CHAPTER 19
THE next morning on the notice board outside the printer's office there was a notice stating that there would be a fancy-dress dance that night, but that all the costumes were to be impromptu and there would be prizes for the most original.

"Of course you'll be coming to the dance, Val," Dirk said enthusiastically over luncheon. "It should be grand fun. I've already decided on my costume and yours."

Val wanted to go very much. She was young and full of vitality, and though she knew she didn't dance very well, she loved it. Besides, it would be a change from reading to Mrs. Featherstone. Her employer never appeared to take the slightest interest in what was being read to her; half the time she seemed to doze off, but whenever Val thought her patient was asleep and stopped reading, Mrs. Featherstone would rouse herself and say sharply, "Go on reading, Nurse. What are you stopping for? Do you think I'm asleep? Or are you too lazy to read any more?" She would smile cruelly and add, "You'd like that, wouldn't you, to leave me asleep and slip on my deck and dance or make love with your various boy friends."

"The nurse Mrs. Featherstone won't let me go. She'll want me to read to her," Val answered Dirk now.

"Oh, boss, I'll arrange it with Aunt May. She's not a bad old stick at heart. She'll know you and I want to have some fun."

But there was a faint note of doubt in his voice. He hadn't been finding Mrs. Featherstone so easy to get along with lately.

"But I've no fancy costume," she protested. "And I've no idea how I could improvise one at the last moment."

"I'll fix you up," he said grinning. "You can wear my tailcoat."

"Your tailcoat? But I'd look awful in a man's full dress suit!"

"Don't be silly," he said cruelly. "Women have made their stage reputations on the strength of having the figure to wear a man's full dress evening suit. Few women have the figure to get away with it, but you have."

He grinned and she smiled across at her admiringly.

"Well, perhaps," she said slowly, and smiled. "I could try it on anyway," she conceded.

He put one finger to the side of his nose and winked across at her. "Trust Uncle Dirk. He'll arrange everything."

She glanced across at the table where Bruce was sitting. They hadn't talked since last night on the top deck. He had seemed to hurt her, and she knew she had hurt him. What if she had refused to break off her friendship with Dirk? Val had always been of an independent turn of mind and she didn't like being dictated to.

But now she wondered if Bruce had insisted just what she would have done. She might, yes she might have agreed to end her friendship with Dirk. On the boat deck when he had kissed her she had been almost ready to promise him anything. Almost . . . What had held her back? Was it a genuine feeling of friendship for Dirk, or her sense of gratitude to him for having been so nice to her? Was it also a sense of duty? Or was it really that in her heart she didn't want to lose his friendship because it had become something very precious to her?

Dirk was as good as his word. During the afternoon he told her that he had fixed it with Aunt May and he would send his steward to her cabin with his tailcoat. When they arrived she tried them on at once. And after she had turned up the trousers with pins, the suit fitted her perfectly. He had sent as well a fine linen pleated shirt, white waistcoat and white tie, and she supposed she could wear her own high-heeled patent leather shoes. On an impulse she went to the ship's dressmaking room and had her already short hair cut shorter. She looked at herself in the mirror with both pleasure and surprise.

Mrs. Featherstone had consented to her going to the dance, but certainly she was in no mood to be happy about it. Val was also worried that her patient didn't seem well, although the book reads quite steadily now. She seemed rather short of breath and her face, usually flushed, was now an unhealthy white color.

"Please, Mrs. Featherstone, before I go, would you let me call on the doctor?" Val asked anxiously.

But the mere suggestion agitated Mrs. Featherstone to such an extent that for the moment she was almost inarticulate. "Call in that nurse, my ex-gardener's son, who hates me? What are you thinking of, Nurse? But, of course," her lips turned to a half smile. "You would want to call on the doctor, don't you? I have heard of your gringoes with him—and with Dirk," she added hoarsely.

Val didn't reply to that. She merely said, "I should feel so much happier if you would see Doctor Harrison, Mrs. Featherstone."

Her patient half-raised herself on the bed. "I said I'd never have the man in my cabin, and I won't let you die!" After a few moments she subsided onto the pillow and spoke more rationally. "You'd better go and start getting dressed for the dance tonight. Dirk has told me he's ordered champagne in here so that I can have a drink with you before the festivities begin. And I believe a few glasses of champagne will do me good. I haven't been feeling at all well lately, and I'm sure it's my heart. But it won't be long now before we're on shore and I understand Dirk's friends in Montego Bay are really charming people and have a lovely house right on the water. I'm looking forward to it."

She gave a short laugh and added vehemently, "I'm certainly looking forward to getting off this boat."

As I am, Val thought in her heart. Oh heavens, as I am!

Some Couples Will Receive Social Security Benefits

Some couples will receive their social security benefits in a single family check. Paul K. Weaver, district manager of the Orlando social security office announced today. Wives of retired workers who filed their claims within the last month or so will have their benefit amounts combined with their husbands' old-age and survivors insurance benefits, if they are living at the same address, and are not entitled to aid as insurance benefits based on their own work records.

Up until now, retired workers and their wives have been paid their benefits each month in separate checks although in many cases, one of them would take both of the checks to the store or to the bank to be cashed. Being paid their monthly social security benefits in a single check will make the cashing of checks simpler for many of these couples, and if they have been paying fees to have their checks cashed, they will now have to pay only one fee instead of two.

'Proud Of Record' Cong. Herlong Tells Rally Crowd

At a Democratic Political rally last night at the corner of First and Magnolia St., State Senator Douglas Stenstrom introduced Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong. Stenstrom in his introduction stated that Congressman Herlong should be re-elected to Washington on his past performance, leadership and integrity.

Herlong in addressing the crowd said "I am proud of my record and will stand on it. I have worked hard in attending to your business the best way possible."

"I have worked for you 100 per cent during my eight years in office. I have worked hard for all ten counties in my district."

"My voting record has been attacked. Congressional records will show that I have voted on 689 of 752 bills in eight years. In advertisements in newspapers have appeared half-truths in opposition to me, that the type of man you want to represent you?"

In again referring to advertising, Cong. Herlong stated that expenses incurred in running for office would not exceed $2500. "I intend to abide by this. If others wish to do otherwise that is their business. But I don't intend to. I have no reason to apologize—because good results have been obtained during my stay in office. I will run on my own record," said Herlong.

Herlong spoke about the "numerous" things he had done for this area. "I helped obtain $500,000 for Canaveral Harbor, $300,000 for a citrus laboratory in Orlando and $75,000 for one in Winter Haven. I obtained research money for the fruit fly and vocational schools," he said.

On the welcoming committee and seated on the speaking stand were: State Senator Douglas Stenstrom, Representatives Mack Cleveland, Jr., and Gordon Fredericks, Judge Vassar Carlton, County Clerk O. P. Herndon, Sheriff Luther Jobby, County Commissioners elect Homer Little and James H. Lee, Seminole County Democratic Chairman.

Gen. Snyder Praises Guard Unit Strength

The Assistant Commanding General of the 48th Armored Division of the Florida-Georgia National Guard was in Sanford yesterday for a formal inspection of the troops and facilities.

On hand to greet Brig. Gen. Maxwell C. Snyder, on his arrival from St. Augustine yesterday about 3 o'clock were Maj. Roy Green, Maj. Bob Baker, Capt. Johnnie Kroschick, and Capt. Joseph D. Bryant.

Headquarters of Co. B, 154th Armored Infantry Battalion at the Sanford Army were inspected by a staff of officers arriving with Gen. Snyder.

Mayor F. D. Scott welcomed Gen. Snyder to Sanford.

Gen. Snyder commented at length on the "strength" of the local National Guard Company which numbers only 61 men.

"If the people of the community would only recognize that the National Guard is theirs," Gen. Snyder told Mayor Scott, the unit could come up to its full strength.

"This man," Gen. Snyder said as he pointed to Capt. Joseph D. Bryant, Commanding Officer of the Company, "has a tough assignment."

"It is the lack of manpower and the rapid turnover of personnel," he told the Mayor, "which gives us a hard time getting young officers personnel."

"Traditionally we have a high standard of training and the unit strength does not live up to those standards," he said.

Gen. Snyder pointed to the fine record of the local unit prior to World War II. "Seminole County and Sanford furnished more troops than any other unit in Florida, and more troops than any other city in comparison with size," he said.

He also compared Sanford with other units throughout the state. "For instance," he said, "Apalachicola has a strength of 90 men, 102 at Starke; 98 at Camp Blanding; 193 at Clearwater, and 90 at St. Augustine, among a few that we can recall."

"We need the support of the community," Gen. Snyder said, "and we hope that you can do something about it."

Lt. Gen. Joseph C. Hutchison (retired) was at the Armory yesterday to greet Gen. Snyder on his arrival here for the formal inspection.

Others accompanying Gen. Snyder to Sanford for the inspection were: Capt. R. G. Nelson, CWO H. W. Mullis, and Col. A. E. Durrell.

Herlong Federal System To Include 17-92

More than 200 members of Sanford's civic clubs heard Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong Jr., report yesterday on the 84th session of Congress at a joint meeting held at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church Parish House.

Held jointly with the Sanford Rotary Club, other clubs represented were the Sanford Kiwanis Club, Sanford Lions Club, Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Sanford Pilot Club, and the Business and Professional Women's Club of Sanford.

Presidents of the various civic groups were seated at the speakers table.

Bill Kirk, prominent Seminole County Democrat introduced Congressman Herlong whom he compared with a prominent athlete. "His life is like an open book," said Kirk, "the way he conducts himself on and off the field." He added, "In these troubled times we are proud to have such a man as 'Syd' Herlong in our Congress."

Herlong's address was completely non-political and dealt only with the accomplishments and problems of the last session of Congress.

The Fifth District Congressman spoke briefly on the Farm Bill which came before the nation's lawmakers. Discussing the bill which passed during the 84th session, Herlong said "I think it was the lesser of the two evils—and still is not the answer to our problems."

"The cost is about a million dollars a day for storage of surplus farm products and there is just about as much going out today as there is coming in," explained Congressman Herlong.

An important adjunct of the farm bill and aid to the farmer was the proposed soil bank program—the bill which is intended to pay the farmer for not planting, said Herlong. "It isn't the idealistic program," he said, "and I voted against it."

A lot of these things look good on paper, Herlong explained, so you have to dig into the meat of them to find out what they are. "I have contacted farmers in this district to find out how they feel about the proposed bill — and they're against it," said Herlong.

Turning to the Federal Road Program Congressman Herlong told his civic club audience that the bill provides for "some 41,000 miles of highways."

The original bill, said Herlong proposed the forming of a Federal Highway Corporation empowered to issue bonds to be paid off in 30 years. This was the administration's estimate.

"Under authority of the bond resolution you are authorized to issue additional parity bonds with a pledge of the gross revenues from the Utility Department," he said.

"It seems to me that it can be done," Holt said, "but it is a question of whether or not you want to pledge these revenues."

However, attention was called to (Continued on Page Seven)

FHA Operating Loan Service Expansion Told

New legislation has increased the number of farm families who are eligible to obtain operating loans from the Farmers Home Administration, Curtis J. Green, the agency's County Supervisor said today.

The new law increases the maximum amount that can be advanced, and as a part of the Rural Development Program makes loans available when the farmer has part-time employment off the farm.

Operating loans are made for the purchase of machinery, livestock, equipment, fertilizer, seed, tractor fuel and other farm and home operating expenses needed to carry out efficient farming operations on family-type farms. In some instances, a loan may be made for the refinancing of existing debts.

Under this new law loans will also be available to applicants who have part-time employment off the farm, provided they are established farmers conducting substantial farming operations and spending the major portion of their time farming. Such operators must have dependable sources of outside income. The main purpose of these loans will be to help farmers who live in areas designated for the Rural Development Program.

Operating loans are repayable over periods of one to seven years with the interest rate at five per cent.

All of the present loan services of the Farmers Home Administration, which include loans for development and purchasing of family-type farms, farm housing and soil and water conservation continue to be available.

The Farmers Home Administration County Committee will determine the eligibility of each applicant. The committee is composed of three men, two of whom must be farmers.

In Seminole County the Committeemen are William P. Chapman, Box 1378, Sanford, Cader G. Hart, P. O. Box 274, Geneva, and Henry J. Schumacher Jr., Rt. 2, Box 210, Sanford.

Additional information regarding these loans may be obtained at Room 418, Sanford Atlantic National Bank Building.

Sportsmen Urged To Attend Meet

The Seminole County Sportsman Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Seminole County Courthouse Thursday night, Oct. 25 at 8 o'clock.

John Meisch, president of the sportsmen's organization, urged members to attend and take part in the important discussions on matters that will be placed before them.

Partly cloudy today and Wednesday with a few widely scattered afternoon thundershowers; low tonight 66-67.

Sewer Extension Curtailment Will Stop City's Growth

Democrats Honor Congressman Last Night At Dinner

A dinner honoring A. S. "Syd" Herlong, Fifth District Congressman, was given by the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee at Jim Spencer's Restaurant last night at 6 o'clock.

James H. Lee, long-time chairman of the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee presided at the dinner with Andrew Carraway making the introductions of guests invited.

Herlong told the group of 32 Seminole County leaders that an experience during his annual visit to Sanford and Seminole County rewarded him for "all of my efforts" in Washington.

He told of a family, mother, father, and two children who visit him to express their appreciation for all that had been done for them. "That is something that makes working a real pleasure," said Herlong.

Lee, the Democratic group's chairman in Seminole County, introduced Herlong saying "He is the greatest statesman of our time."

Included in the guest list for the occasion honoring Herlong were: Senator Douglas Stenstrom, Representatives Mack N. Cleveland Jr. and Gordon V. Fredericks, Lee Gary, Mayor of Oviedo, F. D. Scott, Mayor of Sanford, Circuit Judge Vassar B. Carlton, Judge Ernest Housholder, Supt. of Public Instruction R. T. Milner, Sheriff Luther Jobby, Clerk of Circuit Court O. P. Herndon, and Tax Collector John Galloway.

There were 32 guests at the dinner.

Congressman Herlong, in impromptu discussions regarding various accomplishments of the 84th Congress, said "The Sanford-Titusville Canal was proposed in the Omnibus Bill during the last session but was vetoed by President Eisenhower."

Odham: Problem Critical

No further extension of the sewer system in Sanford was brought to the forefront last night as the Board of Sanford City Commissioners discussed the construction of a sewage treatment plant.

J. Bralley Odham, speaking to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners, said "It seems to me that you are of the opinion that it will be four years before a treatment plant is started."

"I happen to know," said Odham, that there will be no further extension of sewers according to a letter from the State Board of Health.

"The effect of that letter," Odham stated, "is that growth will be strongly curtailed."

"I want to see Sanford grow, and it will with strong leadership," Odham told the Board. "There is a direct relationship between the Capital Improvement program and the Sewer Treatment Plant," he said.

"I long ago said that the sewage treatment plant would give us the number one opportunity for growth," said Odham. "I am in the building business and I have now 19 homes for sale unless we can arrange for sewer extension. By this coming January I will have completed 230 homes and we're just one of the builders, no more loans—VA says no more sewer extensions—FHA says no more more loans—VA says no more loans."

"Do you have a letter granting extensions?" asked Odham. "I discussed this with Dave Lee of the Board of Health this morning," he said, "and I am utterly amazed."

City Manager Warren E. Knowles interrupted Odham to say "We are deeply concerned about this and want to get the sewage treatment plant as quickly as possible."

Commissioner David Gatchel commented "We are concerned. But I'd like to see our Utility Department self-sustaining. Before my three year term expires we will have a treatment plant either built or under construction."

"I think this is something you've got to get into now," Odham said. Commissioner Gatchel, reminded that sewer extensions had been stopped said "I doubt very seriously if any member of this commission will allow sewer extensions to be cut off."

The question of continuing sewer lines outside of the city limits came up when City Manager Knowles said that "When we talk about pledging revenues, they are done so to continue building sewers outside of the city."

(Odham replied "You can't limit Sanford to 25th St.")

Action Is Delayed On Move To Reduce Total Negro Cabs

Reduction of the number of Negro taxicabs operating in the city of Sanford came before the Board of Sanford City Commissioners at its meeting last night.

However, with two commissioners absent and unable to hear the discussions, final action on the move was delayed to a later meeting.

Attorney R. W. Ware represented the executors of the estate of Will Hankerson, and requested that the commission "give some reason for rejecting the transfer of permits for the operation of the two taxicabs formerly operated by Will Hankerson."

Mayor F. D. Scott pointed out that the City of Sanford has a many Negro taxicabs as are needed and many complaints have been received by the commission on their operation.

"It seems as if we could get some more equitable means of cutting down on the number of cabs operating on our streets," said Commissioner David Gatchel.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles reported to the Board of Commissioners that a crackdown on taxicab operation was in force and that two operators had been brought before him because of violations resulting in a 30-day suspension of their licenses.

However, said the City Manager, the crackdown will require the steadfast backing of the Board of Commissioners.

City Attorney William C. Hutchison called attention of Attorney Ware to Section 24-4 of the City Code on Page 312 relative to the application for taxicab permit.

Mayor F. D. Scott tabled the discussion and action until the Board of Sanford City Commissioners' next meeting.

New Treatment Is Developed For Hepatitis

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (U.P.)—A new combination treatment promises speedy recovery from infectious hepatitis, a stubborn liver disease, two physicians have reported.

Combination of the hormone cortisone and an antibiotic cleared up the jaundice-producing disease within a week or two in 12 patients treated so far, Dr. Max Jacobson and Dr. Charles Resler of New York City write in the New York State Journal of Medicine.

Recovery from hepatitis usually takes many months, with strict bed rest for weeks.

While only 12 persons have been treated with the new technique, none have had a relapse. The first was treated five years ago.

Infectious hepatitis is caused by a virus and the disease is apparently increasing, the physicians said. Some 50,000 cases were reported over the nation last year, and many more may not have been reported to health boards.

The infected liver enlarges, the patient gets jaundice, becomes weak, usually feels nauseated. Bed rest and high-protein diet have been the main treatment, but recovery is slow.

To this regular treatment, Jacobson and Resler added a combination of small doses of cortisone and aureomycin or streptomycin. The solution is given daily by vein for a week or more.

Patients usually feel better in a day or two, and signs of the disease disappear within a week, the doctors said. The average hospital stay for the 12 was reduced to less than two weeks.

Just why the combination treatment brings this quick benefit is not so clear, the physicians said. Cortisone apparently reduces inflammation of the liver. The antibiotic may help by combating secondary infections, or partially sterilizing the gastrointestinal tract to reduce the chemical work the liver must do.

Professor Thinks South Will Join U.S. In Few Years

JACKSON, Tenn. (U.P.)—A University of Mississippi professor says he thinks the South, including Mississippi, "will probably join the United States in a few years."

Dr. James W. Silver, head of the Ole Miss history department, was speaking of a mental union—not geographical.

In a talk before the Rotary Club, Silver said there are two separate creeds, American and Southern. Southern minds have found them difficult to reconcile, he added.

However he said the American creed is beginning to replace the Southern creed and one of these days the union will be complete.

Silver called secession from the Union, the act that brought on the Civil War, "the greatest blunder, the most stupid action and most tragic thing that ever happened."

A number of "illusions" caused the action, he said, among them the false belief among Southerners that the abolitionists controlled the North.

He said a present-day comparison shows how many Southerners believe the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People controls the North now.

Big Treasure Hunt May Soon Be Afoot

TALLAHASSEE (U.P.)—A hunt for pirate treasure may soon be afoot among the thousands of islands lying off Florida's Lower West Coast.

A state treasure hunting lease was issued Tuesday to James Carr of Washington, D. C. State Land Agent Van Ferguson said Carr's plans but understand he is looking for a schooner called the Morgan.

The area in which Carr will hunt includes Morgan Bay and Morgan Pass.

Carr's $100 a year non-exclusive lease covers 12,801 acres in Collier County just north of the Monroe County line. If he finds treasure, he will get an exclusive lease on one acre of his choice. The state gets 12 1/2 per cent royalty on anything discovered.

New Water Program Checks Tooth Decay

By HERMAN N. BUNDLIN, M. D.

IT has been shown that fluoridation of a community's water supply will help prevent dental disease among children.

Despite the criticism of fluoridation and there has been some opposition to it—it is a sound dental health measure. Numerous studies have already proved this.

Result of Survey

These surveys disclosed that teeth treated with sodium fluoride showed about 40 per cent less decay than teeth which had not been treated.

The presence in drinking water of one part fluoride to 1,000,000 parts water has reduced the incidence of dental decay up to 60 per cent in cases where youngsters drank fluoridated water from birth until the age of eight.

Chicago recently embarked upon a fluoridation program. More than 1,100 other communities across the country where water supplies are deficient in fluoride also have fluoridation programs.

Chief Argument

The chief argument of those opposing fluoridation is that fluorides are poisons. And so they are—in large quantities. But the approved method of fluoridating city water supplies won't harm either children or adults. It will help combat dental caries.

You can compare the trace of fluoride in your water supply to the trace of iodine in iodized table salt.

Iodine, too, is poisonous if consumed in large amounts. Yet iodized salt has been used for some 33 years and has helped greatly to eliminate virtually all goiter trouble in the United States.

Table salt itself is poisonous in large quantities. Remember the countless persons admit at sea dates and there has been some who have died from drinking salt water.

The safety of the fluoridation program is demonstrated again by two recent studies of the United States Public Health Service. One study showed the death rates in 32 fluoride cities and 32 neighboring non-fluoride cities were virtually the same.

No Harmful Effects

In the other, complete medical examinations of the eyes, ears, liver, kidneys, bones, thyroid, heart and other organs showed no harmful bodily effects due to drinking water containing even eight parts per million of fluoride.

An estimated 25,000,000 persons in the United States are now drinking fluoridated water each day. In all, about one of every four residents of America's urban areas uses water containing a suitable amount of this element.

The nation's dental future looks pretty bright indeed.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Q. C. My daughter's palms sweat excessively. It seems no other part of her body does so to such an extent. What causes this and is there anything that can be done about it?

A. Answer: The reason for localized sweating is not always clear. It often occurs in otherwise normal individuals. It may follow emotional stress.

The use of a weak solution of ammonium chloride on the palms is sometimes of help.

WILDLIFE SPECIALIST DIES FROM SNAKE BITE

TALLAHASSEE (U.P.)—Donald Carroll, wildlife specialist with the Florida Fresh Water Fish and Game Commission, died last night from the bite of a rattlesnake he was displaying in an exhibit at Perry yesterday.

When the snake bit Carroll during a demonstration at a pine tree festival, he calmly replaced it in its box and gave himself first aid.

If then went to a doctor's office in Perry, Taylor County seat 52 miles southeast of here and was brought to Tallahassee Memorial Hospital in an ambulance.

Good Roof Is Economy Measure

Roofs have definitely come into the limelight, both in the design of new homes and the modernization of older ones. Today the type of roofing used goes much further than simply choosing the one that will give the greatest protection at the lowest cost. Color, texture and pattern are equally important. Architects, realizing that the roof is the single largest area of the house, choose the roof color to dictate the entire exterior color scheme of the house.

Designers say that a light colored roof can make a house appear taller, an important note for one-story homes. Engineers have discovered that a white roof will make a home cooler in summer through greater heat reflection. Roofing materials are now available in a wide range of colors to satisfy any home owner's color preference.

Asphalt shingles, the most popular roofing material, have a coating of ceramic granules which give the roof both color and texture. They are firmly imbedded in the base material so that the color and texture remain for the life of the roof.

With air conditioning becoming increasingly popular, the selection of a roofing material with insulating qualities is of utmost importance. This factor, plus the choice of a light colored roof, can greatly increase the efficiency of an air conditioner.

If, during Operation Home Improvement, a home owner is planning to reroof his home he should be sure the following points are checked: soundness of the roof deck to determine whether it will support the additional weight of the new roof, an examination of the old roof for curled or loose shingles, and a thorough check-up and repair job on the flashing at chimneys, plumbing vents, skylights, dormers and valleys.

PAINTING SOIL PIPES
The preservative coating on most soil pipes inside the house will destroy an oil paint. To prevent this, first paint the pipes with aluminum paint. After it dries, the pipes can then be successfully painted.

Top Lighting Panels Make Home Brighter

Modern lighting is looking up... to the ceiling... for added smartness and efficiency.

Ceiling lighting was designed and used principally in office buildings, but it now offers unusual possibilities for home use.

You'll discover that top lighting helps to create a feeling of space, lightens dark ceilings and adds to your decor!

Glass panels set in the ceiling are today's answer to locations where windows are not possible; as in corners of rooms, windowless alcoves, entry ways, and other areas.

Formerly dark halls and doorways can now have a cheerful daylight effect with a luminous ceiling area.

Even light from the ceiling, plus mirror lights, in the bathroom gives a perfect light for shaving or make-up.

Kitchen work areas, when lighted from above, reduce fatigue, are better lighted and cupboard items are more visible.

Plan now to top-off the beauty and charm of your home with smart, new top-lighting!

Rainsoots, Gutters Need Going-Over Before Winter

One of the most important phases of Operation Home Improvement is to make it a thorough home check-up! And every home owner should be sure that this pre-winter check-up includes a thorough inspection of the gutters and downspouts.

Neglect, particularly in winter, can lead to serious damage to a house and the resulting heavy expense.

Having the gutters cleaned is especially important. When gutters are clogged by leaves an accumulation of ice may form. This can result in damage to the gutters and, in case of a thaw, the melting ice could run under the roofing and seriously damage the ceilings of the house.

Too, leaves in gutters absorb water like a sponge and this weight may tear the brackets holding the gutters loose.

While gutters are being cleaned, they should be thoroughly checked for rust and any rusted spots repaired and painted.

Downspouts should be checked for accumulated leaves which can cause backed-up water to freeze and split the spouts. It is wise to have wire mesh installed where the spout and gutter connect to prevent this damaging clogging by leaves.

Colored Tile Helps Add Modern Look To Older Homes

Color has invaded the home and today more than ever the kitchen has become the new center of family fun! You can make your kitchen bright, charming and easy to keep clean with colorful plastic, or baked enamel on aluminum wall tiles or ceramic tile.

Your laundry, or utility room, can be a cheerful place in which to work, when you decorate with bright wall tiles.

Wall tiles will also transform your dark, old fashioned bathroom into a light, modern room. These new tiles resist water and moisture and are easy to clean.

There is a wide variety of solid colors, patterned tiles and sizes to choose from.

Use Wallpaper In Modernizing

Many a house has been modernized with a paint brush—remodeled, to all appearances, by using the tricks of color. But you can achieve even greater magic with some of the new designs in wallpaper.

There are wallpaper patterns and textures that are perfect answers to sloping walls, structural jogs, alcoves, recesses, rooms that are too tall and rooms that seem too small.

DECORATING ADVICE

When planning to decorate your home, remember that attractive rooms are not the result of only money, but good taste as well. A trained decorator can save you money as well as time and will plan a decorating program which will reflect a look of continuity.

One of the first methods of window glass manufacture, known as the "crown" process, consisted of softening a bubble of glass and then flattening it by rotation into a crude sheet.

Useful Hardwood

Hardwood flooring has been a favorite of American homeowners since the rough hewn oak planks of colonial times, to today's scientific kiln-dried hardwoods.

Hardwood flooring is famed for its durability... often outlasting the life of a home. Also hardwood flooring is still accepted standard of quality in home construction. Today the manufacturing and ingenuity of the hardwood industry has reduced costs, so that hardwood flooring can be used in even the most modest homes.

Oak is the most widely used hardwood. Hard maple, beech, birch and pecan rank next.

Long mirrors hung vertically in a room tend to add height to the ceiling, while large rectangular mirrors mounted on the wall give the feeling of width and spaciousness.

Something Should Be Done To Rid Central Florida Area Of Hyacinth

There seems to be an accumulating problem confronting one of the agencies of our State Government — a problem that has grown so big it is unmanageable.

Too many times lakes and rivers of the Central Florida area have been clogged with hyacinths — clogged so bad that water traffic for small boats, which is the largest number represented around our waterfronts on our streams, comes to a standstill.

Hyacinths multiply fast and they get from one place to another with such rapidity that they appear often as by some feat of magic.

Only last weekend, Lake Monroe and the St. Johns River was covered from one side to the other with the pesky plants that became so tightly wedged that even a big boat found it hard to plow through them.

Nearly 100 acres is sometimes a comparatively small figure, but when it comes to hyacinths covering that much water, then the figure becomes astronomical.

Yet, these hyacinths float around unmolested, clogging up lakes and streams to the detriment of boating, fishing recreation and the complete use of these valued bodies of water.

Every once in a great while there will crop up a decided interest in eradicating the hyacinths.

There even exists a department in the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission under the name of "hyacinth control."

Department or no department, interest or no interest, the hyacinth continues to be a pest — continues to jam streams, lakes and rivers — continues to harass the sportsman, the fisherman, the boatman, and the skier.

With all of the possibilities for money with which to operate, no one seems to be taking the lead in making the "hyacinth pest" an issue and getting right down to the job of getting rid of them.

Frankly — no one is interested in high overhead expense, neither are they interested in high salaried investigators, overseers, experts, or what have you — their interest lies in the manpower and material to get into the streams and lakes and wipe out the rooted evil that seems to be getting the upperhand.

Fish camp operators, boating enthusiasts, fishermen, sportsmen, and just plain "interested citizens" have offered their help wherever needed to eradicate the hyacinth. But no one seems to take them up on their offer.

This job of hyacinth eradication needs to be taken hold of with a firm grip of determination to win out and put the pesky water plant out of business once and for all.

We are not interested in "putting any one person, or group of people "on the spot" so to speak. It is felt that with all of the interest, and with all of the proposed plans to create financial aid for an "eradication program", something should be done that would be worthwhile.

Frankly — it is the eradication of the hyacinth that would please us most — and please thousands of people at the same time.

Driver Training

Driving an automobile comes close to being the most dangerous thing most of us ever do in normal life. Yet by a curious paradox, most of us have learned our driving skills by haphazard, trial-and-error methods. Relatively few drivers have had formal training.

It is finally coming to be realized that this is nonsense. As automobiles become more and more powerful and fast, the demand for increased skill is rising accordingly. By this we mean not only the manual skills of handling the car, but skill in judgment, skill in road behavior.

It is encouraging, therefore, that behind-the-wheel driver training is being added to the curriculum in many high schools. This may bring about the first generation of drivers really trained to handle the hard problems of driving.

Halloween

There's a lot of good natured fun and nonsense about Halloween. But unless parents are careful Halloween and the days just before it can be a season of mischief that is not always harmless. Property is sometimes damaged, and people have suffered physical injury as the result of Halloween pranks.

Today a real effort is made by many to see that Halloween provides the kind of fun it should without degenerating into an excuse for youthful mischief. Schools and churches hold parties, neighbors cooperate in seeing that older, doughnuts and candy are available for costumed youngsters who come to call. Merchants who used to have their store windows daubed with soap at Halloween now award prizes to youngsters who decorate windows with Halloween motifs.

It is a bit hard for those of us who remember the pranks of our own youth to be too self-righteous about the youngsters who want to let off steam at Halloween. But we do not do children a service if we allow them to believe that there are seasons of the year when responsibility vanishes, when respect for property is not demanded. Let Halloween be fun — but let's keep it the right kind of fun.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE
And God said let the earth bring forth.— Genesis 1:11.
God's love is revealed by the magnificent treasures he stored in the earth. Six inches of soil yields our daily bread but the sea is full of hydrogen each gallon of which contains power that staggers the imagination. The bad lands of South Dakota are filled with rare earths of priceless value, the great stretch of bad lands between east and west Canada we now know are fabulously rich in rare earths.

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:
Q. I'm planning to sell the home I bought with a GI loan. Do I remain liable in case he defaults and the loan is foreclosed?
A. Not necessarily. Under a new law, you may be relieved of liability if the buyer takes over your loan. He must assume full liability on the loan; VA must approve his credit; and the loan must be current.
Q. I understand that I have 120 days from discharge to get Korean GI term insurance. Will my 120-day deadline still apply, even though the law says no new policies may be issued after December 31, 1956? My 120 days would carry me beyond that date.

A. You would not have the full 120 day period to obtain Korean GI term insurance. You would have to apply and pay your first premium before December 31, 1956 even though that gives you less than 120 days to act.
Q. A young man I know is eligible for schooling under the War Orphans Education Program. He's still in high school. Would he be allowed to finish his regular high school education under the War Orphans program?
A. No. The law prohibits regular high school training. Below-College-level schooling is allowed only when it is specialized vocational training that will fit a student for a vocation goal.
Q. When I went back on active duty, I surrendered my permanent plan of GI insurance for cash, so that I would be covered by the free $10,000 death indemnity. Since indemnity coverage ends December 31, 1956, I will lose my coverage. Is there any way I can get back my permanent GI policy?
A. Under the law, you may obtain a new permanent policy of the same kind and amount as your surrendered policy—but at premium at your present age. Or you may reinstate your surrendered policy by paying the required reserve and the current month's premiums. You may obtain this insurance while in service or within 120 days after your discharge. You could arrange for the insurance to take over when the free indemnity expires.
Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their GI benefits should write or visit the VA office at 42 E. Central Ave., Orlando.

MYRON COMEN heard an anxious mama in the Catskills, tree, scream at him, "Heathcote, come down from that tree, before you break both the legs! Mama's warning you, Heathcote! Either you come down, or when you fall and break both the legs, don't think you can come running to mama."
"My wife," confided one Century Club member to another, "is off on a new diet: a diet consisting entirely of coconuts." "My goodness!" marveled the other. "Has it made her lose any weight?" "Not a pound," admitted Number One, "but you should see her shiny up a tree!"

Bulgarian Sticks Nose In Campaign

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin stuck his nose into an American election campaign and "the end" may mean the end to a lengthy correspondence which has been going on since the beginning.

Besides, the Russian had developed a habit of breathing down Adlai Stevenson's neck. Twice he followed up Stevenson's suggestions on ending H-bomb tests by making similar proposals himself.

Bulganin has written President Eisenhower seven letters on disarmament since they first met at Geneva in July 1955. Eisenhower has answered five times. They could never agree.

Meanwhile, their representatives in the United Nations, on a special commission to work out disarmament plans, couldn't agree, either.

This is the American position:

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY
While the average voter thinks of the coming election as an opportunity to express his choice for President and a number of lesser office candidates and has probably already made up his mind, few are prepared to cast an intelligent ballot on the 11 amendments they will find on the ballot.

Constitutional amendments annoy most voters. True, they have all been published as the law requires, but they might just as well be printed in Chinese as far as most folks are concerned. Legal language with its trick wording is so far over the head of the average sovereign citizen that he hasn't the slightest idea what they are all about so over the years he has formed the habit of passing them up entirely or voting "no" to all of them, just out of spite.

The law allows a voter five minutes in a voting booth. Recently a test was made in Tampa, where a voter attempted to read the ballot all the way through and mark his choice. It took fifteen minutes.

Under the circumstances unless a voter prepares himself before

United Drive Against Singular Drive Is Issue At Supper Honoring Faculty

By MARIAN R. JONES

OVIDO—The members of the faculty of the Oviedo School were again the guests of honor Friday evening when the members of the Oviedo Woman's Club entertained with a supper at the Memorial building honoring them and the husbands of the club members.

Mrs. Joseph Leinhardt and Mrs. George Morgan portrayed the spirit of Halloween in their decoration scheme, using lighted pumpkins interspersed with sprays of orange flowers. The witches and hobgoblins were saving their appearance for Halloween.

Mrs. Don Ulrey, president of the Oviedo Woman's Club, had designated certain parents to be responsible for the greeting of the teachers at the door, to introduce them and make them welcome. So many of the Woman's Club members do not belong to the P.T.A. and are not familiar with the members of the faculty that this was an ideal arrangement.

Many groups were gathered around enjoying the casual conversation when Mrs. Ulrey interrupted with the "supper call."

Of course, this was not an un- welcome idea, considering the looks of the food displayed on the table—which disappeared very fast after the seventy odd members and guests had partaken of it.

Mrs. Roy E. Weisenberger was chairman of the Civic Committee in charge of all arrangements, and they did a "bang-up" job. Two hats off to Mrs. Lynn Mosier, Mrs. George Morgan, Mrs. Joseph Leinhardt, Miss Esther Beistler, Mrs. Alex Leinhardt and Mrs. R. F. King, the members of Mrs. Weisenberger's committee.

The program that followed was a very entertaining one. The Reverend George C. Carlton, who introduced the participants in the affair, explained the issue. It dealt with the United Drive against the Singular Drive.

A. A. Myers, general manager of Wheeler Fertilizer Company, gave the pros and cons for the United Drive while Mrs. Oregon Burnett, a long time Woman's Club member and a past president of the organization, gave some interesting questions that might arise for discussion against it.

Myers quoted statistics on the successful Orlando United Drive, a very interesting talk indeed.

Mrs. Burnett said his arguments had been so impressive she may as well sit down. In spite of the fact that she was pinch hitting for James Pearson at the last moment, she had a good list of debatable questions for the singular drive, including: "What would be the cost of same? What would we do should another occasion arise for funds after we had given our sum for the United Drive, one that we would like to contribute to very much? Last but not least of them, 'Why Change?' She said this was a question of importance in Oviedo.

Myers had already brought out that volunteer workers would be used for the United Drive, estimating a high operating cost for such a drive.

He had suggested that in addition to the usual Cancer, Polio and many other funds, including Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, that we add an Emergency Home Fund a fund that could be in good use for our community in case the occasion should arise. This brought the hearty approval of the assembled guests.

How to get started? That was answered with the idea that the Oviedo Woman's Club take the initiative, as it had had many years of experience in this field of work, by calling together the various organizations to discuss the issue. If they were in favor, to pick a representative from each organization, including one from each church, to form a board.

Many questions were heard from those in the Memorial building and ably answered by someone present.

The Reverend Carlton thanked both participants for their part on the program, saying that they had been sports enough to take each side of the issue, regardless of which side they might be in sympathy with.

A display of hands showed that the majority favored the United Drive. The greatest question was that some might not be able to give a large sum at one time, whereas they could give small donations at various times. This was brought up by Mrs. Burnett in her talk.

Teachers present for the occasion included Miss Dorothy Rice, second grade teacher; Mrs. Walter C. Teague, third grade teacher; Mrs. James Parlin, fourth grade teacher; Mrs. W. H. Deshaun, fifth grade teacher; Mrs. James Merritt Staley, Miss Lois Ruddle, R. L. Blankenship, Mrs. M. B. Smith, Miss Kathryn Swatt and Professor (Coach) Paul Mikler, all high school teachers, and W. H. Deshaun, principal; also Miss Carolyn Anderson, music teacher, and Professor Michael Fisher, band director.

Exerts included: Mrs. Rita member of Miss Rice; Walter A. Teague; James Parlin; Will DeShazo as the husband of the fifth grade teacher and as principal; James Merritt Staley; Mrs. R. L. Blankenship; M. B. Smith; Mrs. Paul Mikler; and Mrs. Michael Fisher.

Friday night the R. O. Q. was the scene of two parties. One was the steak dinner for the members of the Brownie Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church. Each person brought his own steak and cooked it to perfection over the coals in the barbecue pits. Hosts were Capt. and Mrs. Robert Jackson, Mrs. E. J. Mills, Leir, and Mrs. Al Hillner, and Leir, and Mrs. Lew Millsaps. . . . Others listening to the inspiring talk given by Chaplain Arnold were Cdr. and Mrs. O. B. Gray, Cdr. Tom Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weibull, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Akken, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kipp, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wright Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Al Case, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bone, Lt. and Mrs. Howard Weigle, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Milwee, Rev. and Mrs. A. G. McClinn, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hale, Leir, and Mrs. Lee Hamrick, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weir, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Garcia, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Freeman, Mrs. Charles Arnold, Mrs. Ruth Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Winn, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Armstrong, Dr. and Mrs. Vann Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McKibbin, Mrs. Fred Ganas, Mrs. Jan Wray, Mrs. D. W. Looker, Miss Kathryn Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeYoung.

Fried shrimp was served to those who gathered in the R. O. Q. for Happy Hour the same night. Seen among the crowd were Louise and Jim Parker, Jane and John Miller, Dottie and John King, Skip and Ernie Harrel, Walt and Beryl Swanson, Pat and Dave Todd, Betty and Charles MacBriar, Walt and Pat Ruhl, Cy and Jean Filton and Bill Hamilton, here from VMIH in Jacksonville.

The monthly luncheon of the women's Golf Association will be held Wednesday at the Country Club. Reservations have been made for you, so if you do NOT wish to come please call Louise Parker at 2586 M, and cancel.

A large group attended the VMIH party given at the R. O. Q. Saturday night. Barbecue chicken was on the menu and every one had a wonderful time.

Hostesses at a surprise baby shower were Lou Johnson and Terry Price, Saturday morning. The honorees were Olivia Simons and Mary Heath, who are expecting Christmas babies. The table was beautifully decorated with a blue cake on one end and a pink on the other. Pink hibiscus with maroon center, also graced the table, surrounding a pink stork. Coffee, cake and Danish cookies were served to the guests, who brought many lovely and useful gifts. Those watching Olivia and Mary open their load were: Mary Libbs, Marilyn Forrest, Ruth Novella, Betty Guy, and her mother, Mrs. Palaska. Ida Radtke, Joan Weigle, Jeanette Culppeper, Katie Cummins, Kay Dwyer, Dorothy Hauser, Gladys Lilleboe, Jane Miller, Ruth Spar-

tr. Pinky Wallace, Dot Mann, Thelma MacMurray, and Nancy Bielawski. Rita Bauer and Joarna England were unable to attend.

HATTU had a family picnic at the Lemon Bluff fishing camp Sunday afternoon. Nearly all the officers, their wives and children appeared to eat lobster and hot dogs, with all the extras. There was water skiing and swimming, perhaps the last of the season. Verne Mountcastle and Harry Griffin made the arrangements, and it was most successful.

Paul Speltz, John Doolley, Bob Stone, and many others from VMIH are back from their deployment to the Med. They are tinned and lean after five months, and mighty glad to be back home.

Didi and Boyd Weber entertained a few friends for supper Sunday night. The Parkers, Swansons, and Conns ate heartily of barbecue chicken, and came home early. Many parties are being planned for the Webers, who have been in Sanford for three years, and have friends galore among both Navy and civilians.

The wives of VMIH called Gretchen Hill the other night and report that she is well and expects to return to Sanford the end of November for a few days. Gretchen wrote to Mr. and asked that I thank the many kind friends who helped so much during the tragedy. She may be unable to write to each and every one, but your presents and sympathy was deeply felt and will always be remembered.

NOTICE—The N. A. S. Wives Bridge Club will be held at the R. O. Q. Thursday Oct. 25, at 11:00 a. m. Mrs. Joe Leary will be hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Cobb returned Saturday from Newark, N. Y., where they have been spending the past two months.

Friends of Mrs. Mabel A. Brown will be glad to learn she is doing nicely after undergoing surgery in Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Friends of Mrs. H. F. Arnschaw will be delighted to learn that she is improving after a lengthy illness.

Friends of Mrs. Hawkins Comely will regret to learn that she is ill in the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital in Orlando.

Mrs. Beulah Thornton and Mrs. Minnie Ewan have returned from Hot Springs, Ark., where they have been spending the past month.

Friends of Arthur Hatcher Jr. who was injured in an accident last week will be pleased to learn that he is improving, though his condition is still serious. He is at Memorial Hospital in Holly wood.

Miss Alice Brown, who attends the University of Miami, was home over the weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brown. She was accompanied by Sanford by Mrs. Joanne Moore also of this city, and Mrs. Nancy Smith of Coral Gables, who spent the weekend as a houseguest of Miss Moore's.

Ghosts, Goblins To Visit Paola Saturday Night

There will be witches, spooks and goblins aplenty in Paola as the Wilson School holds its annual Halloween Carnival there Saturday night, starting at 5:30 p. m. For those who feel the pangs of "mortal" hunger there will be refreshment stands serving hot dogs, hamburger, vegetable and bun, cold drinks and coffee.

To provide entertainment for these blithe spirits and so that they will feel right at home, there is to be a spookhouse, as well as dart games, a fish pond, grab bag, fortune telling, cake walk, country store, and a movie, with prizes for the most original, the prettiest, and the funniest costumes.

A gala night is promised for all who want to do something different Saturday night.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN

Mrs. Lydia Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Walaska were the guests of Walt and Beryl Swanson at dinner Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Palaska are visiting Jim and Betty Guy. Mrs. Parker is well known to friends of her son Jim Parker, and his wife Louise. She is spending several months with them in their home on Lake Mary, and will return to Mississippi in December. Also included in the party were the Gays and Parkers.

Friday night the R. O. Q. was the scene of two parties. One was the steak dinner for the members of the Brownie Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church. Each person brought his own steak and cooked it to perfection over the coals in the barbecue pits. Hosts were Capt. and Mrs. Robert Jackson, Mrs. E. J. Mills, Leir, and Mrs. Al Hillner, and Leir, and Mrs. Lew Millsaps. . . . Others listening to the inspiring talk given by Chaplain Arnold were Cdr. and Mrs. O. B. Gray, Cdr. Tom Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weibull, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Akken, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kipp, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wright Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Al Case, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bone, Lt. and Mrs. Howard Weigle, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Milwee, Rev. and Mrs. A. G. McClinn, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hale, Leir, and Mrs. Lee Hamrick, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weir, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Garcia, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Freeman, Mrs. Charles Arnold, Mrs. Ruth Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Winn, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Armstrong, Dr. and Mrs. Vann Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McKibbin, Mrs. Fred Ganas, Mrs. Jan Wray, Mrs. D. W. Looker, Miss Kathryn Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeYoung.

Fried shrimp was served to those who gathered in the R. O. Q. for Happy Hour the same night. Seen among the crowd were Louise and Jim Parker, Jane and John Miller, Dottie and John King, Skip and Ernie Harrel, Walt and Beryl Swanson, Pat and Dave Todd, Betty and Charles MacBriar, Walt and Pat Ruhl, Cy and Jean Filton and Bill Hamilton, here from VMIH in Jacksonville.

The monthly luncheon of the women's Golf Association will be held Wednesday at the Country Club. Reservations have been made for you, so if you do NOT wish to come please call Louise Parker at 2586 M, and cancel.

A large group attended the VMIH party given at the R. O. Q. Saturday night. Barbecue chicken was on the menu and every one had a wonderful time.

Hostesses at a surprise baby shower were Lou Johnson and Terry Price, Saturday morning. The honorees were Olivia Simons and Mary Heath, who are expecting Christmas babies. The table was beautifully decorated with a blue cake on one end and a pink on the other. Pink hibiscus with maroon center, also graced the table, surrounding a pink stork. Coffee, cake and Danish cookies were served to the guests, who brought many lovely and useful gifts. Those watching Olivia and Mary open their load were: Mary Libbs, Marilyn Forrest, Ruth Novella, Betty Guy, and her mother, Mrs. Palaska. Ida Radtke, Joan Weigle, Jeanette Culppeper, Katie Cummins, Kay Dwyer, Dorothy Hauser, Gladys Lilleboe, Jane Miller, Ruth Spar-

Hospital Auxiliary Begins Planning 'Hi Fever Follies'

By MARIAN R. JONES

OVIDO—Some former Oviedoans, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Seavert and son, Billy, of Limeport, Penn., have been the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee, on Lake Champlain.

It was mighty nice talking with Vera, Mrs. Bill, when she came around to greet old friends. Many here will remember the good food she used to serve us in the Oviedo Restaurant. She was then Mrs. Ralph Staley. She continued with her work after Ralph's death for a long time, finally marrying Bill and moving out to Pennsylvania.

She did not look a day older, even after she reminded us that she had been away for fourteen years.

Returning to Oviedo Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Jones and little daughter, Mary Louise, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Parker. These had the pleasure of a second vacation trip, this time to North Carolina. They had had an earlier trip to Yellowstone National Park. This time they were accompanied as far as Valdosta, Ga., by Iona's mother, Mrs. Ruby U. Jones.

Mrs. Mae E. King has returned from a nice trip to Savannah, Ga., where she visited with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eaton. She reports that Ray is much better, as he had been quite sick before her departure.

Oviedo Wilson School P-TA Hears Tucker Talk

By MARIAN R. JONES

A talk by Cecil Tucker, County Agent, on 4-H work for boys and a cartoon entitled "How To Catch Cold" were highlights of a recent P.T.A. meeting of Wilson School in Paola.

Miss Myrtle Wilson introduced Mr. Tucker, who talked in those present about 4-H work with the idea of forming a 4-H club for boys in Paola.

After the showing of the Walt Disney cartoon and the completion of plans for the Halloween Carnival, the meeting was adjourned.

You'll need about three tablespoons of fat in which to brown a four-pound rolled beef pot roast.

Broiled canned peaches, to be served with meat or poultry, look especially pretty when their canopies are garnished with sprigs of parsley or watercress. Add the garnish, of course, when the peaches come out of the broiler.

Too many eggs in cookie dough may make it tough unless there is a corresponding amount of fat added.

Want to vary those frozen breaded fish sticks? Thaw them and wrap them in pastry squares; brush the pastry with heavy cream and bake in a hot oven.

The Auxiliary is possible only through the volunteer efforts of all its members. The "Follies" will be a success through much planning and work by the members. They feel it is a privilege to work for the hospital and Sanford, and hope the townspeople will also feel it is a privilege to help and encourage with confidence and generous support.

Fleming: Things Looking Gloomy

Sanford Seminoles head mentor Bill Fleming and his assistants Bill Laver and Dave Laude began the process of picking up the pieces and trying to reform a ball club to face Winter Park Friday night.

Winter Park made it four victories in a row over the weekend by dropping Boone of Orlando. This throws the Parkers in the spotlight of Central Florida football power and makes it look like a close three-way battle for the Orange Belt Conference championship. The other two are Cocoa and Melbourne.

Winter Park has the biggest and perhaps most capable line in the conference, and the Sanford Seminoles will have more action through the line this week than they've had all season.

The odds, after only one day's workouts, look almost insurmountable for the Seminoles. The battered squad has a growing list of incapacitating injuries, and minor injuries are also showing considerable hindrance.

On the bench yesterday were Tom Brown, Murray Nance, Jack Stokas, Bob Johnson, Brantley Schirard, David Stanley, and Al Stanley is still in bed.

"Things look pretty gloomy right now," Fleming said, "but we'll be able to salvage something out of the jumble, and young bodies can heal fast, you know."

3 Important Events Slated At Chiefs Club Meet Tonight

Dr. A. W. Epps Jr., program chairman of the Seminoles Chiefs Club yesterday announced that the regular bi-monthly meeting of the organization will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Pinecrest School Auditorium.

Three very important events are scheduled to take place that should be responsible for a large turnout.

Don McAllister, sports Director of WDBO-TV, will be the featured speaker at tonight's meeting. Dr. Epps, in disclosing the arrangement of McAllister as guest speaker, said, "his talk will be of interest to our organization."

The film of the University of Florida football game will be another of the features on the agenda for the night.

The complete report on the progress of the junior high football project committee is expected to be given by W. W. Tyre, chairman of the committee, and the final stages of discussion and planning is expected to take place.

John Schirard Jr., commenting on McAllister's appearance tonight said, "This is just the beginning of the fine programs slated by Dr. Epps. If our visitor is well received tonight by a large turnout, it could well set a trend for our meetings. Dr. Epps has many plans for programs that will be both important and informative for the members of the club."

Bosseler Continues As UofM's 1 Man Offensive Show

CORAL GABLES — Capt. Don Bosseler continues to be a one man offensive show for the University of Miami Hurricanes as far as their ground game goes—but if the Hurricanes don't get mileage out of their halfbacks pretty soon, Miami will find its string of games without a defeat gone with the wind.

Every game played thus far has found Bosseler as the leading ground gainer—and only John Bookman and Claude Casey among the halfbacks have come up with as many as 32 yards in a game. That's good running for a halfback—on one play, not one game.

Bosseler, meanwhile, has kept Miami going by boring through increasingly massed forward walls. Against South Carolina, he accounted for 97 yards, against Boston College, 53 and the big Maryland line 42 yards in 13 thrusts. Against Georgia last week, he rolled for 72 yards, which gives him a total of 266 yards for the year. Miami's top halfback has picked up 80 yards this season.

All season long, the best halfback run has chalked up 14 yards for the Miami cause. Bosseler has picked up 28 yards in one burst, and in the Georgia game, was the only Hurricane to go beyond seven yards on one run.

Coch Andy Gustafson is bearing down this week on his offense as never before, trying to get the halfbacks to cover the yardage expected, and needed. With mighty Texas Christian to be met in Ft. Worth Saturday night, the Hurricanes face their stiffest test of the year—and perhaps of several years.

T. C. U. is capable of scoring three touchdowns on any team—last year Miami limited Notre Dame and Georgia Tech to two TDs apiece but Texas Christian came up with three scores to turn back the Hurricanes—last time Miami has lost a ball game. This year, TCU has nearly 90% of its 1955 men back in harness plus several standouts who were not in competition then. Miami lost most of its starters and the sophomores who replaced them are still in the "highly promising" stage.

The team hasn't jelled yet—and it must do that quickly or Miami, which has gone nine games without losing can't make that boast much longer.

Coach Says Good Guys Do Succeed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Babe Pinelli spent 21 years umpiring in the National League and says if he learned anything it's this: "The good guys do succeed. It's the 210 sisters and the scatterarms that beef and give the umpires the most trouble."

Speaking in the comparative luxury and security of his retirement, the 61-year-old grandfather listed an all-star lineup of nice guys who were and are star players.

His list includes Stan Musial, Carl Hubbell, Willie Mays, Billy Herman, Paul Waner, Marty Marion, Ted Kluszewski, Ernie Banks, Gabby Hartnett and Stan Hack.

Maybe they got that bad call, Pinelli said, but they took it without as much as a scowl.

Don Larsen, who pitched a perfect game for the Yankees in the World Series, allowed three home runs in Washington in the season's opener there last spring. He won the game.

Berra Tougher Than Mantle As Batter

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Roy Campanella held out his two hands, palms down.

"See that left index finger?" he said. "Compare it with my right index finger."

"That shows you what Newk (Don Newcombe) was throwing," said Campy. "That boy was throwing bullets. That's what they did to my index finger, and he pitched only three innings. He's never been any faster."

"Why look what he did to Mantle. (Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle who hit 52 American League home runs in 1956). He struck him out in the first inning on a 3-2 pitch and he struck him out in the third. And all he threw was blinding speed to Mantle, and he didn't care much where he threw it. He just threw it."

"But that Yogi. Man, you can't pitch to that guy. He's tougher to get out than Mantle. Sure Mantle will hit more home runs but that Yogi is the toughest batter. I'd rather see my pitcher pitch to Mantle any day than that Yogi. He hits anything he can reach."

Campanella had just finished catching the seventh and deciding game of the 1956 World Series and since Berra's two home runs started Brooklyn to a 9-0 defeat, it was with awe that he spoke about the Yankee catcher.

He was not trying to take anything away from Mantle's home runs compared Mickey and Yogi just to show how much Berra means to Casey Stengel's attack.

"Some say we won in 1955 because Mantle missed some games," said Campy. "Howwash! Take Yogi out of there and it's no contest."

Many of the Dodgers dreaded the long trip to Japan after the hectic season they went through. Some of them would have preferred to stay around to explain if possible — why they were able to get only seven hits and one run in the last three games. None could account for the fine Yankee pitching, with Don Larsen, Bob Turley and Johnny Kucks each pitching the greatest games of their lives.

"I'm going to Japan only because a doctor is going with us," said Campanella. "Look at the bone hanging out of my right thumb. As soon as I get back I'll have it taken out and I hope to be as good as new for 1957."

Since Mantle came up to the Yankees in 1951 here's how he and Berra compare in World Series games:

| | | | | | | |
|--------|----|----|---|-----|----|------|
| Ga. | AB | H | R | RBI | SO | Avg. |
| Mantle | 25 | 9 | 2 | 8 | 15 | .261 |
| Berra | 33 | 12 | 4 | 7 | 19 | .331 |

Among the players new Chicago Club manager, Bob Sheffing will have in spring training in 1957 are Gene Fodge, Bob Speake and Jim Bolger. They played for him at Los Angeles last season.

Don McAllister, sports Director of WDBO-TV, will be the featured speaker at tonight's meeting. Dr. Epps, in disclosing the arrangement of McAllister as guest speaker, said, "his talk will be of interest to our organization."

The film of the University of Florida football game will be another of the features on the agenda for the night.

The complete report on the progress of the junior high football project committee is expected to be given by W. W. Tyre, chairman of the committee, and the final stages of discussion and planning is expected to take place.

John Schirard Jr., commenting on McAllister's appearance tonight said, "This is just the beginning of the fine programs slated by Dr. Epps. If our visitor is well received tonight by a large turnout, it could well set a trend for our meetings. Dr. Epps has many plans for programs that will be both important and informative for the members of the club."

Betty Dodd Wins Lawton Ladies PGA Tourney

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—The daughter of a retired Army colonel who learned her golf while her father was stationed at nearby Ft. Sill yesterday won the Lawton Ladies PGA tournament, coming home with a course record breaking 67 for a total of 214.

Miss Betty Dodd, now of Louisville, Ky., had fired a 74 Sunday to take the lead, then put together a 73 and a 67 in yesterday's 36-hole wind-up. Rain delayed the meet two days, and forced the last two rounds of the 54-hole in to one day.

Miss Dodd won $880, first prize in the $5,000 tourney.

She was trailed by Patty Berg of Chicago, who tied the course record of 68 in her last round along with a 70 and 73 for a total of 215, good for $650.

Among the players new Chicago Club manager, Bob Sheffing will have in spring training in 1957 are Gene Fodge, Bob Speake and Jim Bolger. They played for him at Los Angeles last season.

19-Year-Old Miami Girl Homecoming Queen At Uoff

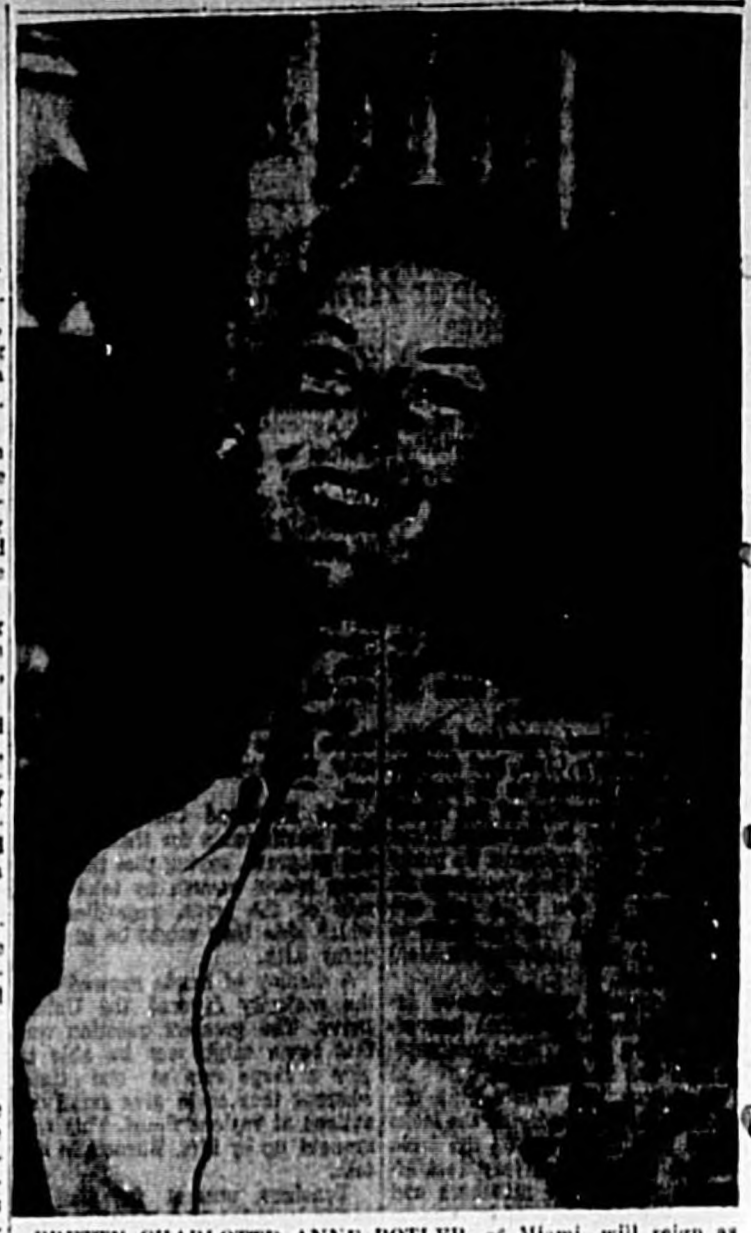

GAINESVILLE — Nineteen-year-old Charlotte Anne Potler, of 8160 NW 27th Ave., Miami, has been named Homecoming Queen at the University of Florida and will reign over festivities Nov. 2 and 3.

This is the first year the Queen has been announced prior to the famed Gator Growl, held the opening night of the weekend honoring alumni. The pretty blue-eyed blonde will be crowned as a finale to the Gator Growl Nov. 2.

She will reign over Homecoming festivities, and will be featured in the fun-filled parade on Saturday, Nov. 3.

She is the daughter of David Potler, of 43 Madison Street, NW, Washington, D. C., and was selected from five finalists by a panel of judges. A sophomore in the University College, she was sponsored in the contest by Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

With her court, she will be featured in the parade, Florida Blue Key smoker, Trianon ladies' banquet, and the Saturday football activities.

SMORGASBORD OFFENSE
SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The University of Utah Redskins have what is being called a "smorgasbord offense." The name was derived from Coach Jack Cutler's explanation of giving Utah's opponents "a little bit of everything." The team runs, passes and laterals.

Al Lang, Florida's good will ambassador to major league baseball, says 72 teams from organized leagues trained in Florida last spring. He said it was the highest number in history.

Here! New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks!

Performance-proved in a history-making test on the ALCAN Highway to Alaska

FIRST WITH THE MOST MODERN FEATURES!

New 283-cubic-inch Taskmaster V8 delivers 160 high-torque horsepower. Standard in Series 3000, 7000 and 8000, optional in Series 6000 at extra cost. Horsepower ranges up to 210 in Chevrolet's complete line-up of modern V8 and 6 truck engines.

Revolutionary Powermatic Transmission — exclusive with Chevrolet trucks! This six-speed automatic, designed specifically for heavy-duty hauling, is an extra-cost option in Series 5000 and 6000 and all heavy-duty truck models. Hydra-Matic is offered in 3000 and 4000 Series models at extra cost.

New 1957 work-styling gives Chevrolet trucks an even fresher, fleetier appearance. There are three different and distinctive styling treatments.

L.C.F. models outdate the C.O.E. because they're lower, handsemer, easier to get into and out of, and save time in routine engine maintenance. Yet they offer all the traditional C.O.E. advantages.

Heavyweight Champs with Triple-Torque tandem are rated at 32,000 lbs. GVW, 50,000 lbs. GCW. And Chevrolet's advanced tandem axle unit offers a built-in three-speed power divider—plus a unique "self-steering" action that reduces tire wear and increases handling ease.

The Alcan Highway is the road where trucks grow old before their time. The road where gravel endlessly sledgehammers the life out of trucks. Where a fog of superfine dust chokes engines, and vicious ruts subject chassis to months of wear in a few hundred miles.

Six new '57 Chevrolet trucks, representing light-, medium- and heavy-duty models and heavily loaded with cargo, roared north from Dawson Creek, B. C., through 1,520 miles of mountains and mire, rain and hail to Fairbanks, Alaska. Running around the clock, they made this tortuous trip—normally a 72-hour run—in less than 45 hours. The fleet made normal stops along the way, and maintained safe and legal speeds. As a special test during the run, two of the trucks went the entire distance without once having their engines stopped!

It's all down in the AAA record book. And more besides! Never before has a new truck been so thoroughly proved. Come in and see how well these new Alcan champs measure up to your job.

Alcan fleet gets up to 18.17 miles per gallon! That's the mileage reported by the Camco Carrier, with Thriftmaster 6 and extra-cost Overdrive.

All the way in DRIVE range! This Powermatic-equipped 10000 Series tractor traveled the entire Alcan Highway in a single forward-speed range!

CHAPTER 20

THE champagne did seem to put Mrs. Featherstone into a better humor. As she dressed, Val could hear her employer chattering gaily to Dirk through the slightly open door communicating the door of the bathroom.

"It isn't worth it," she said. "I might even come to be half myself tonight. As an onlooker, of course. I don't suppose anyone would want to dance with an old woman like me."

"Nonsense, Aunt May. I shouldn't mind about you around the foot once or twice," Dirk laughed easily back at her.

She bridled and said, "I must say your costume is original, what there is of it. How ever did you think it up?"

"Simple, my dear. I merely took the curtains down off the portholer, tied the cord of my dressing gown about my middle, combed my hair down, put a band about it, and presto—a brilliant reproduction of a Roman slave."

"You'd better hurry and come in for that drink, Val," Dirk called. "Or Aunt May will have polished off the whole bottle."

"Now Dirk, you had boy, you know I've had only one tiny glass, well, maybe one and a half."

"Or one and three quarters, or at least four," Dirk interrupted, laughing. "For heaven's sake, hurry, Val."

"I'm coming."

Mrs. Featherstone was raising a glass of champagne to her lips, but the glass never reached her lips.

"What on earth do you think you're doing in that costume, Nurse?" she rapped out sharply.

"Dirk—Mr. Hanson loaned me his dress suit."

"Well, of all the—"

"Come now, Aunt May, don't spoil it," Dirk interrupted easily. "It was I who loaned Val borrow my tux. I said she'd look wonderful in them, and she does, doesn't she?"

There was a pause. Dirk's hand rested on Mrs. Featherstone's shoulder. "Be a good sport, Aunt May. Say Val looks nice."

"I scarcely think it a ladylike costume—and especially not suitable for a nurse to wear," she said finally.

Val flushed. "I'm sorry, Mrs. Featherstone. I'll change. And if you'd prefer I didn't go to the dance tonight—"

"Nonsense," Dirk broke in. And when Mrs. Featherstone merely grunted, he laughed and added, "Come along, Val, or they'll have stopped serving."

As they neared the dining room she was thinking suddenly, Bruce, what will he think? Will he think the costume "unladylike," or even brazen?

A small round of applause greeted Dirk's and Val's appearance, which had greeted other passengers whose costumes had been a striking or unusual. As they entered, Bruce had turned and looked at them; then abruptly he had turned his back on them. He didn't join in the friendly laughter or the applause.

Dirk pushed her forward toward their table. "What's the matter, my dear? You look as though you'd seen a ghost. Smile nicely at the ladies and gentlemen."

Val forced a smile, but she was trembling as she sank down into the chair the steward was holding out for her. "I'm—I suppose I'm self-conscious."

"You haven't any need to be. I don't flatter myself I earned that applause. It's obvious our fellow-passengers approve of you."

There was a pause. "I think I understand," he said quietly.

"I suppose I was silly to wear your suit. Perhaps it does make me a little conspicuous."

"Nonsense! Look around at some of the others. Does it matter what one person thinks? And then it may be because they are jealous."

She tried to misinterpret his remark.

"But why should Mrs. Featherstone be jealous of me?"

He smiled. "Of course we're talking of Aunt May, aren't we? It's only human nature to resent the beauty one no longer possesses. Poor dear Aunt May, I can understand just how she feels."

"I do wish she'd get out of bed. I'm sure if she lay in a deck chair, the change and the air would do her good. She can't seriously think Bruce would do her any harm after all this time."

He smiled. "Of course she doesn't. But she's a stubborn old dear and once she's said a thing she'll stick to it if it kills her."

"I suppose she was like that about her daughter and Bruce," she said slowly.

He nodded. "But I think she would have come round in the end. It was only a question of keeping her appeased."

She didn't know what to think of that remark of his, but she reminded herself it was none of her business.

Directly after dinner she went up to see how Mrs. Featherstone was, but the door was locked. She knocked and called, "May I come in, Mrs. Featherstone? Are you all right?"

"Of course I'm all right," her employer's voice answered irritably. "Go away, Nurse. Run along and dance, dance, dance."

Val rattled the doorknob. "Please let me come in, Mrs. Featherstone. There may be something I can do for you."

"No, no, go away! And don't come near me again tonight. I don't want to see you."

Val was still standing there, worried and undecided, when the cabin steward came down the passage and paused.

"I shouldn't worry about her any more tonight, Miss Alison. I've just taken her in a second bottle of champagne. That should keep her happy for the time being anyhow," he lowered one eyelid in a wink.

Tree Is Born

By ALBERT LUNDAY — FARM FORESTER

Condensed from an article by L. T. Pendarvis — Marketing Specialist

What could be more majestic, more serene than a mature tree, standing silently in the forest; grown and ripened by God's kind hand, awaiting the axe and man's thousand needs? Yet, equally lovely is a tender young tree, free with promise, adding certainly to man's hopes and dreams throughout the coming years.

This story is about pine trees — young, baby pine trees and how these trees will make you money.

The standard nursery practice in a Florida State Pine Tree Nursery is to plant pine seed on beds four feet apart with water furrows between beds. The seeds are sown on the beds in rows 3 inches apart, 20 seeds to each 12 inches of row space.

After the seed are sown in the drill they are mulched with a thin layer of pine straw; thin enough that the bed can be seen through the straw.

An overhead sprinkler-irrigation system controls moisture conditions and insures maximum seed germination.

Pine seed are planted in the nursery in March, harvested in December, January, and February. One acre of nursery produces 600,000 to 900,000 seedlings.

An ideal pine seed tree is one standing out in the open to itself so that its lateral branching is heavy and its height not too great. A pine so situated, receiving an abundance of sunlight, is a heavy seed producer.

The period for harvesting cones is during the last half of September through the first week in October.

Although there are approximately 122 million trees grown each year, 75 million of these are produced in Florida Forest Service nurseries and 47 million by private industry, there seems to be rarely ever enough to fill all orders.

Several of our pulp mills furnish free trees to farmers under certain stipulations.

Trees are planted usually 8x8 feet or 6x10 feet, requiring 600 and 725 trees to the acre respectively.

When trees are purchased outright from the State Nursery they cost $1.00 per 1,000 f. o. b. the nursery.

Trend In Fashion Is To Elegance

International record hits a new high this fall when it comes to fashion, if nothing else.

On both sides of the Atlantic designers agree that ladies should look like ladies once more, that femininity and elegance should go hand in hand and that costumes for after dark should be important and elaborate.

The trend is toward rich satins and brocades, delicate embroidery, jewelry and beaded trimmings, in the manner of the "mauve decade," currently recalled in high fashion by universal interest in the modes and manners of 1912.

From Paris to Los Angeles the feeling is the same. It's a time to be feminine and dress to the teeth.

F. Herbet Seeking Brothers, Sister

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—More people bustle through an airport than a butcher shop. So, at a loss in pay, silver-haired Francis Herbet has quit his butcher shop and moved behind the snack counter of an airport. He is searching.

"I figure the job at the airport would put me in contact with many travelers," said Herbet. "And who knows, one of them may have met one of my brothers or sister."

Herbet lost track of his brothers and sister in 1912. Born William Kavan, he was taken from the New York Foundling Home that year by Mr. and Mrs. Elvise Herbet, a Parisian couple who migrated to New Orleans.

After the death of his foster parents, who had renamed him, Herbet began the quest that has consumed his energies since 1948.

"I started the search for my relatives, something I didn't want to do while the old folks were still alive," he said.

"I learned that my father was Scottish and my mother Irish and that they met and married in New York. I secured the copy of my birth certificate which indicated I was the fifth child of Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph Kavan."

"I learned that two brothers were named George and James, but could find no record of the third brother. I also learned that my sister's name was Martha Frances. I also learned that my brothers and sister were placed in the Irish Immigrants' Home, which no longer exists."

In his search, Herbet's best clue came from a cousin, who turned up in Houston.

"He has reason to believe that one of my brothers is in Canada," said Herbet. "He also believes that another brother lives in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil."

The fruitless quest caused Herbet, married and the father of three, to stand in a big airport and peer hopefully into faces.

"I'm getting myself a big metal pin with the name Kavar printed on it," said Herbet. "I'll wear it just in case some of the people coming into the airport will spot it and have some association with the name. You never can tell."

Official Says Citrus Mutual 'Too Optimistic'

LAKELAND (AP)—An official of a major processing firm says Florida Citrus Mutual has been "too optimistic" in price and use forecasts for this season.

Herbert S. Massey of Dade City cited the estimate of the U. S. Department of Agriculture that this season's orange crop will be four million boxes greater than last season's 91 million boxes, and a larger carryover of processed citrus juices.

"I can't conceive of that additional amount of fruit selling for the same price," Massey said at a meeting of Mutual's directors and its advisory committee. "I don't want to see growers holding back for $1.75 or $2 per box, and have it break back to a dollar."

Massey, a director, is a vice president of Pasco Packing Co. Mutual had predicted growers should get good prices for their oranges this season and the industry should dispose of the larger crop without difficulty.

Powerful Electron Microscope Finds New Substance

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The powerful electron microscope has thrown new light on construction of the nervous system—knowledge that could eventually help solve the mystery of multiple sclerosis and similar diseases.

The discovery concerns a substance known as myelin, found in the protective coating around nerves in the brain and spinal cord. Myelin is attacked and destroyed by degenerative diseases of the nervous system.

Dr. Sarah A. Luse, assistant professor of pathology at the Washington University Medical School, reporting on a two-year study, said it revealed myelin is formed by and is a part of the nerve-protecting cells.

Until recent years myelin was regarded as inert matter of unknown origin deposited around the nerves.

Dr. Edward W. Dempsey, head of the anatomy department at the school and a member of the research review panel of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, explained the significance of Dr. Luse's findings.

"The information on the origin and nature of myelin is a dramatic scientific discovery, not necessarily because of its relation to any disease, but because of the light it throws on the way the nervous system is constructed," Dr. Dempsey said.

"Every piece of information adds one more clue which finally could be used in unraveling the entire progress of multiple sclerosis and similar diseases of the central nervous system."

Some 60 scientists attended a conference here, sponsored by the multiple sclerosis society, at which Dr. Luse presented electron microscope pictures. Magnified up to 100,000 times, they showed how myelin is formed. Her studies were on animal tissue.

The Multiple Sclerosis Society called her discovery the most important advance in the fight against the disease in 193 years.

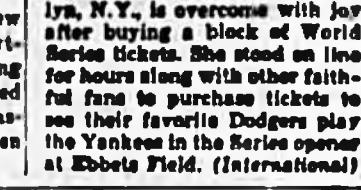

Iron Makes Care Of Ruffles Easy

Tucks, pleats, ruffles, and puffed sleeves are so very feminine. And these trimmings on pretty cotton dresses and blouses no longer present an ironing problem.

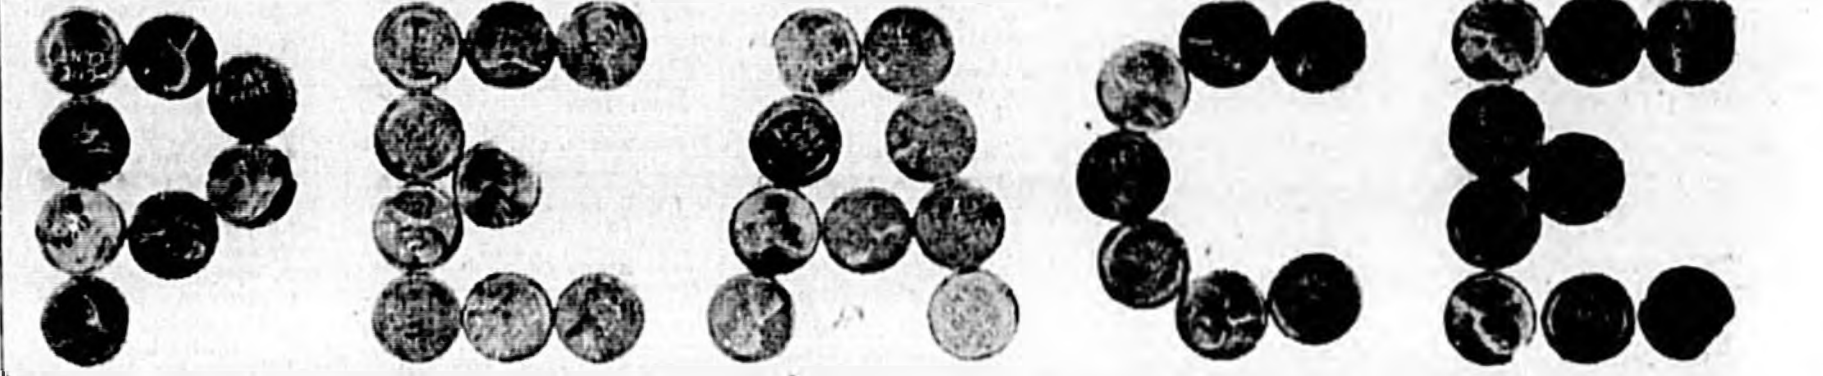

A new electric ruffle iron helps do the trick easily and in no time at all. The iron has a tall stand which fits over the edge of the ironing board and a fabric dial which can be set for the correct temperature. The fabric can be eased over the heated aluminum iron pad and smoothed with two hands when necessary.

HOT WATER HEAT

Steady gains in the installation of hot water heating systems in homes are reported by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. In the first six months of this year, 80,745 cast iron heating boilers were shipped by manufacturers, compared with 18,437 in the corresponding period of 1955.

It costs each American only 42 pennies a year for the United Nations—World War II cost each American almost 1000 times that much a year!

This is the 11th Anniversary of the UN—the 11th Anniversary of man's first completely organized search for peace

Nobody has ever said that he was sure the United Nations will prevent a war.

But then, nobody ever said he was sure a cure for cancer could be found.

The fight for a cure for war must go on, just as the fight for a cure for cancer must go on.

The United Nations is now 11 years old. With each passing year it has gained the support of more and more people. In fact, a recent survey shows that only 7% of the American people are for quitting the United Nations. The rest believe, and rightfully so, that we can never find lasting peace unless we look for it... unless we work for it.

Above, you counted 42 pennies. That's what the UN costs each American per year. Look at just a few of the things that your 42¢ is buying.

- The UN Children's Fund (UNICEF) has helped organize health campaigns that examined 400,000,000 children in 95 countries, and vaccinated 75,000,000 children against tuberculosis.
- Membership in the ten Specialized Agencies is helping to provide more food, better health and education for millions of people, and to bring about world cooperation on such matters as aviation, communications, weather, and the peaceful uses of atomic energy.
- The UN has helped to produce peaceful settlements in Iran, Indonesia, Kashmir and Palestine, any one of which could have led to World War III.
- The United Nations provides technical assistance to 78 countries. It works to eliminate sickness, irrigate deserts, and increase food production, thereby taking constructive action for peace.

'Proud Of Record' Cong. Herlong Tells Rally Crowd

At a Democratic Political rally last night at the corner of First and Magnolia St., State Senator Douglas Stenstrom introduced Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong. Stenstrom in his introduction stated that Congressman Herlong should be returned to Washington on his past performance, leadership and integrity.

Herlong in addressing the crowd said "I am proud of my record and will stand on it. I have worked hard in attending to your business the best way possible.

"I have worked for you 100 per cent during my eight years in office. I have worked hard for all ten counties in my district.

"My voting record has been attacked. Congressional records will show that I have voted on 689 of 752 bills in eight years. In advertisements in newspapers have appeared half-truths in opposition to me. Is that the type of man you want to represent you?"

In again referring to advertising, Cong. Herlong stated that expenses incurred in running for office would not exceed $2500. "I intend to abide by this. If others wish to do otherwise that is their business. But I don't intend to. I have no reason to apologize—because good results have been obtained during my stay in office. I will run on my own record," said Herlong.

Herlong spoke about the "numerous" things he had done for this area. "I helped obtain $300,000 for Canaveral Harbor, $300,000 for a citrus laboratory in Orlando and $75,000 for one in Winter Haven. I obtained research money for the fruit fly and vocational schools," he said.

On the welcoming committee and seated on the speaking stand were: State Senator Douglas Stenstrom, Representatives Mack Cleveland, Jr., and Gordon Frederich, Judge Vassar Carlton, County Clerk O. P. Herndon, Sheriff Luther Hobby, County Commissioners elect Homer Little and James H. Lee, Seminole County Democratic Chairman.

Gen. Snyder Praises Guard Unit Strength

The Assistant Commanding General of the 48th Armored Division of the Florida-Georgia National Guard was in Sanford yesterday for a formal inspection of the troops and facilities.

On hand to greet Brig. Gen. Maxwell C. Snyder, on his arrival from St. Augustine yesterday about 3 o'clock were Maj. Roy Green, Maj. Bob Baker, Capt. Johnnie Kroschick, and Capt. Joseph D. Bryant.

Headquarters of Co. B, 154th Armored Infantry Battalion at the Sanford Armory were inspected by a staff of officers arriving with Gen. Snyder.

Major F. D. Scott welcomed Gen. Snyder to Sanford.

Gen. Snyder commented at length on the "strength" of the local National Guard Company which numbers only 47 men.

"If the people of the community would only recognize that the National Guard is there," Gen. Snyder told Mayor Scott, the unit could come up to its full strength. "This man," Gen. Snyder said as he pointed to Capt. Joseph D. Bryant, Commanding Officer of the Company, "has a tough assignment."

"It is the lack of manpower and the rapid turnover of personnel," he told the Mayor, "which gives us a hard time getting young officer personnel."

"Traditionally we have a high standard of training and the unit strength does not live up to those standards," he said.

Gen. Snyder pointed to the fine record of the local unit prior to World War II. "Seminole County and Sanford furnished more troops than any other unit in Florida, and more troops than any other city in comparison with size," he said.

He also compared Sanford with other units throughout the state. "For instance," he said, "Appalachicola has a strength of 90 men, 102 at Starke; 98 at Camp Blanding; 193 at Clearwater; and 96 at St. Augustine, among a few that we can recall.

"We need the support of the community," Gen. Snyder said, "and we hope that you can do something about it."

Li. Gen. Joseph C. Hutchison (retired) was at the Armory yesterday to greet Gen. Snyder on his arrival here for the formal inspection.

Others accompanying Gen. Snyder to Sanford for the inspection were: Capt. R. G. Nelson, CWO H. W. Mullis, and Col. A. E. Durrell.

Sewage Treatment Plant Talk Brings Only 'Thank You'

A discussion, limited to the three members of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners because of absences from the meeting, and Wilson Holt, representing Goodbody and Co., investment bankers, sought the question of a sewage treatment plant on Oct. 22.

Attending the meeting was Sid Berkowitz, Sanitation Engineer of the State Board of Health and J. Brailley Odham, local builder. Also at the meeting listening to the discussions was John Kader, former commissioner who was on the Board at the time the sewer program was inaugurated.

Holt told the commissioners that from "a study of the figures submitted to me of revenue from the Utility Department of the City, the revenues are running fairly well in line with the engineer's estimate.

"Under authority of the bond resolution you are authorized to issue additional parity bonds with a pledge of the gross revenues from the Utility Department," he said.

"It seems to me that it can be done," Holt said, "but it is a question of whether or not you want to pledge these revenues."

However, attention was called to (Continued on Page Seven)

Federal System To Include 17-92

More than 200 members of Sanford's civic clubs heard Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong Jr., report yesterday on the 8th session of Congress at a joint meeting held at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church Parish House.

Held jointly with the Sanford Rotary Club, other clubs represented were the Sanford Kiwanis Club, Sanford Lions Club, Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Sanford Pilot Club, and the Business and Professional Women's Club of Sanford.

Presidents of the various civic groups were seated at the speakers table.

Bill Kirk, prominent Seminole County Democrat introduced Congressman Herlong whom he compared with a prominent athlete. "His life is like an open book," said Kirk, "the way he conducts himself on and off the field." He added, "In these troubled times we are proud to have such a man as 'Syd' Herlong in our Congress."

Herlong's address was completely non-political and dealt only with the accomplishments and problems of the last session of Congress.

The Fifth District Congressman spoke briefly on the Farm Bill which came before the nation's lawmakers. Discussing the bill which passed during the 8th session, Herlong said "I think it was the lesser of two evils—and still it is not the answer to our problems."

"The cost is about a million dollars a day for storage of surplus farm products and there is just about as much going in today as there is coming out," explained Congressman Herlong.

An important adjunct of the farm bill and aid to the farmers was the proposed soil bank program—the bill which is intended to pay the farmer for not planting, said Herlong. "It isn't the idealistic program," he said, "and I voted against it."

A lot of these things look good on paper, Herlong explained, so you have to dig into the meat of them to find out what they are. "I have contacted farmers in this district to find out how they feel about the proposed bill—and they're against it," said Herlong.

Turning to the Federal Road Program Congressman Herlong told his civic club audience that the bill provides for "some 41,000 miles of highways."

The original bill, said Herlong proposed the forming of a Federal Highway Corporation empowered to issue bonds to be paid off in 20 years. This was the administration (Continued on Page Seven)

Sportsmen Urged To Attend Meet

The Seminole County Sportsman Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Seminole County Courthouse Thursday night, Oct. 25 at 8 o'clock.

John Weisch, president of the sportsman's organization, urged members to attend and take part in the important discussions on matters that will be placed before them.

FHA Operating Loan Service Expansion Told

New legislation has increased the number of farm families who are eligible to obtain operating loans from the Farmers Home Administration, Curtis J. Green the agency's County Supervisor said today.

The new law increases the maximum amount that can be advanced, and as a part of the Rural Development Program makes loans available when the farmer has part-time employment off the farm.

Operating loans are made for the purchase of machinery, livestock, equipment, fertilizer, seed, tractor fuel and other farm and home operating expenses needed to carry out efficient farming operations on family-type farms. In some instances, a loan may be made for the refinancing of existing debts.

Under this new law loans will also be available to applicants who have part-time employment off the farm, provided they are established farmers conducting substantial farming operations and spending the major portion of their time farming. Such operators must have dependable sources of outside income. The main purpose of these loans will be to help farmers who live in areas designated for the Rural Development Program.

Operating loans are repayable over periods of one to seven years with the interest rate at five per cent.

All of the present loan services of the Farmers Home Administration, which include loans for development and purchasing of family-type farms, farm housing and soil and water conservation continue to be available.

The Farmers Home Administration County Committee will determine the eligibility of each applicant. The committee is composed of three men, two of whom must be farmers.

In Seminole County the Committee members are William P. Chapman, Box 1378, Sanford; Cader G. Hart, P. O. Box 274, Geneva; and Henry J. Schumacher Jr., Rt. 2, Box 210, Sanford.

Additional information regarding these loans may be obtained at Room 418, Sanford Atlantic National Bank Building.

Sewer Extension Curtailment Will Stop City's Growth

Democrats Honor Congressman Last Night At Dinner

A dinner honoring A. S. "Syd" Herlong, Fifth District Congressman, was given by the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee at Jim Spencer's Restaurant last night at 6 o'clock.

James H. Lee, long-time chairman of the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee presided at the dinner with Andrew Carraway making the introductions of guests invited.

Herlong told the group of 32 Seminole County leaders that an experience during his annual visit to Sanford and Seminole County rewarded him for "all of my efforts" in Washington.

He told of a family, mother, father, and two children who visited him to express their appreciation for all that had been done for them. "That is something that makes working a real pleasure," said Herlong.

Lee, the Democratic group's chairman in Seminole County, in introducing Herlong said "He is the greatest statesman of our time."

Included in the guest list for the occasion honoring Herlong were: Senator Douglas Stenstrom, Representatives Mack N. Cleveland Jr. and Gordon V. Frederich, Lee Gary, Mayor of Oviedo, F. D. Scott, Mayor of Sanford, Circuit Judge Vassar B. Carlton, Judge Ernest Housholder, Supt. of Public Instruction R. T. Millwee, Sheriff James H. Hobby, Clerk of Circuit Court O. P. Herndon, and Tax Collector John Galloway.

There were 32 guests at the dinner.

Congressman Herlong, in impromptu discussions regarding various accomplishments of the 8th Congress, said "The Sanford-Altamaha Canal was proposed in the Omnibus Bill during the last session but was vetoed by President Eisenhower."

Odham: Problem Critical

No further extension of the sewer system in Sanford was brought to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners discussed the construction of a sewage treatment plant.

J. Brailley Odham, speaking to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners, said "It seems to me that you are of the opinion that it will be four years before a treatment plant is started.

"I happen to know," said Odham, that there will be no further extension of sewers according to a letter from the State Board of Health.

"The effect of that letter," Odham stated, "is that growth will be strongly curtailed."

"I want to see Sanford grow, and it will with strong leadership," Odham told the Board. "There is a direct relationship between the Capital Improvement program and the Sewer Treatment Plant," he said.

"I long ago said that the sewage treatment plant would give us the number one opportunity for growth," said Odham. "I am in the building business and I have now 10 homes for sale unless we can arrange for sewer extension. By this coming January I will have completed 250 homes and we're just one of the builders. No more loans—VA says no more sewer extensions FIA says no more loans—VA says no more loans."

"Do you have a letter granting extensions?" asked Odham. "I discussed this with Dave Lee of the Board of Health this morning," he said, "and I am utterly amazed."

City Manager Warren E. Knowles interrupted Odham to say "We are deeply concerned about this and want to get the sewage treatment plant as quickly as possible."

Commissioner David Gatchel commented "We are concerned, but I'd like to see our Utility Department self-sustaining. Before my three year term expires we will have a treatment plant either built or under construction. "I think this is something you've got to get into now," Odham said. Commissioner Gatchel, reminded that sewer extensions had been stopped said "I doubt very seriously if any member of this commission will allow sewer extensions to be cut off."

The question of continuing sewer lines outside of the city limits came up when City Manager Knowles said that "When we talk about pledging revenues, they are done so to continue building sewers outside of the city."

Odham replied "You can't limit Sanford to 25th St."

Action Is Delayed On Move To Reduce Total Negro Cabs

Reduction of the number of Negro taxicabs operating in the City of Sanford came before the Board of Sanford City Commissioners at its meeting last night.

However, with two commissioners absent and unable to hear the discussions, final action on the move was delayed to a later meeting.

Attorney R. W. Ware represented the executors of the estate of Will Hankerson, and requested that the commission "give some reason for rejecting the transfer of permits for the operation of the two taxicabs formerly operated by Will Hankerson."

Mayor F. D. Scott pointed out that the City of Sanford has as many Negro taxicabs as are needed and many complaints have been received by the commission on their operation.

"It seems as if we could get some more equitable means of cutting down on the number of cabs operating on our streets," said Commissioner David Gatchel.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles reported to the Board of Commissioners that a crackdown on taxicab operation was in force and that two operators had been brought before him because of violations resulting in a 30-day suspension of their licenses.

However, said the City Manager, the crackdown will require the steadfast backing of the Board of Commissioners.

City Attorney William C. Hutchison called attention of Attorney Ware to Section 24-4 of the City Code on Page 312 relative to the application for taxicab permit.

Mayor F. D. Scott tabled the discussion and action until the Board of Sanford City Commissioners' next meeting.

New Treatment Is Developed For Hepatitis

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter
NEW YORK (U.P.)—A new combination treatment promises speedy recovery from infectious hepatitis, a stubborn liver disease, two physicians have reported. Combination of the hormone cortisone and an antibiotic cleared up the jaundice-producing disease within a week or two in 12 patients treated so far. Dr. Max Jacobson and Dr. Charles Hessler of New York City write in the New York State Journal of Medicine.

Recovery from hepatitis usually takes many months, with strict bed rest for weeks. While only 12 persons have been treated with the new technique, none have had a relapse. The first was treated five years ago. Infectious hepatitis is caused by a virus and the disease is apparently increasing, the physicians said. Some 50,000 cases were reported over the nation last year, and many more may not have been reported to health boards. The infected liver enlarges, the patient gets jaundice, becomes weak, usually feels nauseated. Bed rest and high-protein diet have been the main treatment, but recovery is slow.

To this regular treatment, Jacobson and Hessler added a combination of small doses of cortisone and aureomycin or archromycin. The solution is given daily by vein for a week or more. Patients usually feel better in a day or two, and signs of the disease disappear within a week, the doctors said. The average hospital stay for the 12 was reduced to less than two weeks. Just why the combination treatment brings this quick benefit is not so clear, the physicians said. Cortisone apparently reduces inflammation of the liver. The antibiotic may help by combating secondary infections, or partially sterilizing the gastrointestinal tract to reduce the chemical work the liver must do.

Big Treasure Hunt May Soon Be Afoot

TALLAHASSEE (U.P.)—A hunt for pirate treasure may soon be afoot among the thousands of islands lying off Florida's Lower West Coast. A state treasure hunting lease was issued Tuesday to James Carr of Washington, D. C. State Land Agent Van Ferguson said he doesn't know much about Carr's plans but understand he is looking for a schooner called the Morgan.

The area in which Carr will hunt includes Morgan Bay and Morgan Pass. Carr's $100 a year nonexclusive lease covers 12,000 acres in Collier County just north of the Monroe County line. If he finds treasure, he will get an exclusive lease on one acre of his choice. The state gets 12 1/2 per cent royalty on anything discovered.

New Water Program Checks Tooth Decay

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
It has been shown that fluoridation of a community's water supply will help prevent dental disease among children. Despite the criticism of fluoridation—and there has been some opposition to it—it is a sound dental health measure. Numerous studies have already proved this. Result of Survey: These surveys disclosed that teeth treated with sodium fluoride showed about 40 per cent less decay than teeth which had not been treated.

The process in drinking water of one part fluoride to 1,000,000 parts water has reduced the incidence of dental decay up to 65 per cent in cases where young children drank fluoridated water from birth until the age of eight. Chicago recently embarked upon a fluoridation program. More than 1,100 other communities across the country where water supplies are deficient in fluoride also have fluoridation programs.

Chief Argument
The chief argument of those opposing fluoridation is that fluorides are poisons. And so they are—in large quantities. But the approved method of fluoridating city water supplies won't harm either children or adults. It will help combat dental caries. You can compare the trace of fluoride in your water supply to the trace of iodine in iodized table salt. Iodine, too, is poisonous if consumed in large amounts. Yet iodized salt has been used for some 32 years and has helped greatly to eliminate virtually all goiter trouble in the United States. Table salt itself is poisonous in large quantities. Remember the countless persons adrift at sea who have died from drinking salt water.

The safety of the fluoridation program is demonstrated again by two recent studies of the United States Public Health Service. One study showed the death rates in 32 fluoride cities and 32 neighboring non-fluoride cities were virtually the same.
No Harmful Effects
In the other, complete medical examinations of the eyes, ears, liver, kidneys, bones, thyroid, heart and other organs showed no harmful bodily effects due to drinking water containing even eight parts per million of fluoride. An estimated 25,500,000 persons in the United States are now drinking fluoridated water each day. In all, about one of every four residents of America's urban areas uses water containing a suitable amount of this element.

The nation's dental future looks pretty bright indeed.

Professor Thinks South Will Join U.S. In Few Years

JACKSON, Tenn. (U.P.)—A University of Mississippi professor says he thinks the South, including Mississippi, "will probably join the United States in a few years." Dr. James W. Silver, head of the Ole Miss history department, was speaking of a mental union—not geographical.

In a talk before the Rotary Club, Silver said there are two separate creeds, American and Southern. Southern minds have found them difficult to reconcile, he added. However he said the American creed is beginning to replace the Southern creed and one of these days the union will be complete. Silver called secession from the Union, the act that brought on the Civil War, "the greatest blunder, the most stupid action and most tragic thing that ever happened."

A number of "illusions" caused the action, he said, among them the false belief among Southerners that the abolitionists controlled the North. He said a present-day comparison shows how many Southerners believe the National Avn. for the Advancement of Colored People controls the North now.

Good Roof Is Economy Measure

Roofs have definitely come into the limelight, both in the design of new homes and the modernization of older ones. Today the type of roofing used goes much further than simply choosing the one that will give the greatest protection at the lowest cost. Color, texture and pattern are equally important. Architects, realizing that the roof is the single largest area of the house, choose the roof color to dictate the entire exterior color scheme of the house.

Designers say that a light colored roof can make a house appear taller, an important note for one-story homes. Engineers have discovered that a white roof will make a home cooler in summer through greater heat reflection. Roofing materials are now available in a wide range of colors to satisfy any home-owner's color preference.

Asphalt shingles, the most popular roofing material, have a coating of ceramic granules which give the roof both color and texture. They are firmly imbedded in the base material so that the color and texture remain for the life of the roof.

With air conditioning becoming increasingly popular, the selection of a roofing material with insulating qualities is of utmost importance. This factor, plus the choice of a light colored roof, can greatly increase the efficiency of an air conditioner.

If, during Operation Home Improvement, a home owner is planning to reroof his home he should be sure the following points are checked: soundness of the roof deck to determine whether it will support the additional weight of the new roof, an examination of the old roof for curled or loose shingles, and a thorough checkup and repair job on the flashing at chimneys, plumbing vents, skylights, dormers and valleys.

PAINTING SOIL PIPE. The preservative coating on most soil pipes inside the house will destroy an oil paint. To prevent this, first paint the pipes with aluminum paint. After it is dry, the pipes can then be successfully painted.

Top Lighting Panels Make Home Brighter

Modern lighting is looking up . . . to the ceiling . . . for added smartness and efficiency.

Ceiling lighting was designed and used principally in office buildings, but it now offers unusual possibilities for home use.

You'll discover that top lighting helps to create a feeling of space, lightens dark ceilings and adds to your decor!

Glass panels set in the ceiling are today's answer to locations where windows are not possible: as in corners of rooms, windowless alcoves, entry ways, and other areas.

Formerly dark halls and doorways can now have a cheerful daylight effect with a luminous ceiling area.

Even light from the ceiling, plus mirror lights, in the bathroom gives a perfect light for shaving or make-up.

Kitchen work areas, when lighted from above, reduce fatigue, are better lighted and cupboard items are more visible.

Plan now to top-off the beauty and charm of your home with smart, new top-lighting!

Rainsoots, Gutters Need Going-Over Before Winter

One of the most important phases of Operation Home Improvement is to make it a thorough home check-up! And every home owner should be sure that this pre-winter check-up includes a thorough inspection of the gutters and downspouts.

Neglect, particularly in winter, can lead to serious damage to a house and the resulting heavy expense.

Having the gutters cleaned is especially important. When gutters are clogged by leaves, an accumulation of ice may form. This can result in damage to the gutters and, in case of a thaw, the melting ice could run under the roofing and seriously damage the ceilings of the house.

Too, leaves in gutters absorb water like a sponge and this weight may tear the brackets holding the gutters loose.

While gutters are being cleaned, they should be thoroughly checked for rust and any rusted spots repaired and painted.

Downspouts should be checked for accumulated leaves which can cause backed-up water to freeze and split the spouts. It is wise to have wire mesh installed where the spout and gutter connect to prevent this damaging clogging by leaves.

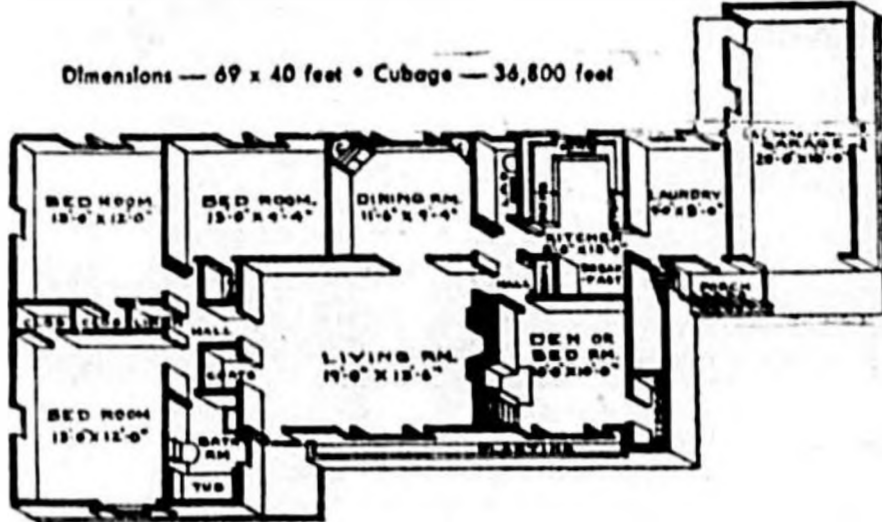

Colored Tile Helps Add Modern Look To Older Homes

Color has invaded the home and today more than ever the kitchen has become the new center of family fun! You can make your kitchen bright, charming and easy to keep clean with colorful plastic, or baked enamel on aluminum wall tiles or ceramic tile. Your laundry, or utility room, can be a cheerful place in which to work, when you decorate with bright wall tiles.

Wall tiles will also transform your dark, old fashioned bathroom into a light, modern room. These new tiles resist water and moisture and are easy to clean. There is a wide variety of solid colors, patterned tiles and stripes to choose from.

A long, low planter flanks the entry of this handsome home and sets the mood for the pleasant, easy living to be found within. Suited to the needs of a large family are the three bedrooms with ample closets; the cheerful living room for family activities, and den for quiet study; the master bath and separate lavatory; the large dining room with built-in china cabinets, and the breakfast alcove in the roomy kitchen. Your laundry appliances can be housed in the utility entry.

Use Wallpaper In Modernizing

Many a house has been modernized with a paint brush—re-modeled, to all appearances, by using the tricks of color. But you can achieve even greater magic with some of the new designs in wallpaper.

There are wallpaper patterns and textures that are perfect answers to sloping walls, structural joists, alcoves, recesses, rooms that are too tall and rooms that seem too small.

DECORATING ADVICE

When planning to decorate your home, remember that attractive rooms are not the result of only money, but good taste as well. A trained decorator can save you money as well as time and will plan a decorating program which will reflect a look of continuity.

One of the first methods of window glass manufacture, known as the "crown" process, consisted of softening a bubble of glass and then flattening it by rotation into a round sheet.

Useful Hardwood

Hardwood flooring has been a favorite of American homeowners since the rough hewn oak planks of colonial times, to today's scientific kiln-dried hardwoods.

Hardwood flooring is famed for its durability . . . often outlasting the life of a home. Also hardwood flooring is still accepted standard of quality in home construction. Today the manufacturing and ingenuity of the hardwood industry has reduced costs, so that hardwood flooring can be used in even the most modest homes.

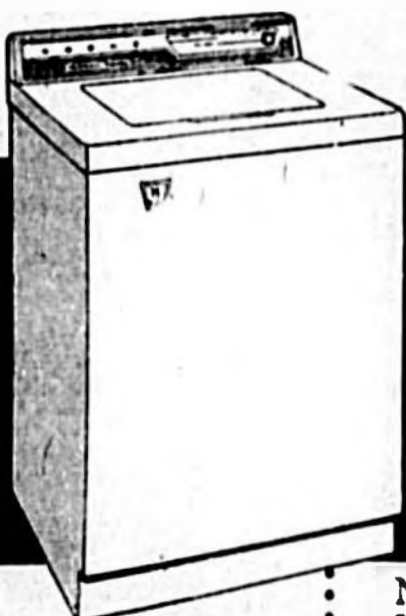

Oak is the most widely used hardwood. Hard maple, beech, birch and pecan rank next.

Long mirrors hung vertically in a room tend to add height to the ceiling, while large rectangular mirrors mounted on the wall give the feeling of width and spaciousness.

Something Should Be Done To Rid Central Florida Area Of Hyacinth

There seems to be an accumulating problem confronting one of the agencies of our State Government — a problem that has grown so big it is unmanageable.

Too many times lakes and rivers of the Central Florida area have been clogged with hyacinths — clogged so bad that water traffic for small boats, which is the largest number represented around our waterfronts on our streams, comes to a standstill.

Hyacinths multiply fast and they get from one place to another with such rapidity that they appear often as by some feat of magic.

Only last weekend, Lake Monroe and the St. Johns River was covered from one side to the other with the pesky plants that became so tightly wedged that even a big boat found it hard to plow through them.

Nearly 100 acres is sometimes a comparatively small figure, but when it comes to hyacinths covering that much water, then the figure becomes astronomical.

Yet, these hyacinths float around unattended, clogging up lakes and streams to the detriment of boating, fishing recreation and the complete use of these valued bodies of water.

Every once in a great while there will crop up a decided interest in eradicating the hyacinths.

There even exists a department in the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission under the name of "hyacinth control."

Department or no department, interest or no interest, the hyacinth continues to be a pest — continues to jam streams, lakes and rivers — continues to harass the sportsman, the fisherman, the boatman, and the skier.

With all of the possibilities for money with which to operate, no one seems to be taking the lead in making the "hyacinth pest" an issue and getting right down to the job of getting rid of them.

Frankly — no one is interested in high overhead expense, neither are they interested in high salaried investigators, overseers, experts, or what have you — their interest lies in the manpower and material to get into the streams and lakes and wipe out the rooted evil that seems to be getting the upperhand.

Fish camp operators, boating enthusiasts, fishermen, sportsmen, and just plain "interested citizens" have offered their help wherever needed to eradicate the hyacinth. But no one seems to take them up on their offer.

This job of hyacinth eradication needs to be taken hold of with a firm grip of determination to win out and put the pesky water plant out of business once and for all.

We are not interested in "putting any one person, or group of people "on the spot" so to speak. It is felt that with all of the interest, and with all of the proposed plans to "create financial aid for an "eradication program", something should be done that would be worthwhile.

Frankly — it is the eradication of the hyacinth that would please us most — and please thousands of people at the same time.

Driver Training

Driving an automobile comes close to being the most dangerous thing most of us ever do in normal life. Yet by a curious paradox, most of us have learned our driving skills by haphazard, trial-and-error methods. Relatively few drivers have had formal training.

It is finally coming to be realized that this is nonsense. As automobiles become more and more powerful and fast, the demand for increased skill is rising accordingly. By this we mean not only the manual skills of handling the car, but skill in judgment, skill in road behavior.

It is encouraging, therefore, that behind-the-wheel driver training is being added to the curriculum in many high schools. This may bring about the first generation of drivers really trained to handle the hard problems of driving.

Halloween

There's a lot of good natured fun and nonsense about Halloween. But unless parents are careful Halloween and the days just before it can be a season of mischief that is not always harmless. Property is sometimes damaged, and people have suffered physical injury as the result of Halloween pranks.

Today a real effort is made by many to see that Halloween provides the kind of fun it should without degenerating into an excuse for youthful mischief. Schools and churches hold parties, neighbors cooperate in seeing that elder, doughnuts and candy are available for costumed youngsters who come to call. Merchants who used to have their store windows daubed with soap at Halloween now award prizes to youngsters who decorate windows with Halloween motifs.

It is a bit hard for those of us who remember the pranks of our own youth to be too self-righteous about the youngsters who want to let off steam at Halloween. But we do not do children a service if we allow them to believe that there are seasons of the year when responsibility vanishes, when respect for property is not demanded. Let Halloween be fun — but let's keep it the right kind of fun.

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY
While the average voter thinks of the coming election as an opportunity to express his choice for President and a number of lesser office candidates and has probably already made up his mind, few are prepared to cast an intelligent ballot on the 11 amendments they will find on the ballot.

Constitutional amendments annoy most voters. True, they have all been published as the law requires, but they might just as well be printed in Chinese as far as most folks are concerned. Legal language with its trick wording is so far over the head of the average sovereign citizen that he hasn't the slightest idea what they are all about so over the years he has formed the habit of passing them up entirely or voting "no" to all of them, just out of spite.

The law allows a voter five minutes in a voting booth. Recently a test was made in Tampa, where a voter attempted to read the ballot all the way through and mark his choice. It took fifteen minutes. Under the circumstances unless a voter prepares himself before election day with authentic information as to what each amendment means he will find himself in a tough spot.

It would take a book to fully explain all the amendments so that the man on the street could understand them but briefly Amendment No. 1 provides for the revision of our judicial system as recommended by the Judicial Council and approved by the State Bar Association.

No. 2 provides for home rule in Dade County. This is a local amendment and is desired by Dade County but requires statewide approval. Governor Collins calls it "a very progressive step."

No. 3 has been deleted from the ballot. No. 4 provides for the legislature to call itself into special session.

No. 5 changes apportionment of members of the House and Senate. No. 6 provides for an additional judge for the Criminal Court Record in Duval County.

No. 7 provides for abolishing school trustees and transferring their duties to school boards.

No. 8 provides for appointment instead of election of the school superintendent in Pinellas, Duval, Sarasota and Dade counties.

No. 9 would abolish the office of county solicitor in Dade County. No. 10 provides that fees of county officers in Escambia County be paid into the general fund.

Bulganin Sticks Nose In Campaign

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)— Soviet Premier Bulganin stuck his nose into an American election campaign and "no one" mean the end to a lengthy correspondence which ...ended anywhere. Besides, the Russian had developed a habit of breathing down A. J. Stevenson's neck. Twice he followed up Stevenson's suggestions on ending H-bomb tests by making similar proposals himself.

Bulganin has written President Eisenhower seven letters on disarmament since they first met at Geneva in July 1955. Eisenhower has answered five times. They could never agree.

Meanwhile, their representatives in the United Nations, on a special commission to work out disarmament plans, couldn't agree, either.

This is the American position:

gradual disarmament with conventional weapons, later production of nuclear weapons would end. But there would have to be iron-clad controls and inspections from the beginning to be sure there'd be no cheating.

The Russians have put their main emphasis on a ban on nuclear weapons. They have rejected all Western proposals for controls.

The Russians and Red Chinese far outnumber the United States in manpower. It would be to their advantage to get this country right off to agree on banning nuclear weapons in war. Those nuclear weapons for the United States offset Russian and Chinese manpower.

This is what happened with Eisenhower and Bulganin:

At Geneva Eisenhower stole the show with a good will offer: as a first step toward disarmament he suggested the United States and Russia exchange complete information about their military establishments and permit each to photograph the other's country from end to end to be sure there were no military buildups.

It's questionable Eisenhower ever could have made good on this. Congress might never have permitted the Russians to have that much information about this country. But the offer at least took the Russians by surprise. They didn't answer.

They finally did on Sept. 10, 1955, when Bulganin wrote Eisenhower his first letter. He didn't reject the blueprint and "open skies" proposal, but just about did. He suggested instead an international control or inspection team to be stationed at center points, like airports and railroads, to check against military buildups. Eisenhower replied: This might be all right, if Bulganin accepted his plans. And so it went. Letter after letter. Bulganin may have been doing his letter writing more for world good will, and to offset Eisenhower's Geneva success, than with any hope of intention of agreement.

Last April Stevenson first proposed that this country take the lead toward ending H-bomb tests.

He was only a candidate for the Democratic nomination then. Bulganin didn't follow Stevenson at that time with a similar proposal.

But on Sept. 3, 1955—when he was the Democratic candidate—Stevenson repeated his proposal on the H-bomb. Six days later, Sept. 11, Bulganin wrote another letter to Eisenhower.

He proposed ending "tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons." This went further than Stevenson, who had called only for an end to H-bomb tests, not to all atomic weapon testing.

As the campaign wore on Stevenson made his H-bomb suggestion a main campaign issue. And on Oct. 17 Bulganin wrote Eisenhower another letter, again suggesting the big powers end atomic weapons tests.

He also said he understood this was now an issue in the election campaign. Eisenhower replied quickly. Yesterday he told Bulganin in effect to mind his own business.

Before Bulganin's letter arrived Eisenhower had already said the H-bomb tests couldn't be stopped—without foolproof guarantees because it would give Russia an advantage.

And God said let the earth bring forth.— Genesis 1:11.
God's love is revealed by the magnificent treasures he stored in the earth. Six inches of soil yields our daily bread but the sea is full of hydrogen each gallon of which contains power that staggers the imagination. The bad lands of South Dakota are filled with rare earths of priceless value, the great stretch of bad lands between east and west Canada we now know are fabulously rich in rare earths.

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:
Q. I'm planning to sell the home I bought with a GI loan. If the buyer takes over my loan, do I remain liable in case he defaults and the loan is foreclosed?
A. Not necessarily. Under a new law, you may be relieved of liability if the buyer takes over your loan. He must assume full liability on the loan; VA must approve his credit; and the loan must be current.
Q. I understand that I have 120 days from discharge to get Korean GI term insurance. Will my 120-day deadline still apply, even though the law says no new policies may be issued after December 31, 1956? My 120 days would carry me beyond that date.

A. You would not have the full 120-day period to obtain Korean GI term insurance. You would have to apply and pay your first premium before December 31, 1956 even though that gives you less than 120 days in act.
Q. A young man I know is eligible for schooling under the War Orphans Education Program. He's still in high school. Would he be

"Heathcote, come down from that tree, before you break both the legs! Mama's warning you, Heathcote! Either you come now, or when you fall and break both the legs, don't think you can come running to mama."

"My wife— I wouldn't see Century Club member to another, 'is off on a new kick: a diet consisting entirely of omelets.' 'My goodness!' marveled the other. 'Has M made her legs any weight?'"
"Not a pound," admitted Number One, "but you should see her shiny up a tree!"

United Drive Against Singular Drive Is Issue At Supper Honoring Faculty

By MARIAN R. JONES
OVIEDO—The members of the Oviedo School were again the guests of honor Friday evening when the members of the Oviedo Woman's Club entertained with a supper at the Memorial building honoring them and the husbands of the club members.

Mrs. Joseph Leinhardt and Mrs. George Morgan portrayed the spirit of Halloween in their decorative scheme of lighted pumpkins interspersed with sprigs of orange flowers. The witches and hobgoblins were saving their appearance for Halloween.

Mrs. Don Urey, president of the Oviedo Woman's Club, had designated certain parents to be responsible for the greeting of the teachers at the door, to introduce them and make them welcome. So many of the Woman's Club members do not belong to the P.T.A. and are not familiar with the members of the faculty that this was an ideal arrangement.

Many groups were gathered around enjoying the casual conversation when Mrs. Urey interrupted with the "supper call."

Of course, this was not an unwelcome idea, considering the looks of the food displayed on the table—which disappeared very fast after the seventy odd members and guests had partaken of it.

Mrs. Roy E. Weisenberger was chairman of the Civic Committee in charge of all arrangements, and they did a "bang-up" job, too. Hats off to Mrs. Lynn Mosier, Mrs. George Morgan, Mrs. Joseph Leinhardt, Miss Esther Beisel, Mrs. Alex Leinhardt, and Mrs. R. F. King, the members of Mary's (Mrs. Roy Weisenberger's) committee.

The program that followed was a very entertaining one. The Reverend George C. Carlton, who introduced the participants in the affair, explained the issue. It dealt with the United Drive against the Singular Drive.

A. A. Myers, general manager of Wheeler Fertilizer Company, gave the pros and cons for the United Drive while Mrs. Oregon Burnett, a long time Woman's Club member and a past president of the organization, gave some interesting questions that might arise for discussion against it.

Myers quoted statistics on the successful Orlando United Drive, a very interesting talk indeed.

Mrs. Burnett said his arguments had been so impressive she may as well sit down. In spite of the fact that she was pinch hitting for James Pearson at the last moment, she had a good list of de-batable questions for the singular Drives, including: What would be the cost of same? What would we do should another occasion arise for funds after we had given our sum for the United Drive, one that we would like to contribute to very much? Last but not least of these, "Why change?" She said this was a question of importance in Oviedo.

Mrs. Burnett had already brought out that volunteer workers would be used for the United Drive, eliminating a high operating cost for such a drive.

He had suggested that in addition to the usual career, Police and many other funds, including Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, that we add an Emergency Home Fund

—a fund that could be in good use for our community in case the occasion should arise. This brought the hearty approval of the assembled guests.

How to get started? That was answered with the idea that the Oviedo Woman's Club take the initiative, as it had had many years of experience in this field of work, by calling together the various organizations to discuss the issue. If they were in favor, to pick a representative from each organization, including one from each church, to form a board.

Many questions were heard from those in the Memorial building and ably answered by someone present.

The Reverend Carlton thanked both participants for their part in the program, saying that they had been sports enough to take each side of the issue, regardless of which side they might be in sympathy with.

A display of names showed that the majority favored the United Drive. The greatest question was that some might not be able to give a large sum at one time, whereas they could give small donations at various times. This was brought up by Mrs. Burnett in her talk.

Teachers present for the occasion included Miss Dorothy Rice, second grade teacher, Mrs. Walter A. Teague, third grade teacher; Mrs. James Partin, fourth grade teacher; Mrs. W. H. Desha, fifth grade teacher; Mrs. James Merritt Staley; Miss Lois Ruddell; R. L. Blankenship; Mrs. M. B. Smith; Miss Kathryn Wyatt and Professor (Coach) Paul Mikler, all high school teachers, and W. H. Desha, principal; also Miss Carolyn Anderson, music teacher, and Professor Michael Fisher, band director.

Escorts included: Mrs. Rice, mother of Miss Rice, Walter A. Teague; James Partin; W. H. Desha as the husband of the fifth grade teacher and as principal; James Merritt Staley; Mrs. R. L. Blankenship; M. B. Smith; Mrs. Paul Mikler, and Mrs. Michael Fisher.

J. B. Stone Wins UDC Essay Contest

For the third consecutive year a student of Seminole high school, and more particularly, Mrs. W. B. Wray's history class, has won the state essay contest sponsored by the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

J. B. Stone, of Geneva, with his essay entitled "The Part the American Indian Played in the War Between the States" took top honors in the state contest, this year and was awarded a check for ten dollars from the U. D. C. state headquarters this morning in chapel exercises at Seminole High School. Mrs. M. H. Strickland made the presentation.

This brilliant senior also won the American History award last year for the highest average in the Seminole High Schools, which award was presented to him by the president of the Norman De Vere Howard Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy.

HATTU had a timely picnic at the Lemon Bluff fishing camp Sunday afternoon. Nearly all the officers, their wives and children appeared to eat lobster and hot dogs, with all the extras. There was water skiing and swimming, perhaps the last of the season. Verne Mountcastle and Harry Griffin made the arrangements, and it was most successful.

Paul Speltz, John Dooley, Bob Stone, and many others from VAIL are back from their deployment to the Med. They are tanned and lean after five months, and might gladly be back home.

Dill and Boyd Weber entertained a few friends for dinner Sunday night. The Parkers, Swinsons, and Connas ate heartily of barbecue chicken, and came home early. Many parties are being planned for the Webers, who have been in Sanford for three years, and have friends galore among both Navy and civilians.

The wives of VAIL called Gretchen Hill the other night and report that she is well and expects to return to Sanford the end of November for a few days. Gretchen wrote to me, and asked that I thank the many kind friends who helped so much during the tragedy. She may be unable to write to each and every one, but your parents and sympathy was deeply felt and will always be remembered.

Wilson School P-TA Hears Tucker Talk

A talk by Cecil Tucker, County Agent, on 4-H work for boys and a cartoon entitled "How To Catch Cold" were highlights of a recent P-TA meeting of Wilson School in Paola.

Miss Myrtle Wilson introduced Mr. Tucker, who talked to those present about 4-H work with the idea of forming a 4-H Club for boys in Paola.

After the showing of the Walt Disney cartoon and the completion of plans for the Halloween Carnival, the meeting was adjourned.

You'll need about three table-spoons of fat in which to brown a four-pound rolled beef pot roast.

Ghosts, Goblins To Visit Paola Saturday Night

There will be witches, spooks and goblins aplenty in Paola when the Wilson School holds its annual Halloween Carnival this Saturday night, starting at 5:30 p. m. For those who feel the jangs of "mortal" hunger there will be refreshment stands serving hot dogs, hamburgers, scrambled eggs, cold drinks and coffee.

To provide entertainment for these blithe spirits and so that they will feel right at home, there is to be a spookhouse, as well as dart games, a fish pond, grab bag, fortune telling, cake walk, country store, and a movie, with prizes for the most original, the prettiest, and the funniest costumes.

A gala night is promised for all who want to do something different Saturday night.

Hospital Auxiliary Begins Planning 'Hi Fever Follies'

From reception to reporting—these are the activities of the Women's Auxiliary of Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. A. W. Epps Sr., president of the recently formed organization has released the following information so that the public will be informed of the volunteer work done by the auxiliary.

The purpose of the auxiliary is divided into three compartments: patient service, liaison between patient and hospital and fund raising to further hospital efficiency.

The next major goal of the auxiliary is the purchase of an orthopedic operating table for the hospital. This will be included in the benefits from "Hi Fever Follies," a variety extravaganza now in the planning stage.

Since this organization is non-profit and charitable, fundraisers are a prime factor in its making. Mrs. E. E. Hornum, chairman of that committee, reports that more than $1000 has been raised this year.

The money-making activities have included charity races at the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club, an Easter dance and a barbecue sponsored by the Sanford Elks Club.

Other commercial enterprises were Paterque Day, held in cooperation with The Sanford Herald, and a cake mix sale at Sanford grocery stores.

This committee was responsible in a large part for the Heller Motor company's gift of a station wagon for auxiliary use.

On July 12 hours daily through out the week, are members of the reception committee, headed by Mrs. R. N. Blackweider. This group greets and directs all visitors in the hospital from their desk in the main lobby. Delivering flowers and personal messages, as well as running errands and maintaining the Family Room for conferences, are services of this group.

Baby sitting with underaged children is another item in the list of duties assigned to these women who have held up almost 6,000 job hours since the hospital's opening in February.

The hospitality and sunshine committee, directed by Mrs. B. B. Crumley, does just what its name implies. This group has contributed 650 hours cheering up patients and caring for the hospital's potted plants.

A snack and gift bar operated under the supervision of Mrs. M. L. Hahn, serves patients, visitors and hospital personnel. A small mobile unit of this service has recently been added to the hospital's facilities through the efforts of this committee.

Curtains for the Family Room and nurseries, as well as hundreds of surgical and dietary towels, pillow cases and drape sheets were made by the sewing committee under the leadership of Mrs. Warren Adams.

The library committee, directed by Mrs. H. C. Oakes, maintains a doctors' library and book cart

Wilson School P-TA Hears Tucker Talk

A talk by Cecil Tucker, County Agent, on 4-H work for boys and a cartoon entitled "How To Catch Cold" were highlights of a recent P-TA meeting of Wilson School in Paola.

Miss Myrtle Wilson introduced Mr. Tucker, who talked to those present about 4-H work with the idea of forming a 4-H Club for boys in Paola.

After the showing of the Walt Disney cartoon and the completion of plans for the Halloween Carnival, the meeting was adjourned.

You'll need about three table-spoons of fat in which to brown a four-pound rolled beef pot roast.

Hospital Auxiliary Begins Planning 'Hi Fever Follies'

From reception to reporting—these are the activities of the Women's Auxiliary of Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. A. W. Epps Sr., president of the recently formed organization has released the following information so that the public will be informed of the volunteer work done by the auxiliary.

The purpose of the auxiliary is divided into three compartments: patient service, liaison between patient and hospital and fund raising to further hospital efficiency.

The next major goal of the auxiliary is the purchase of an orthopedic operating table for the hospital. This will be included in the benefits from "Hi Fever Follies," a variety extravaganza now in the planning stage.

Fleming: Things Looking Gloomy

Sanford Seminoles head mentor Bill Fleming and his assistants Bud Lauer and Dave Laude began the process of picking up the pieces and trying to reform a ball club to face Winter Park Friday night.

Winter Park made it four victories in a row over the weekend by dropping Boone of Orlando. This throws the Parkers in the spotlight of Central Florida football power and makes it look like a close three-way battle for the Orange Belt Conference championship. The other two are Cocoa and Melbourne.

Winter Park has the biggest and perhaps most capable line in the conference, and the Sanford Seminoles will have more action through the line this week than they've had all season.

On the bench yesterday were Tom Brown, Murray Nance, Jack Stotaky, Bob Johnson, Brantley Schirard, David Stanley, and Al Stanley is still in bed.

"Things look pretty gloomy right now," Fleming said, "but we'll be able to salvage something out of the jumble, and young bodies can heal fast, you know."

Bosseler Continues As UofM's 1 Man Offensive Show

CORAL GABLES — Captain Don Bosseler continues to be a one man offensive show for the University of Miami Hurricanes as far as their ground game goes—but if the Hurricanes don't get mileage out of their halfbacks pretty soon, Miami will find its string of games without a defeat gone with the wind.

Every game played thus far has found Bosseler as the leading ground garner—and only John Boehman and Claude Casey among the halfbacks have come up with as many as 32 yards in a game. That's good running for a halfback on one play, not one game.

Bosseler, meanwhile, has kept Miami going by boring through increasingly massed forward walls. Against South Carolina, he accounted for 97 yards, against Boston College, 55 and the big Maryland line yielded 42 yards in 13 thrusts. Against Georgia last week, he rolled for 72 yards, which gives him a total of 266 yards for the year. Miami's top halfback has picked up 80 yards this season.

All season long, the best halfback run has chalked up 14 yards for the Miami cause. Bosseler has picked up 28 yards in one burst, and in the Georgia game, was the only Hurricane to go beyond seven yards on one run.

Coch Andy Gustafson is bearing down this week on his offense as never before, trying to get the halfbacks to cover the yardage expected, and needed. With mighty Texas Christian to be met in Ft. Worth Saturday night, the Hurricanes face their stiffest test of the year—and perhaps of several years.

T. C. U. is capable of scoring three touchdowns on any team—last year Miami limited Notre Dame and Georgia Tech to two TDs apiece but Texas Christian came up with three scores to turn back the Hurricanes—last time Miami has lost a ball game. This year, TCU has nearly 90% of its 1955 men back in harness plus several standouts who were not in competition then. Miami lost most of its starters and the sophomores who replaced them are still in the "highly promising" stage.

The team hasn't jelled yet—and it must do that quickly or Miami, which has gone nine games without losing can't make that boast much longer.

Coach Says Good Guys Do Succeed

SAN FRANCISCO — Babe Pinelli spent 21 years umpiring in the National League and says if he learned anything it's this:

"The good guys do succeed. It's the 240 sisters and the scatterarms that beef and give the umpires the most trouble."

Speaking in the comparative luxury and security of his retirement, the 61-year-old grandfather listed an all-star lineup of nice guys who were and are star players.

His list includes Stan Musial, Carl Hubbell, Willie Mays, Billy Herman, Paul Wauer, Marty Marion, Ted Kluszewski, Ernie Banks, Gabby Hartnett and Stan Hack.

Maybe they got that bad call, Pinelli said, but they took it without as much as a scowl.

Don Larsen, who pitched a perfect game for the Yankees in the World Series, allowed three home runs in Washington in the season's opener there last spring. He won the game.

3 Important Events Slated At Chiefs Club Meet Tonight

Dr. A. W. Epps Jr., program chairman of the Seminoles Chiefs Club yesterday announced that the regular bi-monthly meeting of the organization will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Pinecrest School Auditorium.

Three very important events are scheduled to take place that should be responsible for a large turnout.

Don McAllister, sports director of the club will be the featured speaker at tonight's meeting. Dr. Epps, in disclosing the arrangement of McAllister as guest speaker, said, "his talk will be of interest to our organization."

The film of the University of Florida football game will be another of the features on the agenda for the night.

The complete report on the progress of the junior high football project committee is expected to be given by W. W. Tyre, chairman of the committee, and the final stages of discussion and planning is expected to take place. John Schirard Jr., commenting on McAllister's appearance tonight said, "This is just the beginning of the fine programs slated by Dr. Epps. If our visitor is well received tonight by a large turnout, it could well set a trend for our meetings. Dr. Epps has many plans for programs that will be both important and informative for the members of the club."

Betty Dodd Wins Lawton Ladies PGA Tourney

LAWTON, Okla. — The daughter of a retired Army colonel who learned her golf while her father was stationed at nearby Ft. Sill, yesterday won the Lawton Ladies PGA tournament, coming home with a course record breaking 67 for a total of 214.

Miss Betty Dodd, now of Louisville, Ky., had fired a 74 Sunday to take the lead, then put together a 73 and a 67 in yesterday's 36-hole wind-up. Rain delayed the meet two days, and forced the last two rounds of the 54-hole into one day.

Miss Dodd won $880, first prize in the $5,000 tourney. She was trailed by Patty Berg of Chicago, who tied the course record of 68 in her last round along with a 76 and 73 to a total of 219, good for $318.

Frank Mebane has a broad smile after trying out 18 holes with Mario Carfagno yesterday. "He's as good as he used to be," Mebane said. Then he added, "I think I've improved a little though." They didn't reveal their scores, but Carfagno hinted that the excellent shape the course was in improved his game a little, too. (Staff Photo)

Berra Tougher Than Mantle As Batter

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
Roy Campanella held out his two hands, palms down.

"See that left index finger?" he said. "Compare it with my right index finger."

"That shows you what Newk (Don Newcombe) was throwing," said Campy. "That boy was throwing bullets. That's what they did to my index finger, and he pitched only three innings. He's never been any faster."

"Why look what he did to Mantle. (Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle who hit 52 American League home runs in 1956). He struck him out in the first inning on a 3-2 pitch and he struck him out in the third. And all he threw was blinding speed to Mantle, and he didn't care much where he threw it. He just threw it."

"But that Yogi. Man, you can't pitch to that guy. He's tougher to get out than Mantle. Sure Mantle will hit more home runs but that Yogi is the toughest batter. I'd rather see my pitcher pitch to Mantle any day than that Yogi. He hits anything he can reach."

Campanella had just finished catching the seventh and deciding game of the 1956 World Series and since Berra's two home runs started Brooklyn to a 9-0 defeat, it was with awe that he spoke about the Yankee catcher.

He was not trying to take anything away from Mantle's home compared Mickey and Yogi just to show how much Berra means to Casey Stengel's attack.

"Some say we won in 1955 because Mantle missed some games," said Campy. "Howwash! Take Yogi out of there and it's no contest."

Many of the Dodgers dreaded the long trip to Japan after the hectic season they went through. Some of them would have preferred to stay around to explain if possible — why they were able to get only seven hits and one run in the last three games. None could account for the fine Yankee pitching, with Don Larsen, Bob Turley and Johnny Kucks each pitching the greatest games of their lives.

"I'm going to Japan only because a doctor is going with us," said Campanella. "Look at the bone hanging out of my right thumb. As soon as I get back I'll have it taken out and I hope to be as good as new for 1957."

Since Mantle came up to the Yankees in 1951 here's how he and Berra compare in World Series games:

Among the players new Chicago Club manager, Bob Shreffing will have in spring training in 1957 are Gene Fodge, Bob Speake and Jim Bolger. They played for him at Los Angeles last season.

19-Year-Old Miami Girl Homecoming Queen At Uoff

GAINESVILLE — Nineteen-year-old Charlotte Anne Potler, of 8160 NW 27th Ave., Miami, has been named Homecoming Queen at the University of Florida and will reign over festivities Nov. 2 and 3.

This is the first year the Queen has been announced prior to the famed Gator Growl, held the opening night of the weekend honoring alumni. The pretty blue-eyed blonde will be crowned as a finale to the Gator Growl Nov. 2.

She will reign over Homecoming festivities, and will be featured in the fun-filled parade on Saturday, Nov. 3.

She is the daughter of David Potler, of 43 Madison Street, NW, Washington, D. C., and was selected from five finalists by a panel of judges. A sophomore in the University College, she was sponsored in the contest by Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

With her court, she will be featured in the parade, Florida Blue Key smoker, Trianon ladies' banquet, and the Saturday football activities.

SMORGASBORD OFFENSE
SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The University of Utah Redskins have what is being called a "smorgasbord offense." The name was derived from Coach Jack Curtice's explanation of giving Utah's opponents "a little bit of everything." The team runs, passes and laterals.

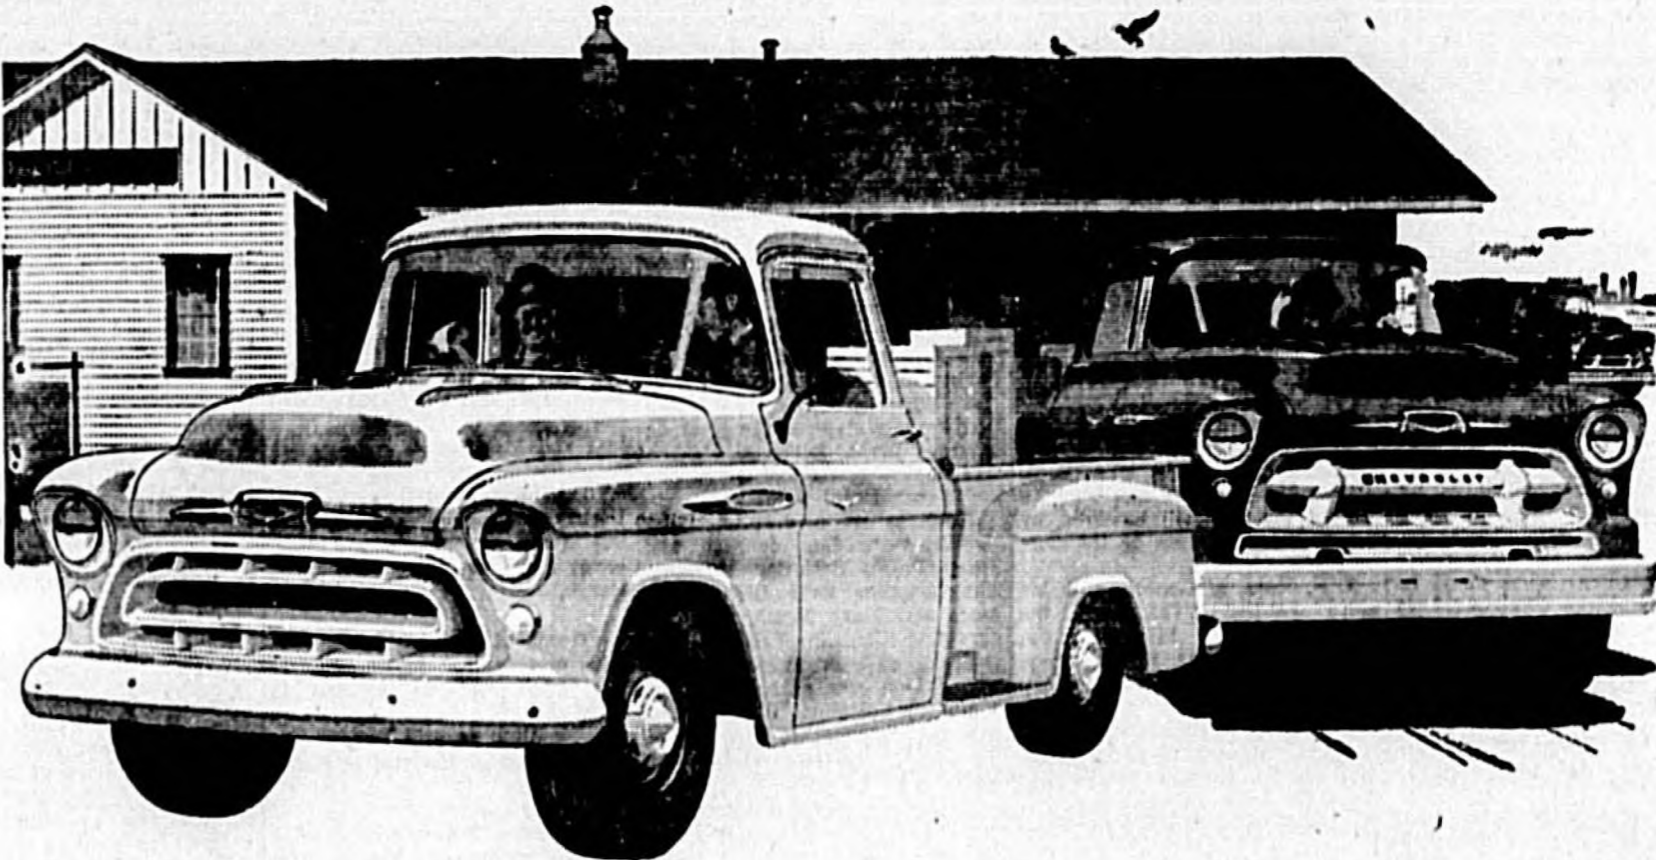

Al Lang, Florida's good will ambassador to major league baseball, says 72 teams from organized leagues trained in Florida last spring. He said it was the highest number in history.

County amateur golf crown will be won by Ronnie Kelly, 17-year-old freshman at the University of California, had by Lt. Col. Bill Adams, little trouble winning the Riverside Kelly.

Here! New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks!

Performance-proved in a history-making test on the ALCAN Highway to Alaska

The Alcan Highway is the road where trucks grow old before their time. The road where gravel endlessly sledgehammers the life out of trucks. Where a fog of superline dust chokes engines, and vicious ruts subject chassis to months of wear in a few hundred miles.

Six new '57 Chevrolet trucks, representing light-, medium- and heavy-duty models and heavily loaded with cargo, roared north from Dawson Creek, B. C., through 1,520 miles of mountains and mire, rain and hail to Fairbanks, Alaska. Running around the clock, they made this tortuous trip—normally a 72-hour run—in less than 45 hours. The fleet made normal stops along the way, and maintained safe and legal speeds. As a special test during the run, two of the trucks went the entire distance without once having their engines stopped!

It's all down in the AAA record book. And more besides! Never before has a new truck been so thoroughly proved. Come in and see how well these new Alcan champs measure up to your job.

FIRST WITH THE MOST MODERN FEATURES!

New 283-cubic-inch Taskmaster V8 delivers 160 high-torque horsepower. Standard in Series 5000, 7000 and 8000, optional in Series 4000 at extra cost. Horsepower ranges up to 210 in Chevrolet's complete line-up of modern V8 and 6 truck engines.

Revolutionary Powermatic Transmission—exclusive with Chevrolet trucks! This six-speed automatic, designed specifically for heavy-duty hauling, is an extra-cost option in Series 5000 and 6000 and all heavy-duty truck models. Hydra-Matic is offered in 3000 and 4000 Series models at extra cost.

New 1957 work-styling gives Chevrolet trucks an even fresher, feeter appearance. There are three different and distinctive styling treatments.

L.C.F. models outdate the C.O.E. because they're lower, handsomer, easier to get into and out of, and save time in routine engine maintenance. Yet they offer all the traditional C.O.E. advantages.

Heavyweight Champs with Triple-Torque tandem axle are rated at 32,000 lbs. GVW, 50,000 lbs. GCW. And Chevrolet's advanced tandem axle unit offers a built-in three-speed power divider—plus a unique "self-steering" action that reduces tire wear and increases handling ease.

Alcan fleet gets up to 18.17 miles per gallon! That's the mileage reported by the Cameo Carrier, with Thriftmaster 6 and extra-cost Overdrive.

All the way in DRIVE range! This Powermatic-equipped 10000 Series tractor traveled the entire Alcan Highway in a single forward-speed range!

"My suggestion would be this," said Holt, "we would like to enter into a contract with you to dig these figures out—to find out how much actual cash money you have to use."

"We would like to make that study for you," he said, and added, "you make no commitment whatever unless you actually use the funds."

Mayor Scott reminded the commissioners that it doesn't seem right to me to handle this matter unless the entire commission is here behind it.

Explosion Wrecks Top Floor Of Texas School; 1 Killed

SOUTHMAID, Tex. (AP)—A shattering explosion virtually wrecked the upper floor of Southmaid's Elementary School today, killing a janitor and very critically burning a high school junior.

The janitor and the junior, Larry McGee, 16, had gone to the second floor to do a repair job. School authorities blamed heating gas for the explosion.

H. L. Richardson, superintendent of schools, said the explosion occurred in the old school cafeteria, which was no longer used for that purpose.

New Lights Are Being Installed For Carnival

New lights are being installed on the school grounds of Southside School today in order to furnish better lighting for the annual Halloween Carnival, John Taylor, president of the Southside Parent Teachers Association said today.

Mrs. Lola Winn, chairman of the Halloween Carnival at Southside School, said today that the Merita Bread Co. is bringing the "Long Ranger" to Sanford for the Southside School Carnival for the children to ride.

Every committee is busy with their preparation of booths of every kind which are annually found at the school event," Mrs. Winn said.

Sam Pinn, who managed Tony Zale and Barney Russ, has come out of retirement to manage Abe Linnear, promising middleweight boxer.

PROMPT DIAGNOSIS and assignment for treatment of large numbers of attack casualties would be the function of the "Wings," an admitting room in a Federal Civil Defense Administration 100-bed emergency hospital. Because first aid training programs have been expanded, it is expected that most victims—like this simulated casualty—would have received some first aid before they reached the hospital for special professional treatment.

"What I did vote for," said Congressman Herlong, "was a bill to pay-as-we-go. This plan will cost the average motorist about $10 a year—a plan which is being paid now with the money being put into a trust fund."

Congressman Herlong put added hope into his audience when he said, "We will have 1792 through here as a part of the interstate highway system."

Herlong went into Civil Rights legislation completely, but told the civic club group that "The measure of the worth of Congress can be in what they failed to do instead of what they did—and the 84th Congress failed to pass necessary legislation on civil rights."

"I signed the manifesto," he said, and then termed a bill presented to Congress a "so-called civil rights bill."

"It was filled with inequities," the Fifth District Congressman told yesterday's luncheon group and we used every means to block it. He explained, "This bill would create more rights violations than one could imagine."

Explaining in detail what would happen if the bill had gone through, Congressman Herlong described a "volunteer investigator" as named in the act—there would be thousands on the doorsteps of the Capitol next morning, he said. Suits could be filed on more allegations, or as he described "one about to engage in an attempt to threaten a violation."

Herlong said, a judge, asked to explain "one about to engage in an attempt to threaten a violation," and how it could be determined said by "the expression on a face."

"That's part of the record," he said. "Yes, 54 members of Congress introduced that bill—a bill that would take away the door-barging rights of every labor man in the country."

Herlong deplored the antiquated electoral college which he says "encourages parties to bid higher and higher for the black vote."

My suggestion is, he said, to quit calling them minorities—they are all Americans so let's leave them that way and let the world know there isn't a division of our loyalty.

This doesn't rise up as a threat except every fourth year. I wonder why that is?

Masonic District Schedules Annual Session Oct. 29

The Fifteenth Masonic District, composed of Masonic Lodges in Bunnell, Sanford, Barberville, DeLand, Daytona Beach and New Smyrna Beach will hold its annual meeting on Oct. 29, at New Smyrna Beach.

New Smyrna Lodge No. 149, F. & A. M., will be host for the meeting and Charles R. Lucas, Grand Master of all Masons in Florida, will be the honor guest.

District Deputy Grand Master, Leslie S. Beaumont of New Smyrna Beach, will be in charge of the meeting.

Lucas, who is a prominent building contractor in the city of Winter Haven, is the titular head of over 6200 Masons in Florida, and has long been associated with Masonic activities. He is a Past Master of Winter Haven Lodge No. 186, F. & A. M., a former District Deputy Grand Master of the Twenty-first Masonic District, a Shriner, a member of the Order of Knights Templar, a 32nd Mason, K. C. C. II and a Past Worthy Patron of the Order of Eastern Star.

Dinner will be served by the Order of Eastern Star, Chapter No. 3, at the Masonic Temple in New Smyrna Beach, at 8:30 p. m., and a tiled meeting will be called at 8 p. m.

Residents Invited To Attend Last Republican Rally

DE BARY.—The last Republican rally of this fall will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. in the community center. All residents are invited to attend and hear the candidates' views. They were over 200 at the previous meeting.

Candidates at Wednesday's rally will be Kenneth W. Zeh, candidate for state representative; Harold Brinsinger for county judge; Mrs. Mable Schmidt for tax collector; L. P. Fulton for supervisor of registration; William T. Moore for judge of small claims court and Lee H. Stone for commissioner of inland navigation; William A. Washburne Jr., candidate for governor, will be present if his schedule will allow.

Music for the occasion will be arranged by William Watson, manager of the De Bary Music group. Ralph Witherell, president, will preside and George Percy, vice president, will introduce the speaker.

Eddie Machen of Hedding, Calif., gained recognition in the heavyweight ranks following his four round knockout of Nino Valdes in Miami last July.

Sewer Extension

Otham commented "It remains to be seen that the State Board of Health has cut off the extension of sewers and that is in your hands not mine. And I think the public ought to be enlightened."

"You can see that we have a problem that is critical. I don't care how hot or cold any of you get—if you have any issue to discuss I am going to stand up and ask questions. You have a real problem—and it's going to take some courage to face it."

The discussions turned briefly toward the question of annexation.

However, Otham turned to City Manager Knowles and said "We've got the best City Manager we've ever had and we're fortunate to have him."

Mayor Scott stated then "I believe that had he (Dave Lee of the State Board of Health) been on this commission he would have done the same thing."

Commissioner Gatchel turned back to the discussions with the fiscal agent and said "I personally think that we should sign a contract with him and dig this out."

Otham reminded the Board of City Commissioners that "I can save from $500 to $500 per house by using septic tanks but I don't think I give the service—I can get cheaper without your sewers but I don't think it is proper."

Again Commissioner Gatchel remarked "I can't help but think that the State Board of Health will go along with us so long as we give them an anticipated goal—our desires are to start construction on this thing tomorrow."

Otham reminded the Board of Commissioners that Sid Berkowitz had been sitting in on the meeting as an observer but had not been called on for comment.

Mayor Scott invited Berkowitz to speak with the commissioners.

Berkowitz said "The commission had said nothing on doing nothing until I came here a couple of months ago. At visits, two months apart, I've brought up the subject of a treatment plant. "Some $250,000 has been expended over and above the original estimates and whether by faulty estimates or otherwise—the city failed to spend the $250,000 for a sewer treatment plant," said Berkowitz.

"Nothing was said to the State Board of Health and I think it was the city's responsibility to discuss it with them under its resolution of 1954, and I think the Board of Health would have sat down and discussed it," he said.

Home Department Offers Support For Civic Center

A committee of ten members of the Sanford Woman's Club attended the Board of Sanford City Commissioners meeting last night to have their say about the proposed Capital Improvement Program and the Sanford Civic Center.

Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith, spokesman for the group, told the Board of Commissioners "We urge this group to establish the Sanford Civic Center."

This group had as their project a "youth center," Mrs. Smith told the Board. "We realize that a year round recreation director is a dream—but let's start with a Civic Center."

"We also realize the fact that the Sanford Civic Center may not cure all our delinquency—a step in the right direction," she said.

"If the American Home Department can help publicize the Sanford Civic Center and bring it to the attention of our citizens we stand ready to help," said Mrs. Smith.

Mental Health Assn. Will See Popular Film

The much sought after film which Mrs. A. H. Key has been striving to get for the meeting of the Seminole County Association for Mental Health meeting on Nov. 6 has been booked through the cooperation of Wyeth Laboratories, she said today.

The gripping drama is produced by CBS Television in consultation with the American Psychiatric Assn. and the National Assn. for Mental Health. The narrator is the eminent authority on psychiatric treatment Dr. William C. Menninger.

Since the film was broadcast by CBS Public Affairs in April of this year it has been in great demand, according to Mrs. Key who is Program Chairman for the local mental health unit and who said that she was delighted that it was available as a highlight of the meeting that will be held at the Episcopal Parish House at 8 p. m. Nov. 6.

MAN GETS 10 YEARS BARTOW (AP)—William Sheldon Herrington, the object of a big Central Florida manhunt two weeks ago, was sentenced yesterday to 10 years on a robbery conviction.

Herrington, 20, had been picked up as a probation violator Oct. 8 but escaped. The hunt for him intensified when he was reported to have returned a 15-year-old boy but when they were tracked down the next day the youth said he had accompanied Herrington willingly.

Mrs. Thomas A. Butner Jr.

June Spencer, Thomas Butner Wed Saturday

In a simple but impressive ceremony held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Alexander, Altamonte Springs, June Spencer became the bride of Thomas A. Butner, Jr.

The ceremony took place Saturday, October 20 at 8:00 p. m. with the Reverend J. W. Claudy of Winter Park officiating. Vows were exchanged before an improvised altar banked by tall baskets of white gladioli and lavender asters. The mantle was graciously decorated with burning tapers and trailing ferns. Mrs. Donald Knight played "Yours Is My Heart Alone" "Oh, Promise Me" and the traditional wedding march.

The bride was lovely in a street length dress of ice blue and wore a corsage of pink roses. The bride's sister, Mrs. Mabel Harms, was her only attendant. Leo Butner acted as best man for his brother.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Crit Congliton of Stanton, Ky. and the late Mrs. Congliton. The groom is the son of Mrs. T. A. Butner Sr. and the late Mr. Butner.

If any of you want to hear all about Beula Thornton and Minnie Ewan's trip to Hot Springs, Ark., you'd better trot around to see them this week, because these two gadabouts will be off again this weekend. They, along with Mrs. Bertha Rhodes, will be leaving on the S.S. Evangeline from Jacksonville Saturday for a trip to Bermuda. I did get a little info out of Mrs. Thornton about the Springs and their trip there. She said it was a wonderful place for rest and relaxation and they had beautiful bath houses under government supervision. She and Mrs. Ewan went out there specifically for the famed baths and their great curative powers.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Palmer are looking forward to a visit from their children next week. They live in New York and the Palmers haven't seen their small grandchild since February, so needless to say, they are really excited about the expected visit.

You mothers of children too small to go overseas with the older kids, I have a suggestion for you. Why don't you give them the fun of dressing up in costumes, and take them over to Westside School on Saturday night, where they can enjoy the rides, candied apples and all the traditional Halloween excitement. There will be a photographer on hand to take pictures and I'm sure the small fry would love it. And I bet you will too. You know, I imagine there are dozen of you ladies, and men too, who have a lot of spare time and would love to help out in some worthy cause. Well why don't you? Miss Myrtle Wilson and Cecil Tucker need all the adult help they can get to assist them with the newly-formed 4-H Clubs in the County. It's virtually impossible for them to be present at all the meetings, but it is imperative that the groups have adult supervision. Either of these people can be contacted at the Home Demonstration Office in the Court House.

Mr. and Mrs. Laffler spent their two months in Europe thoroughly enjoying four of the countries, rather than trying to squeeze them all into this short time. Ireland, they said, was beautiful, with its lovely hill-sides; and they spent two weeks in Liverpool, England seeing all the sights. After a visit to Paris no one visits Europe without seeing Paris—they spent two weeks in Geneva, Switzerland. Mrs. Laffler said it was so lovely and sunny there after the other countries, which were rather bleak and cold at that time of year.

She said that, contrary to what she had heard, the French people, especially the older generation, were very hospitable and that one person told her that the Americans had done so much for them they were glad to do something in return.

And, she said, all the foreign people were lovely. They had a wonderful trip over and back on the Amsterdam, but are very glad to be home.

Do you think your child is the most beautiful in the world? Of course you do. I never saw a mother who didn't, myself included. Well, here's your chance to prove it once and for all to those "doubting Thomases" who may not agree with you—not to your face, of course, they would not dare. Enter your darling's picture in the Beta baby contest. It won't cost you anything and all your child has to do is sit comparatively still for a couple of minutes to have his picture made. And, just might be, you'll wind up with a gold loving cup to show those afore-mentioned "doubting Thomases".

CHAPTER 20

THE champagne did seem to put Mrs. Featherstone into a better humor. As she dressed, Val could hear her employer chattering gaily to Dirk through the slightly opened communicating door of the bathroom.

"If it wasn't for that man, I might even come to the ball myself tonight. As an onlooker, of course. I don't suppose anyone would want to dance with an old woman like me."

"Nonsense, Aunt May, I shouldn't mind showing you around the floor once or twice," Dirk laughed easily back at her.

She bridled and said, "I must say your costume is original, what there is of it. How ever did you think it up?"

"Simple, my dear. I merely took the curtains down—"

She tied the cord of my dressing gown about my middle, combed my hair down, put a band about it, and presto—a brilliant reproduction of a Roman slave."

"You'd better hurry and come in for that drink, Val," Dirk called. "Or Aunt May will have polished off the whole bottle."

"Now Dirk, you old boy, you know I've had only one tiny glass, well, maybe one and a half."

"Oh, one and three quarters, or at least four," Dirk interrupted, laughing. "For heaven's sake hurry, Val."

"I'm coming."

Mrs. Featherstone was raising a glass of champagne to her lips, but the glass never reached her lips. "What on earth do you think you're going in that costume, Nurse?" she rapped out sharply.

"Dirk—Mr. Hanson loaned me his dress suit."

"Well, of all the—"

"Come now, Aunt May, don't spoil it," Dirk interrupted easily. "It was I who unseated Val borrow my tails. I said she'd look wonderful in them, and she does, doesn't she?"

There was a pause. Dirk's hand rested on Mrs. Featherstone's shoulder. "It's a good sport, Aunt May. Say Val looks nice."

"I scarcely think it a ladylike costume—and especially not suitable for a nurse to wear," she said finally.

Val flushed. "I'm sorry, Mrs. Featherstone. I'll change. And if you'd prefer I didn't go to the dance tonight—"

"Nonsense," Dirk broke in. And when Mrs. Featherstone merely grunted, he laughed and added, "Come along, Val, or they'll have stopped serving."

As they neared the dining room she was thinking suddenly, Bruce, what will he think? Will he think the costume "unladylike," or even brazen?

A small round of applause greeted Dirk's and Val's appearance, the same spontaneous applause which had greeted other passengers whose costumes had been striking or unusual. As they entered, Bruce had turned and looked at them; then abruptly he had turned his back on them. He didn't join in the friendly laughter or the applause.

Dirk pushed her forward toward their table. "What's the matter, my dear? You look as though you'd seen a ghost. Smile nicely at the ladies and gentlemen."

Val forced a smile, but she was trembling as she sank down into the chair the steward was holding out for her. "I'm—I suppose I'm self-conscious."

"You haven't any need to be. I don't flatter myself I earned that applause. It's obvious our fellow-passengers approve of you."

There was a pause. "I think I understand," he said quietly.

"I—I suppose I was silly to wear your suit. Perhaps it does make me a little conspicuous."

"Nonsense! Look around at some of the others. Does it matter what one person thinks? And then it may be because they're jealous."

She tried to misinterpret his remark.

"But why should Mrs. Featherstone be jealous of me?"

He smiled. "Of course we're talking of Aunt May, aren't we? It's only human nature to resent the beauty one no longer possesses. Poor dear Aunt May, I can understand just how she feels."

"I do wish she'd get out of bed. I'm sure if she lay in a deck chair, the change and the air would do her good. She can't seriously think Bruce would do her any harm after all this time."

He smiled. "Of course she doesn't. But she's a stubborn old dear and once she's said a thing she'll stick to it if it kills her."

"I suppose she was like that about her daughter and Bruce," she said slowly.

He nodded. "But I think she would have come round in the end. It was only a question of keeping her appeased."

She didn't know what to think of that remark of his, but she reminded herself it was none of her business.

Directly after dinner she went up to see how Mrs. Featherstone was, but the door was locked. She knocked and called, "May I come in, Mrs. Featherstone? Are you all right?"

"Of course I'm all right," her employer's voice answered irritably. "Go away, Nurse. Run along and dance, dance, dance."

Val rattled the doorknob. "Please let me come in, Mrs. Featherstone. There may be something I can do for you."

"No, no, go away! And don't come near me again tonight. I don't want to see you."

Val was still standing there, worried and undecided, when the cabin steward came down the passage and rapped.

"I shouldn't worry about her any more tonight, Miss Alison. I've just taken her in a second bottle of champagne. That should keep her happy for the time being anyhow. He lowered one eyelid in a wink.

F. Herbet Seeking Brothers, Sister

NEW ORLEANS (U)—More people bustle through an airport than a butcher shop. So, at a loss in pay, silver-haired Francis Herbet has quit his butcher shop and moved behind the snack counter of an airport. He is searching.

"I figure the job at the airport would put me in contact with many travelers," said Herbet. "And who knows, one of them may have met one of my brothers or sister."

Herbet lost track of his brothers and sister in 1912. Born William Kevan, he was taken from the New York Foundling Home that year by Mr. and Mrs. Elyse Herbet, a Parisian couple who migrated to New Orleans.

After the death of his foster parents, who had renamed him, Herbet began the quest that has consumed his energies since 1948.

"I started the search for my relatives, something I didn't want to do while the old folks were still alive," he said.

"I learned that my father was Scottish and my mother Irish and that they met and married in New York. I secured the copy of my birth certificate which indicated I was the fifth child of Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph Kevan."

"I learned that two brothers were named George and James, but could find no record of the third brother. I also learned that my sister's name was Martha Frances. I also learned that my brothers and sister were placed in the Irish Immigrants' Home, which no longer exists."

In his search, Herbet's best clue came from a cousin, who turned up in Houston.

"He has reason to believe that one of my brothers is in Canada," said Herbet. "He also believes that another brother lives in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil."

The fruitless quest caused Herbet, married and the father of three, to switch jobs in desperation, to stand in a big airport and peer hopefully into faces.

"I'm getting myself a big metal pin with the name Kevan printed on it," said Herbet. "I'll wear it just in case some of the people coming into the airport will spot it and have some association with the name. You never can tell."

Official Says Citrus Mutual 'Too Optimistic'

LAKELAND (U)—An official of a major processing firm says Florida Citrus Mutual has been "too optimistic" in price and use forecasts for this season.

Herbert S. Massey of Dade City cited the estimate of the U. S. Department of Agriculture that this season's orange crop will be four million boxes greater than last season's 91 million boxes, and a larger carryover of processed citrus juices.

"I can't conceive of that additional amount of fruit selling for the same price," Massey said at a meeting of Mutual's directors and an advisory committee. "I don't want to see growers holding back for $1.75 or $2 per box, and have it break back to a dollar."

Massey, a director, is a vice president of Pasco Packing Co. Mutual had predicted growers should get good prices for their

MRS. D. B. MCKAY DIES

TAMPA — Mrs. D. B. McKay, whose husband is a former publisher of the Tampa Times and was a four-time mayor of Tampa, died yesterday.

Mrs. McKay was the eldest daughter of Yavino Gutierrez, an engineer who plotted Tampa's Ybor City section and was a leader in bringing the cigar industry to Tampa.

She died of cancer of the stomach this season and the industry should dispose of the larger crop without difficulty.

Robert White, mutual economist, said an estimated increase in national income played a big part in the cooperative's optimistic forecast.

Meanwhile J. C. Strickland of the American National Growers said Florida grapefruit is selling in Rotterdam for between $3.47 and $3.95 a half box, compared to a top of $3.15 for a full box of West Indian grapefruit.

Powerful Electron Microscope Finds New Substance

ST. LOUIS (U)—The powerful electron microscope has thrown new light on construction of the nervous system—knowledge that could eventually help solve the mystery of multiple sclerosis and similar diseases.

The discovery concerns a substance known as myelin, found in the protective coating around nerves in the brain and spinal cord. Myelin is attacked and destroyed by degenerative diseases of the nervous system.

Dr. Sarah A. Luse, assistant professor of pathology at the Washington University Medical School, reporting on a two-year study, said it revealed myelin in the central nervous system actually is formed by and is a part of the nerve-protecting cells.

Until recent years myelin was regarded as inert matter of unknown origin deposited around the nerves.

Dr. Edward W. Dempsey head of the anatomy department at the school and a member of the search review panel of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, explained the significance of Dr. Luse's findings.

"The information on the origin and nature of myelin is a first-rate scientific discovery, not necessarily because of its relation to any disease, but because of the light it throws on the way the nervous system is constructed," Dr. Dempsey said.

"Every piece of information adds one more clue which finally could be used in unravelling the entire progress of multiple sclerosis and similar diseases of the central nervous system."

Some 60 scientists attended a conference here, sponsored by the multiple sclerosis society, at which Dr. Luse presented electron microscope pictures. Magnified up to 100,000 times, they showed how myelin is formed. Her studies were on animal tissue.

The Multiple Sclerosis Society called her discovery the most important advance in the fight against the disease in 125 years.

Iron Makes Care Of Ruffles Easy

Tucks, pleats, ruffles, and puffed sleeves are so very feminine. And these trimmings on pretty cotton dresses and blouses no longer present an ironing problem.

A new electric ruffle iron helps do the trick easily and in no time at all. The iron has a tall stand which fits over the edge of the ironing board and a fabric dial which can be set for the correct temperature. The fabric can be eased over the heated aluminum iron head and smoothed with two hands when necessary.

Tree Is Born

By ALBERT LUNDAY — FARM FORESTER

Condensed from an article by L. T. Pendarvis, Marketing Specialist

What could be more majestic, more serene than a mature tree, standing silently in the forest; grown and ripened by God's kind hand, awaiting the axe and man's thousand needs? Yet, equally lovely is a tender young tree, free with promise, adding certainly to man's hopes and dreams throughout the coming years.

This story is about pine trees—young, baby pine trees and how these trees will make you money.

The standard nursery practice in a Florida State Pine Tree Nursery is to plant pine seed on beds four feet apart with water furrows between beds. The seeds are sown on the beds in rows 3 inches apart, 20 seeds to each 12 inches of row space.

After the seed is sown in the drill they are mulched with a thin layer of pine straw; thin enough that the bed can be seen through the straw.

An overhead sprinkler-irrigation system controls moisture conditions and insures maximum seed germination.

Pine seed are planted in the nursery in March, harvested in December, January, and February. One acre of nursery produces 600,000 to 800,000 seedlings.

An ideal pine seed tree is one standing out in the open to itself so that its later branching is heavy and its height not too great. A pine so situated, receiving an abundance of sunlight, is a heavy seed producer.

The period for harvesting cones is during the last half of September through the first week in October.

Although there are approximately 122 million trees grown each year, 75 million of these are produced in Florida Forest Service nurseries and 47 million by private industry, there seems to be rarely ever enough to fill all orders.

Several of our pulp mills furnish free trees to farmers under certain stipulations.

Trees are planted usually 8x8 feet or 6x10 feet, requiring 600 and 750 trees to the acre respectively.

When trees are purchased outright from the State Nursery they cost $4.00 per 1,000 f. o. b. the nursery.

Trend In Fashion Is To Elegance

International accord hits a new high this fall when it comes to fashion, if nothing else.

On both sides of the Atlantic designers agree that ladies should look like ladies once more, that femininity and elegance should go hand in hand and that costumes for after dark should be important and elaborate.

The trend is toward rich satins and brocades, delicate embroidery, jeweled and beaded trimmings, in the manner of the "mauve decade," currently recalled to high fashion by universal interest in the modes and manners of 1912.

From Paris to Los Angeles the feeling is the same. It's a time to be feminine and dress to the teeth.

It costs each American only 42 pennies a year for the United Nations—World War II cost each American almost 1000 times that much a year!

- This is the 11th Anniversary of the UN—the 11th Anniversary of man's first completely organized search for peace
- Nobody has ever said that he was sure the United Nations will prevent a war.
- But then, nobody ever said he was sure a cure for cancer could be found.
- The fight for a cure for war must go on, just as the fight for a cure for cancer must go on.
- The United Nations is now 11 years old. With each passing year it has gained the support of more and more people. In fact, a recent survey shows that only 7% of the American people are for quitting the United Nations. The rest believe, and rightfully so, that we can never find lasting peace unless we look for it... unless we work for it.
- Above, you counted 42 pennies. That's what the UN costs each American per year. Look at just a few of the things that your 42¢ is buying.
- The UN Children's Fund (UNICEF) has helped organize health campaigns that examined 400,000,000 children in 95 countries, and vaccinated 75,000,000 children against tuberculosis.
 - Membership in the ten Specialized Agencies is helping to provide more food, better health and education for millions of people, and to bring about world cooperation on such matters as aviation, communications, weather, and the peaceful uses of atomic energy.
 - The UN has helped to produce peaceful settlements in Iran, Indonesia, Kashmir and Palestine, any one of which could have led to World War III.
 - The United Nations provides technical assistance to 78 countries. It works to eliminate sickness, irrigate deserts, and increase food production, thereby taking constructive action for peace.
 - The United Nations is the greatest loud-speaker in the world. We and other free nations can use this loud-speaker constantly, to tell the truth, to show up and probe Communist fallacies, and ultimately help develop a common worldwide sense of justice, the only basis for true and enduring peace.
- By attacking some of the underlying causes of war—hunger, poverty and disease—the United Nations is helping prevent war. At every opportunity, support the United Nations. You support it best by knowing what it's doing—and by letting others know what it's doing. A better understanding of the United Nations means a better chance of peace for the world!

Herlong's Visit Recalls To Writer Similar Incident

By MRS. MARIAN JONES
OVIDEO—Have you ever taken dictation from a Congressman? I was reminded of the fact Monday afternoon as I looked up into the smiling face of our imminent congressman, Syd A. Herlong, as he came in to shake hands and say hello. He was accompanied on his rounds of our community by J. H. Lee.

We thought back to our first encounter with the prominent official from Leesburg. He had not been a congressman very long. He was scheduled to speak before the Ovidio Woman's Club and I was delegated to cover that speech.

Never having taken down the speech of such a personality as a congressman, I admit that I was very nervous. I sat there with my precious notebook and pencil held tight to my hand.

Selecting a comfortable chair to sit in, I commenced with our Greg eulogies and shakily wondered if we would be able to decipher them when we had finished.

Upon our return, we heard the phone ringing. It was the paper wanting the speech—and we had not even had a chance to take our hat off much less glance over the notes.

"Please read them to us from your notes," his was quite a job—the speech being quite lengthy—and we secretly gloated over the fact that we were not on the paying end of the bill.

Having accomplished such a feat we were not quite so dubious over our next assignment—that of covering Claude Pepper's talk—then Senator Pepper.

We traipsed into the Ovidio Drug Store to purchase a new notebook and pencil. We glimpsed at a rear table at two rival reporters but did not say anything.

We found the Senator a little difficult to follow with ease but managed the task nevertheless. We even included in our notes one of the funny episodes of the evening.

Everyone was doing their best to eat fried chicken with the use of knives and forks. That is a very unsatisfactory way to eat fried chicken in my estimation.

DeBary Says No To Incorporation

DE BARY—Roads are usually connecting links between towns. In De Bary roads could split the town in two, should the C of C adopt the proposal of its roads committee which stated, "We are firmly convinced that our road problems can be equitably solved only by incorporation."

Last night, at a closed meeting in the civic auditorium, written questions from William Lutz, F. R. Ballantyne, R. R. Page and others requested information as to the amount of a bond (or mortgage) against the town of De Bary which would be primarily required; who would be assessed for drainage along roads already built; the upkeep of existing but faulty roadways in the village; the cost of this to those who have already paid out hundreds of dollars during the last six years for betterment of their streets but who have received nothing in return.

Robert Hofstetter spoke of the $7 tax on a thousand which has just been levied on all homeowners in the De Bary district and stated, "This is a tax for paving our roads and will be used for that purpose. That tax must be paid. Why go to the expense of incorporation now?"

Chairman Hunter said he didn't know, but being pressed, he estimated from $7,500 up. It was then established that one street in De Bary was known to cost $10,000 per mile rate. "Then, if the new roads will average from $7,500 to $10,000 a mile we must immediately assume a village debt of over $300,000 plus the costs of incorporation," queried Hofstetter.

Harry Krug stated that he and others worked for zoning last year, under the firm assumption that if they did so, the C of C would not push incorporation as their next project. He reminded the audience (Continued on Page Two)

Simplicity Speed, Accuracy Voting Machine Features

Simplicity, speed and accuracy—both in operation and tabulation of results—are outstanding features of the newly installed Shoup Voting Machines that are to be used in some of the Seminole County precincts for the first time in this year's general elections.

Voting machines were used in larger Seminole County precincts in the May primary. Even at first use, voters will find the machines easier to operate than a dial teleballot. Not only will voters be able to cast their ballots in quick order, but election returns will be available soon after the polls close. No longer will election officials wear-tired count individual paper ballot votes far into the night and the following day, or even longer if recounts are required.

On the Shoup Voting Machines, the vote total cast for each candidate is automatically tabulated on counters immediately beneath his name. Final results can be read by officials directly from the face of the machine as soon as the polls close. The counters on which the votes are tabulated are covered by metal while the election is in progress. When voting is completed, the totals are brought into view by raising a single slide.

Raceway Heads Set Open House For Residents

The renovated, charming club house at Seminole Raceway will be the scene Thursday evening of gay festivities as officials of the Raceway hold open house and stage a free movie show for residents of Seminole County.

William R. Kemp, president of the Raceway, has extended a cordial invitation to the public to attend this affair which will take place beginning at 8 p. m. "We want the people of Seminole County to see what is taking place out at this community center, where in addition to racing programs and harness horse training, there will be year-round activities in a spectacular fashion such as rallies, concerts, grand ole operas, and other events of Central Florida interest," Kemp told The Herald.

On Thursday's agenda are two showings of a full color, sound movie of the fabulous Hambletonian Stakes race at Goshen, N. Y., and the equally famous Little Brown Jug racing event at Delaware, Ohio. Kemp said there would be two showings of the half-hour long film, one at 8 and another at 9. This film was produced and loaned to Seminole Raceway by the U. S. Trotting Association.

Guests of the Raceway will be fed to refreshment and will get a first hand look at the grounds and hear about plans for the future of this great sports and recreational center.

This film, which has won high commendation from groups which have already seen it, portrays the color and thrill surrounding afternoon harness racing in settings similar to that in which the sport will take place at the Seminole track.

ColC Coffee Club Gathers Tomorrow

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Coffee Club will meet tomorrow morning at the Chamber of Commerce for a monthly get-together.

Beginning at 10 o'clock, the Coffee Club members are invited to acquaint Seminole County businessmen with their business neighbors, and to discuss informally items of interest to the entire group.

Coffee and doughnuts are served during the brief half-hour session.

Immediately prior to the Coffee Club announcement, Chamber of Commerce President Clifford McKibben named committee heads for the present fiscal year.

Named in the group are: A. L. Skinner, chairman of the agriculture committee; John Ivey, finance; Andrew Carraway, armed forces; David Gatzel, industrial; Gordon V. Frederick, legislative and national affairs; Gordon Sweeney, membership; Robert Karns, publicity and advertising; Al Lee, waterways and transportation; Frank Mebane, tourist and convention; Douglas Stenstrom, education; Sonny Powell, commercial activities; and J. Bralley Ouhm, roads committee.

Elks Slate 'Roll Call' Tomorrow

Annual "Roll Call" night will be observed tomorrow night at the Sanford Elks' Lodge, according to officials of the local fraternal organization.

The meeting, slated to start at 8 p. m., will be preceded by a "free feed" which begins at 6:30 p. m.

All Elks are urged to attend the annual affair.

VAH-5 Savage Sons Return To Home Port

Heavy Attack Squadron Five this week returned to Sanford. The locally based unit has completed a five month overseas deployment to the Mediterranean.

Believed by VAH-5, the "Savage Sons" were based at Port Lyautey, Morocco and operated continuously with the operating forces of the United States Sixth Fleet. The squadron maintained aircraft aboard task force carriers at all times.

During the tour VAH-5 participated in various fleet and NATO exercises the largest of these being "Operation Whiplash" which saw land, sea and air units of many nations simulate strikes and maneuvers.

When not at sea, the ships visited many Mediterranean ports which offered the crew opportunities to visit such places as Barcelona, Valencia, Naples, Genoa, Cannes, Pisa, Athens and Istanbul.

VAH-5 Commanding Officer, Comdr. Paul H. Speltz termed the deployment successful but felt that everyone was certainly glad to be back.

The squadron is now undergoing a well deserved leave period before resuming intensive training for the time when it will again be called upon to deploy overseas.

Ensign William P. Post, USNR, will assume duty as Navy Exchange Officer of Sanford Naval Air Station, Oct. 26, succeeding Lt. (jg) J. H. Shapiro, USNR, who is returning to private business in Boston, Mass.

Ens. Post reported to Sanford NAS from duty as Ship's Store Officer aboard the cruiser, U. S. S. Bremerton. Besides holding a Bachelor of Science degree in Aeronautical Engineering from the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, he is a graduate of the Navy Officer's Candidate School, and the Navy Supply Corps School.

He is married to the former Miss Sara Adams, of Alexander City, Ala. They reside in Sanford.

Berkowitz To Attend Session

The possibilities of solving the sewage treatment plant issue grows more imminent as an adjourned meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners was called for tonight at 8 o'clock.

The issue exploded Monday night when Wilson Holt, the city's fiscal agent, reported to the Board of Commissioners on the present financial situation of the Water and Sewer program bonds in relation to the revenue being derived from the facilities.

Apparently dropping as a surprise was the remark by Sanford's Mayor F. D. Scott, when, at the completion of Holt's report he said "About all we can say now is 'thank you' and we'll see you in about six months."

Holt had suggested to the Board of Commissioners that a "commitment" be signed authorizing his company, Goodbody and Co. to start a survey to "dig out the finances" of the Utility Department.

Outcome of the survey and study would, in all possibility, give the approximate date when a sewage treatment plant could be put under construction for the city.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles said this morning that Ed Berkowitz, representing the State Board of Health, would also attend tonight's meeting.

Berkowitz spoke briefly to the Board of Commissioners Monday night relative to the State Board of Health's position on the matter of complying with a resolution by the City of Sanford made in 1934 incorporating the sewage treatment plant construction within three years.

It is expected that a full five-man board will attend tonight's session of City Commissioners in an effort to work out the details toward gaining approval and co-operation of the State Board of Health and in getting a financial study and survey underway preparatory to the issuance of bonds for the sewage treatment plant construction.

3 Public Hearings Scheduled For First Commission Meet

Three public hearings were scheduled for the first meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners' meeting in November according to action taken at Monday night's session of the Board.

A rezoning recommendation by the Zoning and Planning Commission of the City was accepted with the rezoning of an area in which the First Christian Church is now located. In order to comply with present zoning ordinances, it was recommended that Lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 of Block 5 San Lanta; lots 1 through 9 of Block 7, San Lanta; and Lots 1, 2, and 3 of Block 13, San Lanta; be rezoned from an R-1A to an R-1 District.

In addition, the Board of Commissioners threw into a public hearing the recommended rezoning the east one-half of Block 8, Tier A, and the West one-half of Block 8, Tier B, from an R-3 to a C-1 District. This is in the area where the Elks' Club is now located and where expansion is contemplated. The rezoning would create a conforming use of the property.

Other items included in the public hearing will be the vacating of an east-west alley from Cypress to French Ave. and the vacating an easement in Grove Manor and relocating it 20 feet to the north.
