Sanford-Titusville Canal Session Set

Lester L. Marx
Will Show Movie
On Drug Addiction

A resident of Seminole County and representative of Narcotics Education, Inc., will be the guest speaker at the Sanford Rotary Club's noon luncheon meeting Monday, July 22, held at the Yacht Club.

Lester L. Marx, a resident of South Seminole County, and who represents an organization dedicated to the prevention of drug addiction, is a physical education director, has served five years in the U. S. Army Medical Corps, will present a showing of a film entitled "Drug Addiction" along with his introductory talk on the evils of narcotics in all of its forms.

Marx is also introducing the publication "Listen" to all ministers, teachers, and students. The publication gives detailed articles written by scientists and doctors to help show the effects of narcotics upon the lives of men and women, boys and girls.

Siamese Twins Now Separated After Operation

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Lary and Gary Hutchens, born 18 days ago as Siamese twins, lay in separate hospital cribs today.

Physicians believe the twins face a normal, healthy future as a result of a separation operation yesterday.

Dr. Thomas F. O'Connell chief surgeon at the operation, said that although there is a chance that complications may develop, he is "extremely optimistic" over the twins' future.

He said it would be two weeks before it can be determined whether there is any brain or other serious damage to either twin. He said the chance of such a complication is "minimal."

The operation was not performed without difficulty. During surgery it was discovered that the twins' spinal channels were joined. This was severed along with a single nerve.

The twins, given only a local anesthetic (novocaine), showed no distress during the 45-minute operation, surgeons said. They began to fuss when it was over.

After their separation, the twins were moved to separate operating tables for closing of the nerve ends and the incisions.

Lary and Gary are the sons of Floyd Hutchens, 29, and his wife 33, both of whom were at the Grossmont Hospital in suburban La Mesa during the operation.

The Hutchens, of El Cajon, Calif., formerly lived in Grove, Tex. They have two other sons, Ronald Dean, 5, and Floyd Don, 12.

"I'm anxious to get them home," Mrs. Hutchens said. "We saw the babies just before the operation. They seemed wonderful."

A meeting of Seminole County Commissioners, Sanford City Commissioners and many others interested in the Sanford-Titusville Canal, will be held Tuesday night, July 24 in the City Commissioners Room of the Sanford City Hall to discuss the possibilities of promoting the canal.

Forest Breckenridge, Manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and Secretary of the St. Johns-Indian River Improvement Association announced this morning that Earl Brown of DeLand, President of the association and Col. Herbert Gee, consulting engineer for the organization will attend the meeting to explain, in detail, previous actions relating to the canal project and the plans now being made for the future development of the canal.

The meeting, slated for 7:30 p. m. Tuesday night, is being sponsored by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and the Board of Sanford City Commissioners and the Board of Seminole County Commissioners together with members of the various boating groups in the area including the Sanford Boat and Sail Club and the Coast Guard Auxiliary, have been invited to attend what has been termed as a very important meeting. All others interested in the project have been urged to attend by representatives of the sponsoring group.

Gee and Jensen, Consulting Engineers of cocoa and West Palm Beach, have recently been employed by the State Geological Survey to make a detailed economic survey of both the proposed Sanford-Titusville and Cross State Canals. This survey together with geological survey which has been made by the Engineers in 1932.

The St. Johns-Indian River Improvement Association, together with the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, was successful in having the unfavorable report returned and in instituting action to have more factual surveys made to support their reasons for requesting the construction of the canal.

The proposed Sanford-Titusville Canal can take two different forms in that should the diversion of water from the St. Johns River to the Indian River prove to be a flood control problem or be ineffective the project could then be studied from navigation standpoint only. There is a possibility that the project might be included in the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control Project.

Already numbers of surveys have been conducted, one as early as 1926, but none have proved effective. Further studies and surveys are underway and expected to be completed by the end of 1935.

Seminole County Has 183 Accidents

There were 183 automobile accidents on the highways of Seminole County during the first four-month period of 1935 according to a report released today by the Department of Public Safety.

During the reporting period there were two fatalities and a total of 81 persons injured, the report listed.

Of the total number of accidents in the county, 96 of them were in the rural areas while 85 were urban accidents within incorporated city limits.

According to the statewide figures given in the report released today, there were 424 persons killed in Florida during the January-April period and 10,190 persons injured. A total of 20,622 accidents were reported from over the entire state, according to the Department of Public Safety's release.

PONIES STOLEN

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Somebody with a truck put A. Jones' "Middleland" right out of business. While he slept late, two men—children hanging around thought they worked for Jones—drove up, corralled the three ponies he rented for rides, walked them into the van and disappeared.

W. B. West Will Attend Meetings With 80 Teachers

W. B. West, Seminole County vocational agriculture teacher, will be among the 80 teachers in Panama City July 23-24 and Jacksonville July 26-27 as guests of five Florida pulp and paper companies.

The two "get acquainted meetings" are sponsored by the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association in cooperation with the Florida Department of Education, Agricultural Education.

H. J. Malsberger, forester and general manager of the SPCA, said, "The purpose of these meetings is to give these teachers of agriculture and conservation of our natural resources a better understanding of the pulp and paper industry's forestry program."

The five SPCA pulp and paper companies who are participating in the programs are: The Buckeye Cellulose Corp., Foley; Container Corp. of America, Fernandina; Hudson Pulp and Paper Corp., Palatka; International Paper Co., Panama City; and St. Regis Paper Co., Jacksonville and Pensacola.

The meetings will include talks on wood procurement, industry forest land ownership and service to the landowner. A tour of industry forest lands is planned as is a tour of the St. Regis mill in Jacksonville and International Paper Co. mill in Panama City.

Funeral Services Held At 2 p. m. For James Oglesby

Funeral services for James T. Oglesby, 66, who died Wednesday afternoon at 6:10 p. m. in a Chatham hospital, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Oglesby, born in 1877, had lived in the Sanford area all of his life making his home at Lake Monroe and Elder Springs.

Survivors include three children, Mrs. William Dorton, Elder Springs, Mrs. James Presley, Lake Worth, and Theodore Oglesby of Keystone Heights; 11 grandchildren and 9 great-grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Lula Dykes, Jacksonville, Mrs. Clara Allen, Jacksonville, Mrs. Missouri Duke, Oklawaha, and Mrs. L. L. Keller, Lake Monroe.

Graveside services were held this afternoon at Evergreen Cemetery with L. L. Dewey, Lake Mary Nazarene Church, pastor, officiating.

G. Bordon Coming

Gail Bordon will be the guest speaker at the Wednesday luncheon meeting of the Sanford Kiwanis Club, according to an announcement made today in the local Kiwanis Club bulletin.

Bordon, an authority on hunting and fishing, is widely known because of his TV appearances. It is expected that Bordon will also show a film on the two subjects.

David Gatchel is program chairman for next Wednesday's meeting.

Campbell Drowns In Lake

A 39-year-old Seminole County man drowned in Lake Florida at Altamonte Springs this morning shortly after 9:30.

Sheriff Denver Cordell said that Dalton Eugene Campbell, whose home was located on Hermit's Trail at the lakefront, went into the lake from his boat which capsized as it struck the bank out of control.

Campbell, with his 14-year-old son, Dalton Eugene Campbell Jr., were at the lake. However, Campbell was in his boat alone and evidently turned it too quickly and went out of control when hitting the lake's edge.

Campbell's son went into lake after his father and managed to grab him around his neck but could not hold onto him.

J. C. Cornell, a filling station operator and John Morrison, son of the Altamonte Spring Express agent were at the scene immediately and obtained hooks with which to pull the drowned man from the water.

The Killarney Volunteer Fire Department, located between Winter Park and Orlando answered the alarm and were at the scene in about 12 minutes with oxygen tanks and resuscitating equipment but were unable to revive Campbell.

Dr. George R. Crisler of Winter Park was called to the scene in an attempt to revive Campbell. However, after an hour and a half he was pronounced dead.

Campbell, an electrical engineer representing J. O. East of New York City had lived in Altamonte Springs two months.

No inquest will be held, said Sheriff Denver Cordell, since there were eye witnesses to the accidental drowning.

Assisting in the efforts to resuscitate Campbell, and in bringing the body ashore from the water were Deputy Sheriff Cotton Brown and Florida Highway Patrolman Carl Williams, said Sheriff Cordell.

Dedication Date For New Church Set By Lutherans

The Lutheran Church of The Redeemer's new church building is nearing completion and the definite dedication date has been set for Aug. 19, Rev. Phillip Schlessmann, pastor of the church, said today.

Rev. A. H. Besalaki, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church, Orlando, will be the dedicatory speaker, Rev. Schlessmann said today.

The services dedicating the new building are expected to be at approximately 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Aug. 19, he said.

Rev. Besalaki held the first services for the local Lutheran Church of The Redeemer prior to the coming to Sanford of Rev. Phillip Schlessmann. The first church service was held on May 10, Mother's Day, 3 years ago.

The new church building is located on Oak Ave. and 13th Place just off Highway 17-92.

J. C. Jorgensen, chairman of the church's building committee, has headed the committee planning and building the church.

Paul Campbell is the builder and contractor.

William R. Kemp To Speak Thursday At Jaycee Meeting

J. Brailey Odham Is Alternate Delegate

Governor Leroy Collins and Florida's two U. S. Senators head a list of 39 alternate Florida delegates to the Democratic National Convention starting August 13 in Chicago. The list includes the name of J. Brailey Odham of Sanford who is pledged to Stevenson.

The alternates vote if the delegates themselves are not on the floor. They include 24 pledged to Adlai Stevenson and five committed to Estes Kefauver. One of the Kefauver delegates has named no alternate.

There seemed to be some possibility of a dispute arising at the convention over who will represent Florida as the state's national democratic commissioner.

Richard D. Parker of Jacksonville was defeated for reelection in May by State Railroad Commissioner Jerry W. Carter. Carter was out of the state and unavailable for comment but Barker said under committee rules a state commissioner stays in office until after the national convention.

Barker said he didn't think Carter would "usurp my authority" by disputing his right to continue as commissioner through the convention. Carter will be attending the convention as one of the alternate delegates.

Some Democrats have been critical of Barker for not supporting national party nominees in the 1932 campaign.

Brailey Odham, Sanford; Phillip N. Selber, Jacksonville; John F. Millway, Miami.

Mrs. Lucile C. Tally, Tavares; Railroad Commissioner Jerry Carter, Tallahassee; Mr. E. Turner Evans, Miami; John W. Martin, Southern College, is credited with an important part in treatment of bleeding duodenal ulcer.

A New York medical man has reported that Vitamin P and proper diet can relieve and cure the ulcer without surgery.

Dr. Samuel Weiss and his associates of the Department of Gastro-enterology of the Post Graduate Hospital and Medical School made the report at the International Congress of Gastro-enterology at London.

Dr. Weiss said vitamin P and a special diet arrested bleeding in 2-3 days in all but one case of 23 tested.

Edward T. Cochran Dies At Hospital

Edward Thomas Cochran, 78, died at the Seminole Memorial Hospital at 11:45 a. m. Thursday following a short illness.

W. Ailee Burpee, Hunt-McRoberts Are In Playoff

A home run cinched the third game of the City Recreation Department's city-wide softball league championship playoffs last night for the W. Ailee Burpee entry in the four-team organization.

John Jones, with the score 2-2 in the fifth inning between W. Ailee Burpee and Robson Sporting Goods, slammed a home run out of reach of the outfielders making the score 3-2 which was unchanged throughout the balance of the game.

Robson Sporting Goods, who had gone through the season without a loss was eliminated from the playoffs when they received their second defeat in the championship games.

W. Ailee Burpee scored 3 runs on 4 hits; Robson Sporting Goods was held to 2 runs off 5 hits. Batteries for the seeders were Glen Island and John Jones; for the sportmen W. L. Whitehurst and H. M. Miller.

Only two teams remain in the playoffs, Hunt-McRoberts and W. Ailee Burpee will begin a three out of five playoff series beginning next Wednesday night at 7:30 under the lights in Fort Mellon Park.

Citrus Vitamin P Accredited Part In Ulcer Treatment

LAKELAND, Fla.—Citrus vitamin P, a product developed at Florida Southern College, is credited with an important part in treatment of bleeding duodenal ulcer.

A New York medical man has reported that Vitamin P and proper diet can relieve and cure the ulcer without surgery.

Dr. Samuel Weiss and his associates of the Department of Gastro-enterology of the Post Graduate Hospital and Medical School made the report at the International Congress of Gastro-enterology at London.

Dr. Weiss said vitamin P and a special diet arrested bleeding in 2-3 days in all but one case of 23 tested.

Edward T. Cochran Dies At Hospital

Edward Thomas Cochran, 78, died at the Seminole Memorial Hospital at 11:45 a. m. Thursday following a short illness.

He was born in Camilla, Ga. Jan. 11, 1878 and came to Sanford in 1922 and operated a meat market on West First St. for a number of years.

Mr. Cochran has lived in Lake Mary since coming to Seminole County. He was a member of the Baptist Church of Camilla, Ga.

Large Crowd Expected

William R. Kemp, president of Seminole Park Raceway, will speak to the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce at their noon luncheon meeting next Thursday, July 26.

Kemp is expected to describe the vast improvements that are planned for the new Harness Racing Track that will be built at Seminole Park Raceway which includes the tripling of the grandstands, 40 acres of paved parking areas, new bars, and many other conditions that are expected to make Seminole Park Raceway one of the leading Harness horse racing centers in the country.

The president of the new corporation will also include in his talk before the Jaycees plans for pari-mutuel betting at what is expected to be the most popular tract in Florida.

Affiliated with Kemp in the huge enterprise are: Jack Roberts vice president, Ray Kilpatrick, vice president, and Carl Lindenberg, secretary-treasurer.

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce has extended an invitation to all civic clubs and interested citizens to attend their meeting next Thursday to hear Kemp explain the plans for the establishing of the harness horse racing center in Seminole County.

Kemp will undoubtedly explain to the Jaycees the plans of the Board of Directors of Seminole Park Raceway to make the new enterprise a Seminole County business.

G. Andrew Speer, president of the Seminole County Jaycees has issued a written invitation to all civic clubs of Sanford and Seminole County to attend the meeting to hear Kemp and to learn of the details concerning the extensive plans that are now in the making.

Speer also addressed his invitation to all citizens of Seminole County.

The luncheon meeting will be held at Jim Spencer's Restaurant at 12:10 p. m. in the private dining room.

"Due to the large number expected to attend," said Speer in his letter, "reservations must be made prior to 2 p. m. Wednesday, July 25, by calling the Jaycees Information Booth at 1372."

Speer also said "The Jaycees, as a public service, have asked Mr. Kemp to discuss his plans to give all interested citizens an opportunity to ask questions on the proposed track."

"In this manner we hope to clear up the matter of a referendum and other questions as to whether the race track will benefit Seminole County, and if so, to what extent," said Speer in his invitation.

California Drunks In For Changes

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Chief of Police Frank Ahren blew the whistle today on San Francisco's "revolving door" policy for drunks.

It will be quite a change for this gay old city, founded by gold miners, painted ladies and pard sharks.

Local Red Cross Members To Attend Institute Soon

Local members of the Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross will attend a Disaster Preparedness Institute next week.

The three-day event which will instruct all of the various committees assigned to disaster relief and planning will be held at the Red Cross Chapter House in Orlando.

The institute will begin on July 23 and will include courses in both morning and afternoon sessions.

The first sessions, beginning at 9 a. m., and lasting for one hour each, will include sub-committees on survey; warning, rescue, evacuation; transportation and communications. Other sessions will be held on first aid, clothing, purchase and supply, medical and nursing; family services, information registration, welfare inquiries, and small disaster. Other sub-committees will include public information and individual conferences.

The final session on the afternoon of July 25 will be a general meeting and will include instruction of Red Cross and government responsibilities in time of disaster.

'Alike' Birthdays Coincidence In Town Of Oviedo

By MRS. MARION JONES
OVIEDO — Looking around for unusual coincidences we come up with quite a few:

There are six employees of the Oviedo Post Office. Of that six four boast of July birthdays. J. B. Jones, Postmaster, starts it off with a July 1 birthday, followed by Mrs. Herley Mae Wainright on the 14, Theodore Aulis Jr., on the 18, and Mrs. J. B. Jones on the 25. Mrs. Hattie Ragsdale, another employee, says she only missed by one day, hers being on August 1. Even Mrs. Wainright's husband's comes on July 24.

Leon Olliff, who owns the barber shop, has a birthday on July 2, and his pretty wife, Penny, on the 14th. Although Penny does not work in the barber shop, she is co-owner. Penny has been assistant cashier, then cashier of the Citizens Bank for a long time, but she will be resigning soon.

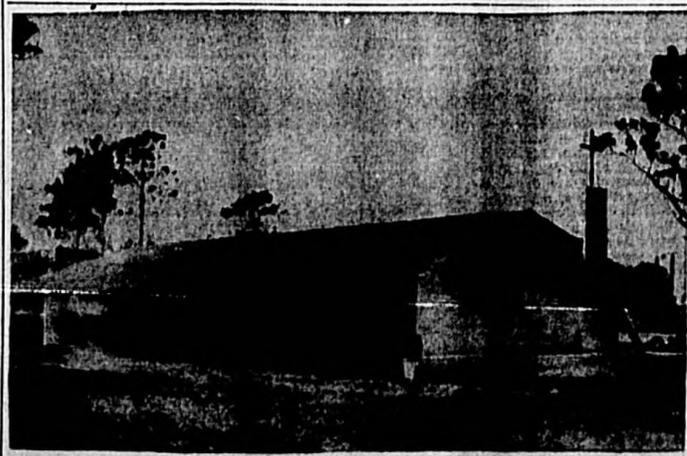

And speaking of family affairs, it is all in the family; Mrs. Charles Lee, Mrs. T. W. Lawton and B. F. Wheeler Jr., have triplet birthdays—all on July 26. Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Lawton are sisters-in-law and Wheeler is their nephew.

Mrs. J. M. Thompson and George Morgan came near being twins anyway, for their joint birthday—July 26. J. B. Jones and Leon Olliff missed this twin affair by one day, one on July 1 and the other on July 2. Mrs. Mae E. King and Mrs. Leon Olliff celebrate joint birthdays, too, July 24.

Another former Ovidian, Mrs. H. H. Link, shared this honor with Mrs. King and Mrs. Olliff when she was here.

March 3 seems to be quite popular with Ovividians for a birthday celebration, too. John Evans and the Rev. E. T. Standifer, formerly of Oviedo, shared this day with a group of youngsters from Oviedo. Johnny Jones, Keith Malcolm and Miss Kay Estes all have respective birthdays, March 3. Munson, Cochayne and Mrs. Wainright's sister, the former Alice Adams, also boasted March 3 birthdays when they were in Oviedo.

Another family affair is the Courier family. John, the father, holds a record, few fathers can equal. He has two children whose birthdays come on the same date as his—his little twin daughters, Mary and Martha—February 22. His oldest son, Johnny, also has a February birthday, just a few days before that of his Dad and sisters.

Dairyman Hanson Collins Named Winner Of Production Contest

GAINESVILLE - Dairyman Hanson Collins, Orlando, has been named state winner of the 1955-56 efficient dairy production contest.

He received the top state honor at an award banquet held last night in connection with the 21st annual dairy field day at the University of Florida.

F. E. Willis, Tallahassee, placed second. The contest was sponsored by the National Dairy Products Corporation and directed by the Florida Agricultural Extension Service.

District winners in this contest for Dairy Herd Improvement Association members included M. A. Shack, Greenwood; E. J. Ebert Cammack, Geneva; W. J. Casey, Largo; and Walter Schmid, Tallahassee; Carr Brothers, Jacksonville; Carroll L. Ward, Sr., Winter Park; and Walter Schmid and Son, Sarasota.

Also at the banquet, state winners in the dairy pasture and forage program were announced. They were M. A. Shack, Greenwood, first place; Hanson Collins, Orlando, second; and the Veldar Corp. Farm, St. Augustine, third place.

In the most improvement division of the pasture contest the Veldar Corp. Farm, managed by A. B. Sanchez, placed first. Dairyman F. E. Willis, Jr., Tallahassee, was second, and Elbert Cammack, Geneva, third.

C. W. Reaves, dairy specialist with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, in charge of the awards program, presented county winners in the pasture contest with certificates. Among these were Lee Stanton and the Wayside Dairy, Washington; M. A. Shack, Jackson; Fuqua Dairy, Calhoun; F. E. Willis, Jr., Leon; F. B. Miller, Duval; Velda Corp. Farm, St. Johns; Elbert Cammack Seminole; Hanson Collins, Orange; and John R. Culbreath, Pinellas.

Additional certificate winners were Lay Lane Guernsey Farm, Orange; and Jack Dodd, Seminole County.

Other high records for state production honors were W. J. Simmons, Jacksonville; A. J. Rusterholtz, Jr., Orlando; Elbert Cammack, Geneva; M. A. Shack, Greenwood; T. G. Lee, Orlando; F. E. Willis, Jr., and C. C. Sellers.

Spotlight On Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (U-A) - A pretty Colleen named Miller could be named the queen of the airlines. She commutes between a Chicago home and a Hollywood career.

Strange things are always happening to this cute brunette. So it doesn't seem odd to her that she could have a home and a career 2,000 miles apart.

The reason she is married to Ted Brinkin, former husband of Betty Hutton and head of a big camera concern in Chicago. She is also a promising young actress with Universal-International Studios but now being loaned out to MGM for "Capital Offense."

"I work out very well," she says. "We have a house here and a house on the lake front in Chicago. When I'm working, I stay here. The rest of the time I remain in Chicago. I have two sets of clothes, so it's no trouble going from one home to the other."

How does her husband feel about it? "He thinks it's wonderful. He loves Hollywood anyway. I was thinking of quitting my career when our daughter, Robin, was born seven weeks ago. But Ted said that wouldn't be fair to me or Robin. He pointed out that if I quit I might be bored and frustrated with being just a housewife."

As I pointed out, strange things have a way of happening to Colleen. Born in Yakima, Wash., she went to high school in Portland, Ore., graduating at 18. She had been dancing since an early age and decided to seek her fortune in Hollywood.

So, all alone at 18, she took a bus to the glamor capital. She knew no one here except a dance director. That turned out to be a good contact, and she landed in a dance troupe that toured the continent.

While dancing in Las Vegas, a fish helped her get a screen contract. She was chosen to pose with a fish caught in a Lake Mead fishing contest. The photo was seen in a Los Angeles newspaper by Howard Hughes and she was offered an RKO contract.

She returned to Hollywood full of ambition to conquer the town. So what happened? For three years she collected a salary with no appearing in a film.

She finally landed a role in "The Las Vegas Story" just before she left the studio. She landed at U.I. where she got a little more action. Yet she is doing only her sixth picture in her six years in films.

Undoubtedly she'll be getting more action. When a player is loaned out to another studio, it's a good sign.

WHO NEEDS SHELLS?

ATLANTA, (U) - William A. Thompson, strimmer, accused by the harking of his dog, saw two men rolling his car down the street about 2:30 a. m., today.

He grabbed his shotgun, marched on the pair to a neighbor's house and told them to get on the steps. When the neighbor came out Thompson drew him aside and told him:

"I don't have any shells in my gun. How about getting yours?" The neighbor complied and held the two men, listed as soldiers from Ft. McPherson, until the arrival of police.

Ex-Marine Sgts. Have Advantage Of New Policy

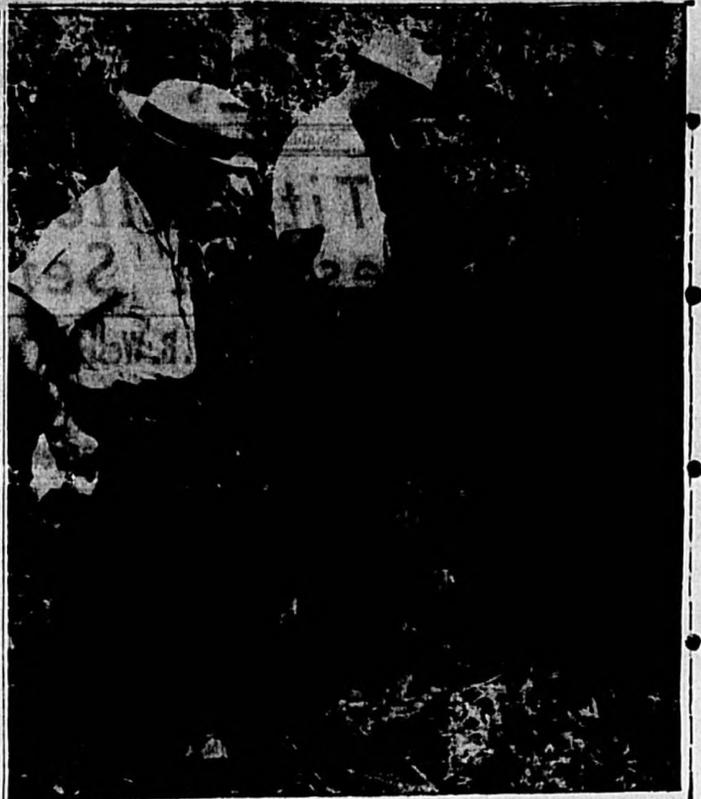

Ex-Marine sergeants can now pin their stripes back on their sleeves if they reenlist under the terms of a new policy just announced by Headquarters, U. S. Marine Corps.

Now, a three stripes man has 90 days to make up his mind about getting back into Marine "greens." And if he stays out longer than 90 days, but less than a year, the former sergeant can be reenlisted as corporal. Civilian status for more than a year means reenlistment as a Pfc.

Under the old policy, sergeants had to reenlist within 30 days to retain their rank. After 30 days, but not more than 90 days, former sergeants were reenlisted at the rank of corporal and at the rank of Pfc if they went over the 90 day limit.

The same provisions of the new policy also apply to Marines obligators who were transferred to the reserves upon release from active duty.

Former staff NCO's desiring to reenlist may get information about rank eligibility from the local Marine recruiter who invites all Ex-Marines to drop a round for more detailed information about their reenlistment rights under the new policy.

SEMINOLE COUNTY OFFICERS examine a skull identified as that of 85-year-old James Albert Thomas. The entire skeleton was found Wednesday in a drainage ditch east of the city limits by county crews. Surgery Performed

SAN DIEGO, Calif., (U) - The Hutcheson Siamese boy twins, joined at the base of their spines, undergo surgery today to separate them.

The twins, Gary and Larry, were born July 2, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hutcheson of suburban El Cajon. Except for a 1 1/2-inch tissue connection, the twins are normal in every respect.

"The date for surgery has been chosen carefully so the operation can be done while the babies are able to tolerate the ordeal with a minimum of risk," doctors said.

"At the present time the babies are in good condition as indicated by their good color, lusty cries, vigorous muscular activity, and gain in weight.

"They cry, eat, and move, without affecting one another, indicating they are two complete, separate individuals. There is no indication the intestinal tracts or vascular systems are abnormal in any way."

Burning of coal and oil in the next 30 years will release an estimated 1,700 billion tons of new carbon dioxide.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

LOU NOVA, ex-bomber, recited poetry to Carnegie Hall, New York City, audience. Let's hope some of our lightweight spring poets take to the ring in rebuttal.

At that, we hear Lou dressed through some of those 16-stanza jobs as easily as he once did 10-rounders.

Though reciting poetry calls for plenty of jaw work, compared to boxing it's definitely easier on the chin.

Chicago's black police cars will be replaced with new autos having white tops and black bodies.

A new type of electronic "brake" has been given the name of "Maniac." We get it—crash, like a fist!

U. S. Medical Schools Turning Out Now More, Better Doctors

A year or so ago, a young man packed his wife and children into the family car, drove to a university and entered medical school as a freshman.

Three weeks later—before he had studied a single disease or handled his first hypodermic needle—he was assigned his first patient, an expectant mother, in company with the regular physician.

A week after that, he made his first house call—visiting his patient at her home and meeting her family. A month later, he was in the delivery room, at his patient's side, when the baby arrived.

And a month after that, he was at the hospital clinic to help give the baby its first regular check-up.

By that time, he still didn't know much about diseases or hypodermic needles—but he knew a lot more about people, as patients and as human beings.

And that was the point of this new experiment in medical education, as it is the point of a dozen other new experiments under way now at almost all of the nation's 81 medical schools.

During this entire period, of course, the student was closely and carefully supervised. He never made a diagnosis or administered a drug or performed an examination, and his patient knew he was only a raw student. He still wasn't "practicing medicine."

But he was practicing and learning the most fundamental aspect of medicine: learning what patients feel and fear and hope, seeing how important their families, jobs and environment are in health and disease, beginning to understand the meaning of the relationship between doctor and patient.

At the very start of his training, in short, he was being taught to concentrate on people—not diseases.

In the three years and more of his training still ahead, the student will learn all of the staggering mass of facts and techniques required of a physician, just as earlier students have. As his knowledge increases, he will meet more patients and take increasing responsibility—under the supervision of experienced doctors—for their care.

But the hope is that he will also keep on learning the basic, human skills that were emphasized at the beginning.

Through new teaching methods such as these, medical schools are working hard to turn out a new kind of doctor, one with the warmth and understanding of what patients call "the old-fashioned family doctor"—plus all the disease-fighting knowledge and skills of scientific medicine.

This has always been the objective of medical schools, and human knowledge has always been a part of the doctor's equipment. But the methods and the emphasis today are new enough to be called a quiet revolution in medical training. Dr. George Packer Berry, dean of Harvard's Medical School, explained recently: "Today the medical schools recognize that man is more than a collection of scientific firmness. We are trying to synthesize the scientific facts a-scientific facts with the psychological and sociological facets of the patients rather than a set of symptoms or a list of laboratory values."

"We are coming more and more to accent the preventive features of medical practice, striking hard at the circumstances—physical, hereditary, environmental, psychological—that give rise to disease, striving to cut down illness at the earliest possible link in the chain of events. This is providing us with a concept that we call comprehensive medicine."

Scientific medicine, based on scientific knowledge of biology and chemistry and physics, is less than 50 years old. In 1900, the U. S. had a few good schools—and more than a hundred others ranging from fair to miserable. Many were "diploma mills," run for profit, where any candidate—with money—could earn his degree in a few years.

In 1910, a penetrating exposure—the Flexner report—touched off this century's first revolution in medical training. The diploma mills went out of business and the remaining schools began building their training around basic scientific knowledge and research, good hospitals, and specialization.

A single statistic shows how effective our health structure, of which medical schools are the foundation, has become. Since 1900, the average American's life expectancy has risen from 49 years to 69 years.

But there were problems. The more science learned, the more facts there were to teach—until medical education threatened to drown in facts. To teach a man today all the facts of chest disease, and liver disease, and brain surgery and other specialties might take close to 50 years—by which time most of the facts would be obsolete anyway.

And patients, the educators realized, had to be understood as humans—not just as sick livers or diseased chests.

"The problem," says Dr. Robert A. Moore, president of the American Association of Medical Colleges, "is how to combine highly specialized knowledge with total and comprehensive care. Every school is struggling with this."

"We are trying to teach preventive medicine by emphasizing the positives of health rather than the negative of disease—turning medical centers into health centers. We are trying to integrate our teachings, so that the young doctor has a view of the whole patient."

"And we are trying to produce doctors who will keep on learning, by teaching them more and more processes and principles and a few less individual facts."

It's a big effort. Yet the medical schools, in addition to turning out better and better doctors, are also trying to turn out more doctors.

Liz Taylor, Hubby Reveal Separation
HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—After 4 1/2 years of marriage and two children, actress Elizabeth Taylor and Michael Wilding have decided to separate.

The couple plans a legal separation but no divorce at this time, her studio announced last night.

The announcement surprised no one. Hollywood has been buzzing with rumors for a year that there was trouble between the beautiful 27-year-old star and Wilding, 30 years her senior. The rumors were always denied.

An MGM publicity department spokesman made this announcement for the couple.

"Much careful thought has been given to the step we are taking. It is being done so we will have an opportunity to thoroughly work out our personal situation."

This was not amplified.

What's Happened To Geneva Spirit

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON, (AP)—What has happened to the "Geneva spirit" in the 12 months since President Eisenhower had his pleasant summit meeting—it opened a year ago this week—with the Russians in Switzerland?

This much, at least: There is less fear of war. Both sides are talking of making huge cuts in their armed forces too. But the United States and Russia still stiff-arm and belittle each other.

What can't be known is this: How much better would the Geneva results be now if Eisenhower instead of being ill for months since July, had been in a position to assert leadership and give this country a better sense of direction?

In their closing announcement at Geneva, Eisenhower and Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin laid down three main goals: German reunification; disarmament; increased trade and elimination of barriers between the United States and Russia. The result?

The two sides are as far apart as they were before Geneva on German unity. Disarmament agreement seems no nearer. Exchange of victors has picked up. And this country has made it easier to ship nonstrategic goods to Russia.

Since last July Eisenhower and Bulganin have exchanged several letters on disarmament. These letters only accentuated the distance between them. But the personal relationship, established at Geneva, may be useful in other ways later.

The Russians speak highly of Eisenhower but of practically no one else here. They haven't stopped their anti-Western attacks. But they've spaced them out more. As if to celebrate the Geneva anniversary like a party, this week Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev made one of his worst anti-West attacks.

The Geneva conference seemed to confirm what has become increasingly evident: that a world war was becoming more and more impossible since the United States and Russia had accumulated such terrible weapons of destruction and retaliation.

The Russians, apparently acting in the belief that with war ruled out they must turn to more peaceful and obvious means of conquest, began to do what they could to make hay in a hurry.

Bulganin and Khrushchev, acting like men of the best intention, made trips around, offered their neighbors economic help, sought without saying so to weaken American ties with other countries everywhere.

There can be no doubt the Russians have been acting shrewdly and effectively. But while they were gaining in influence with their new tactics, in this country there has been a sense of drift.

The American government—because it seems at the moment unable to think of anything new to offset or counter the Russians—has been sticking to the old tactics which were created when war seemed much closer than now.

If Eisenhower hadn't been ill in this period, he might have offset the Russians, or even brought them into more agreement, with new ideas and bold decisions. American foreign policy has simply marbled time while he was sick.

Some have been critical of the Geneva meeting, feeling that if Eisenhower hadn't gone there, the Russians wouldn't have been able to give an appearance of reasonableness.

This sounds like stand-patting, based on the assumption that the Russians don't have imagination and vitality to do what they did anyway. What is needed now is more American imagination and vitality.

Men Feel Important Dieting

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Carburetors re-flections of a Pavement Plato: At long last I have figured out why most people go on a diet.

They don't do it merely to lose weight. They do it because it makes them feel more important to themselves. At least this is true of men.

Women are different. They never take themselves for granted, and never let anyone else do so either. A woman finds it easier than a man to keep her self-esteem. She is vitally interested in herself, and everything about herself interests her. She rarely finds herself the least bit boring.

They say a true philosopher can escape the annoy of living by contemplating his navel. But a woman can go a philosopher one better. She can spend a happy afternoon, oblivious to everything else, in simply fixing a hangnail or trimming an arching eyebrow.

But after 35 the ordinary man finds it increasingly harder to think he amounts to very much. He feels more and more that he is only an easily replaceable cog of flesh in a vast world.

He worries of shaving the same old bloopy face every morning. He sets himself out of shape because it gives himself something to do. He drops into a bar on the way home not for a few rounds of fellowship and good cheer so much as because it enables him to forget for an hour or so his own gnawing sense of unimportance in a civilization seemingly growing more god-forsaken every year.

But let him go on a diet, and he changes almost overnight. Dieting has become a national form of poor man's psychiatry.

A man gripped by the dieting mania is like a slot machine addict. He is lost in a passion greater than himself. He is a crusader, fighting in a great cause.

He becomes more worried over pounds than whether some nation will drop the H bomb. He counts his calories like a reverse miser—the fewer the better.

If a mosquito stabs him, he doesn't fret about the sting. He rushes to the scales to see if the swelling caused him to gain an ounce.

Every pound he peels off is a major victory. He hums an interior bossanova.

He no longer feels any other faceless man moving in the human ant hill of living. He is proud of himself. He feels immeasurably superior to his wastrel friends, who go about suffocated in their own blubber.

He becomes so smug and foolish as a peering peacock. He is likely also to become a snob and a bore and a fanatic. But like all fanatics, gripped by a wildfire fever of faith, he is strangely happy in a way denied to lesser mortals who lack a strong belief.

Advisory Group Drafts Suggestions

WINTER PARK, (AP)—Gov. Collins' advisory committee on traffic safety drafted some suggestions yesterday for possible action at the special legislative session but did not make them public.

The group, meeting behind closed doors, issued this statement: "Several suggestions are being forwarded to the governor. The committee feels any publicity should emanate from the governor's office."

Newsmen learned, however, that the suggestions include a program to make Florida safety conscious through highway signs and education at schools rather than changes in motor vehicle laws.

"MR. CHESS" DIES
SARASOTA (AP)—Mr. John Broad, 75, Florida's "Mr. Chess," died yesterday after a long illness.

Major Holt, who served in World War I, was a former national amateur chess champion. He organized the Southern Chess Assn. in 1920, and he leaves his widow and three daughters.

Do You Get Seasick?

By NERMAN H. DUNGLIN, M.D.
ARE you planning a sea voyage or lake excursion this vacation season? Then let me give you a little advice on how to avoid seasickness.

If you are about 35 or on your chances of avoiding motion sickness while traveling on water are much better than they are for others, either younger or older.

For example, studies show that 30-year-olds generally become ill more easily than those five years their senior.

Minimize Feeling
Whatever your age, try to get cabin amidships. This will help minimize the feeling of motion.

Don't read a lot while aboard ship, at least not until after you've developed your "sea legs." And don't watch the horizon.

Furthermore, the condition can become quite alarming. You may become dehydrated, lose a lot of weight, not feel like eating anything and be very depressed.

Prolonged motion sickness rarely, if ever, is fatal. But it can make you feel pretty miserable. Further, the condition can become quite alarming. You may become dehydrated, lose a lot of weight, not feel like eating anything and be very depressed.

But seasickness needn't worry the modern day traveler much with all the new anti-nausea medicines we have at hand. By taking one of these drugs and by following the advice I've listed above, even those of you who have always been susceptible to motion sickness probably will get along pretty well.

Three Helpful Drugs
As for the drugs themselves, recent tests conducted on servicemen and reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association indicate that Domnamine, Phenergan and Iseraline were the most successful when given three times a day. The effects of Domnamine lasted longer than the others, the report states.

Meanwhile, other new drugs are being tested, too. Among these are Vibesine, UCB 124, Cogentin and Sandocin.

With a few common-sense precautions, you can make just about any sea voyage an enjoyable one.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
T. W.: My girl, 7, is 10 pounds overweight. Is it advisable to put such a young child on a diet?

Answer: It is not advisable for children to reduce until they have reached their full growth. However, the diet should contain an abundance of fruits, vegetables and milk, with smaller amounts of starches and sugars.

De Bary Personals

Mr. and Mrs. William Lutz will spend a two weeks vacation in the Great Smokies, starting from here on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Feyl held open house on Sunday last for their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun Johnston of Miami. On Monday several Sanford friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Bart Peterson of Hidden Lake were dinner guests of the Feyls.

The Rev. and Mrs. Hubert Thomas, both ministers of the Community Baptist church of De Bary are spending two weeks in Brooklyn with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wilcox. Taking the Baptist pulpit during their absence is Rev. G. Highfill, professor of religion at Stetson.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Miller have had as recent guests Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schaw and son Bobbie, of Belrose, L. I.

Mrs. Gustave King announces that the auxiliary to the VFW 8083, will take orders for flags suitable for home grounds, for windows and business locations. They hope to have a building of their own and this will be their initial project. Those wishing to help the good work along may phone Mrs. King, 1456-R-4 or Mrs. Chris Butler, phone 1589.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Brown have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Earl Annice of Mamaroneck, N. Y.

The Lions Club plans to hold a fish fry on August 17, between Jackson's garage and restaurant. Tickets may be obtained from Jackson or any of the officials.

Col. and Mrs. Gregory Kessenich have been enjoying a visit of some weeks of their grandchildren and son's family: Dr. William H. and wife of Washington, D. C.; children Billy, Tom, and Kit. Dr. Kessenich is with the medical division of the federal drug and health department. The children are so enthusiastic about the ocean bathing and the good times they have had in De Bary that Dr. Kessenich says it will be difficult to make them return to the North.

Radio-TV Highlights

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Everyone who has watched television has viewed the creations of Valentino Sarras. It's ironic, therefore, that scarcely anyone knows of his existence except his family, friends and business acquaintances.

A man tracked him to his studio the other day and found him to be an intense, intelligent, carefully dressed man, surrounded by experts, plans and photographs and much harassed by phone calls. An artist you'd say; a perfectionist. That is true. He was and is a distinguished photographer. But he was neither as harassed nor as wealthy before he began producing TV film commercials.

Now his company, composed of 100 persons in New York and Chicago studios, makes 500 film commercials a year, ranging from eight seconds to two minutes. It takes six weeks to produce a one-minute commercial, says Sarras. But he prefers eight weeks to turn out a job of high quality. And what is high quality in a TV commercial?

"We try to make a commercial as simple as possible," Sarras said. "Simplicity is a virtue in art, life and commercials. Much commercial advertising on television is still too complicated. Often that's because a sponsor is trying too hard."

Sarras' organization turns out commercials for products ranging from gum to automobiles, from soup to railroads, from beer to banks—to say nothing of shirts, cameras, pharmaceuticals, cigarettes, bread, baby foods, toothpaste, magazines, watches. . . The list is endless.

To demonstrate what he meant by simplicity Sarras ran off on a projection screen one of his recently completed commercials for a soft drink. It being a hot day in New York, the commercial made pleasant viewing. There was no great hoopla about it. A few brief words while a hand dropped a scoop of ice cream into a glass and then poured in the soft drink.

It was frosty, bubbly, cold.

"What was really in the bottle?" asked Sara's visitor.

His brows rose in surprise. He named the soft drink he was advertising.

"The straight product almost always photographs better," he said. "Faking absolutely doesn't pay. It's strange how realism makes a better commercial, how it photographs better. A real flower photographs better than a fake flower, for example. That sense of realism, of truth comes through in everything."

Girls Attend Camp

OVIDEO—The boy scouts had their turn at camp, so the girls took their turn at 4-H Camp McQuarrie at Astor Park, Fla., and will vouch that they had just as good a time as the boys did.

They report that they took part in many activities of the camp and thoroughly enjoyed every one of them.

Girls attending the camp include: Linda Harris, Suzanne Parin, Helen Memory, Kathy Hill, Danna Morris, Carol Alford, Ginger Pipkin, Joann Wolf, Sylvia Mikler and Margaret Arndt.

Phebean-Golden Circle Class Meets In Church For Session

Phebean-Golden Circle Class of the First Baptist Church held its monthly business and social meet Tuesday evening at the church with Mrs. J. G. David and Mrs. A. W. Woodall serving as hostesses. Fourteen members attended the session.

Mrs. Tom Mero led the devotional using as her theme Proverbs 22:4: "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it."

She closed her beautiful message with a reading by Temple Baily, Mrs. M. N. Cleveland led in prayer followed by a silent participation by the group.

Mrs. Eugene Pennington, president, had members introduce themselves so the group would know itself better.

A report was given by Mrs. C. O. Todd, class treasurer, and she was requested to send sunshine

Convention Report Given To Members

The BPW held its regular monthly business and social meeting at the home of Mrs. Peggy Kuhn, Park Ave. at which time reports were made on the convention which was held recently in Miami.

Mrs. Betty Baker told of the interesting convention attended by herself and Mrs. Myrtle Gradick, Mrs. Viola Kasner and Mrs. B. E. True.

Programs were planned for the coming year and a delicious covered dish supper enjoyed.

Approximately 15 members and guests were present.

Your Girl Scouts

It was announced today that the camp for Girl Scouts has been set up from Aug. 13 to 17, at Silver Lake.

There will be handicraft, swimming, active games and songs, merit badge work, outdoor cooking, and conservation badge work for the first class scouts.

Mrs. Fred Robb asks that anyone interested in helping part of one day or through the entire week please contact her as soon as possible.

All registrations must be in by July 23 and will cost the scout $1.50. Leaders may be given the money or Mrs. Robb.

This Day Camp is expected to be one of the best yet and with the "help of everyone" is sure to be fun.

Brownie Camp, Aug. 8 to 10, is off to a good start and under control by its staff.

SYNOPSIS
 In 1897, Seattle was a bustling, cosmopolitan city. The Klondike gold rush had just begun. The city was filled with prospectors, miners, and those who had come to make their money. The Klondike gold rush had just begun. The city was filled with prospectors, miners, and those who had come to make their money. The Klondike gold rush had just begun. The city was filled with prospectors, miners, and those who had come to make their money.

CHAPTER EIGHT
 BY NOVEMBER the feverish rush of the Alaskan ships to boat the dressing of the winter had passed. The ships were still in the harbor, but the excitement had subsided. The Klondike gold rush had just begun. The city was filled with prospectors, miners, and those who had come to make their money.

Because he knew Jason had taken his shipments in order that he might be first in the spring. Michael asked him how he expected to safeguard his possessions. "Remember that thing you depended on an assault case? The big iron safe?" Michael remembered. "Well, over six feet and gigantic in build, hadn't known his own strength in a water-front ruckus. Michael had barely saved him from prison. "I'm paying him good wages and keep to watch my stuff," Jason said. Michael nodded. He should have known Jason would be thinking three jumps ahead of the others. He noticed that Meg Beaumont showed very little interest in the tales of the Klondike but was intensely interested in the local San Francisco picture. The same day in the store had proved successful. Michael was sure Jason had originally proposed it because it was good business. Women liked Meg. They relished her earnest consideration of their problems; they liked to talk to her even when they couldn't buy, and Meg encouraged it. "If they get used to dropping in, they'll buy our hats when they have the money," she told Michael. Michael, who often "dropped in," too, grinned. "If you served tea, you could have a party."

"Of course," she nodded toward a group of shoppers around a linen display. "Did you know Jason has a new suit and nearly eight-cent sales every week?" She colored under his glance. "I—I've called him Jason for some time. For a man's suit is business." "Of course," he eyed the smiling woman. "It is easier to get women to buy at two cents under a dollar?" "Yes, it is! Next week Jenny and I are going to copy him. Jason's mighty smart about selling angles. I'm going to learn from him." She was distracted by a customer. Michael turned to her. He had no doubt about her learning facility. She was a beautiful woman, but her driving ambition made Michael faintly uneasy. Michael strolled leisurely through the store, ignoring his knowledge that Jason had expected him at the office an hour ago. Rain was falling with its usual regularity. There was scant sign of the winter. Michael's eyes were attracted to go to Alaska on the first spring ship crowded the boats, the rooming houses, the Tenisons. Men who had made a strike were eager to return. Some of them had spent their first riches. Others were determined to build the first stake in many times its original stature. Some hopefuls still boarded the Klondike ships.

"Drink, Michael!" Jason joined him and nodded at the nearest bar. "Why not?" In the crowded warmth of the bar, Michael spoke of the continued boom. Jason nodded. "You don't need to be a salesman these days. You just need something to sell." Michael, who had seen inferior meat, hardware and shabby clothing vanish like snow before the sun of Alaskan witchery, agreed. He had seen worthless bars and sold expensively as "water glass"; he saw burners incapable of carrying paper ballyhooed as first-rate furnaces. Men who owned stables and barns that were bare shelters from the weather rented "hops in the hay" for "mud-beds" or more. "You can sell anything," Jason grinned. "If I had a stock of Mother Goose rymes, I'd be rid of 'em by morning."

"Sell them for consolation over children?" Jason suggested. "Good as anything. On 'em, you'll mean money. Maybe the monthly receipts will show down that they'll multiply themselves the second the ice leaves." Michael believed it. Later in the day, coming down from a train, he saw a man in a long coat and a woman in a long dress. They were talking to each other. Michael's mind was on the woman. She was a beautiful woman, but her driving ambition made Michael faintly uneasy. Michael strolled leisurely through the store, ignoring his knowledge that Jason had expected him at the office an hour ago. Rain was falling with its usual regularity. There was scant sign of the winter. Michael's eyes were attracted to go to Alaska on the first spring ship crowded the boats, the rooming houses, the Tenisons. Men who had made a strike were eager to return. Some of them had spent their first riches. Others were determined to build the first stake in many times its original stature. Some hopefuls still boarded the Klondike ships.

"I'm doing fine (she wrote), and not a pick in my hand yet. I'm working in Skagway's best saloon; I may be a partner one of these days. Unless I buy my own place. How does 'Free Saloon' sound, December?" (To Be Continued)

Operation Alert Gets Underway In United States

By ED CREAGH and WARREN ROGERS JR.
EMERGENCY PRESS HEADQUARTERS, Operation Alert—The biggest civil defense exercise ever held in the United States began today. It was his third annual Operation Alert, a U. S.-Canadian joint exercise that sent more than 30 government departments and agencies scurrying for cover outside Washington. The test got under way at 11:06 a. m. EDT with this announcement from Emergency Press Headquarters at a secret location more than 100 miles from Washington: "A simulated surprise attack was launched against the United States at 10 a. m. EST today with simultaneous mock bombing of Hawaii and Puerto Rico as the initial phase of a nationwide civil defense exercise."

Seven minutes after that air raid warning sirens shrieked in Washington and President Eisenhower hurried into a meeting with an expanded National Security Council. The plan called for theoretical surprise nuclear attacks from submarines upon Hawaii and Puerto Rico at the starting moment. Next were scheduled theoretical rains of H-bombs and other air weapons on 73 areas of the continental United States and 25 targets in Canada. Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said Eisenhower would review with 34 officials and agencies participating in representing most departments the exercise, the "programs of action which would be invoked if this were a real attack crisis."

He added that the President will meet with executives of the departments concerned again Wednesday to receive assessments of the effectiveness of the exercise. Snyder said Eisenhower planned to keep in contact with the operation until he leaves for Panama tonight. He said there is no plan at this time for the President to leave town in connection with the exercise when he returns from Panama next Tuesday morning. Many of the officials attending the Security Council meeting planned to leave for their assigned relocation centers after the White House session. Other government centers will be operated by their subordinates. Participation in the Security Council meeting was Eisenhower's only planned direct part in the first phases of the operation. He leaves at midnight for the Central American meeting of American presidents.

Recent Promotion Results In Sales

Florida Beef Council announced today that a recent beef promotion in supermarkets resulted in an 88 ton increase in beef sales. Beef Council President Maurice L. Hollins said the promotion was staged in fifty-one Winn-Dixie supermarkets. Hollins said Winn-Dixie officials informed him beef sales rose by 172,111 pounds during the promotion period over the same period in 1935. The promotion consisted of banners, displays and free beef recipe booklets. Hollins said that almost 250,000 booklets were given to shoppers. The supermarkets aided the promotion by displaying tempting beef cuts and featuring beef in their newspaper advertising.

SHOW ME THE WAY TO GO HOME!
LARAMIE, Wyo., — Edward Behan turned the wrong way into a one-way street in Denver Monday night and in the resulting traffic jam his 15-year-old son scrambled out of the car and ran. The Indian boy was picked up here yesterday, 135 miles from Denver and still 270 miles short of their home on the Wind River reservation at Pavillion, Wyo. Milton Behan related he had hitched rides, slept in trees and bummed meals. "Too many automobiles in Denver," he said. "Somewhere outside of Washington."

The general public is not participating, but it cannot escape entirely. A nationwide Conrad test is halting all television and FM radio broadcasts and shifting all FM radio broadcasting to the 640 and 1240 kilocycle bands. Those are the special channels they would use in a real air raid to relay civil defense instructions.

Collectors Strike

MIAMI, Fla. — Sixteen of some 70 city prisoners being used to pick up garbage when the regular laborers went on strike have escaped, city police said today. The short term prisoners simply "walked off" when they went behind the houses to get the garbage cans, the police said. The unionized garbage collectors have asked for a 15-cent hourly pay increase, 10 cents of which was granted to increase their pay to $1.20 per hour.

Examination Set For Nov. 27-28

The next licensing examination of the Florida State Board of Nurse Registration and Nursing Education will be held on Nov. 27 for practical nurses, and Nov. 28 and 29 for professional nurses. The examinations will be given at the Seminole Hotel in Jacksonville. Applicants must be filed with the Board Office by Oct. 15.

FLOOD CONTROL PROJECT A CENTURY OF STUDY

The adoption of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control Project being constructed by the Corps of Engineers is the culmination of a century's consideration of the separate problems of flood control, drainage, irrigation, navigation, salt water intrusion, and other phases of water control. The project climaxes twenty years of Federal concern in the prevention of flood damage in the Okeechobee-Everglades region.

SEMINOLE COUNTY CHECKERBOARD NEWS SIMPSON FARM SUPPLY

WE'RE WORKING AT CUTTING FEEDING COSTS
 No one knows any better than we do that our neighbors and friends... the farmers... are experiencing tougher times. Low prices on farm-produced items forced farm incomes even lower in '36 than they were in '35.

Although we don't have much control of farm prices, we can and are helping farmers improve feeding, management, sanitation and even breeding efficiency. By giving real service right on the farms we are helping farmers produce at lower cost, giving them increased profits.

We're not alone in our efforts. Back of us is the vast Purina organization dedicated to improving animal agriculture through research. New and more efficient feed ingredients are constantly being developed in their huge laboratory. They are tested for months, even years at the Purina Research Farms before getting a stamp of approval. Only after complete testing are they put into the famous Checkerboard Bag.

That's why Purina Chow is known coast to coast for giving high return per feed dollar invested. Let us put this vast "knowledge" and experience to work for you. Stop in soon.

Look for Our Big Ad!
 Look for Purina's big ad in the August issue of Farm Journal devoted to ways of cutting warm production costs. Read the ad; then stop in and we'll go to work on the problem with you.

WHEN TO RANGH PULLETS
 Pullets should be moved to range at 6 to 8 weeks (weather permitting) and shelter should be provided. Moving feeders and waterers weekly will reduce disease problems and spread the droppings for fertilizer. Call on us for facts about Purina's program for growing bumpy pullets at low cost.

SHADE AND WATER HELP CUT FEEDING COSTS
 Whether you're making pork, milk, eggs or beef, the same thing is true. Poultry and animals need plenty of fresh, clean water to produce efficiently. The better the weather

See 'Em Die
 It's the saddest thing that ever happened to a fly if you're another fly. Kill it like MAGIC. That's Purina Fly Ball. See it work in our display. Fly Ball will work on your place, too. Start Fly Control early.

VOLUME XLVIII Established 1908 SANFORD, FLORIDA MONDAY JULY 23, 1956 Associated Press Leased Wire No. 148

Sauls Re-Elected To Head Local Polio Chapter

John Sauls, chairman of the Seminole County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was re-elected to head the local organization for 1956-57.

Sauls has been chairman of the organization for seven years and has been named to serve as its head for the eighth consecutive year.

Climaxing the year's activities, Sauls was awarded a certificate for participation in chapter work for more than five years and presented a pin by Marion Jeffries, Southern Florida representative of the National Foundation.

Jeffries also presented a certificate for ten years of service and a pin representing the decade of work to Robert L. Deane, treasurer of the Seminole County Chapter.

Each of the certificates was signed by Basil O'Connor, head of the nationwide National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Other officers of the Seminole County Chapter named at the annual meeting last Friday, held in the Educational Building were: Wight Kirtley, vice chairman; Robert L. Deane, treasurer; and Mrs. Ruth Gallagher, secretary.

Prior to the election of officers by the Executive Board named by acclamation at the meeting, John Sauls gave his annual report on the activities of the chapter for the 1955-56 season.

The treasurer, Robert L. Deane reviewed money spent on polio victims and outlined the financial position of the chapter.

Marion Jeffries, National Foundation representative, paid tribute to the local chairman for his "great enthusiasm effort and energy put into the campaign for last year." Jeffries said, "He's done a great job."

A film "Unconditional Surrender" showing the story of the beginning of Salk Polio Vaccine and the battle to develop the widely used injection into the preventative for crippling paralytic polio was shown as a feature of the annual meeting.

Car Is Delivered
To Mrs. Nichols
Contest Winner

"That's the most beautiful car I've ever seen," said Mrs. Elda Nichols, local portrait studio operator and resident of Longwood as she saw for the first time the Mercury automobile she had won in the current Ed Sullivan's contest.

The four-door Monterey Phaeton Mercury, complete with tag attached and "shining like diamonds," was delivered to Mrs. Nichols last Friday morning and the keys turned over to her by Willie Hunt of the Hunt-McRoberts Mercury dealer here.

"It's so beautiful I hardly know how to describe it," as she saw the car driven around to the front of the building to be delivered.

It was a colorful occasion with Gregg Nichols, the winner's three-year-old son looking on, and fairly up in the air over the prospect of being the first "rider" to accompany Mrs. Nichols.

Color predominates with shining chrome trim backgrounded by classic white and coral flow-tone colors with matching coral colored upholstery.

The Mercury 4-door Monterey Phaeton is fully equipped, said Willie Hunt, as he presented the keys and dealers certificate to Mrs. Nichols.

Group Will Support SHS Athletic Program

Sports fans and others who are interested in activities of the students at Seminole High School will meet Friday night at the City Hall at 8 p. m. to form a club which they will be interested in fostering support of the athletic program of the local secondary school.

While a great deal is being done by the students themselves to generate enthusiasm, a group of local businessmen feel that more encouragement should be given by the adults of the city and its surrounding area.

The athletes at Seminole High School will be competing this year for the first time in a different conference and indications are that they will be in much faster company than in past seasons. Every effort should be made by everyone interested to see that the Sanford school gets on top of the heap as soon as possible, one man said.

It was pointed out that actually the high school athletes program is about the only sports locally available to fans and that for this reason alone, sports enthusiasts should support the activity. It will provide a brand of football, basketball, baseball and track that will be up-graded in direct proportion to the support given by businessmen and other parents, it was said.

In view of the civic nature of the endeavor, it is expected that the Board of City Commissioners and the civic clubs will join in the movement for "bigger and better sports at the high school."

Principal Andrew Bracken and Athletic Director Fred Ganas have said that they will "welcome with open arms" the cooperation of a group of loyal supporters.

House Passes Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today passed the hard-fought civil rights bill, sending it to almost certain death in the Senate.

The roll call vote on passage was 278-136.

Both Republican and Northern Democratic supporters of the bill, which would strengthen the government's arm in dealing with violation of voting and other rights, have said they expect political advantage from today's vote.

Anderson Will Be On Panel At Market
Managers Meeting

Sandy Anderson, manager of the Sanford State Farmers' Market, along with Henry Witte, formerly of Sanford and now manager of the Fort Myers Farmers' Market, M. E. Williams of Fort Pierce, T. H. Rivers of Immokalee, and W. A. Blanchard of Florida City, will take part in a panel discussion on the "Duties and Problems of Market Managers" at the 18th Annual Meeting of State Farmers' Market Managers to be held in Winter Haven July 26 and 27, according to an announcement released today by L. H. Lewis, director of Florida State Farmers' Market.

Assistant Directors R. B. Alvarez and G. B. Hogan will assist in presiding over the session, stated Lewis. All sessions of the meeting will be held in the Florida Room of the Florida Citrus Building.

The theme for her administration will be "Service and Understanding—A Bridge to Peace." Jean's sincerity of purpose, her friendly understanding, and her capability as a leader will surely do much to promote rewarding returns from Pilot's efforts to use service and understanding as a real bridge to peace.

Mrs. Conacher will be the presiding officer at the 1957 International Convention in Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

Pilot President Installed

Mrs. Sue S. Stevenson, president of the Sanford Pilot Club, said today on her return from the 35th convention of Pilot International held at the Hotel Fontainebleau in Miami Beach, that Jean Conacher of Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, was installed Saturday as president of Pilot International and is the first Pilot residing outside the United States to hold this office.

Others from the Sanford Pilot Club attending the convention were: Mrs. Harvey Swanson, Mrs. B. E. Chapman, and Mrs. V. C. Messenger. All are active members of the local club.

Mrs. Conacher had charge of the Governor's Council which was held during the convention and also presided at the meeting of the Board of Directors of Pilot International held July 22.

As President of Pilot International, a woman's classified service club composed of nearly 11,000 executive women in eight countries, Mrs. Conacher brings to the organization a wealth of experience in community, church, and civic service.

Having been appointed School Assessment Revising Officer for the Board of Education three years ago, Mrs. Conacher has the distinction of being the only woman School Assessment Revising Officer in cities having a population of 100,000 and over in the Province of Ontario, Canada. Having been employed by the Hamilton Board of Education for 25 years, she also holds the position of executive secretary to the secretary-treasurer and business administrator.

A native of Hamilton, Mrs. Conacher attended the elementary schools there. She also attended Central Collegiate Institute, Standard College of Business, and the University of Toronto.

Mrs. Conacher has been most active in church work, being a member of the First United Church of Hamilton and of Division Seven of the Women's Association of that church. She is a past president of the Young Women's Class and of the Young People's Association and has sung in the choir and taught in the Sunday School for a number of years.

President Conacher takes an active part in civic affairs, being a member of the Victoria Order of Nurses' Association, Crippled Children's Association, Women's Club, Local Council of Women (being chairman for professionals for women and serving on the Executive Board), and also a member of the Board of Directors of Lynwood Hall Children's Centre.

Legislature Urged To Adopt Collins' Segregation Program

Governor Appeals To Group

Senator Douglas Stenstrom, and Representatives Mack N. Cleveland Jr., and Gordon V. Frederick are in Tallahassee today where the Legislature convened in special session today to cope with the segregation problem and deal with a dozen other emergency measures laid before it by Governor LeRoy Collins.

Gov. Collins told the newly convened special session of the Legislature today that adoption of a five-phase segregation program he recommends would give Florida "the best plan of any state to cope with the problems confronting us."

In a carefully worded message, Collins appealed to the lawmakers not to resort to legislation or proposed constitutional reform in the segregation field outside the scope of the program offered.

To do so, he said, might weaken the program legally.

The program he recommended was drawn up by a committee of legal experts headed by retired Circuit Judge L. L. Fabianaki of Pensacola.

The Fabianaki committee recommendations are geared to preserving the state's public school system. They call for four bills to revise the 1955 pupil assignment law, enact a similar law dealing with teachers, increase the governor's powers to deal with disorder and use of public facilities and a proposed amendment to the U.S. Constitution to clarify states' rights.

"If this program is enacted, I shall, as governor, use the full measure of my abilities to see that it is administered to preserve the sovereignty of our state, to maintain our public school system and to assure peace and order so that our people of all races and creeds can live and progress in peace and harmony," the governor pledged.

He said committee members felt that additional action outside the scope of his call might weaken the legal efficiency of their program.

"I share this feeling and hope to see the committee's program given the test of supplying our needs pending the regular session of the Legislature next spring," he said.

"At that time, there will have been an opportunity to appraise the committee's program in operation and also to evaluate studies your interim committees will have made."

Rep. Prentice Pruitt of Jefferson County has announced he will seek to introduce an emergency amendment to allow residents of any county to abolish their public schools rather than integrate and to provide public funds for the education of pupils in private schools.

In addition to the segregation program, Collins called upon the legislators to enact emergency legislation in four other fields—improvements to the penal system and other state institutions, traffic safety, funds for the fight on the Mediterranean fruit fly and to curb wildcat real estate promotions.

Check For 25 Pints Of Blood Presented Dr. Bird By Elks

A check for 25 pints of blood to be used exclusively by Dr. Terry Bird for indigent patients was delivered to him by Ralph Wight, Chairman of the Elks Club Blood Bank Committee last Friday afternoon.

Wight, in presenting the check for the blood which will be drawn from the Central Florida Blood Bank, said that the Elks Club felt that in so presenting the 25 pints to Dr. Bird "we are doing a very valuable service to those who cannot furnish blood in emergency for indigent patients."

Roy Green, Exalted Ruler of the Sanford Elks Lodge said "This will, in no way, reduce our responsibility for furnishing blood to those who call on us in cases of emergency for the members of our organization."

Dr. Bird, receiving the check said "This will certainly be appreciated, not only by our staff, but by those indigent patients who need blood in emergency and by those who cannot otherwise furnish it."

Myron Reck, a member of the Elks Blood Bank Committee stated, "We now have 136 pints of our credit in the Central Florida Blood Bank." There were 161 pints in the Elks Blood Bank prior to this contribution, he said.

This is the first time that such a gesture has been made, Dr. Bird told the Elks Club committee and "you are to be congratulated for the wonderful effort that you are making."

D. Rountree Named Honor Boy Camper

Dickie Rountree, a x a x a phone player in the Seminole High School Band, was awarded the highest award given an individual at the University of Miami Summer Band Camp at the award banquet held July 19.

Dickie was awarded the Honor Boy Camper trophy which is presented to the individual who has been most outstanding in all phases of the camp work. The trophy winner is chosen by the staff, the counsellor and the campers themselves which totaled 150 this summer.

Other awards presented to Seminole High School Band students who have attended the camp are: Dickie Rountree, certificates for Outstanding Service, progress, and athletics; Wally Pope, certificates for Outstanding Service and Progress; Barry St. John, certificates for Outstanding Service; and Irma Jean Corley, certificates for Outstanding Service and Progress.

Dickie Rountree, Wally Pope and Barry St. John were members of the cabin which was awarded the Honor Cabin Award for the summer.

Board To Attend Talk On Promotion Of Canal

Members of the Board of San-year. Leaders in the often delayed Sanford-Titusville Canal expect a large number of citizens to attend tomorrow night's meeting in an effort to get additional promotion for the project underway.

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners was notified by letter at its last week's meeting requesting that its members attend the session in an attempt to create new plans and other approaches to get the project underway.

Attending the meeting tomorrow night at 8 p. m. in the City Commissioners Room at the Sanford City Hall will be Earl Brown, president of the St. Johns-Indian River Improvement Association and Col. Herbert Gee, Consulting Engineer for the organization.

The two visitors will be on hand to explain the program for the promotion of the canal.

Also invited to the meeting are various boat and ski clubs as well as all citizens interested in promoting the program for the project. The Coast Guard Auxiliary received an invitation from the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce sponsored meeting.

It is expected that the commission, boat club members and other interested citizens will be given a rundown of the investigations conducted by the Corps of Engineers relative to the Sanford-Titusville canal.

Many citizens have expressed an interest in the canal project because of its ultimate effect on the use of the St. Johns River and other outlets for barge and freight traffic on the proposed inland waterway.

It is understood that studies of the upper St. Johns River relative to the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control Project are yet incomplete. These studies, it is said, will fully evaluate all flood control and flood control related benefits which can be attributed to the Sanford-Titusville Canal. It is estimated that such studies will be completed by December 31 of this year.

S. Lowry Opposes Collin's Proposed Legislative Plan

Sumter L. Lowry, a candidate for Governor in the spring primaries, opposed Governor LeRoy Collins' legislature program proposed for the special session of the Legislature now meeting in Tallahassee.

In a letter addressed to Gov. Collins Lowry said "I call on you to do your duty to the people of Florida to use every possible means, including direct defiance of the Supreme Court of the United States, to preserve their constitutional rights and liberties."

In his lengthy letter to the Governor, Lowry wrote "I have studied the report of your Special Committee on integration dated July 16. This report contains a most severe indictment of the United States Supreme Court. I commend the committee for that part of the report."

Lowry continued his letter, "Your committee condemns the court in strong language for its decision forcing integration on the people. If this is allowed to stand it will destroy our American system of Constitutional Government."
