

KING COTTON WILL MOVE TO SANFORD

OUR GROWERS EXPECT TO PLANT COTTON AFTER CELERY CROPS

Financial writers and southern editors assure us that King Cotton is now resorted to his throne and from fields nodding drowsily in white through the summer he draws royal revenues, which he spends with royal profusion in so many various channels that his spending inures to the benefit of this whole country.

—Literary Digest.
And believing that Sanford and Seminole county are located in the heart of the very best of the farming country in the world, we fail to see why our local farmers could not raise the snowy staple.

It has been suggested for years that it would be possible to grow a handsome crop of short cotton here on the irrigated and well fertilized celery lands—between the crops of vegetables, and this season a number of Sanford's leading farmers are contemplating putting their whole place in cotton rather than in the usual crop of corn.

Short cotton is advised for this section—that is especially for the vegetable section, inasmuch as the time to grow that variety is not as lengthy as the time taken to produce what is known as long staple cotton.

People that have farmed in short cotton countries assure us that there will be no trouble in getting off a good crop from the time celery is cut in the spring until it is time for another crop of celery or lettuce, and this can be worked out to an advantage the cotton crop will be more valuable than the corn crops usually grown during the summer season.

It is estimated that very little or no more fertilizer will be needed to produce the crop that has been placed on the ground for the vegetable crop, and that the cost of planting and growing will not exceed the cost of any ordinary summer crop. Seed can be bought for $2 per bushel and as a rule three pecks are all that is needed for an acre. Cotton is grown in wide rows—probably five feet apart, with stalks from 18 to 24 inches apart in the row. Space between the rows and between the stalks will be ample to make it possible to cultivate the crop almost entirely by use of improved cultivators.

Great advantage will be brought to the community on account of the picking season—this will give the laboring people something to do at the very time of year that they have been forced to loaf, or to go to other parts of the state seeking work. Cotton would be picked in the months of July, August and September—depending greatly on the cutting of the celery crop the spring before.

Still another advantage to the community is the fact that if there are enough acres of cotton to justify the installation, a cotton gin will be conveniently located and the cotton will be ginned at home. This will give the farmers a chance to either sell the seed at a handsome price or better yet, use them for fertilizer purposes—a crusher would be installed and the richest of cotton seed meal made for home use.

L. A. Brumley, a prominent farmer and one of our county officials is taking the lead in the cotton producing plan, and as he has been a cotton farmer himself seems to know what he is thinking about. Mr. Brumley expects to plant his 40 acre celery farm in cotton as soon as the celery is cut, and he has promised to install a gin if there is sufficient acreage to warrant the necessary expenditure.

It seems as if this is a permanent means of adding to the popularity and advantages of Seminole county, for we know if this cotton can be successfully grown upon the irrigated lands that there is an unlimited field for growing the short staple and possibly the long staple on the higher farm lands. If this can be done in a successful manner we could hardly predict a success that would mean for Sanford, as well as other parts of the county. Large cotton warehouses, gins and seed crushing mills will be brought here—which fact alone assures us that more people and more money, will be brought to our country.

The Herald says let the good work go on—The best is none too good for Seminole county and Sanford.

DIRECTOR IS HERE FOR FAIR

HEADQUARTERS OPENED AND CAMPAIGN STARTED

Howard Lyman, the managing director of the Seminole County Fair has arrived in the city from his home at Altamonte and will be here from this time until the fair opens in February.

He is busy getting ready for his campaign and is making up estimates for the printing and publicity, for the attractions, for the committees—and the hundred and one things that keep the general manager busy before a county fair opens.

The headquarters will be in the Welborne building which has been donated to the fair through the kindness of Forrest Lake and the Seminole Bank and this will be fitted up to take care of the meetings and the banners and other paraphernalia as it comes in. It is necessary to have headquarters and there should be plenty of room and the headquarters should also be centrally located.

On account of the many dates that will conflict it has now been definitely decided to hold the Seminole County Fair the week of February 5th to 10th and this date will prevail. The first date in January came too early for the celery growers and the good roads people and the date later conflicted with Oseola county and the week of February 5th seems to be satisfactory all around.

CONTEMPLATE CHEAP RATE ON POSTAGE

ONE CENT RATE FOR LET- TERS, BUT MORE FOR PUBLICATIONS

Washington, Dec. 9.—One cent postage for local first class mail delivery, and a zone system of rates for second class matter which is expected to greatly increase the charges for magazines and other periodicals having a nation wide circulation, are provided for in the annual post-office appropriation bill was virtually completed today in committee. The measure carrying appropriations in total about $327,000,000 probably will be reported to the house next week.

Under the one cent postage provision the rate on letters and other mail matter of the first class, when deposited in any postoffice or branch postoffice or letter box or postoffice in the delivery district, for delivery within the limits of the postoffice, city or rural delivery district would be cut in half.

The zone proposed for handling newspapers and magazines which now pay a flat rate of one cent a pound is regarded as one of the most radical changes in postage rates in years. It divides the country into eight zones, with rates chargeable into eight zones, with rates chargeable ranging from one cent for 300 miles to six cents for 1,800 miles or more. The bulk of daily newspapers, the committee believes, will not be affected, because they do not circulate beyond a 300-mile radius.

The provision follows:
"That all newspapers, magazines and other publications regularly admitted to the mails as matter of the second class, when mailed by the publisher shall hereafter be subject to the following rates of postage, the zone system now applying to parcel post matter to be adapted also to second class matter:

- "Local, first, second and third zone (under 300 miles) one cent per pound.
- "Fourth zone (300 to 600 miles), two cents per pound.
- "Fifth zone (600 to 1,000 miles), three cents per pound.
- "Sixth zone (1,000 to 1,400 miles), four cents a pound.
- "Seventh zone (1,400 to 1,800 miles), five cents a pound.
- "Eighth zone (over 1,800 miles), six cents a pound.

"Provided, that the free-in-country circulation provided by law shall continue as at present.

"The postmaster general shall have authority to require publishers to separate their mail into zones when offered for mailing."

Among other provisions, the bill increases rates for mail order catalogues from two to eight cents a pound, making them third class matter instead of parcel post, raises the limitations on promotions of clerks and carriers in first and second class postoffices; broadens the postmaster general's authority to deal with lotteries, drugs and poisons and increases the rural mail delivery appropriation by $4,000,000 over the $49,000,000 recommended by Assistant Postmaster General Blakslee.

Chairman Moon of the postoffice committee said tonight that the bill still was subject to change before being reported, and that the question of hearings on the proposed pneumatic tube service appropriation was in abeyance.

Mrs. W. H. Peters and Mrs. T. L. O'Connor went up to Jacksonville Sunday night for several days Xmas shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Wagner and their daughters, Misses Maud Alice and Ada and Mr. Gustav of Kissimmee came up on Sunday to attend the lecture given by Dr. Masters at the Methodist Church.

Red Cross Christmas seals are on sale at the Woman's Club Rest Room, Bower's drug store, L. R. Phillips' and J. D. Roberts Grocery. Purchase the seals and help in a good cause that is nation wide. In a few days a personal canvas will be made by Mrs. J. E. Pace and her committee.

FISH HATCHERY

Will Be Established "Somewhere In Florida"

Washington, Dec. 9.—In the opinion of well posted business men and those who have been making a close study of economic conditions, especially regarding the high cost of living, congress could do nothing at the present session, with perhaps the exception of carrying President Wilson's recommendations, that would be more for the benefit of the people of the south than it did when it yesterday passed the omnibus fish hatchery bill.

This bill provides for the establishment of eighteen fish hatcheries, and the fish cultural stations in different parts of the United States, including one in Florida, to cost $50,000 and a migratory station along the coast of either Georgia, North or South Carolina to cost the same amount.

With stations in Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina and Maryland and Virginia, the southern states, this action so far as present ingenuity can devise will go far towards reducing the high cost of living, it being recognized that the establishment of these stations are big factors in the food problem.

Representative Alexander of Missouri, chairman of the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries, the committee which prepared this bill, said today:

"This bill carries a total appropriation of $890,000. Every item in it has been carefully scrutinized by the Department of Commerce and its passage will be entirely in the interest solely of the people.

"There is nothing at the present time that would go so far in relieving the present unusual high cost of living situation as the passage of this bill; which means that all the United States, where hatcheries are to be located, a liberal supply of fish will be on hand at all times ready for immediate use. It is something the people have a right to receive and which they are in every way entitled to get at the hands of the government. It is a long step toward the solution of the vexing high cost propaganda, in my opinion."

No particular site is placed in the bill for the location of the Florida station, and there is certain to be a considerable amount of rivalry shown in the matter between the different places which want it before a decision is rendered.

Senator Fletcher, who has been working on this matter in the senate for the past year or two, and who believes that in no other way could the people generally be better served at the present time, said today:

"I am very glad the house has passed the bill. It will be remembered that I have been working along the same line in the Senate and at the last session of Congress I introduced a bill and had it passed providing that a hatchery should be established in Florida. Now, since the house has acted favorably, the question of its location should be speedily agreed upon and should not, in any way delay the matter."

AMONG THE THEATRES

Chit-Chat of the Play Houses in Sanford

"Lieutenant Danny, U. S. A."
A dashing West Pointer, stationed with his regiment on the Rio Grande bucks up against the real article in the way of a scrap. He visits a hacienda and crosses the path of a bandit chief and has it out with the villain. There is a beautiful Mexican Senorita involved who happens to be the bone of contention. The story just abounds with colorful interest and presents the situation on the border in a truly novel and interesting light. The characteristics of the American army men and Mexican peon bandits are enlarged on with a powerful series of incidents. Lyric Tonight.

The Martyrdom of Philip Strong
In the midst of uproarious farces and "thrillers" it is sometimes well pause and consider the more serious sides of life. In "The Martyrdom of Philip Strong," the Paramount Picture at the Star Monday there is, in addition to an intensely absorbing drama food for much thought on the more serious things of this life. Never for a moment is it thrust upon one that there is a great moral lesson in the photoplay, which can be enjoyed as a drama of the highest type, but when the last shadow flickers upon the screen one realizes that a tremendous thought and a great inspiration have been embodied in the story. Robert Conness and Mabel Trunfelle are the featured members of the cast of this great photodrama which is an adaptation of the celebrated works of the Rev. Charles M. Sheldon.

Fran Siegenthaler to be Attraction at Lyric Next Monday
An artist in the true sense of the word is the tribute that has been paid Mr. Siegenthaler, who is to feature the program at the Lyric the first half of next week. Mr. Siegenthaler, only having been in America a short time was born and raised in Switzerland, and from very tender age showed an unusual talent in yodling. Being a heart's hobby, as it were, he nursed the talent through his mature years to ent through his mature years to bring out and develop his talent. Not only has he become one of the world's greatest yodlers, if not the greatest, but he is "light of foot" and can execute that Swiss Clog

Dance. To those who enjoy a novelty in entertainment where that unbeatable combination of art, talent and originality all combine, a pleasure treat is in store for them when they visit the Lyric next Thursday night.

The Tom-Boy, a beautiful musical farcial comedy drama is the production wherein Mr. Siegenthaler will entertain Sanford theatre goes next Monday. Too much stress cannot be laid on the purity of this bill, written by Nelson Compston with the prime thought of giving the public a wholesome, neat, clean musical program that would be entirely void of smut, and the company who will handle the bill, each and every one, have the sole thought in their work of pleasing the ladies and children with this carefully selected program, and the screaming comedy with all the catchy and whistleable up to the occasion musical numbers are rendered with the desire to give the audience a clean show, feeling that the day is past; if it ever did exist, that the American people can be catered to for entertainment when one sex is entertained and the other embarrassed with smut from the stage.

A talented company of eleven, all almost born for their respective parts will present the Tom-Boy at the Lyric Theatre Monday, December 11th.

Child's Doll House.
A doll house which will please almost any child can be made with small expense by fastening together two orange crates. This will form a four-room house. Cover the outside with oatmeal paper, which will resemble the new cement houses. Paper the inside with wallpaper of a small pattern. Cover floors with denim. Furniture can be bought at a 10-cent store.

Empty Words.
"What was the substance of his speech?" "I can read my stenographic report if you care to hear it. The speech had no substance."

Fire Escape for Horses.
A large packing concern in California has installed an automatic means for opening the doors of its horse stable which allows the horses to escape at any time of the day or night if there is danger of fire, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The device is operated much the same manner as an automatic sprinkler. When the temperature in the stables rises to a certain point a weight is released which falls on a lever that in turn releases all the doors simultaneously. At the same instant certain noises are made mechanically which frighten the horses from their places. The releasing lever is occasionally operated by hand to give the horses a fire drill. Each horse soon learns to trot from its stall when the door opens and the alarm sounds.

Fat a Disadvantage.
That too much fat is a condition which neither the possessor of it nor his physician should ignore was asserted by Dr. Jacob Gutman, instructor in medicine, New York Post-Graduate medical school and hospital, in an address before the New York Physicians' association. Excess of fat affects the heart by putting an extra burden on it; it augments the labor of the muscles of breathing, the diaphragm in particular; it interferes with the vital functions of the liver and other internal organs, and by filling the intermuscular spaces it compresses the muscle fibers, causing atrophy and degeneration.

Politics.
"I always like to meet a fellow who came from the farm."
"Yes?"
"Yes, you can advise him to go back to it if he isn't a success and congratulate him on leaving it if he is."

"Well, my dear?" said George's mother.
"So I want to ask you if you would make me the pattern?"

The Cincinnati Reds haven't gone forward under Christy Mathewson's management as fast as Matty expected. "I—and he didn't expect they would."

Germs Hide Their Time.
That smallpox germs existed for 25 years under the wallpaper of a living room is the contention of physicians who have investigated the case of Miss Agnes Hines, of 295 Sharpville street, who is ill with the disease. The girl was engaged, with her mother, in removing old wallpaper. She had not been vaccinated. The board of health discovered that 25 years ago a resident of the dwelling had smallpox.—Sharon (Pa.) Dispatch Philadelphia Record.

Always Willing.

Said She—Oh, pshaw! I don't believe such a thing could be possible.

His ability as a musician may account for Johnny Kilbane's rapid work in the ring. Perhaps the feather-weight champion takes his opponent for a xylophone.

Cause and Effect.
"It is said that the taste for frog-eating is increasing in this country."
"Maybe that is the reason why so many people are croaking."

What's the Answer?
Fifty years ago two-thirds of all Americans lived on farms. Today but one-third lives in the country. How do you explain it when every year life on the farm grows easier and every year it becomes harder in the city?

Worse Luck!
Men who are too lazy to work and too proud to beg are usually too indifferent to die.—Judge.

Electric Light.
The basic discovery of the possibility of electric light was made by Sir Humphrey Davy in 1810, but for the next 50 years the developments were solely scientific and no practical use was made of them. In 1862, however, an arc light was installed in a lighthouse at Dungeness, and this is generally believed to be the first electric lamp in regular service.

An Inch of Rain.
An inch of rain coming down on a single-acre-of ground would fill more than 600 barrels of 45 gallons capacity apiece. This amount of water would weigh more than 110 tons, or nearly 125,000,000 pounds.

Isn't it So?
A husband usually hangs around the house too much or not enough to satisfy his wife.

Subway Development.
The first "subways" were cuts for pipes and wires, large enough for a man to walk in, and supplied with inspection openings. These were installed in Paris by Napoleon III. The Chicago street traffic subways were first built in 1866-71. But in our general modern acceptance of the word, the first "subways" were those of the deep underground steam railway of London, built in 1825. The first "real subway" in the United States was that in Boston, 1897.

A Mollycoddle.
Miss Pansy Pyetin says her idea of a mollycoddle is a man who acts bashful and waits for a girl to remember that it is leap year.

THINKS INDIANS REAL FLAG CONTENDERS

There is at least one manager in the American league who doesn't believe the Cleveland Indians are going to "blow" and he is "Bill" Donovan. The Indians have impressed the Yankee leader as being one of the strongest clubs that ever represented that city and Donovan says it is the most dangerous team in the league.

When it comes to batting in runs the other members of the Indians must "know-how" to the hard-hitting right fielder, Elmer Robert Smith-Roth or Robert Elmer Roth-Smith, whichever way you prefer, the combination-right gardener having driven in 42 runs for the Indians this season, which is only one-third gone at this writing. The Smith half of the firm has sent 20 runs across, while the Roth half has accounted for 22.

"Chick" Gandill, however, is the individual leader, having driven in 36 runs. "Tris" Speaker, though, is giving him a merry battle, having chased 31 of his team mates across the rubber. "Chick" however, is batting some 400 points better than "Chick." After passing by the right field firm, we find "Jack" Grady has driven in 24 men, an unusually large number for a lead-off man, who is forced to follow weak batters. In fact, all the Indians are hitting and this combined with the splendid pitching they have had to date has kept them well on top.

METTINGER'S FINE RECORD

Sabbath School Superintendent for Thirty Years

Having learned that at the last quarterly conference of the Sanford Methodist church J. K. Mettinger, who has served as superintendent of the Sabbath school for the last thirty years had requested to be relieved from further service we believed some interesting information might be obtained from him in that unusual experience.

He informs us that upon his first election the school numbered about forty-five scholars, and conditions were such that at times it was necessary to assemble the whole school and he teach as one class primary to Bible class, in addition he organized and leader of singing.

Crude were the accommodations at that time in the old church that stood corner of Sixth and Sanford avenue, benches of pine boards with slats for back and supports, a common drop leaf table for pulpit. Work under these conditions was a problem, indeed.

In order to install a library, a request for a discarded library was sent to a large Philadelphia Sabbath school in Philadelphia that Mr. Mettinger formerly attended and a shipment of some 450 almost new books was sent, establishing for the Sanford school a fine library. These were eagerly sought for and constantly read until worn out.

Immediately upon his election he organized the Sabbath school into a missionary society and with the consent of the quarterly conference arranged for the use of the offering of the second Sunday of each month for missionary purposes only. This has been strictly adhered to up to the present time; the total offering for that purpose for the thirty years appropriates $2,250.00.

In order to stimulate the school's growth a fine Bible was offered to each scholar who attended every session during the year about 95 Bibles were thus put into the scholars' hands and some went into homes where Bibles were unknown.

The school continued to grow until the freeze of '94 when it was about disseminated, but by strenuous and determined effort its existence was maintained and in a short time began to revive and increase in numbers. Through all these trials and hardships the school has ever been self sustaining, never having had to call on the church officials to go outside for financial aid. Mr. Mettinger says he attributes this to the ever ready missionary offering regardless of the depleted condition of the treasury.

Upon the establishment of the Methodist Orphanage at Enterprise the school considered it a duty to assist in sustaining this glorious work, offerings were made irregularly, when a proposition to make every fifth Sunday of a month a day for special offering for this purpose was suggested, and for several years all special offering for this purpose was suggested, and for several years all money received by the school on those Sunday has been used for that purpose only.

About five years ago a special effort was made to increase the attendance. So successful was this that it became necessary to purchase a tent for the men's Brotherhood class of ninety members. The large eat total Attendance of the school was 408 the early part of this year.

The school is organized and graded—men's, women's, junior, intermediate and primary department, with superintendents for each, each class organized within itself, with president, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Mettinger informs us he has been absent five times while in Sanford (having been north on business on several occasions) during his thirty years of service.

This year has been the banner financial year of the school, the total offering was $1,221.45 used for literature, assisting in church building, furnishings for individual classrooms, incidental and sundry Sabbath school expense and $108.60 for missions.

As he retires as superintendent he leaves the school in fine working and excellent financial condition, not owing one dollar (except the balance due on the piano which is being paid for in installments and all payments made to date).

Graceful Hats for Fall

Bidding for your favor and very sure to get it, are the graceful and beautifully made hats for fall. They are no sooner displayed than bought by women who seem to tire of summer millinery before the summer is done. The between-seasons' hat of felt or velvet makes its appearance in July along with hats of white satin or crepe or other all-white materials. Gradually it supplants the midsummer hat and leads up to the millinery that is ready to greet the winter.

Simplicity of trimming and beauty of line are emphasized in the early fall hats. A group of three of them, shown here, includes a wide-brimmed sailor, a small mushroom shape and a brimmed hat of velvet with flowing brim lines that lift over the brow, droop, lift again at the sides, and droop again at the back. Ribbon, chenille and beads make themselves conspicuous as appropriate trimmings for these street hats.

The hat at the center is of felt, having the crown covered with grosgrain ribbon in white. A narrow band of velvet ribbon is laid over another band not quite so narrow, of ribbon like that in the crown. A tailored bow of the grosgrain finishes the model, and the same ribbon binds the edge of the brim. Purple and white, purple and gold, white and rose, are favored color combinations for the hats of this kind.

In the velvet hat at the left and the ratine-covered shape at the right, chenille in the effect of needlework makes a novel and pretty decoration. The smart rosette on the velvet hat is centered with a big cabochon covered with beads, and a fancy edge gives character to this ornament.

Chenille stitches are set about the edge of the brim in the hat at the right. Its collar is made of a bias strip of satin laid in folds and terminating at the front, where a small flat bird appears to be trying to efface himself against the crown.

Bureau Scarf Design.

The treatment of a flying bird in a new bureau scarf suggests possibilities for other pieces of needlework. The scarf is worked in blue and so is the bird. The entire outline of the bird is made of small eyelets varying in size with the outline of the various parts of its body. The entire bird is then filled in with even running stitches of the blue. This combination gives the effect of solid work, but with the exception of the eyelets is not difficult.

Florida and New York investors have organized a company with capital stock of $60,000 to manufacture sugar cane products, engage in general farming and raise live stock.

"A district of Lee county, Florida has voted $100,000 of bonds for building hard surfaced roads.

"Among the items of construction to be done as reported this week are: Apartment houses, Atlanta, Ga. and Miami, Fla.; church building, Titon, Tondoboro and Willacoochee, Ga.; factory building, Montgomery, Ala.; hospital building, Alexandria, La.; garage building, Rome, Ga.; railway passenger and freight station, Boyle, Miss.; road, Lamar county, Ala.; sanitarium, Jackson, Miss.; school buildings, Americus, Ga., Greenville, S. C., and Haines City and Jacksonville, Fla.; warehouse, Plant City, Fla.

"Construction contracts have been awarded as follows: "Bank building, Clearwater, Fla.; bridges, Pinellas county, Fla.; exposition, coliseum and other buildings, Gulfport, Miss.; church building, Greenwood, S. C.; mill village, Columbus, Ga.; road, Bibb county, Ala.; drainage, LaFayette county, Mississippi; sewer, Savannah, Ga.

"A lumber plant and concrete products plant will be established at Meridian, Miss., meat packing plant at Mobile, Ala., and feed and grist mill, at Decatur, Ala."

Scientific Order.

Mr. Psychiatrist—"What is a consulting specialist, anyhow?" Mr. Optometrist—"Oh, he's the big doctor that says you are going to die and tells you how to do it properly."

An Economical Girl.

Violet—"A lot" is such an economical little body!" "La Rôse—"Ah yes! She'll trade for miles from one law office to another to save $10 on a divorce!"

BOYCOTTING THE TRUSTS.

Boycotting and strikes are on a par with each other and, as a rule, neither of them are desirable nor to be countenanced by right thinking people. But there is no limit to the people's patience, and at that point, at least, the boycott becomes more than excusable. It is a glorious weapon of retaliation.

Take the matter of eggs. One man in Chicago has formed a corner on the very necessary culinary item and has millions of eggs in cold storage. He held the market so stiff that the women were forced to declare a boycott in self defense. The result will be that the promoter has more eggs than he can sell. He will not permit storage eggs of any old vintage to be sold on the market at any price. In times past eggs by the thousand have been destroyed in Chicago simply because they were storage goods. They would "candle" all right, but they would not whip into a frosting for a cake, no matter how much they were beaten.

Another instance is that of poultry, specially turkeys, during Thanksgiving times just past. The prices were forced far above everything ever charged in former years for poultry, and so the people absolutely refused to take them. The morning of Thanksgiving, seeing they were better at their own game, the prices dropped to the bottom, but did not tempt the people. They were increased, and justly so, at the high handed manner in which the merchants tried to hold them up and refused the goods at any price. The result was that thousands of turkeys were shipped back to the country, and the dressed ones were put upon the market at a price that can be realized.

All this ought to teach the middleman and the retailer that when they are exceeding the normal prices for any article of consumption they will be boycotted. It is in the game, for when the holder of domestic products they are apt to be solved to the advantage of the ladies themselves. — Gainesville Sun

REDUCE COST OF BUTTER

For more than a year of years congress has been used as the cement with which to build the solid foundation for "butter" at high prices. This is an acknowledged fact. But for the unfair work and the personal legislation of that body of law makers, and the supreme court which failed to knock out the prop by declaring that the legislation was unconstitutional, the dealers would not now be enabled to charge the outrageous prices demanded and obtained.

At the instance of the butter-makers of Illinois there was passed years ago legislation making it an offense to make or sell oleomargarine—except under certain restrictions. It was not sufficient that every package of that substance be marked in letters of a certain size as to its nature; but there was affixed a revenue upon the maker which added nearly one hundred per cent to the cost of placing it on the market. There was created no tax upon the real butter; but upon the substitute which answered every purpose, and in many cases could not be distinguished from the real thing, there was affixed a tax out of all proportions of fairness. In fact it has often been wondered why there should be any tax upon the product—any more than there should be a tax on the printing of calling cards.

Good oleomargarine is far better than poor butter. It is cleaner in many cases. Were there no prohibitive tax upon it—a retail price of twenty-five cents could be made over the entire United States; in fact, twenty cents a pound would no doubt be the price if the tax were removed. But Congress was worked for political reasons and established all the objections which could be suggested by a body of men who were intensely interested in grabbing all there was to be grabbed while the grabbing was good.

Let congress remove at the coming session the restrictions it has placed around the manufacture of oleomargarine—the financial restrictions and the publicity restrictions and the price of butter will be reduced to normal conditions. There is no reason why butter should not even be sold at a price lower than a larger sale than at present and the people will be satisfied that congress desires to do a fair thing by them. — Palm Beach Post.

Business Meeting

There was an unusually large attendance of members and a few strangers at the Woman's Club on Wednesday for the business meeting and to hear the reports of the delegates to the annual meeting of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. E. M. Galloway presided. The routine business of the club was quickly dispatched. The reports of officers and chairmen of departments show a general activity throughout the club. The following committees were appointed:

Mrs. Geo. L. Maris, Mrs. W. W. Dickins and Mrs. Henry Whit, to revise the constitution. On the Lookout Committee, Mrs. W. W. Abernathy, Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Mrs. John Meach, Mrs. Frank Woodruff, Mrs. L. G. Stringfellow and Mrs. W. H. Peters. The piano which has been under the supervision and payment of the Music Department was turned over to the club which will hereafter be responsible for the payments on the balance due. The Music Department reported net proceeds from the Minstrels to be $89.00. At the close of the business period the reports were received from the delegates after which a pleasant social half-hour was enjoyed and light refreshments served. Mrs. Geo. Fox was first called upon and gave a splendid report of the business side of the convention at Miami, beginning with the opening session, at which Mrs. W. S. Jennings our state president presided. The meetings were held in the Woman's Club auditorium and were presided over by the president and the vice president, Mrs. L. V. Moore. The report of Miss Beatie A. Williams on credentials showed the largest number of delegates that have ever attended a Florida Federation meeting, representing over one hundred and thirty clubs of Florida. Mrs. Edgar Lewis made the biennial report of the Florida delegation. Mrs. Fox stated that Sanford is becoming well known to the club women of Florida, not only because of the wonderful work we are doing, but for the fact that we gave to the state its splendid recording secretary, Mrs. John W. Dickins, our former president of whom the Sanford delegation is justly proud. Thirty-three new clubs, aggregating 771 members were added to the Federation since its last annual meeting. Mrs. Fox touched on the interesting and various reports of departmental work throughout the state which contained in concentrated form the scope and essence of club work in Florida. The discussion concerning the adoption of "Way Down Upon the Suwannee River" as our state song was led by Mrs. Sproule Baker and upon the motion of Mrs. Jennings was unanimously carried. The report of the Civic chairman, Mrs. J. A. Hendley was most inspiring. The keynote of this department is service and included sanitation, play ground, better streets, community Christmas trees, rest rooms, roads, better sidewalks, improving picture shows and everything else that pertains to community betterment and welfare. The report of our delegates contained much valuable information and inspiration. "A report of much interest was that of Mrs. John Simons," said Mrs. Fox, "who spoke of the earnest and valuable work being done by the leaders of the colored women."

The Miami Herald says: "For breadth of purpose, scope of vision, enthusiasm and high idealism, truly the work of these women in many clubs of Florida cannot be too highly appreciated."

Mrs. W. L. Morgan, another Sanford delegate gave in her report the pleasure side of the convention. She said that to be a delegate among that body of women meant inspiration and makes one feel that we are really "doing things." After a delightful preamble Mrs. Morgan gave an interesting account of the various pleasure features. Quoting Mrs. Edgar Lewis our own Section Five vice president she said that "Miami has been the site and she has given her all with a lavish generosity." She briefly mentioned the address of welcome and the three minute reports of the biennial. She stressed the splendid talk of Mrs. John Sherman, chairman of Conservation and touched on the beautiful reception given at Hotel Halcyon, a brilliant affair which was attended by seven hundred people. Mrs. Morgan gave a delightful resume of the speakers and their excellent addresses on pertinent topics. She elaborated on the wonderful beauty of Royal Palm State Park and its dedication during the convention. The dedication speech was made by Hon. J. E. Ingraham, mayor of St. Augustine and a former resident of Sanford. Mrs. Jennings fittingly and simply dedicated the park to the people and their children forever. A tempting lunch was served to eight hundred people in the park by the Home-stead Woman's Club which has a membership of only twenty-three. "We have the distinction," said Mrs. Morgan, "of being the only State Federation to have secured a state park." The Dade county commissioners have given $1,000 for its upkeep. Mrs. Morgan's report was replete with interest and only lack of space prohibits the publication of both papers in full.

The delegates were followed by Mrs. Galloway who gave her impressions of the convention in a charming little talk and Mrs. J. W. Dickins, whose snap shots of the clubs and their splendid activities will be given in another issue of The Herald. The Sanford Club is very proud of their representatives to the convention and the fine reports submitted to the club on Wednesday afternoon.

PITCHES AS IF HE HAD TIME TO BURN

EDDIE PLANK, VETERAN SOUTHPAW PITCHER.

"I have been pitching this way for 16 years," said Eddie Plank, when called to task the other day for stepping off the rubber before delivering the ball. Eddie's way is unique, however, as well as tiresome, in that he usually drags a game over two hours.

His endless delays fret the batters, but amuse the fans. The former Mackman's routine in delivery is approximately as follows: Hitches belt, adjusts cap, walks back to box in half circle, faces batter and stretches arms, steps on rubber with left foot and taps right foot to ground eight times when the ball is delivered to batter, tucks his shirt with every third ball pitched, gazes into sky over third base on every called ball, dislodges imaginary pebble in pitcher's box every time batter has three balls and one strike or three and two.

Stuck on the Job.
"The great trouble nowadays," began the curbstone philosopher, "is that no man is satisfied with his job." "My job suits me," interrupted the chimney-sweep. "And I'm stuck on mine," yelled the tar-spreader from the adjoining roof. Whereupon the orator turned his theme from economics to preparedness.—Puck.

Rebuked.
The persevering landscape painter knew that he had an observer looking over his shoulder at the easel. He took from the rack of skirts that the observer was a woman; yet he worked steadily on. Presently the observer spoke. "A charming landscape," she said. "Ah, you flatter me," said the artist modestly. "Compared with the original landscape it is very poor stuff." "I meant the original," said the observer.

Pure Gold By FRANCES LANYON (Copyright, 1918, by W. G. Chapman.)

"It's like all of their stories," cried Leonie Burch. "I'll never believe their wild fables again."

She was a determined little thing by nature and tired and braised from a long, dangerous descent into the old Wenatchee mine. She had been visiting the deserted diggings for days.

Someone had told her of a miner's wife picking up an apron full of rich quartz, taking it to the smelter and getting over a hundred dollars out of the little heap.

"Why, I haven't even seen a sparkle!" she began indignantly. Then she scurried behind a rock and blew out the tallow dip and crouched there, for a new glint had come from the next level and a man's hard breathing notified her that an intruder was coming into her den.

He, too, carried a candle and as he stood not 20 feet away from her covert, Leonie watched him timorously, but curiously. He set the candle on the ground and approached the rocky wall, felt over it, retreated, drew a revolver from his belt, and, describing the arc of a circle of 30 feet, exploded the seven chambers of the firearm. Then taking up his candle again, he climbed the ladder upwards to leave the mine.

"I guess it," breathed Leonie. "They are salting the mine for a sucker." Delicate ladies of the upper social crust would have lifted their hands aghast at the utterance. Yet Leonie expressed her thoughts innocently, unafraid of the coarseness of the vernacular atmosphere surrounding her. Triteness was her aim and it came out spontaneously.

Leonie lit her candle. She went over to the rounding ore ledge and inspected its surface. The calcareous formation was dotted with tiny shining flecks and nuggets. It was the favorite way of "salting" a mine. Leonie had been only a year at Burchell, but she had learned that. She had recognized "the salter" as one of a loafing, drinking, fighting group who preyed on tenderfoot, the community, and all others unfortunate enough to come their way.

She imagined how they would lead their victim to the old mine and suggest that he take away some of the specimens for analysis and assay with his own hand. The sale of the mine would follow.

Leonie shook her head dolefully at the general unworthiness of mankind and left the place and started for the log cabin she called home.

It was home to Leonie, because there lived old Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey. They had been as father and mother to orphaned Leonie. They had adopted her when they had been rich—way back in the East. They had clung to her when their means were swept entirely away from them by a bank failure. Their son had come to Burchell. He was only a poor clerk in a store there, but he invited them to join him. Alas! when they got to Burchell they found he had died of a malignant fever. All he had to leave them was the rude cabin and ten acres of surrounding land. There was a digging at one end of it, where in his spare time the son had attempted to penetrate the surface crust on the strength of a wandering prospector telling him that there were "indications."

She did this by baking bread—simple, sweet and wholesome homemade bread. There were perhaps 50 independent miners who lived in the vicinity. They kept bachelor's hall and were only too willing to pay 25 cents for a daily loaf. This meant a dependable income, but Leonie mourned because it did not give the old folks comforts they deserved. She devoted her leisure to wandering over the range in search of some overlooked bed of richness. This was how she came to be in the old abandoned mine that day.

"If I were a man," she reflected, as she went homewards, "and had the strength, I'd stick to the old digging on the home lot. I'd bore and shovel till I got results. If I went clear through to China! Oh, dear! When I see the dear old folks just pining away for the old home life in the East, I go almost wild at my helplessness."

There was a little "garden oasis" patch behind the cabin and Leonie attended to this. She was hoeing some sweet corn rows next morning when a stranger passed by. He halted at sight of her.

"Young lady," he said, lifting his cap politely, "I am to meet some men at the Wenatchee mine this morning. Can you tell me where to find it?"

In an instant Leonie surmised that this must be the prospective victim of the fellows who had salted the mine. The stranger was a young man, well dressed, handsome of face and the respectful manner in which he accosted her pleased Leonie.

"I think I could tell you something to your advantage, if you are looking for an investment in the property you name," said Leonie, after a brief moment of reflection.

"Indeed?" smiled the young man. "It would be gratefully received for I am what they call a tenderfoot."

Leonie recited her experience of the day preceding. The young man became grave and thoughtful. "I thank you for your warning," he said earnestly, "and I don't think those men will sell me the Wenatchee mine. I am open for any promising gold prospect, though," he said.

The salter never learned who had steered their victim away from their evil clutches, but Leonie saw more of Shelby Roberts, the young man looking for investments for his uncle in the East. Somehow a sweet wild rose in the wilderness, Leonie had appealed to him. She greeted him as an agreeable acquaintance as the days went on. He learned her history and was interested.

One morning Leonie was leaving the house when a bronzed, bearded great bear of a fellow arose from the doorstep, where he had been seated.

"Beg pardon, Miss," he said in his rough way, "but I was just resting. I was an old pal of Ben Dorsey and was terribly shocked last evening when I heard he was dead. I thought I'd drop by the old place here on my way over the range and take a look at the prospect Dorsey expected such great returns from."

"You mean the digging back of the house?" inquired Leonie. "Just that. There's richness lying under the soil and not far down, either. I told Dorsey that the first time he showed me the croppings."

Then the old miner went on his way. It was quite natural that Leonie should mention the circumstances to Mr. Roberts. It was doubly natural that by this time Mr. Roberts should be greatly interested in anything that concerned Leonie. He asked permission to put some men to work to try out the proposition. There were amazing results from the experiments and assays.

Leonie went almost wild with delight one day when Mr. Roberts advised her that he was authorized by his uncle to offer $50,000 for the ten acres.

"It can't be true!" cried Leonie, the tears of joy running down her bonnie cheeks. "Oh! what will the old folks say?"

It was the happiest day of her life—that which saw her homelick adopted parents back in their native town, settled in a beautiful home, with sufficient luxury means to live in comfort, even luxuriously, for the rest of their lives.

Then Leonie came into her own. She had roughed it out West like the cheery, courageous girl that she was. She fell into the ways of fashion and society just as adaptably under the new conditions.

Shelby Roberts, after the lapse of a month, on his way to his uncle, stepped off at the pretty village.

In wonder he stared at the transformed Leonie. If she had interested him in her frontier homestead garb and rude surroundings, she fascinated him now, the lady complete, as she ever had been.

He missed his train for home for four days in succession. Then he went to Leonie boldly.

"Miss Burch," he said in his frank, earnest way, "I've got good news for my uncle about that mine you discovered. I'd like to add the crowning joy to that fortunate circumstance!"

"You mean?" began Leonie inquisitively. "By telling him that I am engaged to the sweetest girl I ever met."

And Leonie, always straightforward and true, did not hang her head or affect a superficial coyness. She placed her hand in his—the bronzed hand that had worked so hard for those she loved—and whispered softly: "You make me very happy!"

Date of Fair is Changed. The date of the Seminola County Fair has been changed from January 29th to the week of February 12th to 17th, thus giving two more weeks for the good roads now being built to be in better condition and also gives the lettuce and celery crops and other vegetables and fruits a better chance to come in. The change will also give the directors more time to arrange for one of the best county fairs to be held in this part of the state. Buildings will have to be erected and many things done between this date and the date of the fair and the change is a good one.

Sanford on Saturday, Dec. 23rd.

There will be exhibited for the first time many new animal features, but the monkeys are the same, and the elephants too, as in the days of long ago. However, the latter are now doing a new routine of acts, notable original tricks, being a satire on the great American craze, the tango dance. These big giants are certainly "some dancers." They must be seen to be fully appreciated. They also do a great base ball scene and a new and novel brass band stunt.

The equestrian and riding seals and sea lions are also among the new novelties this season. The big show program is rich and fairly teems with the finest foreign and American feature aerialists, acrobats, jugglers, contortionists, equilibrista and general performers.

The clowns are a predominating attraction and they are better than ever, with a routine of new funny scenes, and are this season headed by Billy Zanfretto, the well known Hippodrome clown and pantomimist.

As a special free attraction the Sun Brother will present at noon-time, on the show grounds, a great European "thriller," said to be the greatest free attraction ever offered by a tented aggregation.

Book Circle

Mrs. May Dickens was the charming hostess on Tuesday afternoon to the members of the Book Circle at her home in the West Side. The rooms were prettily adorned with ferns and cut flowers, violets and roses and other garden varieties brightening by their beauty and adding their fragrance to the attractive home. The ladies were invited to bring their needlework and a delightful informality prevailed that made the afternoon altogether enjoyable. Enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Dickens were Mrs. Geo. Speer, Mrs. A. P. Connelly, Mrs. J. W. Dickens, Mrs. Galloway, Mrs. A. W. Fitts, Jr., and Mrs. R. A. Newman. The violet which is the club flower decorated the refreshment plates. Two courses were served, salad and ices.

St. Agnes Guild

At the regular weekly meeting of St. Agnes Guild on Monday afternoon the members were the guests of Miss Gretchen Schultz. Plans were completed for the play which was given last night and arrangements made for the bazaar and cooked food sale which will be held Saturday, Dec. 16th in the Seminole Bank building. Those present were Mrs. Archie Betts, Mrs. Takach, Mrs. Fry, Mrs. Minarik, Miss Charlotte Hand and Miss Olga Schultz. Delicious refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Takach at the home of her mother, Mrs. Aspinwall.

Charming Neighborhood Party

Complimentary to Mrs. Fred Bouchelle, the attractive guest of Mrs. Henry Wight who was invited to meet the delightful little colony of neighbors at Golden Lake and Lake Onoro. Mrs. F. F. Dutton entertained with a charming porch party on Tuesday afternoon and introduced Mrs. Chas. Tyler, Mrs. R. L. Martin and Mrs. Schlatter who have recently taken up their abode in the neighborhood. The porch had been transformed into a lovely bower of greenery with ferns and palms. A variety of garden flowers nestling among them gave a relieving touch of color. There was a suggestion of Christmas in the decorations and in the readings which were given during the afternoon. At the refreshment hour a delicious luncheon course was served.

Evening Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Connelly were the gracious hosts to the Evening Bridge Club which played an interesting game on Tuesday evening.

Cecilian Music Club

The Cecilian Music Club will hold its regular meeting at Mrs. Munson's studio Saturday (tomorrow afternoon) at three o'clock. Miss Muriel Harford will feature the special number, a selection in reading. The Cecilian Music Club recitals are charming bi-monthly events in music circles, and always bring out a good attendance. Parents and friends of the members are cordially invited to attend.

The Mikado in Sanford

Some time in January the Green Room Club of Stetson University will present the "Mikado," an old time favorite comic opera, under the auspices of the Woman's Club. Dr. Bloeker, who will be cast for the Mikado is well known in Sanford and brings with him a cast and chorus that can scarcely be excelled on the amateur stage.

The Green Room Club, it will be remembered, presented "Pinafore" here last season to a crowded house, rendering a very fine performance, much pleasure the return of this popular aggregation.

Ladies of the Maccabees

There will be a meeting of the Ladies of the Maccabees at the Woman's Club Monday afternoon at three o'clock. Members are urged to be present.

Pipe Organ Society

A very pleasant meeting of the Pipe Organ Society of the Baptist church was held on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Schelle Maines, hostess. Reports were made from the bazaar and the year's business brought to a close preparatory to the Christmas vacation, this being the last meeting of the society until January. The reports show a year of splendid activity and most encouraging results financially. A profusion of red gladioli, Christmas designs on the paper napkins all suggesting the approaching Christmas gesting the approaching Christmas season. Enjoying the charming hospitality of their hostess were Mrs. Ernest Betts, Mrs. James Taylor, Mrs. Robt. Rowe, Mrs. Bray, Mrs. D. R. Brisson, Misses Jeannette Laing, Clara Millen and Essie Whittle.

Church of the Holy Cross

Church services for this Sunday (2nd Sunday in Advent) will be: Early Celebration, 7:30 a. m. Sunday School, 9:45 a. m. Matins, Litany, Sermon, 11 a. m. Vespers and Address, 7 p. m. Last Sunday night at Vespers a specially impressive service was held when five young men were initiated into the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. The other members of the Brotherhood renewed their obligations. The Brotherhood holds its weekly meetings every Tuesday night, 7:30 p. m. at the rectory.

After the Thanksgiving Day services, the fruits, vegetables and groceries which were given in great abundance to the church for the decoration of the church and altar filled many baskets and were distributed among those to whom the parish wanted to send its greetings. This is one of the great pleasures Holy Cross parish has in ministering not only to the spiritual but also material needs of its people through its priest.

There are many new members and friends coming to the parish and attending the church services. All receive most cordial welcome, for it is coming "home."

There is ever an increasing number of citizens of our city, expressing to the rector their greatest anticipation of pleasure in the coming of Father Huntington, who is expected to begin the mission January 21st. Father Huntington has been visiting just now, both Yale and Harvard Universities. His annual visits there are always occasions of great crowded meetings.

SMOKE THEIR OWN MEAT

Kissimmee Ice Plant Assists The Farmers Materially. Over at Kissimmee the ice plant has made an innovation which cannot but prove a success—providing the farmers will lend their cooperation to the proposition. This is nothing less than an addition to the ice plant for the purpose of smoking, curing and preserving meats as they are brought in by the farmer.

At first the plant made changes whereby a curing room only was provided—and so popular did this become and so many were the demands made upon it by the farmers who were desirous of consuming the meats they raised, that the company decided to add a smoking room where the meats might be subjected to that process.

The time will come when precisely such a combination will be needed in this city. But that time is not yet. When there shall be those in the country round about who will take advantage of the opportunities which are even now theirs, and will see that no very great amount of their holdings shall go to waste; when they will learn that to buy at prevailing prices that which they could produce at one-fourth the cost is simply folly; when such a time shall come to pass—as there must before many years shall go, by—there will be need here for an institution to care for all the surplus, till such a time as it will not be a mere surplus—but a supply.—Palm Beach Post.

Election of Officers The Brotherhood of St. Andrews

ected. officers for ensuing year. The largest meeting of the season was in attendance. Considerable business was transacted. Director James Stewart called for the election of officers for the year 1917. Patrick Murphy was elected director without opposition. "Red" Davis was elected secretary with no opposition and Walker Dixon treasurer with no opponent. Each one of the newly elected officers in a few well chosen words promised to make the year of 1917 the greatest in the Brotherhood's history.

The retiring officers, Washburn and Stewart thanked the members for the undivided attention given them during their administration. After considerable discussion on the election of a captain and manager of the basketball team several arguments were put before the house, some for and against the present leaders.

Captain Ned Chittenden who was absent was defeated for the position as captain by Paul Hawkins, the name of the former captain not being submitted to the house for consideration. For manager of the team the present leader, Harold Washburn was re-elected. Secretary Davis paid the present manager a compliment, saying that during the present season no one individual was as much benefited to the local team as was Manager Washburn.

The names of Robie Laing and Allan Jones were on the ticket for treasurer of the basketball team. After taking the vote Laing was elected over the former treasurer.

The secretary was requested to thank the Sanford Herald for the liberal space which was devoted to the Brotherhood during the past season and spread the vote of thanks by the members upon the minutes. The meeting adjourned at 9:15 to meet Tuesday night Dec. 12th.

Danger in Ambition. The history of the past, is useful only as used by one of America's purest patriots, Patrick Henry, as a light to guide us in our present path. The examples of ambition from Abigail down to our day are useful as indicating to us the characteristics of the ambition that is dangerous from that which is beneficial. The personal element too much emphasized is one of the most common notes of the ambition that is dangerous.
