; the bureau explained that it had been trying to learn whether the groups had foreign connections, which would have been a legitimate subject of FBI inquiry.

That explanation has been used today to justify the use of undercover informants to spy on Physicians for Social Responsibility, a group that advocates a bilateral, verifiable freeze on nuclear weapons by the United States and the Soviet Union. It claims 25,700 members in 155

DON GRAFF

Bad News As Good News

The stolen presidential election in the Philippines is widely seen as a problem for this country.

And it certainly is in the short term. But taking a somewhat longer view, it is shaping up as something very different.

An unexpected opportunity. Simply stated, Ferdinand Marcos's political larceny has had the effect, for a change, of aligning the United States firmly with the democratic majority in a country struggling to free itself from an oppressive regime.

For once, we are not faced with the no-win choice of propping up a detested local tyrant or seeing radical revolutionaries take over. For once, those who are taking over are not only our kind of people but the best defense against the radicals. For once, American interests in a country in turmoil dovetail beautifully with those of that country's people.

It certainly wasn't planned that way by anyone, but if we have anyone special to thank it is Ferdinand Marcos himself. He miscalculated — badly. First, in underestimating his opposition. Then, by being too clever by far in rigging the voting. While wholesale theft of votes is nothing new for him, never before has he gone about it under such intense outside scrutiny.

Most especially that of Sen. Richard Lugar, the Indiana Republican, with impeccable political credentials for Reagan Washington and unchallengeable personal integrity, was the perfect choice to bear official American witness. There could be no question that with him as the spokesman, the truth would out.

Even Ronald Reagan's unfortunate attempt to distribute blame for voting fraud on a bipartisan basis worked to advantage. So embarrassingly at odds with the known facts, it galvanized leaders of his own administration into going public with condemnations of Marcos and into hastening to set their boss straight.

The cumulative effect is apparent in the surprisingly broad official and public consensus on where this country's real interest lies on this issue.

This was not the pre-election expectation. Take it from Richard Kessler, a specialist on the Philippines at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace in Washington.

While accurately predicting Marcos's opponent would win the vote but lose the count, Kessler also foresaw a post-election polarization in American opinion. Conservatives, he thought, would be arguing that Marcos must be supported under any circumstances. Liberals could be expected to demand an immediate break whatever the consequences.

Wrong, as Kessler is pleased now to acknowledge.

What has happened instead is that virtually no American of consequence is willing to plead Marcos's case. From reasonable right to responsible left, there is unaccustomed agreement that it is not in America's interest to accept what Marcos has wrought as fait accompli.

local chapters. The international physicians' group with which it is affiliated, and which has Soviet members as well, won the Nobel Peace Prize last year.

The story of the FBI's infiltration of the group was brought to us by Angus Mackenzie of the Center for Investigative Reporting, who obtained pertinent FBI documents under the Freedom of Information Act.

The documents showed that the FBI spied on mainstream peace groups, including the Physicians for Social Responsibility, from 1982 through 1984. When this evidence was shown to Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., he asked FBI Director William Webster for an explanation.

Webster wrote back, in part: "The FBI is not conducting an investigation on the Physicians for Social Responsibility, although it has been the subject of investigation in the past. I am advised that in 1982 this organization was the subject of a national security investigation predicated upon information received from a source."

Webster added that the investigation "was conducted pursuant to" the attorney general's guidelines. This might be comforting to know, except for one thing: The counter-intelligence guidelines are secret.

Assistant FBI Director William M. Baker told Mackenzie: "The FBI was interested in determining whether or not the physicians' group was a Soviet front. But it was not."

Baker said the FBI had used "assets" in its investigation. In this context, assets are informants controlled by the FBI — that is, infiltrators. "We closed that investigation," Baker added, "We won't continue to have assets in that group."

Edwards said of the disclosures: "We don't like peace organizations being the subject of an investigation. We don't want the FBI used to discourage political activity."

Getting Stitches In Time

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Modern career women presumably are more interested in dropping bombs than in dropping stitches. That may help explain why the Singer Co. is considering dropping out of the sewing machine market and concentrating on making aerospace and military products instead.

Nevertheless, I was a bit disoriented by the company's announcement that it might spin off its sewing machine business. For more than 100 years, the name Singer has been synonymous with that trade.

Not that Isaac Singer invented mechanical stitching. The "Father of the Sewing Machine" is a title better suited to Elias Howe, who obtained his first U.S. patent in 1845.

It wasn't until 1851 that Singer, who became a mechanic at age 12, finally repaired a sewing machine, thus developing a lifelong interest in making money.

The firm he founded only raked in $567 million from the sale of sewing machines last year, compared with $1.2 billion collected in the aerospace field.

A company spokesman said the demand for sewing machines has been declining for about 15 years "because more women are working."

Working women apparently tend to buy garments off the rack or from a couturier rather than making their own clothing.

That tendency tends to override the fact that Howe's first machine, which could sew an amazing 250 stitches a minute, was itself a labor-saving device.

Until Howe came along, most garments were stitched by hand. A young woman who could sew a fine seam was considered quite a matrimonial catch even if she had thick ankles.

Sewing machines were installed in clothing factories as well as in homes, of course, so the industry appears to have come full circle since Howe and Singer started out.

But aerospace?

"I'm not sure why it startled me to learn the Singer company was involved in high-technology enterprises. Many of the airplanes flown in World War II, particularly the trainers, sounded as if they were powered by sewing machine motors."

With that background, it should be fairly easy to develop a sewing machine tank.

Benson Reflects On Retirement

By Paul Schaeffer
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary Police Chief Harry S. Benson will close his office door behind him Friday ending an era in the city's history.

Benson, 64, will retire from the position he has held for eleven years to devote more time to his family, and to pursue another long-time interest, hypnotherapy.

A 36-year veteran of police work, Benson submitted his letter of resignation to the Lake Mary City Commission in late December, saying he intended to leave March 1.

It is the second time Benson has retired from police work. Before coming to Lake Mary, he had retired from the police department in West Orange, New Jersey, after a 25-year career. He was promoted through the ranks to the position of the police director in West Orange.

"I feel I'd like to do something new," Benson said. "Something that will give me more time to spend with my wife, (Marion Neubert-Benson) and family." Benson also plans to lecture on police work when given the opportunity, and write a book about his police experiences with the help of his wife. These activities in addition to his work as a hypnotherapist at Associate Health Professionals in Maitland.

Benson reviewed the past eleven years at Lake Mary by saying, "We've had it all." Indeed, the small town has experienced murders, thefts, and other types of crimes, according to Benson, but certainly not at the rate of big cities.

"Lake Mary has a low crime rate," the chief says.

Benson became the city's chief of police on February 17, 1975. When he arrived, there was one full time officer, one police car, and one borrowed police radio. The police headquarters were located in the back of the same city store which also housed what was then the city hall. The department office consisted of a desk, a filing cabinet, and a borrowed typewriter. Dispatches to the police car's radio were made from the county sheriff's department. The annual budget was $35,000.

As he leaves, the department consists of 12 officers, four dispatchers, complete radio equipment, computer, and telephone, four cars, a Jeep, and a K-9 vehicle, and a German Shepherd police dog named Magnum. According to Benson, the annual budget is presently $270,260.

One of his greatest sources of satisfaction is that he was able to build a department. That in comparison the West Orange department, which was well established, and had a multi-million dollar budget.

"It's been an exciting experience to actually create a police department and watch it grow," he said. "We've suffered problems with turnover of personnel, but we have always maintained an excellent department."

Benson, along with current Superintendent of Public Works Jim Ortoles, built the city's "Public Service Department", which combined the resources of the police and volunteer fire department. Both departments are still dispatched from the same communications center, and most members of both departments are able to respond in both police and fire emergencies.

For several years, Benson was not only chief of police, but chief mechanic on the department's vehicles. Because of a tight budget, Benson often did all the repair work on the city's police cars. He says he's been involved in just about every phase of public safety work in the community of 4,100.

Of his new venture as a hypnotherapist, Benson says, "I'll be on staff in various capacities. I hope to specialize in Employee Assistance Programs, working with those referred from law enforcement agencies and private industry."

"I enjoy talking, meeting, liking, and hopefully helping people," he said.

In wrapping up more than a decade of work as police chief, Benson said, "I have enjoyed tremendously working with the city and city government. Lake Mary has been blessed with excellent governing bodies. Even though at times I didn't agree with their decisions, I've always supported them," he said referring to the city commission.

"I would like to thank them for the opportunity of working in this community. It has been a wonderful experience, and I'll treasure it."

"I'll miss it. No doubt about it," he concluded.

Officials Laud Benson

Lake Mary's city officials are praising Police Chief Harry S. Benson for more than a decade of dedicated service, as the 11-year veteran of the force retires Friday.

Benson, who began his job in the city with a one-man department in 1975, is credited with building the agency, despite man-power and budget limitations. Members of city government commented:

* Charlie Webster, city commissioner: "Chief Benson came here when Lake Mary hardly had a police department, and built a viable force. He has been dedicated, hard working, and a credit to the community. He'll be missed after he retires. His dedication has been outstanding. There's not too much you can't say about the chief."

* Russ Megonegal, city commissioner: "The people of Lake Mary appreciate Chief Benson's dedication to building a police force for our city. He started with nothing, and developed a department which will experience steady growth in the future. He's responsible for finding funding and laying the foundation for the department. We wish him well on his retirement."

* Paul Tremel, city commissioner: "He's served the city for 11 years, and served the city well. In the early years, he even fixed the cars, because of the limited budget. The greatest tribute to him, and (Public Works Superintendent) Jim Ortoles is the creation of the Public Safety Department, where the police and fire department man power is interchangeable. That required a degree of open mindedness to share jobs and do what's best for the city, not just what's best for a particular department."

* Ken King, city commissioner: "We certainly appreciate his dedication to the city, and wish him well in all his future endeavors from this point on."

* Buss Petros, city commissioner: "Chief Benson has done a fine job for the community, and brought the department from its infancy to a full service department which meets the community's needs."

* Dick Fess, mayor: "I just wish him all the best in the world, and appreciate all the time he has dedicated to the city."

* Kathy Rice, city manager: "Chief Benson is a good man. He started with nothing and built the department. He really loves Lake Mary, and built a lot of programs. He's accessible, and has done a lot of volunteer work. He's worked hard to build the Public Safety Department. It was an excellent idea to combine the efforts of the (police and fire) departments."

* Jim Ortoles, Superintendent of Public Works: "Fire Chief when Benson became Police Chief: 'I really hate to see him go. He's probably done more for the city than people realize... He always bent over backwards to see everything ran smoothly.'

Lawmaker Proposes Rights Bill

By Michael Melino
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A Republican House member said Monday he has filed a "Parent and Pupil Rights" bill to restrict teachers from quizzing students on their politics, religion, mental problems or sexual attitudes.

Rep. Dan Webster, R-Orlando, said his proposal (HB 444) would not affect classroom discussions on current events or social issues.

He said it is aimed at experimental programs or "unproven" teaching methods aimed at gauging, directing or subverting political, social and sexual values children learn at home.

"We're not talking about a classroom discussion talking about the presidential election," Webster said. "We're talking about a situation where they are giving an examination to get what's inside the person (student) coming out."

Webster said he filed the measure because of complaints by parents of psychological research and experimentation in public schools. He said some of the parents complained teachers were delving into family secrets and promoting "secular humanism."

Many conservative religious groups believe secular humanism is being promoted as an alternative to traditional religious values.

Webster also complained of "role playing" exercises in which students act out responses to teenage pregnancy, abortion and other social and political dilemmas.

He said the exercises undermine the values students learn at home because they suggest there is no such thing as an absolute right or wrong.

The bill would require parental consent for such exercises. It would open all teaching materials, including teachers' manuals, tapes and filmstrips, for parental inspection.

"Many people's values say there are rights and wrongs in the world, and we don't need them torn down," Webster said.

He said some educators believe educational programs to deal with touchy issues are needed because families both the job.

"We're trying to get institutions to solve problems that are really more family problems," Webster said. "I believe (schools) can provide an education, but I don't believe they can solve all the social ills."

Court Rejects State Claim

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that Massachusetts cannot claim Nantucket Sound, rejecting the view that title to the waters had passed from British monarchs to colonial settlers and finally to the state.

The high court, in a 8-0 decision arising from the long-running New England Seward Boundary Cases, said Massachusetts did not have sufficient evidence to prove that Nantucket Sound is internal waters rather than territorial sea and high seas, as argued by the federal government.

"It was not until 1971 that Massachusetts first asserted its claim to jurisdiction over Nantucket Sound," noted Justice John Paul Stevens, who wrote the opinion.

"There is simply no evidence that the English Crown or its colonists had obtained 'clear original title' to the Sound in the 17th century or that such title was fortified by long usage," he said.

The controversy over Nantucket Sound arose in 1968 when the United States filed a title action against all Atlantic Coast states to determine their seaward boundaries. The idea was to resolve the issue of who owns submerged offshore lands.

Massachusetts argued that it owned the waters of Nantucket Sound under the "ancient title" doctrine. Under that doctrine, the state said, the English Crown acquired title to Nantucket Sound as a result of discovery by colonists in the early 17th century and Massachusetts settlers succeeded to the title.

Calendars To Color

Supreme Court Action:

Cities Get Wider Power

By Henry J. Reske
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today gave cities wide authority to limit the spread of adult theaters, ruling 7-2 that such establishments may be limited to a specific area of town no matter how undesirable the location.

The decision in the case from Renton, Wash., a suburb of Seattle, expanded on a 1976 ruling in a case from Detroit that said cities could limit the number of adult theaters in one area.

"The Renton ordinance, like the one in (the Detroit case), does not ban adult theaters altogether, but merely provides that such theaters may not be located within 1,000 feet of any residential zone, single- or multiple-family dwelling, church, park, or school," Justice William Rehnquist said, writing for the majority.

In dissent, Justice William Brennan, joined by Justice Thurgood Marshall, called the ordinance unconstitutional because it "discriminates on its face against certain forms of speech based on content."

The court's action comes one day after they struck down a measure from Indianapolis that sought to fight pornography by defining it as discrimination against women.

In other actions today, the court:

—Ruled 5-3 in an appeal by a California utility that it could not be forced to include in its monthly bills messages from groups fighting rate hikes.

—Held 5-4 in a New York case that a police officer conducted a constitutional search when he opened a car door and reached inside during a traffic stop to see the car's identification number. While reaching inside, the officer saw a gun.

—Ruled 8-0 that a lower court erred when it threw out the conspiracy convictions of four defendants in a West Virginia "pot plane" case. Several people were arrested after a June 1979 crash landing of a DC-6 carrying about 10 tons of marijuana near Charleston, W.Va.

The adult theater case was an appeal of a November 1984 ruling by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that struck down the Renton ordinance as an unconstitutional infringement on the First Amendment rights of theater owners.

Playtime Theatres Inc., which challenged the ordinance, accused the city of Renton of relegating adult theaters to an area of just 520 acres in "the most unattractive, undesirable, economically unviable areas of the city without articulating... a unique problem associated with such businesses which requires such drastic measures."

"Courts must be alert to the possibility of cities using the zoning power as a pretext for suppressing expression," Playtime's attorneys told the justices.

But lawyers for the small city said the case "demonstrates only too well the problems faced by cities seeking to limit the effects of adult theaters on their communities, while leaving a reasonable outlet for adult film fare."

The ordinance, enacted in 1981 and amended a year later, bans adult theaters from any area within 1,000 feet of residential zones, houses, churches, religious institutions, public parks and schools.

The only area left after excluding those covered by the ordinance is occupied by a sewage disposal site and treat-

Family Trains Monkey As Aide To Disabled Friend

DELTONA (UPI) — A family having no prior experience with primates has gone into monkey training in hopes the animal can learn enough tasks to help the family's paralyzed friend live a more normal life.

Steven Kirk, 36, was paralyzed in a Colorado skiing accident six years ago. He is able to move only his head and upper right arm. Kirk is able to manipulate a computer with a pencil-like stick, but he cannot pick up the stick if he drops it.

It is to perform such tasks that Rosemary Ministeri, with help from husband Robert and their son and daughter, are training an 11-month-old capuchin monkey named Zigi.

"The hard part for Zigi is that he has to learn to do something and then learn not to do it again unless he is told to," Rosemary said. Zigi is able to turn lights on and off, buckle and unbuckle belts and secure shoes fitted with Velcro.

The capuchin, chosen for such training due to its dexterity and tolerance of people, also can distinguish between coins and work zippers.

"A problem with zippers is that he sometimes forgets to redo them," joked Ministeri, 35, whose previous animal training experience was with guide dogs.

She said she expects Zigi's training to take another two to three years before he is ready to live with Kirk. If the training is successful, Ministeri said she may continue training monkeys on her own or work for an organization based in New York.

Helping Hands, founded in 1977 by psychologist Mary Joan Willard at Albert Einstein College of Medicine of Yeshiva University, has trained eight capuchins to assist disabled people. Willard has offered to help Ministeri by providing training information.

Much of the financial support for Helping Hands has come from the Paralyzed Veterans of America and the Veterans Administration, which has donated more than $125,000 to Willard's program.

Monkeys used in Helping Hands are bred at the Mannelmer Primate Institute in Homestead. Six-week-old babies are given human foster parents until they reach 2 years of age, when they are taken to the college for training lasting up to one year.

The Ministeris, until receiving a call from Willard last week, had been using a training system of their own, including taking Zigi on family outings to get him accustomed to a variety of environments.

Zigi's species is native to Central and South America. Capuchins are used by Helping Hands also because of their size and life span of more than 30 years.

Willard, who would like to expand her program into Central Florida, said she believes Ministeri would make an excellent foster parent or animal placement monitor for Helping Hands.

Namphy Warns Haitians Not To Protest Too Much

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — President Henri Namphy warned Haitians they were risking what they had won in their "revolution" with escalating protests against ties between the new government and the former regime.

As Namphy gave his speech several hundred people shouted slogans outside the white presidential palace demanding the ouster of three members of the ruling six-man junta that replaced Duvalier.

The demonstrators denounced longtime Duvalier supporters Alix Cineas, Prosper Avril, and Max Valles, who compared Duvalier to Jesus Christ in an article published about two weeks before anti-government protests forced him to flee Feb. 7 to exile in France.

Namphy's call for an end to protests gave no timetable for what he described as a 30-point "transitional program" aimed at alleviating some of the problems in the Western hemisphere's poorest country.

Queen Defends New Zealand

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II stirred political controversy in a speech to Parliament today when she defended New Zealand's ban on nuclear warships, contradicting the British government's stand.

Thousands of office workers and schoolchildren turned out to greet the monarch as she arrived at Parliament house and stood before a navy guard of honor.

A native Maori women's choir sang the hymn "How Great Thou Art" as police maintained a tight security cordon — strengthened since the queen was struck by an egg on the first day of her nine-day tour on Monday.

The Queen's traditional speech from the throne — speaking as Queen of New Zealand — stunned opposition leaders when it touched on the subject of the nuclear warship ban. In a speech prepared by New Zealand officials, the queen said the government's intention was not to weaken its security alliance with the United States and Australia.

"New Zealand wishes to retain and extend the long-standing friendship existing between the two countries," the queen said referring to the United States.

New Zealand's National Party opposition leader Jim McLay, who opposes the ban, said "it was insensitive and not appropriate to include such remarks in the speech from the throne."

Canada Suspends Missile Tests

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (UPI) — The government has suspended the testing of unarmed U.S. cruise missiles over Canada until military officials can explain why the last two missiles tested crashed off target.

A Canadian and U.S. military team was scheduled to fly onto the pack ice of the frozen Beaufort Sea today in a bid to recover wreckage from the latest failed test Tuesday.

The 22-foot-long missile crashed onto the frozen Arctic sea, north of Alaska and the Canadian mainland, moments after it was launched from the wing of a U.S. Air Force B-52 bomber at an estimated altitude of 35,000 feet.

course on Saturday and "didn't see" any of the new trees called for in the lease and that the club has decreased, rather than expanded the hours of operation for its food service.

Mercer also contends that rather than developing a "first class" pro shop as called for in the lease, Daniels has come in with "a very mediocre one."

Mercer did, however, call the course's maintenance

"excellent" and its club house "first rate," but added, "After looking at the lease in its entirety, I am convinced he is in violation."

He also said members left the club "because the kind of treatment they received is not conducive to play."

"I must admit for me as a golfer it's much more fun to play when people aren't out there," he said, "but on the other hand, when he's running people off, that's not what the lease calls for."

According to Daniels, the club has approximately 300 members "and is not suffering."

The 600 square-yard course was leased by the city in 1981 for a 67-year term, with annual rent set at five percent of gross revenues. The lease also mandated Daniels to spend $455,000 during its first five years to improve the facility.

The five year term expires on March 11 and Mercer did not dispute Daniels' claim of having complied with the financial obligation. "He's spent a lot of money out there. I know that," Mercer said. "I just don't feel he's lived up to all his obligations."

In addition to the specific shortcomings he alleged Monday night, Mercer said he is "not sure" if the club had complied with several other lease mandated improvements.

He said these include professional staffing, rebuilding bunkers and providing special golf programs.

"I think we've got a lot to go over with the lease," Mercer said. "We'll review the operation and proceed from there."

● Don't use metal objects like fishing rods, tennis racquets and golf clubs. Golfers wearing elevated shoes are particularly good lightning rods.

● Don't handle flammable materials in open containers

● Stop tractor work and heavy construction equipment, especially when pulling metal equipment, and dismount. Don't seek shelter under the equipment. Tractors and other implements in metallic contact with the ground are often struck by lightning

● Get out of the water, off small boats and off the beaches

● Stay in your automobile if you are traveling. Automobiles offer excellent lightning protection

● Seek shelter in buildings. If no buildings are available, your best protection is a ditch, culvert or under head-high clumps of trees in open forest glades

● When there is no shelter, avoid the highest object in the area. If only isolated trees are nearby, your best protection is to crouch in the open, keeping twice as far away from isolated trees as the trees are high

● Avoid hilltops, open spaces, wire fences, metal clothes lines, exposed sheds and any electrically conductive elevated objects

A contingent including Superintendent of School Robert Hughes will go to New York City, to complete the transaction and sign documents on March 19, and the money will be transferred to the district the same day. Northern Trust has offices in New York, as well as Chicago.

The district will get a total of almost $14.9 million from the company. The difference between that amount, and the $15 million total that was bid on is the margin of profit for the bond company for marketing the bonds.

Hughes said his feeling was "partial jubilation and excitement" following the awarding of the bid. "This enables us to get phase one of the projects going with planning and engineering," he said.

Under phase one plans, renovation, remodeling, and new construction will begin to be planned for the Crooms facility, Lake Mary Elementary, Casselberry Elementary, and Woodlands Elementary. Also included are furniture and equipment for those schools, and the expansion of the Consolidated Service Facility, which houses the district's transportation department.

Land will also be acquired for Lake Brantley High School, Lawton Elementary, and the Consolidated Service Facility. Consulting, engineering, and architect fees will also be paid for beginning the projects.

Schneider said the district's bond rating was second only to the State of Florida. New York bond rating companies who visited the district last month gave high marks. Moody's gave the district an A-1 rating, while Standard and Poors gave an A-plus rating.

An important part of the reason for the high ratings was "excellence in education," Schneider told the board. "Excellence was a major factor," he said. The group also looked at the economic, residential, and industrial growth in the county, and took a helicopter tour of the district.

Aquino's vice president, Salvador Laurel, told NBC the new government probably would seek more aid from the United States because "Mr. Marcos left behind an economic mess."

"The main objective of the new government is political stability," he said. "Right now we want to unite the people... so that political stability will be speeded up."

Laurel said the government did not dispute the U.S. decision to take in Marcos.

Marcos' flight climaxed a four-day rebellion sparked by a fraud-and-violence scarred presidential election in which Marcos was proclaimed the winner despite an independent count that showed Aquino got more votes.

"The long agony is over," Aquino, 53, told the nation early today on state-run television. "We are finally free and we can be truly proud of the unprecedented way we achieved our freedom, with courage and with determination and, most important, in peace."

At least 16 people were killed during the military-led revolt — a comparatively modest toll considering the level of violence in the election campaign, during which some 150 people were killed — 90 on election day.

Pinkney, Fouls Trip Seminole

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

WINTER PARK — Too much early foul trouble and too much Tina Pinkney did in Seminole High's Lady Seminoles Tuesday night.

Four of Seminole's five starters had four fouls by midway through the third quarter and Pinkney had her way inside as she stuck in 36 points, including 10 of 16 free throws, and grabbed 17 rebounds to lead Winter Park's Lady Wildcats to a 59-51 victory in the 4A-5 Region semifinals before 102 fans at Winter Park High.

Winter Park, 26-3, goes on to the region final Thursday night at home against Edgewater. Seminole, which played three freshmen most of the game, ended the season with an 18-10 record.

"We had too many people in foul trouble too early," Seminole coach Charles Steele said. "And a lot of them were silly, reaching fouls."

Pinkney, a 5-10 senior, was held to just two points in the first quarter but the guards got the ball to her in the second quarter and once she got it inside she was almost impossible to stop.

"Seminole has so many big people that our guards were a little scared to lob the ball to me in the first quarter," Pinkney said. "But they did a good job finding me when I got open from the second quarter on."

Behind Pinkney for the Lady 'Cats, 5-11 junior Heidi Wutscher scored eight of her points in the decisive third quarter. Lynn Parks and Mimi Jones contributed six apiece.

Senior Catherine "Kitty" Anderson led Seminole with 12 points and nine rebounds and senior guard Temika Alexander scored all 11 of her points in the first half. Adrian Hillsman contributed 10 points while Yolanda Robinson and Kim "Big Wheel" Johnson both had six points before fouling out.

Seminole opened the game by throwing a full-court, man-to-man press at the Lady Wildcats and it forced the 'Cats to commit 13 turnovers in the first quarter. Seminole, though, had early trouble with Winter Park's half-court trap as the teams fought to a 12-12 tie after one quarter.

Seminole took the momentum in the early going of the second period as it outscored Winter Park, 8-1, to take a 20-13 lead with 5:22 left in the first half. Seminole led by eight, 25-17, before Winter Park closed within three, 33-30, at the half.

The two teams traded baskets to open the third period but Alexander and Anderson both picked up their fourth fouls to join Johnson, who already had four, on the bench.

After freshman Adrian Hillsman hit a jumper for a 35-32 Seminole lead, the Lady 'Cats reeled off 16 straight points to take a 48-35 lead with 1:30 left in the third quarter. Pinkney hit eight points and Wutscher six in the Winter Park surge.

"For the second game in a row we had a let down in the third quarter," Steele said. "This time we got outscored, 18-6. That's what did it right there."

Seminole got as close as seven early in the fourth quarter but Pinkney later scored six consecutive points as Winter Park took a 58-46 lead with 2:52 remaining. Seminole cut it to 58-49 and had the ball three times with a chance to pull closer but turned it over twice and missed a long jumper the third time and the score still stood at 58-49 with 1:10 remaining and Seminole didn't have enough left to put on one of its last-minute comebacks.

Edgewater's Press Ruffles Lady Rams

Sessler, Taylor Force Turnovers As Lady Eagles Oust Mary, 60-49

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — Edgewater's Denise McCarty has watched her 1-2-2 three-quarter court press strangle the dreams of many opposing teams during her 12 years as the Lady Eagles' coach.

Dodging the encompassing defensive pressure is akin to avoiding banana peels in a cage of monkeys. Sooner or later the slippery spots outnumber the safe areas.

Lake Mary effectively avoided the spills for three quarters Tuesday night, but when the press took effect with seven minutes left, Lake Mary's hopes were dashed in a torrid 30-second defensive blitz.

Edgewater broke open a tight game with three steals and layups in those 30 seconds en route to a 60-49 victory over Lake Mary in the Region 4A-5 Semifinal Basketball Tournament before 385 fans at Lake Mary High School.

Edgewater, 24-4, and Winter Park, 26-3, decide the Region 5 championship Thursday at Winter Park. It is a rematch of the District Class 4A-10 title battle which the Lady Wildcats won. Winter Park eliminated Seminole, 59-51, in Tuesday's other semifinal game. Lake Mary, with just three seniors on its roster, finished 21-7.

"When the 1-2-2 is played effectively, it's very tough press," McCarty said. "Most people back off when the other team gets to halfcourt, but we stay with it."

Lake Mary received the half-minute lesson early in the fourth quarter. It came just after Teri Whyte, who led the Lady Rams with 16 points and 17 rebounds, moved down the paint and scored to cut the deficit to 40-36 with 7:36 to play. Tari Phillips, who scored 13 points and collected 12 boards, came back with a short jumper at the other end to push the lead back to six with seven minutes left in the game.

Then Lake Mary began finding banana peels disguised as Edgewater guards Vanessa Taylor and Jackie Sessler. The Lady Eagles' quick-handed duo, which combined for 34 points, came up with three consecutive steals on which Martha Culp, Phillips and Sessler turned into buckets for a 48-36 bulge.

"I waited one turnover too long to call the time out," Lake Mary coach Bill Moore said about his move with 6:16 to play. "I don't know if it would have mattered, though. They put on such pressure that it's hard to get the girls to look down the court. They're too worried about protecting the ball."

Lake Mary turned the ball over 30 times, 23 of which were caused by the press. Edgewater turned it over 14 times. Lake Mary hit 21 of 49 shots for 43 percent while Edgewater connected on 28 of 62 for 45 percent. Lake Mary held a 39-29 rebounding edge.

Edgewater forced seven turnovers in the first quarter and

Tracy's Turn: Brother To Grab For State Glory

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald

Tracy Turner's year has been filled with injuries, illnesses and disappointments. Not exactly what the muscular 149-pounder had in mind after finishing fifth in the state meet last year as a freshman.

However, this weekend, when the Seminole High sophomore travels to Lyman High School to partake in his second 4A State Championship Wrestling Meet in two years, he will have a different outlook on the season.

"This is where the glory begins," Turner, younger brother of Seminole's Troy, said. "If you don't win this one, then you don't win anything. There's 144 schools in the state meet and only the best will survive."

Turner has not-so-patiently waited for this weekend for the entire season and is ready to put his best to the test and show the wrestling community that there is more than one Turner who can wrestle.

"I'm as ready as I'll ever be," Turner said of his conditioning to this point. "I can take everyone around here, but you never know what they've got down in Miami or Tampa."

Turner will find out what the South hold in his first match of the tournament. In the first round, Turner will encounter Hialeah Miami Lakes' Henry Monprevil.

There is no question in Seminole coach Glenn Maiolini's mind that Turner possesses the right stuff. As a matter of fact, Maiolini thinks Turner has more than he needs to win a state championship.

"He's got the best attitude I've seen him with all year long," Maiolini said of Turner's mental status. "He's always talking about I'm going to do this and I'm going to do that and I just blow it off. Well, in the regions he did it and a lot of people are starting to take notice. Namely me!"

Turner breezed through the first two rounds of his region meet until he faced Buecholz's 22-0 John Gainey. Gainey, who won the 149-pound regional championship a year ago, was the favorite to win the state title.

Favored that is until Turner stepped onto the mat. Turner, getting his confidence at an all-time high, destroyed the favored Gainey, 12-5, to advance to the regional finals.

"I felt really confident after my first two matches," Turner said. "When I went up against Gainey, Coach Maiolini told me he was undefeated and all and I told him that I was going to beat the heck out of him. It was a good match and he's a great wrestler. It was just my night."

In the finals, Turner defeated Choctawhatchee's Hunter Flood, 7-2, to claim his first regional title. Turner, who went to state as a freshman last year, has finally gotten the winning edge, according to Maiolini.

"He's really got the ball rolling and he's pumped up for it," Maiolini said of Turner. "He's got that Turner drive in him and he kicks in at the right time. When he wrestled Gainey, I told him that it was a big match for him."

"He never even expressed the thought of losing and took it to that kid like there was no tomorrow. He's starting to wrestle like the old Tracy Turner."

Tracy, who has a 22-2 record this year, has followed in his older brother's footsteps for the past two years. Troy Turner is ranked the best grappler in the country at 159 pounds by USA Wrestling but this weekend proved to Turner and Maiolini that Tracy is a man of his own.

"He's definitely been following in Troy's footsteps," Maiolini said. "They're both very competitive and one is always trying to outdo the other. But after this weekend, Troy has stepped out from behind the shadows and is coming into his own. He's reaching for that brass ring and if he loses at state it'll be because the other guy's better than he is."

Turner agrees that the "Older Brother" monkey is off of his back, but he admits that the only pressure he receives at home comes from himself.

"My parents are very supportive of both me and Troy," Turner said. "But, they don't pressure either one of us no matter what sport we play. Sure there's pressure, but it's pressure to do better for myself."

"There's never been any kind of pressure to be better than him (Troy). I just try and be as good as him and that makes me happy."

Happiness is overflowing in Turner's life at the present time. He's getting his health back, his

Hersey On Hill — SCC To Host Polk Thursday

James Hersey, who has two of Seminole Community College's four victories this year returns to the hill Thursday afternoon when the Raiders host Polk in a junior college baseball game at 3 p.m. at the SCC Complex. The Raiders host Indian River Friday at 3 p.m.

Hersey, a Seminole High product, has fare pretty well as a Raider. He struggled early last week against Miami Dade South, giving up three runs in the first inning but then close the door for the next seven as SCC pulled out a 7-5 victory.

"Hersey is an easy-going kid until he gets on the mound," SCC coach Jack Pantellas said. "Then his determination takes over. He's wants to win very badly."

While Hersey has handled most of the pitching load with Mike Walker, sophomore shortstop Mike Songini has been a terror for opposing hurlers. Songini is hitting just under .500 with almost half of his 18 hits for extra bases.

Jeff Greene, an Oviedo product, and Kevin Hill, a freshman from Lake Mary, also start for the Raiders.

Webster Taps Potential

Seminole Sophomore Wins 330 Hurdles In Debut

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Despite her sophomore status, Dorchelle Webster has already established herself as one of the premier track performers in the state. She is also discovering that she has just begun to tap her almost endless potential.

Tuesday afternoon, Webster ran the 330 low hurdles for the first time in competition but looked like a seasoned veteran as she sailed to a time of 47.2 which coach Emory Blake said is the top time in the state so far this season.

"That was a big surprise," Blake said of Webster's performance. "That time would have placed in the state last year. We just tried something new with Dorchelle and she tore it up."

While Webster's performance in the low hurdles the highlight for the Lady Seminoles Tuesday, Seminole continued its dominance of the Seminole-Lake Mary rivalry in track as it swept to easy victories in both the boys and girls dual meets at Seminole High.

In the boys meet, the 'Noles took first place in all but four events en route to a 90-46 victory over the Rams. The Lady Seminoles won 11 of 15 events to compile 79 points compared to Lake Mary's 44.

The Seminole boys return to action Saturday in the Edgewater Eagle Relays at Showalter Field while Seminole runs in the Lake Howell High Invitational.

In the boys meet Tuesday, Billy Penick, Roosevelt Buckner and Dwight Brinson each won two events for the Tribe. Penick took first place in the mile by more than 12 seconds with a time of 4:31.5 compared to 4:44.3 for Lake Mary's Ken Rohr. Penick also took first in the 880 run with a 2:05.2 clocking.

Buckner wasted not time in vaulting to the top in the long jump and triple jump in the absence of senior Alvin Jones. Buckner won the long jump with a leap of 19-8 and the triple at 40-7 1/4.

Brinson, only a freshman, came through in the absence of top hurdler Andre Jackson by winning both the 120 highs and 330 intermediates. Brinson blazed to a 17.7 in the highs and a 44.3 in the IMs.

Also taking first places for the Seminoles were Louis Brown in the 100 meters (11.0), Dwayne Willis in the 220 (24.2), Jared Jones in the discus (130-9) and Sonny Osborn in the pole vault (10-0).

For Lake Mary, Jeff Pommer took first in the 440 dash (52.7), Rohr ran away with the two mile (9:55.3), Larry Stankovits won the shot put (42-1) and Cecil King won the high jump (5-6).

The 'Noles won all three relays including a 45.8 in the 440, 4:00.8 in their first mile medley of the season and 3:42 in the mile relay. The 440 relay team included Kenneth Batton, Jones, Willis and Brinson. The medley team consisted of Jones, Batton, Theron Liggins and Eric Martin while the mile relay squad included Alan Seward, Ted Richardson, Maurice Roberts and Penick.

"The young kids had a good time running today and it was good experience for them."

Lyman Tries To Extend Hex Over Howell

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald

The Lyman Greyhounds have beaten the Lake Howell Silver Hawks three times this season and all three wins have been pretty handily done. However, in tonight's District 4A-9 showdown at Port Orange Spruce Creek High School, the slate is clean and the losers will find themselves sitting out the post-season.

The Lyman-Howell tilt tips off at 7 p.m. Top-ranked Spruce Creek plays DeLand at 8:30 p.m. The winner of the Lyman-Lake Howell encounter will battle with the winner of Thursday's (8:30 p.m.) Mainland-Lake Brantley game. The Creek-DeLand survivor plays Thursday's (7 p.m.) Seminole-Lake Mary winner.

"I'm really psyched up to get them (Lyman)," Silver Hawk point guard John Lowe, said. "They beat us soundly three times this year, but there won't be a fourth one on the list. Our team is very unselfish and we want to win this game more than anything."

The Greyhounds, who have been on a skid the last two weeks of the regular season, have finally put an end to the losing road, according to guard T.J. Scaletta.

"I think you'll come to see us play tomorrow night," Scaletta said. "It could be our last game. It starts our road to the state tournament. We'll play as a team against Lake Howell and they better watch out."

Lake Howell coach Greg Robinson has different expectations of the game and he thinks the game will be won or lost on the fast break. The Greyhounds have a superior fast break with the speed of Scaletta and Robert Thomas and the ability to counter the fast break will be the key.

"The last couple of times we played them they did a great job of mixing it up," Robinson said. "Scaletta and Thomas' quickness is really scary. One bad move and the game could be blown out. They can put a lot of points on the board and they can do it quick. The key will have to be to control that speed that they possess."

Speed, rebounding and team togetherness will be the key factors for the Greyhounds, who have been rather sloppy in weeks of late. Even though

Basketball

The 'Hounds will be the favorites, head Greyhound coach Tom Lawrence feels that four may be an unlucky number.

"To win a fourth one from the same team that you've dominated three times is very hard," Lawrence said. "I'd have to say that the law of averages is against us. They shoot from the wings pretty well and they will try their hardest to make it a half-court game."

For Lake Howell, problems just keep on coming. After a disappointing turnout with little experience at the beginning of the season, the Hawks have lost starter Kevin Leonard with an ankle injury and Terry Gammans missed yesterday's practice with the flu.

"It seems like if it's not one thing it's another," Robinson said about the Silver Hawks' misfortunes. "We're just going to have to play it by ear and see what the deck deals us. Lately we haven't played a good inside game, but we're going to bang the boards against Lyman and try to work on getting the ball to the inside man."

The Greyhounds have a pretty good inside man themselves in Ralph Philpott. Philpott scored 23 points and grabbed 18 rebounds in helping the 'Hounds turn things around in a win against Lake Mary last Thursday.

"We're taking the 6 as a regular-season game," Philpott, a 6-5 senior center, said. "We can't over prepare or under prepare all we can do is go in there and play heads-up ball."

"I think after the last two practices we're pretty much together and everything's going good for us."

Robinson emphasizes the Hawks are anxious to play the spoiler role.

"Once the district tournament starts, it's a whole new ballgame and a brand new season," Robinson said. "There's always one big upset in the districts and this could be our season. Lyman played a lot of good teams this year, but we've started to get things rolling in our direction."

For the Greyhounds, the right combination is the inside game of Philpott and the outside game of Scaletta. Philpott is deadly when he's inside the paint and Scaletta is deadly from anywhere inside of 25 feet.

"Those guys really work good together," Robinson said of the Greyhound duo. "They will be a big part of the game and I really don't know if we can stop them or not. From the looks of the past three games, I would say that we couldn't."

The Silver Hawks will be counting on the inside game of 6-5 Fred Hicks along with sparkplug guard Mark Schmitz and Burger King Player of the Week Todd Peterson, who helped Howell upset Lake Mary last week.

Lowe, who has had trouble with fouls the past two weeks, said the key to beating Lyman is to unsettle the 'Hounds.

"I'm ready to play no matter how I've done in the past," Lowe said. "We can beat Lyman if we get them off balance and fighting amongst themselves. If you let them get set, you're dead."

DeLand Doesn't Play Like 'Dogs Against Creek

DeLand's Bulldogs, the last seed in the Class 4A-9 District Boys' Basketball Tournament won just seven of 20 games. Spruce Creek's Hawks, the first seed in the same tournament, won 26 of 29 games.

Yet, when DeLand played Spruce Creek, the Hawks had to fight for their lives to come away with the pair of wins.

"We were down by one with 18 seconds left and had one-and-one," DeLand coach John Zeoli said of the Port Orange clash. "We missed it and lost."

And at home? "We're down one with 1:24 to play," Zeoli said. "We end up losing by nine as they hit 16 of 17 free throws."

Parity and unpredictability, two ingredients which make basketball exciting, will both be on display tonight when the Class 4A-9 District Boys' Basketball Tournament opens tonight at Spruce Creek High School.

In tonight's first game at 7 p.m., No. 2 Lyman takes on No. 7 Lake Howell. In the second game at 8:30 p.m., host Spruce Creek battles DeLand. No. 4 Seminole and No. 5 Lake Mary play at 7 p.m. Thursday. No. 3 Mainland and No. 6 Lake Brantley square off at 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

All the coaches — even Spruce

Sam Cook
SPORTS EDITOR

Creek's Jim Romaniszyn — agree the Creek is the class of the field. The Hawks have beaten Mainland three times and Seminole twice. They didn't play Lyman. Losses have come to Edgewater, Key West and Bainbridge, Ga.

"There's always pressure when you're the favorite," Romaniszyn said Tuesday night. "But that's the joy of the sport. That's why you stay in coaching."

The joy is more apparent when you have a player like 6-8 Jon Fedor. The Florida State-bound forward is averaging 15 points and 11 rebounds per game.

"Jon is a great transition player," Romaniszyn said. "Lately, he has become more aggressive toward the basket and he handles the ball as well as a guard."

Joining Fedor are two jetquick guards in junior Levon Darthard and Johnny Cooks. Terry Southall and Johnnie Bennett are the forwards. Darthard is averaging 10 points and a whopping 10 assists per game. Southall (12) and Bennett (10) are also in double figures for points. Cooks is averaging nine.

Zeoli said he is too familiar with tonight's foe. "They're playing at home where they haven't lost and they probably have the best balanced team in Central Florida," he said. "They have an awful strong bench and shoot well from the perimeter. Yet, for some reason we play them tough."

DeLand's point guard, Dan Finley, is suffering from pulled ligaments but Zeoli said he should be ready to go. He joins 5-11 sophomore center Warren Edwards, soph Marlin Lane, point guard Willie Smith and footballer Deke Harris on the starting quintet.

Mainland coach Dick Toth, for one, has seen enough of Spruce Creek, although he wouldn't mind one more night at the Hawks Saturday night in the final. Toth's Bucs have lost three times in various ways to the Creek.

"They're just too quick for us," Toth said Tuesday. "I'm happy to be where we are against Lake Brantley. I love Sanford, too. If Sanford and the Creek both win that's going to be a heckuva game Friday."

Toth said some people feel that Fedor hasn't played up to expectations this year. He is quick to point they are off the wall. "Fedor is a different kind of 6-9 player," he said. "They don't need his scoring, so he does other things."

"He is a very intimidating factor under the boards, he rebounds well and he's a great passer. Fedor does the little things that change the way you play the game," Toth added.

JV SHOOTOUT — Seminole's junior varsity has qualified for the Class 4A-9 District Tournament championship. Coach Tom Smith's 13-6 eagles will take on DeLand at 6:30 Saturday night.

The JVs are led by Walter "Dunkman" Hopson, Leonard Lucas, Gene Byam, Reginald "Spook" Bellamy and Sammie Edwards. Seminole had an 11-2 district record.

Seminole coach Ken Brauman said, "It's still real early in the season though and we won't be able to tell a whole lot until the end of March."

In the girls meet Tuesday, Webster, Shownda Martin and Linda Jamison each won two events to lead the way for the Lady Tribe. Along with the 330 hurdles, Webster also won the long jump (16-10 1/4). Martin took firsts in the mile (5:33.4) and 880 (2:22.3) while Jamison won the 100 meters (13.5) and the 220 yard dash (27.6).

Other first places for the Lady Noles included Adrian Smith in the shot put (35-1), Sonja Montgomery in the discus (100-3) and Sherry Burgess in the 440 dash (67.9).

For Lake Mary, Jodie McCurdy took first in the 110 hurdles (17.4), Jennifer Caputo won the high jump (4-8) and Heather Heikkila the two mile (14-41.8).

Seminole won two of the three relays and was disqualified in the 440 relay in which Lake Mary won with a time of 53.9. The Seminole mile medley relay team of Antonia Grooms, Burgess, Lashonda Freeman and Viola Posley won with a time of 4:50.3 while the mile relay team of Burgess, Freeman, Posley and Webster turned in a first-place time of 4:20.2.

"We're right where we want to be at this point," Blake said. "We don't want to rush things or push the girls too hard. Once the basketball girls come out we'll be ready to put things together."

HOWELL EDGES BRANTLEY

After battling to a virtual deadlock for most of the meet, Lake Howell's Lady Hawks finished with a flourish as they won the two mile and mile relay to upend Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots, 67-56, in a dual meet at Lake Howell High.

"I knew it would be a very close meet," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammontree said. "The girls did really well. It was a good, competitive meet and that's what dual meets are for."

Lisa Samocki gave the Lady

Hawks some breathing room with a first place time of 12:27.7 in the two mile and the Lady Hawks iced the victory by winning the mile relay at 5:00. Running on that relay team were Nicole Compton, Kim Hammontree, Angie Smith and Martha Fonseca.

Samocki also took first in the mile with a time of 5:34.6 while other first places for the Lady Hawks included Cheryl Brinkley in the high jump (4-10), Sophie Mitchell in the shot put (27-11), Hammontree in the 100 meters (13.1) and Angie Smith in the 880 run (2:36.7).

First places for Lake Brantley included Michelle Upson in the long jump (14-3 1/4), Debbie Lovelace in the discus (101-1), Jennifer Burrows in the 110 hurdles (17.3), Lisa Frizzell in the 440 dash (65.2), Cathy Wild in the 330 hurdles (52.2) and Lisa Trotter in the 220 (27.7).

Lake Howell also won the mile medley relay as the team of Compton, Hammontree, Tammy Holt and Fonseca recorded a time of 4:38.1. Lake Brantley won the 440 relay at 54.1.

Seminole's foul trouble also forced it to slack off a bit on the boards. Winter Park outrebounded the Lady Tribe, 30-15. Seminole also failed to capitalize on most of Winter Park's 35 turnovers.

"We got off to a little bit of a slow start because Seminole's press bothered us in the first quarter," Pinkney said. "But we got more confident as the game went on."

NBA Bans Richardson

NEW YORK (UPI) — Unable to shake his addiction to cocaine, New Jersey Nets guard Michael Ray Richardson was banned from the NBA for life Tuesday.

Richardson tested positively for cocaine a third time since the league's Jan. 1, 1984 drug plan with the Players' Association was implemented, meaning automatic banishment from the NBA. Commissioner David Stern announced.

The 30-year-old Richardson, nicknamed Sugar, was given a urine test Thursday by the Nets' team doctor, Dennis Quinlan. The results were double-checked and verified Monday night.

Stern called the action a permanent dismissal, although Richardson can apply for reinstatement in two years.

"It would be inaccurate to describe the disqualification as a two-year suspension, since reinstatement is not automatic," Stern said.

Richardson, the NBA Comeback Player of the Year in 1985 when it was thought he had overcome his drug problems, must receive the separate approvals of both the NBA and the Players' Association to be reinstated.

Basketball

"This is a tragic day for Michael Ray Richardson," Stern said. "What we have here is nothing less than the destruction by cocaine of a once flourishing career."

Richardson has been in rehabilitation centers four times, but the first two incidents occurred before the agreement between the Players' Association and the league took effect.

Reportedly beset with problems at home and with the way he was being used by Nets first-year coach Dave Wohl, Richardson displayed the first signs of his latest troubles when he disappeared for three days following a team Christmas party. He reappeared and admitted using cocaine. Richardson entered a rehabilitation center in January for his second offense.

SPORTS

IN BRIEF

7 Errors Spell Doom For Rams In Opener Against West Orange

Seven errors spelled doom for Lake Mary's Lady Rams Tuesday as they opened the prep softball season with a 9-2 loss to West Orange's Lady Warriors at Lake Mary High.

Lake Mary returns to action today at home against Mainland, then goes to Orlando to take on Boone's Lady Braves Thursday.

"A lot of it was just young mistakes," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "We started six sophomores and a freshman."

Lake Mary had six hits in the game but all six were singles and no player had more than one hit. Lady Rams' senior pitcher Beth Watkins also had her problems on the mound.

"The umpire didn't let Beth (Watkins) have the arc that she's used to and that ruined our game plan," Henry said.

Lake Mary just got a number of its top players off the junior varsity girls basketball team and they are expected to play either today or Thursday. The Lady Rams are also awaiting the arrival of senior outfielder Karen DeShetter who was on the varsity girls basketball team.

"I was pleased with some of the things I saw today," Henry said. "I think we'll be okay once we get everybody out. We just weren't ready for the season to start today."

Noah Sweeps Wilkison 6-4, 6-4

LA QUINTA, Calif. (UPI) — Fourth-seeded Yannick Noah broke serve in the third game of each set Tuesday to post a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Tim Wilkison in the second round of a $405,000 men's tennis tournament.

On Wednesday, top seed Mats Wilander of Sweden, No. 2 Jimmy Connors, No. 3 Boris Becker of West Germany, No. 5 Joakim Nystrom of Sweden, No. 6 Johan Kriek and No. 8 Jimmy Arias see their first action of the tournament.

Earlier Tuesday, Marian Vajda of Czechoslovakia overcame a shaky start to record the first upset of the tournament, beating seventh seed Scott Davis, 2-6, 6-1, 6-4, in a second-round match.

Louie Rebounds To Avenge Loss

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Maureen "Peanut" Louie, snared in a slow start against Molly Van Nostrand, remembered her loss to Van Nostrand last summer at Wimbledon.

"All I was thinking was God here we go again," said Louie of dropping behind 3-0 to Van Nostrand in the first set Tuesday. "This is the hungriest I've been in a long time."

Louie was hungry enough to win four straight games and dominate the rest of the match in a 6-4, 6-1 triumph at the $150,000 Virginia Slims of California.

A local favorite from San Francisco, Louie advanced to the second round against second-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd.

Reno Calls For Soccer Girls

Any girls interested in playing for the first Sanford Soccer Club all-girls team should contact coach Suzy Reno at 323-9087 as soon as possible.

The club is having two girls team for age 11 and over and will begin play in early March. Reno said she hopes to use these teams as a feeder for the Seminole High school squad.

Schmit Hurls Top-Ranked Rams Past Hornets, 11-0

By Chris Pfister
Herald Sports Writer

Orlando's Bishop Moore Hornets knew they were in for a tough time Tuesday before the 4A State rankings came out. When Tuesday's rankings were released, Bishop Moore found itself playing the top-ranked team in the state in Lake Mary's Rams.

The Hornets were hoping number one in the state baseball poll would be the same as the Sports Illustrated cover jinx but that wasn't the case as Lake Mary rode the two-hit pitching of Mike Schmit and an eight-run explosion in the fifth inning to an 11-0 victory at Bishop Moore High School.

Lake Mary, 10-0, returns to action Thursday night at 7:30 at

Baseball

Daytona Beach Mainland. Bishop Moore fell to 0-3 with the loss.

"The ranking's great and I think we deserve it," Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle said. "It's nice to be there now, but I want to be there in May."

Lake Mary was held to one run through four innings by Bishop Moore ace Mike Rinaldi but Schmit held the Hornets scoreless and hitless through five frames.

The Rams finally got to Rinaldi in the top of the fifth when they exploded for eight runs. T.J. Sutton singled to open the inning and took second on Shane Letterio's groundout.

Anthony Laszic followed with a single and Mike Pinckes drew a walk to load the bases. Schmit then stepped up and singled in Sutton and Laszic for a 3-0 Lake Mary lead.

Ryan Lisle kept his hot-hitting binge going as he clubbed a double over the centerfielder's head to drive in Pinckes with Schmit stopping at third. Brett Molle reached on a fielder's choice that plated Schmit and sent Lisle to third. After Molle stole second, Kelly Hysell reached on a fielder's choice to load the bases. Neal Harris, the ninth hitter in the inning, then ripped a single that drove in both Lisle and Molle for a 7-0 Lake Mary lead.

Bishop Moore then lifted Rinaldi and Steve Callahan came on in relief. Sutton greeted Callahan with a base hit that drove in Hysell and Harris scored the eighth run in the inning on Letterio's sacrifice fly.

Schmit, who had 11 strikeouts in the game, took his no-hitter into the sixth inning and had two outs in the frame when Pat Bollacker singled up the middle. Sean Flaherty came on to pitch the bottom of the seventh and struck out the side to preserve the shutout.

Life-And-Death Tennis Strangles Fun

Things were really going well. I was ahead in the match by the score of 6-3, 3-0. Every shot seemed to be working. It was well into the match, one that I was not supposed to win, as I was way ahead.

Yes, it looked like a big upset for me. I was headed straight for the finals — Right? Wrong. At 3-0 and serving in the second set something happened. Almost out of nowhere my opponent started playing better as my game became more tentative as worry crept into my mind and negative thoughts appeared.

All of a sudden I started hitting the ball short — no pace. I was just pushing it, hoping that my opponent would lose the point. I had stopped playing to win. I was now just playing and wanting my adversary to lose.

There is a big difference, you know. Before, when I was ahead 6-3, 3-0, I was hitting the ball. I was moving my opponent. I was going for winners when the opportunity presented itself, and I was playing to win.

Now as I found the game slipping by I felt tense, tentative and by the end of it just wanting to get off the court. Sound familiar? Anyone who has played a lot of serious tennis and in particularly a lot of tournaments has had this happen to them.

Larry Castle
TENNIS ANYONE?

It's not pleasant, but if a player will use it to learn from it can be an important and beneficial part of his improvement. If we don't use it to learn, though, and we find a million excuses as to why we lost, then it will very likely happen over and over again.

Indeed, it will become part of your game, it will become a habit.

There are several reasons why a player develops this habit. The main one I suppose is putting too much pressure on oneself to win. Of course, we all like to win but when it becomes a life-and-death situation it really can have an adverse effect on the way we play.

Winning should be put in proper perspective. Unless you are a professional and earn a living playing the game then winning should be secondary to playing as hard as you can and enjoying the game. If you do those two things then regardless of whether you win or lose the match you can come out a winner.

This type of attitude frees you. You play better and you enjoy it a lot more.

A weakness in a certain shot, say the backhand passing shot or the second serve, can also cause one to come apart in a tight situation. If there is only the slightest weakness in a shot it will always show up in tight spots. It will let you down when you need it most.

Drilling on a weakness will certainly help this situation and give you more confidence in the close matches.

It also helps to go into each match with a plan and an alternate plan. Scout your opponents strengths and weaknesses during his previous matches or in the warm up of your match with him. Play to his weak points, have a plan of attack but be prepared to change it if things are not going well.

Most of all have fun in your matches. It's not life and death. Tennis becomes a lot more fun when you play for the exercise and pure enjoyment of the game — let the wins and losses take care of themselves.

confidence is returning and he's starting to win when it counts. "He's a big-time wrestler," Matolini said of Tracy. "He always comes through in the big meets. He's real excited about the state tournament and everything's coming his way."

Turner will join his undefeated brother at 159 and junior Sheraton Mays at 109 along with Derick Butler (UNL) on the Seminole state team.

"The state tournament weeds out all of the weak teams and the cream rises to the top." Matolini said. "We're going to state with one goal in mind as a team and that is to crack the top 10.

Individually we want to have three state champions. Who knows? There's a possibility we could win the thing if they all three win."

Turner will find out if his season goal comes true when he steps on the mat this weekend at Lyman. "I'd be happy if I placed in the top four, but I'm not going over there for fourth place. I want to win it and I want it bad."

With that kind of desire, it is no wonder Tracy Turner has rebounded from a season of hurts to gain a berth at the state tournament.

Benton In Doubt For FJC

Cyst Surgery May Exile Sanford Star

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Sanford's Mona Benton is a "doubtful" participant but the rest of Florida Junior College's explosive Lady Stars will be on hand when the Florida Junior College Women's Basketball Tournament begins Thursday at the Seminole Community College Health Center.

Florida Junior assistant Ken Patrick said Benton had a cyst removed from her back and hasn't played in a week. "We won't know until Wednesday afternoon," Patrick said. "She's doubtful right now."

Florida Junior, 27-1 and ranked No. 3 nationally, is an overwhelming favorite to win the tournament. The Lady Stars lone loss was to Bruton Parker. "And they needed homecoming, a band and referees who didn't like us to do that," Patrick said of the 84-77 setback at Mount Vernon, Ga.

The top-seeded Lady Stars wrapped up the Mid-Florida Conference early with an unbeaten record. They will open the tournament Thursday at 2 p.m. against Brevard (17-9).

Here's a look at the other pairings:

● In the 4 p.m. game, No. 4 Manatee (19-7) takes on Santa Fe (23-2). Santa Fe is paced by Benton's ex-teammate at Seminole High, Maxine Campbell. The lefthanded sophomore is averaging 12 points per game as a point guard.

● In the 6 p.m. game, No. 3 Miami Dade North (16-5) tangles with Edison (20-4).

In the 8 p.m. game, No. 2 Pensacola (19-7) takes on Indian River (12-6).

Patrick, who does the scouting for coach Lyndal Worth, said defending champion Pensacola and Santa Fe should be the Lady Stars' biggest tests.

Patrick said the Lady Stars' sudden rise to prominence is directly attributed to Worth. "She is a former Division I coach (Valdosta State)," Patrick said. "She knows the game and what to do."

FJC is averaging over 90 points per game. Its biggest weapon is Korean gunner Hea Ju Moon, who played in an exhibition at Lake Mary High two years ago. Moon, who has range up to 25 feet, has a 43-point effort this year and is averaging 22 points per game.

"She is worth the price of admission," Patrick said about the 5-8 Seoul product who is shooting over 50 percent from the field. "Every college coach in the country is looking at her."

Moon is joined by 6-2 Betty Fishum, a 6-2 freshman from Titusville Astronaut High, and 5-10 Sheila Seymour on the front line. Lisa Jones, a 5-10 freshman, and Valerie Avant, a 5-6 Boston Parade Magazine All-America, complete the starting five.

Benton had been playing 10 minutes per game as a No. 2 guard. "Mona's defense has still got to improve," Patrick said. "She's done well offensively. She led us in scoring twice."

LADY RAIDERLESS — Coach Heana Gallagher's SCC Women will not compete in the state tournament despite hosting the event. They finished fourth last year. In an involved procedure the at-large teams were determined bases on their records in the last 11 games.

The Lady Raiders, who had a strong first half and middle of the year, didn't close well enough to qualify.

bolted to a 16-8 lead. Lake Mary misfired on 13 of its first 15 attempts before Cynthia Patterson hit two in a row.

Moore opened with four players in a man-to-man and had the fifth — defensive whiz Karen DeShetler — sagging in front of Phillips, a 6-2 senior who is Edgewater's 21-points-per-game scoring machine.

"I watched them play three times," Moore said of the Lady Eagles. "We wanted Karen to stay in front and Teri Whyte to stay in back. If Karen's girl came into the paint, she would pick her up."

Phillips said the defense frustrated her at the outset. "I think I saw that one time before this year," she said. "But coach McCarty showed us how to maneuver against it."

The attention paid to Phillips opened up the weakside and Edgewater hit several offensive rebounds in the second quarter to take a 28-19 lead into intermission. Phillips had 10 points and Sessler had eight. Patterson tossed in eight for Lake Mary and Tonya Lawson added six.

"We played our worst first half offensively all year," Moore said. "But every time we made three passes we'd score. We just didn't have the patience."

Lake Mary started quickly in the second half as Patterson scored inside. Whack then stole the ball and fed DeShetler for a driving layup. Whack again found Whyte with a lob for a layup before Lawson stole the ball and scored for a 32-29 count.

Lawson converted a free throw to draw Lake Mary within 36-34 but Sessler stuck in a rebound bucket with 52 seconds left and when Taylor's desperation 40-footer at the third-quarter buzzer banked home, Edgewater pushed its lead to 40-34.

"The same thing happened to us last year against (Orlando) Evans," Moore said about the successful heave. "That was a big bucket."

Whyte's drive narrowed the gap to four at the outset of the fourth quarter but Edgewater quickly erased Lake Mary's first charge with an 11-2 scoring spree to give it a 51-38 bulge with 5:09 left.

Whyte, a 6-4 sophomore, sparked the Lady Rams' last charge with six of her 10 third-quarter points. She scored on a short jumper over Phillips, took another nice lob from Whack a duce and then returned a rebound to pare the deficit to 51-45 with 2:57 to go.

Edgewater worked the ball into Phillips but she missed a short jumper and Patterson corralled the rebound with 2:31 to go. Whack was fouled as she moved upcourt but she missed the front end of the one-plus-one with 2:27 to go.

Three more Lake Mary turnovers followed and the Lady Eagles turned them into two buckets as they stretched the lead to 58-45 with less than a minute to play.

Sessler led all scorers with 22 points. Taylor added 12 to Phillips' 13 as the Edgewater trio combined for 47 of the 60 points. Patterson shared Lake Mary honors with Whyte with 16. Lawson tossed in 12. They had 44 of Lake Mary's 49.

EDGEWATER (40) — Sessler 22, Taylor 12, Johnson 5, Wilson 4, Culp 4, Phillips 13. Totals 28-49-0.
LAKE MARY (49) — Patterson 16, Lawson 12, Whack 1, Whyte 16, DeShetler 4, Noell 0, Leckie 0, Dawson 0. Totals 27-15-49.
Halftime — Edgewater 28, Lake Mary 19. Fouls — Edgewater 15, Lake Mary 11. Fouled out — none. Technical — none. A — 433

Cook Of The Week

Native Daughter Hails From A Family of Food Fanatics

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

"We're food fanatics," admits a member of the family, and our Cook Of The Week will agree that it doesn't take more than a hoot and a holler to gather the clan together for a fish fry or a special occasion feast.

Born and raised in Sanford, Estelle Welborn is a original hometown girl who is used to cooking for a lot of people and says, "I should write a cook book. I've re-done a lot of recipes, adding my own things and taking out some things I don't like, and they've turned out real well. I have two boxes of recipes that I've experimented with and when I hit on one that's good, I use it." One of Estelle's taste-tempters is a fruitcake that she has made for years using only eggs and applesauce for liquids. "It doesn't take long to put together," she says, "and it's so moist and really good."

Estelle was the only child for seven years until her brother Lamar came along, and says she was "a little bit spoiled." Estelle also has a sister, Shirley, and two more brothers, Gary and Bruce. With a laugh, Estelle says, "I was tomboyish when I was younger. My mother could hardly keep up with me."

Recalling how she met her husband, Herman, Estelle says, "My boyfriend's car broke down, so Herman brought my boyfriend out to see me, and I ended up with him instead of my boyfriend. I dropped my boyfriend and started going with him!" Estelle and Herman have just celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary. "and," says Estelle, "they said it wouldn't last." The Welborns are proud of their children, Glenn, Marjorie and Janice, and enjoy the company of their 7 grandchildren when they come to visit.

Estelle's days are busy keeping customers happy at the Day and Night Grill, her brother Gary's business on French Avenue in Sanford. Her family's association with the restaurant goes back a long way, to when Estelle's Aunt Gladys owned and operated The Coffee Pot, located near the old ice plant on French Avenue, later renamed The Day and Night Grill when she extended the hours. "I learned to do a lot from my aunt," says Estelle. "I started working for her on weekends when I was 16 years old, then I'd come home and show Mom what I learned there. Day by day I started picking up things about cooking."

Over the years, Estelle's family has always been involved in the food business in town, turning out finger lickin' good things to eat. At The Big Dip, which her mother, Nellie Fryer, owned for many years, Estelle worked at "throwing those steak subs out" to the hungry public, and at the Dairy Shack she whipped up a delicious plate lunch for several years.

Estelle is fortunate to have almost her entire family nearby, as they all reside on a 10 acre tract in south Sanford. With the exception of her sister Shirley and her daughter Marjorie, Estelle's brothers and her children all live within yelling distance and get together often. Every year a family reunion is held on the back five acres. That's when all the aunts, uncles, brothers, sisters and cousins gather around the pond, line all the tables with food, and just have a good time.

"I like to fish," says Estelle. "In fact, we like fish so well that we installed our own pond and stocked it, so when I get fish-hungry, we go out and catch a couple of fish and take the cooker out there and fry them right here on the patio around the pond. We just go out to the pond and have our fish fries. We had a birthday party out there and I fried fish from 8:00 one morning until 8:00 that night!"

When she's not cooking up a storm, Estelle enjoys playing bingo. "I'm a bingo person," she says, "and play about two nights a week at the Knights of Columbus." If anything puts a smile on her face real fast, it's the word "bingo!" — and thoughts of winning. Herman, who drives a payload for Inland Materials, enjoys his time off by hunting for game, but his family agrees that he's really a "workaholic." Estelle and Herman are both members of the Moose Lodge and like to attend meetings together. Family vacations usually mean an annual trip to Alabama to visit Herman's folks and catch up on the year's events.

Although Estelle claims she hasn't had a really exciting life, "just calm and collected," she says raising a family and being there for them is sometimes as exciting as an adventure novel. Estelle says she follows the philosophy, "If you believe in something, don't back down." "I have always told my children that," she added.

Estelle's philosophy in the kitchen is good, nourishing foods, prepared the way her family likes it, and none have ever complained. Below is a list of favorites that are always welcome at the dinner table:

JAMBALAYA
3 cups diced chicken
1 lb. diced smoked ham
2 cups shrimp, cleaned and deveined
½ cup bacon drippings
2 medium onions, chopped finely
3 cups diced tomatoes
1 can (12 oz.) tomato sauce
3 cloves garlic, diced
3 cups water
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. thyme
½ tsp. tabasco
½ tsp. black pepper
½ bunch parsley, chopped
1 bunch shallots or green onions, chopped
1 pkg. (18 oz.) frozen okra
1 tsp. gumbo file' or seafood seasoning
½ cup cornstarch

Melt bacon grease, add onions, garlic, shallots, chicken, ham, shrimp. Simmer until shrimp turn pink and chicken is done (if not cooked before). Add spices, tomatoes and okra. Simmer 30 minutes. Dissolve cornstarch in a little water and add to mixture. Sprinkle with gumbo file, and stir. Serve over hot steamed rice. Serves 12.

BAKED CHICKEN IN POTATO CHIPS
½ cup evaporated milk
2 tsp. parmesan cheese
1 tsp. lemon juice
¼ tsp. paprika
½ to 3 lbs. frying chicken, cut into pieces
1 pkg. (5½ oz.) bar-b-que flavored potato chips, coarsely crushed, about 1 and ¾ cups

Fashion Show Set For New Alzheimer Resource Center

The Matland Woman's Club will sponsor a Luncheon Fashion Show on March 19 from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Matland Civic Center, 641 S. Matland Ave., to benefit the new Alzheimer Resource Center. The Matland Civic Center will also receive a portion of funds raised at this event. Donations for tickets are $10.

Co-chairpersons for the Fashion-Card-Luncheon party are Mary Ellen Lenz and Elizabeth McManus. Reservations will be made for cards by groups wishing to include their clubs in the benefit by calling 305/678-3334 or 644-6026, and tickets will be mailed. Tickets may also be purchased in advance at the Matland Civic Center.

The Alzheimer Resource Center will open in May. The Resource Center was developed by Winter Park Alzheimer Groups, Inc. and will have offices in the new Alzheimer Care

4-H Wildlife Club Starts

A Wildlife Club, sponsored by Seminole County's 4-H Club, meets from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesdays in Longwood. Boys and girls ages 8-18 are invited to join in this educational program. Topics to be covered include bird feeders, taxidermy, farm pond management and deer habitats.

The club is led by Raymond Clarke, a former hunter education instructor and professional hunting/fishing guide. Clarke wants children to enjoy wildlife and outdoor living.

Interested people may contact Shelda Wilkins, 4-H agent, at 323-2500, ext. 180.

Combine first five ingredients. Dip chicken pieces in mixture and roll in potato chips. Place chicken in greased shallow baking pan, skin side up. Bake at 375 degrees about one hour or until done. Do not turn. Serves 4.

CRAB AU GRATIN

(For a large gathering, or you may divide recipe for a smaller group)

2 lbs. oleo
9 cups flour
1 3/4 gal. milk
2 cups diced onion
1 cup diced red pepper
1 loaf (2 lbs.) Velveeta cheese
18 cups diced celery
5 lbs. snow crab meat
1 tsp. curry powder
Salt and pepper to taste
Melt oleo, add flour, stir until smooth paste. Add milk, blending with wire whisk until well mixed. Add remaining ingredients and blend well. Pour into five baking pans (13 x 9 x 2), well greased. Sprinkle with parmesan cheese and bake at 375 degrees for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Serves 40.

OZARK PIE

1 egg
3/4 cup sugar
3/4 cup flour
Pinch of salt
1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1 cup unpeeled diced apples
1 cup chopped nuts
1 tsp. vanilla
Beat egg, stir in sugar, add dry ingredients. Beat until just mixed. Add remaining ingredients. Mix again until just blended. Pour into greased pie pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes.

For topping combine whipped cream and 1 can applesauce. Mix well, pour over pie and dust with powdered sugar and nuts. (Makes it similar to coffee cake).

PEANUT BUTTER CRUMB PIE

3/4 cup sifted confectioner's sugar
1/2 cup crunchy peanut butter
One 9-inch pastry shell
Mix confectioner's sugar and peanut butter together with fingers, set aside. Brown pastry shell in hot oven at 450 degrees for eight minutes or until golden brown. Let cool. Fill with peanut butter crumbs, saving 2 tablespoons out to sprinkle over the meringue before browning.

Filling:
2/3 cup sugar
1/4 cup cornstarch
1 tblsp. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
3 egg yolks
3 cups milk
1 1/2 tps. vanilla
6 level tblsp. cocoa
2 tblsps. melted butter

Mix dry ingredients in top of double boiler, stirring briskly with wire whisk. Add milk, cooking over boiling water, until mixture begins to thicken, stirring often. Add a little hot mixture to slightly beaten yolks. Return mixture to double boiler and continue cooking and stirring until thick. Add vanilla and butter. Cool mixture over ice, stirring while cooling. Pour on top of crumbs in pie shell. Top with meringue, sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Bake five minutes at 400 degrees.

Meringue:
3 egg whites at room temperature
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. vanilla
6 tblsp. sugar

VFW Auction To Benefit Charlee Feed

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10108, 300 Lake Front Blvd., Sanford, (the log cabin on the lake front) will sponsor an auction on March 8 at 1 p.m. The sale will include new and used items.

All proceeds will be donated to the Charlee Fund, a program dedicated to building six homes in Seminole County to provide homes for abused children. Donations and support are needed for the success of the auction, according to R.F. Germain, post adjutant. No item is too big or too small — too old or too new, he says.

You may deliver donated items to the post on March 7 between 1-5 p.m. or you may call Jerry Hester, 322-2194, or Thomas Oates 321-0748 for pickup. If you can't find something to donate come to the auction and find something to buy.

Germain says, "Help us help Charlee Home. We appreciate your support."

Beat egg whites with salt and vanilla until frothy. Add sugar, a little at a time, and continue beating until stiff peaks form when beater is lifted. Spread over pie filling.

DIVINE CHEESE PIE

Crust:
1 1/2 cups crushed vanilla wafers
1/4 to 1/2 cup melted margarine
Spray pie pan with Pam. Mix crumbs and margarine. Press firmly into pan. Bake at 350 degrees for five minutes. Cool five minutes.

Filling:
9 oz. cream cheese (room temp.)
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
Beat cheese, add sugar, then eggs. Blend well. Pour over cooled crust. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes, or until set. Cool five minutes, then spread with topping.

Topping:
1 cup sour cream
2 tblsp. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
Combine ingredients. Spread on cooled pie. Bake at 350 degrees for five minutes. Chill overnight.

POUND CAKE

3 sticks butter
1 box confectioner's sugar
1 sugar box of all-purpose flour, sifted
6 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1/4 tsp. salt
1 1/2 tps. vanilla
1 1/2 to 2 tps. almond extract
Have all ingredients at room temperature. Cream butter and sugar together. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flour and milk alternately, beating well. Bake at 350 degrees until top is golden and wooden pick comes out clean.

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES

6 quarts sliced, unpeeled cucumbers
1/4 cup salt
1/2 small box pickling spice
1 tblsp. celery seed
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
1 pint vinegar

Cover sliced cukes with water, add 1/4 cup salt and set in refrigerator overnight. Next day, drain and add all other ingredients plus 1 pint of water. Bring to a slow boil, stirring often. Cook 30 minutes. Pack in clean jars, seal, then place in boiling water and boil at least 10 minutes. Water should almost come to top of jar. Check lid to be sure of seal. Cool and store properly.

D.A. Says Therapy Seldom Works For Child Molesters

Dear Abby

on a honeymoon.
SEEN EVERYTHING IN NEW YORK

DEAR SEEN: Requesting money — unless specifically asked what the couple "needs" — shows very poor taste. You did not indicate how you expressed your "well wishes," but it was good of you to contribute to my "seen everything" collection. This one's a beaut.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Mollie B." and all the other people who insist that smokers have rights.

My father was a chain smoker; he died from emphysema. My mother never smoked; she died of lung cancer — probably from breathing the smoke that polluted the air in our home, our car and everywhere else my father went because he was never without his cigarettes, and

DEAR ABBY: This concerns the letter from the woman who wrote to say that her brother might be sexually molesting his stepdaughter. As district attorney, in the past seven years I have personally interviewed 140 men who have sexually molested children in their family. While long-term intensive therapy may be successful in treating some offenders, voluntary or self-referrals are almost never successful. If the offender had the self-control and initiative to stay involved in long-term treatment necessary for rehabilitation, he would most likely not have molested the child in the first place.

I would urge you to tell your readers who suspect that a child is being molested to immediately contact their local child protective unit or the police department.

Some jurisdictions have programs that provide treatment without incarceration for most incest offenders and their families where evaluation indicates that treatment will be successful. Specifically excluded from these programs, however, are pedophiles — individuals with a specific sexual preference for children. Most experts agree that there is no known successful treatment for those individuals, and they should be incarcerated.

DENNIS W. MOORE, DISTRICT ATTORNEY, JOHNSON COUNTY COURTHOUSE, OLATHE, KAN.

DEAR MR. MOORE: Of all the crimes, probably the most under-reported is that of sexually abusing a child in the family. I have consistently urged children to tell someone they trust — a teacher, a neighbor, another member of their family, or the police.

DEAR ABBY: This is my first letter to you, but I need to know what you and your readers think of the enclosed request printed at the bottom of a wedding invitation we received: "In lieu of material gifts, we request that your well wishes be expressed in money for a memorable honeymoon." By the way, the couple married last June and never did go Mom was always at his side. In all fairness, the results of smoking were not known then as they are today.

When you can smoke and keep all the smoke inside yourself and not blow it into the air that I must breathe, then you have the right to smoke, but you don't have the right to decide that I must breathe in your smoke.

AUDREY IN BOOTHWYN, PA.

DEAR AUDREY: Never has this country been so fired up about smoking. Now smoking is forbidden in the waiting rooms of doctors' offices — just the place a heavy smoker needs to smoke the most. And also the place non-smokers are least able to tolerate it.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you don't mind lending me your eyes (eyes?) for something seemingly trivial, but this bugs me no end.

I live alone, far from family. Last Christmas what do I get from my sister but a short note that amounts to a weather report. (We stopped exchanging gifts years ago, but we do exchange letters.) This "loquacious" lady with her university degree is married, has two children and lives near childhood friends and relatives.

so she has plenty to write about. It's hard for me to believe that none of these people ever say or do anything worth mentioning.

In my last letter, I asked her to please send along some juicy gossip for a change. Nothing, I've inquired as to the state of the health of a dear neighbor who had celebrated his 100th birthday three years ago. Nothing, I mentioned that I had been mugged in the park. No response. I recounted a recent automobile accident in which I narrowly escaped serious injury. No response.

I am wondering if I should quit writing to this sister, or should I continue to drop letters into a dark, bottomless pit.

WRITTEN OFF

DEAR WRITTEN OFF: Your sister's newsless letters should signal a clearly spelled-out message. She wants nothing more than a polite let's-keep-in-touch correspondence with you — if that.

Problems? Write to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. All correspondence is confidential.

Harvard Law School Women Carve Out Different Paths To Success

By Iris Keanow
UPI Feature Writer

Fresh out of Harvard Law School, they were on fire, ambitious and driven. Yet the 70 women who graduated in 1974 from the oldest, largest and most influential law school in the country aren't all the six-figure stars they once planned to be.

Only 23 percent hold partnerships in big name law firms, and some have shucked the courtroom for the homefront and babies.

In "Where They Are Now" (Doubleday, $17.95), authors Jill Abramson and Barbara Franklin take a look at this band of pioneers, where they've been and where they've arrived.

"Many of them shot out of Harvard and went at their jobs full speed ahead expecting to get an all-encompassing satisfaction from work," says Abramson. "Then they came to realize that working horrendous hours with no personal life isn't satisfying. This prompted a lot of them to look elsewhere for fulfillment."

Some 69 percent of the 70 women started at big law firms after earning their degrees, but more than half dropped out and went into other areas of law, business, or in a few cases, domesticity.

Harvard Law School '74 was a history making class. Their entry year of 1971 marked the first year any Harvard law class was more than 10 percent female, and the beginning of women hitting the law profession en masse.

Although Harvard began admitting women law students in 1950, up until the mid-'60s graduating classes that averaged 600 had a mere 10 to 15 females, and a macho aura prevailed.

"A lot of the law professors were none too thrilled to have women," says Abramson, who graduated from Harvard in 1976 with a B.A. in history and literature. Married to a radio-TV producer, Abramson is the mother of two toddlers and is a senior reporter for American Lawyer.

Co-author Franklin is a freelance writer in New York.

"One woman I interviewed for the book told me of the time her large dog followed her into a class," says Abramson. "The professor said, 'you know, Ms. McCoy, we must draw the line somewhere,' meaning 'first we have to have women and now dogs.'"

Abramson, who lives in Arlington, Va., says her biggest surprise was that more of the women in the class of '74 aren't extraordinary success stories 12 years later.

"I expected to find more superstars; a lot more partners, especially at the top firms in New York," she says.

One superstar is Diana Daniels who became a counsel at Newsweek, Inc. in September of 1979, after stints as assistant counsel at The Washington Post and as an associate with a prominent Wall Street firm.

Single and in her mid-30s, Daniels usually puts in 12 "very intense" hours each weekday and most Saturdays. Yet, she says there are no second thoughts about devoting the bulk of her time to high-pressure law.

"I like what I do. I really think my job is as good as they come," says Daniels. "There are certainly days when you sit there and want to tear your hair out. But I don't think that's a function of law. You can be a homemaker and the plumber doesn't come, the roof is leaking, the oven is broken."

"Frustration can come with whatever you do."

Daniels says being a woman lawyer doesn't spark sexism on the job. "There is no question that I am considered a valued member of the team. It's not an issue of whether you're a woman or not. It's a question of whether you're getting the work done."

If Daniels has any regrets, "it's that you can't do everything at once in life. It would be wonderful if you could have nine different lives."

For classmate Renee Chotiner, that meant temporarily abandoning her law career three years ago when the first of her two children was born, a decision she still has reservations about.

"After my first child, I didn't feel I was ready to go back to work, and I'm still putting it off," says Chotiner, 37, who lives in New Haven, Conn. "I've been sitting on the fence undecided about this for three years."

She says her life is "calmer and more peaceful than it would be if I were working now with children", but to achieve that there have been sacrifices.

"I do have a more peaceful life now, but relaxation isn't necessarily the highest priority in life. I made the choice to stay home because I want to be with my children a lot when they are very young, but I miss a lot of things about practicing law."

"No matter what your choice is, you don't get it all. If you work, you want more time with your family. And if you don't, you can feel isolated and bored."

and passed over while others get ahead."

She teaches one class at nearby Yale Law School, but "I really don't think of myself as a professional. I think of myself as a mother at home."

Another classmate who opted for home over a practice at an old-line Boston firm is Susan Roosevelt Weld, great-granddaughter of Theodore Roosevelt and wife of Massachusetts U.S. attorney William Weld.

Weld is currently working on her doctorate in East Asian legal studies via personal computer while she supervises the couple's five children. She views herself as a woman who is "doing both" family and job successfully.

"I wouldn't be happy without it," she says of her academic pursuits.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Lee Poe Jr.

Miss Graham, Bobby Poe Jr. Repeat Vows

Deborah Dawn Graham and Bobby Lee Poe Jr. were married Nov. 16, at 2:30 p.m., in the Westview Baptist Church, Paula Road, Sanford. The Rev. Dr. Roger W. Maslin performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Graham, 311 Clermont Drive, Lake Mary. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Lee Poe Sr., 5031 Chateau Court, Temple Terrace.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal white lace gown fashioned along the Victorian silhouette. Tiers of lace ruffles fell gracefully to a train embellished with tiny pearls. The long sleeves were trimmed with pearls at the wrists, and her waist-length veil of illusion fell from a pearl and sequin tiara. The bride carried a nosegay of white orchids and burgundy lily's breath in keeping with the burgundy and white theme carried throughout the ceremony.

Phyllis Rodlum served as maid of honor and Eric Cooper was the bridegroom's best man. Ushers were John Smith and Randy Burnham. Shirley Grieme and Cathy Griffith played piano, and Glenn Welborn played guitar and sang.

The church was decorated with palms, ferns and lilies to create an indoor garden atmosphere, and the ceremony was held in front of a flowered arch. A reception was held in the church following the wedding, and a three-tiered wedding cake was served.

The couple are making their home in Tampa where the bridegroom works for CFW Inc. The bride attends the University of South Florida.

Seafood Chefs Challenge State

Florida's Governor Bob Graham has challenged several states to bring their best seafood and best chef to Tallahassee for a seafood cookoff dual. The states of Alabama, Louisiana, New Jersey, North Carolina, and South Carolina accepted the challenge to compete against Florida in the 1986 Seafood Superbowl. The culinary event will be held March 5, at the William Johnston Building, Hospitality Administration, Florida State University, Tallahassee, Florida.

Judges for this event are Chef Thomas Catherall, CMC, President of the Georgia Chapter of the American Culinary Federation; Chef Baron Galand, CEC, President of the American Culinary Federation; and Chef Anthony Seta, CMC, President of the Lexington, Kentucky Chapter of the American Culinary Federation, and Corporate Chef for Long John Silver's.

The mouthwatering aromas will steep throughout the kitchen at 8 a.m. as the chefs begin creating their prize seafood entrees. Culinary skills of the most respected chefs will be featured along with their artistic renderings of seafood preparation.

Florida's representative was chosen during a preliminary cookoff, "The Second Annual Governor's Cup for Seafood Excellence." Chef Keith Keogh, CEC, of Walt Disney World's Epcot Center, won the second time by preparing his original Florida seafood recipe, "Seafood Roll Lighthouse Key." Representatives from other states include: Chef Joe Roszkowski, Original Oyster House, Gulf Shores, Alabama; Chef Alex Patout, Patout's Restaurant, New Iberia, Louisiana; Chef Craig Lasky, Ryland Inn, White House, New Jersey; Chef Eberhard "Eddy" Giel, CEC, Director of Operations, Barclay Enterprises, Inc., Charlotte, North Carolina; and Chef Ernest Herzog, Wild Dunes Resort, Isle of Palms, South Carolina.

Stuff Eggplant or zucchini.

Potpourri

Try Stuffed Vegetables As Main Dishes

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Serving stuffed vegetables as a main dish or as part of an antipasto is an Italian favorite. This is easy to do at home. An example is a very special sausage-stuffed zucchini. It sounds difficult, but with today's prepared ingredients, it is far from time-consuming.

SAUSAGE-STUFFED ZUCCHINI

- 4 medium (8 ounces each) zucchini
- 8 ounces sweet Italian sausage links
- 3 tablespoons olive oil, divided
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce, divided
- 1 cup Italian-style bread crumbs, divided

Cook zucchini in boiling, salted water to cover until tender but firm, about 5 minutes. Drain and cool. Cut a lengthwise slice from each zucchini. With the tip of a spoon or serrated knife, remove pulp from each zucchini, leaving a 1/2-inch-thick shell. Chop pulp and reserve. 1/2 cups (use remaining pulp in soups).

Remove sausage from casing. In a medium skillet heat 1 tablespoon of the olive oil. Add sausage and reserved pulp. Cook over medium-high heat until sausage is browned, about 5 minutes. Drain off drippings. Add 1/2 cup of the tomato sauce, bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer covered for 15 minutes. Meanwhile, preheat oven to 350 degrees. Stir 1/2 cup of the bread crumbs into the sausage mixture; spoon into the zucchini shells. Place in a shallow greased baking pan. Bake, uncovered, for 20 minutes.

Mix remaining 2 tablespoons olive oil with the remaining 1/2 cup bread crumbs. Sprinkle over the zucchini. Bake until golden, 8 to 10 minutes. Heat and serve remaining tomato sauce over zucchini. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 portions.

STUFFED EGGPLANT MEDITERRANEAN

- 2 medium (1 1/2 pounds each) eggplants
- Salt
- Water
- 1 cup chopped fresh tomato
- 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons Italian-style bread crumbs, divided
- 1/2 cup chopped, pitted black olives
- 4 anchovy fillets, chopped (optional)
- 2 tablespoons olive oil

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cut eggplants in half lengthwise. Salt liberally, let stand for 30 minutes; scrape away moist salt. Scoop out and reserve pulp; center from eggplants, leaving 1/2-inch-thick shells.

In a large saucepan, bring 3 quarts water to a boil. Add eggplant shells. Simmer, uncovered, until slightly softened, about 2 minutes. Drain upside-down on paper towels. Chop enough of the reserved eggplant pulp to measure 1 cup (use remaining in casseroles, stews, etc.).

Combine tomato, 1 cup bread crumbs, olives and anchovies with spooned eggplant shells. Place in a greased baking pan.

Bake until eggplant shells can be easily pierced with a fork, about 15 minutes. Combine remaining 2 tablespoons bread crumbs with olive oil. Sprinkle over eggplant. Bake until crumbs are golden brown, 8 to 10 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 portions.

GERMAN MUSHROOM-BEEF STEW

- 1 pound fresh mushrooms or 2 cans (6 to 8 ounces each) whole mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 2 pounds shoulder or stewing beef, cut into 1 1/2-inch cubes
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup chopped onions
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 2 cups carrots, halved lengthwise and cut into 2-inch strips
- 2 beef bouillon cubes
- 3 strips (2 inches each) lemon peel
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 4 whole cloves
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 cup grated rye bread crumbs

Rinse, pat dry and halve fresh mushrooms or drain canned mushrooms; set aside. In a large heavy saucepot, heat oil. Add beef, brown on all sides, about 10 minutes. Remove from pot and set aside. In the same saucepot melt butter; add onions and reserved mushrooms; saute for 3 minutes. Return beef to saucepot with remaining ingredients except bread crumbs. Bring to boiling point; reduce heat. Cover and simmer until beef is tender, about 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Stir in bread crumbs. Serve with cooked noodles, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 portions.

SWEET 'N PUNGENT SPREAD

- 1/4 cup prepared spicy brown mustard or Chinese mustard
 - 1/4 cup bottled sweet and sour sauce or duck sauce
 - 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- Stir all ingredients together until well mixed. Cover and store in the refrigerator (Yield: 3/4 cup)

STUFFED EGGPLANT MEDITERRANEAN

- 2 medium (1 1/2 pounds each) eggplants
- Salt
- Water
- 1 cup chopped fresh tomato
- 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons Italian-style bread crumbs, divided
- 1/2 cup chopped, pitted black olives
- 4 anchovy fillets, chopped (optional)
- 2 tablespoons olive oil

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cut eggplants in half lengthwise. Salt liberally, let stand for 30 minutes; scrape away moist salt. Scoop out and reserve pulp; center from eggplants, leaving 1/2-inch-thick shells.

In a large saucepan, bring 3 quarts water to a boil. Add

Light's Right

How To Make Diet Foods Taste Great

Eating light and sensibly is in! A greater emphasis is being placed on a well-balanced diet of nourishing foods that are lighter in calories. The trick is to make "light" foods taste great so that eating sensibly becomes a habit for life.

Some ways to make "light" taste good lie in the foods you choose — like seafood, vegetables and fruits such as citrus. Others include the ways you cook. Today's popular techniques of preparing foods such as steaming over water, grilling or broiling, microwaving and stir-frying intensify the flavors of light foods and seasonings, giving them added vibrancy and impact.

Presented here are a selection of food ideas featuring ideal partners for light yet highly enjoyable good eating — Alaska seafood and fresh citrus. The bright flavor of citrus highlights the mild flavors of fish and shellfish, reducing the need for rich sauces and accents.

Steaming, an excellent way to keep calories down and flavor up, is used in Steamed Whitefish with Vegetables 'n' Lemon. Zesty fresh lemon provides refreshing flavor with few calories and little sodium added to the delectable "meal in one entree."

Salmon Steaks with Herbed Lemon Butter features this succulent fish from the icy water of Alaska topped with flavorful lemon herbed butter. The salmon may be barbecued, grilled or broiled and any leftover lemon butter can be refrigerated or frozen to use later on vegetables.

Choice Alaska halibut, baked in foil with dill and fresh grated orange peel, is presented with a colorful orange sauce that complements this delicately flavored seafood.

For Northwest Salmon Burritos, convenient canned salmon teams up with fresh lemons, cheese, spicy seasonings and tortillas. Microwaving is the cooking method, a lighter approach for preparing Mexican entrees.

Requiring a minimum of cooking time, Snow Crab Stir-Fry is a blend of Alaska Snow crab, fresh vegetables and lemon. Available year-round, Alaska Snow crab is fully cooked, cleaned, low in fat and calories and ready to enjoy.

What better way to go "light" in a delicious way than with Alaska seafood and fresh citrus!

STEAMED WHITEFISH WITH VEGETABLES 'N' LEMON

- 1 cup julienned carrots
- 4 medium mushrooms
- 1 teaspoon fresh grated lemon peel
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 1 Sunkist lemon, peeled and very thinly sliced
- 1/2 pound Alaska cod, pollack or rockfish fillets, thawed if necessary and cut into serving-sized pieces
- 4 medium uncooked shrimp (optional)
- 4 shucked oysters (optional)
- 4 broccoli flowerets

Arrange carrots and mushrooms in bottom of steamer basket. Combine lemon peel, salt and pepper; sprinkle some of mixture over vegetables. Place lemon slices over vegetables; top with seafood. Arrange broccoli near edge of steamer. Sprinkle with remaining lemon peel mixture. Steam 10 to 12 minutes over simmering water or until whitefish flakes when tested with a fork. Garnish with lemon slices, if desired. Makes 2 servings.

*A steamer rack, placed over 1/2 to 3/4 inch simmering water, can be used.

SALMON STEAKS WITH HERBED LEMON BUTTER

- 1 cup butter or margarine, softened
- Grated peel of 1/2 lemon
- 1 tablespoon fresh squeezed lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh herbs (a combination of tarragon, basil and/or rosemary)*
- 1/4 teaspoon seasoned salt

Combine butter, lemon peel, lemon juice, parsley and herbs in a small bowl. Beat with a fork until well mixed. Refrigerate until needed.

CAJUN QUICHE

- 1/2 cup uncooked regular rice
- 1 can (16 oz.) tomatoes, undrained
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons butter, divided
- 1/2 cup (4 oz.) chopped chicken livers
- 6 eggs, divided
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup milk

Reduce heat, cover and simmer until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed, about 15 to 20 minutes. Meanwhile, in medium skillet over medium heat, cook chicken livers in 1 tablespoon of the butter until tender but not brown, about 1 to 2 minutes. In medium bowl, beat 1 of the eggs. Add cooked rice and chicken livers. Stir until thoroughly combined. To form crust, press mixture onto bottom and up sides of greased 9-inch pie plate, forming thick edge around rim. Set aside.

Seafood and citrus combine for an exciting dining venture.

- 1/4 teaspoon white pepper
- 4 to 6 (about 6 ounces each) Alaska salmon steaks, thawed if necessary

Vegetable oil

Fresh lemon wedges
Combine all ingredients except salmon steaks, oil and lemon wedges. On waxed paper, shape butter mixture into 1x7-inch roll or rectangle; wrap and chill. Lightly brush both sides of salmon steaks with oil. Barbecue, grill or broil 4 inches from heat 4 to 6 minutes on each side or until fish flakes when tested with a fork. Slice butter mixture into patties. To serve, top salmon steaks with herbed butter patties and garnish with lemon wedges and additional parsley, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

NORTHWEST SALMON BURRITOS

- (Microwave Version)
- 1 can (7 1/2 to 7 3/4 ounces) Alaska salmon
- 1/4 cup each chopped green onions, chopped tomatoes and canned diced green chilies
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 3/4 cup shredded Cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese, divided
- Juice of 1/2 Sunkist lemon
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh cilantro or fresh coriander (optional)
- 4 (8 inches each) flour tortillas
- Favorite prepared or homemade salsa
- Drain salmon, reserving 2 tablespoons liquid; flake. In microwave-proof dish, microwave green onions, tomatoes, green chilies and

ORANGE BAKED HALIBUT A LA CARRE

- 4 (about 6 ounces each) Alaska halibut steaks, thawed if necessary
- Vegetable oil
- Grated peel of 1/2 orange
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon dried dill weed
- 2 green onions, cut into thin 2-inch strips
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup fresh squeezed orange juice
- 1/2 cup apple juice
- 1/2 teaspoon cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon (optional)
- 2 oranges, peeled, cut in half-cartwheel slices and well-drained. Line a 12x8x2-inch shallow baking dish with foil. Lightly brush both sides of halibut steaks with oil; arrange in dish. Sprinkle with orange peel and dill. Cover dish with foil and bake at 450°F, allowing 10 to 12 minutes cooking time per inch of thickness measured at its thickest part, or until halibut flakes when tested with a fork. Meanwhile, make sauce. In saucepan, saute green onions in butter. Gradually blend orange and apple juice into cornstarch and chicken bouillon. Add to butter mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring until thickened. Add orange half-cartwheel slices; heat. To serve, spoon sauce over halibut steaks. Makes 4 servings.

*One teaspoon dried herbs, crushed, can be used.

Tip: Remaining herbed butter mixture can be refrigerated or frozen and used not only on fish but also on cooked vegetables.

Tip: One tablespoon chopped cilantro can be added to each 1/2 cup of salsa.

SNOW CRAB STIR-FRY

- 1 1/2 pounds Alaska Snow crab clusters, single-cut legs or split legs, thawed if necessary
- 1 small clove garlic, minced
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 cup each julienned yellow peppers, green peppers and beana*
- 4 green onions, cut into 1 1/2-inch pieces
- Grated peel of 1/2 lemon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon each thyme, crushed, and sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed chili pepper (optional)
- Juice of 1/2 lemon

Rinse crab under cool water. Remove crab meat from shells. Heat garlic in oil. Stir-fry vegetables until peppers are crisp-tender. Season with lemon peel, salt, thyme, sugar and chili pepper. Add crab and lemon juice; heat thoroughly. Makes 2 or 3 servings.

*Drained, sliced water chestnuts can be substituted.

Bayou Basics Enhance A Lively Egg Custard In Cajun Quiche

Cajun cuisine is hearty, spicy, fare, born in the French countryside and bred in the bayous of southern Louisiana. The seas, swamps and fields of the region provide the essential ingredients for this kitchen creativity. In the Cajun culinary style, onions, green peppers and celery flavor a multitude of dishes and red (cayenne) pepper is considered of paramount importance! These bayou basics enhance a lively egg custard baked in a crust that emulates the popular dish — "dirty rice" — in Cajun Quiche. Altogether, an abundance of vegetables and aromatic seasonings make this entree wonderfully full-bodied in flavor, yet low in calories.

A Cajun motto, "Every time you cook a recipe it's the same, only different" could very well apply to cooking with Cajun. Their mild, go-with-everything flavor allows eggs to be combined with a kaleidoscope of regional and ethnic ingredient favorites.

Since foods from the bountiful bays of Arcadian (Cajun) country form an edible culture that needs to be savored to be understood, why not start with a slice of Cajun Quiche?

Reduce heat, cover and simmer until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed, about 15 to 20 minutes. Meanwhile, in medium skillet over medium heat, cook chicken livers in 1 tablespoon of the butter until tender but not brown, about 1 to 2 minutes. In medium bowl, beat 1 of the eggs. Add cooked rice and chicken livers. Stir until thoroughly combined. To form crust, press mixture onto bottom and up sides of greased 9-inch pie plate, forming thick edge around rim. Set aside.

In same skillet over medium heat, cook celery, green pepper and onion in remaining 1 tablespoon butter until tender but not brown, about 3 to 5 minutes. Sprinkle into prepared crust. Beat together 5 remaining eggs, milk and seasonings until well blended. Pour over vegetables. Bake in preheated 375°F oven until knife inserted near center comes out clean, 30 to 40 minutes. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes before serving. Garnish with pepper ring, tomato slice and basil leaves, if desired.

Lack Of Weight Loss Not Material To Drug Effect

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am taking Hydrodiuril for my blood pressure. I have taken it for nine months so far and I can't seem to lose any weight. Is it doing any good?

DEAR READER — The initial weight loss most people experience when taking a diuretic (kidney stimulant) like hydrochlorothiazide is due to excretion of excess body water. The weight loss will not continue after your fluid balance reaches a steady state. Nonetheless, the medicine will usually continue to reduce your blood pressure. Therefore, you will know the drug is effective only if your hypertension is controlled; the weight loss is largely immaterial. I should add that not all people will lose weight when they take diuretics.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have "attacks" that start out as a tingle in the inside corner of my right eye, and my eye starts to water. I get severe pain there, the eye becomes swollen, and eventually my whole head starts to pound. My upper teeth ache, my ear aches, there's a loud humming in my whole head and the pain is excruciating. I've had four episodes in the five years. They last three days. My doctor says it is an accumulation of pain sensation from all over my body that has localized in my eye. Do you have any idea what could cause this? I'm not a hypochondriac, nor have I ever had mental problems. I do live with stress, since I have two teenagers and we farm for a living.

DEAR READER — Your symptoms suggest the possibility of a vascular headache of the migraine type. Ask your doctor to refer you to a neurologist. If you are having vascular headaches, the specialist will be able to diagnose them and recommend appropriate treatment.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I hope you will tell your readers about the dangers of chewing tobacco. Besides being a filthy, addictive habit, it's harmful.

DEAR READER — Chewing tobacco is a harmful habit. Unfortunately, it is gaining popularity among adolescents who want to be "macho." Smokeless tobacco is a recognized cause of mouth and throat cancer, aside from its very social disadvantages. Your concerns are well-founded.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband and I can no longer have sexual relations because it's too painful for him. He won't discuss it with me and won't go to a doctor. I notice that he has blood in his urine and I feel that this is something to be concerned about, but he doesn't. What condition could cause these symptoms?

DEAR READER — Your husband may have an infection or a tumor. He definitely requires medical evaluation.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

North American championships had a distinctively Canadian flavor last year, with the spring meeting in Montreal and the fall tournament in Winnipeg. Those of you who have not tired of traipsing north of the border can look forward to July of this year, when the championships will be held in Toronto. The Canadian climate must agree with Roger Bates of New York. He won the Life Master Men's Pairs with John Mohan in the fall, and last March finished second in the Men's Teams in Montreal. Note his expertise in the play of today's six-heart contract.

After leading the diamond ace, West continued with diamonds, thinking his partner might have a singleton. Bates ruffed high in dummy, played a heart to his 10 and ruffed his last small trump. He now drew trumps and stopped to consider what the defenders' distribution might be. East had shown up with only four red cards, and he probably would have pre-empted if he had seven or more clubs. If he held three spades, was there a way to bring in the contract? Roger Bates found the answer. He ran off all his trumps and then the good king of diamonds. Dummy was down to A-K alone of spades and the Q-6 of clubs. East now had to either unguard the spades or blank the king of clubs. On the diamond king East discarded a spade. Declarer cashed dummy's A-K of spades and came to his hand with the club ace to make the 12th trick with what was now a good nine of spades.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY FEBRUARY 27, 1986

A loving and loyal friend will be of great help to you in the year ahead in improving your financial position. He will look out for your interest without having to be asked.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Bravado and brawn are not the tools required to achieve success today. But you will scale the heights by using your ingenuity and resourcefulness. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) I, behooves you to be a good listener when talking to a bright associate today. He could furnish you with several valuable viewpoints.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Considerable time and effort can be saved today by figuring out new methods to complete old tasks. Don't put limitations on your imagination.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today, while others will be trying to grasp the essence of a problem, you'll be the one who will come up with two or three solutions. All are apt to be good.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Normally it's not to our advantage to work under pressure. But today the more you have to do, the better you're likely to perform.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Try to get as much as possible accomplished early in the day so that you will have open hours in the afternoon. Something fun may pop up.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Lady luck is your ally today and she will help you turn around a situation from a loser into a winner. Make your moves when you sense her presence.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) To satisfy your restlessness today, you'll have to move around both mentally and physically. Do things that take you out of your home or office.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're still in a cycle where you will derive benefits from situations initiated by others, but the payoff might not be immediate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is a fortunate period for you for establishing valuable contacts. Go places today where you'll have opportunities to meet new people.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An important career objective is achievable today, but it might require a second or even third effort. Don't give up when you get a no.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Something you've been hoping for could finally come through today, but it's not likely to occur in the manner you have blueprinted.

The Equalizer: Whacks Without The Wheeze

By Mark Schwed
NEW YORK (UPI) — Think Sonny Crockett is cool. Ricardo Tubbs is too tough. MacGyver is Mr. MacBad? Clearly, you haven't been "Equalized."

Judging by the ratings, there are quite a few people in television land who have not had the pleasure of becoming acquainted with Robert McCall, better known as "The Equalizer," the coolest cat on TV.

That may soon change. As of March 25, "The Equalizer" gets a new day on CBS, moving from Wednesday to Tuesday at 10-11 p.m. EST, and a new twist on the concept. An internationally recognized expert on terrorism has been hired as a consultant to fine tune the scripts and inject more reality into the series and more attention will be given to explaining McCall's background.

You have to know McCall to love him. Played eloquently by Edward Woodward, 55, McCall is the supreme silver-haired stud, Rambo-like in his violent excesses and Alan Alda-like in his sensitivity. He has grace, impeccable taste, charismatic charm, wry wit, superior intelligence and culture in his bones. He is a perfect gentleman, even when blowing away the bad guys. And his guns are so fine. The man delivers whacks without the slightest hint of a wheeze. Can this be cool?

"Yes, he is that," Woodward said during a break in filming a scene about a terrorist attack at a wedding.

Woodward is so smooth and his British accent so refined that even gruff talk sounds poetic. He comes prepared for the role, having played the ghost of Christmas past in "A Christmas Carol" with George C. Scott and "Breaker Morant" in the movie "Breaker Morant." He also sings and, hear this, the guy actually recites poetry in his spare time.

McCall is a new kind of man for television. Sure, "The Equalizer" is the same old bang bang shoot-em-up stuff. But McCall comes across as a real human being, even though he drives a black Jaguar and wears black leather driving gloves. He is a believable guy, even though the program's premise is preposterous: an ex-operative quitting the agency to become a vigilante-for-hire who gets his clients by taking out classified ads in newspapers.

Women swoon over him, though not with the same vigor as with Don Johnson and Philip Michael Thomas of "Miami Vice." But even here the way of the swoon is different. You get the idea Crockett and Tubbs are one-night-stand kind of guys, while McCall would make someone a mighty fine husband. They'd cradle his head in their lap, whisper in his ear that "it'll be all right," and hold onto him for dear life.

He is a genuine macho man with a very real Achilles' heel — his heart.

In a recent episode a bad guy charged McCall, his fists flailing and his eyes tearing. McCall didn't smack him to the ground. He hugged him.
