Senate Okays Pay Hike For Servicemen

WASHINGTON (UP) — Most members of the Armed Services today were all set for faster pay checks soon following the Senate's approval of a pay raise. Barring unforeseen hitch, the new pay rates should become effective June 1. The rates and other provisions of the new bill are designed to keep a career force in the armed services. The Senate passed its bill, 87-0, Tuesday. The House was expected to agree to a Senate-House compromise to adjust differences between the Senate measure and a 600-million-dollar raise previously approved by the House. A compromise is worked out in time for presidential approval.

Judge Volle A. Williams Jr., Circuit Judge, Ninth Judicial Circuit, represented the City of Sanford at the hearing Monday before the Board of Engineers, Rivers and Harbors in Washington, D. C. The City of Sanford provided Judge Williams with a resolution supporting the proposed Sanford-Titusville Canal. In delivering the resolution, Judge Williams spoke to the Board, headed by Major General Chan. G. Halle, in behalf of the construction of the canal supported by organizations, municipalities, and other groups, as well as nationally known individuals. His remarks, in their entirety were as follows: General Halle, Members of the Board:

Farmer Navy Men Stationed Here Plan July Reunion

Plans are underway for a July reunion of former Navy men stationed at the Sanford Naval Air Station during 1943-45. W. S. "Preacher" Allen, chairman of the sponsoring group, planning the reunion said that already some 15 Navy men stationed here "have agreed on a date during July." "We know there are some whom we would like to include, but names and addresses have been forgotten as some have not seen each other in 14 years or more," he said. The group is composed of people who are in different professions and scattered over the county. "Some will be traveling 1,500 miles or more for the occasion," Preacher Allen said. Allen, a former Florida newspaperman, is now affiliated with the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Boy, 5, Kidnaped While Playing In Front Of Home

MIDDLESEX, N. J.—A bus driver's five-year-old son was kidnaped from in front of his home by two women and a man Tuesday.

Police said the boy, Michael Sickle III, was riding his tricycle when the trio drove up in a pickup truck and spirited him away.

Early today, more than 18 hours after the abduction, no ransom note had been received, nor had anyone contacted the boy's father, Michael Sickle II, according to Middlesex Borough police. Police said the 57-year-old Sickle, a school bus driver, was a man of modest means and an unlikely prospect for ransom.

A neighbor told police she saw the truck pull up in front of the house with a man and two women inside. She said one of the women got out, took the boy by the hand and led him, crying, into the cab of the truck. The truck then drove away.

Moments later, the boy's stepmother came out and called for Michael, whereupon the neighbor told her of the abduction. Mrs. Sickle then telephoned police. Young Michael was described as having dark brown hair and weighing about 45 pounds. He was wearing blue dungarees, a blue coat, gray hat and brown overalls.

'C' Day Tomorrow 6:30 To 8:30 p.m.

Aims of the American Cancer Society were clarified at a meeting held in the recreation building, Fort Mellon Park. Mrs. Anne Biczowski presided.

"Primary aim is to go out of business. Of course, this would mean that there would be no more need necessary for cancer, and the disease would disappear. To that end thousands of workers must be enlisted to support the scientists who are trying to find a cure," the president stated.

On a local basis the local society attempts to educate the people about cancer and its danger signals, collect money to be used in research. The American Society owns no hospital; it determines the best and finally by the welfare department.

Board members present at the meeting were Mrs. Ruth Boutwell, Mrs. Ruth Gallagher, Mrs. Eva Hunt, service chairman, Dr. L. L. Larsen, medical director, L. H. Peterson of Tampa, executive vice-president of the Florida Division of the American Cancer Society, attended the meeting and spoke to the group.

Heading the list of volunteers is Mrs. Nancy Jolly, fund chairman at Scott Burns. "C" Day will be conducted May 1 from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m. Beta Sigma Phi Sorority is assisting the chapter.

'U.S. Railroads Sick' Declares CofC Speaker

"The railroads of America are sick," W. Thomas Rice, president of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, told a Seminole County Chamber of Commerce annual banquet audience last night. He later added that "it's your problem whether you ship or travel by rail or if you are a taxpayer." A battery of vice presidents heard the ACL president speak to the Chamber of Commerce audience in the history of the local organization meeting for the first time in the new Sanford Civic Center dining room. Accompanying Rice were P. J. Lee, ACL vice president; F. D. Lemmon, vice president-treasurer-director of the ACL; L. S. Jeffords, vice-president in charge of operations and L. F. Ormond, vice president.

"Your railroads are sick because they cannot compete in the market center of the nation," said Rice as he spoke of Senator George Smathers' instigation of an investigation into the condition of American railroads. The ACL president declared that "with present returns and present traffic the railroads would go into bankruptcy." "I say without fear of contradiction that the railroads opened the frontiers of this nation and now find themselves in an almost chaotic position, ask that they be allowed to compete—to use their inherited values," Rice said. "What we are asking for is this," the youthful ACL president said, "that the Atlantic Coast Line or any other railroad be allowed to bid for a job on an equal basis; the right to price our product and adapt our service to needs and conditions." The ACL President compared transportation services when he stated "Why can one form of transportation haul your product of the fields at an unpublished rate—let them haul on the same basis as the railroads." "Our policy is to be the best citizens, the best neighbors in the community in which we operate, but I'll tell you very frankly, we are not very healthy neighbors at the moment," Rice said. The principal speaker for the occasion was introduced by George Touhy, master of ceremonies for last night's annual Chamber of Commerce event. Prior to the ACL President's address, Clifford McKibbin, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, made his report of activities. McKibbin noted that industry was retained in Sanford and new industries were secured for the area. "In addition," he said, "we have established a promotion to attract retired people to Sanford and Seminole County." The Chamber of Commerce President paid tribute to the work of J. Bralley Oulham and his Long Range Highway Planning Committee, to John Kridler and his staff, Mrs. Camilla Bruce and Mrs. Georgia Hall. Others introduced last night included Representative Mack N. Cleveland Jr., Mayor and Mrs. Merle Warner, Mrs. George Touhy, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McKibbin, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Anderson, Chaplain and Mrs. W. C. Fuller, L. T. Oliver, Gen. Supt. J. J. Stafford, P. L. Harper, C. H. Ethridge, Roy Pascoe, J. L. Williams, R. L. Lightfoot, J. L. Kennedy, J. H. Pitts, Linton Allen and Dr. J. C. Buntin. Mervin Crandall was chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee planning the annual banquet event.

Pilot Remains In Flaming Jet To Save Major

ABILENE, Tex. (UP) — Air Force doctors today treated the wind-burned eyes and frostbitten face of young 1st Lt. James E. Obenauf, who remained in the open cockpit of a flaming B-47 jet bomber to save an unconscious comrade and the plane.

Obenauf, 24, piloted the aircraft 300 miles Tuesday with a sub-zero, 400-mile-an-hour wind tearing at his face after discovering a crewmember was unconscious and without a parachute.

The aircraft commander, Maj. James M. Graves, 38, of Fort Worth, Tex., and the navigator, 1st Lt. John F. Cobb, 35, of Elko, Nev., had already bailed out when Obenauf set the controls and started to jump.

On his way to the nose escape hatch, he stumbled over unconscious Maj. Joseph B. Maxwell, 35, of Portsmouth, Va.

Obenauf, who was in the cockpit, climbed back to the cockpit, freed Maxwell and headed the plane down and southeast toward Dyess Air Force Base at Abilene.

He landed the two-and-a-half million dollar plane on five engines 30 minutes after the fire started.

"Electrical Timing Device Will Be Shown Jaycees"

Jaycees will learn tomorrow how they can be "caught speeding" without a screaming siren and police officer chasing them. Sheriff J. Luther Hobby will demonstrate the new "electrical timing device" that was recently purchased jointly by Seminole County and the City of Sanford.

Used to time the speed of vehicles on highways, the electrical timing device has recently been put into operation on county roads and city streets. Sheriff Hobby will be the principal speaker at tomorrow's noon luncheon meeting of the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Czechoslovak ambassadors which would have amounted to recognizing the two Soviet satellites as equals of Britain and France.

In London U. P. diplomatic correspondent Joseph W. Grigg said the West today completed drafting its note, accepting separate talks as the "lesser of two evils" and would submit it to NATO for routine approval before delivering it in Moscow, probably Thursday.

Agree Reluctantly He said the brief note will: Agree reluctantly to the separate meetings.

Point out that this is a "cumbersome" procedure and likely to result in further heavy delays in getting summit talks under way.

Ignore the Soviet's alternate offer of meeting with Poland and Czech envoys, thus rejecting the claim without mentioning it.

Grigg said British officials, convinced at first the Russians were highly anxious for a summit meeting, have begun to modify this belief as a result of the Kremlin's latest maneuvers including the wrangle over Poland and Czechoslovakia, the curt rejection of the U. S. Arctic inspection plan, refusal to discuss disarmament and indications it may refuse a summit conference unless America calls off its H-bomber flights.

Compared With Nazis The Soviet's propaganda blast against the United States went as far as to compare U. S. military policymakers with the Nazis, and United Press correspondent Henry Shapiro reported from Moscow such "war mongering" charges were likely to continue right through the summit preparations.

Ike Urges Russia To Accept War Prevention Plan

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower today called Russia's denunciation of the U. S. Arctic war-prevention plan almost silly. He appealed again to Russia to accept it.

The President said the plan was put forward seriously and honestly in the U. N. Security Council to allay Russian fears about U. S. H-bomber alert flights over the Arctic.

He said the United States hoped Russia would accept the proposal as sensible and therefore perhaps a first step toward broader disarmament agreements. The President said his reaction to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's attack on the U. S. proposal was one of sadness.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko called the proposal for Arctic aerial inspection "sheer publicity" and said it was designed to collect intelligence from the Soviet Union.

County Cub Scouts To Put On Circus At Market May 31

One hundred and twenty-five Cub Scouts in Seminole County are planning a Circus May 31 at the Farmer's Auction Market on 17-92. Under the direction of Phillip Simpson, commissioner for Cub Scouting, the boys will present four main events, a slide show, games of skill, main ring and concessions. A meeting of the Circus Committee, consisting of den leaders, will be held tonight at 7:30 at the First Methodist Church. Responsibility will be delegated to each den at this time.

COPTER SAVES GIRL FEIBURG, Germany (UP) — A U.S. Army helicopter was credited today with saving the life of a four-year-old German girl. The copter, dispatched from Frankfurt on an emergency basis, flew Marlene Gormuller here from Goettingen for a life-or-death kidney operation. She was reported very ill today but out of danger.

C. C. Welsh, 57, Dies Yesterday; Funeral Tomorrow

Clarence C. Welsh, 57, prominent Sanford businessman for 35 years, passed away at Seminole Memorial Hospital at 2 p. m. yesterday following a comparatively short illness.

Mr. Welsh was born March 30, 1901 in St. Joseph, Mo., and came to Sanford 17 years ago. He made his home at 1019 Laurel Ave.

For 35 years Mr. Welsh owned and operated the Welsh Tire Shop here. He attended the Christian Science Church of Sanford. Mr. Welsh was very active in the work of the Lions Club and was a member of the club's board of directors. He was a past vice president of the local Lions Club.

He was a member of the Sanford Elk's Lodge, a member of the Sanford Masonic Lodge 82, a member of all York Rite bodies of the Masonic Lodge, and a member of the Morocco Temple, Jacksonville.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Vivian C. Welsh, Sanford; mother, Mrs. Edyth N. Welsh, Sanford; and one sister, Miss Zillah N. Welsh, Sanford. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at Brissou Funeral Home with Mr. F. Stewart Helmly, a Christian Science Reader of DeBary, conducting. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Armed Forces Day Committee Meets Tomorrow, 4 p.m.

A meeting has been called for tomorrow afternoon, said Joel Field, Sanford Postmaster, of all committee members of the Armed Forces Day committee.

Each organization interested in participating in the parade, said Field, is asked to attend the meeting.

The session is slated for 4 o'clock in the City Commission Room of the City Hall.

Construction and expansion along the inland waterways of the nation for the first quarter of 1958 points to a record that will exceed both 1956 and 1957.

There were 151 plants under construction or expansion during the first three months of 1958, as an indication that the number of companies selecting industrial sites close to the navigable routes of low cost barge transportation will continue at a relatively high level this year.

News of the gigantic push to locate on the navigable inland waterways was released by Braxton E. Carr, president of the American Waterways Operators, an organization which has been tabulating waterside industrial data since 1952.

"The availability of low-cost water transportation may be an important factor in stimulating expansion or construction in many companies which are now hesitant about making plans," the AWO president said in his release.

Construction reported during this year's first quarter is the highest ever reported in any first quarter and is below only the 173 waterside sites recorded in the third quarter of 1956.

The St. Johns River into Sanford is not the only dead-end waterway in the United States located in the inland waterway system of the United States. One particular river enjoying a peak industrial upswing is the Savannah River at Augusta, Georgia.

There are many others throughout the country—sound reasoning that Sanford should enjoy the results of its natural resources just as other communities take advantage of their potential.

George Gibbs of Jacksonville, a world traveler and shipbuilder, is one of Sanford's biggest boosters for the use of the waterway as a means of providing low-cost transportation.

There is no doubt that the Sanford-Titusville Canal will become a reality—its potential is too great to be left forgotten. But Sanford, in not taking advantage of its natural water resources, is leaving undeveloped the greatest industrial attraction in the State of Florida.

To realize those potentials for the community, however, takes interest and enthusiasm unleashed on every avenue obtainable to bring to a climax the plans and possibilities of Sanford's one way to become the industrial hub of Central Florida.

It can be done! It should be done!

Science Today

By DELOS SMITH
 United Press Science Editor
 NEW YORK — Scientific psychologists have produced the following composite picture of people who can't and don't control their liking for strong drink:

They're low in general confidence and in self-assurance. They avoid the unfamiliar and situations in which there is a probability of failure. They're "defeatist" and "retreatist."

They would prefer "total dependence to total independence." Indeed, they're "not weaned from the maternal household" and they want "protection and a benefactor."

True, they like to be with people, but it is largely "to be looked at." They want to be the center of fanfare and for that reason they choose activities which have color and glamor.

Listen. The Tennessee Coal and Iron Division of U.S. Steel reports 35 percent of its entire annual production of tin-plate is used by Florida processors for canning various citrus products: frozen concentrate, grapefruit and orange juice, etc. Merritt Islanders, who live close enough to Cape Canaveral to see blast-offs of the rockets, insist their grapefruit is unsurpassed for shape, size and flavor. And if you don't believe grapefruit are scarce just try buying some—in any volume—from the Pinellas County areas where they grow premium pomelos. (See above.)

Self-Preoccupied
 But they're not really social because they're too preoccupied with themselves. Their emotional contacts with other persons are not close because all that goes out from them is their talk, and all that comes in that is meaningful to them is fulfillment of their own wishes.

Socially they're irresponsible. They withdraw from the unpleasant and they're neither humanitarian nor altruistic. They don't take tension well, and they try to stay out of jobs and situations in which tensions develop. Their choice is to be "lousy" and happy-go-lucky."

The proings into alcoholic personalities were done by Maj. Ronald C. Force, psychologist of the Air Force. His subjects were young Air Force men convicted by court martial of crimes. They were to be "rehabilitated" with the idea of rehabilitation and a return to duty.

 The Air Force experience had been that alcoholics among its pri-

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia appears to be progressively hardening its terms for a "summit" conference on world issues.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has refused firmly to hold a joint meeting with the ambassadors in Moscow on preliminary arrangements for the conference unless Poland and Czechoslovakia also are represented.

Soviet vice premier Anastas I. Mikoyan has announced flatly that the agreement reached at the 1955 summit meeting in Geneva, Switzerland, on the reunification of Germany is no longer valid.

There is good reason to believe, on the basis of such developments as these, that the Soviet government is completely confident that it can compel the United States to agree to a summit meeting whether it wants to or not because of world pressure for any action that can relieve tension.

Roads Probably Right
 It appears to be increasingly probable, also, that the Soviet government will prove to be right. It will be recalled that the United States, Great Britain and France took it for granted, when they agreed to start preliminary summit meeting talks in Moscow, that Gromyko would receive their ambassadors together.

Instead he called in the American ambassador first, then summoned the British and French ambassadors next day.

This has been taken in Washington as designed, in part, to split the three Western allies.

There is no reason to doubt that Russia would like to do that. It is highly unlikely that any such attempt will be successful.

soners repeated their offenses, ones they were restored to grade, at a rate three times greater than that of non-alcoholics. The problem was to sort out the alcoholics for special attention—since alcoholics rarely admit to their alcoholism.

Force's job was to work out psychological tests which would show them up. All prisoners had to take a number of these tests before their retraining began.

Force reported the results to the Yale University Center for Studies on Alcohol.

But at least, the Soviet tactics are causing some disagreement on allied policy.

In Washington, the tendency seems to be to continue the preliminary summit negotiations by means of individual talks between

Britain Urges Inclusion
 But London dispatches said Monday that the British government is urging the United States to agree to the inclusion of Poland and Czechoslovakia simply as the easiest way to get the talks really going.

Russia has made its position plain. It wants to include Poland and Czechoslovakia ostensibly because as things are now it is outnumbered three to one by the United States, Britain and France in top-level negotiations on the summit meeting.

The real reason, of course, is to get the Western allies to accept Russia's east-European satellites on an equal footing with the Western powers. Actually they are puppets, and would be puppets in any conference.

We would like to get in contact with as many of these men as possible so that the sponsoring group of 10 or 12 persons, now business or professional men, can include them in the reunion plans.

Those interested in joining us for the reunion should contact the undersigned.

Citrus Mutual

BY JOHN SIKES
 Florida Citrus Mutual
 LAKELAND—The civic-minded folks around Tavares, a municipality whose lakes yield bass about as copiously as the surrounding groves grow citrus, have just launched their own brand of star into orbit, so to speak.

This they have done without benefit of the elaborate mechanism you might see at Cape Canaveral if the security guards would let you look, but through the facile pen, or typewriter, of Editor Glenn Bolles of the Tavares Citizen. And they have launched not a monster of electronics, but the tangelo, a hybrid citrus fruit combining the best qualities of the tangerine and the grapefruit.

Editor Bolles phrase-rockets thusly:
 "The tangelo is the Star of the citrus industry.
 "It is the most delicious and most beautiful of all citrus fruit."
 "And Tavares is the Tangelo Center of the World."

By way of laying claim to the Tavaresian eminence in the tangelo field, Editor Bolles points out that the Lake Region Packing Association, of Tavares, is the chief handler, in all of Florida of this variety of citrus.

He has statistics going for him. Lake Region's tangelo handling, beginning on a commercial basis with 3,781 boxes back in 1943-44, is expected to total around 200,000 boxes for the current season.

The tangelo came by its name fairly simply, although the "ELI" part may be obscure to laymen who don't know too much about citriculture. The "TANG" of course came from one of the parents fruit, tangerine. And the "ELO" from the last three letters of the word "pomelo", the generic term for grapefruit.

The tangelo has many of the easy-to-get-into qualities of the "zipper-skinner" tangerine, plus the juicy tangerines of the grapefruit.

Tavares, launching its star, won't mind if mention is made here that tangelo production on some 10,000 acres is widely scattered over the Florida citrus belt—from Manatee County through Hillsborough County to Brooksville on the West Coast; through Highland, DeSoto, Hardee, Polk and Orange, as well as Lake, counties along the "Ridge"; and includes some lesser plantings in the Indian River country.

IN QUOTE: "Economic conditions of the country at the present time may well be attributed to a state of mind and may be compared by Florida citrus growers to a situation of unrealistic downward price fluctuations that are completely man-made." — Bob Rutledge.

PEELINGS:—Ever realize how important the Florida citrus industry is to the prosperity of America's huge steel business?

Social Activities

Conning The News

We thought there was a pretty good turnout for the Mental Health Forum Monday night, considering the other activities in town, and the general lack of interest in well-meaning groups.

The time went quickly—and while all of us were anxious to get in a few words, the minutes were monopolized by those two great and practiced speakers, George Touhy and Doug Stenstrom.

This is no criticism of them, because both of them had something important to say. Did make the rest of us worry though, if we were asked to carry on as loquaciously.

The good people in the audience responded graciously—and when Dr. Ironides arose from the floor to give his opinions we wished for more time. Round table discussions on many subjects would be of great benefit to Sanford and Seminole County.

Almost everyone has a few good ideas that are never expressed for public consideration. "Brain-Picker" parties are now used extensively through the advertising world. A group simply sits around suggesting solutions for problems no one person can solve.

Naturally, they have to be interested, which would make the group smaller and more amenable. The Advertising Council says it works for them. We could use it too, if there were the opportunity. Sort of like the old "town-meetings" when no one would stay away.

Now we let a few people do our public thinking for us, and are forced to accept their decisions as right—they may be—we haven't been there to hear the facts.

As far as the Mental Health Association is concerned—they have the interested people, and made strides last Monday night in educating the audience.

Particularly interesting, I felt, was the announcement that two Seminole County schools would have special instruction next year for groups of gifted and retarded children. Brevard County has accepted this plan in all their schools. If it goes over here, we will too.

And when nearly everyone in the audience raised his hand to give an affirmative answer to Doug's question about a mental institution in Seminole County, we really felt as if something had been accomplished.

The fourth hospital is now being built. Another one is planned, and South Seminole County is the logical spot, because of its central location. With 3000 new residents arriving in Florida every single week, it is obvious that additional facilities will be mandatory almost immediately.

By the way, Mrs. Sidney Ives, "Mrs. Trouble" for the Mental Health Association, was unable to attend the meeting. Mrs. Ives has recently been discharged from the hospital, and as is her nature went over-tired.

Consequently, many questions were unable to be answered. Mrs. Ives, by the way, in her new consulting service receives phone calls for "Mrs. Trouble."

Mrs. V. Roberts Elected Chairman Of State Group

At the 26th annual convention of the St. Augustine Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, N. C. C. W. Mrs. Vincent Roberts was elected chairman of the Diocesan Board Study Club for the state of Florida.

Mrs. Roberts returned recently from West Palm Beach, where the convention was held. She is also treasurer of the Orlando Central Diocese and an active member of the Sanford Catholic Women's Club.

OSTEEN—Mrs. Margaret Shivers was elected president of the Osteen P. T. A. during a recent meeting.

Other officers included Mrs. L. W. Jones, vice-president, Mrs. Gerald Hosack, secretary, and Mrs. J. S. Peterson, treasurer.

Dottie Williams Honored Recently

Dottie Williams was honored Friday, when a graduation luncheon was given for her by Mrs. J. Danforth Wright Jr. Dottie is a member of the 1958 graduation class at Seminole High School.

Red gladstoll and amaryllis lilies decorated the Wright's Loch Arbor home. The table was covered with a beautiful Italian lace cloth. Place cards marked the guests' chairs. A gift was given to the honoree by the hostess.

Attending the luncheon were Linda Anderson, Diana Fletscher, June Jennings, Valerie Kirchhoff, Sandra Lee, Marcia Loecherl, Peggy Jane Lundquist, Carol McNeill, Elaine Mims, Shirley Morgan.

Federation Of Women's Clubs Holds Luncheon In Altamonte

By Lucy Cady ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Approximately seventy-five guests attended the luncheon given by the Seminole County Federation of Women's Clubs last Thursday at the Altamonte Springs Community House.

The proceeds are to be contributed to the Teacher's Scholarship Fund which was founded thirty-seven years ago. This was the first time the Federation has used a luncheon as a means for fund raising. All monies are placed in a revolving fund.

Even though the day turned out to be the hottest April 24th in fifty-five years it did not detract from the savory food, beautiful and original flower decorations, and the pleasing organ music provided by Mr. Lee M. Seger from Cooper's & Gregory Music Co., Orlando.

Mrs. J. D. Morrison, in charge of all arrangements, seemed to be here, there and everywhere as the festivities got under way at 11:30 a. m. Mrs. Harry Mason, chairman of the refreshment committee, with her aides Mrs. H. G. Fuller, Altamonte Springs.

Mrs. N. V. Farmer, president of the Sanford Women's Club, reported that many well known members were in attendance. Particularly noted were Mrs. Myrtle Wilson of The Business & Professional Woman's Club, Mrs. Francis Merlweather, chairman of the Scholarship Fund, Mrs. Don Harris, Altamonte and five members of the Pilot Club of Sanford.

Many of the guests took advantage of the opportunity to learn more about the intricacies of playing an organ as Mr. Seger expertly explained some of the many sound effects which can be attained in the playing of this particular organ.

At 1:35 p. m. the magic hour arrived for the drawing of the lucky ticket designating the winner of the spring ensemble furnished by Yovell's of Sanford. Gertrude B. Gilbert 709 Palmetto, Sanford, was the lucky lady.

Calendar THURSDAY Installation of officers at Southside School during regular P. T. A. meeting. Classroom visitation will begin at 7:30 p. m., followed by the business meeting at 8 p. m. April Is National U.S.O. Month Here

In any one of several states during USO Month in April—or any time during the year—a visitor to USO clubs might be surprised to observe an informal group of young women excitedly exchanging recipes ranging from stinkyaki and spaghetti sauces to sauerbraten and amersghor.

Although at first glance the observer might imagine that this was an informal meeting of international gourmets, further inquiry would disclose that the gathering was a citizenship class for foreign-born wives of servicemen—a highly interesting USO service.

Now active in Kansas, North and South Carolina and Texas, local USO clubs, backed by professional and volunteer staffs, have taken on the often overlooked but unquestionably necessary job of helping wives from Europe, Asia and other continents adjust to the complexities of American manners and customs—in addition to their regular occupational problem of adjusting to new faces and surroundings.

Summed up, it might be said that citizenship classes are a USO's way of helping the service wife assume the benefits of the American way of life as effortlessly as possible.

One such group was graduated recently at the Junction City, Kansas USO. There were sixty-two foreign-born wives in the group, including girls from Germany, Italy, Japan and Sweden. They not only learned the meaning of the Constitution and Bill of Rights, but equally important, made friends with each other and with American wives stationed nearby.

The group soon picked up American colloquialisms, adopted American habits and lost no time at all in shopping for American clothes. The recipe exchange followed just as naturally.

USO not only guides these new Americans in the ways of this country, but helps them out with baby sitters, shows them how to operate the newest appliances and gadgets that come with modern kitchens, and, when the family budget is low but the need for companionship high, provides them with a home-like place to go evenings.

Many of the graduates of USO's citizenship classes are now on the high seas, bound for new assignments with their husbands and children.

Through USO efforts, these new Americans carry with them pleasant memories of their adopted country and happy recollections of the hours spent in study and companionship at USO clubs.

Maple sugar and syrup are among the oldest American farm products.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALTY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (27)—Nobody can do more for you than to start to know that a guy who pitched for a Class B ball club in the Southern States League last year...

The boy was described by his manager as "the ticket" for the year. The parent club gave the boy his release.

Then this boy, who was carrying $90 a month, fell and hurt his pitching arm just about the time he got the news that his wife was going to have a baby.

So Stanley Frank Musial became an outfielder and the rest is baseball history.

History, it must be added, which he is rewriting every day with the bat in his right hand.

Now the Musial is 27 and striking his 100th full season in the major leagues. That original $70 a-month salary has skyrocketed to $7,000 a year. And Musial still looks forward "one or two years" to have a baby.

It could be more, the way he's playing.

Musial currently has batted out of the starting nine in part of his eighth National League batting championship, which he grabbed last season after a five-year lapse.

But the way he is hitting, it is a cinch that he will pick up additional laurels this season by moving up into the distinguished class of those who reaped 3,000 bays.

It's indicative of Musial's place in baseball history that only seven men accomplished this—Ty Cobb with 4,191; Tris Speaker, 3,815; Wagner, 3,660; Eddie Collins, 3,511; Nap Lajoie, 3,351; Paul Waner, 3,158 and Cap Anson, 3,061.

Now Musial has 2,997 hits starting this season and his 26 homers made his current total 2,961. He has "dropped out" to an average of 280 bases a year in the last three campaigns. Yet, matching that production will move him far ahead of Anson and he could even catch Wagner this season.

Two more years at that reduced pace would give him a chance of moving all the way up to the all-time second place.

Meanwhile, his fast getaway already has made him the new National League leader in total bases, wiping out Mel Ott's 22-year effort of 5,041. And every hit which Musial adds moves the mark that much farther out of the reach of some future batting star.

The very Musial hasn't been out at the plate in any of the St. Louis Cardinals' first 11 games this year. This despite the fact that he is a notoriously slow starter.

It's a tip-off on what a man can do when he sets his heart to it. Just how the 19-year-old Stanley Frank Musial did in the long run when he injured that erratic pitching arm.

Whatever Happened To CHARLEY YATES

By UNITED PRESS

Charley Yates, who came out of Atlanta not long after fellow townsman Bobby Jones retired from competitive golf, was one of the nation's outstanding amateur golfers for several years beginning in the mid-1920's.

At Georgia Tech, Yates won the National Intercollegiate Championship in 1925 and later won the Southern Amateur among other sectional crowns. In 1926, Charley bagged the British Amateur championship at Troon, Scotland, and played on several victorious U. S. Walker Cup teams.

Whatever happened to Charley Yates? Now in his early 40's, he is vice president of a textile manufacturing company and is active in civic affairs in his home town of Atlanta.

D. Snider Fails To Get Home Run In Nine Games

By ALEX HARR
United Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (27)—If there are any tears to be shed over the dimensions of the playing field in Memorial Coliseum, shed them for Duke Snider, the Dodger slugger who in nine home games has failed to get a home run, President Walter O'Malley said today.

Under league rules the barrier could not be changed this season. O'Malley pointed out that when the field was laid out as the temporary home of the Dodgers, the club deliberately made the left-field line the shortest one to keep from being accused of tailoring the park to suit their own hitting star, Snider, the left-handed hitter who pulls to right.

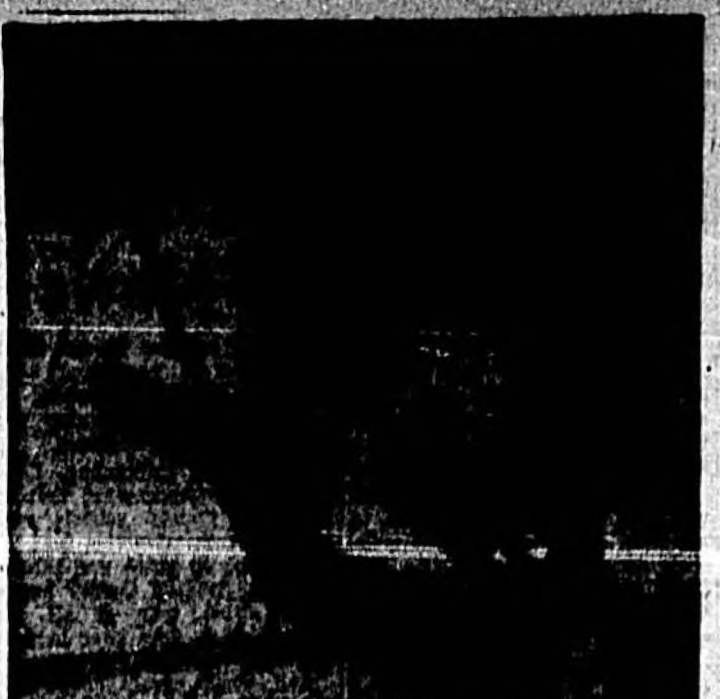

Despite that, the Dodgers have been under severe criticism for cheapening the value of home runs with the 250-foot left field foul line and the 48-foot screen which backs it up. In the nine games the club has played at home 28 homers have been hit and 20 of these have been over the left field screen.

Of these, Dodger opponents hit 13, and the home club 7.

O'Malley, Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick, National League President Kenesaw Mountain Landis, NL batting king Stan Musial and all in agreement that despite the short left-field playing area Babe Ruth's home run mark of 60 is in no particular danger.

One of the greatest hitters of all times, Rogers Hornsby, feels that if batters deliberately try to get on the screen they may throw themselves into slumps that could prove disastrous to their averages.

Manager Walt Alton of the Dodgers isn't particularly worried. He feels that as the pitching improves fewer homers will be sailing over that left-field bar-

TOM BROWN will perform on the trampoline Friday night as part of the program for Family Night at Seminole High School. The new recreation court, which was built and financed by the P.T.A. will be dedicated. (Staff Photo)

Darlington Gets Baton Finals

DARLINGTON, S. C.—The Miss Dixie national baton twirling championship finals have been awarded the Darlington Police Youth Activity association for May 9 in Darlington.

Seven divisions ranging in ages from four to 18 and from the eleven Southern states will compete for the right to enter the national finals at Indian Lake, Ohio, in August.

J. P. Privette, Darlington's chief of police, made the announcement. This group sponsors beauty contest at Darlington Raceway each Labor Day. "We have sought this contest since the Model 500 mile stock car race was inaugurated at Darlington," Privette said, "as a pre-race feature. We will have it on an annual basis."

All funds raised go toward the Darlington County youth activity fund which has already built Lake Delphi, a youth recreation center near Darlington.

The Dixie contest is the final event before the nationals in Ohio. Winners in ten classes will be eligible, along with state champions, to advance to the finals. Miss Carolyn Willis, Chesterfield, S.C. rose to national fame in 1935 and 1936 when she captured the state, Dixie and national crowns. Five hours of eliminations will be held at the Darlington high school stadium starting at noon Friday. Finalists will then compete at the Raceway until champions emerge. Besides trophies, medals and the trip to the national finals, the winner of the Miss Majorette of Dixie will be automatically entered in the fall Miss Southern 500 beauty contest and will lead the Southern Festival parade in Darlington.

Engineering Jobs Not As Plentiful Now

By FRED DANES
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP)— Engineers in the class of '58 can expect to be absorbed by industry, but it may take a little more time than in past years.

A United Press spot check of some major engineering schools reveals that the June crop will not, for the most part, be able to walk off the campus and into a job. Production cutbacks have tightened up the job situation.

One student who is completing college on a scholarship provided by a large chemical company recently learned the bad news: sorry, the company has no opening for him at present. He's still looking.

Various authorities report the larger companies no longer are hiring "spare" engineers as they did in recent years.

Walter Kelly, director of placement for New York University's School of Engineering, said the number of firms interviewing June graduates is down from 300 to about 120.

Cancellations in Aircraft
 "Most of the cancellations came from the aircraft group, but there are a few suppliers involved, too," said Kelly. "Those that are interviewing appear to have cut their manpower requirements considerably," he added.

"In general, graduate engineers last year averaged three to five offers, some as many as 12. This year, the top graduates get three to five offers. The others start from scratch," said Kelly.

There is no significant change in engineers' salary. Last year's starting average, based on a month, is expected to hold up for this year.

William Cavanaugh, executive secretary of the Engineers Joint Council, said $4,800 bachelor degrees will be awarded in engineering this June. This is 2,000 fewer than had been forecast.

Herbert P. Cottle, director of placement at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., reported, "There is a good deal of holding back as far as hiring goes."

Down 25 Per Cent
 Thomas W. Harrington, Jr., placement officer at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said "Demand for graduates is down about 25 per cent from last year. But there still are more jobs than there are engineering graduates. This year, though, they may have to take a job other than the one they'd hoped for."

Dr. Donald Clark, placement bureau head at Cal Tech reported:

"Job prospects for 1958 graduates will be very tight." He noted there will be 25 fewer companies interviewing graduates this year than last but a late fall pick-up is expected, when new government missile contracts begin to be felt.

A more optimistic note was sounded by Florence West, director of the placement bureau at the University of Southern California. "They're still looking the same as ever," she said of company interviewers.

At UCLA, Asst. Dean Warren A. Hall said, "The job situation is considerably tighter. Companies are looking for the cream of the crop."

Around Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP)— Around Manhattan:

The world's earliest negligence has embarked on a "tour" of U. S. department and specialty stores to help call attention to the Brussels World Fair.

The negligee, valued at $10,000, is out on Empire lines, is of pale apricot silk chiffon, skirted in antique white bruges lace. International Latex commissioned a New York theatrical costumier to make the glorified housecoat. It didn't disclose the ultimate fate of the garment, but pointed out the lace is "museum worthy."

Vivier designs the Dior shoe collection. He came to New York to preview the fall line. He showed the medium height heel, shaped to look higher, for both daytime and evening.

A veteran fashion editor reports that with her masculine readers, the role is also to one against the chemist. Virginia Pope of Parade said she invited the men to write in what they thought of the sack silhouette which has taken over in the garment industry. In one week, she received 2,000 letters from Maine to Hawaii. "I haven't had such an avalanche of mail in 40 years in fashion," said Miss Pope.

Comments ranged from "absolutely ridiculous" to "hideous" to "somebody goofed." One man wrote "If a fashion makes a woman look like an abandoned slob, she should have sense enough to reject it."

"Makes a potato out of a tomato." Another frate male commented.

Knowland Starts On Experiment

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. William F. Knowland is well started on a venturesome experiment which could remodel Republican Party political strategy.

Knowland is a candidate for this year's Republican gubernatorial nomination in California. There and in the Senate where he is GOP leader, Knowland is irascible in a dangerous area where most of his Republican associates fear to tread.

That is the area of organized labor. Pending now in the Senate is Knowland's proposed legislation to enforce democratic practices in labor unions. Before California's voters as part of his campaign platform is Knowland's similar proposal for state legislation.

Defeat in Senate
 At the state level, however, Knowland goes further than in proposed federal legislation. Knowland favors state right — to work legislation and opposes compulsory unionism. Knowland's luck in California will not be known until election day. In the Senate, however, Knowland will be licked when his "labor bill of rights" comes to a vote. Some Senate Republicans will help lick him.

If Knowland should be elected governor of California next November, GOP strategists probably would take another look at their party's labor policy, if such exists. Such as it is, the Republican policy is one of appeasement although back in 1947, under pressure from the late Robert A. Taft, congressional Republicans did enact the Taft-Hartley Act.

Organized labor's leadership went all-out against that legislation, which they called a slave-labor law, and against Taft as its principal author. The fascinating political aspect of that development became evident in Ohio's 1950 senatorial election.

Taft Showed Way
 Big labor put all it had into the 1950 effort to beat Taft, who was a candidate for re-election. Men and money poured into Ohio to defeat the principal sponsor of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Taft swept Ohio. He carried every industrial county. To do so, the senator had to have the votes of thousands of union members who, obviously, rejected their leadership. Taft's frontal attack on abuses within organized labor paid off big.

Taft wholly rejected the timid Republican strategy of appeasement, perhaps on the theory that no imaginable degree of Republican appeasement would divert the leadership of organized labor from alliance with the Democratic Party.

Knowland, a Taft disciple who was hand-picked by the dying Ohio senator in 1953 to succeed to the GOP leadership, hopes to achieve in California what Taft achieved in Ohio.

MASS GRAVES INVESTIGATED
WARSAW, Poland (AP)— Poland announced plans today to conduct an official investigation of the mass graves of war prisoners near Zagan and inform countries to which the dead men belonged. The graves are believed to contain the bodies of about 30,000 men who had been held in the German camp Stalag VIII-C.

For a change, there's favorable comment about woman talk. One authority on charm says the gift of intelligent gab is a requisite for feminine beauty.

Anyway, that's one of the lessons a former schoolmarm is giving her newest pupils—the 250 stewardesses for Pan American Airways. The airline hired Anne Leinbach, of Reading, Pa., to give its hostesses lessons in charm and also keep them hip to current events.

"Intelligent conversation is the secret ingredient of being beautiful," said Miss Leinbach this week as she went to work. The instructor, whose teaching career has included both grade school and charm school, said today's stewardesses should "know what is going on in the world we fly over."

One Paris shoe designer predicts a long life for the pointed toe and skinny heel in women's footwear. Roger Vivier, designer for 25 years, says no other type of shoe is quite as becoming with either the chemise or trapeze silhouette.

Apopka Man's Cow Sets Record

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced the completion of an outstanding official production record by a registered Holstein cow owned by A. J. Rusterholz Jr., Apopka, Fla. The cow produced 21,375 lbs. of milk and 480 lbs. of butterfat in a three-year period.

The University of Florida, working in close cooperation with the national Holstein organization, supervised the weighing and testing as a part of the Herd Improvement Registry program. This official testing program, commonly referred to as HIR, provides continuing lactation and lifetime production records on every cow in participating registered Holstein herds. Registered Holstein breeders in all 48 states are currently utilizing this basic information, provided by their official records as a tool in the wise selection of individuals, families and bloodlines necessary to continued improvement of their herds.

Mayor Merle Warner, today, proclaimed the month of May as "Radio Month" in Sanford as he signed a proclamation pointing out that "radio stations render a service of great value to the families of Sanford and Seminole County by making available to them in their home sources of uniform, fine entertainment and consistently accurate information." The Mayor stated "... radio stations continuously prove themselves dependable, communications links with our citizens on the move, serving as sentinel, adviser, and friendly traveling companion." He concluded his proclamation by calling on the citizens of Sanford to "take note of the achievements of our radio stations and to salute the men and women associated with them."

Four exciting water ski shows will be presented daily at 10:30, 1:00, 3:30, and 4:15 featuring graceful ballerinas on skis, World and National Champions on the high jump, a human kite where a skier soars into the air on a giant canvas kite, and, of course, many clowns performing antics on skis. Plenty of free parking space will be available with attendants to aid in the parking of several thousand cars.

Citizens Urged To Observe 'Law Day' Tomorrow

In a proclamation signed yesterday by Mayor of Sanford Merle Warner, citizens were urged to observe May 1 as "Law Day U. S. A." "Individual freedom under law is the birthright of all Americans," the proclamation stated. "Laws and courts exist to protect every citizen, in his person and property, and in the individual rights and privileges he enjoys under our federal and state constitutions."

"It is the liberty and equality for the individual which distinguishes our system of government from communism, under which millions of people are today living in slavery. Without law and courts the freedoms we often take for granted would be meaningless." Sanford lawyers will conduct special programs for "Law Day" with civil organizations and schools. This is the first national celebration of its kind ever held.

Marine Chief Protests Reorganization Plan

WASHINGTON (UP)—The commandant of the Marine Corps protested today that President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan might open the way for giving the Marines "the bum's rush."

Gen. Randolph M. Pate told the House Armed Services Committee he felt "real apprehension" that language in the proposed bill might permit a future defense secretary to "rationalize" the Marine Corps out of a job.

The committee, which will be the first congressional group to pass on the President's plan, received written answers from Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy to three questions posed while he was testifying last week.

McElroy assured the committee that the Marines, as well as the Army, Navy and Air Force, would "retain their respective individualities" under the President's plan.

Pate said he endorsed "wholeheartedly" many parts of the proposal. But he expressed "grave concern" about one provision which would repeal laws prohibiting the transfer, reassignment, abolition or merger of combat functions which Congress has assigned to the individual services.

McElroy said in answer to one of the questions put to him that he speaks repeat of the "roles and missions" provision of present law to help "eliminate overlapping in combat functions."

"... the advent of modern weapons has eliminated the clear distinction which could at one time be made between combat on land, combat at sea, and combat in the air," McElroy said. This, he said, has led "to overlapping which is confusing and wasteful, and has underscored the vital need for unified direction."

The President said Wednesday night Congress should not revise his reorganization proposal to make it too "rigid."

He made the statement in a surprise appearance at the closing banquet of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce annual meeting.

The Housing committee heard Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, testify Wednesday that he had "misgivings" about some language in the President's bill.

College Quartette Makes Big Hit At Kiwanis Club

A college quartette known as the "Unionaires" made a big hit yesterday with the Sanford Kiwanis Club as they appeared before the group to sing some of the selections heard by audiences throughout the south during their present tour.

The group of boys from Southern Union College at Wadley, Ala., included a Sanford student, John Carter.

All members of the quartette are freshmen at the college. Others in the group were Gene Holliday, Columbus, Ga.; Bill Camp and John W. Hansell both of Wadley, Ala.

The quartette of boys are also members of a Kiwanis Club sponsored "Circle K" group on the college campus.

Selections by the quartette included "Go Down Moses," "Fol De Riddle," "Jesus Walks This Lonesome Valley," "I Believe," and "Beautiful Savior."

The Rev. Douglas Watson, youthful vice president of Southern Union College, told the Kiwanis Club yesterday, as he introduced the quartette members and emceed the program, "We are on tour to help people get a basic knowledge of what we do."

He explained that Southern Union College is a co-educational institution but "the majority of our students are male." It is the only school going out of its way to give low income bracket students an opportunity to attend college, he said. "In its 34 years of existence," said Watson, "the school has never refused a student an opportunity to attend college."

Dr. Fred Ensminger of Sanford, Union College, introduced the Rev. president emeritus of Southern Union to the local Kiwanis Club.

Marla Bumgarner of Sanford accompanied the quartette at the piano.

Program chairman for the day was Jerry Senkarik.

Explorer Scouts Tour Squadron, Hear Lectures

Troop 244 Explorer Scouts, sponsored by the Elks Club of Sanford, visited the VAH-3 Squadron spaces, at the Sanford Naval Air Station, and received a complete tour and lecture by men of the shop.

Some of the highlights of the tour was a complete explanation of the ASD "Skywarrior" and a look at the cockpit. Chief L. E. Fay and Aviation Machinist Mate Second Class J. L. Douglas, who are both third crewmen, lectured this part of the tour.

They also heard a survival lecture given by Parachute Rigger Third Class W. E. Laverick. The thing that seemed to impress the scouts most was the tour of the Armament Control System Shop where Fire Controlman First Class G. Bogwals demonstrated the equipment and also allowed the scouts to operate the Shop Mock Up of the gun director system and the bomb director system.

Grammar School Schedules Play Day Tomorrow

"Play Day" will be held tomorrow at the Sanford Grammar School. The children will put aside their books to participate in games, contests and relays, supervised by the faculty.

After lunch, a movie will be shown in the auditorium. Contest winners will be revealed in the newspaper.

"Play Day" is an annual field day, demanding the same attendance as any other day.

Board Defers Action On Proposed Canal

WASHINGTON—The Army Engineers, River and Harbors Board, today deferred action on proposed construction of a canal from Sanford to Indian River.

It said that District and Division Engineers had submitted an unfavorable report and more time is needed to study information submitted at a recent public hearing in Washington.

This action by the Army Engineers came as a result of a hearing held in Washington last Monday at which 24 proponents of the canal construction appeared to testify and request immediate action in the planning, construction, and completion of the proposed Sanford-Titusville barge canal.

Officials of various organizations supported the construction of the Sanford-Titusville Canal waterway seem to believe that the action taken by Army Engineers in Washington is "favorable toward the canal" and will lead to the eventual approval of the project.

Members of the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors who heard the evidence at the recent hearing in Washington are: Maj. Gen. Charles G. Hollie, Chairman of the Board; Maj. Gen. Louis J. Rumanag, Division Engineer, North Central Division; Brig. Gen. William F. Cassidy, Division Engineer, South Pacific Division; Brig. Gen. Alden K. Bixby, Division Engineer, New England Division; Col. Rudolph E. Snyser Jr., Division Engineer, Ohio River Division; Col. Clarence Renshaw, Division Engineer, North Atlantic Division; and Col. Gunnard W. Carlson, Resident Member, Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, Washington.

No definite date has been announced for a final decision by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors on the Sanford-Titusville Canal Project.

However, proponents of the canal's construction believe that an early decision will come from the information and details submitted as evidence at the Monday hearing.

Search Launched For Missing Crew

HALIFAX, N. S. (UP)—An air search was launched today for seven men missing from the burning trawler Sheila Patricia. Six of the crew from the disabled ship were rescued.

The 13-man crew abandoned the trawler when fire swept the fishing vessel. Three managed to get in a lifeboat and six were taken off by the vessel Zebula. There was no trace of the other four crewmen and the lifeboat has not been sighted.

An Air Force spokesman said it had been thought earlier that the fishing vessel Zebula had taken 10 men off the burning trawler, but a later report said only six men were rescued.

The spokesman said the Zebula was taking the six survivors to Petite de Grat, a fishing village on the southern tip of Cape Breton.

The Sheila Patricia was sighted some 15 miles west of Cape Canso, N. S., simultaneously by the Zebula and an Air Force Lancaster. The Zebula moved alongside the stricken trawler and picked up the six crew members.

Hubert Grandy captain of the Zebula, owned by Fisheries Ltd. of Newfoundland, was told the fire started in the galley of the Sheila Patricia and spread to the engine room, which was immediately abandoned. He said a lifeboat was launched while the trawler was still under full power ahead and only three men managed to get in it before the Sheila Patricia left it behind.

C. J. Dunbar, captain of the Air Force Lancaster, from 101 Rescue Unit Torbay, Newfoundland, said he and other aircraft would continue the search for the missing crewmen.

The Sheila Patricia was sighted some 15 miles west of Cape Canso, N. S., simultaneously by the Zebula and an Air Force Lancaster. The Zebula moved alongside the stricken trawler and picked up the six crew members.

Hubert Grandy captain of the Zebula, owned by Fisheries Ltd. of Newfoundland, was told the fire started in the galley of the Sheila Patricia and spread to the engine room, which was immediately abandoned. He said a lifeboat was launched while the trawler was still under full power ahead and only three men managed to get in it before the Sheila Patricia left it behind.

Indonesian Rebel Bombers Blast Ambon; 12 Killed

SINGAPORE (UP)—Indonesian rebel bombers blasted the island of Ambon Wednesday for the second time this week, killing 12 of the 20 crewmen of a Panamanian freighter caught in the area, it was reported today.

Rebel sources said oil installations on the East Indonesian islands were "completely destroyed" in the attack.

Singapore's new rubber company received a radio report that nine crewmen of the freighter Flying Lark, which it had chartered to an Indonesian company, were killed in an air attack near Ambon. A company spokesman said other reports reaching here indicate the toll may have totalled 12.

The rebel sources said "some" shipping was damaged in the Ambon raid, and that a "big freighter" was sunk in another attack on the Pulu area. They could not confirm, however, that the Flying Lark was one of the ships hit.

An earlier report said U. S. ambassador to Jakarta Howard P. Jones visited foreign minister Subandrio Wednesday to discuss the government's mounting anti-American campaign.

The Antara Loyalist News Agency said Jones was cloaked with Subandrio on a flight after Premier Djardja had charged that American and Nationalist Chinese "adventurers" are piloting bombers for the rebels.

Guardsmen Fight To Save Homes From Floods

By UNITED PRESS

National Guardsmen and volunteers fought to save farm homes south of Garland City, Ark., from floodwaters today in the wake of five straight days of violent weather in the Southwest.

Weathermen predicted no relief for rain-soaked Arkansas and Texas today. The forecast was for showers and thunderstorms from Texas east through the Gulf states to the south Atlantic coast.

The worst flood threats were at Garland City in southwest Arkansas and at Dallas, Tex., where the Trinity River overflowed a lowland addition.

About 300 National Guardsmen, Air Force personnel and civilians worked through the night sandbagging a levee on McKinney Bayou south of Garland City.

15 inches of Rain

The bayou, swollen by more than 15 inches of rain since Sunday, already has inundated about 60,000 acres of low farmland.

Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus ordered a second National Guard unit to the scene in an effort to prevent a second break which authorities said would flood the homes of 1,000 farmers in the Garland City area and inundate another 60,000 or 70,000 acres of land.

At Dallas, the Trinity threatened to crest today at 34 or 38 feet, and about 100 families moved from their homes near the river. Police made a house-to-house canvass of the threatened section Wednesday night, warning all 600 residents to seek shelter on higher ground.

The mayor of Ft. Llania, Tex., near the Louisiana border, proclaimed the city a disaster area Wednesday after nearly 15 inches of rain had flooded the city since Friday. All schools were closed and several families were evacuated.

A "small" tornado hit the town of Henderson in east Texas Tuesday night, causing some property damage, and hail storms also hit the area.

Elsewhere in the South, more than one inch of rain fell last night at Jackson, Miss., and Monroe, La., while .86 inch was reported at Shreveport, La.

In the North a new mass of cold air invaded North Dakota and northern Minnesota on the heels of a record cold air wave over the Midwest earlier in the week. Overnight readings in the north central portion of the nation dipped into the 30s.

In Michigan, where the cold wave caused damage estimated in the millions of dollars to orchards, predicted ahead of the cold air new weather troubles appeared with the outbreak of forest fires. About a dozen forest fires were reported in the northern part of the state.

Forecasters said the cold air was expected to sweep eastward today, blanketing an area from the Dakotas into the Great Lakes region. Some light showers were predicted ahead of the cold air advance.
