RELIEF PLANS FOR FARMERS WILL BE URGED

Opening Of Congress To See Determined Effort For Legislation Aiding Growers

New Bill Will Be Determined Upon

Measure Will Have Approval Of Herb And Republican Leaders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—A determined drive to enact farm relief legislation, based upon the pledges made by President-elect Herbert Hoover in his campaign for the White House, will be launched, it was learned today, as soon as Congress convenes, in order to avoid a special session after next March.

A new farm relief bill, carrying out Hoover's pledge to establish a farmer-owned, farmer controlled federal farm board, financed with government funds, will be sponsored the day Congress meets by Senator McNary (R) of Ore., in the Senate, and by Rep. Hugen (R) of Iowa, in the House. This new measure may well be termed a Hoover-Coolidge-Jardines-Curtis-Watson-McNary-Haugen bill as it will have the endorsement of all these Republican leaders.

The bill will be drawn by McNary along the lines of a plan submitted to him by the administration last summer. The equalization fee was excluded but it contained many of the provisions of the old McNary-Haugen bill.

A rough draft of the measure already has the approval of President-elect Hoover as he assisted Secretary of Agriculture Jardines in writing the plan. President Coolidge likewise has endorsed it and it was sent to the Senate committee with his approval.

Senator Curtis (R) of Kansas, vice president-elect and present Republican floor leader, approved the plan at the time it was submitted to the Senate even though he subsequently voted for the old McNary-Haugen bill. Similarly, the measure has the approval of Senator Watson (R) of Indiana, who shortly will succeed Curtis as floor leader.

The bill creates a federal farm board of six members to be named by the President and who shall represent various sections of the country, patently, the corn and wheat belts, passed upon this question in the election last Tuesday. They feel that Hoover's overwhelming majorities in every state west of the Mississippi indicated the farmers were ready and willing to try out the Hoover and Coolidge plan of farm relief since it was apparent they could not obtain a relief measure, including the equalization fee.

This type of farm relief legislation was rejected by the American Farm Bureau Federation a year ago when it approved the equalization fee. This action of the federation will not discourage republican leaders as they feel the country, patently, the corn and wheat belts, passed upon this question in the election last Tuesday. They feel that Hoover's overwhelming majorities in every state west of the Mississippi indicated the farmers were ready and willing to try out the Hoover and Coolidge plan of farm relief since it was apparent they could not obtain a relief measure, including the equalization fee.

Dr. Hulley made an appeal for greater reverence of God and his teachings, not only as a citizen to a brief history of human worship and its effect upon the history of mankind, beginning with a period centuries before the birth of Christ, Dr. Hulley called attention to Abraham, whom he described as the first to recognize the existence of only one God. From the conception of his teachings and thereafter he "went to school to God," Dr. Hulley recalled the ten commandments, the first half of which dealt with man's relation to God and the second half with his relation to his fellow man.

Using the ten commandments as a basis for civil law, Dr. Hulley traced their influence to the rest of the world. He recalled the civilizations built in Rome and Greece and told of the hierarchy of gods which the ancients set up. The birth of Jesus, he said, shattered definitely the conception of many gods and firmly established a new supreme authority.

In clarifying the Hebrew understanding of God, Jesus, Dr. Hulley said, taught the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. The complexity of God, the speaker said, is due to a human limitation. He quoted Biblical passages to show the widespread use of figurative language which he said was for the purpose of increasing understanding and promoting reverence in God.

Taking up the constitution, Judge Landis described it as the greatest instrument of its kind. He called attention to the fact that it differs principally from the English constitution in that it is written. He called attention to the fact that it is written.

Speculation Rife As Magnates Meet

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Nov. 10.—(INS)—Speculation was rife here today following the arrival of four groups of internationally famous industrialists. The Pitts-Congdon and associates of Holland and company, H. W. Sprague and company of New York, and K. Kado and party of Osaka, Japan, were believed to have as the purpose of their visit an inspection of the granite quarry and blastoff tax tile plants at Elizabethton, Tenn., near here, but the party, which was escorted to the quarry by prominent automobile manufacturer, refused to divulge the reason for its visit.

LINCOLN HULLEY AND CARY LANDIS ADDRESS A. R. S

Noted DeLand Citizens Speak At Patriotic Meeting Of Chapter

Featured by addresses by Dr. Lincoln Hulley, president of Stetson University, who spoke on the "Defense of Religion," and Cary D. Landis, DeLand attorney, who talked on the "Constitution of the United States," a patriotic program was given yesterday afternoon at the Woman's Club under the auspices of the Sallie Harrison chapter, Daughters of American Revolution. Between 75 and 100 persons, including a number of high school pupils, heard the addresses.

Experts expressed the opinion that American business has not grown the usual election year boom. Even as late as 1924, when the election virtually was conceded to President Coolidge with a continuation of existing policies, there was a dip in the business book.

"During the summer of 1927, there had been a temporary recession of modest proportions in the activity of business to that the volume of production and domestic trade for the year was slightly less than in 1927."

In 1928, however, business began to "pick up" early in the Spring, following the slump that occurred late in 1927. Conditions improved rapidly with the resumption of activity of the Ford Motor Company, marked with a big increase in the demand for steel, rubber, leather and many other products. Heavy building construction likewise boosted the demand for a wide range of commodities.

Officials said that in contrast to the 1927 late-year depression, business has grown stronger during the Fall and is expected to get a stimulus as a result of the election. While the election of Governor Smith would not necessarily have been the signal for a depression, yet Herbert Hoover's prospective advent to the White House and a continuation of policies upon which business has thrived in the last few years, are events which to most like Secretary Mellon foreshadow a record breaking business in 1929.

"In the violence of the campaign, the most sacred relations of life—political and religious—have been strained and sorely tried, to their mutual detriment. Our task now is to set each back in its proper place; to make tolerance real and democracy genuine by building a spirit of mutual understanding. I know there is a line of justice where men of every rank and creed can meet on a common ground with out the sacrifice of a single right or the surrender of a single principle, but with devotion to the common good where right and reason always meet in the spirit of true America."

"I have tried to avoid adding to the unfortunate strife. I have been frequently misunderstood and have suffered many indignities at the hands of overzealous partisans as well as character assassins. Early in the campaign, however, forcing the bitterness of this contest I resolved on a course which I considered best for the party and the State, knowing full well that extreme partisan activity on my part would only intensify domestic strife and that the big task before me and the people of the State."

"November 28th marked the end of four months' work for political campaigners. It marks the beginning of four years of public service for me with most difficult problems that I am confronted with in my daily work. It will be my duty to apply in the coming year those principles of democracy which I have so often preached."

ELECTION YEAR FAILS TO BRING BUSINESS DROP

For First Time In History Slump Fails To Mark National Campaign For President

Improvement Is Foreseen For 1929

Hoover's Victory Said To Foreshadow Huge Economic Movement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The election year has failed out of the American business picture this year.

For the first time in history the national campaigns, the country escaped the slump in business and the economy due to the uncertainty of the next administration, judging from reports available today at the federal reserve board, treasury and commerce departments.

In many lines of business and industry, production not only exceeded the high record set in 1927 and in virtually all fields, figures will be more impressive than those of 1927, which was marked by a recession in the closing months of the year.

Experts expressed the opinion that American business has not grown the usual election year boom. Even as late as 1924, when the election virtually was conceded to President Coolidge with a continuation of existing policies, there was a dip in the business book.

JAPAN GAY AS 124TH MIKADO TAKES THRONE

Impressive Ceremony Attends Formal Ascension Of Hirohito As Ruler Of Nippon

Special Services Mark Jubilation

Thousands Of Japs And Foreigners Witness Festivities At Kyoto

KYOTO, Japan, Nov. 10.—(INS)—With pomp and circumstance, that date back more than 2,000 years, the 124th Mikado of Japan formally ascended the throne today from a mortal to become the "son of heaven."

This was a day of jubilation and celebration throughout the empire. The young emperor, Hirohito, was crowned in the Shinto temple of Ise, where he had been raised. The ceremony was presided over by the Emperor's father, the late Emperor Taisho, who was seated on a throne in the sky while a brilliant thunderstorm raged overhead.

Hundreds of thousands of Japanese and foreigners had gathered in Kyoto, although only a few hundred were permitted to witness the ceremony. 50,000 PREPARE TO LEAVE HOMES AS LAVA SPREADS

Army Engineers Labor To Divert Stream In Order To Miss Towns

REPOSTO, Chile, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Driven into a frenzy of fear by the steadily spreading molten lava from the volcano, 50,000 people today were ready to quit their homes at a moment's notice. The first attempts were being made to divert the lava flow from the town of Reposito, Chile, which is being threatened by the lava flow.

There are three main streams of lava flowing from the volcano, one heading northeast in the direction of Reposito, another heading east towards Calama and the third and most destructive is approaching Reposito.

This latter stream is now a mile and a half wide and 15 feet high. It has taken a toll of at least seven lives, has destroyed five villages and damaged crops to the extent of about $2,000,000. CARLTON URGES G. O. P. VICTORY IN PEOPLE TO DROP STATE MINIMIZED ELECTION STRIFE BY G. W. M'ROY

Says Florida Will Remain Democratic If Right Plan Is Used

Local Man Declares Republicans Can't Claim Poll Triumph

Pledging himself to a wholehearted devotion to the welfare of Florida, Governor-elect Doyle E. Carlton, in a statement forwarded today to the Herald, called upon to today the feeling of the recent campaign to "return to the reason and harmony of former days."

"Florida," he said, "is and will remain Democratic." Adding a warning note, however, the Governor-elect continues, "the party must be maintained, not shooting the arrow of the past into the future, but by recognizing the true rights and duties of citizens, standing together in the real spirit of America."

The statement in full is as follows: "I am grateful beyond expression for the honor which is mine by the vote of the people. I accept it as a call to service, and as governor shall in patriotism as well as gratitude, try to bring to the people the happiness of our people and the welfare of the State."

"And now that the election is over, let us return to the reason and harmony of former days. As frequently happens in the excitement of a political campaign, many of us have been carried away by the impulse rather than reason. All too often we are actuated by thoughts of the present only, and sometimes unwittingly make easy the work of the vicious."

"In the violence of the campaign, the most sacred relations of life—political and religious—have been strained and sorely tried, to their mutual detriment. Our task now is to set each back in its proper place; to make tolerance real and democracy genuine by building a spirit of mutual understanding. I know there is a line of justice where men of every rank and creed can meet on a common ground with out the sacrifice of a single right or the surrender of a single principle, but with devotion to the common good where right and reason always meet in the spirit of true America."

"Midnight Taxi" Is Feature Picture At The Milane Theater

"The Midnight Taxi," a vocal movie of rich California bootleggers, hijackers, double crosses and a girl fighting to save her sweetheart from the penitentiary, opened at the Milane last night. Antonio Moreno, Hollywood's two-gun cowboy de luxe, has the leading role, and Helene Costello, sister of the better-known Dolores takes the part of the brave young girl.

The big thrill of "The Midnight Taxi" is a plane and train race followed by a runaway Pullman car episode and a gun battle. Both Moreno and Miss Costello have good voices for Vitaphone recording. Myrna Loy, one of the movie's exotic ladies, plays the hard-boiled woman of the beer and rum world well.

Two extra Vitaphone attractions are offered with the main feature. Conlin and Glass do a skit in which Eddie Cantor would call "physical comedy" predominant. It is a good vaudeville. The Syncopeing Sweeties, some 18 young women who play everything from Saxophones to Xylophones, furnish music. They come from the Ziegfeld Follies.

"The Midnight Taxi" will be offered again this afternoon and evening for those who didn't see it last night. The first show for next week is "Wings," featuring Clara Bow.

Harry Kent Gives Women Tip On Easy Changing Of Tires

Ordinarily when a woman driver encounters tire trouble on the road, she either calls for the services of a tire man, or asks someone passing to give her some help. But there are times when it is impossible to get the assistance of either.

When it is necessary for a woman to take off a flat and put on a spare in a laborious job, she might try to lighten the job by using a tire iron which is held in the hand.

It was not admitted that playing the average Jack under a car and using a tire iron is a laborious job. Other thought so, and concluded if the flat tire, then run the car up on the 'spare', she could get it out of the tire.

What's more, the idea works and congratulations are in order to the inventor of this "thought" concludes Mr. Kent.
