Light Shed On Christmas

The good St. Nicholas would often make his appearance... riding jolly among the trees... or over the roofs of houses, now and then drawing forth magnificent presents from his breeches pockets, and dropping them down the chimneys of his favorites.

Theodor Kohnen's "History of New York" by Washington Irving

From a telegram by General Sherman to President Lincoln, Christmas Day, 1864: "I beg to present to you as a Christmas gift the city of Savannah."

And the angel said unto them: fear not for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Son, which is Christ the Lord.

—Luke II, 10 and 11

A midday Christmas dinner in the Rockies, 1856: pork, elk, antelope, buffalo, grizzly bear, squirrel, prairie dog and mountain rat; then swan, crane and quail.

England's Henry V lifted the siege of Rouen just long enough to permit food to get through for a Christmas celebration.

There is no record of Jesus' birthdate. Some early church scholars urged that it be celebrated in January. Others pressed for March, April, or September.

Hanukkah, Christmas Foster Respect

Maybe some Jewish parents enjoy the image of Santa as much as their children do. Said one mother, "The children believe in Santa to not hurt my feelings. I sometimes try to see the big presents for Christmas day. They just come soles by the fireplace, but they stay empty. Santa Claus belongs to all sects, the children don't believe he's a religious figure."

They go to synagogue and at Hanukkah the house is decorated with stars of David. The family eats potato pancakes, and the children get a present every night. But every year, the children ask for Christmas lights outside the house.

Behind all the Christian and Jewish symbols — the tree, the star of Bethlehem, the menorah, the star of David — is the effort by the parents to be sure their children understand the basic differences.

"We visited a friend who had a huge Christmas tree, and that widened their horizons," says a Jewish mother.

With all of the hoopla, the merrymaking, the festive shopping mania, the neighbors vying with each other to decorate the house, etc., etc., one wonders at how our non-Christian brothers react to the secular celebration of "Christmas."

What do Jewish children do when their neighbors' brightly colored Christmas lights come on, the trees are laden with baubles and the stockings are hung by the television set...? How do their parents answer questions about Santa Claus? Said one mother, whose Jew-

Youths 'Dribble In' To Register For National Voting

Seminole County's youth have been "just dribbling in" to register under the 18-year-old vote act, according to Camilla Bruce, supervisor of elections. Fifty-one have registered since the books were opened to them on Nov. 9. Among those and the very first on the list was this writer.

Of the 51 registered, 32 were boys, while 19 girls registered. Only one Negro has registered and of the 51 registered, 32 are 18-year-olds, 18 are 19-year-olds and 10 are 20-year-olds.

A breakdown shows that the boys have split almost evenly on party affiliations. Sixteen selected the Republican Party, 14 went to the Democratic Party, one signed up as an Independent and another registered under the Social Workers Party.

The girls, on the other hand, went almost entirely to the Democratic Party. Fourteen registered as Democrats, with four Republicans and one Independent.

In comparison with Orange County, Seminole County, 344,700 strong, has had only 75 sign up, with most of them 19 and 20-year-olds.

To date, the local office has had no instructions on the young voters registrations. Mrs. Dorothy Gillson, chief of elections division under the Secretary of State, told Mrs. Bruce that she has received no information on the matter since the Supreme Court gave its approval last week for national voting.

It will mean more work for the department, as it must issue special cards, and must keep special tabs on the young voters, so as to move them up after they reach their 21st birthday.

And right away, some of our military brass in Washington brand it as "propaganda." I'd prefer to believe that it was an "opinion" of those captured men in regards to the limitation of this senseless war; notwithstanding the fact that I'm not willing to believe that all of our prisoners are being treated in that luxurious manner.

But then again, I'm looking at this message through a different pair of colored glasses. I suppose... mine are colored with too much bloody-red.

And since they brought up the subject of propaganda... how about our casualties? For how many weeks now have we been told that it's the lowest ever: "only" three this day, or 10 all week... Did you know that as of this moment, for this year alone, there have been approximately 4,500 killed in Nam? According to my math, that's an average of 90 per week. And then we have some who insist on referring to that total as ONLY so many killed...

I want our men out... NOW. Not after another 4,500 have been killed... nor to coincide with the elections in '72... not a lot of double-talk about how we can't do it right now. Why not? Why not, right now?

South Vietnam has more men in uniform right now than does the Viet Cong... she has the comfort of complete air superiority, as well as the protection of our Navy (not counting all of the ships and boats we've turned over to them...)

So, if they have this vastly superior position right now and can't control the situation (that's one of the reasons I'm told we can't pull out now), then how will this situation change any in two years?

Other than sacrificing more American blood, that is...

Peace is not absence of war, it is a virtue, a state of mind, a disposition for benevolence, confidence, justice. —Benedict Spinoza

Further Delay On Decision Rumored Hassle Over Zoo Before City Again

By BILL SCOTT

Petitions, spokesmen for concerned citizens groups and other interested spectators are expected to fill Sanford City Hall to overflowing tonight as backers of keeping the city zoo show their opposition to the City Commission's decision to phase out the attraction.

Representatives from SISTER, women's civic improvement group; Sanford school teacher Carmen Gager's "Save the Zoo" movement; city of Sanford zoo committee and others have announced plans to keep the zoo at tonight's commission session.

The city's zoo committee, headed by its chairman, City Commissioner Gordon Meyer, will offer plans and suggestions for starting a non-profit zoological society to relocate the animals from the existing site to a new designated 14-acre zoo facility, located adjacent to The Sanford Herald.

City Commission will be asked to lease the new site for 99 years; the present site for two years and appropriate $30,000 from budget funds originally slated for zoo relocation to the zoological group, now in the process of being formed.

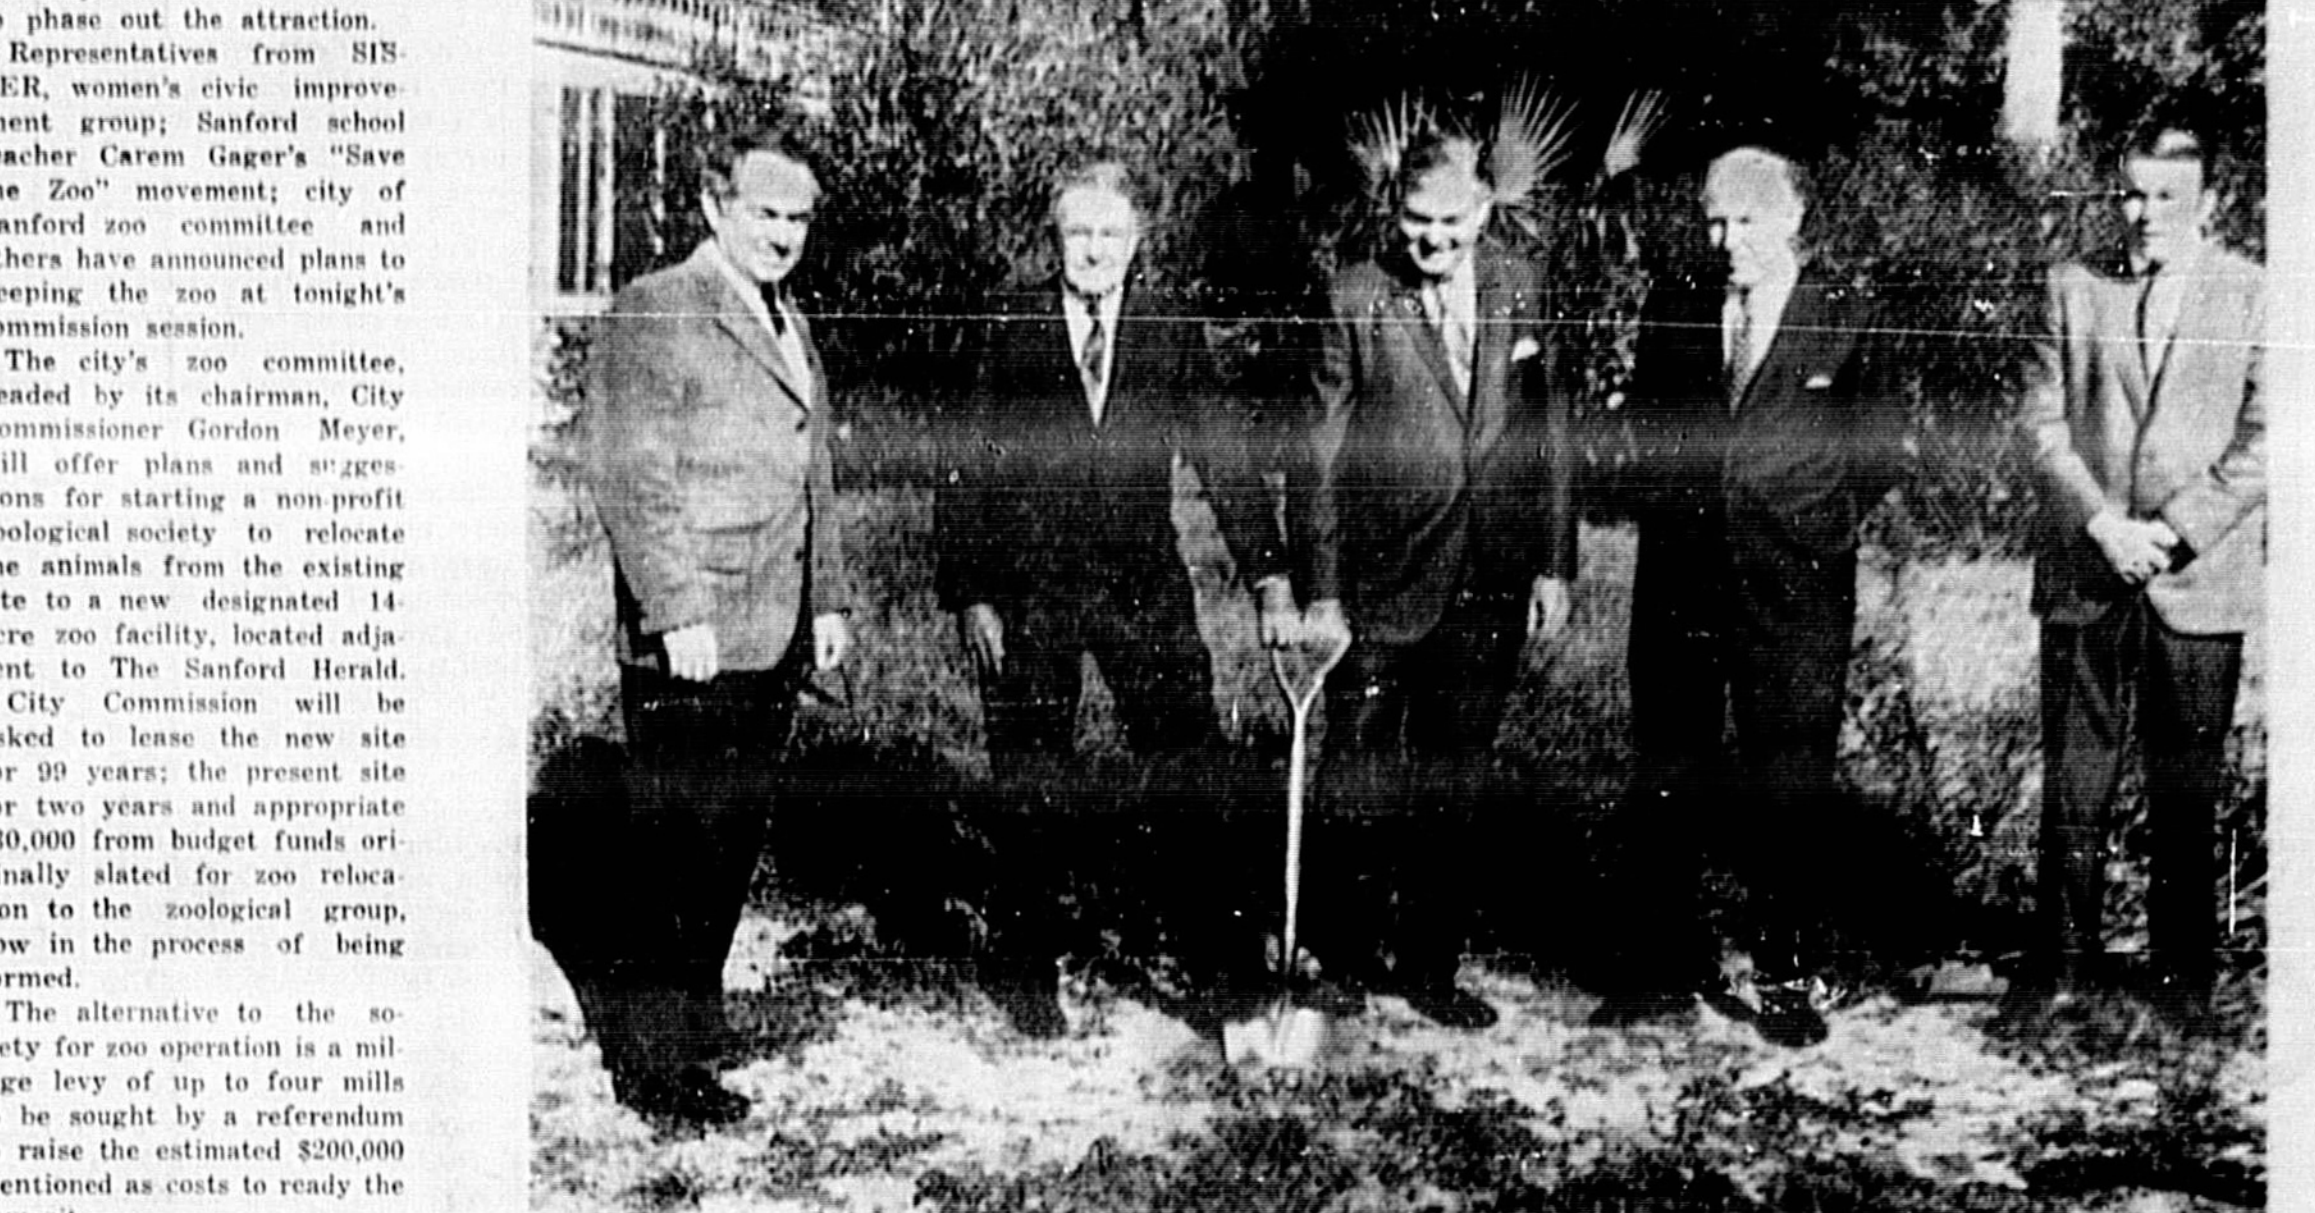

The alternative to the society for zoo operation is a millage levy of up to four mills to be sought by a referendum to raise the estimated $200,000 mentioned as costs to ready the new site.

Rumor has it that the City Commission will table action on the requests until more information is obtained on how the society will be set up and what officers will be appointed. Another point — road clarification will be the legality of releasing public funds to private groups.

These problems are expected to prevent the commission from acting on the proposed paving of city's east-west streets in Goldboro area.

Headed House Armed Forces Unit Veteran Solon Dies Of Heart Failure

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Rep. J. Mendel Rivers, the colorful and controversial chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, died today 11 days after he had undergone open heart surgery. He was 65.

The white-haired South Carolina Democrat died at the University of Alabama Medical Center, where a leaky mitral valve in his heart was replaced with one made of plastic Dec. 11. Doctors said he would have become an invalid had he not undergone the surgery.

The hospital in a one-sentence statement said, "Congressman Mendel Rivers died at 1:48 a.m. CST, Monday, Dec. 28, of continuing heart failure." Doctors had said Sunday he was making "slow progress." He had suffered heart stoppages Dec. 20 and Sunday. His ailment apparently stemmed from a bout with rheumatic fever during his childhood.

Rivers was the hawkish chairman of the powerful congressional committee, was a hero to servicemen everywhere and a recurring thorn in the flesh of their civilian bosses. He took the servicemen's side in most Pentagon battles and aggravated presidents and defense secretaries alike with his insistence that Congress had a constitutional right to make major decisions affecting the military.

With his death, the chairmanship of the committee, under traditional seniority rules, passed temporarily to Rep. Philip J. Philbin, D-Ma.

Youth Held For Dope Charges

Sanford police Saturday night arrested an 18-year-old Gainesville student on possession of marijuana charges.

John Michael Bell, 18, was charged after Detective Ralph Russell and William Foster, Lt. William Smith, Sgt. Charles Tate and Patrolman Eddie Hughes stopped Bell's car after a period of observation.

Bell was transferred yesterday to the Seminole County jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

In other police action, Sgt. Richard Nouny reported a theft of two television sets, clothing and other items from a residence at intersection of Sixth Street and Sanford Avenue.

Mother Hurt By Own Automobile

Shirley W. Starke, 2627 Derbyshire Road, near Casselberry, was lodged in Winter Park Memorial Hospital Sunday evening with serious injuries after she was struck by her own car.

According to the report filed by Deputy Sheriff Raymond C. Parker, Mrs. Starke left her three-year-old son alone in the car when she stopped at a laundry at Oxford Road and SR 456 intersection.

The child released the gear, causing the car to strike the woman as she walked in front to enter the laundry.

Deputy Parker reported Mrs. Starke was carried 30 feet on the car's hood before she dropped off.

The vehicle finally stopped after striking a parked auto nearby, but the woman suffered a fractured shoulder, broken leg, crushed ankle and possibly internal injuries.

Two persons, a man and woman, received injuries after the car in which they were traveling on South Cameron Avenue left the road and struck a tree.

In a Christmas night mishap, Almond J. Wright, 33, DeBerry, and Shirley Robertson, of Sanford, were removed to Seminole Memorial Hospital, after the collision caused Wright a dislocated knee and ankle and Mrs. Robertson suffered a fractured jaw, according to Deputy W. S. Vinton's report.

Dunedin Ballplayer Seen In Film Action

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — The young man on the television screen was playing volleyball, a game he had enjoyed 16 years before when he was a student at Dunedin High school.

But even though 36-year-old Navy Lt. Gerald Gartley now played the game within the confines of a North Vietnamese prison camp, his parents were happy to watch. It was only the second time they had seen their son since his Phantom jet fighter-bomber was knocked out of the skies over North Vietnam Aug. 16, 1968.

"We are just so lucky to be able to see him, and we're so glad," Gartley said. "So many families don't even know if their sons or husbands or brothers or fathers are alive and we feel very fortunate to be able to see our boy and know he's okay."

Lieutenant Gartley was shown in a film made Dec. 24 by the Canadian Broadcasting Company and shown on American television networks Sunday.

91st Congress Closing After SST 'Way Out'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ended its Christmas recess today, its last legislative day, as it voted out of its SST boundary so the 91st Congress can adjourn for good, perhaps by New Year's Eve.

business finished, returns Tuesday to wait for the Senate to break the deadlock over the $210 million superionic transport plane appropriation, the major barrier to a congressional vote.

So far, opponents of the SST, led by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., have been waging a political filibuster—three hours or so each day—against the compromise appropriation bill.

That measure had been snagged because of a provision, fought by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D Ark., authorizing President Nixon to use U. S. troops in Southeast Asia as he deems necessary to insure orderly withdrawal of American forces from South Vietnam, or to gain the release of prisoners of war.

1971 State Legislature Under Keen Scrutiny

Florida has been in the political spotlight for some time. Its role has been enhanced by the growth in population figures produced in the 70 census which means more votes to be garnered by ambitious politicians.

Legislatures located in Kansas City, Mo., with a prestige and an acceptance as a responsible authority on the subject second to none.

Thus what poses in the Senate and the House, the climate in which state legislation is debated and decided, the conduct of individual legislators — especially the leaders — will be meaningful.

Of course the test of the legislature does not change from decade to decade. But the means of testing does. The challenges do.

The increased unhappiness of the American citizen with his governments, more especially the legislative branches, is arriving at a state where change is not only desirable but essential.

Condensed, these are: 1. Functional: How time is managed and utilized.

2. Accountable: How comprehensible are such factors as districting, selection of leaders, rules and procedures, planning, scheduling, coordination and budgeting; public access to adequate information, records of voting and deliberations.

3. Independent: How independent is the legislature from the executive branch, from other elements of the political system, and from handicapping constitutional limitations.

4. Informed: Important considerations are the adequacy of time available, standing committees, solicitation of testimony, facilities, interim committee activities, structure and staffing, form, character and distribution of bills, and professional staff resources.

Washington Window

Seniority Survival Not Sure

WASHINGTON (AP) — House members have discovered that seniority is a matter neither of law, holy writ nor even a rule of the Congress. It is a tradition, and they are trying to amend it a little at a time.

Each such nomination will be subject to an automatic and secret vote by all party members. If any nominee flunks, the committee on committees will nominate somebody else.

Under the Democratic plan, as devised by a group headed by Rep. Julia Butler Ripstein, D-Wash., the recommendation of the party's committee on committees (which "not necessarily follow seniority") could be challenged not only to the chairman but also to any lesser assignment.

However, it would be up to some party member (or maybe one who has already outraged the establishment and has nothing further to lose) to rise in caucus and challenge the choice. Nine others equally courageous would be needed to second his contest. Only thereafter could a secret ballot be had.

Don Oakley Says:

Economy Boost?

One does not normally attempt to stop a speeding car by shooting out the tires or pouring sand in the crankcase—not when the brakes are still operative and the object is to slow the vehicle, not wreck it.

The separate Democratic and Republican plans were drafted by special committees on which, naturally, senior members were well represented. That of course made sense if the idea was to come up with something the two party caucuses would approve.

Pan American Report

Latins Hesitant on Red China

By WILLIAM GIANDONI, Copley News Service. There is less talk in Latin America about establishing diplomatic relations with Communist China, but only Chile is known to be doing anything about it.

As a result of these contacts, a formal announcement of the exchange of ambassadors between the two is expected around New Year's.

Of the hemisphere nations which have Communist ties with the Red Chinese, And there is no indication that any country other than Chile is going to follow suit.

Prevailing sentiment on Communist China in Latin America was reflected in the U.N. General Assembly vote on the issue of seating the Peking government. Only two countries, Chile and Cuba, voted in favor of expelling Nationalist China, and admitting the Red Chinese.

Three other Latin nations abstained — Bolivia, Ecuador and Peru.

President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra explained later that Ecuador withheld its vote because the resolution linked the expulsion of the Taiwan government and the seating of Peking.

Bolivia and Peru both are run by left-leaning military dictators and both have been targets of Communist-inspired guerrilla movements.

Diplomatic representatives of the hemisphere voted against seating Communist China and ousting the Nationalists. Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Uruguay and Venezuela, all cast contrary ballots.

Nevertheless, the subject is brought up for discussion at every opportunity.

Newly inaugurated President Luis Echeverria of Mexico, for example, was questioned at one of his first press conferences on the matter of Mexican recognition of the continental China government.

The transcript shows that Echeverria replied that "I have no criteria formulated yet in that respect . . . But any problem will be duly studied by the Foreign Ministry so that I may adopt the specific responsibilities that I ought to adopt."

Echeverria is subject to considerable pressure in favor of expelling Nationalist China from Mexican territory. But the Mexican president, who had considerable trouble in 1968 as interior minister trying to keep Communist-led students from forcing cancellation of the Olympic Games, is more aware of the reality of the subversive threat than most Latin American heads of state.

Still, every time a Latin spokesman gives voice to the proclamation that "our country is free and sovereign, and can establish diplomatic and commercial relations with any nation it wants," speculation is fanned anew.

That was the case when the Uruguayan Chamber of Deputies, after listening to Foreign Minister Jorge Peirano Facio, approved a report calling for opening diplomatic relations with "all the nations of the world."

The reaction was similar when Gen. Edgardo Mercado Berro, Peruvian foreign minister, invoked Peru's sovereignty in explaining establishment of formal ties with North Korea.

Communist Cuba is the leader of the nations in Latin America that have been able to suggest a better reason for recognition of Red China than as a gesture of defiance at the United States.

The Cubans themselves have had difficulties with the Chinese Communists. In 1966 relations were chilled when Peking suddenly reduced Cuba's rice rations in a transparent attempt to force Premier Fidel Castro to take sides in the Sino-Soviet power struggle. Relations between Havana and Peking really only returned to normal recently, with arrival of the new Red Chinese ambassador to Cuba.

Christmas Tree Disposal Solved By Many Cities Without Pollution

Discards Used For Landfill And Conservation Projects. The season is over and the Christmas trees are being discarded. Yet a careful perusal brings to mind many of the blocks to true representative government which must be removed.

We believe that such studies as this of the CCSL are of the greatest importance and should be watched and weighed by the concerned citizen.

One statement by the CCSL news letter is of such importance to the overall issue of legislative performance that we would mark it as the heart of the matter and commend it to the serious consideration of our state legislators.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 33 years to a successful businessman. He retired five years ago at the age of 60. Because of his numerous philanthropic involvements and a number of business interests he has left his office and retained "Laura" who has been his secretary-bookkeeper for 30 years. He told me he is paying her part time since she seldom works more than 20 hours a week.

Actually, my husband has an excellent accountant and he has no need for a book-keeper at all, and as a secretary, Laura is no bargain since she has no stenography—only typing.

I recently learned, accidentally, that my husband has been paying Laura a full-time salary. Naturally, I was furious, but calmly told him I knew about it. He said he had kept her on a full-time salary because she had been "loyal" to him, and he lied to me because he knew I would disapprove.

How far does "loyalty" go to a secretary with limited abilities? Am I an idiot for not raising a fuss?

DEAR RESENTFUL: You are foolish to resent your husband's generosity to a loyal employee, especially since it's no bread out of your mouth and he can well afford it. I cannot condone his lying to you, but you would have an idiot to raise a fuss.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a 20-year-old

Horoscope Forecast

TUESDAY, DEC. 29, 1970
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fine day and evening for you to think in terms of organizing the practical and material aspects of your life. You are able to operate more efficiently. Also, you will be able to show those about whom you are envious with good that is a great deal.

I believe in giving to charity, but not at a time like this. I plan on ignoring the receipt of these cards until I hear from you. Nothing would have been better than this. I think a contribution instead of a wedding gift is in poor taste. What do you think? NEW JERSEY MOM

DEAR N. J. MOM: I have heard of making a contribution in lieu of "silver" or "golden" wedding anniversary gifts, but never a wedding gift. Such contributions are inappropriate for a bride, but I can't agree with you that "nothing" would have been better. The donors remember your daughter, and I'm sure they meant well. Acknowledge them and thank the givers.

CONFIDENTIAL - TO "TURNED ON BY DONNIE": Kids who park and make out every night are asking for trouble. He says he can't afford to take you out? Well, tell him you can't afford his kind of entertainment.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Jacoby On Bridge

Oswald: "I watched a pretty good player make four spades with today's hand. He was very proud of the way he guessed the end position."

Jim: "You say he was a pretty good player. Obviously, he wasn't a very good player because he wouldn't have needed to guess the end position."

Oswald: "That's correct. West won the ace and king of hearts and shifted to the four of diamonds in spite of his partner's high-low in hearts. South played the ace of diamonds. Then he ran off all his trumps while discarding down to the queen of diamonds and a queen of clubs in dummy. East, discarding in back of dummy wound up holding the king-eight of diamonds and the singleton king of clubs. It was up to South to decide if East had blanked the diamond guard. South did make the right decision."

Jim: "Most of our readers will have seen that South could have avoided that final guess if he had just used the R in the code word ARGUE."

Oswald: "I'm sorry for reviewing the bidding. If South had reviewed the bidding he would have seen that West had dealt a 5-3-3-1. He would have hearts to the four top honors. This would mark East with both minor-suit kings."

Jim: "The 5-3-3-1 hand play would be to lead dummy's last heart at trick four to make sure that East didn't hold another card in that suit. Then South would lead the ace of hearts, discarding his second diamond and playing dummy's nine. East would be between that rock and a hard place with no lead to help him."

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D. M. D.
CASE 1531: Aubrey J., aged 42, is a widower.

"Dr. Crane," his clergyman told me, "I advised Aubrey to register with the Scientific Marriage Foundation."

"For he had 3 children in grammar school and was a very fine man."

"His wife had died a year ago of cancer."

"Well, he followed my suggestion and soon was given the name of an attractive secretary in Chicago, for it wasn't even housebroken."

"I coached him to write her a few times before trying to meet her in person, and he did."

"Then his business took him to Chicago, so he had a first send her a dozen roses, as a prelude to their date the next night."

"He took her to a ritzy restaurant and since she never been up to the top of the prudential Tower, he also escorted her there."

"At their dinner they both marveled at how much they had in common (for the SMF computer takes care of this)."

"When he escorted her home, she invited him into her apartment for a cup of coffee."

"But she had a poodle dog that kept jumping upon the doorman, and interrupting their conversation."

"Frequently she'd stop to let the poodle lick her face or to clean up after her when he walked her. For it wasn't even housebroken."

"As Aubrey left, he kissed her goodnight, but later he got a letter from her suggesting they terminate their dating!"

"Dr. Crane, he was surprised and shocked."

"So he asked me if he had offended her by kissing her or if in this modern age, she had been expecting more fervent love-making on their first date."

"For he said he hadn't courted a woman since he used to date his wife 15 years ago, so he was out of practice."

"But I warned him I felt sure he was offending because he didn't 'shoo' over her poodle enough."

"And I told him I sympathized with him for an unmarried woman should make up her mind whether she wants to cuddle a man or a dog!"

"Aubrey was a splendid husband prospect but he got the dog lick on his face or hands and slobber all over the girl's face."

"So his hostility to the dog must have showed through, but even though he tried to hide his dislike."

"Dr. Crane, you tell the director of the SMF to put Aubrey back upon the active file and thus introduce him to somebody else?"

"And in the next Newsletter of the SMF, please have the editor warn women about the proper deportment when they are entertaining boy friends for the first time!"

Girls, Cupid has many phobias, so beware!

If you prefer to be kissed by a drooling doggie, then you need not descend if you alternate vicille men.

And it isn't because your escort may dislike dogs. He may have fond of such animals in their proper place.

"Like me, like my dog," may be a familiar adage, but "liking your dog" may not extend to kissing you after the canine has slobbered all over your mouth and cheeks!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped mail addressed envelope and 20¢ to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

We The Women: By Betty Canary

After years of experimentation I am ready to reveal a sharp crack in your ear when the telephone receiver is thrown onto a table. You stand at your end of the line, nervously awaiting your return. And you're ready to offer to drive her and a horribly injured child to the hospital.

The truth is that a child is never seriously injured during one of these episodes. Research will show the children do NOT fall down stairs, get bitten by large dogs or break their arms in bathroom accidents while their mothers are engaging in a friendly telephone talk.

What children really do is place chairs, bicycles and large stacks of boxes in strategic places for the sole purpose of knocking them over when their mothers are having a telephone talk.

I don't mean to imply that screams and crashes are the only methods of interrupting a mother's conversation. Many times complete violence is employed. After five minutes of hostile silence any mother in her right senses will say, "Hold the phone—I haven't heard a thing from those kids and..."

It goes without saying that she will discover them innocently playing in their own rooms. However, this won't happen if she is foolish enough to wait out 10 minutes of silence. In 10 minutes they will be leaving her antique garnet necklace through a lampshade, emptying

However, its excellence is its excuse, and it is still welcome. Sidney Poitier stars as the disillusioned, ex-GI, crossing the country without direction, when he meets a group of refugee nuns. They have been building a piece of property and he stays long enough to help them build a chapel. His decision changes his life. Lilla Skala is his friend as Mother Maria.

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of Broadway's longest-running bright lights no longer was shining today. "Dolly" had gone away again, ending the longest musical run on Broadway.

At a previous meeting County Commissioner Deane Smith said he had walked the length of the ditch, and could see no reason for it; but at this meeting Peterson said nothing was to be done about it, as far as he was concerned.

Gloomy Financial Deficit Outlook Shows Tax Hike

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Facing a gloomy financial outlook, Gov.-elect Reubin Askew, who campaigned on a fair taxation platform, is pledged to oppose any increase in consumer taxes unless the tax burden is first reduced to make "special interests" pay a fair share.

'Program Budgeting' Makes State Debut

By JIM PUKES
Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—One of the biggest headaches in Florida's state government budget-making progress makes its public debut early in 1971. Budget experts have been educating themselves and getting ready for it some two to three years now. They in turn have been attempting to educate state agencies.

It's called "program budgeting," and requires a virtually new way of thinking before asking for taxpayer's money. Agencies must conform to its guidelines in their 1972 budget requests and at the budget hearings to be held by Gov.-elect Reubin Askew, Jan. 13-15.

That's when "program budgeting" makes its debut. "It's something that's worth everybody's effort. You don't just plug it in and go with it," said Wallace Henderson, chief of the bureau of budgeting in the State Administration Department.

Henderson admits frankly that getting program budgeting—sometimes called "PPBS" in budget analysts' circles—started has been a hard road because of its complexity.

"It's trying to systematize the thinking process of everybody—the executive, the Legislature, the government, and order their thinking to look at what they're doing, how they're doing it, the alternatives, and objectives. It's a real tough job," Henderson said.

Basically, program budgeting means an agency can't justify its money needs and let it go that. Each program the agency conducts must be explained and its goals for a five-year period must be viewed. Objectives must be explained, and some measure for determining if those objectives are attained must be outlined.

"It's a rationalistic approach to budgeting. This is the first time we've tried to get the agencies to comply. We've had innumerable problems. It's imperfect, but at least it's a start. On the whole, we're encouraged by what we're getting," Henderson said in an interview.

The complexity of program budgeting is one reason agencies have been late getting their money requests in for 1972. Askew has until Feb. 15 to submit his overall state government budget requests to the Florida Legislature.

"It requires you to first identify what it is you're doing, articulate what you're doing and what your objectives in terms of manpower, money and materials," Henderson said.

"Then you have to look at the alternative ways of reaching those goals and objectives, and then measure whether you ever get to that point," the budget chief said.

JACK HORNER (center) member of the Board of Directors of Seminole County United Fund, received a check for $100 from Reps. Lewis Earl (left) and William Gorman. The check was a part of a wager made by former House Speaker Ralph Turlington that educational equalization would not exceed $7 million and the equalization moneys topped $11 million.

To The Victor Go The Spoils

House Adopts Election Rule

By JOHN VAN GIESON
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Challengers could no longer rely on secret ballots to speak away votes in speaker elections if the House adopts a "to the victor go the spoils" rule.

The proposal, one of 15 changes drafted by the Rules Committee specifies that election ballots will be open upon show of five hands.

The point was up for dispute when Rep. Miley Miers, D-Tallahassee, was trying to unseat Rep. Richard Pettigrew, D-Miami, during the speaker's race in November by Pettigrew.

Miers based his strategy on a secret ballot in which Democrats publicly committed to Pettigrew but would switch over to Miers numbers to give over Miers.

The Republican chief executive moved swiftly on the eve of a federal court-ordered shift of pupils that would have brought about more extensive integration in Manatee County schools.

"We put a man in jail for a week on a public drunkenness charge because he can't bond out," Yancey asked. "Why not devise a system where he can be before a magistrate in a matter of hours?"

He noted that one of every two prisoners released on parole returns to prison in a couple of years.

"If we could just reduce that rate of recidivism we'd go a long way toward solving the crime problem," Yancey said.

He intends to call committee hearings at state prisons, probably starting in late January, to find ways to rehabilitate prisoners.

"I suspect what we have been doing in the past is inspecting prisons, and not talking to prisoners," the legislator said.

Democratic Victory Top State Story Of '70

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Democratic sweep of Florida's top offices, which crushed the ambitions of flamboyant Gov. Claude Kirk and upped the rising Republican political structure in the state, has been voted the top news story of the year.

An Associated Press poll of newspaper editors showed the Democratic resurgence, which planted a young party faithful in the governor's chair and dispatched a fresh new face to the U.S. Senate, was the No. 1 news-maker of 1970.

Pivoting their party's successes were Gov.-elect Reubin Askew, the boy wonder from Pensacola, and U. S. Sen.-elect Lawton Chiles, the walking sensation from Lakeland.

Second place in the annual poll was awarded to the astro-nauts aboard Apollo 13 and the space craft that failed and then recovered to bring them safely back to earth from their abortive trip to the moon.

The Apollo 13 mission was of special significance to Florida as it originated at Cape Kennedy.

Kirk was singled out as the No. 3 newsmaker as a result of his dramatic school door stand against forced busing to achieve integration in Tampa's public schools.

The Republican chief executive moved swiftly on the eve of a federal court-ordered shift of pupils that would have brought about more extensive integration in Manatee County schools.

Kirk grabbed the spotlight as he roamed about Florida—Dade, Volusia, Duval, county after county—and even to the U.S. Supreme Court to present his opposition to busing on a personal basis.

Fourth place in the annual poll went to the sudden increase in rates by auto insurance companies, and the rejection at the polls of Insurance Commissioner Broward Williams.

The motorists went to the polls and opposed the likes that increased rates as much as 25 per cent. The Legislature followed.

Game eight, the Christmas Handicap, was taken by Jorge and Luis in five straight points from post position two. They were presented a beautiful trophy and $50 cash each for winning by Vice-Pres. and General Manager, Gordon Hulbert.

In Saturday's matinee event Juan, Ruben, Cobian, and Manolo each walked off with double wins. Manolo's two wins gave him a good boost in his race with Garita and Quinito for the "Most Wins" title. Garita now leads with 81, Quinito is second with 75, and Manolo is third with 72.

General Manager Hulbert has announced that colleges in the state of Florida will come into the spotlight next Tuesday night, Dec. 29th at the Orlando Seminole Jai Alai Fronton.

'Quiniela' Presents For Many

In the very first game, the 4-6 Quiniela paid a huge $97.40 and in game four, the 6-7 Quiniela returned a record $207.80. To add more Christmas cheer, the 4-6 early Daily Double put $225.00 more in the many patron's pockets who held tickets on that combo.

Battle Bishop Barry Today

Seminole High Cagers In Tampa For Tourney

By GARY TAYLOR
Herald Sports Editor
The Fighting Seminole of Seminole High took to Tampa today where they do battle with Bishop Barry at 3 p.m. in the first round of the Tampa Catholic Holiday Invitational Tournament.

The Seminole could use a good showing in this tournament, a single elimination tournament with a 4-4 record on the season. They have lost to Lyman, Apopka, Bishop Moore and Eau Gallie. They have defeated Satellite Beach, Kissimmee, New Smyrna and Titusville.

At this time last season the Seminole were undefeated, going into the holiday tournament play at Ft. Myers. They won their opener, but then fell to tenth-ranked Ft. Myers in a squeaker. Joe Mills has shifted his starting line-up for tonight's tilt. Wes Louwsma and Greg Mitchell will start at forwards.

Western Kentucky In Semi-Finals

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
One of the four teams in tonight's semifinals of the Holiday Festival Basketball Tournament is 10th-ranked Western Kentucky and no one's more surprised than Hilltopper Coach Oldham.

Oldham says the Hilltoppers don't belong on the same court with 19th-ranked St. John's. "I don't see anything like Saturday night's first round," he said.

Coach Frank McGuire of South Carolina was a disappointed other, with his team's early efforts against outgunned Cornell. Despite the Gamecocks' 13-point advantage, McGuire felt they looked like they were treading to sleep.

What did he do? He had them spring into a man-to-man press from a deliberate come-out strategy. "I tried to get them out of their lethargy," said McGuire.

St. John's will run us better here if we don't play any better than this," Oldham said after the Hilltoppers topped smaller St. Peter's N.J., 108-97 in an 19th semifinal berth in the 1968-69 season.

South Carolina's second-ranked Gamecocks, an easy 82-69 winner over Cornell in Saturday's opening round, opens tonight's doubleheader against Providence, an 89-69 conqueror of Manhattan.

St. John's the backyard favorite seeking its third Festival title, won't be an easy mark for the Jim McDaniel-led Hilltoppers, according to Oldham.

Come-Back Gains Tie For Blues

NEW YORK (AP)—Sun-tanned Sidney Salomon Jr. wore an ear-to-ear grin outside the St. Louis Blues dressing room.

"That was some effort," grinned Salomon, "some of the Blues are the most successful of the National Hockey League's expansion franchises with two West Division titles in the Stanley Cup finals. Still, they can enjoy the accomplishment of showing up an established team and that's just what Salomon's club did to New York Sunday night.

Third period goals by Bill McCreary and Red Berenson earned the Blues a 4-4 tie with the Rangers in a game which late in the second period. The Rangers have been unbeatable in their own rink this season going 18 games without a setback at home. So the tie, especially after trailing 3-0 and 4-1, felt awfully good to Salomon and the Blues.

It didn't sit quite as well with Emile Francis, whose Rangers have blown 4-2 leads in the third period of their last two starts.

"We just ran out of steam, that's all," said Francis. "We've had six games in nine days and another one coming up Tuesday. With all the travel in between, we're a tired hockey club."

The Rangers weren't too tired yet to fight. They headed the Blues to the tune of 80 penalty minutes including 10 minutes and one misconduct whistled down by Referee Art Skov.

New York punched first period goals by Jim Neilson. Dave stretched Philadelphia's winless streak to eight games.

By Families In Seminole County Foreign Yule Customs Shared

By ANN RILEY
This country is indebted to many countries of the world for enriching the Christmas celebration with colorful traditions brought by those coming here to live.

Four families in this area agreed to share some of the customs that they enjoy with our readers.

As in every Cuban home during the Christmas season there is a nacimiento, or crib, so is there one in the Winter Woods home of Senor Francisco L. and Senora Eugenia L. Rodriguez and their children Maria Eugenia, Luis Alberto and their grandmother Maria C. Lopez (Mrs. Rodriguez's mother), who came here from Cuba to live.

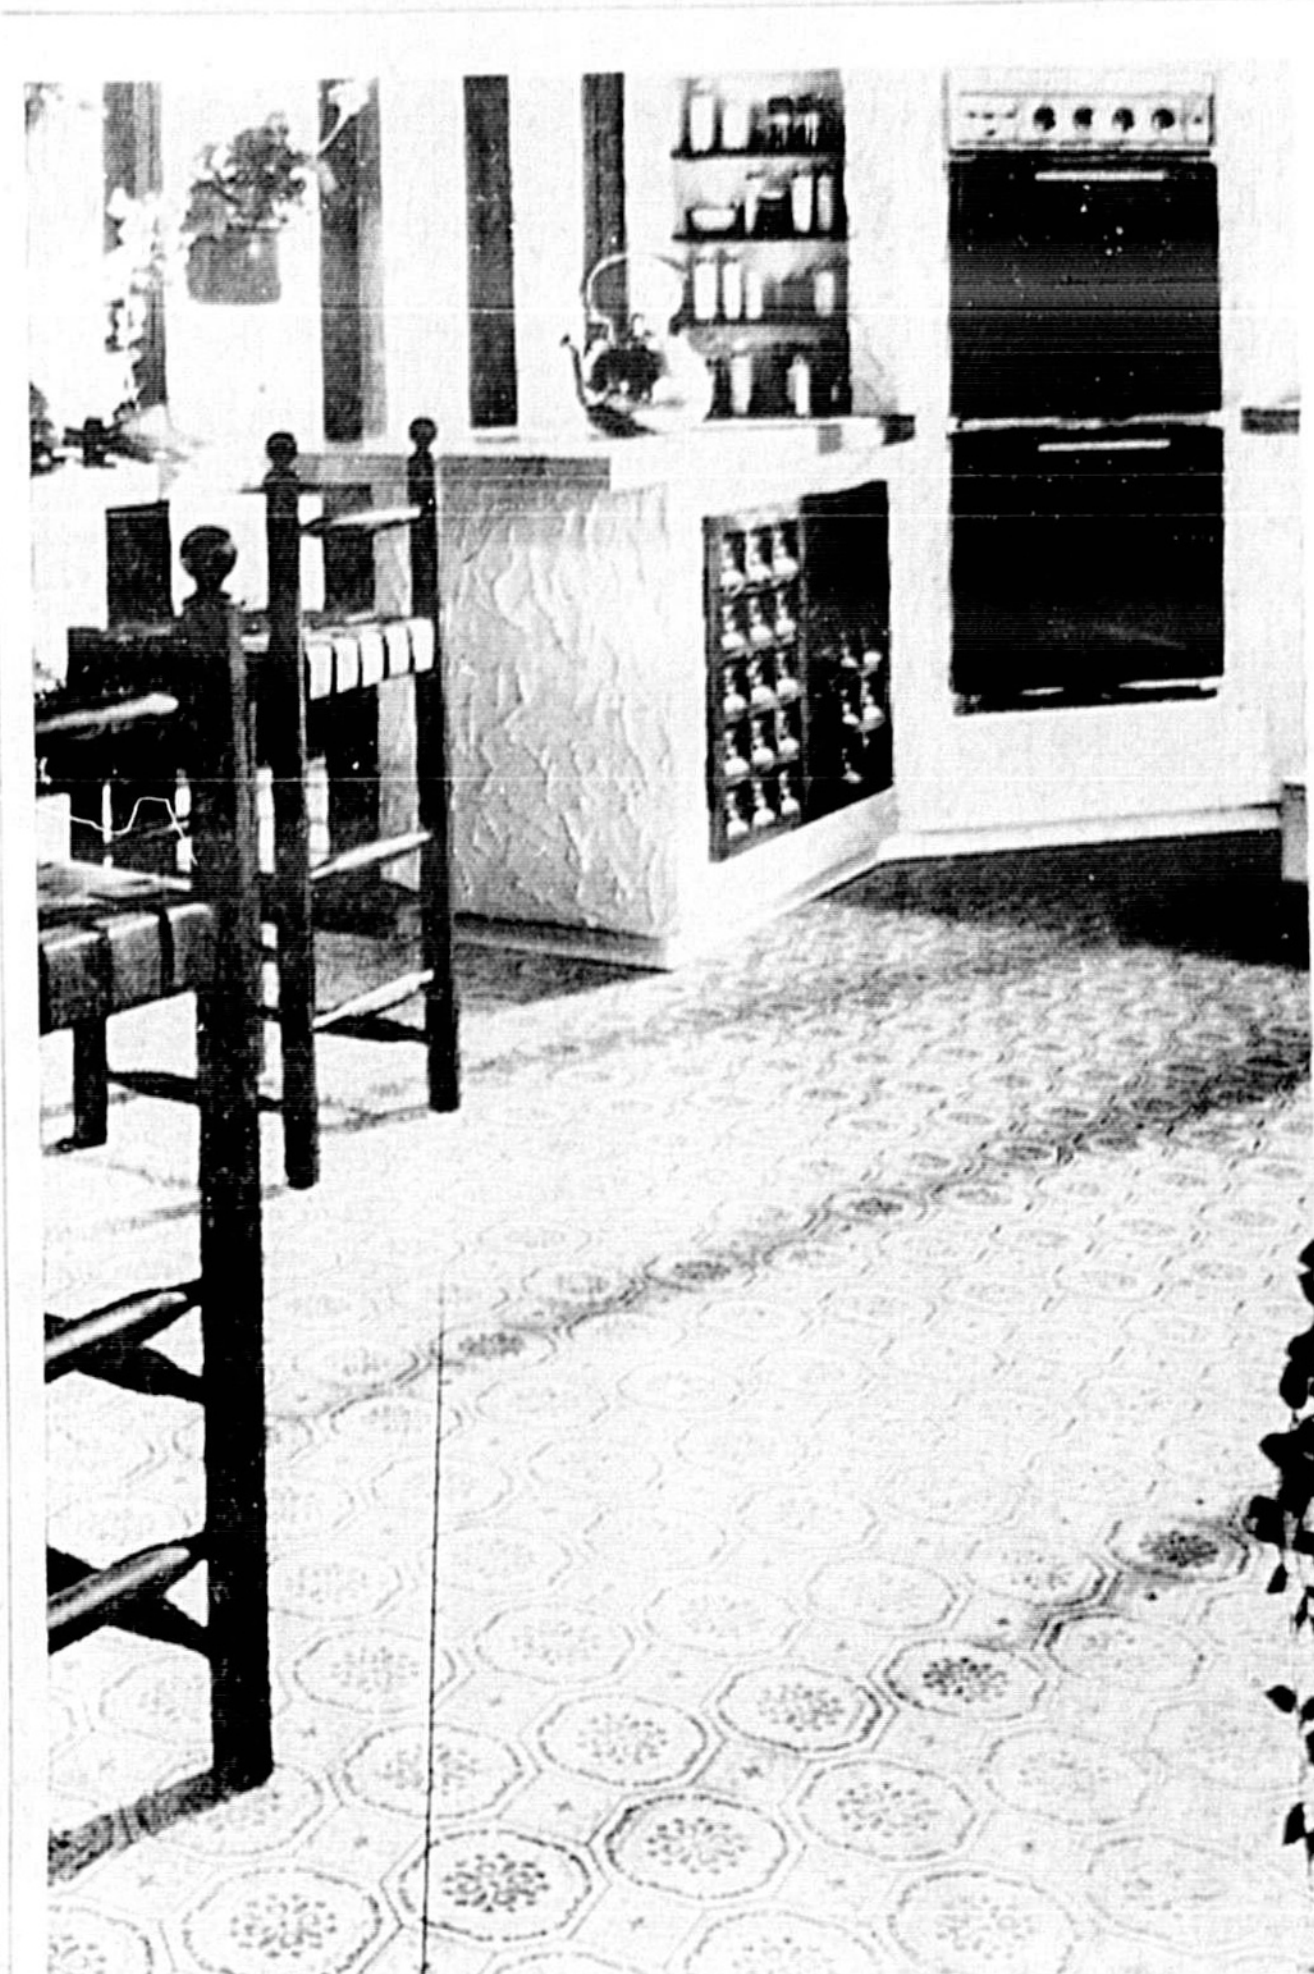

After breakfast on Christmas morning, the children and their parents gathered around the nacimiento and sang carols of the Nativity. The Rodriguez family observes our custom of gift giving on Christmas morning and also keeps to the Spanish custom of giving gifts on the sixth of January when they observe Epiphany.

Business Caught In Demand-Costs Squeeze In '70

NEW YORK (AP) — Here are the business highlights of 1970—a year in which business was caught in a critical squeeze between lagging demand and sharply increasing costs.

In January, the government announced a cut in key space programs for the 1971 fiscal year, raising the prospect of a layoff of 25 per cent of the employees involved in space work in the public and private sectors.

The space cutback combined with a decline in defense spending threatened the stability of leading aerospace contractors. One of them, Boeing, was forced to slash its Seattle work force to a level which caused a 10 per cent unemployment rate there.

General Electric and striking unions reached a settlement which provided for wage increases over a 40 month period averaging 80 cents an hour above the old rate of $2.25 an hour.

The first reduction in the prime lending rate in more than 18 months occurred in March when this rate was cut to 8 from 9 1/2 per cent. The prime rate is the interest banks charge to their most creditworthy corporate borrowers.

The stock market in its 18th month of decline, hammered down the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks on May 28 to 631.16, the lowest point for the blue-chip indicator in more than seven years. A record breaking rally sent the Dow above 700 three sessions later. The projected decline in prices and shrinking volume hurt many brokerage houses financially.

Plagued with a severe cash squeeze, Penn Central Transportation Co., the nation's largest railroad, entered bankruptcy reorganization proceedings in June.

Expiration on June 30 of the income tax surcharge, pared to 5 per cent last January, added $2 billion to individuals' purchasing power over the next six months.

A settlement of the 12-week Chicago trucking strike, resulted in an increase in the national Teamster contract, which reportedly cost the trucking industry an extra $6 million.

The Nixon administration, issuing its first "inflation alert" in August, mildly criticized what it said was inflationary price increases in the tire, tobacco and electrical power fields.

Ford and General Motors answered the mounting competition from foreign carmakers with subcompact models introduced in September.

Lockheed Aircraft Corp. got a break when its banks agreed to advance the $30 million left in the company's $406-million line of credit and also gave the defense contractor a new line of borrowing of up to $600 million, pending settlement of the corporation's claims against the Pentagon.

A cut in the prime rate in September brought that key interest rate to 7 1/2 per cent from 8 per cent.

Real growth in the gross national product of 1.4 per cent in the third quarter, the first substantial advance of the GNP in four quarters, failed to stem a rising tide of unemployment.

The level of unemployment in November rose to 5.8 per cent of the work force, the highest rate in 7 1/2 years.

Two cuts apace were made in November in the prime rate and the discount rate, the interest charged by the Federal Reserve to commercial member banks.

The latest round of reductions brought the prime rate to 7 per cent and the discount rate to 8 1/2 per cent.

An eight-week strike against General Motors Corp. by the United Automobile Workers union in November ended with fat test auto labor package in history, a 30 per cent wage increase over three years.

The House of Representatives passed a trade bill, similar to one tentatively approved by a Senate committee, that would impose import quotas on textiles and shoes and would preserve oil import restrictions.

There are streams and mountains also beyond count. There also are mountain passes and meadows that abound with untold numbers of flowers in spring and summer.

There are forests of towering spruce and fir. There are more glaciers than can be found in any other park in the continental United States and there are two major lakes—Ross Lake, 20 miles long, formed by the huge, concrete Ross Power Dam, and Lake Chelan, which extends 16 miles from the park to a rocky, natural dam on the banks of the Columbia River.

Both Ross and Chelan and the smaller Diablo Lake have had public resorts for many years but there are few other "civilized" accommodations as yet.

There are five roads into the west side of the park, none as yet to the east side although the state is building Highway 20 with plans to cross the park from east to west. The only road to the north part of the park is a 40-mile Canadian logging road, known primarily for its ability to blow in tires. There is no road in the south part and no plan to build one.

It is this very beautiful land and very rugged atmosphere that Contor and his crew are planning for. Their plans call for maintaining the wilderness character of the park while setting up facilities to help visitors see, enjoy and understand this rugged country.

Highway 20, when it is finished next year or the following year, will be a focal point for tourist developments. A major project will be a tramway to take visitors from the highway to the snowy peak of Ruby Mountain.

At 7,000 feet the peak looks down on Ross Lake and across its neighboring peaks in all directions. At Roland Point, a prominent point on Ross Lake will be a prospective-trapper named Roland once had his homestead. The point also will be a base for a water taxi service to various trails, campgrounds and scenic spots on the lake.

The plans also call for development of several major campgrounds in the park and for tourist accommodations in the Stehobin Valley at the head of Lake Chelan.

A major innovation—never before tried on a large scale in an American Park—will be a series of hostels, spread five to 10 miles apart in the deep mountains and forests. The hostels will offer hikers a hot meal and a warm bed as they walk through the wilderness.

The park planners also have begun implementing their plan to improve and extend some 200 miles of trails for horses and foot travel. The trails crisscross the park, leading to the deep, high country campsites and to rocky peaks that challenge even the hardest mountain climbers.

Contor's experts also have begun setting up interpretive facilities to provide visitors with explanation and understanding of the park and its lands.

Although some of the minor developments are being installed, most of the larger-scale plans still are being engineered to make sure they are feasible and to obtain cost estimates. When those are ready, Contor's experts also have

Park Will Become Major National Attraction

By ALLAN MAY
Copley News Service

Officials of the new North Cascades National Park in the state of Washington are completing plans for making their domain one of the nation's major tourist attractions.

The park, formed by Congress in 1968, consists of 600,000 acres. It includes two recreation areas totaling some 100,000 acres. The other half-million acres are divided into two wilderness areas.

The four areas have been playing to a relatively small audience of about 250,000 visitors for the last two years while Superintendent Roger Contor and his staff of experts work out their plans for providing attractions and accommodations for two million people each year.

They are working on land that is some of the most spectacular and roughest on earth. The north edge of the park touches the Canadian border. Straddling the rugged high peaks of the Cascade Mountain Range, the park stretches from cool, humid western Washington to the semi-arid eastern Washington areas of hot summers and cold winters.

The mountains of the range are high and rocky. Many bear snowcaps the year around.

There are streams and mountains also beyond count. There also are mountain passes and meadows that abound with untold numbers of flowers in spring and summer.

There are forests of towering spruce and fir. There are more glaciers than can be found in any other park in the continental United States and there are two major lakes—Ross Lake, 20 miles long, formed by the huge, concrete Ross Power Dam, and Lake Chelan, which extends 16 miles from the park to a rocky, natural dam on the banks of the Columbia River.

Household Hints

When shopping for the holiday turkey make a point of looking at all shields, inspection marks and descriptions that may appear either on the package label or on a wing. You should see the inspection mark, the grade mark and the age identification or class name of the bird.

Only high-quality, clean eggs with sound shells should be used in the preparation of egg-nog, milk shakes or any lightly cooked dish. Less than top-quality eggs can be used in any form that requires them to be well cooked.

Cologne is the least expensive form of fragrance but it also evaporates from the body the fastest. Using a body lotion or soap in the same fragrance will help the fragrance to linger.

Soiled playing cards can be cleaned with spirits of camphor.

Water in a covered pan reaches a boil faster because you trap and utilize the vapor.

Thoroughly cleaned and occasionally aired coffee pots produce more flavorful coffee.

Mothers who have to sterilize more than six baby bottles at one time can heat the bottles in the oven for 15 minutes at 250. The result is the same and it is much faster than sterilizing by boiling in shifts.

10 Million New Cars Seen In '71

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Chairman Roy D. Chapin says today's economic recovery is restoring consumer confidence in predicting new car sales in 1971 could approach 10 million units for the first time.

Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lynn Townsend made no forecast for 1971 auto sales but said in his year-end statement, "We are optimistic about the outlook for automobile sales in 1971."

Chapin said, "The new subcompact cars introduced in 1970 should, in themselves, provide a strong sales stimulant. As a consequence, imports will be should be down somewhat from the successive peaks reached in the past two years."

"In 1971," Chapin said, "the era of the small car should be launched in earnest. Domestic subcompacts and imports between them should account for about one out of every five new car sales during the year."

Townsend said he based his rosy outlook on "the market stimulation accompanying the return to full production and full competition in our industry" following the 16-week General Motors strike. He added, "We are encouraged by the administration's recent moves to ease credit restrictions, curb inflationary pressures, and spur economic growth."

"If these moves are successful in restoring consumer confidence, the repressed consumer demand that has been building up during recent months of restriction and uncertainty should bring a sharp upsurge in business activity, and could well generate the best year in the history of the automobile industry."

"Even without an unusually rapid growth in business activity," Townsend said, "the indications are the 1971 car season is expected to be a year of continuing improvement, with a commensurate increase in automobile and truck sales and improved profitability."

The United Auto Workers' 10-week strike against General Motors helped hold 1970 new car sales down to approximately 8.3 million units, compared with 9.5 million units in 1969. Townsend said, adding that the decrease "should contribute to a stronger market demand early in 1971."

"There already are some encouraging signs that the economy is gaining momentum," Townsend said.

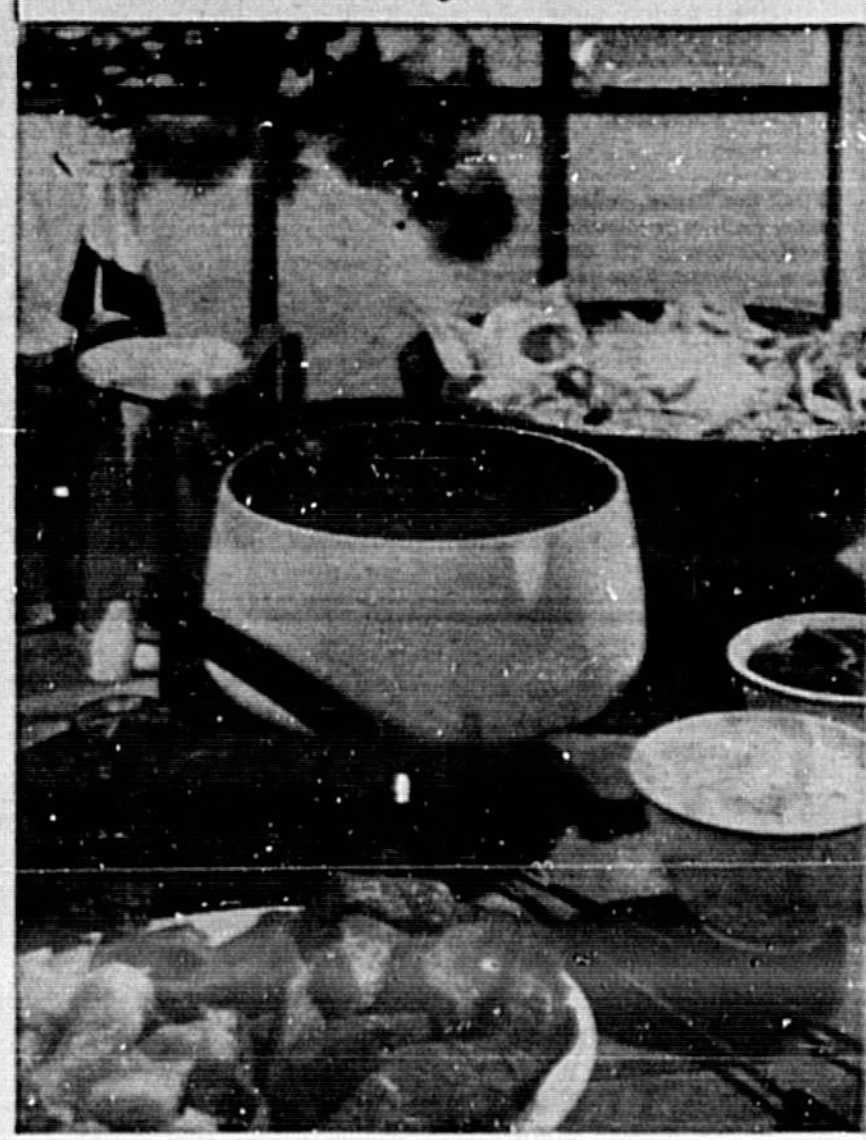

He reported housing starts are moving upward and new households are being formed at a rate of more than a million a year, adding that the prime interest rate has been dropping and economists expect the trend to continue.

He said personal income rose seven per cent in 1970 to a new record and that personal savings continued to rise.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The first Federal grant-in-aid to states for roads in the United States was the Federal Aid Road Act, passed on July 11, 1916. The World Almanac notes, "The first project was in Contra Costa County, Calif. A sum of $5 million was appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917."

Fondue...Thy Name Is Fun

Informality is the keynote in dining after a day of frolicking in the snow. Easy-to-prepare foods are appreciated and enjoyed by the active enthusiast and the hostess alike. An appropriate "fun" type food to serve is a Chicken and Beef Fondue. Prepared in an electric fondue pot, big chunks of beef or chicken are cooked in a bubbling beef and chicken broth combination, then dipped into zesty sauce. Serve with a big tossed salad. Automatic fondue pot by West Bend has precise heat control settings for meats, cheeses, and desserts, and maintains even temperature throughout the cooking period.

Volcanic Eruption... A Look Into Hell!

By ERIC A. WOLD
OSLO, Norway (AP) — "It was almost like getting a close look into Hell," commented Kjell Gustavsen, one of the few Norwegians who experienced the volcanic eruption at Norway's desolate Jan Mayen island recently. The eruption, which started Sept. 26th in the 1,300-foot high glacier-clad Beerenberg mountain, opened an almost four-mile crack and forced the 39 Norwegian stationers there to evacuate. So far the eruption has poured between 500 and 1,000 million tons of glowing lava into the Arctic Ocean, enlarging the island from some 120 square miles to more than 160 square miles. "It is hard to find words to describe the furious inferno which met us when we landed," said Gustavsen. "It was splendid, exciting and beautiful, but first of all frightening." However, he would not have missed it. "In only the five first days, experts calculate that the crack gaped out more than 150 million tons of lava. It poured down at some places from more than 1,000 feet into the electric water expanding in the island more than 1.5 miles into the sea," he added. The eruption went on for weeks with glowing lava streaming from the crack down five main lava rivers. The lava made the sea boil amidst big white clouds of steam. Overland the sky was colored black and red by ash and glowing lava up to heights of 20,000 feet. The biggest lava river was named "The New Maridolia" after the main Norwegian Maridolia waterfalls. The New Maridolia sea level at 1,630 feet above sea level at the Duffin glacier. The four other crater rivers extending from the main crack were named The Fountain, The Tramway, The Flashlights and The Wrinkled Hillside. Volcano experts from the Norwegian Arctic Institute and the Dutch Arctic whaling vessel "De Goude Cath" in 1614, and all the surrounding seabed is volcanic. The island is dominated by the Beerenberg volcano which is a 4,000 feet wide and almost 1,000 feet deep crater. Jan Mayen had other known eruptions in 1732 and 1818. The island is located 290 nautical miles northeast of Iceland. It has been a Norwegian archipelago since 1918.

A solid vote of confidence for the mini and a swing to pants highlight the new uniforms for female rental agents at many companies. On the same issue, one company, Avis, put it to a vote among all the company's female rental agents, pledging to respect the girl's wishes in the designing of the uniform. The result: 2,102 for the mini and 68 for the midi. The new uniform designed by Stan Herman of Mr. Mori, includes a skirt and jacket, two blouses, a tunic and pants. There's a breakthrough in permanent press processing. American Laundry Machinery Industries says the new process adds permanent press qualities to apparel, increases resistance to wrinkles, and adds suitability to garment life. The new process produces softer, easier-to-see garments that are more durable, more resistant to staining and retain their shape longer, said the firm. The latest concept of the decorative leg takes inspiration from prototypes of grandmothers' day-dress with dramatic difference. Rebel Indian Head Is Peru's Symbol

LIMA, Peru (AP) — A rebel Indian leader who was tortured and executed almost 300 years ago for attempting to lead abuses by Peru's Spanish conquerors has been adopted as a symbol of the current military government's efforts to create "a new Peru." Tupac Amaru II ranks second only to President Juan Velasco among those associated with the sweeping reforms enacted by the government which took over after the Oct. 3, 1968, coup ousting former President Fernando Belaunde. Always a popular figure in Peruvian history, the rebel leader has been used in an effort to create a popular symbol of a nation emerging from four centuries of domination — first by Spanish conquerors and later by a wealthy landowning class and foreign companies. Posters depicting Tupac Amaru which show an Indian with high-crowned hat and flowing hair are carried by marchers in pro-government demonstrations. The likeness also decorates government publications and is sold by street vendors. Quotations attributed to the rebel leader, believed to have been a descendant of Inca royalty, are used as slogans by the government and by pro-government leftwing labor organizations. A recent biography of Tupac Amaru, published in a Lima newspaper described the rebel leader as "the maximum symbol of Peruvian nationality and the maximum symbol of the rebellion of the Latin American peoples against all forms of exploitation and domination." Born in 1740 or 1741 near Cuzco, Tupac Amaru II set up the son of a local chieftain. He was educated in a school set up by the Spanish for children of Indian nobility, and became renowned for his efforts to convince the Spanish conquerors to ease their treatment of the Indians. Pointing out that the Indian population was rapidly dying as a result of harsh treatment in the gold and silver mines, he carried his appeal to the viceroy in Lima, pleading that the Indian lives be protected in the interests of the Spanish crown. Malaysian Parrots Will Tell Fortunes

By HARI SUBRAMANIAN
KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — A cheerful parrot hopped out of its tiny wooden cage and mused over a spread of cards. He flipped one over with his beak, then collected a grain of rice as wages and bounded back in the box. Gopal, clothed in a limp shirt and a skirt-like dhoti, sits daily outside a bank on a bustling sidewalk in this multi-cultural capital. He makes about $3.50 a day and his bird gets a crawful of rice. His earnings are nearly three times the average per capita national income and twice those of an unskilled laborer. Bird fortune-tellers need no license to operate and pay no taxes. "I wonder under what trade they will register us under if we take out a license," said Gopal, laughing about his own joke. The skill is hereditary. "Just like many of the others, I learned it from my father in India. I come from Salem in India," Gopal said. "It is more of an art, you know. If you try to order the bird, it will not listen." As Gopal called the clean, shiny bird, it came out of the cage. When he commanded: "Pick up the card and tell the fortune," it did. On one side of the card was a picture of the many Hindu gods. On the other side were Tamil words. Each card has different predictions, which Gopal translates to Malay if necessary. He said fortune telling with birds has been going on for generations in India. "Some people think it is worse than astrology and is bluffing. But there are many others who believe in it. So many have come back and told me the predictions are true. People are thrilled to their own opinions," he said.

Peace Zeal Costs 'Em Their Pants

By LEE MULLER
"Americans can do nothing to shock us any more," said the University of London physics professor. "We have become calloused to their eccentricities. As you expect a mad man to do unlikely deeds, you expect Americans to do the unthinkable." The English will not be surprised, then, to learn that legs apparently have taken on a political significance in the United States. Americans have always been concerned with legs, but most of them have belonged to beautiful women. A research institute once announced an association between nice legs and smart women. Now, apparently, there is a correlation between a man's knees and his political posture. It all began a few weeks ago when a member of Dr. Henry Kissinger's staff gave a partisan party in Washington. Men were invited "sans pantalons" and nearly everybody showed up wearing a tuxedo top and an underwear-type bottom. The vision of any highly placed government official rambling around without their pants on stirred strong feelings across the country. The Manchester (N.H.) Union Leader, for example, called it an "indisputable example of decadence in certain highly influential and associated circles." This sentiment, however, was not shared in a seventh-floor sound stage on West 61st Street in New York. Beatle John Lennon and his wife, Yoko, were filming a new movie, "Up Your Legs Forever," another of their peace ventures. "Show your legs for peace," said the bearded man at the door. "Drop your pants." Actor George Segal, artist Peter Max, writer Tom Wolfe and about 300 other persons volunteered to have their bare legs photographed. The Capital Touch Nationwide Reading Plan Pushed

WASHINGTON — A not-for-profit organization has been set up to help the United States on its way to becoming the world's most advanced nation: three million of its adult citizens do not learn to read. President Nixon has set one of his most ambitious, if least publicized goals, in the fundamental area of reading. He is on record as saying he hopes that those three million illiterate adults will be able to read within 10 years, that the shocking 30 per cent of high school students with reading deficiencies will show improvement and that the millions of elementary students in need of remedial reading instruction will get some help. The National Reading Council has launched a plan called "Ten Million Tutors" to lift American literacy to the level where, as council chairman Walter W. Straley says, "every one in the country will be able to read about the progress this nation is making." "We need 10 million tutors by the end of the 1970s since there are millions of Americans in urgent need of reading remediation. High school and college students will be sought, as well as volunteers in hundreds of national organizations, many of which are engaged in volunteer tutoring programs already," Straley said. Straley said emphasis will be placed on parents and others in the teaching of reading skills to the preschool child. The reading center's professional staff will develop teaching materials for the tutor program for individuals and for groups willing to participate. (Organizations and individuals may receive information by writing: Ten Million Tutors, National Reading Council, 2129 Wisconsin Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20007.) A recent nationwide survey by the U.S. Department of Labor indicates a growing interest in activities of an educational nature for volunteer efforts. Reading center officers state that reading improvement can occur under a one-to-one tutoring plan even when the teacher is either fully or professionally trained. Materials are being created by the reading center to help parents improve a child's responsiveness to knowledge and to teach parents to understand how they can help improve their child's reading ability.

Belgian Cooking 'Survives'

By TOM ROGGE
Associated Press Writer

Chef Helmut Rothermel can direct his staff how to cook just "not anything off the top of his head; from country pate to lobster pie.

"I don't work from recipes," said the 32-year-old German-born executive chef of the Bear Mountain Inn, an alpine-type resort high above the Hudson River. "I cook from feeling. It has to come from within."

He gesticulated with emotion, like a symphony conductor recalling past musical triumphs.

Helmut is certain about one thing. The tricks they taught him in cooking school can't hold a candle to what he learned working up through the culinary Hammelbach in his native Germany to New York City.

"Sure, they teach you in chef's school," Helmut recalled. "They teach you to make Hollandaise sauce and give you a couple of days to do it. But they don't teach you to make Hollandaise with the dinner deadline coming up. And they don't teach you how to fit the sauce in a hurry. If something goes wrong."

Helmut Rothermel decided at the age of five that he wanted to be a cook or a hair dresser. "They were both creative." Nine years later, he was working as an apprentice in a hotel near Heidelberg doing all the menial jobs. He also enrolled as a student cook at the Hotel Fachschule in Darmstadt.

"After three years we had to take a series of tests," he recalled. "There was a practical test—I had to cook stuffed duck—and an oral one in which the board asked me all sorts of questions, such as where did rice come from and what foods are important in various diets. And finally there was a written test."

The students were graded by a board of 15 experts, including noted chefs, matre d'hotels, and hotel owners. Helmut passed all the exams and was certified as a cook at the age of 17.

Helmut's real apprenticeship began then. In 1946 and hotel kitchens in Stockholm, the British Channel Islands and New York.

Gradually he ascended the culinary ladder from commis or beginning cook, to sauce chef and then roasting cook who substituted for all the specialty chefs on their days off.

At the age of 26 he reached the summit: executive chef of the kitchen of the Top of the Fair at the New York World's Fair in 1964. From there he went to the famed Tavern on the Green in New York and finally to the Bear Mountain Inn.

"Here he gives his imagination full rein. On Saturday evenings, visitors at the Inn are treated to the formidable spectacle of a "Buffet In The Round" featuring more than 100 delicacies from smoked oysters and chilled shrimp to moulded fish in aspic.

One of Helmut's specialties is pigeon. Filet of Veal and he was finally persuaded to put it down on paper for us. Despite his aversion to formal recipes, here is it:

FILET OF VEAL
Four 3 oz pieces of veal filet pounded thin
Two beaten eggs
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Six oz. chicken livers
Six oz. fresh mushrooms
Salt and pepper to taste
¼ clove garlic
3 chopped shallots
Sauté shallots in butter several minutes. Add livers, mushrooms, garlic, parsley, salt, pepper and cook for 18 more minutes.
Grind mixture to pure consistency
Cover two of the filets with mixture and cover with the other two pieces of veal.
Combine beaten eggs with grated cheese.
Dust filets with flour and dip in egg mixture. Cook about five minutes on each side in hot butter.
When the filets are done, serve them on a bed of white rice and surround the rice with tomato sauce. Serves two persons. Serve with a light red Bordeaux.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

A FRAME WITH FLAT DECK LEFT: This 1 1/2 story ranch home requiring 1,106 square feet on the ground, excluding front porch, features an outdoor porch and barbecue handy to the kitchen, 10-foot wide sliding doors opening from a large lounge room with a log burning fireplace and bar, three bedrooms, two of which lead to a private rear porch, an outdoor laundry, a bath and shower off the kitchen, seven closets, a full basement and space above the bedrooms for storage or additional sleeping space. Plan H4684M was designed by Architect Rudolph A. Matern, Master Plan Service, Inc., 89 East Jericho Tpke., Minoletta, N.Y., 11501.

Take A Professional's Care, Then Paint Like One

For a final cleanup, use turpentine on the rags for oil-based paints, soap and water for latex paints.

Most paints do not need thinning. While thick paint is a little harder to spread it won't drip and run like thin paints. Thick paints also cover better.

Remove all switch and outlet plates before you start. Use masking tape along woodwork and around door and window frames. Not only will the job be neater, it will go faster.

Remove nails, splinters or anything else that projects. These will cause paint to drip as you brush over them.

Safety Plan
 LOS ANGELES (UPI) — California's Highway Master Plan calls for landscaped safety highway rest areas to be placed one-half hour's driving time apart on the state's Interstate Highway System.

When you paint a room, start with the ceiling. The drops of paint that may splatter on the walls will be covered up when you paint the walls later. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

It's Best To Get A Building Permit

By ANDY LANG
 AP Newsfeatures

Q—I have been told that I must obtain a permit to erect a roof over our patio at the back of the house, but I know that many persons in the neighborhood have done so without getting permits. Do you think it is necessary? What can they do if I don't get the permit?

A—You are asking me if it is all right to violate the law in your community and, of course, the answer is "no." As for what they can do if you put up the roof without a permit and are found out, the penalty depends on the local law. In most areas, one of the penalties calls for complete dismantling of the entire project within a certain number of days.

Q—We have a house that is mainly stucco. We have been in it for five years and have never had to paint it but now it is beginning to need it. I have some oil paint left over from our other house. Can I use it?

A—Entirely aside from the possibility that paint held that long may not be usable, oil paint is not a good choice for stucco. Suggest a good quality latex paint of the type formulated for use on masonry. The surface must be cleaned thoroughly. Read the instructions on the container to determine whether that particular paint requires a primer.

FTU Senior Attends Cerebral Palsy Meet

Joe Griffin, 23, senior at Florida Technological University, is among 25 teenagers and young adults attending a national conference for young volunteers sponsored by the United Cerebral Palsy Association at Crystal Springs fishing village near Hot Springs, Arkansas.

An official representative of the Central Florida Cerebral Palsy group, Griffin will take part in a variety of workshops planned to stimulate the growth of a new generation of volunteer leadership for the organization.

UPCA of Central Florida selected Joe, who is the son of Maj. (Ret.) and Mrs. F. E. Griffin, Windermere, because he is one of their active young volunteers.

The conference for the future UPCA leaders will include two human relations workshops conducted by David Bork, consultant, National Training Labo-

- TROUBLED OVER HIGH INTEREST RATES?
 It is true interest rates have risen, but they do seem to have stabilized in the past several months. And while the rates may seem high, they are not climbing as rapidly as are labor and material costs. An increase or a decrease of 1/2 per cent in interest rates only amounts to 30¢ per month per $1,000 on a 25-year loan. Is it really wise to deny yourself the security, pleasure and pride of home ownership on the vague hope of interest rates going down, thus saving you only $3 or $4 a month? The value of your home will increase at a much faster rate than can be gained by any lowering of interest rates. NOW is a good time to buy!
- WORRIED ABOUT "TIGHT MONEY"?
 "Tight money" comes and goes. Its most serious offense is when it prevents people from making investments which will benefit them, both now and in the future. The people who did not let the "tight money" talk of 1959 or of 1968 get in the way of their home-buying decision are in the "driver's seat" today. Money is available for good mortgages, and the person who invests in a home today is the person who will enjoy all the benefits of living in a home of his own as well as seeing his investment increase in value. NOW is a good time to buy!
- THINK THE COST OF EXISTING HOMES WILL GO DOWN?
 Forget it! The law of supply and demand will never be repealed, particularly insofar as existing homes are concerned. Fewer homes are being built today because of the increased cost of building, yet the number of families in the home-buying market is rapidly increasing. As the World War II "babies" continue to marry and have families of their own, the demand for homes will multiply. The present supply of established homes available to you will diminish quicker than you might expect. NOW is a good time to buy!
- AREN'T CONVINCED OF THE ADVANTAGES OF HOME OWNERSHIP?
 Consider these points. You provide a more stable environment for your family. You insure yourself of the greatest possible hedge against inflation. You get the tax advantages of deducting the interest you pay on your loan and your property taxes. You are building equity in property as opposed to collecting worthless rent receipts. You become a part of your own community, enjoying a status and a sense of fulfillment which is impossible to measure in material terms. You gain more through home ownership than any other purchase you can ever make. NOW is a good time to buy!

Georgetown Hearing Slated For Jan. 18

A Jan. 18 public hearing has been set by the Sanford City Commission at the Civic Center to afford property owners in the city's mostly black Georgetown area the opportunity to express themselves regarding a proposal by the commission to pave the east-west streets of that neighborhood.

Affected property owners will be assessed $10.05 a running foot for paving that abuts their property.

City will borrow the money from the local banks at six per cent interest to be repaid over a five-year period by property owners, who will have added taxes levied on their property until the amount is paid.

A similar action to approve the paving of that area's north-south streets has been stymied after a U.S. District Court suit was brought by a number of area property owners.

Daytona Beach attorney Horace Hill filed the action against the city after affected residents claimed they were being discriminated in that the city did not require assessments against property that pave streets abutting white property owners.

This contention has since been dispelled by the commission after several meetings with the black groups but, according to City Manager W. E. Knowles, the Hill suit has not been dropped even though the persons filing the action have indicated their preference to stop the litigation.

It is not thought that the first suit will have any bearing on the second paving effort, if it ultimately approved following the public hearing.

Get a call last night... about yesterday's column on POWs.

The lady caller was most generous, and I appreciate it. Her hometown newspaper in Falls, Tennessee carried the story of a POW formerly stationed here in Sanford... maybe you knew him. His name — Lt. Cmdr. James Griffin. He flew a jet over 'Nam and got knocked down on May 19, 1967.

Remember reading about that recent list which the comics released last week? You know, the one with 'I' the names on it? Griffin's name was included.

All this time, the family had no knowledge of his condition or whereabouts... 1967-1968-1969... and all but a couple days of this year, and it would have been 1970, too.

After all that miserable time... hoping, praying, trying your damndest to live like everyone else. And now, all the hoping gone... You see, James Griffin died two days after his plane crashed.

Ooops, again... add these names to the recently published Sanford Middle School "Honor Roll": Sherry Cook, Connie Croushander and Key Parker.

We have a serious problem confronting us folks. Nay, nob, nob serious like how do we keep from being swallowed by Orange County... we're about to lose all of our beautiful outdoor scenery!

You know... "springtime flavor"... and "this beach's Marlboro Country, poster".

Yep, only a few more days and cigarette commercials exit the TV scene... AND THEN SHOW ARE OUT CHILDREN EVER GOING TO LEARN ABOUT THE "CLEAN" CUT-DOORS, HUI!

It's getting under my skin... how come all of those who sought higher political office but lose... are now being "outfitted" with plush, rewarding, newly-created jobs!

Since when, as an example, an individual loses in his efforts for a job paying around $9 Ge, and then CONVENIENTLY, there's another place for him to go and while away year!

And who's paying the freight for this little caper? You and me brother... you and me!

The highest reward for man's toll is not what he gets for it but what he becomes by it.

Legal Zoo Tangles Studied

By BILL SCOTT

An attorney general's legal opinion on whether the City of Sanford can transfer $300,000 in a budgeted zoo relocation fund to a non-profit zoological society and submissions by the zoo committee on cost estimates to relocate the Sanford zoo are needed by the Sanford City Commission before taking any action on requests to continue the city's 45-year-old zoo.

This was the gist of what happened during a three-hour dispute between the commission and backers of a citizens' "Save Our Zoo" movement at last night's Commission meeting.

The zoo savors presented petitions from aroused citizens opposed to the commission's Dec. 14 action to phase out the city zoo by the end of this fiscal year or Sept. 30.

Carm Gager, a Sanford resident, school teacher and member of a taxpayers association dedicated to obtaining enough city resident signatures to persuade the commission to reinstate its action of two weeks ago, presented 1,826 signatures while presenting to the zoo committee to delay into the costs of zoo relocation.

He also requested a 90-year lease, on behalf of a zoological society (yet to be formed), to the new 14-acre zoo site for $1 a year.

Most important was the committee's desire for the $300,000, designated in the budget for zoo relocation, to be transferred to the society for use in "Continued on Page 2A, Col. 1"

'CAUGHT IN THE MIDDLE' was Mayor Lee Moore (inset) last night when Gordon Moore (left) and Commissioner Thomas McDonald (right) and Commissioners James Griffin and James Meyer tangled over the "Save Our Zoo" argument.
