By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The latest developments in the attempt by residents of Tuscawilla to secede from the city of Winter Springs are: -The Winter Springs City Council Tuesday night ordered a feasibility study to determine the effect on the city and Tuscawilla

if the effort is successful. The initial results of the study are to be reported to the council within two weeks. A special workshop meeting of the city council was set for 7:30 p.m. Monday to consider the feasibility study and how it will be complished

-Five petitions containing the signatures of 166 Tuscawilla residents, 40 per cent of the registered voters in that area, were submitted to the council. Robert O. Williams of 1039 Elk Court, one of the circulators in the petition drive that began Friday, said only nine of the persons approached by petitioners refused to sign. He added that the mmittee will continue circulating petitions until over 50 percent of the voters in that area have signed. --City Atterney Thomas Long sold the law requires the feasibility study first, acceptance or rejection of the petition second and third a public hearing and the setting of a referendum at either a special or regular election.

He said the sequence of actions must be taken in order or a defect that could be challenged in court would result. Williams had asked the council to order a public hearing advertised. The hearing, according to the law, must be advertised four consecutive weeks before it takes place. -Mayor Troy Piland, noting that the developer Tuscawilla area has said he will remain neutral in the deannexation effort, said the council should consider whether or not to whits in the dev while its status as part of the city is clouded by the contraction of boundaries

-Former County Commissioner Mike Hattaway from the audience said he hoped he had misunderstood Piland's suggestion that the development in Tuscawilla might be stopped. Saying he was alarmed at the prospect, Hattaway said a lot of thought should be given before such action was taken, noting in particular the numbers of people who would be put out of work. -Councilman Bert Logan said if a referendum is to be held that it be included in the November general election in the city. -Former City Attorney Gary Massey, a resident of Tuscawilla, said to rush through the de-annexation would be a disservice to the people of Tuscawilla and the rest of the city. Noting that the law allows six months for consideration by the city to the issue, Massey said, "Six months down the line is not going to make any difference." Massey also said he does not want to be de-annexed from Winter Springs.

-"Based on the number of signatures on the petitions, I certainly would not stand in Tuscawilla's way." said Councilman Laurent Pellerin. -Lang said only Tuncawilla residents will vote on the contraction of beautifuin inner when it gets to a referendent, ac--Councilman John Sabatini said two weeks is not adequate time for the feasibility study. Piland said the time frame has been set up by the other three-Daniels, Pellerin and Loganapparently to get the issue on the ballot in November. The petition effort has been led by former City Councilman Don Sines. Others on the committee in addition to Williams and Sines are: Mrs. Sheila Sines, Herbert G. Monson and Stanley . Obarski.

The Tuscawilla area, according to City Planner Dick Rozansky encompasses 3,500 acres of the city's total 11,600 acres, about 30 percent of the city territory. He said the area has about 423 home

Church Bombed In Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) - Pro-government gunmen bombed a church occupied by student protesters and shot and killed three of them in the latest outbreak of political violence sweeping across Nicaragua. In other incidents Tuesday, National Guard troops opened fire on rioters, a mob firebombed a military vehicle and gunmen believed to be left-wing guerrillas robbed two banks.

Dollar Rebounds In Tokyo

LONDON (UPI) - The dollar rebounded sharply on the Tokyo foreign exchange market today and followed suit at a more moderate pace on most European markets. Gold opened at $185.875 in Zurich, an overnight gain of 25 cents, and rose 22.5 cents in London to $185.85.

The U.S. currency shot up on the Tokyo foreign exchange market, reaching the 203-yen level at one point before closing the day at 202.98 yen - a sharp gain over Tuesday's close of 201.51.

They Didn't Feel Robbed

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) - A court Tuesday gave a 31-year-old woman a oneyear, suspended sentence for offering "sexual rehabilitation" to eight men without having a license to practice medicine. The charge against Christina Julia Fer-nandez Ada, a school teacher, was reduced from theft after the woman's eight patients testified they did not feel robbed.

elderly man suffering from the creeping paralysis that killed baseball star Lou Gehrig has won the right to disconnect a hospital life support system that keeps him breathing. Broward Circuit Judge John Ferris, who had earlier gone to the hospital to question 73-yearold Abraham Perlmutter personally about his request, ruled in the patient's favor Tuesday, saying the systems "merely prolong a hopeless condition.

"All I'm saying is his Constitutional right to privacy supercedes medical and government interests here. I'm not saying he should live or die," added Ferris who said it was the hardest decision he's made in 15 years.

Search For Bodies Ends

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) - The Duval County Sheriff's office spent three hours Tuesday searching a coastal swamp for the bodies of Kelly Ann and Ryder Scott Dobbert, two children who a jury found were murdered by their father seven years ago.

A posse of about 35 deputies from Duval and St. Johns counties as well as members of the Duval County Sheriff's Four-Wheel-Drive Posse ended the fruitless search at about noon. The searchers worked with shovels and backhoes "We had to follow every possible lead," said

Duval County Sheriff Dale Carson, who personally visited the area containing four sites designated by convicted murderer Ernest John Dobbert as possible burial places of Kelly Ann. 9, and Ryder Scott, 7.

"What we were shooting for was that this was the one, decent thing that this guy had done," said M. P. Richardson, police director of operations. "I don't think he will ever tell us (where the children are buried)

Moped Drivers Get Warning

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - The highway patrol won't start issuing tickets right away to persons driving mopeds without license.

That's the word Tuesday from Patrol chief Eldrige Beach who said violators will be issued warnings for a while. "After we feel the public has had a chance to become aware of the new law, citations will be issued to those who operate a moped without a driver license," Beach said.

A new law, effective July 1, requires all moped operators to have a valid restricted operator, operator or chauffeur license. This means an operator must be at least 15 years old, the earliest a restricted license is issued. Effective next January 1, mopeds must bear a special "moped tag".

Rebates, Probes Unrelated

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Attorney General Robert Shevin has been trying to negotiate a multi-million rebate of overcharges to Florida Power Corporation customers. But he denies the settlement would be conditioned on an agreement not to investigate the fuel oil scandal that spawned it. "It has never been contemplated that a settlement would take the place of a public hearing," he said, answering harsh criticism from Public Service Commissioner Robert Mann of any deal to get the utility off the hook.

"If a figure can be arrived at, it would be taken to the PSC for hearings on whether to accept it and on the entire episode," Shevin said. "There never was any idea of trying to save the company any embarrassment or short-circuit PSC hearings."

A Trade Deficit Of A Spy Kind

When the U.S. Justice Department managed to get bail set at an unprecedented $2 million each for two Soviet officials accused of espionage in this country, Soviet Ambassador Andrei Gromyko conveyed a warning to our State Department. If we want to play tough, he said, so will the Russians.

In short order, Soviet authorities picked up an American businessman in Moscow and charged him with violating currency laws. They have also hauled two U.S. newsmen into a Moscow court on charges of "slandering" the Soviet government in dispatches which quoted dissidents critical of the Kremlin.

So it goes, an outbreak of the game of we-dareyou that sometimes diverts the U.S. and Soviet governments from their higher-level diplomatic relations. When those relations grow cool - as they have in recent weeks - we can expect to see Washington and Moscow grow less tolerant of activities they otherwise swallow without much fuss.

In palmier times, the two Soviet agents charged with trying to buy military secrets in New Jersey might have been quietly ushered out of the country. Instead, they may be brought to trial, with embarrassment to Moscow. We don't know whether Francis J. Crawford of the International Harvester Co. broke any laws in exchanging dollars for rubles, but we can be sure that during the high tide of detente his case would not have warranted the treatment and publicity it's getting in Moscow

As for Craig R. Whitney of the New York Times and Harold D. Piper of the Baltimore Sun, they have reported activities and statements of Soviet dissidents regularly in the past without being threatened with fines for "slander." Obviously, it was their bad luck to be picked for a bit of harassment

If the Russians want to go this route, our government doesn't have much choice but to play along. The countermove we saw the other day, newever, makes us wonder if the Carter administration needs better coaching.

The U.S. government has agreed to release the two Soviet spy suspects without bail in return for the similar release of Mr. Crawford in Moscow. Two spies for a tractor salesman? No good chess player would abide such a lopsided exchange of pieces. If we're going to go easy on two Soviet citizens in a spy case, we should demand a Soviet response in a case or cases at least as grave.

Because the Russians have broken new ground in their slander case against American newsmen a legal maneuver never seen before — it is not easy to say what Washington's response should be. Washington correspondents for Pravda and Izvestia can slander the United States to their heart's content, and regularly do, and there's no law against it.

It should be made clear to Soviet officials, however, that our hospitality to their journalists depends on fair treatment of American journalists in their country. If Mr. Whitney and Mr. Piper are subjected to any penalty for merely reporting the news, it's within the power of our government to make it difficult for Soviet news agencies to maintain their bureaus here.

There's an element of silliness in this game of tit for tat, but there's nothing silly about Americans being rough-housed by a foreign government on trumped-up or petty charges. Detente and the Helsinki agreements were supposed to have laid down a new set of rules, but Moscow obviously still likes to play bare-knuckle style.

The cities and the county governments may finally get together to solve the double taxation controversy. At least County Commissioner Bob French has held out an olive branch of sorts. He has invited city officials to attend the coming six weeks of budget review conducted annually by the county commission to go over budget requests item by item. French has even offered to listen if the city officials determine any item constitutes double taxation While the county commissioners receive a generous salary from the taxpayers, few city officials are so fortunate. The highest paid elected official in the cities receives a mere stipend in comparison with the county commissioners' $17,000 annually. And, few can afford to give up whole days for weeks on end to observe another governmental body. Most have to work at jobs, other than political ones to support their families. The city officials have asked Sanford City Manager W.E. Knowles and Lake Mary City Clerk Sig Pearson to study the budget requests and monitor meetings when they can and to report back to the mayors with recommendations. At the same meeting the county public works director, Jack Schuder, in a discussion with Lake Mary Mayor Walter Sorenson appeared to have some difficulty understanding the plight Sorenson was describing of the inability of some citizens to take their refuse to the main county land fill at Osceola. Sorenson said when citizens are turned away from the transfer stations because the compactors are broken down again or for some other reason many cannot make the 15 mile or so journey to the landfill near Oviedo and instead dump their garbage wherever they can. Sorenson also said, believe it or not, that some residents in Seminole County can't afford the landfill fees. I find it hard to believe that anyone cannot believe that some people do not have a dollar to spare many

The criticism does not apply to the vast majority of retired military people who are dedicated to their jobs and their offices. And the same criticism could validly be made against any number of local officials who have never served in the military.

With the friendly season warming up again in Seminole County, a little personal reminder is in order for prospective candidates. All those who are running with the expectation that they can work hard and do their best once they are in public office and can thus expect the applause of the electorate for their efforts should reconsider being a candidate.

For the most part, the electorate chooses the person they feel can best do the job from among a ist of persons who have indicated a desire to serve. As often as not the person for whom they vote does not do the job he has promised and they are disappointed. If he does the job well, that's fine because he fulfilled his pledge. Then, they will vote for him again. And that's all a politician can expect.

RONALD REAGAN On The Bakke Decision

At first glance it may look as if the Supreme Court ran for cover when it ruled, on the one hand, that Allan Bakke must be admitted to the University of California at Davis' Medical school and, on the other, that minority racial status could continue to be used as a criterion in considering future admissions. But, was the court just dodging a political hot potato or was it giving a balanced judgment of the need for the nation to reconcile two seemingly mutually exclusive goals: the merit system and increased opportunities for those who had not had them in the past? think it was the latter. Justice Lewis Powell, in the court's controlling pinion, said, "The guarantee of equal protection cannot mean one thing when applied to one individual and something else when applied to a person of another color. If both are not accorded the same protection, then it is not equal." Thus, Allan Bakke must be admitted to medical school this September.

Bakke, qualified in every other respect, had been denied admission because the school was committed to a rigid racial quota and his skin was the wrong color - white. Despite such quota systems, medical school students from nonwhite minorities in the U.S. continue to be disproportionately small in number in relation to population and the situation is worse in law

Many blacks make the point that until they achieve at least a proportional share of these admissions they will be at an unfair diasd vantage. On the other hand, Americans o Jewish or Chinese backgrounds rely heavily on the merit system and do exceedingly well in proportion to their numbers, so are un rstandably frightened of rigid quotas. Quota systems, furthermore, are alien to the American ideal of allowing each person to rise to the limits of his or her ability. In the Bakke decision, the Supreme Court may have found a way out of this apparently irreconcilable dilemma. By not throwing out the t of so-called affirmative action program it said, in effect, "use your judgment" to decide the qualifications of each potential college or job

We all live by rules, but if we submerge judgment — thinking — to rigid rules, the rules tend to swamp the thinking process; blot it out. We have had government's relentless pursuit of rigid quotas that require so many blacks, so many eskimos, and so forth. The concept was carried to its most bizarre ends with the quots system the McGovernites imposed on the Democratic Party's delegate-relection process after they gained control of the party's ap-

idn't have one."

The Supreme Court's decision requires that personnel managers and admissions deans use that precious human commidity, thoughtful judgment, instead of fixed rules dispensed from on high by, say, the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare. In a stroke of the pen, the justices gave us a chance to do away with what Cicero called, some 2,000 years ago, "The arrogance of officialdom."

The difference between these two settings can save you up to 40% on your air-conditioning costs.

One thermostat is set at 78 degrees. The other at 73. The difference of 5 degrees may seem like no difference at all. Fact is, even one degree counts in the cost of cooling. Approximately 8% per degree, in the average fully air-conditioned home!

You can be very comfortable at 78 degrees. And also save on air conditioning costs. So consider re-setting your thermostat. And save up to 40% on cooling costs.

Here are other tips on how to keep your cool (and your bill down). Use the most effective insulation. FPL's Watt-Wise Living™ program recommends the R-19 level of insulation in ceilings. Properly installed, it saves considerably on cooling costs if your house is fully air-conditioned.

Another important point: during the hot months you should change the filters in air conditioners. At least once a month.

Weather strip doors and windows. Use light colors on walls and roof to reflect the sun. Shade windows. Shade air conditioning units with shrubs but don't block the air flow.

Pick up our folders on insulation and ways to save on electricity at your local FPL office.

Garvey Lives Up To Image As 'Star MVP

8A—Evening Herald, Senferd, Fl.

SAN DIEGO (UPI) - The All-American boy delivered the all-important base hit and that, essentially, was the story of the 49th All-Star game.

Steve Garvey, the Los Angeles Dodgers' $333,000 superstar first baseman lived up to his image once again Tuesday night in leading the National League to a come-from-behind 7-3 victory, dealing the American League its seventh straight loss and 15th defeat in 16 after a 7-2 National League triumph. Garvey, 29, received a severe cut that required 29 stiches on a pick-off play at Houston Saturday, but he refused to come out of the lineup Sunday

New York Yankees $2.7 million relief ace Rich Gossage faced Garvey to lead off the eighth and the right-hand hitting Garvey delivered a towering opposite field fly that appeared to be headed out of cavernous San Diego Stadium. But the ball hit high on the right field fence and Garvey setled for a triple.

"I thought that ball was going out," remarked Garvey. "But against Gomage, anytime you hit the ball hard like that, you've got to be satisfied. He's just a tremendous pitcher."

The National League broke a 3-3 deadlock one pitch after Garvey's triple when Gomage threw a wild pitch and Garvey crossed the plate standing up. After a walk to Dave Concepcion, Dave Winfield lined a single that was kicked by left fielder Chet Lemon. With runners on second and third, Bob Boone delivered a two-run single. After a groundout. Davey Lopes hit a run-scoring single and the American League was thoroughly besten again.

"Each award is special."

Garvey said when asked about his two MVP trophies. "In 1974. I was the first write-in starter in the history of the All-Star g.me and I had the mumps five days before the game. She's Most Popular Hole-In-One Partner

Jonnie Elam rates as Sanford's most popular golfing partner. She witnessed a fifth hole-in-one Sunday at Mayfair Country Club as R. C. Whitmire aced the par 3 seventh hole with a five-wood. Her string of being present at times of holes-in-one started in 1975 when she saw her husband, Dick, score an ace while playing in Sumter, S.C. In 1976 she was playing with Irene Harris when the latter scored as ace at Sheoah.

In 1977, Jonnie scored a hole-in-one herself at Mayfair, and again later last year she was in Denise Bratzler's group when she came up with an ace.

"It is strange," Jonnie confessed, "people keep asking me to play with them. I guess they think the luck will rub off."

"You wanna do your best," he said talking of the wild pitch that enabled Garvey to score. "You don't want to do what I did in front of 50 million people. It hurts, it's embarrassing. I offered to go to England to help her, but she says I shouldn't spend the money since there is nothing I can do

My question: Should I go to England anyway to find out what is going on there? And if 1 go, should I surprise her? I have a feeling she is hiding something from me. PUZZLED HUBBY

DEAR PUZZLED: Something smells fishy here. Don't ASK her if you should come; TELL her you're coming. Then go. You'll get the picture soon enough.

DEAR ABBY: Here are the facts. My daughter, Marcie, had to get married at 17. She and Scott had gone steady for two years. We begged them not to get so thick when they were only kids, but they said they were "in love" and we couldn't keep them apart.

Airplane Thief Captured Here: Target Pot?

By MAX ERKILETIAN Herald Staff Writer

A man accused of stealing a DC-6 airplane from Miami International Airport for alleged use in the transportation of marijuana from Colombia to Florida was apprehended by Sanford Police at the Holiday Inn about 1 p.m. Wed-

Bernard T. Watson, 48, North Lauderdale, was apprehended in room 206 of the Holiday Inn by police oficers. He was in Sanford to work on an airplane at the Sanford Airport, according to a Manatee County Sheriff's spoke sman. Watson and his wife Laura, 43, were captured about the same time. She was taken into custody at their North Lauderdale home late Wednesday by Broward County deputies

Both Watson and his wife are free today on bonds of $50,200 each. "We suspect this stolen airplane was going to be put into service as a marijuana transport," said Wilton Martin of the sheriff's office in Manatee. He added the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and the federal Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) have been called in to probe that possibility. Also under investigation is the possibility a third person may have been involved in the theft.

"We are looking for a third suspect," said Martin, because no one can figure how one man can land that kind of airplane alone. A second man was seen with Watson shortly after the plane arrived. Watson is a flight engineer and aircraft mechanic, and capable of flying many types of aircraft, according to Martin. However, landing the DC-6 alone would be difficult, said Martin. The 60-ton aircraft was taken from the Miami airport about 12:43 a.m. Sunday and flown to the Bradenton-Sarasota Airport before 6 a.m. Sunday according to Martin

The Bradenton-Sarasota airport tower is not in operation between midnight and 6 a.m., according to Martin, so the landing of the stolen aircraft was not noticed by airport officials When the airplane was placed in a hanger rented by a firm headed by Watson, the rudder was damaged, according to Martin. They were probably in such a hurry to get the airplane into the hanger that they forgot to put the tail down and they hit it on the hanger roof," said Martin. Damage to the rudder was estimated at $5,000 by the airplane's owner Cliff Pettit, of Ligon Air in Indiana. The airplane is valued at $200,000.

Originally Pettit had difficulty recognizing the aircraft, because its appearance had been altered.

They altered the appearance of the plane by using adhesive tape to change the stripes and the plane numbers," said Martin.

Manatee County deputies were tipped to the location of the airplane by an airport firefighter and airport security.

to the identification of the aircraft and where Watson could be located in Sanford, according to Martin. May Resume Peace Talks

RUMBLE STRIPS: TOO HIGH

Rumble Strips Cause Rumblings

The State Department of Transportation (DOT) is checking the possibility that rumble strips along State Road 415A in northeast Seminole County are above the

"We are checking into their height today and if they are too high, we will get them down to where they were supposed to be," according to Al Young DOT assistant district maintenance engineer

State law requires the strips to be from one-half inch to three quarters of an inch in height. "I can't swear to you that they are not maybe a half inch too high, but we will certainly find out today," Young said. He added that after wear and tear on the strips they will eventually be worn down to below the allowed height.

The problem came to light when a motorist said the strips were too high and created a traffic hazard because many motorists avoid the strips by driving around them in an oncoming traffic lane.

Young noted that the months ago at the urging of the Florida Highway Patrol "The highway patrol requested something to make the driver aware that there was an intersection (SR 415A and SR 46) coming up," Young said. The DOT engineer said that heavy fog in the area sometimes prohibited drivers from seeing signs warning of the upcoming intersection.

DOT District Engineer Bill Benedict added that his office has never received any complaints about the strips because "people recognize the need for such a device."
