Entire French North African Situation May Be Reviewed Soon

By United Press
An important review of the entire situation in French North Africa may be in the making.

Both France and Tunisia have accepted an offer by the United States and Great Britain to use their "good offices" in settling the grave dispute which arose from the French bombing of a Tunisian village.

It seems certain that any discussions must involve consideration of the Nationalist revolt in Algeria, which led to the bombing.

France may be expected to stick to its position that the Algerian situation is strictly internal French problem.

But its acceptance of the offer of the Anglo-American "good offices" is likely to lead to an attempt from a new angle to solve the Algerian situation itself, which is the big problem at issue.

This new attempt need not be made with the direct help of the United States and Britain.

More probably, it might be made by France with the aid of Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba.

Revels Views
Bourguiba is regarded as completely pro-Western in his views, and he is openly friendly toward the Algerian rebels.

It was the fact that Algerian rebels were operating from bases in Tunisia that led to the bombing of the Tunisian border village of Sakiet Sidi Youssef in which, according to latest reports, 90 persons including women and children were killed.

France as well as foreign opinion was shocked by the bombing.

Premier Felix Gaillard naturally has tried to defend the French armed forces by blaming Tunisia's support of the rebels for the attack.

But it has been established that the raid was made by order of the local commander of the French Air Force across the border from Sakiet Sidi Youssef. The French government and high command knew nothing of it until afterward.

The order was a fragile blunder. But it was due to the frustration and resentment of the French armed forces over their inability to attack the rebels who are operating from the "privileged sanctuary" of Tunisia. There seems no reason to doubt the French official statement that a rebel machine gun had fired on 16 occasions from the rooftop of the Tunisian government administration building in the village over a period of six months before the bombing.

The United States and Britain offered their mediatory services primarily in an attempt to avoid an ugly debate on the bombing in the United Nations.

Bourguiba has complained of the French attack. Then he complained that the Algerian situation was a threat to world peace. France had complained against Tunisian aid to the rebels. Nobody would profit from a U. N. debate on the situation except Soviet Russia.

Now, the way seems to be open for a new approach to the whole North African situation.

Sanford Rotarians at their regular weekly meeting yesterday afternoon at the Yacht Club, heard a talk on the Seminole Memorial Hospital by its administrator, Harry M. Weir, and witnessed the induction into the club of six new Rotarians by C. L. Redding, chairman of the Rotary information committee. Welcomed into the fellowship of the local branch of the international organization were: —the Rev. Robert H. Spear, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene; E. C. Harper, Jr., Robert J. (Bob) Crumley, Earl Crittenden, Henry Wight and James A. (Jim) Shipman.

Weir, in his talk given in observance of the second anniversary of the hospital this month, mentioned some of the accomplishments of the institution, stressing particularly the fact that the hospital was fully accredited within one year of its opening. "The aim, of course," said the speaker, "was to achieve the ultimate in excellent medical and hospital patient care." He paid tribute to the members of the Women's Auxiliary which has grown from 100 to over 200 "pink ladies". In the two years in which they have rendered a tremendous voluntary service, the total "man" hours exceeded 30,000, which, in dollars and cents, at $1.00 per hour, is contribution of over $30,000.

Weir spoke of some of the problems of the hospital, and of the criticism which often comes in dealing with the public. National and international publicity was accorded the hospital, he said, in a recent issue of HOSPITAL MAGAZINE. He gave many statistics, which, according to club president Myron A. (Mike) Reek, were interesting, showing the growth in the number of patients from opening day, until the present. He closed with the following quotation from Thomas Huxley:—"The rung of the ladder was never meant to rest upon; but only to hold a man's foot long enough to enable him to put the other somewhat higher."

Frank Evans of Lake Mary, originator of Pioneer Night, called the club's attention to the 33rd annual celebration scheduled for Saturday night at Lake Mary. Many visitors from all parts of the country were cordially welcomed by Dr. Phil Westgate, club Sgt.—at-arms. George Touhy gave the invocation.

EDUCATION BILL SEEN CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver D-Tenn. predicted today Congress will pass a bill at the present session giving federal aid to scientific and technical education.

"The need for scientific and technical training is now so clear that at least in that field the federal government is predicted to provide financial help," he said. Kefauver made the prediction in a speech prepared for delivery before the Chattanooga Engineers Club.

PANMUNJON, Korea (UP)—Communist North Korea today rejected a United Nations demand for return of a hijacked South Korean airliner. It seemed certain the Reds planned to use the 31 persons aboard as blackmail for recognition of the Red regime.

Two Americans and two Germans were aboard the plane which disappeared into North Korea Sunday.

The Republic of Korea Red Cross cabled the International Red Cross in Geneva asking help in effecting return of the plane's occupants after the Communists rejected the U. N. demand.

U. S. Navy Capt. George W. Kehl of Kittery Point, Maine, presented the U. N. Command demand for return of the plane at a meeting of the joint U. N.—Communist Secretariat here in the neutral zone dividing the two segments of Korea.

North Korean Col. Kim Choon Kyung bluntly rejected it.

Kim claimed the two engines of the Korean National Airlines entered North Korea "voluntarily" in a righteous action to escape the war policy of the American imperialists and the puppet Syngman Rhee clique.

Therefore, he said, return of the aircraft was not a matter for the military armistice commission to discuss and it should be taken care of in "direct" negotiations between the South and North Korean governments.

North Korea has tried unsuccessfully for years to promote direct contact between the North and South governments. South Korea's President Rhee has stonily refused to recognize either the armistice or the Communist "puppet" government in P'yongyang.

The missing plane was piloted by Willie P. Hobbs, 36, of Vallejo, Calif. Its copilot was Lt. Col. Howard W. McClellan of Buchanan, Mich., an Air Force officer aboard to get in some flying time.

The plane landed at an airstrip about 25 miles north of the North Korean capital after bypassing its destination at Seoul and crossing the demilitarized zone.

Kim refused even to accept a U. N. command list of the passengers and cargo aboard the plane.

Longwood Area Jaycees application for affiliation with the State Jaycee organization was approved Saturday morning by the State Executive Committee at the Florida Jaycee conference held in Gainesville.

The Longwood Jaycees became the 109th Jaycee organization in the state.

President of the Longwood Club is Dick Zartman.

Representing the Longwood Club at the conference were Bill LaRue, Russell Grant and Tyrus Hicks.

Those attending the conference from the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce were M. L. Babson Jr., Art Harris, George Andrew Speer, Tom McDonald, Bob Bratzel and David Klingensmith.

A resolution passed by the state organization at its conference will require reflectors to be attached to the side of all railroad cars.

Highlights of the conference was the presentation of the five outstanding young men of the state. Receiving the award from University of Florida President J. Wayne Reitz were: Richard Getstein, Coral Gables states attorney; Scott Kelly, Senator from the 7th District; Wallace Leiford, health investor and real estate broker; L. P. Gibson, forester from Perry; and Robert W. Wilson, Clearwater attorney.

Sanford City Commissioners at a special called meeting last night arrived at several conclusions important in the development of the City.

It was one of the lengthiest meetings of recent date concluding at midnight after a continuous four-hour session.

The commission stipulated its decision in the sewer disagreement with the Sanford Housing Authority.

Sold to J. Bralley Otham, were 55 acres of city-owned land in the south section of the city for a proposed school and subdivision site. The acreage sold for $300 an acre on March 1 and the balance prior to May 15.

The commission also discovered that it had lost track of a $17,500 city building fund which had been absorbed into the construction program of the capital improvement fund. "We've all been rocked," Commissioner David Gatchel said, when it was discovered that there were no monies available for the construction of 7th Street from Melville to Sanford Aves.

As a result of the discovery, the meeting was adjourned until Wednesday.

Engineers Seeking Township Approval

Engineers representing a 3600-acre development in Seminole County asked for tentative approval of a preliminary sketch of a proposed township located between the Longwood-Oviedo Road and the Sanford-Oviedo Road.

Earl Vaughn, engineer representing the North Orlando Company, and of the John O'Brien Engineering Company, said that the project development is in full swing with much equipment already being put to use.

"We would like an expression of approval or disapproval of our overall plan," he said as he placed a sketch of the first section of the basic development before county commissioners.

"We are trying to make a development people will be proud of," the engineer stated and that the "FHA" don't like the requirement for alleys. The matter of getting money for a development is very important," he said.

Commission Chairman John Krider said the engineers "don't think it would be wise for us to give you an opinion before our engineer and zoning commission have reviewed it."

Attorney George A. Speer Jr. represented the North Orlando Company. Also appearing before the commission for a decision was the general manager of the development, Frank L. Fasula.

Vaughn, in describing the project to commissioners, said "We have provided areas for parks, commercial building sites, churches, schools and other necessary areas for public use."

Fasula said "the project will get underway as soon as an approval is received of our sketches. It all depends on what action is taken here today," he said.

Pincrest First Graders Visit Navy Base Friday

Pincrest first graders witnessed Navy operations first hand when they visited NAS Sanford last Friday noon. Accompanied by teacher Mrs. Gladys Jene Wood, and room mothers, Mrs. McCallie, Mrs. Hubley and Mrs. Pec, the first graders arrived aboard the Air Station at 1100 where they were met by Lt. E. H. Dohne.

The group then visited the NAS parachute loft where they were acquainted with the latest in surgical equipment. Immediately following, the visiting party of first graders observed the Grumman F4F Panther Jet by sitting in the cockpit in turn until all had actually sat in the cockpit. Later, the party adjourned to Lake Golden where they ate their lunches picnic style followed by cake from the Public Information Office Division.

Tonight's Freeze May Be Worst Of Winter

LAKELAND (UP)—Forecasters Warren Johnson warned growers that tonight's freeze may be the worst of the winter in many areas of the state.

He forecast lows of 14 degrees in the pockets of the Suwannee and Gainesville districts and 20 degrees in the colder locations of the growing areas from the Everglades district northward.

"In many places tonight will be colder than it was on Dec. 12 and 13, our first freeze of the winter," Johnson said.

The morning temperature bulletin warned that temperatures in low ground groves of the central districts will be 25 degrees by 8 p. m. and 32 degrees by midnight in farming areas of the southern districts.

The severe freeze comes at a time when growers are running out of wood and fuel oil for heating their groves. Johnson said that many citrus grove owners have given up trying to save the fruit left on the trees and are concentrating only on saving the trees don't want it to stay down that low or lower for very long.

Many citrus growers in the northern part of the citrus belt have had to fire 20 nights so far this winter and they may have to fire several more before spring.

"They have so much invested in trying to save their groves that they can't give up now," Johnson said.

Temperatures dipped to 41 in Miami early this morning, setting a new record low for the state. The previous low for a Feb. 18 was 47 in 1930.

$1 Million Bond Issue Gets Preliminary Okay

LAKE CITY (UP)—The State Road Board today gave preliminary approval to a proposed $1 million bond issue to finance eight road projects in Seminole County.

Funds from the sale of the bonds will be used to acquire rights of ways and finance some actual construction.

Before the bonds are actually sold they must be approved by the Florida State Development Commission and the State Board of Administration and validated by the courts. The bonds will be retired with the surplus gas tax funds of Seminole County.

Proposed projects for Seminole County are: the widening of West First St. from French Ave. to the Interstate Highway System immediately east of Monroe Corner; a new bridge over the St. Johns River at State Road 413 and the merging of State Road 415 with State Road 46.

Another project of actual road construction will be the widening and paving of Sanford Ave. from the city limits to the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Board Will Hear Zoning Appeal

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners will sit Thursday afternoon, for the first time, as a Board of Adjustments to hear an appeal for a variation from the present zoning regulations of the county.

The commission will hear a request from the Rev. H. M. Snow that his church be allowed a variance from the zoning regulations requiring parking areas for a proposed building in the Pincrest area.

This is the first action of the board since being appointed by resolution at the last meeting of the group.

The Rev. Snow claimed, in his appeal for the variance, that negotiations for property and for the construction of the church were in progress at the time the law became effective. He asked that the requirements "be set aside."

Board Reverses Action On Alleys

County commissioners today reversed a previous action requiring alleys to be provided in all subdivisions.

"I have had all kinds of telephone calls," Commission Chairman John Krider said. There have been calls from developers, interested persons, and from the zoning commission regarding this requirement.

Krider revealed a letter which had been received from the Zoning Commission chairman, Raymond Hall stating "Developers have told me that they could not proceed if the requirement for alleys is upheld."

William A. Kratzer, engineer for Seminole County, said "It's a practical deal, with some liking alleys and others not liking them." Krider told the board of commissioners "once we establish at-

Berle Wants Public To See Other Side

By FRANK DANZIG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Milton Berle, subdued and reflective at 48, rarely holds court anymore with his jester pals at Lindy's.

Instead of jacking it up into the wee-hours at the comedy Broadway bulge, "Uncle Miltie" now takes his nourishment at the Oak Room at the Plaza, a calm, richly decorated, tradition-soaked room frequented by substantial people of the arts. And at night, when he's not busy writing a novel, he goes to sleep, early.

Dressed in a dark gray-blue sharkskin suit, with a Navy blue tie between a button-down collar, holding a telephone globe-size cigar, his hair now gray at the temples, Berle spoke of his next TV appearance—a straight dramatic role in "Material Witness," on NBC-TV's Kraft Theatre Wednesday night, Feb. 19.

"People think this is something new for me. But they forget I started as an actor, in vaudeville," Berle said. "In those days, you started as an actor and became a comedian. Today, it's different. You start now as a comic and then, if you get the chance, you learn to act."

"Comedy," Miltie went on, "is a lot like drama. Your shifts have a beginning, a middle and an end. It's all based on truth, with touches of humor for the laughs of course. Even a comedian's on-line gag must be rhymed properly to have a dramatic buildup, a dramatic structure."

"You know," he added, breaking that broad Bugs Bunny-style grin, "some of my comedy shows were very dramatic things. That's a funny line!"

Back to being serious.

Comedian In An Actor

"A comic is a comic. A comedian is an actor," Berle said, leaning back in a solid oak-and-leather chair. "Put a comic into a straight dramatic setting and, generally, it doesn't work."

He's doing the Kraft show because he wants the public to see "the other side" of him, Berle said. "They think of me as a comedian and forget that before TV, I did 19 Broadway shows, 18 or 20 pictures. And a lot of the parts were straight. As a kid, I did dramatic roles with Douglas Fairbanks and Corinne Griffith."

His TV future, Berle said, will probably consist of a couple of guest shots a year for the next year or two. "I'm not terribly interested in a regular show. Not that I'm disinterested. It depends on many things. I did 360 shows in eight years and it was a big race. I'm more interested in occasional guest appearances—and that still includes room for comedy."

Pills Quiet Fears Of Dogs, Cats

By RICHARD LANEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
SALT LAKE CITY (UP)—Neurotic dogs take note; tranquilizer pills are for you, too.

That's the word from Dr. Charles O. Seward, a veterinarian from Bremerton, Wash., who has been conducting clinical analyses on one type of tranquilizer for dogs and cats. He addressed the recent convention of the International Veterinary Medical Association.

Even dogs, he pointed out, suffer from supposedly "human" ailments such as arthritis, lumbago, aches and pains. Tranquilizers won't cure those ailments. But they make it so the pet doesn't mind so much, while other drugs are used to treat the specific illnesses.

Tranquilizers, Dr. Seward said, also are good for the "Fourth of July fright"—the fear that some pets have of exploding firecrackers and other loud noises.

Home Factors

To calm the pet, a veterinarian can give it a tranquilizer.

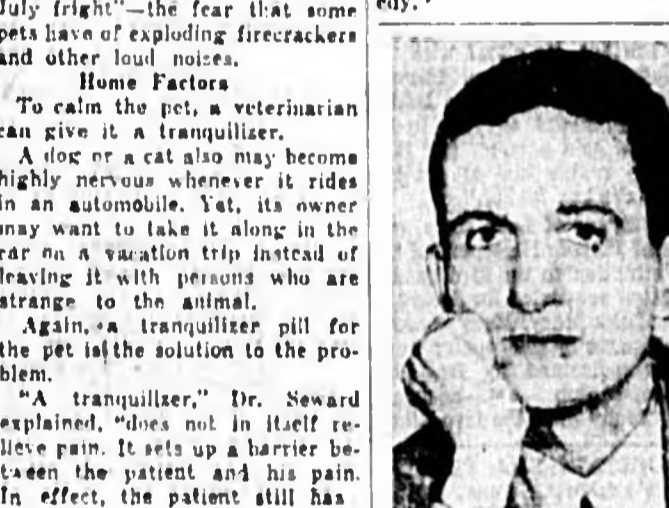

A dog or a cat also may become highly nervous whenever it rides in an automobile. Yet, its owner may want to take it along in the car on a vacation trip instead of leaving it with persons who are strange to the animal.

Again, a tranquilizer pill for the pet is the solution to the problem.

"A tranquilizer," Dr. Seward explained, "does not in itself relieve pain. It sets up a barrier between the patient and his pain. In effect, the patient still has pain but the pain does not distress him."

Neurosis in dogs and cats, the veterinarian said, is quite common "due to disturbing factors in the home."

Siamese cats are particularly vulnerable to neurosis and will often bite their own tails or indulge in wool-eating; that is, they will get a wool blanket or sweater and literally eat it. A tranquilizer will stop this in short order.

Crusoe's Island Bids For Tourists

BY PATRICIA GRAY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)— If you'd like to throw off worldly cares, you might try the tiny island off the coast of Chile made famous by Robinson Crusoe.

If it doesn't turn out as you'd hoped, you could fly back to civilization in a matter of hours—beating Crusoe's time by some four years and four months.

A Santiago travel agency is boasting the island, known variously as Mas A Tierra or Santa Cecilia, as a tourist resort, according to the Organization of American States.

A present day visitor to the tiny island of the Juan Fernandez Archipelago might, if he believed in them, be greeted by the ghosts of some famous sight-seers of the past.

Good Lobsters
Conquistador Vasco Nunez de Balboa, Ferdinand Magellan and Sir Francis Drake all dropped in at one time or another in their travels. Two renowned scientists—Samuel Darwin and James Cook—also put in an appearance there.

Mas A Tierra was a favorite base of operations for buccaniers, and legends of buried treasure abound. Spanish galleons with cargoes of bullion from South America were often way-laid in the region.

As late as 1956 the island made news. There were reports then that the island was sinking into the Pacific.

Reports had it that herds of zebras, descendants of ancient ancestors that kept Crusoe and his men, Friday, clothed and fed, cropped the scanty vegetation of the land so closely that it was eroding into the sea.

The island lies 350 miles off the Chilean Coast and is only three air hours from Santiago's Los Cerrillos Airport.

Its chief attraction is its lobsters. They are taken to the mainland and specially built schooners, then flown to all parts of the world.

One costume made for Francis I of France back in the 16th century had more than 13 thousand buttons.

The Lighter Side Of Congress

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—

The lighter side of Congress: Close to 300 of the 531 members of House and Senate are estimated to be getting out weekly newsletters to their homelands. These frequently are done in the form of "columns" ready for printing in the local papers.

Runs of 5,000 to 10,000 copies of these literary gems are not at all uncommon. In many cases the publishing effort has gotten so big the congressional authors—or their ghost writers—resort to facilities of the Capitol folding-room to get them into the mails.

Here machines stuff the copies in envelopes, which previously have been run off on the members' addressing machines. Then the envelopes are automatically licked and sealed, and the postman does the rest.

Sen. Norris Cotton R-N.H. is one member who has known all along about keeping his readers smiling. This week he was writing about the Senate's new space committee. This group, he noted, has been directed to investigate "all aspects" of outer space, and to report its findings by June 1. "Who says the Senate is slow?" he mused. "By next year we'll be debating statehood for the moon."

The Senate Anti-Monopoly sub-committee was considering problems of competition in the auto industry. Sen. Joseph C. O'Malley D-Wyo. asked Chrysler President L. L. Colbert: "What, for example, is keeping Chrysler back of GM and Ford?" Replied Colbert "GM and Ford."

Rep. Bruce Alger is Texas' only Republican House member, among 21 Democrats. But he claims to have friends on both sides of the aisle.

He quotes a prominent Democrat, whom he tactfully refrains from naming, as making him recently a gracious and sincere offer as follows: "I'll come down to your district, Bruce, and speak for you or against you, whichever will help you most."

A young foreign service officer, nominated to the corps for the first time, was being questioned by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Surrounded by other recent graduates running heavily to Phi Beta Kappa, he confessed unhappily that his college average was a mere C.

"That's all right," consoled Sen. Russell B. Long D-La. "When I was in law school they always used to say that the A students made the professors, the B students made the judges, and the C students made the money."

Nomination approved.

Monster Steals Show From Glamor Girl's Movie

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)— There's nothing like a monster to play hob with a glamor girl's movie scenes, says pet Mala Powers who co-stars with a particularly nasty fiend in a new movie.

No matter how sexy or lightly clad the heroine, audiences invariably ignore her when a monster prowls the screen. Thus, it is a rare cutie who will agree to appear in horror pictures.

Everyone remembers King Kong and Frankenstein, but not one person in 10,000 can recall the actresses they terrorized in their pictures.

"Working with babes and animals is bad enough," Mala lamented. "When it comes to scene-stealing the monsters are in a class by themselves."

Youngster Appears Too
Mala confessed she also has a youngster to contend with in her latest epic, "The Colossus of New York." He is Charles Herbert, 9.

At that age it would take all the monsters in Movieland to turn his head away from the lens.

"This is my first monster picture, and I would just as soon it were my last," Mala went on.

"Actresses never have very good roles in science-fiction movies. All we do is stand around and look frightened."

"I'm luckier than most. In this one my husband dies and I get to cry a little."

Overtaken by a sudden twinge of loyalty to Paramount Studios, Mala said, "I must say 'Colossus' is different from most horror stories because the audience will feel sorry for the monster."

A Mechanical Man
The Colossus is a ten-foot high mechanical man with a human brain, a sorry combination at best. Unlike Frankenstein and other lovable beasts, the new monstrosity is not frightening in appearance. But his disposition makes up for his placid appearance.

"I guess a good monster picture never hurt anyone, but I don't want to specialize in them. I can't remember any actress winning an Oscar for appearing with Boris Karloff," Mala said.

Like scores of other young Hollywood actresses Mala can't find top-notch roles in movies. Pictures increasingly lean toward strong masculine stories to please teenage audiences, leaving the fair sex high and dry.

"The market for love stories has disappeared," Mala concluded.

"Action pictures, westerns and science fiction are the rage now."

The last time I played a romantic lead was in 'Cyrano De Bergerac,' and that was eight years ago."

There Is Fear Of A Vicious Circle With No End In Sight

Everyone who reads that the President's budget for the 1959 fiscal year calls for the appropriation of $78.9 billion — a peacetime record. But even this, as Henry Hazlitt points out in his Newweek column, doesn't tell the whole story of federal spending. Certain major expenditures, including social security and highways, come out of special governmental trust funds, and are not included in the general budget. So, Mr. Hazlitt says: "... actual total expenditures will be more than $80.7 billion."

The President's estimate of receipts for 1959 shows that there will be a half-billion surplus, despite this enormous budget. But that, Mr. Hazlitt says, may well be based on error. Last year, for example, the President both overestimated income and underestimated outgo. Where a surplus of $1.8 billion was anticipated, there will, instead, be a deficit when the 1958 fiscal year ends next June 30. Mr. Hazlitt observes that: "... the President wishfully estimates budget receipts from the same taxes at $2 billion more in 1959 than in 1958." Yet business has been declining, and even optimistic forecasters do not expect an upturn for months to come. Revenue estimates could easily prove much larger than the actuality. Then, there is a distinct possibility that Congress may finally come up with a budget calling for larger appropriations than the President has asked for.

Going on, Mr. Hazlitt deals with the non-defense items in the budget. These are — save for "general government" appropriations — higher in every category than those of late years. The total is $28.1 billion, and $2.5 billion for the highway program, which is carried as a separate fund, will go on top of this. By comparison, nondefense appropriation came to $28 billion in 1958 and $25 billion in 1957.

The defense phase of the budget, as proposed, calls for a very substantially increased appropriation for missiles and other new weapons. There is certainly perhaps a probability, that Congress will demand still greater increases in this as in other fields. Mr. Hazlitt does not believe that the military budget, as a whole, is secure from violation. He cites the Hoover Commission and other reports which indicate that "... there is huge extravagance and waste..." in the military establishment.

Going back to the nondefense features of the budget, Mr. Hazlitt finds that there is no problem in knowing where the cuts can be made. In his view, there are wide open opportunities for economy in the fields of farm subsidy ($4.6 billion), foreign aid ($5 billion), and veterans' benefits ($5 billion). However, he is not hopeful — as he writes: "... but all this has been pointed out many times before — to an avall."

This is one man's view. But it is a view which is becoming more and more widely shared. There is a growing fear that we will return to deficit spending, and this will be followed by more severe inflation, and that the inflation, in turn, will bring about still higher budgets and still more deficit spending.

In other words, there is fear of a vicious circle, feeding upon itself, to which there is no foreseeable end.

Rather Have A Car Or A Bath?

It is refreshing, in this period of worry about sputniks and foreign aid and such, to find some are keeping their heads. At a recent three-day gathering of the Women's Housing Congress in Washington, one hundred housewives from nearly every state rated a second bathroom "The most important home improvement" — even over a second car.

The Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association, one of the sponsors of the congress, said the housewife's motivation was the search for bathroom privacy to lessen family tensions and frustrations. This is certainly a slap in the face for the Russians, who are still struggling to get the average man set up with his first car and first bathroom.

In all justice, we feel that the congress (woman's, not politicians,) is on the right track. Even though the plumbing fixture boys are not exactly disinterested parties. Consider. You can do without a car, but you can do without a bath? There are all sorts of substitutes for a car. Buses, taxis, even walking — the last resort.

But — do without a bath? Never! This nation has made the bathroom into a shrine over the past few decades. We have had cleanliness drummed into us for years by the deodorant interests. In fact, being nice to be near has become more important than just being nice.

Time, you can sleep in your car on a patented bed. You can even shave there. You can visit drive-in movies, banks and eateries. But you cannot, you definitely cannot take a bath in your car. The Women's Housing Congress is absolutely right! Another bathroom all round, if you please, and to heck with the sputnik!

Every now and then some one hobs up with a renewal of the suggestion that a federal lottery be used to help pay mounting government costs. Even if feasible, it probably would necessitate another bureau costing more than the lottery profits.

People who blow their own horns have always overdone it, but never quite as much as since the motoring era started.

Lourdes Offers Spiritual Benefits

By LOUIS CASSELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
One hundred years ago last week, a 14-year-old peasant girl named Bernadette Soubirous set out from the village of Lourdes, France, to gather firewood along the banks of a stream in the Pyrenees Mountains.

She came home with a story that baffled and disturbed her parents—a story that many people are still unable to believe. Bernadette said she saw a vision of the Virgin Mary in a stone grotto. Her experience was repeated 17 times in the next few weeks. During one of these visits to the grotto, Bernadette dug with her hands in the rock—at the instructions of the vision, she said—and uncovered a spring.

CAIRO (UP)—Egypt's National Assembly has unanimously approved the 175 million dollar aid pact with Russia as expected.

In approving the pact Monday, the assembly passed a resolution thanking Russia for the aid. Minister of Industry Aziz Sidki, who signed the agreement in Moscow last month, said the pact "had no political strings attached." The money, considered the backbone of Egypt's current five-year industrial plan, is to be paid back over 12 years at two and a half per cent interest.

draws many Protestants and non-Christians—a total of some two million visitors a year. Lourdes has become a shrine because thousands of desperately sick people have become well after plunging into the icy waters of Bernadette's spring.

Fifty-four of these cures have been formally accepted by the Catholic Church as miracles. The church's standards for proclamation of a miracle are very strict. They require, among other things, that the patient must have been suffering from a clearly organic ailment, such as cancer or a bone deformity rather than any condition like paralysis that might have a psychosomatic cause.

Requires Medical Proof
There also must be detailed medical documentation, including laboratory tests, of the patient's physical condition before and after bathing in the spring. Followup medical examinations are conducted for at least three years after the alleged cure to ascertain that it is permanent. A medical bureau at Lourdes examines all pilgrims who claim to have undergone miraculous cures.

Since this bureau was set up 22 years ago, it has recorded more than 3,000 recoveries from disease or deformity which doctors

Nuclear energy is a subject that most of us know little about. We know that our scientists are playing around with powerful forces capable of terrifying destruction as well as untold good for mankind.

Our youngsters goggle about firing synthetic-space guns and we know that man-made satellites encircle the earth. Scientists suck on their pipes and calmly predict the date that we will send a man into outer space or an expedition to the moon.

Subjects that were purely science fiction a few years ago now become realities. Most of us don't know what it is all about. The average mortal mind is incapable of

Letters To The Editor

Sanford, Fla.

Dear Editor:
The "Power of the American Press" is shown by your "Scientist Says Could Put Satellite In Sky" in your Dec. 10 issue; and "To Power Rockets, Satellites In Sky," Atomic Fuel is Visualized"; and your editorial "A Practical Dreamer's Dream" of Dec. 16; and Congressman Syd Herlong Jr.'s United Press note of his wire in the Nobel Prize Committee, "Orlando Usurped In Nobel Prize"; as the attached letter from the National Science Foundation, and a copy of Mr. Farley's letter to the President of our University of Florida will show.

If you would like to publish the first lecture which I have prepared to give before the members of the faculty of the University of Florida at such a time that I am invited. I hand it to you herewith. I believe that it contains some very grave implications to which many of your readers would like to give more thought.

It is not human nature to try to find a man with brains enough to do a person's job as well or better when getting $15,000 a year as Charles W. Morris is getting as research professor, or the $25,000 a year of Dr. Peter S. Itagan III as chairman of the department of psychiatry, or the other well paid members of the faculty of our University of Florida. Their apathy toward anyone with a "new truth" that might place the antiquated theories which they are teaching has a dollar and dime significance. But my discoveries are copyrighted and my inventions will never be patented until I am through using them, so I am not after any of their jobs — and only decent pay for the use of my copyrights, and to help our country in this World War Three.

Such overpay for educational frills might have been tolerated before our lives were threatened — just to encourage Ph.D.s with a good thing. But I am wondering if anyone who can think wants such squandering of our tax money right now.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

Troubled France and its former protectorate of Tunisia reached a critical point in their relations this week.

It has long been known that the rebels in neighboring Algeria, who have killed down 300,000 French troops in a costly, frustrating campaign, were operating from bases on the Tunisian side of the border.

Fifteen times since last September, French military authorities reported, French Air Force planes had been fired on by heavy machine guns installed on the Tunisian administration building in Sakhiet-Sidi-Youssef.

After the 15th attack the local French commander warned that the next one would bring retaliation. The 16th attack was made the next day.

Twenty-five French planes were sent to attack "military objectives" in the village. But they hit targets of all kinds, including a school. Sixty-eight persons — men, women and children — were killed and 100 wounded.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba recalled his ambassador to France. He demanded that France remove the 20,000 to 25,000 troops he said it stationed in Tunisia. He asked for a meeting of the United Nations Security Council.

World opinion was shocked by the attack. The French government tried at first to minimize its seriousness. But the damage and the dead bodies constituted

The demonstrations of atomic power and reaction were tremendously impressive. We learned that while no one has ever seen an atom, and like electricity, it is a force beyond human understanding, we have within our grasp a power so potent that it can bring about mankind's complete destruction or provide him with limitless aid in the creation of a better world.

We learned that every material thing that exists is made up of atoms each with its own rate of vibration and of different weight and that when we disturb or split these atoms, tremendous energy is released and the character of the atom is changed, becoming another element.

Eventually man will harness this tremendous power and energy putting it to countless uses for the welfare of all. Industry and medical science is using our atomic knowledge today with amazing results.

Let us hope that the day will come soon when we can cease thinking of atoms in terms of destruction and devote our full time to their development for peaceful purposes.

irrefutable evidence of its gravity. Ugly as the incident was, it seemed impossible that its ultimate effect would be beneficial — that it might bring a broad survey of the whole North African situation.

The Western Allies and Soviet Russia drew steadily closer to a summit conference on world issues at which President Eisenhower would meet Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The United States had insisted that a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers — the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia — must be held in advance to make sure that a summit conference would be useful. Russia rejected the idea of such a preparatory meeting.

To the astonishment of newspaper correspondents, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said at a press conference in Washington that a foreign ministerial meeting was not really necessary — in fact, that the United States never had insisted on such a meeting.

A group of rebellious Indonesian army colonels issued an ultimatum demanding that a new, anti-Communist government be formed by this week and under former Vice President, Mohammed Hatta.

The government rejected the ultimatum and ordered the dishonorable discharge of four of the colonels.

It remained to be seen what the rebels would do — possibly proclaim a rival government to be seated on the island of Sumatra where they are based.

In any event, it looked as if the long-smouldering Indonesian political situation might soon explode.

Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China announced this week that he was giving up the post of foreign minister, which he had held jointly since 1949. His successor in the foreign ministry is 57-year-old Marshal Chen Yi.

Just what the political significance of the shift was, the Western world did not know. But it looked as if Chen simply had too much work to do in handling two big jobs and that he wanted to concentrate on his duties as Premier.

STRENGTH THROUGH FAITH
The Bible
God's free gift is the Life of the Ages, bestowed upon us in Christ Jesus our Lord — (Acts 6, 23.)

As He promised in the days when He walked among men, Christ Jesus is with us today when we open our hearts to Him in faith and devotion, when we love Him as He loved us, sacrificing our self-will and self-indulgence as tiny tokens of the sacrifice He made for us on the Cross.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

Chatted with Art and Peggy McCarthy Saturday as we grocery shopped. They were putting in a few supplies before leaving for Miami and perhaps a little warmer weather.

Martha Blackwelder, Polly turned the war bond back to the Auxiliary, but will keep the tray forever as a reminder of a hard job well done.

Chatted with an interesting gal yesterday from Winter Park, Kay Osborne is a longtime friend of Mary and Carl Williams and many other people here in Sanford.

Jim Ross left this morning for the U. S. S. Saratoga—carrying a pile of mail for husbands in VAE 9.

Ida Mae Sjöholm of Lake Mary was second, and Virginia Frederick of the American Legion was third in the contest for the High Fever Follies Queen.

The terrific enthusiasm, particularly of DeBary and Lake Mary, during the Queen contest, is to be commended.

People are still talking about the red rose worn by Bill Fleming, Hank Johnson's performance as the sub in "Face to Face", Ralph Wight as a ballet dancer, Betty McCracken and Polly Shields as a couple of ghouls—and Polly Brubaker's radiance as she received a war bond and silver tray from the Hospital Auxiliary president.

Each chairman has been asked to make a skener and bring it to the meeting. Nabobs will be made. Directions for making the skewers have been sent to the chairmen.

A Valentine party was given Friday afternoon by Mrs. O. P. Wade for the Junior Girls Sunday School of the Elder Springs Baptist Church.

Refreshments of hot chocolate, cookies, candy and popcorn were served. Attending were Linda Faye Dunaway, Linda Gail Soderblom, Susan Laney, Margaret Butler, Cynthia Howard, Patricia Holland, Carolyn Nolan and Shirley Ann Cardledge.

Monthly reports were given. Mrs. McWhorter (Garden Therapy) Chairman, reported on plants put in the hospital for the month of January.

Mrs. Cleveland, Horticulture Chairman, gave a talk on the Weeping Willow Tree. Members also reported on the progress of the Florida Avocado seeds planted.

Mrs. Peck read a letter about a Gardening Stamp to be issued in March.

General Meeting to be held at the Mayfair Inn Feb. 20th at 12:30 P. M. Mrs. Ira Varnedoe of Jacksonville to be the speaker.

The Magnolia Circle of the Sanford Garden Club met with Mrs. W. L. Dierkhof, Onora Road Mrs. H. K. King and Mrs. Frank Leeke acted as co-hostesses.

Mrs. J. E. Nichols led in prayer and read the 121 Psalm. Business was conducted by the chairman, Mrs. A. H. Harris, who also brought a report of the board meeting. She urged attendance at the annual luncheon at the Mayfair on Feb. 20. After the business and election of officers there will be a program on flower arrangements presented by Mrs. Ira J. Varnedoe of Jacksonville.

Mrs. S. C. Dickerson told of the great danger of cutting shrubbery too soon. She said the plants should be left on as a protection until danger of more cold is over. Many of the plants are not root damaged, she continued, and will come back, but go slow in cutting back and in applying fertilizer.

Cake, cookies and coffee were served by the hostesses to Mrs. W. Sinclair, Mrs. J. J. Wpber, Mrs. Brailey Odham, Mrs. Joel Field, Mrs. J. A. Hunt, Mrs. Frank Deame, Mrs. John Deame, Mrs. Frank Leeke, Mrs. H. K. King, Mrs. Gus Bamberger, Mrs. Ray Herron, Mrs. H. B. Odham Sr., Mrs. Dickson, Mrs. J. E. Nichols and Mrs. Dierkhof.

Leonard To Defend Derby Championship

DAYTONA BEACH—It's official now. Joe Leonard, San Jose, Calif., the record holder and winner of the 1957 Daytona 200, will defend his championship in the 1958 running of motorcycle's Handiebar Derby.

E. C. Smith, Columbus, Ohio, executive secretary of the American Motorcycle Assn., said today Leonard's application blank had been received and accepted for the 200 mile race here Sunday, March 8.

Leonard, AMA's grand national champion, again will ride a Harley-Davidson and his machine will carry the numeral "1."

Last year Leonard set a new mark for the race by averaging 98.52 mph for the 200 mile distance over the 4.1 mile beach and road course.

Winning the Daytona 200 here last March was the spark that set Leonard going for 1957. Besides the national championship here, he won three other national title events, giving him four of the 13 national A. M. A. championships for 1957.

Leonard also won the 100 mile national road race championship at Laconia, N. H., in June, the 25 mile national dirt track championship at San Jose, Calif., in July, and the 50 mile national dirt track championship at Springfield, Ill., in August.

The Daytona 200 is for the A. M. A.'s top classed riders, the experts and a field of "close to 120" has been predicted by the AMA's Smith.

On Saturday, March 8, will be the 100 mile beach and road race for the AMA's "amateur" class riders. These riders are professionals, too, but haven't earned enough points yet to compete in the top class—the experts.

Handiebar Derby has been held here annually since 1937. First winner of the Daytona 200 was Ed Kretz Sr., Monterey Park, Calif.

Opening Handiebar Derby week here Tuesday, March 4, will be lightweight road races and drag races. Other events scheduled for the week include a hillclimb, scrambles, short track races at Memorial stadium, endurance run, motorcycle parade, field meet and club uniform contest, time trials, Award Night and the International Motorcycle Show.

Headline for filling entries for the Daytona 200, the Daytona 100 and the lightweight road races is Feb. 21. The completed blanks must be submitted to AMA headquarters, 108 Buttes Ave., Columbus, Ohio.

The events are sanctioned by the AMA. Sponsor and promoter is the Central Labor Union of Daytona Beach.

Clarks Still Leading Mixed Bowling League

Mixed League standings are a tight race for this week's play with Clark's still in the lead with 13-3 but only by two games as Powell's is just under them having won 11 games and losing seven.

The Appliance Mart is third with 10-8 and Hunt's holds fourth place with 9-9. Harvey's is in fifth with 6-12 while Lou's is on bottom with 5-13.

Powell's still holds high team three scratch with a score of 25-53. Harvey's took high team single from Clark's last week by one pin giving them a 7-61.

Will Webber still holds high game for the season, a 222; Gilstrap, 203; Ring, 199; and Duker, 194. High series goes to Webber with his 611; Ring, 536; Kentis, 521; Gilstrap, 520; Dot Powell, 200; Sara Sugus, 184; Ellen Betts, 183; Dot Powell has a 800 series; Gladys White, 483; Ellen Betts, 468. All high scores are for the second half season.

Last week Gilstrap hit a 203 single, Ring a 191; and Cook & Maloney, 183. High series was rolled by Gilstrap, 320; Bill Tanner, 465; Ponce Elmore, 463; Gladys White, 483; Pat Foster, 456 and Ellen Betts, 453.

This week Powell's and Clark's roll against each other. They are running a close match. Harvey and Lou's meet with Harvey's having one game up on Lou's. Hunt's and Appliance Mart have close standings also with Appliance Mart one game up on Hunt's.

Today's Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Two punching psychodrama whose names are almost as big as they are get the spitting heavyweight show back on the road again Friday night.

It will be Gerardo Ramos Ponciano Valdes — better known as "Nino" — against Antonio Pablo Alexis Miteff — better known as Alex — in the first fight among the big boys seen at Madison Square Garden in more than a year.

This cannot be regarded exactly as a revival meeting for the listless division but, with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in the deep freeze, it's about as interesting a bout as can be arranged.

Come March, in San Francisco, there will be a better bill of fare when top ranking challenger Eddie Machen flops it out with second ranking Zora Foley. As of the moment, the winner gets no more than top billing among the ignored challengers.

Good Ly-Deleat

So, like the man said about the crooked crap game, the Miteff-Valdes fracas is a good one because it's the only one in town.

Nino, so-called by his Cuban mother when he was a little shaver and still so designated although he has grown to six feet, three inches, will be looking for his victory over Patterson. Sometimes he looks good and sometimes he just looks.

But one thing you have to say for Nino is that he must rank as the heavyweight champion of England. He disposed of the British Isles' Big Three—Don Cockell, Dick Richardson and Joe Erskine. So it seems kind of strange that Patterson will defend the title against Erskine if the Britisher boucasses Sweden's Ingemar Johansson in the Smorgasbord capital also on Friday night.

Patterson's refusal to square off with the leading American challenger is, of course, a result of manager Gus D'Amato's feud with the International Boxing Club. The feeling here is one of complete neutrality but it sure would be nice to see Patterson and Joe Erskine against something above the hammondies he has and, apparently, will continue to tackle.

D'Amato figures that he would get "jobbed" out of the title by any chance Patterson's "contract" opponent happened to be standing on his feet at the final bell.

Fights of the Year

Thus we come back to "fights of the year" such as Valdes-Miteff and, actually a good one, the Machen-Foley runoff for top spot in the punching pack.

Miteff, ranked ninth among the challengers, is only 22 and was being billed as the "new" wild bull of the pampas until he ran into a gaucho named Mike DeJohn. The Argentine won the 1954 Pan American Games heavyweight championship at Mexico and then turned coin collector.

Swiftly he ran up 13 victories in a row and climbed up among the top 10. Then DeJohn, at the time among the also — rans, climbed through the ropes and lunged a one-round sleepy-time clout on Alex's fuzzy chin. It boosted DeJohn to seventh place among the heavies — indicative of the lack of talent around and about — and dropped Alex to ninth.

But you can't shrug off Miteff's record of 14 wins against one defeat, nine of them knockouts. So his setto with the fifth ranking 33-year-old Valdes should be interesting. They're heavyweights, anyhow.

D. Litwhiler Will Conduct Baseball Clinic in Europe

TALLAHASSEE (Special)—Florida State University Baseball Coach Danny Litwhiler has accepted an invitation to conduct the 1958 Baseball Coaches' Clinic for the United States Army in Europe, March 2-7.

Litwhiler will leave the United States for Europe Feb. 28 and return March 9.

It marks the second consecutive year Litwhiler has been asked by the Adjutant General Department of the Army, to stage baseball clinics for the Armed Forces overseas. The former National League outfielder (1940-51) conducted clinics in Japan and Hawaii last year.

The United States Army, Europe (USAREUR), boasts one of the largest athletic programs in the world. USAREUR personnel compete in some 20 sports activities, and the command prides itself in training coaches in clinics conducted by outstanding sports figures from the United States.

Entering his fourth season at Florida State, Litwhiler has compiled an impressive 63-20 coaching record. His 1957 Seminoles won the District 3 NCAA crown and played in the College World Series.

Assistant coaches Ronald Melton and Bob Wynn will handle FSU's varsity and freshman sides during Litwhiler's absence. Litwhiler opened spring baseball drills Feb. 3 and will return 10 days before the Seminoles open a 25-game schedule against Auburn here March 18.

JOE LEONARD, San Jose, Calif., winner of the 1957 Daytona 200. Record time: 98.52 mph.

U of F's Annual Football Banquet Set For Feb. 27

TALLAHASSEE (Special)—Neill Martin, Florida State's promising sophomore outfielder from St. Petersburg, will be out for about six weeks with a fractured leg.

Seminole Coach Danny Litwhiler said today.

Litwhiler said Martin, a heavy-hitting lefthander, turned an ankle while running during practice. X-rays revealed a hairline fracture of a small bone just above the ankle.

Martin compiled a .400 batting average with 25 runs-batted-in for the FSU freshman nine last spring. He was a strong candidate for a starting left field position this season.

Only last week the defending District 3 NCAA champion Seminoles lost another key player. Senior Pili (co) Hunt of Montgomery, Ala., was signed to a $15,000-plus professional contract by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Hunt was a three-year veteran at third base, was being counted on as FSU's No. 1 second baseman this season.

"The permanent loss of Hunt and the temporary loss of Martin will have a definite effect on our club," Litwhiler said. "Potentially, we're not as strong with those two out. We're very fortunate, however, to have able replacements."

Litwhiler said Martin's leg will be in a cast for about four weeks, and it will require at least two additional weeks for him to round into playing form.

"Martin is one of our best hitters, both for power and consistency," Litwhiler said.

Florida State began spring baseball drills Feb. 3. The Seminoles, who won the District 3 NCAA playoffs before bowing in the College World Series last year, open a 25-game schedule against Auburn here March 18.

GAINESVILLE—Varsity and freshman members of the University of Florida football team will be feted at their annual banquet on Thursday, Feb. 27, Coach Bob Woodruff announced today.

Highlight of the affair will be an address of the Very Rev. Roger W. Blanchard, Dean of St. John's Cathedral in Jacksonville. A former tackle for Boston University, where he graduated in 1932, Dean Blanchard was one of 25 members of Sports Illustrated's Silver Anniversary All-American team last year.

The banquet takes on a particular significance each year, for it is at this time that next season's team captain is announced, along with presentation of the man voted "The Most Valuable Senior" and the winner of the Walter J. Matherly trophy.

The captain is named as the result of ballots cast by returning lettermen. This same system is used for electing the most valuable senior, who in turn will be invited to return to the campus the following homecoming to receive the Forest K. Ferguson Memorial Trophy in recognition of this honor.

The Matherly Award, made in honor of the former Dean of the University's College of Business Administration and long-time faculty chairman of athletics, is given to the letterman football player who received the highest grades during the fall semester.

WAYNE D. OVERHOLSER'S DESPERATE MAN

LUTHER and I had an early breakfast and rode out to the herd. They had drifted a little toward Wade Everett's farm and we drove them back again. Everett was working on his barn and he watched us all the time we were near his fence. I waved at him but he ignored it.

Luther said, "What the devil's the matter with that man?" He turned his horse and when I went to follow, he said, "Stay here, Smokey."

He rode around to the end of the fence, bent down and unhooked the gate, then rode onto Everett's property. Everett came down from his left porch and stood in his yard as Luther rode up. By edging close to the fence, I could hear what they said.

"Don't you have the common decency to acknowledge a man's wave when he's trying to be friendly?" Luther asked.

"I was busy," Everett said flatly. "And I'm busy now; you're wasting my time."

The kids gathered by the eoddy door and Mrs. Everett stuck her head out. Even at sixty yards she could make out her frightened expression. Luther was getting down off his horse. "Damn you, Everett," he said. "You just don't want to get along, do you?"

"I don't start trouble," Everett said flatly, "which is more'n can be said for the O'Dareses."

I cupped my hands around my mouth and yelled, "Let's go, Luther!"

He didn't even look at me, just waved his hand as if to tell me to go home. Everett was backing up, one step at a time, and Luther was stalking him.

"I got a gun," Everett said loudly. "Don't make me use it!"

"Ma!" Everett yelled, and then he was bowled over by Luther's fist. I'd seen enough. I backed my pony away from the fence, raked him with the spurs and charged, clearing by a comfortable margin. Luther had Wade Everett on the ground and was whacking him in the face. Everett's woman was screaming at the kids and trying to cock the hammer on the big trap-door Springfield 45-70.

There wasn't time for me to dismount and drag Luther off so I shook out my rope and after whipping a wide loop in it, made an underhand cast, beneath the pony's neck. My throw was good and as soon as the rope settled, the pony backed off to tighten it. Luther let out an enraged blast, then I dragged him flat on his back for fifteen yards. He got up, wild-eyed and spitting dust, so I set him down again. I did this three times before he cooled off enough to understand that the fight was over. Everett had need to the soddy, grabbed the 45-70 from his wife and gave us both a clear look down the barrel.

"Now you get the hell off my property! Git, and don't come back!"

Luther's face was as white as a card and I wasn't sure when way he argued was directed at me or at Wade Everett. Anyway he didn't want to argue with a five-hundred grain bullet. He mounted and wheeled about, but after a time he calmed down enough to talk. I suppose I ought to thank you, Smokey. Everett's woman was all set to about me."

"You pulled a damn fool stunt," I said.

"Don't rub it in!" He blew out a gusty breath. "I was going to show myself that I could be as tough as Cord. It didn't turn out that way."

"You better say nothing about this to Cord," I suggested.

"I suppose," Luther said. "Th-uh, Smokey. There'd have been real trouble if you hadn't roped me like you did."

We said nothing more about it and rode on. By the time we arrived, Bill Hageman and Julie were already on the front porch. Ma was coming with a pot of coffee and Edna followed her with a tray of cookies. Cord was in his rocking chair, and after putting up the horses, Luther and I went to him.

Cord took one look at Luther's dirty clothes and asked, "What happened to you?"

"I tried one of Smokey's underhand roping tricks and tripped the horse," Luther said. He passed quickly into the house, brushing past Edna and Ma, before Cord could launch a comment. I looked at Bill Hageman. There sure wasn't any love passing back and forth between him and Cord. Yet they hadn't gotten around to muttering threats at each other, which was a good sign. Bill's face was a mess if I ever saw one. His lips were out of shape and so thick he could hardly talk straight.

Ma smoothed out the strained atmosphere by passing around cups of coffee and by the time everyone had a cup in one hand and cookies in the other, they discovered that there were no fists left to shake in each other's face. Julie smiled at me, which made my day all right, then she moved aside to speak to Edna. Cord was frowning and wanting to get on with business.

Cord was peculiar that way; once he fought with a man, he didn't want to have anything to do with him afterward. Now I say that once it's over, forget it. A fight isn't something on which to establish a hate; it's a way of clearing one up.

"What have you got on your mind?" Cord asked, looking at Bill Hageman.

The rest of us quieted down. Bill sat on the porch rail, holding to his habitual silence. "It seems," he said, "that we've been back and over something I didn't rightly understand at the time."

"I understood it," Cord said. "And I guess you did too because I mentioned no names, yet you took it personal as hell."

"Bounded to me like you were accusing me of rusting," Bill said.

"What I said was, because a man's neighbor, that don't make him honest. Rusting is a neighbor, so's Hageman. I meant to include 'em all."

The way it sounded to me, Cord was asking Bill Hageman to shoulder all the responsibility for the fight, and Bill proved that he was up to it when he said, "I guess then I jumped off the handle. My mistake, Cord."

"I figured that," Cord said, not showing an inch of give.

"I'm as tired of being rusted as you are," Bill said. "We were both touchy, half expecting each other to come with a pot of coffee and Edna followed her with a tray of cookies. Cord was in his rocking chair, and after putting up the horses, Luther and I went to him."

Cord took one look at Luther's dirty clothes and asked, "What happened to you?"

"I tried one of Smokey's underhand roping tricks and tripped the horse," Luther said. He passed quickly into the house, brushing past Edna and Ma, before Cord could launch a comment. I looked at Bill Hageman. There sure wasn't any love passing back and forth between him and Cord. Yet they hadn't gotten around to muttering threats at each other, which was a good sign. Halas To Coach Bears This Fall

CHICAGO (AP)—George Halas, the "papa bear" of professional football, will be back on the sidelines to coach his Chicago Bears next fall.

The 63-year-old stalwart of the National Football League said he has decided to "step back into the picture" as an active coach instead of devoting his time to front office duties which have occupied him for the past two years.

Halas has been plainly unhappy with the Bears' recent so-so showing. But he refused to take the reins from Paddy Driscoll, another Bear veteran, who was appointed coach when the boss retired.

But Halas said Sunday he has reached his decision.

"I feel Benny has gone to 40. So I'm assuming his old age of 39. I'm coming back as coach for next year."

Halas did not disclose his plans if any for the year after.

"I'm coming back because after observing the game for a couple of years, I think the pro football has changed a lot. So I thought it would be a good idea to step into the picture with the things I've learned," he said.

Driscoll will become administrative vice president. In this capacity he will work with the coaches.

Halas, a League organizer of the National Football League, organized the Bears in 1920 when they were known as the Decatur Ill. stars.

Under his coaching the Bears won seven world championships and 12 Western Division titles. For years, the powerful Chicago club dominated professional football, participating in more championship playoffs than any other team.

The Bears' most impressive victory came in a 1940 playoff battle with the Washington Redskins. The Halas club stunned the Redskins, 73-0, in the most one-sided championship game in NFL history.

THE CARD OF THANKS
 Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes but also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.
 Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.
 There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.
THE "IN MEMORIUM" NOTICE
 It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memorium" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preparation or selection of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:
 "How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start
 What memory plays an old tune
 Most frequently an In Memorium is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.
 If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These verses in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.
THE RATE
 Cards of Thanks and In Memorium notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

The children were accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Gladys Jane Wood, and other "Room Mothers."

U of F Faculty Member To Speak At Civic Clubs

Two Sanford civic clubs will have the opportunity tomorrow to hear Norman B. Thomson, a member of the faculty of the University of Florida, and Chairman of the Commission on Placement, College of Business Administration. Thomson will address the Kiwanis Club at its noon meeting and will appear before the Business and Professional Women's Club at the dinner meeting tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock.

Both meetings will be held in the Yacht Club. Thomson is a member of the American Economic Association, the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the American Society of University Professors and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He is trained in the thinking of two great universities and has been in great demand as a speaker throughout the nation. His subject will be "What's Ahead for Business." He will be introduced by Charles Morrison who presented him recently at meetings of the Sanford Rotary Club and the Winter Park Kiwanis Club, when his topic was "Top Executive Attitudes, 1958" and drew favorable comment from his listeners.

U. S. Is Called On To Offer Latin America Guidance

WASHINGTON—Senator George Smathers (D-Fla.) in a speech prepared for delivery to the Senate on Monday, called on the United States to offer "bold, responsible leadership" to Latin America. He said such a program, coupled with effective economic assistance, will combat strong Soviet efforts to penetrate the economic and political life of Latin American nations.

He reported that growing democratic trends in Latin America have been greatly strengthened by recent events, such as the elections in Costa Rica and Guatemala. Such promising developments demand enlightened leadership for the whole of Latin America on the part of the United States, if the trend is to grow further.

He warned: "In recent years, the United States has not provided the quality of leadership necessary to produce the maximum mutual benefits to us and our Latin American friends. Our Latin American neighbors look to us for leadership in solving the many problems which confront them today. These are problems in our own backyard. They are the problems of our nearest friends."

"In assisting the Latin American Republics in the solution of their problems it is vital that we replace leadership characterized by complacency and indifference with leadership characterized by boldness, courage and positive constructive action. In short, responsible leadership."

The Florida Senator also pointed to the impressive economic gains made in Hemisphere Republics in recent years, but cautioned that such figures were, in part, the reflection of economic growth from a primitive economy to the first stage of fully matured economy.

Pent-up demand for higher standards of living in nations to the south of us is now being felt, the Senator said. It is thus imperative that enlightened assistance plans be put into effect by the United States to help these nations solve growing economic problems. If not, he warned, Soviet Russia will be successful in its relentless attempts to penetrate—and then dominate—Latin American economies.

He said: "The solution of the economic problems of Latin America rests on more loans, a stable trade policy, and inducements to American private enterprise to invest in these countries on an increasingly larger scale."

To encourage more private investment, he asked that the United States first support programs whereby Latin American countries could advance their health, education and sanitation.

Senator Smathers also asked for a reassessment of American defense plans which all of large expenditures by Latin American nations—and a consequent drain in their strained economies.

He said: "... the time has come when our government's policy of assistance to our friends, the Latin Americans, should be re-evaluated. We should ask realistically does our military assistance truly help them in the defense of their country and the Western Hemisphere, or does it in fact diminish the opportunities for the furtherance of the people's individual rights and liberties."

Such funds, he proposed, could be diverted to finance a wide program of public works and construction of roads, schools and hospitals.

He also warned that: "The mounting problems of Latin America—our neighbors—here on our Western Hemisphere, seem to get less and less attention as developments tie them closer and closer to our future, our welfare, our destiny."

"Today, Latin America is seething with political, economic and social unrest. Because of Latin America's importance to us from the standpoint of trade, strategy and raw materials, it is essential that we assist it in solving its problems. It is in our own enlightened self-interest that we do so. If we fail to assume this responsibility, we must be prepared to suffer the consequences."

AGA KHAN RETURNS
GSTAAD, Switzerland (AP)—The Aga Khan today resumed the winter sports vacation he interrupted last month to go to Karachi for his enthronement as spiritual leader of the Ismaili Muslim sect. Officials said the Aga would "probably remain here" until the end of the season. He has rented a chalet.

TYPHOID IN KOREA
SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Four persons have died and at least 17 others have been stricken in an outbreak of typhoid fever in the South Korean town of Mukho, health authorities reported today. The Ministry of Health and Social Welfare said more than 30,000 residents have been vaccinated by an emergency medical team rushed to the area.

Board

The Board of Commissioners also approved the rewording of a franchise to be proposed to the Sanford Gas Company. Commissioners discussed the DeLand franchise concluded only recently. The City Manager, Warren E. Knowles and City Attorney William C. Hutchison Jr. were authorized to prepare a franchise for presentation to the local gas company.

A report on the Yacht Club was submitted to the board of commissioners. The inspection was made by City Manager Knowles, Superintendent Sid Richard and Building Inspector M. A. Yelvington. "It will take at least $2,500 to accomplish all that has been laid down in this inspection as needed," Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said.

The Board of Commissioners also refused to accept an offer of $10,233 for a French Ave. site and an adjacent lot proposed by Lee Brothers Plumbing and Heating. However, commissioners stated, at the suggestion of Commissioner David Gatchel, that he commission offer to sell 125 feet of the French Ave. frontage and the area behind it for the price offered by Lee Brothers.

Tonight

(Continued from Page 1) today. Tallahassee recorded 21, Pensacola and Ocala had 22, and Jacksonville 23. It was 28 in Orlando and Lakeland in the heart of central Florida citrus belt.

"I look like the cold will last the rest of the month," said Forester Gilbert Clark. "There's still plenty of cold air left in Canada, and as far as we can tell right now those icy winds are going to continue pushing down on Florida almost continually."

Clark said that the best Floridians could hope for in the next two weeks is a day or two warm-up in the middle of the cold.

"One consolation," said Clark, "is that we're a lot better off than most of the nation."

Greyhound Tries For Sixth SOK Win Tonight

Inaugural Winner Knocker tries for his sixth win of the season in the featured ninth race at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club tonight. The brindle 63-pounder, owned by Mrs. M. V. Kirkland Jr., has had 17 starts this season and his score is five firsts, two seconds and four thirds. This is an excellent showing considering that all his starts have been in Grade A and most of them in feature contests.

Another five-time winner in this main event is the Lawrie Kennel's Marvis Stack. This sensational pup only won his maiden race in December but has moved right up to Grade A competition. He won his last three starts and will try to make it four in a row tonight.

Steppin Jim and I've Done it have won three and two races respectively, but they will be popular with quincies players for each has finished second six times.

Also running in the main event will be Mae Cohen, Circus Supreme, Black and Jubilant Spring.

An estimated ten million dollars stolen from banks by employees each year.

LIGHT OF HIS LIFE—Gary Newell, 3, looks into his mother's eyes as she sees him for the first time with full vision in her Boston, Mass., home. Mrs. Newell recently underwent an eye-tissue transplant surgery, made possible by the Boston Eye Bank. Out of gratitude for his wife's recovery, John Newell willed his eye to the bank.

"ALL WISDOM MAY BE REDUCED TO TWO WORDS — WAIT AND HOPE"
(Author's Name Below)

Eventually, research scientists will find the answers that will enable physicians to treat any disease successfully. Unfortunately, there are still a few for which a complete cure is unknown.

No one should give up hope. About forty new medicines are being released each month. All of them are not "Miracle Drugs" but each one has special merit. Leading pharmaceutical manufacturers send their newly perfected drugs to us as soon as they are clinically proved.

Know When You Ought To Consult The Doctor

By NERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

EVERYONE, it seems, wants to diagnose his own ailments. Each day my mail is filled with questions asking about symptoms of various illnesses.

A great many of them are concerned with hypertension, or high blood pressure.

Don't Diagnose
Now I want to emphasize again that I don't want any of you diagnosing your own symptoms. But you should be aware of some of the most common symptoms of various diseases to realize that something is wrong, and that it is time to consult your physician.

I doubt very much that any of you who are suffering from hypertension can actually diagnose your symptoms, anyway. The outward signs are generally too indistinct even for a doctor to make an accurate diagnosis on symptoms alone.

Frequent Headaches
As in many other ailments, headaches are the most common symptoms. Although they may occur at any time, a person with high blood pressure usually wakes with one in the morning.

No matter what the cause, headaches should be investigated. If yours is actually caused by hypertension, it doesn't become unduly alarmed. It does not necessarily indicate that you are about to suffer a stroke. It does, however, mean that you should see your doctor.

Blushing is something we joke about a great deal. In its more serious aspects, however, it might be a symptom of high blood pressure. This type of blush is a red blotchiness over most of the face and neck.

Emotional and physical fatigue also might mean hypertension, especially in the early stages of the disease. This, incidentally, is a good warning to heed. Rest is essential in relieving high blood pressure. You can help yourself a lot simply by resting when you become tired.

Another Symptom
Lightheadedness or dizziness is another symptom. You are apt to have a distinct feeling of movement entirely inside your head.

This is a different sensation from vertigo, which might mean real trouble. With vertigo, you have the feeling that everything about you is whirling around.

Although you may feel as though you are going to faint, victims of hypertension seldom do.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
D. W.: I am 67 and have recently lost my sense of taste and smell. What can I do?
Answer: It is not uncommon for people to lose their sense of taste and smell as they become older. In most cases, this loss does, however, mean that you are unable to correct it.

New Telephone Directory To Be Mailed Out Soon

A new telephone directory will soon be in the hands of local telephone users, according to Bob Shelden, Southern Bell Telephone Company manager here.

Shelden said the new telephone directory will be mailed out in approximately a week and will contain over 1,500 new listings.

The first listing to appear in the new book will be "AAA Tree Service" and the last one to appear will be "Zwools, William J.," said Shelden.

"As you might have guessed," Shelden added, "the name 'Smith' will appear in the new directory the most number of times."

Shelden reported that the name "Smith" will appear in the latest edition of the telephone directory 84 times.

According to the local manager's report, all telephone directories will be received by mail.

New Practical Nursing Course Being Offered

Applications are now being accepted for a new course in Practical Nursing to be offered jointly by Mary Karl Vocational school and Halifax District Hospital, Daytona Beach. The course, which is the only one in this area approved by county and state agencies, requires twelve months for completion and prepares students to become Licensed Practical Nurses.

Applicants for the course should have a tenth-grade education or its equivalent by test. The age limits for entrance are 18 to 45. If over 45, the applicant must qualify in mental physical fitness. Other requirements for entrance are good health, United States citizenship, and satisfactory endorsement by references.

The registration fee for the course is $5, and the cost for textbooks, uniforms, etc., is approximately $72. The student is responsible for her own maintenance while in training, but she receives compensation in the amount of $50 per month during the second and third quarters and $75 per month during the fourth quarter.

The school provides dormitory facilities for $15 per month for students enrolled in the course.

At the present time there is a heavy demand for licensed Practical Nurses for employment in hospitals, physicians offices, public health agencies, and private homes. Women interested in attending the Practical Nursing course are urged to contact the registrar, Mary Karl Vocational School, P. O. Box 1111, Daytona Beach or call CL 2-2521.

Church Men's Club To Entertain Wives At Supper Thursday

Members of the Men's Club of the First Methodist Church will entertain their wives and guests at a Ladies' Night Supper to be held in McKinley Hall, Thursday night, starting at 7 o'clock, Thomas S. McDonald announced today.

A program of entertainment arranged by Charlie Morrison will feature a talented young harpist, Miss Phyllis Row from Winter Park; Ernest Southard in a demonstration of extra sensory perception and Morrison in a period of community singing with Roger Harris at the piano.

McDonald stated that the supper will be prepared by a committee headed by Ted Williams which was a guarantee of its excellence and that Morrison's reputation as a program arranger was well known. "The committee in charge hopes that the weather will cooperate to the extent that we may have a good attendance to enjoy an evening of fun and fellowship," he added.

DEPENDS ON THE MOON

NEW YORK (UP)—Patrolman Harry Reinhart, about to retire from his post in the city's Times Square information booth, had this to say about his customers:

"Every second customer is a nut. When it's a full moon, the men are the worst offenders; when it's new moon, the women."

FOR OLD FRIENDS' SAKE HOLLYWOOD

Actress Rosemary Clooney, set out Thursday night to travel 8,200 miles to see a new production of Gilbert Miller and will start home right after the curtain.

"We're old friends," Foster said of Miller, "and we thought we'd go see his play."

INVITATION ISSUED

PARK FALLS, Wis.—(UP)—Dan Vicker, chairman of a homecoming celebration here, today invited the abominable snowman of the Himalayas to join the returning natives.

Vicker said the legendary snowman originated at Park Falls but migrated in the early days when he had a mild winter.

This winter, he said, should prove attractively "normal" to the abominable ex-patriate.

Tax Cut Chances Depend On Economy State About Middle Of Year

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Writer
WASHINGTON — Chances for an income tax cut are brighter today than they were a year ago. The outlook still depends on the state of the nation's economy about the middle of the year.

The administration has backtracked somewhat in its stand against a tax reduction and now says that it might be advisable if other steps fail to bring about the business upswing expected this summer.

There is also strong sentiment in Congress for a tax slash. However, it is doubtful that the legislators will take the initiative for such action unless the administration gives the green light.

A tax reduction has a strong political appeal to both parties. With the November election coming up, they want to give the voters a tax break and take the credit at the polls.

Many economists disagree with President Eisenhower's optimism about a business improvement and are advocating a tax cut to pump more life into the economy. The President has left the door open by his recent statement that it could be a great stimulus if other economic policies fail to bolster the sagging economy.

NEW PACES OF 1959 — Even if incumbents win all election races this autumn, there will be an extraordinary number of new faces in the House next year who weren't around when the present Congress started.

The turnover in deaths, resignations and intentions not to seek re-election is the highest in years. With weeks remaining before election filing periods close in many states, a total of 14 House seats are expected to be vacated.

Several are seeking other offices — either the Senate or as governor of their state. However, the majority have said they are going to retire, a recently preferring the attractive retirement pay they voted themselves a couple of years ago to the harassment of another campaign.

STASSEN OUT — All signs point to Harold E. Stassen's resignation as President Eisenhower's disarmament advisor, but the future still appears uncertain to the one-time governor of Minnesota.

Whatever he decides, Stassen can be expected to land on his feet. He has shown remarkable resilience in the past and, his associates feel, he will bounce into the limelight again.

Weather

Generally fair and continued cold today and tonight. Low tonight 23 to 25. Thursday partly cloudy and not quite as cold.

Like Urges Congress OK Of Foreign Aid Plan

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (UP) — President Eisenhower today urged the House and Senate to pass a bill for a $1.5 billion foreign aid program.

He warned failure to enact the program might lead to a highly difficult situation with the Soviet Union.

Impair Free World Power
Without the foreign aid program, the President said there might be "a severe dislocation and basic impairment of free world power."

Eisenhower also foresaw these other possibilities:
"A massive increase in our own defense budget, in amounts far exceeding mutual security appropriations, necessitating increases in taxes.

"A heavy increase in induction of American youth into our own armed forces; and
"Until it is a beleaguered America, her freedom limited by mounting defense costs, and almost alone in a world dominated by international communism."

Oviedo Man To Head 'Advisory Committee'

An "Advisory Committee" to the Board of Seminole County Commissioners was instituted yesterday afternoon regarding the area of Oviedo.

B. F. Wheeler Jr. of Oviedo was named chairman of the committee and Mack N. Cleveland Jr., attorney for the county and 11th member of the group to be named, was appointed secretary.

Commissioner John Kridler told the group "We appreciate your taking the time to help us with our problems."

Kridler outlined five points which he said appeared to be the main problems of the commission. He said "The commission is faced with growth in the county—a lot of land paying taxes is being subdivided and taken off the tax roll.

Taxes went up considerably last year," said Kridler, "and it appears now that two more mills will be necessary next year."

Very few requests come from taxpayers, Kridler pointed out as another problem, "our requests come from developments where people are moving in."

He also explained that budgets are increasing. "The sheriff's budget is increasing for protection, road budgets are getting bigger, and school needs are growing."

"Everybody should share the load," Kridler told the committee members. "It is the obligation of those who get the service."

Instructing the members of the Advisory Committee to the Board of Commissioners, Kridler said "We want you to discuss these problems and come back with suggestions—it's time we study the problems and come back with some solution."

Commissioner Lawrence Swoford told the committee members that he would like for the committee to consider areas in the south portion of the county which are developing fast.

Areas like Prairie Lake, Bear Lake and Lake Brantley," he said.

"Students at Lyman School increased from 500 to 1,200 in five years," said Swoford. "I don't know how we can do it but there must be some way to give our taxpayers something," said Swoford, and added "We can't even keep up the roads we have to maintain with the present equipment—it will take at least an addition of three mills next year just for equipment."

Forecasters Kiwanis Club Speaker's Topic

Board To Offer Firm French Ave. Area For $13,333

Lee Brothers Plumbing and Heating told the Board of Sanford City Commissioners in a letter discussed during last night's adjourned session, that even though French Ave. frontage was not necessary for their operation, the entire area was necessary because of space requirements and railroad siding storage and unloading.

The city, Monday night, offered to sell Lee Brothers 125 feet of a 250 foot frontage, along with a block area to the rear of the highway site, for their proposed $10,333 offered by the firm in a previous letter.

However, last night, commissioners had an opportunity to go over plans of the local firm and determined whether or not the 1 1/2 acre area was needed.

Commissioner David Gatchel proposed that the entire area be sold to Lee Brothers Plumbing and Heating for $13,333.

"I feel that Lee Brothers should have priority over everyone else," he said and stipulated the "final offer" for the French Ave. frontage of 250 by 117 feet plus the additional block of property that will be filled.

"I feel that the city has bent over backward and that's about all we can do," he said.

The proposal met the unanimous approval of the board of commissioners.

City Manager Warren F. Knowles told the board of commissioners at an adjourned session from Monday night's meeting "We will have the money for the project and plans will be completed in the near future to get it underway at the earliest possible moment."

Commissioner Higginbotham explained at last night's session that "the city is in better shape now than at any time in its history."

The entire board of commissioners was on record at the two-hour session last night that the "7th St. project would be completed."

However, the city is faced with a broad street improvement program including the rebuilding of streets and the resurfacing of streets. Already in the city's budget is $65,000 for street improvement, outside of the $17,500 7th St. plans.

Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said "I haven't changed my mind about 7th St.—it's still in."

Seventh St. To Be Built This Year

"We're going to find the money to build 7th St. this year," Mayor Merle Warner said last night when the question of the disappearance of a $17,000 fund from a capital improvement program came before the board of commissioners for discussion.

The 7th St. project was never in the capital improvement project plans," said H. N. Sayer, City Finance Director. The street program was to be planned from surplus funds of the capital improvement program, he said, and when bids for the civic center exceeded the estimate all of the funds were utilized.

Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said "I haven't changed my mind about 7th St.—it's still in."

Employment Group To Open Office Here Next Monday

The Florida State Employment Service will open its Sanford office on Monday, Tom Lawton, director of the Central Florida Office said today.

"We will be opening then," he said, "but it will take about a week to get our equipment in and straightened out."

Appointed to manage the local office of the Florida State Employment Service is D. B. Hahn, a Seminole County man living in Fern Park.

The office will be open five days a week, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., according to the new local manager.

Heretofore, the Florida State Employment Service has been using facilities at the Sanford City Hall before securing the location at 110 West Second St.

Follies Nets $5,232 For Hospital

A final financial report on the High Fever Follies presentation was made last night before the Board of Trustees of Seminole Memorial Hospital by Mrs. Martha Blackwelder, president of the hospital's Women's Auxiliary and Mrs. Polly Brubaker, president of the Women's Auxiliary and Mrs. Polly Brubaker, who served as chairman of the High Fever Follies.

3 Fires Reported In Last 24 Hours

Three fires during the 24 hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning which could have easily been avoided by the quick action of the Sanford Fire Department. As a result, Fire Chief Mack N. Cleveland Sr. said, only minimum damage to the dry cleaning plant on Cypress Ave. was estimated.

Shortly before 11 o'clock yesterday fire caused by a defective fuse was contained in the roof of a frame dwelling at 1315 West 9th St. Smoke poured from the eaves of the house as firemen battled the smoldering blaze to bring the fire under control with a minimum amount of damage.

Despite high winds and below freezing temperatures this morning, just before 1 o'clock, roaring flames in a frame dwelling at 113 Sanford Ave. were brought under control in less than an hour.

Hampered by the terrific east and northerly winds, flames contained the flames within the wooden residential structure and prevented them from spreading to two filling stations and other business buildings in the area.

A Negro man, D. E. Williams, said Sanford Police Department Patrolman Earl Bauquard, was awakened by the fire and was forced to jump from the second floor of the building while his clothes. The patrolman said that the man was scratched and bruised.

Yesterday afternoon, shortly before 4 o'clock, oil which had ignited in the boiler room of Burns Dry Cleaners at 214 Cypress Ave. could have turned into a disastrous blaze in a heavily populated area. However, said Chief Cleveland, fire damage was contained in the boiler room.

A minimum amount of smoke damage was estimated to the stock of clothing which had been cleaned and stored in the front part of the frame store building. The flames were caught just seconds before the boiler would have exploded.
