REPUBLICANS WILL IGNORE EVERYTHING DEMOCRATIC AND WAIT FOR HARDING

Republican Congress Shows Dislike For Wilson

ST MARKING TIME

GET BILL ONLY EXCEPTION TO LIST TO BE DEFERRED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—President Wilson's recommendations to Congress are to be dismissed with attention by Republican leaders made plain today in informal session of the message read to the houses Tuesday.

Republican said in effect, while they agree with Wilson the reconstruction job should be tackled and finished as soon as possible, there is no hope of agreement with him as to the methods to be followed, even if there were time between now and the end of his administration.

They prefer, therefore, G. O. P. leaders said, during the next three months to study domestic needs, and legislate on them promptly after Harding's inauguration.

The exception was noted, in the general rejection of the president's request for immediate action. This is the budget bill, which is scheduled to pass the senate soon and to Wilson.

Tax revision will be deferred. There is a strong feeling that something should be done for the disabled soldiers and sailors, but that too will be left to wait, according to present administration. Governmental economy cannot be brought about fully until governmental reorganization is accomplished under the next administration, leaders maintained. The recommendations for a loan to Armenia are scattered on all sides. There is a variance of opinion regardingippine independence. The laws which have been twice asked to regulate storage again will fall to pass, was declared. His proposal to settle all concerns doing an interstate business was greeted by Republicans many Democrats with the contention that it was "socialistic" or "bureaucratic."

The senate was less interested in message than in knowing whether Wilson intends to send another, submitting the treaty and asking its ratification.

Senator Underwood, Democratic leader, does not expect the treaty to come back. Neither does Senator Glass, Republican leader. But there are many senators on both sides who believe Wilson would return it. Some Republicans think a compromise could be effected; some Democrats see a chance to embarrass the Republicans President-elect Harding.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Rear Admiral Mayo, war-time commander of the United States fleet, goes on the retired list today after forty-seven years of service.

MILLION DOLLAR BAND PLEASED LARGE CROWDS

The Million Dollar Band pleased many hundreds of people here yesterday afternoon and evening and left the city with many regrets of those who expected to see them no more but luckily the "13" Club had other ideas and will bring them back for Christmas week.

The band played at the corner of First and Magnolia, where a platform had been built for them on the Seminole Bank corner and here they discoursed sweet music at four o'clock and at eight after which they went to the Parish House to play for the dance and where they again made a big hit. And with all the other artists—in fact each member is an artist—in Walter Kelly, the boy soprano, who was discovered and brought forth by Director Bachman within the last few weeks. Walter Kelly is a red-headed, freckle-faced Irish boy with the voice of a Melba. "One of nature's divinest gifts, with a voice of purest gold" is the opinion of a musical critic in the Minneapolis Journal. Thomas Saxo, superintendent of amusements at the Wisconsin State Fair, who also owns several large theatres in that city, has engaged Walter for a week in one of his finest theatres, at a salary of $300, which is a testimonial of the tremendous hit he made with the Milwaukee people during his recent engagement there. "The finest boy's voice I have ever heard in my life," said Egbert VanAlstyne, composer of "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" and dozens of later popular songs. Walter Kelly alone is worth more than the price of admission charged to the "Million Dollar Band" concert.

The band was all that could be desired and the Woman's Club and the progressive committee that put the band on here are to be congratulated for giving Sanford a real band and some real music. When they come again they will have hundreds of admirers here where they were practically strangers before.

"Are the Japanese trying to bring about the world-old conflict between the white races and yellow and black races?" he asked.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Officers of an Italian submarine chaser were treacherously bound and gagged by their crew and taken to Fiume, says a Milan dispatch—describing the desertion of the vessel from blockading fleet. D'Annunzio addressed the crew amid cheers. The officers later were released and left on a train.

RECLAMATION PAYS DIVIDENDS IN CROPS WORTH $25,000,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The value of crops grown on lands within government reclamation projects for the single year of 1919 was $25,000,000 greater than the total of $125,000,000 expended on all projects constructed up to the close of the last fiscal year, according to the annual report of the reclamation service, made public yesterday. The value of crops produced on reclamation lands, the report said, was "just about twice as large" per acre as the average yield of unirrigated lands in the humid regions.

In Lee county more than 1,000 hunting licenses were issued last month, this practically twice as many as were issued last year.

HANDLING WATERWAYS IS SYSTEM

IMPOSSIBLE TO BUILD BUSINESS LIKE WATERWAYS ON ROT-TEN FOUNDATION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Pleading for the reorganization of the system of handling the national waterways, M. O. Leighton, chairman of the National Public Works, declared before the National Rivers and Harbors congress that it was impossible to build a business like waterways structure "on a rotten foundation." He said the business efficiency depends on the co-ordination of activities, adding 25 separate government agencies that dealt with the building construction.

SMALL INCOMES PAY TO LITTLE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—More equitable and just distribution of the $4,000,000,000 tax burden per annum, which the American people must bear for at least four more years, was recommended to congress yesterday by Secretary of the Treasury Houston, who in his annual report submitted a comprehensive scheme of tax revision.

"Revision of taxes should be effected," Mr. Houston wrote congress. "There can and should be a better distribution of the tax burden. Unwise taxes should be eliminated. But any scheme which would, after this fiscal year, yield for several years to come less than $4,000,000,000 would be incompatible with safety and sound finance. And the country should face the fact that present taxes even may not in the future be rolled upon to yield the needed revenue."

The secretary of the treasury said the excess profits tax should be repealed and must, of course, be replaced. He said he believed it should be replaced in large part by some form of corporation profits tax.

ADAMS HAS HOME ON WHEELS COMPLETE

Mr. and Mrs. Adams are here in their home on wheels and regardless of where they stop this wonderful car day or night they can prepare a meal of victuals, eat and sleep and have no cares, no gas or water bill, no taxes to worry them for the air is free and they can get lots of it travelling through Florida in the winter. This home is complete in every particular and is built on a Reo chassis and has all the folding beds and tables and equipment that a Pullman car would have and there is a place for everything and everything is in its place. Mr. Adams had this home built in Brockton, Mass., and it was built according to his own plans and from a glance into the interior, could not be improved upon. This is the life and Mr. and Mrs. Adams seem to have found the best part of the camping out idea—that of having a real home on wheels where neither rain or cold weather can bother them and they are "at home" wherever they stop the car.

GRAFT MONKEY GLANDS ON DUNGEON GIRL

CHICAGO SURGEON THINKS THEY WILL HAVE SUCCESS IN OPERATION

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Surgeons who grafted the thyroid gland of a monkey into the neck of Mary Zembek, aged nineteen, known as the "dungeon girl" because she had been hidden in a cellar by her parents since babyhood, are strongly hopeful of the success of the operation. The girl has the body and mentality of a 4-year-old child.

OTHER LINES ARE FACING "NO CREDIT" ALSO

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Undaunted by failure to obtain immediate action in the senate today on farmer relief legislation, proponents of the legislation announced the intention of renewing their efforts to bring their proposals to a vote. Chairman Gronna of the senate agricultural committee declared the farmer relief forces had the assurance of enough votes to pass the legislation and were determined to do it.

Objection of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, and of Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, today blocked consideration of the pending resolution directing revival of the War Finance Corporation and the extension of more liberal credits to farmers by the reserve banking system. The Republican leader said time had not been given for senators to study the proposition and suggested that manufacturers of New England were having the same difficulty as the farmers in obtaining needed credit.

Senator Gronna said that as soon as the testimony taken in the hearings by his committee was printed and placed in the hands of the senate he would press for consideration of the resolution. Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, author of the measure, also declared the matter would be accelerated.

The resolution now is on the senate calendar and can be called up at any time by unanimous consent, or by majority vote of the senate. Supporters said they hoped to have it taken up and acted upon during the morning hour so as not to conflict with the packer regulatory legislation which is due to come up tomorrow as unfinished business.

The senate agriculture committee which reported the resolution in the meantime will resume hearings tomorrow with a view of devising other remedial legislation for the producers. Tobacco men from Virginia are expected to be heard tomorrow. Congressional consideration of the methods to aid in restoring normal business conditions appeared in the offing today with the announcement that majority members of the ways and means committee would meet in conference tomorrow to discuss a legislative program with respect to commerce and industry.

Have Been Engaged to Play Christmas Week

A MUSICAL FESTIVAL

FINE MUSICAL ORGANIZATION WILL PLAY DAILY CONCERTS IN SANFORD

Sanford will have the Million Dollar Band for one week. This announcement is one of the most important that the "13" Club has made in some time and means that this city will have a week between Christmas and New Years that will be a week of gayety and music and the best music that can be furnished at that. While this city cannot as yet have a band for the entire season yet the public spirited business men who have subscribed for an amount sufficient to warrant the "13" Club in putting on the band for one week feel that the week's entertainment will be sufficient to start something along larger lines in the manner of entertaining our home people and our visitors.

The Band will be here Christmas Day and will give an afternoon concert once each day for seven days. They will also furnish music for several of the dances during the week and will give one or two nightly concerts and the nightly concerts may be paid attractions. This part of the program has not been worked out as yet but it is sure and certain that Sanford will have this splendid musical organization for the week after Christmas—just the time when a band is needed to liven up the city and keep the young folks busy with clean amusements.

The city is fortunate in being able to have the Million Dollar Band here for one week. This is going strong enough to give Sanford a bunch of good advertising and the band boys will have to live here that long and all of them will become Sanford boosters and then it is a good thing to have something coming all the time during the winter season. This city has been sadly deficient in good bands for some time as the home band did not receive the proper support and the people here are really hungry for good band music. The orchestra of the Million Dollar Band is said to be among the best in the country and there will be many opportunities during the week to hear the orchestra and it will really be a musical festival of the highest class for one week. The "13" Club does nothing by halves and they are putting Sanford on the map every day. Stand behind them, everybody.

WOULD CURB DE VALERA'S EFFORTS

LONDON, Dec. 9.—The British government is considering whether it will request the United States government in the interests of the Anglo-American friendship to take official notice of the anti-British activities in America of Prof. Famonn de Valera, "president of the Irish republic," according to a statement made yesterday by Andrew Bonar Law in the house of commons in response to questions.

Horatio Bottomley, Liberal, later asked if the time had not arrived when Great Britain should make serious representations to the American government that any further toleration of de Valera and the conferring on him of municipal honors, was an unfriendly act. This was greeted with cries of "No."

Mr. Bonar Law answered: "I think there is no doubt that we would, from the diplomatic point of view, have the right to take the course suggested, but it is not a question of right but what is expedient."

Responding to another query the speaker said: "Undoubtedly a very vigorous campaign is being made in America against this country, but so far we have found that the Americans can be trusted to look at the matter from a sensible point of view."

CHINA TO HAVE NEW MONEY PLAN

Foreign Banks in the Republic Heretofore in Control of Her Currency.

MAKE PROFITS IN EXCHANGE

Charge Commissions Whenever the Coins of One City Are Changed for Those of Another—American's Interesting Experience.

New York.—The new currency system that is to be introduced in China in the near future will make a considerable difference to the foreign banks, mostly British, which have had control of the money circulated in the country for the last 50 years. Practically the only money made by the Chinese government was the "cash," as it was called, a brass coin with a hole in the center so that it could be carried on a string by the poorer classes, and valued at 1,000 to the Mexican dollar.

The system of exchange and commission by which the foreign banks were able to pay their stockholders from 40 to 50 per cent, with occasional handsome bonuses, was very simple. The nominal money in China was tael made of silver and shaped like a tiny wooden shoe. As taels were not in circulation in the country they were changed into Mexican dollars, so that the bank drew two commissions in cashing a draft or a letter of credit, one for changing it into taels and another for changing from taels into dollars.

Marking the Dollars

Each port and city of any importance had its own particular manner of marking Mexican dollars except Hongkong and Shanghai, where they were circulated intact. At Foochow the dollar had a hole punched through the middle; at Amoy a piece was clipped from the side and it was known as a "chop" dollar, and at Swatow a stamp was made in the middle of the coin. These dollars were only good for their face value at the port or city to which they belonged, and a person taking a Foochow dollar to Amoy would have to pay a commission at the bank to have it exchanged for local currency, and the same thing occurred when he carried Amoy money to Swatow. No matter how often the Mexican dollar had to be changed the banks got their commission and the traveler paid.

A New York business man tested the plan by changing a $20 bill into Mexican dollars in Hongkong and then exchanging the money for local currency at each port going up the coast, and visiting Peking and Tientsin, Amoy, Swatow, Foochow and other places en route. By the time he reached Shanghai he had nothing left of his $20 bill, and had not spent a cent of it. The banks had taken it all in commissions on exchange.

Before the war the Mexican dollar was worth 53 to 55 cents in China, and at present, on account of the rise in the price of silver, the American dollar is worth about 90 cents in Hongkong and Shanghai in the local currency.

Handled by Chinamen

Cash transactions in the banks throughout China are all handled by Chinamen, called compradores, who are bonded in amounts varying from $100,000 to $250,000, according to the status of the house and the amount of financial business transacted. The clerks, usually sent out from London, examine the drafts, checks or letters presented at the counter in the bank and, after initialing them for payment, the compradores hand out the money. On account of the "chop" system, which means credit until the first of the month, the employees of the banks are usually in debt to the compradores, and in many cases when the time comes, at the end of five years' continuous service, to go home on six months' leave at full pay, the clerk is not able to go because he owes too much to the comprador and has to use his vacation money to pay his debts.

The Chinese compradores are well-educated men and speak English fluently. They gaze with surprise at a stranger who may address them in the old-fashioned pigeon English. After a moment's pause the compradores will explain, "Pardon me; I do not quite grasp your meaning. Do you wish to change some money?" Then the traveler, realizing that he has been "stung" by the hotel clerk who told him to talk that way, replies: "Oh, yes, please. I wish to draw some money upon my letter of credit," and the incident closes.

Fish Seven Inches Deep on Shore After High Tide

Scituate, Mass.—Residents of the South Shore caught large quantities of fish without net, line or bait when thousands of spawning and smelts were left by the tide on the beaches after immense schools had been driven ashore by larger fish. In many places the fish were seven inches deep. They were quite fresh and edible, and people came with wagons and automobiles to gather them.

Furs All Her Fortunes

"Alaska produces a large variety of beautiful and valuable furs upon land," says Andrew J. Stone in the Century. "It has 13 varieties of bears, six species of fox—black, blue, cross, red, silver and white—and all common land furs. The skins of its foxes are of the highest quality and are larger than those produced in any other country. The Alaska moose is the largest land animal found on the western hemisphere. The meat is as choice as the best of beef and the skin makes excellent footwear and is much worn during the winter months. The caribou, like the reindeer, lives almost exclusively upon mosses, and inhabits nearly all parts of the country except the southern coast country. They are found in large herds and supply man with millions of pounds of meat.

If a man has a long head and a strong arm he ought to make good.

Tilden Jacobs, Minnette Jacobs, Dora May Oglesby, Rosalee Oglesby, Arie Mann, Renie Mann, Winnie Swaggerty, Clara Swaggerty, Violet Swaggerty, Iva Bales, Roberta Wynn, Frances Hawkins, Neola Mann and Sadie Blackburn. Ruby Walker, who was called away to Tennessee was the only absent member of the class. Her diploma was received by her guardian, Mr. Hartline. The presentation of the bouquets of flowers and fruit was symbolical of the young peoples starting in their youth in the service of the Master will bring a rich harvest of golden fruit for His Kingdom by and bye. The flowers were presented by the members of the church who have devoted many years to the upbuilding of Christ's Kingdom. They were: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Oglesby, sr., Mr. and Mrs. Bird, Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Stephens. At the close of the presentation they formed a semi-circle at the back of the class where the tableau represented that the older members were the staunch background and hearty supporters of the younger workers. The two semi-circles joined in singing: "Onward Christian Soldiers" and remained in this position for the Benediction.

Seems to Sustain Darwin.
Something like half a century ago a Dutch army surgeon, Eugene Dubois, unearthed in Java some bones. There was part of a skull, two molar teeth and the fragment of a thigh. Science has not yet solved to its own satisfaction the problem presented by these vestiges of a once living thing. But science is fairly well convinced that whatever the nature of the living thing for which they formed part of the frame it belonged to an era so remote that the interval must be counted in hundreds of thousands of years, perhaps 500,000 years, and scientific imagination has reconstructed from these bones a thing that approaches the human in its characteristics.—Exchange.

DREW LESSONS FROM NATURE

College Professor Who Had Some Original Views Kept Students Awake.

At college we had a professor of machine design who was as original in his views as he was able in his subjects, writes John H. Van Deventer in Industrial Management. One of his pet theories was the inter-relationship between nature and correct design. "Boys," he would say, "there has been only one designer who never made a mistake, and the more we study His work the better machines we will build."

"When you put legs under a machine think of a horse or a cow, and get them as far apart as you can—don't get too much overhang at either end."

And, speaking of a counterbalance, "Study the kangaroo; there is not a prettier example of equilibrium in all positions. The further over he leans the more his tail comes into action off the ground."

And again, in speaking of general design, "Wherever possible, try to work for elasticity as against rigidity. You find very little of the rigid in nature and little trees often survive a gale by bending, where big ones are blown down."

All of which was undoubtedly very true, and made more of an impression on his hearers than some of the more complicated mathematical demonstrations that followed.

HELD FIRST SUNDAY SCHOOL

Englishman the Founder of Institution Now Recognized as a Force of Our Civilization.

The first known Sunday school was started in 1812 in a little village in England by Robert Raikes, a man of moderate means, and with no official church connections. Raikes lived in Gloucester, and was a regular attendant at Sunday church services. One Sunday morning he left his door step to make his slow and calm progress to the place of worship when he was halted by a burst of profanity from the lips of a small boy about to be engaged in fistie battle with a playmate. The fight was on before Raikes could reach the spot, and the original burst of profanity was added to by the excited spectators.

Raikes stopped the fight, and persuaded the entire group of boys to go to his home. He abandoned his intentions of going to church and spent the morning with telling Bible stories in a simple fashion, and in getting the boys to help him in a singing program. The next Sunday the entire crowd came back and brought their friends with them. The Sunday school was established. The idea spread to other English villages, jumped to France, and then Germany, and lastly to the United States. Sunday schools are now in operation in every civilized nation in the world.

KNOW MONEY BY PICTURES

How Those Who Handle Many Bills Find It Comparatively Easy to Tell Bad Ones.

It is a comparatively easy matter to become an expert in the quick handling of money and also to detect bills that have been raised, according to those who have tried. A large proportion of the bills now in circulation are federal reserve notes. Those in common use have identification characteristics, in addition to the numerals, easy to memorize.

Cashiers who handle large and small bills rapidly usually memorize the portrait on the bills, which are large enough to be unmistakable as the major mark of identification, with the numerals as the minor aid. The two combined are well-nigh infallible, save in the case of clever counterfeiters.

As the raising of bills is accomplished with the numerals, familiarity with the portraits, and comparison, will verify the proper denomination of the bills. The portraits on the federal reserve bills in everyday use are as follows:

- One-dollar notes, portrait of George Washington.
- Two-dollar notes, portrait of Thomas Jefferson.
- Five-dollar notes, portrait of Abraham Lincoln.
- Ten-dollar notes, portrait of Andrew Jackson.
- Twenty-dollar notes, portrait of Grover Cleveland.
- Fifty-dollar notes, portrait of U. S. Grant.
- Hundred-dollar notes, portrait of Benjamin Franklin.

HAD HAZY IDEA OF FINANCE

Queer Notion Held by Old Wash White Common to Many Investors, According to Lawyer.

At a dinner in New York the other day a prominent lawyer noted for his activities in rounding up investment swindlers told the following good story:

"It's pitiful to see how foolish a great many people are when it comes to a question of finance.

"Old Wash White is a good example of financial foolishness. When Wash's boss got back to the Delta from the North one day, he found the old man driving a fine young mule hitched to a handsome wagon.

"Now, Wash was a notoriously shiftless customer, and so his boss said to him:

"Where did you get that splendid turnout, Washington?"

"Ah done boughten it at Magnolia, sah," said Wash.

"How much did it cost you?"

"Ah done give mah note for $200 for it, sah."

"Good gracious," said the boss, "where do you expect to get $200 to meet your note when it falls due?"

"Wash looked astonished and defended.

"Fo' de Lawd's sake, boss man," he said, "you sholy don' expect me ter give mah note un' pay, too?"

Wasn't Addressing Tramp.

On her way downtown the other morning the woman stopped to see a sick friend, who lives on the first floor of a remodeled private house with a bedroom overlooking a nice old-fashioned back yard. The window was open and suddenly a loud voice broke the calm of the sick-room.

"You dirty bum, that's what you are," said the voice. "Of course you'll be comin' home now for your breakfast—and look at you, covered with dirt. It's a bum you are and not a drop of blue blood in you. Quit your whinin', you hungry stayout. Me lookin' and waitin' for you last night and worryin' about you! And now I suppose you want to sleep all day and rest up for another night. You're just like the rest of your kind. It's a bum you are and nothin' else."

The woman leaned out of the open window that she might see the wreck of humanity the trade had glorified. And there was the comfortably built, immaculately clean janitress letting in her prize-winning Angora cat. Dough-boy had come home for breakfast.—New York Sun.

SHIPPING POOR STUFF

Citrus growers today are reaping the result of shipments of green and immature fruit earlier in the season, according to Dr. J. H. Ross, president of the Florida Citrus Exchange. In addressing the monthly meeting of Exchange directors in Tampa on Wednesday morning, Dr. Ross pointed out that early in the season the growers had faced somewhat precarious market conditions. Prices then were good but conditions produced markets which needed to be "nursed and fondled." Instead of which, Dr. Ross declared, the growers literally had "pounded delicate markets between the eyes with a club of green fruit."

As a result citrus fruits which had for a time been the only foodstuffs to hold their own, have been forced into the prevailing depression of prices, said Dr. Ross. Now that good and edible fruits is going forward, it finds the way blocked by accumulations of immature fruit in the hands of northern wholesalers and retailers. The speaker discussed the general business stagnation of growers of corn and wheat whose lot possibly is more difficult than that of Florida citrus growers. Whether recovery of the markets will be prompt or slow, Dr. Ross declared he would not try to say, further declaring he "knew of no man who now has the capacity to be a prophet." He placed the blame for shipments of green fruit with practically every section of the state, declaring the offenders to be many and not confined to any section or clique.—Tampa Times.

And the lettuce growers of this and other sections are up against the same proposition and now that the cold weather is heading up the lettuce and the finest quality of stuff is going forward the price drops simply because a few growers were greedy enough to ship any old kind of lettuce into a rising market and kill it off. It is much easier to knock down the prices on fruits and vegetables than it is to boost the price and only one thing will boost it and keep it boosted and that is first the demand and supply and shipping of good stuff all the season round. Some day Florida growers will learn this lesson and ship nothing but prime fruits and vegetables with established brands that mean just what they say and the buyers will then be certain of a good pack and prime stuff and they will pay accordingly.

THE FOLLY OF INFLATION

That war can not be waged without inflation of the currency seems to be generally accepted. All nations inflate, and have done it time out of mind. But, in spite of this universal practice, the question, "why?" is very difficult to answer.

Take this country for example. At the beginning of the war we had a solid gold basis currency of around $30 per capita. The gold was retired and the Federal Reserve "elastic" currency substituted, and the per capita circulation was run up to around $70. We had, and still have, or did within the last few months, practically two and a half times as much currency as we had at the beginning of the war.

Its purchasing power decreased to about 40 per cent.

In other words, the $70 or $75 dollars which each person had in 1919 would not buy a particle more goods than the $30 which he had in 1914.

The total amount of currency in circulation in 1919 would not pay for any more than the total amount in 1914.

The government added billions to the circulation, but not one cent to the purchasing power of the public.

What good was accomplished? We were told—have been so told a million times—that war calls for more currency. Yet every war purchase took the same fractional part of the entire volume of currency that it would have taken before the war.

But while the benefits are hard to discover, the evils are apparent. Inflation permitted debtors to settle with their creditors on what was virtually a basis of forty cents on the dollar.

It cut the receipts of all who had standing salaries about sixty per cent.

It took sixty per cent off the value of every trust and insurance fund in existence.

Moreover, the war was waged largely on credit. The government borrowed 40-cent dollars which it will have to repay in hundred cent dollars. How this operates will be clearer when times get back closer to the normal.

The price of food, and clothing and rent, and all the things we have to sell, or are required to buy, will shrink; but the price of the tax receipt will stay up.

This is not a criticism of this, or any particular country; it is a statement of cold facts, which nobody disputes. But, in view of these facts, is it not time to reconsider some of our financial axioms and see whether it really is necessary to go through an orgy of inflation every time we have a war?—Lakeland Telegram.

ANOTHER EDITOR GONE

With the issue of the Herald of this date one year ago the present editor took charge of it, having served this town since that time as the editor, and for part of the time as the owner, of its local paper. By dint of hard work and plenty of it, he has gradually brought the paper to a point where it can take its place with out shame by the side of any paper published in Florida.

Now he will drop it. During 1920, according to figures provided by newspaper organizations, about 1,300 newspapers in various parts of the country have gone to the wall. The Herald has not only kept its head above water, but has advanced and improved in every respect.

But it has advanced solely because its editor has worked day and night to drag it along by the scruff of its neck.

In his efforts he has received the moral support of the entire community. He has been "glad handed" and complimented on every side until, had he not been too busy pulling his paper along, his head would have swelled until not any known size hat would have fitted him.

But a paper can't live by moral support in these days and times.

Although the editor has been able to do many things with the Herald, there have been numerous very important things he could not do.

He has been able to increase the income of the paper by 250 per cent a month, but that merely enabled it to keep pace with the rising cost of its own production and to pay off a few of the old time debts which had been left as a legacy by previous editors.

He has not been able to collect the money due the paper from many of its advertisers without a preliminary wrestling bout of from three to six months, and there are hundreds of dollars he has not yet been able to collect his subscriptions, in many cases, without first clubbing the subscriber into unconsciousness.

He has not been able to obtain the financial backing of local business men who have been loudest in their declarations that "the paper is a real paper for the first time in its history and must be kept up," and in consequence the paper has never had a working capital.

The editor is tired of finishing every month with himself and his paper dead broke.

He is tired of a surplus of moral support, which he doesn't need, and a famine in financial support, which he does need.

He is tired of keeping alive by his own unassisted and unsupported efforts a local enterprise which is a source of benefit to the entire community.

Furthermore, he is through with it. The paper does not exist and the town does not exist where he is obliged to remain and continue in the status he occupies now.

He has held on as long as he has partly through a desire to demonstrate what it is possible to produce in the way of a paper in a town the size of Hastings, and partly because

E. A. Douglass has purchased two fine lots just north of his residence on the Heights where he is building a splendid bungalow. This sale was made by J. E. Spurling.

Pat Murphy, the irrepressible Irishman who is known throughout the length and breadth of the state, was here today in the interests of his legislative book that he has published each session. Pat has many friends here where he lived at one time and they are always glad to see him.

MONROE COUNTY VOTES OVERSEA HIGHWAY SPAN FLORIDA KEYS

Practically without opposition the election held today favored bonding Monroe county for the sum of $400,000 for the purpose of building an additional eleven miles of county highway along the keys, forming the first link of overseas thoroughfare to the mainland which, when completed, will be the most picturesque driveway in all the world, and will throw open the door of Florida and the United States to the people of Key West and intervening keys. It will also aid wonderfully in development of agricultural and other great resources of the keys touched.

WEATHER AND CROP CONDITIONS IN FLORIDA FOR THE WEEK ENDING DECEMBER 7.

Temperature: Temperature averaged from 1 degree below normal to 2 degrees above. Freezing temperatures occurred on two days in the interior of the extreme north, and frost formed in the upper central countries but without damage to crops.

Precipitation: Except in the extreme west where rather heavy rains occurred, the total for the week was generally below the usual amount for the period. Showers occurred in all divisions. The greatest amount reported for the week was 1.30 inches at Pensacola. There was no rain at some stations.

Condition of Crops: The weather during the week was generally favorable. Although the rainfall was deficient, the soil is in good condition over most of the state. Temperatures were much below the seasonal on several days, which was favorable for citrus fruits, oats, celery, lettuce, cabbage and other hardy truck, but night temperatures were rather unfavorable for beans and other tender truck on several days, although no damage resulted from the frosts. oat planting continues in some localities, and the work of planting truck is more general. Most of the cane and sweet potato crops have been harvested. Ranges continue in fair to good condition in the peninsula.

CHAIN STORES SUPERVISOR HERE

David Price, supervisor of the Jones' Cash Store System is in the city and will be here for some time getting the branch store here in good working order and taking up a systematic line of advertising. The Jones Cash Stores are just now beginning to break in and expect to have stores in every city of any size in the state. Operating upon the chain system and buying in large quantities the Jones' System stores figure on a selling price that gives them 3 1-2 per cent profit and their prices and goods are sold everywhere at a very reasonable price. Nothing is charged and nothing delivered which gives them a smaller margin upon which to operate and while arrangements may be made later on for a paid delivery with a small extra charge the idea is on the cash and carry plan that is proving so popular everywhere. Mr. Price states that he will use more space in the daily paper to give the people the prices and make the Jones' Cash Stores popular in this city just as they are proving popular in other cities. Watch the Herald for further particulars and go to the Jones' Cash Store and look them over.

"The Store That Is Different"

ANOTHER STORY ON SAM WHITNEY WIG IS 100 YEARS OLD

Editor Sanford Herald:

That was an interesting article in the Herald recently in regard to the 100th birthday of a Geneva negro, which comes on Saturday, the 11th inst., but "the half has not been told."

On the 12th of November, 1918, I was working that section of the county enumerating farm products, etc., and at Kokoee, about three miles from Geneva on the road to Chuluota, I found a two-story log house. The lower room had unchinked cracks, being used as a sort of store room; steps outside led to a landing in front of the upper part. An aged negro greeted me cheerily and insisted I step inside. Much to my surprise I found a well-ceiled 3-room apartment, neatly furnished with plain leather upholstered chairs, substantial hardwood tables, white iron beds, with snowy-white covering, floors and walls spotlessly clean and sweet smelling.

It was such a remarkably kept house and in such an unexpected place that I evidenced some curiosity to know the how and the why of it all.

The old man gave his name as Sam Whitney, and he explained that in one month he would be 98 years old; that he believed the Lord would answer his prayer and spare him to see his hundredth birthday before taking him home to heaven; and not having many more days to spend here (though he appeared far from being feeble), it was his wish to live in his upper room, which was kept as scrupulously clean and bright as it was humanly possible to make it, in anticipation of his entry into that wonderful pearly white city above.

As I arose to go he spoke up very earnestly and sincerely, "Young man, when do you think this terrible war will come to an end?" I replied "It ended yesterday morning." Never have I seen a happier looking face, as he said: "I thank God for sending you here to give me this good news. Every day since this country entered the war I have held a prayer meeting here in this room and prayed for it to end, and now the old man's prayer is answered."

He then asked, "Would you mind reading something to me out of this book?" and handed me a copy of the gospel of St. John. I read from the 14th chapter, and as I closed the book he said: "Now I would like for you to let me pray before you go. I have heard many people pray,—Methodist bishops, eloquent preachers, good laymen,—but never have I heard a more fervent prayer, or one that appeared to reach its destination quicker than that of that fumble white-souled negro."

The people of Sanford will miss a treat if they fail to accept the invitation to visit him on Saturday to attend his celebration. I hope several hundred will go.

Japan's Sulphur Baths.

At the foot of the volcano Asamayama in Japan there is a combination of hot sulphur and cold mineral springs. The bathing house consists of three or four substantial wooden bathing tanks, into which the hot water flows, and a wooden platform running around the room with cupboards and shelves where the people dress.

Benms laid across the bathing tanks divide them into little squares, a square for each person. The duration of the time bath is regulated with great precision by the head attendant, and during the bath from 150 to 200 half litre scoops of hot sulphur water are poured over the head of the bather.
