fit to give back and forge bonds with the towns that continually give the league so much.

In 2003, Mike Whiting, Sara Whiting and Sal Lombardo conceptualized a wood bat baseball league that would offer Florida boys a chance, and this time they could come home to take it, thus was born the Florida Collegiate Summer League. The FCSL was founded in November 2003 to provide a place in Florida for college players to hone their wood bat skills against top-level competition, in a festive, community environment.

The Florida Collegiate Summer League is affiliated with the National Alliance of College Summer Baseball (NACCSB) - an alliance of college summer wood bat leagues which operate following NCAA legislation.

Looking ahead at the 2005 season, Sanford River Rats Head Coach Ricky Plante is confident he should have an even stronger club than in 2004, although the upcoming Major League Free Agent Draft, coming Tuesday, may take away some of the optimism as Plante expects as many as 18 of his 22 players to be taken.

The strength of the team last year was its pitching and, once again, Plante surmises that the strength of his team will come from the hill.

Not only does he expect Apopka High and Seminole Community College standout Drew Shetrone and possibly Kyle DeYoung, who had a phenomenal season as the closer at Division II national-power Florida Southern College this season, his top two hurlers from last season, to return, but also coming back will be SCC pitchers Brett Murphy (Oviedo), closer Chris Maher (Winter Springs) and Zac Whitmer, plus Paul Buhrow and Pete Taraskevich, who helped St. Petersburg College win the Florida Community College State and Championship and advance to the NJCAA National Tournament in Colorado.

They will be joined by a host of new hurlers, including SCC standouts John Ducey (Kennesaw State) and Brandon Webb and UCF's Derek Abriola. Alabama will be represented as well by Crimson Tide ace T.J. Large (Seminole HS, St. Pete) will join the team after its run in the NCAA Division I Regionals and World Series.

With Brent Sellers graduating, this host of pitching talent will be ably handled by Louisiana-Lafayette catcher Jonathan LuCroy (Umatilla). Lucroy may be familiar to local fans as he played several games in Sanford with Lombardo's World Championship winning summer baseball team, the Scorpions.

Last year's Tournament MVP, Apopka and SCC standout Kyle Patrick, and SCC home run king Jon Lozada will return to lead the offense, along with UCF standouts Courtney Probst and Lake Mary's Matt Horvath, who moves over from the Orlando team.

Newcomers will include University of Tennessee standout Chris Kemp, a first baseman who hit over .400 last year but red-shirted this season, South Florida Community College utility-man Jimmy Miles, Seminole High School and SCC second baseman Justin Frost and Dillon Lindsey, who played two years ago at Garrett Community College.

Plante has recently got a commitment from former Oviedo All-American infielder Bridger Hunt, who played at UCF as a freshman, but transferred to Pensacola Junior College this season where he earned All-State and All-Region honors.

At the time this story was written, Plante was still waiting on a couple of commitments that would fill out the team nicely.

The aforementioned DeYoung and UCF star third baseman John Michael Howell, who came into his own this season with 16 home runs for the Golden Knights after starting at Winter Springs and SCC, both played key roles last season in the Rats winning the title, but had not yet decided on their summer plans.

Provided this entire talent rich line up doesn't get drafted this week, it looks as if the River Rats should be able to bring home the championship trophy to Sanford once again this summer.

In fact, Coach Plante and the Rats attribute much of their past success to the support of the Sanford community.

When the fans pack Sanford Memorial Stadium, the cheering has been known to cause the dugouts to shake, firing up the players and leading to another victory for the Rats.

But the River Rats will not sneak up on anyone this season as most of the teams will know what to expect from Sanford this season and figure to be ready.

All but one of the six teams, including new entry Zephyrhills, will have at least one player from Seminole County on its roster.

And there figures to be many more as several players had not yet returned their 'contracts' for this season and none of the teams had a full 22-man roster as of mid-May.

The league runner-up Daytona Beach Barracudas will have former Lake Mary High School slugger Austin Pride on its roster along with Seminole's Matt Fraysier and Bryan Armstrong and Oviedo's Colin Irvine.

The Orlando Shockers will have Oviedo's Kevin Cominsky and Lake Brantley's George Bradner, Jeff Dietz, Matt Dobbins and Brett Smith.

The Winter Park Diamond Dawgs will carry several SAC stars in Oviedo's Matt Lopez, Lyman's Kyle Harmon, Lake Mary's Mike Muzicka and Lake Brantley's Geoff Strickland, not to mention Bishop Moore's Mario Lombardo, who calls Altamonte Springs home and Trinity Prep's Corey Whiting and Dave Nathanson.

The expansion Zephyrhills Snappers will have only one local, but it is former Lake Brantley ace pitcher Tommy Sutton.

The other new entry this season, the Winter Haven Warthogs, won't have a Seminole County player on its roster, but it will feature former Deltona High School star pitcher and hitter, Nick Pugliese, who gave the county teams fits while he was a member of the Wolves.

Water quality data available on the Web

PALATKA — The St. Johns River Water Management District is making volunteer-collected water quality data available on its Web site.

The site, www.sjrwmd.com/wav, features a searchable database of water quality measurements collected by the District's Watershed Action Volunteer Program since 1995. The database is searchable by county, hydrologic unit code, site name, water body and watershed.

It includes measurements of more than a dozen factors that influence water quality, such as dissolved oxygen, chloride, salinity and alkalinity.

Currently, nearly 100 WAV monitors provide data from 11 counties, including Seminole County. Others include: Alachua, Clay, Duval, Flagler, Lake, Marion, Nassau, Orange, Putnam and St. Johns counties.

Each volunteer measures water quality at the same site every month for at least a year.

Agencies and local governments participating with WAV also may submit laboratory data for inclusion in the water quality database.

For information about becoming a WAV water quality monitor, contact Bill Watkins, WAV program coordinator, at 386-329-4345.

Parents seize latest rezoning court battle

By Steve Paradis

SANFORD — Tusawilla and Sabal Point parents won the latest round in their fight against the Seminole County School Board to undo high school rezoning.

Lawyers for both groups of parents convinced Circuit Judge Debra Nelson Monday that a full hearing is necessary as parents charge the school district violated Government in the Sunshine Laws. Nelson set a one-day hearing for Friday, June 24.

Attorney Dennis Wells represents SC READ, a group of mainly Sabal Point parents. He told Nelson that the Sunshine Law is really simple, but that the School Board did not provide the public with a forum at each step of the rezoning process.

If a government body does not comply with the Sunshine Law, then either a criminal action is pursued or the body goes through the process again.

"This is what we are asking," Wells told Nelson. He wants the School Board to go back and do the process right.

When rezoning plans developed by a Core Committee did not satisfy board members, they rushed into two additional plans and ended up adopting a plan known as Z2.

Wells contends that the Core Committee meetings were subject to the Sunshine Laws for open government. There were no minutes taken at the meetings, for example, only brief

SANFORD — Lake Mary High School staff members were stunned to learn that Assistant Principal Scott Underwood died Friday, June 3. He was 38 years old.

Underwood apparently died of a heart attack. Lake Mary Principal Boyd Karns said his assistant was watching a movie with his wife, Marie, and daughter, Cassandra, Friday night when he had trouble breathing.

"Scott was a wonderful person to be around," Karns said Monday. "He made everyone around him feel better, even in the most stressful times. He always used humor and had a calmness about him."

Students are out on summer break, but some have found out about the news, Karns said. The students loved him, although SANFORD — The City Commission and city department heads met Monday in a special work session to discuss Sanford's future.

After a daylong brainstorm, the commission came up with a guideline for seven goals.

In no particular order, goal number one was personnel issues, such as increasing job and employee training; reviewing salaries and benefits; identifying and fixing staffing issues; diversifying the workforce; boosting employee morale; and hiring a city manager.

Goal number two was neighborhood improvements such as creating a community service division; improving neighborhood services; improving code enforcement; creating a park improvement plan; revitalizing/redeveloping depressed areas on the east and west side of Sanford; and reducing crime.

Goal number three was growth management/master plan development such as implementing a master plan that includes downtown, Lake Mary Blvd, and the eastside of Sanford; updating comprehensive plan (codes and ordinances); annexing (enclaves and west of I-4); finding alternative water resources; improving traffic control and improving downtown parking.

Goal number four was fiscal policy such as creating a capital budget for equipment replacement; evaluating contracts and leases; and creating a maintenance schedule.

Goal number five was capital improvement projects such as building a new public safety complex; building a new public works complex; creating a stormwater plan; considering Mellonville school site (community recreation center); realigning U.S. 17-92 and completing RiverWalk; and updating technology.

Goal number six was economic development such as enhancing Sanford's image; improving special events; packaging assets such as eco-

Longwood mother reaches for the stars

Brea Tato, 30, of Longwood, is not a desperate housewife.

In fact, this stay-at-home mom of three just needed a quick creative outlet when she entered a contest with www.moviefone.com.

Now, less than a month from when she entered the contest, Tato has a one in five chance to interview celebrities on the "red carpet" in New York at the premiere of Tom Cruise and Dakota Fanning's new movie, "War of the Worlds".

Tato was browsing online back in May of this year, when she saw the contest and decided to enter. She had to make a three-minute video of herself explaining why she should be chosen to interview on the red carpet for War of the Worlds.

Tato said she was embarrassed and didn't show anyone the video she mailed in. The video can be seen by going to www.Moviefone.com/RedCarpetVIP. In the video, Tato first shows herself as a normal mother calling herself a "frumpy housewife", then in the next clip she has her hair down and glasses off.

City manager search to begin

By Liane Edixon
Herald Staff

SANFORD — A consensus was reached at Monday's City Commission special work session to have interim city manager V. Eugene Miller perform the new city manager search.

He will narrow down a list of applicants to no more than 10, and the five to 10 finalists will be selected by the City Commission for telephone interviews.

Miller presented the commission with a draft timetable at the work session and discussed a few preferences for his search.

The timetable shows the City Commission approving the advertisement soliciting city manager candidates at their June 13, 2005 commission meeting. If approved, the advertisement will be placed on June 17 in newspapers, job search Web sites, and other venues. Miller will also be networking and making personal invitations to other candidates as well.

The deadline for applications will fall on July 22, 2005, and a few days after that Miller will begin to screen applications and conduct preliminary reference checks to narrow down the interested applicants to no more than 10.

After the commissioners review the list of 10 applicants, they can narrow it

Superintendent garners two recent honors

SANFORD — Bill Vogel, superintendent of Seminole County Public Schools, has been selected to receive the Bethune/Carver/Dewey Outstanding Educational Leadership Award.

The school district also announced that Vogel was selected to become a member of The Florida Council of 100 for a two-year term.

The mission of the Council of 100 is: "To be a forum of strategic thinkers and leaders having a major, positive effect on Florida public policy which enhances the quality of life and economic well being of all Floridians," said Chris Sullivan, chairman of the council and chief executive officer of Outback Steakhouse.

The Bethune/Carver/Dewey award is named for Mary McLeod Bethune, Dr. George Washington Carver, and Dr. John Dewey, three of the nation's most prolific educators, scientists, and inventors. These leaders believed that intellectual engagement, reform, and transformation of the practice of quality teaching and leadership were the centerpieces of innovation, discovery, and economic self-sufficiency, a Seminole County Public Schools news release said.

The award will be presented at the SECME Corporate Celebration of Achievement in Science, Engineering, Technology, and Mathematics, on Monday, July 18 at 7 p.m. in Greensboro, N.C.

"This award is being presented to Dr. Vogel for providing leadership that empowers teachers and counselors to be equitable and to hold children to high expectations, enabling the succession of leadership and sustain the courage to teach," said Yvonne Freeman, executive director.

Vogel said this was truly an honor. "Our school district for a number of years has been active in promoting the SECME program, which focuses on science, math, technology, and engineering, to inspire students to have an interest in those areas. We've been very impressed here because it's a very hands on activity to encourage students in those subject areas."

Vogel said he is proud of the award, but added, "More so than me, it really reflects the commitment of the Seminole County school district to the organization."

Rezoning

summaries that no one approved, Wells said. He also said microphones were not used at the Core Committee meetings, that they were not fully advertised except on the Internet.

What can be done to correct the problem? Wells asked, answering himself, simply redo the process.

A bus ride that the school district called a fact-finding action was also not advertised legally, Wells said. Because all five School Board members were on the trip, it should have been considered a public meeting.

Both Wells and Damon Chase, attorney for the Tusawilla Homeowners Association, objected to advertising for the Oct. 26, 2004, public input meeting held by the School Board.

On Oct. 17, 2004, they said, two advertisements were published in print. One said just the Core Committee plans would be considered by the School Board. The other included the two new plans developed separately by Superintendent Bill Vogel and his staff.

Parents might conclude from reading the first notice that they don't need to attend the meeting because they are not affected. They may never see the second one that directly affects their children.

Wells quote School Board member Diane Bauer to show that everyone might not have received the notices. She said at the seven and one-half hour Oct. 26 public input hearing that the hundreds of parents attending represented just one-half of 1 percent of the county's parents.

School Board attorney Ned Julian went through the Board's actions and how they complied with state law as it applies to school districts.

He said the Board advertised for the Oct. 26 meeting in which the final plan was adopted. He said the extra plans were devised after Vogel discussed the consent decree with the U.S. Justice Department. The Justice

“The Board is not responsible if no one shows up.”

Ned Julian, School Board attorney

Department graded the plans for rezoning, but did not choose which would be better, Julian said.

Because the two extra plans did not receive proper advertising for the Oct. 26 meeting, he said, the School Board advertised for a Nov. 29 meeting to formally adopt plan Z2. The parent organizations sued, however, putting the process on hold. Once an administrative judge ruled against the parents, the Board approved Z2 in an emergency meeting and advertised for final adoption on April 26.

About 20 people spoke during public input April 26 before the School Board made its final adoption of Z2.

Julian said the Board complied with everything it had to, including advertising for meetings.

“We know that the Board did comply,” he said. “The Board is not responsible if no one shows up.”

Julian told Nelson that he doubted the June 24 hearing would last one day. She said she would make sure it did and would interrupt people if they became redundant.

This was just one round among many for the School Board and the two groups of parents. The Tusawilla parents don't want their children rezoned from Winter Springs to Oviedo. The Sabal Point parents don't want their children rezoned from Lake Brantley High School in Altamonte Springs to Lyman High School in Longwood.

The parents are appealing the administrative judge's March ruling that the School Board could rezone the students. An appeal is pending with the 5th District Court of Appeal in Daytona Beach.

Since last summer when the rezoning process started, parents have asked the School Board to review student enrollment at Lake Brantley. They contended that the school was only overcrowded because out-of-zone students attended the top-ranked school.

On May 18, Julian informed Wells that the School Board agrees to conduct a full review of the student enrollment records maintained by Lake Brantley High School. The purpose is to determine if any students not entitled to attend Lake Brantley are enrolled there.

Julian asked if any of the parents would be available to assist.

Later he told The Herald the plan was to conduct a pilot program for reviewing enrollment at all of the county's high schools. Lake Brantley will be first, but it is still in the development phase.

“If the perception is still out there, we need to do everything we can to ensure that the students are properly enrolled,” Julian said.

Sabal Point parent Jennifer Finch, the principal person to challenge the rezoning plan Z2, said she first asked for such a review at Lake Brantley last August, then again in September, October and November. Her son will move on to high school in two years.

Finch also attended a meeting at Sabal Point between parents and Vogel and Board member Dede Schaffner in mid-May.

“The community showed its complete displeasure for Vogel and Schaffner,” Finch said. “They were not very forthright. The community is unhappy.”

One parent at that meeting asked Vogel if a bus could be provided for Sabal Point students attending after-school activities. On May 19, Vogel, through attorney Julian, notified Wells that the School Board will provide an activity bus for Lyman students who reside in Sabal Point. Later he said the magnet program at Lyman already used an activity bus and that a route to Sabal Point could be added.

Finch said the measure did nothing to deter her from fighting the rezoning.

“It doesn't change the distance or time,” she said. “It simply alleviates the working parent from saying to the student ‘You can't participate.’ Our position is, the children can ride a bike home from Lake Brantley.”

The School Board has met in executive session at least twice to prepare for the upcoming hearing and appeal. It notified media outlets of these closed sessions that were transcribed by a court reporter and will be available once the legal actions conclude.

Both sides have heated up their rhetoric. Chase at the Monday hearing before Judge Nelson said a full hearing needed to take place so the judge could see how evasive the School Board members are in answering questions. School Board members have expressed frustration with parents who have at times dealt in a less than cordial manner about the rezoning.

A Web site has also been launched to unseat all five School Board members when their reelections come up.

Finch said she knew about the Web site, but had nothing to do with creating firetheboard.com. The site asks readers to replace the board members because: “They have ignored their constituents for too long.”

The school district is moving along with plans to open Hagerty High School in Oviedo in August.

“The School Board is implementing its rule,” Julian said. “Everybody knows where they are going to school.”

her to be chosen as the interviewer.

Tato said she has never really done anything for herself. She started a family at age 21 with her husband Manny.

She has a 9-year-old daughter, Ashleigh, and 7-year-old twins, daughter Avy and son JoJo.

“I feel like I'm representing housewives,” Tato said. “I just want to prove that we're not all desperate.”

Tato said she is a wife and mother first, but that she had a large surge of creativity inside of her that needed to be let out.

Tato scripted, directed, produced, starred and filmed her own three-minute video.

On her video, Tato has a natural ability to captivate the audience, which is why she was chosen as a final contestant.

John Angelo Sr. communications manager with Movie Fone, said he thinks Tato would be good. “She's got a ton of personality,” Angelo said.

Voting ends Monday, June 13, and if Tato wins, she and her husband will be flown to New York and put up in a hotel with all expenses paid. They will also get to see the premiere event.

Tato will also interview stars as they walk the red carpet, which will air on Movie Fone's Web site.

“We'll take good care of them,” Angelo said of whoever wins the contest.

The Red Carpet VIP contest is put on by Movie Fone about once a year with a big movie. Movie Fone asks movie fans to submit audition tapes displaying personalities and interview skills.

Economic injury loans available from USSBA

ORLANDO - The U.S. Small Business Administration reminds business owners throughout Florida that Economic Injury Disaster Loans are still available to small businesses that were economically impacted from Hurricanes Ivan and Jeanne.

"Small businesses that suffered economic injury losses from one or more of last year's hurricanes and want to apply for a low-interest loan from the SBA are urged to do so before the deadline," said SBA Disaster Area Director Michael C. Allen. The deadline for Hurricane Ivan is June 6 and the Hurricane Jeanne victims have until June 27.

Small businesses may apply for a loan up to $1.5 million if they have suffered substantial economic injury in the aftermath of last year's historic hurricane season. These working capital loans may be used to pay fixed debts, payroll, accounts payable, and other bills that could have been paid had the disaster not occurred. Loans are not intended to replace lost sales or profits. Interest rate on these loans is 2.9 percent, with a maximum term of 30 years.

Small businesses interested in applying for assistance can call the SBA at 1-800-359-2227. Business loan applications can also be downloaded from the SBA website at www.sba.gov/disaster. Completed applications should be mailed to: U.S. Small Business Administration P.O. Box 621117, Orlando, FL 32862.

In the aftermath of last year's hurricanes, as of June 6, the SBA has approved 52,957 disaster loans for more than $1.7 billion throughout the State of Florida.

FEMA focuses on new 'cane season

ORLANDO - As Floridians face the start of a new hurricane season, the U.S. department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency and the agencies united under the State Emergency Response Team move into a long-term recovery mode and continue working on the aftermath of 2004's storms.

Funding continues to be approved on a daily basis and local officials can track the progress of their Public Assistance grant applications online at www.floridapa.org. Under the presidential disaster declarations for Florida's 2004 hurricanes, FEMA will pay 90 percent of the eligible cost for emergency measures and permanent restoration, while the state and local entities pay the remaining 10 percent.

FEMA has disbursed nearly $1.2 billion in grants to individuals for rental assistance, minimal home repair, and other disaster-related needs. The U.S. Small Business Administration approved more than $1.7 billion in low-interest disaster loans. (See separate story, above.) Call 1-800-359-2227.

Have you considered a Roth IRA?

By: David Underwood
State Farm® agent

The Traditional Individual Retirement Arrangement (IRA) can be an appropriate part of retirement planning because of its tax-deferral advantages. Unfortunately, because of participation in an employer sponsored retirement plan and having adjusted gross income (AGI) that exceeds certain amounts, not everyone is eligible to take advantage of the tax-deduction benefits of a Traditional IRA.

Even though you may not be able to take a tax deduction for a traditional IRA contribution, you may want to look into the possibilities of a Roth IRA. Contributions are not deductible, so you won't receive that income tax advantage. However, once the Roth IRA has been in

Whether you can benefit from the tax-deductible features in a Traditional IRA or the tax-free distributions of a Roth IRA, investing in your future is something that should not be delayed.

The sooner you make the decision to contribute to a retirement account, the sooner the tax advantages of an IRA can work for you

Stormy Weather

Recent storms overwhelmed the drainage of Seminole Boulevard near the flag pole.

Optimists hear plans for children's poetry, paintings

As a 16-year-old, Hinda Paquette was painfully shy and barely verbal. She then discovered that she could express her raging feelings through the art of writing.

"Words spilled forth like they had been there for a century, waiting for the moment of discovery where they could be released onto the reality of pen and paper," she said.

This same kind of self discovery is what Hinda hopes will spring forth from children in the Sanford area.

The respected writer wants to offer painting and poetry workshops for children up to age 18, who may not otherwise be privy to the opportunity of such classes.

Hinda presented a detailed proposal recently to the Sanford Optimist Club during its weekly Wednesday lunch meeting at the Colonial Room Restaurant. She's seeking corporate sponsorship for the program, which will be housed in the upper room of the Sanford Book Shoppe, on First Street in Historic Downtown Sanford.

"Poetry remains a gift, one I hope to share with children who may benefit from artful expression," Hinda said. "Each individual child has their own voice. I will work with the children to discover that voice and teach in gentle tones the poetic form."

The art session will be taught by Ruth A. Schorer, a multifaceted artist who has created sets for the LizArt program, the Southern Ballet Theatre and the City Hall of Orlando.

The workshops are scheduled for once a week: Monday, Wednesday, or Thursday. The classroom walls will serve as the children's art gallery. Some of their designs may be manufactured as gift items, such as calendars and book-markers to raise money for the continuing program.

"My intentions are to encourage children to create brush paintings in watercolor around the poetry according to their feelings," Schorer said. "The painting itself serves as an expression of events experienced in their lives."

For more information or if you'd like to become a corporate sponsor, call Hinda at 407-977-1272.

SHS Class of 1955 holds unforgettable weekend

By Grace M. Stineciper
Herald Correspondent

"A wonderful and unforgettable weekend". This was the most common comment from many members of the Seminole High School class of 1955 after their 50th reunion weekend held recently, from Fri., April 29, through Sunday, May 1.

Many in the group started their school years together in the Sanford area in Kindergarten or 1st grade at either Sanford Southside, Sanford Westside, Paola, Geneva or Monroe Schools. And many others joined the class in later years. No matter when they joined, this class is definitely a close-knit group as evidenced by the camaraderie felt at the different activities.

The weekend blast began with a fathering Friday evening at the Cobalt Room in the Marriott at Lake Mary, from 7 until 10 p.m. Many classmates were at their reunion for the first time in 20 to 30 years and a good time was had by all, reminiscing, visiting and showing off pictures of children and grandchildren.

Next on the agenda was a Saturday morning brunch at the Colonial Room Restaurant in downtown Sanford. This restaurant was formerly Touchton's Drug Store and was the after school destination of many students for milk shakes, cokes and crackers. As the Sanford Police Department was well aware, there were always drag races on the way to Touchton's at the traffic lights on Park Avenue at 13th Street and 9th Street. After a great brunch, some of the classmates enjoyed a tour of the Sanford Museum. Alicia Clark, curator, had set up several Seminole High School displays, along with the other interesting items from Sanford's history.

Saturday evening was the highlight of the weekend, with a banquet, attended by 80 people, in the Grand Ballroom at the Marriott at Lake Mary. The room was set up with eight tables with tablecloths in class colors of green and white with beautiful crystal centerpieces. During the evening, the class was entertained with music from the 50's by DJ Shane Bates.

After socializing and before dinner, Robert Gonzalez, reunion chairman, thanked the committee members; Class

President Harold Pate, Larry Bates, Donna McTeer Schuiteman, Sandra Monforten Wilson, Sonja Monforten Beverly, Roger Garner, John Higgins, Rochelle Eubanks Whitley, Claudette Waites Behrens, Rebecca Cain Pelham, Joe Hunt and Patty Brown Angel. Special thanks and recognition was given to Claudette Waites Behrens for arranging the Sunday Riversip Romance cruise and the barbershop quarter "Makeshift", Joe Hunt for the Museum tour, John Higgins for the Colonial Room Brunch, Donna McTeer Schuiteman for being Treasurer and finally, Roger Garner who donated his time and resources for mail-outs, booklet printing, signs, school pictures and

reunion photos. Recognition was given to the lone teacher in attendance, Mr. John Angel, who also is the husband of classmate Patty Brown Angel. Teachers Mrs. Nellie Coleman and husband Boyd, and Roger Harris and wife Joyce were scheduled to attend but were unable due to schedule conflicts. Also, our 33 deceased classmates were recognized with a moment of silence. Sue Ann Martin DuBois was recognized as having traveled the longest distance for the reunion, from Oak Harbor, Washington.

After announcements, classmate and part time Episcopal priest, Ronnie Robinson said a prayer for deceased classmates and a blessing for the meal. After which a wonderful buffet of grilled chicken breast, seafood mornay and carved roast beef with salads, veggies and desserts was enjoyed by all. Midway through the meal, the class was entertained by the barbershop quartet "Makeshift". After "Makeshift", the DJ resumed the 50's music and many couples took to the dance floor for some old time dancing. Others were happy to mingle and discuss old times and get caught up on classmates' lives.

Sunday, 50 members of the class gathered on the lakefront for a memorable Riversip Romance luncheon cruise on Lake Monroe and the St. Johns River.

Many classmates were told stories of their school days water skiing, boating and fishing in the lake and river, along with the gators and snakes.

Auto Dealers Association named benefactor of year

SANFORD — After being nominated for the 2005 Region IV Council for Resource Development Benefactor award by the Seminole Community College Foundation, the Central Florida Auto Dealers Association was named Benefactor of the Year.

Barbara Miller, executive vice president of Auto Dealers Association and SCC President E. Ann McGee attended an award dinner in Nashville, Tenn., May 26, during which time the Benefactor of the Year was announced.

The Benefactor Award recognizes individuals, foundations and businesses/corporations for outstanding contributions to community colleges. The award represents the standards of philanthropy, leadership and volunteering in community colleges.

SCC nominated the Auto Dealers Association in recognition of its $2.5 million donation to SCC's Automotive Training Center. After the College's request to the state legislature to match these funds was rejected in 2003, Miller and 10 Auto Dealers Association members "marched" on Tallahassee during the 2004 session.

Their efforts insured legislators would strongly consider all 28 Florida community colleges' maximum funding requests and SCC would obtain the additional $2.5 million to complete the Automotive Center funding. The Auto Dealers Association's passion for the project was met, not only with a financial match, but an additional $1.5 million.

down further, if they feel like it. Those final applicants will be selected on Aug. 15, 2005 for telephone interviews with the city commissioners to take place Aug. 18-22.

On Aug. 22, the commissioner's will narrow the applicants down to three to five, following their phone interviews. Those finalists will have on-site interviews conducted by the commissioners from Aug. 29 through Sept. 10. A top candidate will be chosen at this time, and around Sept. 12, an employee agreement between the new city manager and the city will be made.

Before the commissioners chimed in with their thoughts, Miller made a few suggestions for the new city manager requirements. It included:

- 10 years experience as a city or county manager preferred, or
- 10 years experience as a deputy city or county manager required

- Starting salary range of $120,000-135,000
- International City/County Management Association credential member
- M.A. in public/community relations or similar
- Experience with full service local government
- Demonstrated success.

The commissioners also made a rough list of characteristics to help Miller profile the type of city manager the commissioners' wanted.

That list included experience preferences; personality traits; and other guidelines the commissioners felt was important.

They said they want someone who is:

- Professional and experienced as a city manager
- Accomplished in a transitional city or economy

- Able to embrace and value a diverse economic community
- A strong personality.

Mayor Linda Kuhn said they wanted a city manager, "Who has the ability to say no."

"To us," District 1 Commissioner Art Woodruff followed up.

The commissioners said they also wanted a city manager who is:

- A manager, not a dictator
- Good at inter-local government relations
- Skilled in diverse community interest groups
- An open communicator
- An innovator
- People-oriented ("All the time")

A mitigator who can deal well with conflict whether internally or externally

- Willing to get involved in the community.

Institute of Government Director Marilyn Crotty, who acted as facilitator at the work session, told the commission, "They're (the applicants) going to investigate you, as much as you investigate them."

Miller had on his timetable that the new city manager would start working Oct. 17, 2005.

conomic development incentive to companies; and controlling Sanford's midge problem.

Goal number seven was communication improvements such as restructuring advisory boards; building trusting relationships between commissioner's, city staff, and community; increasing advocacy efforts at the state and federal level; and initiating regular leadership meetings.

Facilitator Marilyn Crotty, Director, Institute of Government, told the commissioner's they needed to have at least one more half-day session in the near future to nail down these goals and write up objectives. Then, they will need to prioritize the goals accordingly.

In an effort to get the commissioners thinking in the future in order to recognize what may need to be done now, Crotty asked the commissioners to give their dream of Sanford in the year 2025.

District 1 Commissioner Art Woodruff said that all areas in Sanford that had not been taken care of, would be fixed. He said that the run down neighborhoods would be fixed, along with water and sewer.

"We need to refocus on who's already here and take care of those people," Woodruff said.

Mayor Linda Kuhn said: "Absolutely zero crime rate."

District 2 Commissioner Velma Williams said that she hopes the nine pockets of poverty in Sanford are eliminated, and that the city workforce reflects the diversity of the community.

District 4 Commissioner Kevin Hipes said that he has an easier time thinking of words that will describe Sanford in 2025.

"Unique," Hipes said. "One-of-a-kind. Jewel of the county."

Hipes said that other communities cannot recreate some of Sanford's amenities such as the lakefront and our airport. Hipes also discussed the possibility of lobbying for more federal grants and funding.

"We've got the assets. What do we have to do today, to put the gears in motion?" Hipes asked.

"Sanford was always considered the armpit of Seminole County," District 3 Commissioner Randy Jones said.

Now, they are visiting Sanford after not having been for a while and they're saying, "Wow," Jones said.

After list upon list of trends and issues inside and outside of city control, and what's working and what's not working lists, the commissioners narrowed it down to a list of close to 50 goals. Those goals were grouped together as seven broader goals.

"And, we'll have all that done in six months," Kuhn said laughing.

The goals and objectives were all part of the city's strategic planning and commissioner's will work from their lists to come up with prioritized goals for the city in the near future.

The next city commission meeting is scheduled for Monday, June 13 at 7 p.m. memorialize Underwood, but that it was too soon to know what that would be.

Underwood was born Jan. 5, 1967, in Memphis, Tenn. His sister, Cynthia Underwood, said he spent his early childhood in Gastonia, N.C., before moving to Central Florida in 1977.

"Scott was an exceptional student and star athlete who has received countless awards and accolades," Cynthia said. He was active in Young Life throughout his adolescence. "That greatly impacted the man Scott would become."

At 12, he won the national championship of the National Football League Punt, Pass and Kick competition. A year later, he earned the Juvenile of the Year Award for Seminole County.

As a senior at Lake Mary High School, he was among the state nominees for Florida's Student Most Likely to Succeed in Life, Cynthia said.

He received a baseball scholarship to the University of Georgia and became a life-long Georgia Bulldog fan, his sister Jane Chalbaud told The Herald. He later transferred to the University of Central Florida and played ball for long-time Coach Jay Bergman.

Cynthia said her brother originally planned to attend medical school, but that changed when he was offered a position to teach physics and coach football at Lake Mary High.

He was named assistant principal of the school in 2000, and has been named "honor graduate teacher" several times for being the instructor who most influenced students lives, Cynthia said.

"Scott was truly a hometown hero and for all the right reasons," Cynthia said. "Scott believed his only real and meaningful successes would come from his relationships with the people in his life."

He married his college sweetheart, Marie, and Cynthia said he was a devoted husband and dedicated father to their daughter, Cassie.

"He was loved and well respected by all who had the pleasure of knowing him," Cynthia said. "Scott was a man who lived his life with integrity and humility. He will be truly missed but the positive impact of his life in the Lake Mary community will live on infinitely."

Underwood is survived by his wife, Marie; his daughter, Cassandra; his parents, Jack and Marlene Underwood; three brothers, Terry, Jack, and Steve Underwood; and three sisters, Cindy Underwood, Jane Chalbaud, and Patti Novak.

Visitation was held Tuesday at the Oaklawn Chapel, on County Road 46A in Sanford. The funeral mass was scheduled for Wednesday, June 8 at 10 a.m. at Nativity Catholic Church in Longwood.

The family asks that instead of flowers, donations be made to the Lake Mary general athletic fund, or to the Cassandra Underwood trust fund at local Suntrust banks.

Karns said Underwood interacted with students at Lake Mary very much.

"He was at everything, every event," Karns said. "That's what people are going to miss. He loved this school, and he loved this community."

Doll business serves as dream for Longwood resident

By Joe Hendricks
Herald Correspondent

LONGWOOD — Judy Putz is a woman living her dream, and living it in her dream house — one that serves as a home to her and husband, David, as well as the storefront and retail outlet for Judy's Dolls, a retail business located in Longwood's Historic District.

In addition to her role as a businesswoman, Putz serves as secretary for the Private Business Owners of Seminole County, an association that serves as a voice for local business owners in attempt to make sure that county policies and ordinances remain business friendly.

She also serves as a member of the Longwood's Land Planning Agency, the Longwood Historic Society, and the Trails Advisory Board.

Twice a month Putz can be found among those in attendance at the Longwood City Commission Meetings — on occasion getting up to voice her concerns during the public participation portion of the meetings, speaking in regard to city policies or to continue her promotion of the need for a trail system in Longwood, an issue that lies especially close to her heart.

Last week, Putz was among a group of local businessmen and women who attended U.S. Rep. John Mica's Seventh Congressional District annual

Longwood businesswoman Judy Putz balances her doll company with a dose of political awareness.

Putz' love of dolls began as a child.

"I've been in dolls my whole life," she said. Her first foray into the retail side of the doll business began when she began to buy and sell collectible dolls at various doll shows. Back in those early days, Putz spent about a dozen years working along side her husband, as a plumber's assistant in the couple's family owned business, AA Allan Plumbing. When not climbing around an attic helping David re-pipe an old house, Putz put her bachelor's degree in business administration to good use taking care of the customer scheduling and handling all the bookkeeping duties, while also raising the couple's only child, Jennifer.

The Putz family moved to Longwood in 1980 with the intention of opening a John Deere franchise, but upon arriving decided to stick with the business they knew, which was plumbing.

In the mid-90s, the Putz' set their sights on a vacant lot on the corner Warren Avenue and Milwee Street where they could build their dream house — a house designed with Judy's Dolls in mind.

Judy's Dolls has been in business for seven years now. In those seven years, Putz has developed a regular clientele that provides a good deal of repeat business. "In my business, your customers become your friends." So much so that when Judy leaves husband Dave in charge of the store, her regular customers will inform Dave of what needs to be done regarding a particular sale or order request.

In addition to her established customer base here in town, Judy's Dolls also takes advantage of the increased business opportunities afforded by the Internet. Putz estimates that she sells an average of 20 dolls per week on line using E-Bay and Judydolls.com. Putz has shipped dolls to as far away as Bangladesh, Australia and England. She once had a customer who requested that she disassemble a doll before shipping it in order to avoid the 30 percent duty fee charged on imported goods. Putz refused their request on two grounds: It was illegal, and she had no intention of ripping apart one of her beloved dolls.

One of the hottest items in collectible dolls these days is Middleton Newborn Nursery Babies — a line of high quality, life size baby dolls that sell for an average of $120. New owners of the Newborn Nursery Babies go through an adoption process that includes selecting the sex of the baby (the dolls are manufactured as non-gender specific), selecting the baby's first outfit, naming the baby, and weighing and measuring the baby. The Newborns also come with an ID Bracelet and Baby Bible. A birth certificate is given to the doll's new "mommy" and a photograph is taken of the adoptive mother holding her new doll while wearing a New Mommy smock.

Before adopting a Middleton Newborn Nursery Baby, potential mothers are questioned to make sure they are fit for parenthood.

"I don't send my babies home with anyone but good mommies," Putz said. The determination process includes questions specifically designed to elicit a positive response. So far Putz has turned down only one potential adoptive parent of a Middleton's Newborn Nursery Babies.

"The purpose of the whole adoption experience is to create an experience that will make this their special childhood doll; one they can eventually pass on to their children or grandchildren," Putz said. The Newborn Nursery Babies can also be adopted online, via Judydolls.com. Judy's Dolls also carries dolls made by Madame Alexander, Marie Osmond, Ashton Drake, Life of Faith and Ashton Drake.

Judy's Dolls is open six days a week and closed on Sundays. Speaking of the responsibilities of owning a business, Putz said, "When you own your own business, you always work hard. There's no calling in sick." Before she begins her workday, Putz likes to start her day with a 30-minute workout at Workout Express and she dreams of the day when she can get a cup of Starbucks Coffee without leaving the Longwood Historic District.

Opening night jitters?

River Rats, Barracudas hook up in marathon

By Dean Smith
Herald Staff

SANFORD — At least it was entertaining.

The Florida Collegiate Summer League kicked off its second season with an opening night matchup between the top two teams in the league last season, the champion Sanford River Rats and runner-up Daytona Beach Barracudas, and while the game appeared at times to be an early-season spring training game, the huge crowd was treated to a fine evening at Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium Monday.

Most of the local fans probably went home disappointed because the hometown River Rats fell to the Barracudas, 8-5, in a three-hour and 25-minute marathon, but the announced crowd of 670 could hardly have been bored.

The reason it was only most of the local crowd that was disappointed was the fact that several players from Oviedo, Lake Mary and Seminole high schools were on the Barracudas roster.

After an opening ceremony that featured Cal Ripken League championship players and coaches from Sanford and Winter Springs and the throwing out of the first pitch by City of Sanford Mayor Linda Kuhn, the two teams went at it

Lake Mary's athletic dominance rewarded

From Staff Reports

Lake Mary High School may have only won one state championship this school year, but the Rams' overall dominance in every sphere of athletic battle, whether it be on land, in the water or in the gym, could not be overlooked and the school has rightly started to receive accolades for its accomplishments.

Two weeks ago, Lake Mary was named the winner of the 2004-2005 Seminole Athletic Conference All-Sports Award.

This was the second consecutive year the Rams had won the trophy and the 11th time the school has won the honor since it opened in 1962.

The year was highlighted by the Boys' Golf Team winning the State Championship, but that was hardly the whole story as Lake Mary won 11 SAC Team Championships this year. In addition to boys golf, the Rams also were champions in boys and girls bowling, girls swimming, girls basketball, boys and girls soccer, baseball, boys tennis, girls water polo, fast pitch softball and girls track.

But the significance of that award was overshadowed just last week when the Florida High School Athletic Association (FHSAA) announced that Lake Mary was the overall winner of the 2004-05 Dodge Sunshine Cup FHSAA Floyd E. Lay All-Sports Awards point standings in Class 6A.

This was the second time Lake Mary has won the award. St. Thomas Aquinas (Fort Lauderdale), Bolles (Jacksonville), P.K. Yonge (Gainesville), Maclay (Tallahassee), and Graceville swept the top overall, boys and girls awards in their respective classifications, while Gainesville, Lincoln Park (Fort Pierce) and Sarasota Christian joined the Rams in winning the overall awards in their respective classifications.

Lake Mary, with 440.8 points, claimed a 35.8-point victory over second-place Cypress Bay (Weston) in Class 6A on the strength of having the top girls' program in the state.

St. Thomas Aquinas took Class 5A with 730.8 points, while runner-up Cooper City earned 300.5 points. Gainesville won the Class 4A honors with 375.8 points, a scant 1.4 points ahead of Bishop Kenny (Jacksonville). Lincoln Park set the standard for the 3A public schools with 299.5 points, besting second place Hernando (Brooksville) by 20.5 points.

Bolles, with 610 points, outdistanced Gulliver Prep (Miami) by 114 points in the Class 3A private school division. P.K. Yonge dominated the Class 2A public school category with 363.5 points, a 237-point lead over second place Jay, which had 126.5 points. Maclay, with 402 points, sported a 98-point lead in Class 2A private schools over Tampa Prep. Graceville led the Class 1A public school category with 135 points, ahead of second-place FAMU (Tallahassee) by a 68.3-point margin. Finally, Sarasota Christian, with 180 points, holding off Saddlebrook Prep (Wesley Chapel) by a mere 10 points in the Class 1A private school category.

Seminole County schools did very well this season as Oviedo, the winner last year, was third overall this season, while Winter Springs was 12th, Lake Brantley 18th and Seminole 23rd in Class 6A; Lake Howell was 26th and Lyman 39th in Class 5A; Crooms Academy was 31st in Class 2A for Public Schools; Trinity Prep was third for Class 2A Private Schools; and Orangewood Christian was 12th, Lake Mary Prep 18th and The Master's Academy 34th in Class 1A for Private Schools.

Champion Lake Mary was the only girls' program in the Top 10 in Class 6A in the Girls' standings, but Oviedo (12th), Lake Brantley (14th), Winter Springs (17th) and Seminole (25th) did place in the Top 25.

In Class 5A, Lake Howell was 22nd and Lyman 55th; in Class 2A Private, Trinity Prep was seventh; and in Class 1A Private, Orangewood Christian was 12th and The Master's Academy 24th.

In the Boys' Class 6A standings, Oviedo was second, Lake Mary fifth and Winter Springs eighth, while Seminole was 21st and Lake Brantley 23rd.

In Class 5A, Lyman was 15th and Lake Howell 21st; in Class 2A Public, Crooms Academy tied for 22nd; in Class 2A Private, Trinity Prep was third; and in Class 1A Private, Lake Mary Prep was an outstanding third with Orangewood Christian finishing 14th and The Master's Academy was tied for 48th.

The Dodge Sunshine Cup Floyd E. Lay All-Sports Awards is named in honor of Commissioner-Emeritus Floyd E. Lay, who led the Association from 1963 through 1980. It is presented by Dodge and Your Florida Dodge Dealers, the official vehicle of the Florida High School Athletic Association.

The 620 member senior high schools have been divided into six classifications for administrative purposes based on the enrollments submitted to the FHSAA Office in October 2002, which were used to discern the classifications as they are drawn up now.

In accordance with a Board mandate at its November 2002 meeting, Classes 1A, 2A and 3A are further subdivided into public and private categories. An all-sports award will be presented in each of these nine categories in overall, girls and boys divisions at the conclusion of the 2004-05 school year.

Points are awarded a school based on its finish in FHSAA State Series competition in each sport in the classification in which it has been assigned to compete. The top 32 places are scored. Points are awarded as follows: 50, 47, 44, 42, 40, 38, 36, 34, 32, 30, 28, 26, 24, 22, 20, 18, 16, 15, 14, 13, 12, 11, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1. When two or more schools are tied for a particular place in a sport, the points allotted for those places are shared equally by the schools that are tied. In the event of a tie for the award in either the overall, girls or boys divisions at the end of the school year, the following tiebreakers will be used: (1) number of state team championships won; (2) number of state team runners-up finishes; (3) number of regional team championships won; (4) number of regional team runners-up finishes; (5) number of district team championships won; and (6) number of district team runners-up finishes.

Winners will be honored at the FHSAA Awards Luncheon on June 16 at the Wyndham Westshore Hotel in Tampa.

Here are the top 10 teams in the overall standings, girls program and boys program standings, plus the finishes of county schools:

Kraze come together despite odds

Special to the Herald

The Central Florida Kraze came together as a team on Saturday night (May 28th) when they traveled to Lakeland and defeated rivals Ajax Orlando, 2-1.

The Kraze came out strong in the opening minutes and had several chances by both David Benn and Clifton PhilipW. to try and grab an early lead but all shots failed to deliver a goal.

In total control, the Kraze were dealt a severe blow when David Benn was issued a red-card ejection, in only the 18th minute, on what was deemed a "serious foul play". Playing with a man advantage Ajax was able to create a few chances and found the back of the net just before half-time for a 1-0 lead.

Although playing a man short the Kraze showed tremendous heart and hustle and continued to pressure the opponents goal and were finally rewarded when forward Sasha Barber was taken down in the box and awarded a penalty kick in the 68th minute.

Kraze captain Danny Roberston stepped up and blasted the ball past the Ajax goalkeeper to tie the score at 1-1.

The odds seemed to be too much as Ajax was able to answer five minutes later and score the game winning goal to make the final 2-1.

"The boys played with such spirit and passion despite being down a man for 72 minutes of the match," said Kraze coach Joe Avallone. "The team united tonight
