Hurley Tells Of Effort To Aid China Reds

Two U.S. Diplomats Sought Lend-Lease Arms To Destroy Chiang Government

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Major General Patrick Hurley has accused two career diplomats of trying to destroy the government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Hurley told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that George Atcheson, Jr., tried to undermine Chiang by getting Lend-Lease arms for the Chinese Communists.

Hurley said this happened while he left Atcheson in charge of the embassy at Chungking, but that the arms were not given to the Reds and that Atcheson was recalled from China. Atcheson had written the Secretary of State proposing the furnishing of Lend-Lease arms and equipment to the Chinese Communists.

The other diplomat criticized by Hurley was John Stuart Service. Both Service and Atcheson are presently political advisers to General MacArthur. Hurley said that Service in October, 1944, proposed that the Chiang Kai-Shek Government should be allowed to collapse. The former Ambassador to China said he was unable to file Service at the time.

FDR Rejected Plan For Joint Military Move

General Gerow Tells Pearl Harbor Committee Of Details Before Jap Attack

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Records placed before the Pearl Harbor investigation show that the late President Roosevelt rejected a British and American military plan for joint military action against the Japanese before the attack on the United States.

The records declined to approve the plan on June 7, 1941, six months before Pearl Harbor was bombed. The papers were filed away with the notation of President Roosevelt's aide, the late Major General G. M. Watson, that they were not mentioned again to the President for his approval in case of war.

However, Mr. Roosevelt approved on Aug. 29, 1941, a joint defense plan drawn up for Canada and the United States.

The former head of the war plans division, Lieut. General Leonard Gerow, testified that British and American military chiefs drew up plans for combined operations in Singapore and Washington in 1941. The plans drafted at Singapore were known as the A-11-11 plan, standing for American, British, Chinese and Dutch. Gerow said they were preliminary and were never approved by anyone in Washington, including Chief of Staff, General George Marshall.

Wallace Calls For Full Employment Program Without Raiding Treasury

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—Messages from President Truman and Commerce Secretary Henry Wallace have been read at the opening of the golden anniversary Congress of American Industry. The Congress was called by the National Association of Manufacturers.

Both officials praised the wartime role of industry.

President Truman's letter touched on reconversion labor disputes, but stated the opinion that reconversion problems can be solved orderly and speedily.

Secretary Wallace called for a program of full employment, but said it would be impossible to spend our way into good business conditions just by dipping into the Treasury and the Federal Reserve. He said American industry must increase mass purchasing power and raise the standard of living.

He added that obviously the answer isn't simply one of raising wages, costs and prices, leading to a vicious spiral of inflation. Wallace also warned of the dangers of deflation when he said that the earnings of farm and wage earners would drop lower in the next few years than they were during the war.

Meanwhile a storm was gathering in Washington where the three big unions—the United Mine Workers, the AF of L, and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners—are digging in for a battle against the President's labor plan. There are predictions, however, that they won't be able to head it off.

Joel Field And Reid Mann Speak On Convention

A report on Florida's participation in the recent National Convention held in Chicago by Reid Mann, Adjutant of the Department of Florida, and Joel Field, Seventh District Commanding Officer, was the feature of last night's regular meeting of the Campbell-Lossing Post of the American Legion held at the Legion Hall.

Mr. Mann reported that the highlight of the convention was General Dwight D. Eisenhower's speech before the delegates in which he called for a merger of the armed forces of the United States.

He further stated that the most touching ceremony was the posthumous presentation of the Legion's Distinguished Service Medal to Franklin D. Roosevelt by his father, the late President.

Mr. Mann said that he and the Florida delegation had been complimented by the National Convention Chairman, Bill Lumpkin, for the important part played by the delegation during the convention. He further reported he had pledged that Florida posts would enlist 25,000 new members.

Stenstrom Talks On Recreation At Kiwanis Meet

Vital need of additional city recreational and health facilities as a means of encouraging returning veterans to remain as citizens of Sanford instead of seeking greener pastures elsewhere, was today stressed by Julian Stenstrom, Herald sports editor and veteran of the European theater, in a talk to Kiwanis at the Hotel Mayfair.

Mr. Stenstrom was introduced by Dan Wright, and at the conclusion of his talk was warmly applauded and was personally congratulated for his public spirit by B. B. Crumley.

Upon being discharged after nearly five years of service, Mr. Stenstrom said that he returned to Sanford to find recreational facilities in the same condition as before he left, and stressed the need of citizens thinking more interest in the matter.

He told of the many men who had been rejected by the Army and Navy for lack of physical training and education, and of how this daily training improved the physical condition of those men in the service. In France, he said, he was put in charge of the problem of recreational facilities by his depot commander.

He said that Stenstrom was asked the commander and got the reply, "That's your problem." The result was that within 30 days, with the aid of German prisoner labor, an athletic field with facilities for baseball, softball, tennis, badminton, horseshoes, swimming pool, theater

Private Donations Hasten Work On County Roads

Two private donations towards the construction of roads in the Slavia and Oviedo sections were accepted yesterday by the Seminole County Board of Commissioners and will hasten work on the projects, according to O. F. Herndon, county clerk.

These were a donation of $5,000 toward the construction of the Miller Road in Slavia, made by John Duda, F. Duda and C. A. Duda, Jr., and a $1,000 donation by B. F. Wheeler for construction of a street within the city limits of Oviedo.

The Commissioners directed Road Superintendent J. W. Yarbrough to proceed with construction of the Miller Road immediately. A survey of the road in Oviedo was ordered, with the idea of building as soon as possible, Mr. Herndon said.

The Board reviewed a petition filed by a group of Lake Monroe citizens requesting repairs to Orange Boulevard which connects Wilson's Corner on Road 44 with the lakefront highway. It was agreed to start work on this as soon as possible.

The county appropriated $50 to be used for banner and purposes among colored veterans.

Government To Cut Its Farm Subsidies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The government is cutting down its farm subsidies. The new policy has been disclosed in a Department official, Price Director H. B. Boyd. The address was made to a meeting of state agricultural extension service officials.

Boyd told the state directors that government support prices for most commodities will be at the legal minimum next year. Except for parity, cotton requires support at 92 and five tenths percent.

The only exceptions for 1946, said Boyd, might be sugar, sugar cane, flaxseed, soybeans and dried beans. Government guarantees during the war kept the prices of many farm products above parity levels in order to encourage the greatest possible production.

Brumley Builds Boatworks Show Room On River

Deeper Harbor Made Near Osteen Bridge For Boat Owners

Much renewed interest in motor boating on the St. Johns River curtailed during the war period, is indicated by the fact that John Brumley, owner of the Sanford Boat Works, is erecting a 60 by 124 foot display room of concrete block construction on Celery Avenue, immediately west of the boat works.

Large windows will permit the passing motorist to view from the street standard cruisers made during the war period, and a variety of Whitcomb, N. Y., for the Waeeler Shipbuilding Company which Mr. Brumley has been named as dealer for Lake, Orange, Seminole and Volusia Counties.

On display also will be a line of speedboats, outboard and inboard motors and accessories, and small boats made by the Mr. Brumley will also display racing boats from the Atlantic City, New Jersey, he stated.

Also to be built are eight new 20 foot stalls to house boats purchased by customers, and six 45 foot stalls. These will be of similar construction to stalls now used. A deeper harbor has also been dredged for an anchorage, according to Mr. Brumley, who has been a boating enthusiast for more than 20 years, having owned his first boat in 1924.

Many citrus growers of Lake County and residents of Orlando and Orange County are interested in Florida boats for state cruises and cruises on the St. Johns River, Mr. Brumley said. Residents of Seminole County own many fine cruisers, and the boat works is beginning to hum with activity of owners getting their boats into fine condition for cruising.

Improvements in deepening and straightening the St. Johns River channel to Lake Hartney, and construction of a canal from the St. Johns to the Indian River would add still more to the boating urge in this section, Mr. Brumley said, and expressed the hope that these projects may in time receive government approval.

Keep saving used fats to help prevent further cuts in your soap supply

As long as our country's supply of industrial fats is so low, the government must determine how much fat can be released to make soap and other domestic goods.

Any let-down in your saving of used kitchen fats will make our fat supply even less... and the amount allowed for soap manufacture may have to be cut accordingly. The end of rationing of industrial fats are still very short. So your saving of your used fats, won't only speed the return of more soap to your dealer's shelves...

but the quota had been well exceeded. At the present time more than 25,000 have joined the Legion.

Because of the success of the membership campaign, Florida was awarded seventh place among the nation's big ten which provided Florida with the opportunity to play a prominent role in the convention's activities.

Commander Field reported that during the convention, he was contacted by Edward Higgins, first of Sanford, after receiving Hurst's pass extension signed by "practically everyone at the convention but the national commander," Mr. Field said, Hurst was enlisted in the Sanford post and initiated into the American Legion with 5,999 others in a gigantic mass ceremony. Mr. Field also applauded the work of Mr. Mann during the convention.

New members were voted on during the meeting, which was presided over by First Vice-Commander B. Pope.

Major Allan Whorton of the Sanford Army requested the local post to take charge of the Christmas Dime Boards. The request was approved and the local Legionnaires will be in charge of the Dime Boards on December 10.

First Commander Bill Thorne was appointed chairman of this activity.

Commander Pope reported that the local post last year had 273 members enrolled but the present membership drive has now passed the 325 mark. He anticipated that by June 1, 1946, the local post should have more than 500 members.

At the meeting, Mr. Thorne and Legionnaire Bill Morrison reported on the progress of the Veterans Service Committee. Mr. Thorne said that 27 veterans were placed in jobs under the GI Bill of Rights during the past two weeks.

However, Mr. Morrison reported that according to the latest reports he had received, the Ford Motor Company was getting less production from its wartime employees than ever before. Mr. Morrison said that he had been informed that the veteran was more ambitious in many respects than the wartime employee and that the reconversion "litters" were affecting the wartime workers more than the veteran returning to civilian life.

Senator Lloyd F. Boyle was present and informed the veterans, particularly the new members of the local post, of the hospital facilities and services rendered by the Veterans Hospital at Bay Pines and the projects necessary to be entered. He instructed any veteran who may be in need of emergency medical attention to contact him and immediate action will be taken to assist the veteran to Bay Pines.

The Legion approved a plan to sponsor a holiday dance. George Steele, Henry Wolcott and Chester Miller were appointed to arrange the affair. The organization also approved a plan to sponsor a dance in Sanford every month.

New members present at last night's meeting which followed a supper prepared by the Ladies Auxiliary of the local post, were Brailley Odham, Daryl L. Swan, Joseph W. Werrick, Van Beecher, Joe Stewart and Richard Packard.

Frankie Sinatra Loses Voice But Mates Fill Bill

By Jack O'Brian

NEW YORK—Broadway gave its touted reputation for excitement a boost square in the trousers the other night Frank Sinatra lost his voice, was forced to abandon his Paramount Theater parades for a whole day.

It also was the day The Voice was slated to begin a lucrative engagement at the Waldorf-Astoria's fashionable Wedgewood Room.

Three talented guys who heard about it volunteered their services. Danny O'Neill and Perry Como, both aspirants for Sinatra's hobby-sick eminence, proved competition can be friendly by substituting at the Paramount.

And Danny Kaye filled in for The King at the Waldorf, and was approximately sensational.

The three fellows thus laid to rest, at least temporarily, Broadway's fabled callousness.

Gypsy Rose Lee attended an opening wearing a hat which looked like an entire haystack.

With something like looking like water in the middle and all sorts of exotic foliage hanging over the banks, New York's apartment shortage stories are growing.

During recent football game weekends visitors were staying at Philadelphia's Bellevue-Stratford Hotel and commuting to New York for the games and subsequent celebrations.

Karloff pointed out that Dr. Frankenstein hadn't created a new monster, he had created a "Fred."

Officials Claim Housing Shortage To Become Worse

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—Unless you live in an igloo in the Arctic Circle, or a cave in some woods... you've heard that the housing shortage in these United States is critical. But in case you don't realize just how critical here's how just for a sample officials in Kansas City, Miss., estimate immediate requirements at 19,000 units; Omaha, 11,000; Tulsa, 15,000; and Chicago, 14,000. Houston, 10,000; Detroit, 30,000; Washington, 25,000.

All these are part of the present shortage of housing in the nation's cities. And to make the whole thing worse, officials expect a greater congestion in the next six months to a year.

There are several causes for this housing shortage. You can find most of them on your feet. Millions of servicemen are coming home; many of them have no money and want homes of their own. Many of them are still crowded by those who came to make war material, and stayed on after peace was declared.

War-time housing projects that gave homes to war workers are no longer practical in many places because of location, and general standards. Very little new building, if any, has been done. And in some such as Los Angeles and Seattle, the return of Japanese-American families from detention centers adds complications to the housing problem. College communities feel the pinch because many ex-servicemen are arriving—many of them with wives and children.

These are the salient reasons why thousands of families are doubling up, sleeping in automobiles, in churches, railroad stations, garages, cellars, trailers, school rooms and pup-tents. It's a situation that could easily place anyone sitting back in fashion. People resort to all sorts of tricks, such as acquiring a house or apartment. And the freak advertisements are numerous. In a Salt Lake City newspaper this ad appeared: "Will exchange two-year-old girl for furnished apartment impossible to get one with."

In Georgia, an Army lieutenant found a place for his family after visiting every town within 15 miles of Albany. In New York City an ex-serviceman found an apartment after a 105-mile hike through the streets. At Waterbury, Conn., instead of reading the rental ads, which are almost non-existent anyway, home-seekers watch the obituary notices. And in one New Jersey town, 12 applicants sought an apartment while the tenant lay dying in a hospital. Things have come to that.

And it seems they won't get any better—not for six months or a year, at the earliest. National housing authorities say that two million more families will be displaced by the end of the year. The birds of the air and those little foxes when it comes to a place to live, have it all over the rest of us.

Hurley resigned on the 27th. The Byrnes statement outlined American policy as one favoring the creation of a strong, united and democratic China which will be able to preserve and stabilize in the Far East and which will enable China effectively to support the United Nations Organization.

Gold Pros Gather For $10,000 Open Miami Tournament

MIAMI, Dec. 5. (AP)—Golf pros gathering in Miami for the city's $10,000 Open tournament are asking a question this week. They're wondering whether little Ben Hogan is on his way to supplanting Byron Nelson as golf's top man.

There is no doubt that Nelson, Mr. Golf himself right now, and that little Benny has quite a way to go. But will 1946 see Hogan forge to the front to become Nelson's chief threat?

The two have much in common. They started as caddies together on a Fort Worth, Tex., golf course. Both are 31 years old. And both play similar games—neither make mistakes, both are consistent.

Right now, Hogan rates his game at peak form. He says the three years he spent in the Army Air Forces were just what he needed. Where once he had trouble concentrating, today he says he has little or no trouble along that line. Ben is getting driven just as long as before with his irons even more accurate.

Hogan is rated along with Sar-

Absenteeism May Prevent Congress From Adjourning

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—It's hardly any time at all since I passed along the prediction that increasing desire for a recess, a vacation for the holidays, would drive Congress to enactment of some of the important pending legislation.

I could have saved some ink. The legislative log jam seems tighter than ever and is being threatened now with something that could prevent its being broken at all before Christmas. That is absenteeism.

It hasn't been long since Democratic Sen. Tydings of Maryland, who lives practically within commuting distance of the Capitol, berated his absent colleagues for not sticking more closely to the legislative halls until pending measures are cleared.

Several other members have spoken up on the subject—the last Sen. Abe Murdock (D-Utah). During debate on the important Government Reorganization Bill he noted that there were only ten senators on the floor.

It was only a few minutes later that Sen. Morse (R-Ore.) pointed out that the few senators present were mostly those "who had come recently from the people" and warned that after another election or two the people might express their will for a reorganization of Congress by sending men to the Senate who would see it through.

Actually on that day only 26 senators were in, out of town, or on other errands occupied to show roll call. A little later, when a roll call vote was taken on an amendment, 39 of the senators failed to answer to their names.

On the previous day in the House while the Full Employment Bill was being debated, the point

Truman Praises Wartime Role Of U. S. Industry

Representative Robert Ramspeck, who heads the subcommittee of the House Labor Committee, says he thinks that the House will back Mr. Truman. Give the President what he asked for, says the Georgia Democrat, and let him try it out—give him a chance to show what it can do.

Leaders of the two major labor unions disagree about President Truman's labor law proposals—although both oppose the plan. The American Federation of Labor charges Mr. Truman with trying to destroy unionism. But AF of L Chief William Green doesn't think so. Green conferred with Mr. Truman today. And afterward he told pressmen that although the President's plan to end strikes is not acceptable, he thinks Mr. Truman is sincere in his beliefs. Green's principal objection is to the 30-day cooling-off period suggested by Mr. Truman.

The Automobile Workers Union has called off the negotiations scheduled to be resumed today with General Motors. They were supposed to have conferred on G.M.'s charges of illegal picketing. Both sides had hoped the discussions might lead to negotiations on wage demands. The postponement came at the request of the Union Vice President—Walter P. Reuther—who left Detroit for Buffalo to address a meeting of strikers.

Attacks Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The council of administration of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has declared that important veteran legislators is being sidetracked in Congress. The council embodied this assertion in a resolution passed yesterday at a conference in Kansas City. The resolution urged the major committees on veteran affairs be set up in both houses of Congress.

Goering Warned Czechs Of Bombs If Any Resistance

cellery bunker was given to investigators months ago, but her story was taken off the secret list only today.

How Capt. Reitsch came to be there is a story in itself. Last April 26, she flew into Berlin with Lieut. General Ritter von Greim, who had received a frantic call from Hitler after Hermann Goering supposedly tried to take over as Fuehrer. The plane she was flying was jumped by Russian fighters, and General Greim was wounded but she succeeded in bringing in the ship. The two were rushed to the Reichs-chancellery bunker, where Hitler greeted Greim with expressions of deep gratitude, and asked: "Do you know why I've called you?" Because Hermann Goering has betrayed and deserted both me and my atherland. Behind my back, he has established connection with the enemy. His action was a mark of cowardice. And what I order he has gone to save himself at Berchtesgaden, prepared to rule in my place."

Hitler according to Capt. Reitsch worked himself into a rage. He kept shouting: "Nothing has been said me. No allegiance has been kept. No honor lived up to. No appointments have I not had. No betrayals have I not experienced. And now this, above all else."

Greim and the woman pilot were told to remain in the bunker. Later, Hitler came to her, and as Capt. Reitsch tells the story, he said to her in a low voice: "Hanna, you belong to those who will die with me. Each of us has a vial of poison such as this." And he handed her one for herself and one for the general. Hitler then told her that of a General Weick, which was to be moving up from the south to drive back the Russians. Actually, there was no more air, it had been wiped out days before.

Also in the bunker at the time were Joseph Goebbels, the propaganda minister, his wife, and their six children, ranging in ages from three to 14 years. Goebbels' father-in-law, a director of oratory with all the exaggerated histrionics of a ham actor, Martin Bormann, Hitler's aide who is being tried in absentia at Nuremberg, was the calmest of all—moving about very little, sitting at a desk most of the time writing the last record. Eva Braun, Hitler's sweetheart,

BIBLE READING TODAY

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY: LIVE IN CHARITY TOWARD ALL MEN AND KEEP ON GOOD TERMS WITH YOUR OWN CONSCIENCE. Let us follow after things that make for peace. Romans 14:19.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce Takes Fifth Husband—headline. "Takes" is good.

A Chicago neuropsychiatrist says that returning veterans are marrying the motherly type of girl. After three or four years in the Army they are ready for some home cooking. Glamour is all right in its place, but some home made waffles and fried chicken are better.

The Times-Union suggests that General Marshall, Admiral King, General Arnold, and Admiral Halsey are too good to be allowed to retire to private life. Some new work in public service should be found for them. What! The brass hats? Don't you know they are the ones that bungled the war?

Nurses to care for thousands of feeble minded patients at the State Hospital at Chattahoochee are practically non-existent. Superintendent J. L. Therrell is pointing out that the federal government pays its nurses in Veterans Hospitals $3,000 a year while the State offers its nurse superintendents less than half that amount. The time has come when the State will have to match federal pay in all categories or close up its institutions.

going to nationalize their banks. We don't know exactly what that means but most of us have the idea it has something to do with taking the deposits away from those to whom they belong and giving them to the rest of us. In all fairness, we submit that if this is so, we should be against it whether we happen to have any money on deposit or not. Robbery is no better when practiced in the name of government than by an individual.

A local group is being organized to help put Sanford in the Florida State League with a good ball team next summer. The Herald will be glad to co-operate. If this city could support a team, and we did, back there in the dark days of the thirties, we certainly can do so now when most folks have more money than they know what to do with. Baseball is good wholesome recreation, not only for those who play, but also for the thousands of fans who like to watch the games. You don't have delinquency among boys who are attending baseball games.

President Truman, somewhat belatedly perhaps, has taken steps to put stop to labor strife in this country. It is becoming increasingly apparent that if strikes are allowed to multiply, the whole reconstruction effort can be blocked, the whole prosperity program disrupted, and widespread unemployment take the place of full employment. Such a depression accompanied by inflation, something which fortunately we did not have before, would make the troubles of 1933 seem trifling. The current practice of calling strikes and then proceeding to negotiate must stop. Striking must be employed only as a means of last resort. Full production must be assured the American public regardless of labor controversies.

What happens when a high ranking naval officer, a son of an Admiral, makes a mistake? Is he politely urged to be more careful next time? Is he kicked upstairs to a more impressive but less responsible position? If you have been reading the papers lately, you know the answer to that one. He gets court martial. Capt. McVay was skipper of the Indianapolis when she happened to be sunk by a ship submarine. He had just made a quick run to Guam with atomic bombs. He must have been a fearless sort of individual of the "damn the torpedoes, full speed ahead" type, for he did not bother to alter a zigzag course in sub-infested water. But he happened to get hit. So he is court martialled.

Unions Out Off Hand

With the labor-management conference in Washington adjourned, its purpose apparently defeated, there is added significance to a letter from the American Manufacturers' Association sent to President Truman, the Cabinet and the press, urging Congress to take steps making unions and union officers subject to the same laws and policies which apply to all Americans.

This came out on the eve of the strike at General Motors. The letter was signed by George Romney, general manager of the XMA who said a General Motors strike would bring the industry to its knees in a short time since this corporation was the largest single supplier of auto parts. The letter attributed difficulties in the automobile industry to "outdated labor policies of our government, misuses of excessive monopolistic power by unions, the unions' false idea in organizing workers, such as that endorsing loafing and the perpetual inter-union fights for union control."

The public as well as Mr. Romney is impatient with the constant labor management strife and not only in the automobile industry. The nation had 270,000 idle men last week. Among them were telephone operators and maintenance men of a New York hospital.

No one, informed even casually on history, disputes the vast good to humanity the unions have brought in their fight against child-labor, 12-hour working days, insufficient wages, poor working conditions and the like. But on the same count, no one will question Mr. Romney's stand that union members should be judged by the same laws and policies as are all other Americans. Many will agree with him that right now they seem to have the edge on the rest of us as far as government is concerned.

Re-Organization Coming

There may be a chance to improve the efficiency of the federal government. The Senate has passed a bill giving the President the right to reorganize and merge government bureaus without getting a specific bill passed in each case.

A lot of exceptions have been made. Most of the independent commissions, like the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Federal Securities Commission, have been exempted; 17 of them in all, which the President is forbidden to touch. Many are bureaus with strong friends in Congress which have lobbied to obtain this exemption. They prefer to conduct their affairs as they please, even if other people think that their efficiency could be improved.

These exemptions reduce the bill's advantages, but it might have been worse. Some senators wanted to require specific Congressional authority for every change. This would of course leave things exactly where they are now, which was probably what the senators wanted. This idea was defeated.

As the House of Representatives has already passed a somewhat different reorganization bill, a conference committee must now harmonize the differences. If it succeeds, a forward step will have been taken. Sad experience has shown that Congress is too busy or too indifferent or too hostile to merge or abolish unnecessary bureaus. Only a President can get this done.

A Grounded Nation

Probably no punishment meted out to the Japanese will be felt so keenly as the grounding of their airplanes. They were good flyers and had a large civil aviation industry. By the end of this year the industry will be wiped out completely, and no flying or training, or even ownership of planes, will be allowed.

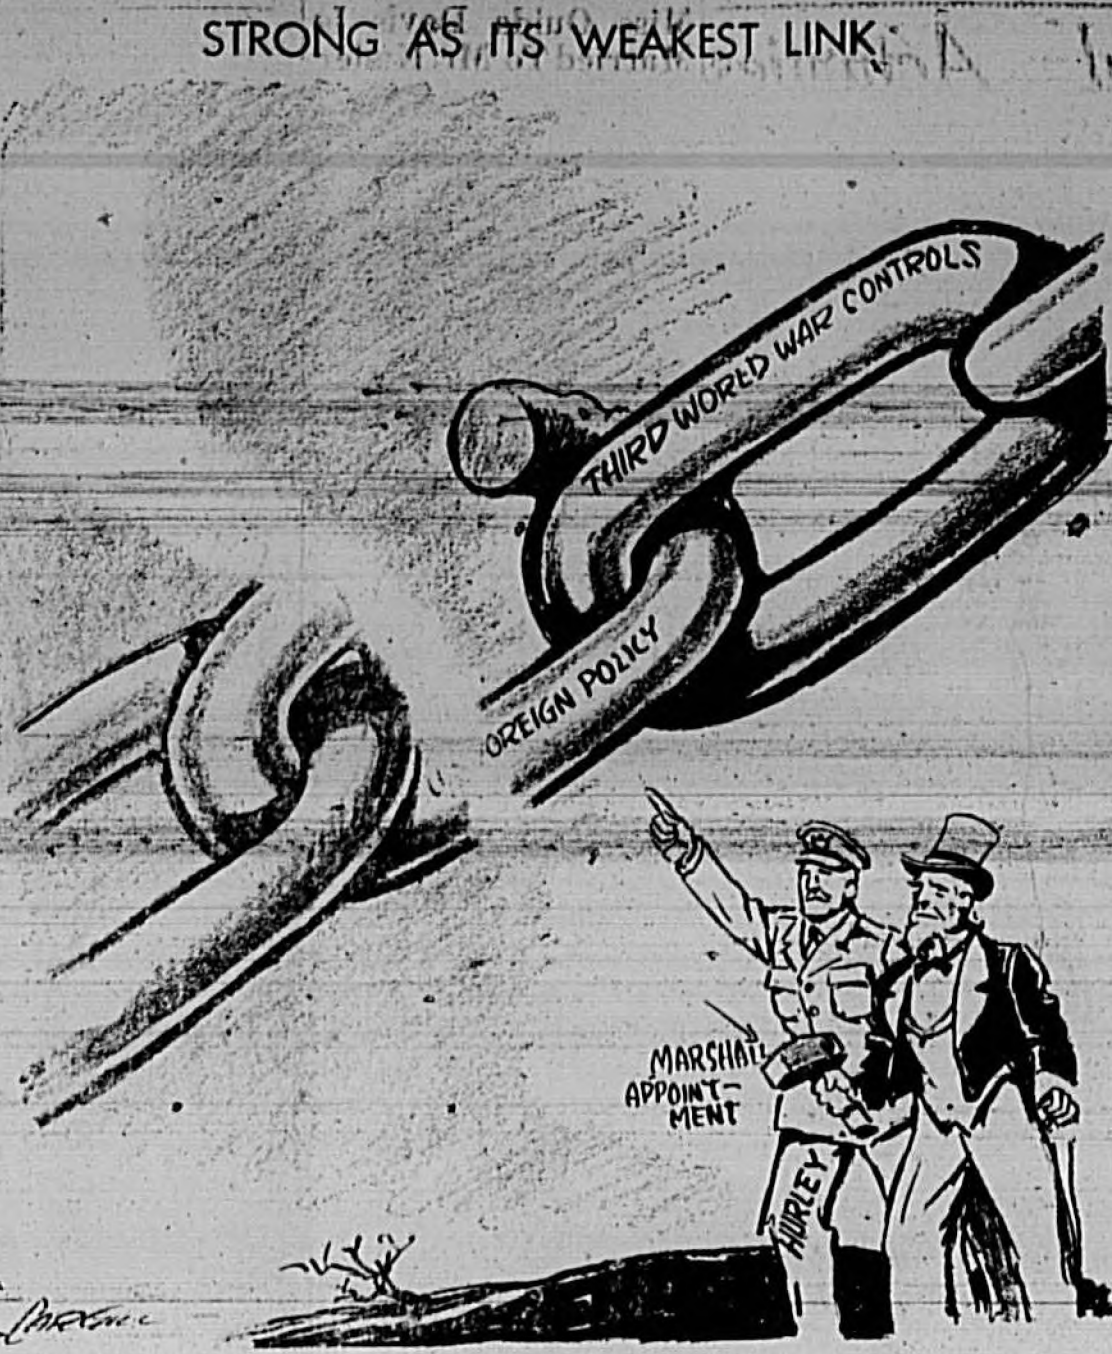

There is some consolation, however. The Japs are having their radio sets restored, 4,000,000 of them, so that they can have music and know what is going on. It is a charitable concession. Americans may naturally wonder whether the Japs would ever have granted a similar favor if the situation was reversed. Probably not.

Very truly yours, Claude Pepper

The hand of justice is at last clutching at the throats of the principal Nazi criminals. The past few days here in Nuernberg twenty of these evil men who made war upon mankind and the world under the infamous banner of Nazism have been on trial in this city of their ancient arrogance and triumph.

I have been very pleased to find engaged in this important work of bringing to the bar of justice these Nazi criminals some friends from Florida. Captain William Lines, of Quincy, was one of the principal prosecuting attorneys at the Dachau Trials. I now find that Miss Glietz, of St. Petersburg, and Miss Evelyn Tucker, of Miami, are in responsible positions on Justice Jackson's staff here in Nuernberg. Miss Tucker is writing up this letter to you fellow Floridians for me now. Goering, Hess, Ribbentrop—most of these 20 desperate men, whom for days I have seen in the prisoner's dock—I saw in 1938 in this same city of Nuernberg, walked like little Gods amongst their soulless but subservient fellow gangsters. Today, in their hearts they must know that they are doomed men, for their crimes are not only in the history of the last decade but with typical German thoroughness have been written into their own voluminous records, and even in many cases recorded in talking pictures.

There are three men not indicted whose names are foremost in every charge of Nazi criminality—Hitler, Himmler and Goebbels. For Hitler spawned this evil web which first strangled Germany and then threatened the world. He was the God of this hierarchy of German devils who wanted to make a Nazi Hell on earth. He farthred every perdition, thought which became Nazi policy and program. He drew to him all these hard and heartless men who with him have brought to mankind and to the earth more sorrow, death and devastation than any group of men in history. Himmler personified the degeneracy and degradation of the whole system, and Goebbels was the twisted prophet of their distorted doctrines. But Himmler and Goebbels are dead in nameless graves. Hitler is either dead or burrowing like a mole underground.

But there, in the accused's box, sit the other leaders of the gang: Goering, Hitler's right-hand man and designated successor, who was party to nearly every Nazi crime. Hess, first Hitler's Secretary and then Deputy Leader in 1941; was Hitler's shadow and spokesman. Ribbentrop, who as Foreign Minister, was Hitler's sycophantic and unscrupulous accomplice in throwing the world into the agony of war for Nazi domination. Keitel, the cold Prussian militarist, who under Hitler organized and ordered the death and devastation which German Armed Forces from the first of September, 1939 until the eighth of May, 1945—poured out upon the world.

And then there is Rosenberg, whose devilish mind was the philosopher and cunning creator of the Nazi doctrine and who later looted the art treasure of Europe and perpetrated some of the principal outrages of Nazi occupation. Frank, whose cynical face marks him the typical gangster, the legal mouthpiece of the gang who destroyed every vestige of German law and justice and set an example of butchery and barbarism as Governor-General of occupied Poland. Frick, who was Minister of the Interior and cruel administrator of many occupied areas. Sauckel, who organized and carried out the enslavement and execution in Germany of millions of forced workers from occupied countries. Speer, who provided the arms and munitions with which their criminal aggression was hurled against the world. Funk, who managed the German economy and mobilized the whole might of the German nation and people behind the Nazi war. Schacht, head of the highest German central bank, who lent to the Nazis his perverse financial wizardry to build up their power to make war at the expense of other nations—though he now proposes to scorn his former confederates. Von Papen, who as Hitler's Ambassador, by intrigue, coercion and corruption spread the Nazi web from one European Capital to another.

And the others include Von Neurath, former Minister for Foreign Affairs, unless whose administration hundreds of thousands were sent to their death and millions persecuted in occupied Bohemia and Moravia. Schirach, Hitler's youth leader, who poisoned and perverted the minds and the souls of German youth and made them little devils whom he first taught to kill their pets so they could later butcher their fellowmen without pangs of conscience. Seyss-Inquart, who first destroyed Austria and then was one of the principal perpetrators of the outrages committed in occupied territory. Streicher, the Jew-baiter and killer, whose diabolic face is the picture of his Satanic heart and crimes. Jodl, whose planning genius made it possible for German forces to scourge Europe and to threaten the mastery of the world. Raeder and Donitz, head of the German Navy, who sent their rattlesnakes of the sea into every ocean and left their victims strewn even upon the Coast of Florida. Fritzsche, who spewed out under Goebbels the foul Nazi propaganda.

Hitler's Staff Was Linked With Nazi Atrocities

Our name in the news today is Admiral William Canaris. The name of Admiral Canaris was brought into the news last Friday by the first witness who testified at the Nuremberg war crimes trials. The witness was German Major General Erwin Lahousen who linked Hitler's general staff with atrocities on the eastern front.

the atrocities of Hitler and his henchmen. Sometimes, General Lahousen told the court, Admiral Canaris succeeded in circumventing Hitler's plans. One of the Nazi defendants at the war crimes trial, Field-Marshal General Wilhelm Keitel, probably heard for the first time Friday how Admiral Canaris had prevented his plans to murder the French military leaders, General Maxime Weyrand and General Henri Girard.

The name of Admiral Wilhelm Canaris was well known by all foreign correspondents who maintained contact with anti-Hitler sources in Nazi Germany. The extremely reticent Canaris was the head of the German Secret Intelligence but he spent a great deal of his time actively plotting Hitler's death.

The descendant of a Greek family, Admiral Canaris was a German naval intelligence officer in the first World War. When Kaiser Wilhelm I died, Canaris represented the German navy in the funeral services in Holland. After Admiral Canaris watched disdainfully when a representative wreath to the funeral.

After World War one, Admiral Canaris ran a private intelligence service—probably along the lines of some private American detective agencies—and he also dabbled in German political intrigue. Canaris re-entered the navy under Hitler and rose to full admiral and the head of the German navy three years later. He was dismissed by Hitler because of his frequent contacts with U.S. Blue Guard organization.

Fate finally caught up with Canaris. He was executed early in 1946 for his part in the bomb-plot of the previous year.

Trading Activity Not Reported At Minor League Meet

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5. (AP)—There has been no trading activity as yet at the 44th Minor League Baseball Convention. And it's quite likely that no trades involving big league players will materialize.

Most of the delegates to the convention insist that they are interested only in selling ball players, and they are willing to talk only in terms of hard, cold cash.

As a result, nothing much is expected to happen in the way of trades until the major leagues gather in Chicago next week. One question scheduled to come up at the minor league meeting, which opens tomorrow is an amendment which would make the head of the minor league W. G. Bramham, the final ruler in all differences in the minor league. The amendment also would take away from Commissioner Happy Chandler the right to buy out all restrictions which he considers detrimental to baseball.

Marking 'Em Up IN SPORTS

MIAMI, Dec. 4 — One of the most important factors in any football game is the weather and for Orange Bowl teams it's a contributing factor.

Ideal weather conditions prevailed 11 straight years since the classic's beginning and a check of the Miami weather bureau reveals that only one time since establishment of the bureau in 1912 has there been so much as a shower New Year's afternoon.

The finest offense in football becomes a mired-down, ineffective outfit on a wet and muddy field. Likewise, the nation's best passing attack isn't worth a Confed cent dollar when the rains are falling or the field is slippery. A fast field means runners can hold their feet, break more quickly and cut back when the occasion demands. Also, passers can toss the dry ball more accurately and receivers catching tasks are made much more simple.

This will mean much to the Orange Bowl's reputation as a football shrine. Selected last week by the schedule committee, the Crusaders have trumped seven foes with their ground game.

Past statistics indicate the Orange Bowl eleven have used the ideal conditions to the utmost advantage. Georgia Tech's pass-minded eleven didn't defeat Tulsa in 1945, but established a new yardage passing record by traveling 319 yards via the airways. Tulsa, the victor, 20-12 displayed a more balanced attack, gaining 199 on the ground and another 137 through passes.

In what, perhaps, was the greatest offensive spree in any bowl grid classic, Alabama and Boston College stunned up and down the Orange Bowl's green turf for a total of 634 net yards. The victors, 37-21, Alabama, poured to 277 yards, more by ground and added 97 more by passes while Boston College got 249 on the turf and 187 through the ozone.

Georgia's great Orange Bowl team of 1942, however, holds the offensive record of 340 net yards gained. From the St. Louis, Mo. team to a 40-26 triumph over TCU, The Bulldogs enervated 179 yards rushing and added 291 by Frankie's expert marksmanship.

Many of these boys were stationed in or near large cities and they found that they were progressive. They found that the older people were proud to show them around. The veteran saw the greener pastures. He discovered places where he would be welcomed and assisted in getting into a business or some other field found town and cities where he would have a varied assortment of recreational facilities and above all he found cities and towns with adequate hospitalization.

We don't have those advantages here now but there's no reason why we can't. We're willing to fight for them and fight hard because we know they can be accomplished in some day we'll all be able to take pride in the work that has been done.

We believe that a definite recreational program will be forthcoming in the near future and that immediate steps should be taken to revive the fight for a local hospital. We further advocate that the local civic organizations enlarge their memberships with young, energetic men. Although we realize that the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis have some young men in their clubs, we believe there should be more. We want the younger people to get right in there and work with the older people.

Yesterday we talked with one Sanford man who brought out a very important point. He said the biggest job we have here is to sell Sanford's people. We agree with him 100 percent. Once the citizens have been sold on Sanford, there would be no limit to the progress this city could make.

We have got to get away from the old feeling that has prevailed in Sanford these many years. Whenever something is brought up before the people, the old familiar cry begins "It won't work! It won't work!" Why certainly not! Did you ever see anything work by itself?

U. S. Agrees To Aid Britain With Huge Sum

Loan Of $4,400,000,000 Would Be For Fifty Years At Less Than 2 Percent Interest

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6, (AP)—British and United States government representatives have placed their signatures on a loan agreement for financial aid to Great Britain. The amount and terms of the loan have not yet been disclosed in Washington, but the London press has stated that the amount is $4,400,000,000. Treasury Secretary Vinson signed the document for the United States, and the British ambassador, Lord Halifax, signed for Great Britain. Official announcement of the signing, however, has not yet been made and the State Department has declined to comment on it.

LONDON, Dec. 6, (AP)—The United States has agreed—subject to congressional approval—to lend Britain $4,400,000,000. Acceptance of the loan is subject to approval by the British Parliament.

No official announcement of the loan has been made yet, but British newspapers are filled today with details of the plan. An official announcement is expected today by the two governments.

According to the versions printed in the British papers, the United States plans to lend Britain the money for 50 years—the first five years being interest-free. The loan is to commence in 1946 and after five years the British will have to pay two percent interest annually—about $88,000,000. The loan has been hailed as a boon to world trade by the British press, although some of the newspapers have commented editorially on the plan. But the story implies that the plan has met with approval from the British and that the loan talks had gone down.

Henry W. Wollcott Assumes Duties As OPA Rent Official

E. C. "Bud" Smith said today that he had been compelled to resign this position in order to be able to give full time to his furniture business.

"I wish to express my appreciation to landlords and tenants for the patriotic co-operation that they gave the office while I was in charge," Mr. Wollcott said today that he was fond of the Florida climate, as at one time, he and Mrs. Wollcott lived in Bradenton for three years. They have one son in the Army Air Force and another son who is with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and a married daughter who lives in Birmingham, Mich.

15th Navy Airplane Is Reported Overdue

FORT LAUDERDALE, Dec. 6, (AP)—A sixth airplane is reported overdue by the Navy as hundreds of air and surface craft scour the Atlantic coast in search of five Navy torpedo bombing planes missing from Fort Lauderdale since late yesterday.

The five planes were due back at their base but reported by radio yesterday that they had only enough fuel for about 75 minutes of additional flying.

The sixth plane reported missing last night officials have not said how many men were with the plane or how long it was in the air. The plane is believed to carry a pilot and a radio-gunner.

At Jacksonville's Naval Air Station, Rear Admiral Ralph Davison has named a board of investigation to seek details of the missing craft.

A number of Sanford fishermen have notified their intention of holding the Orlando Marine Club Saturday, which will have a carnival that will include a street parade at 1:00 P. M., a barbecue dinner at 2:00 P. M., for the club members and their families, and a dance at 8:00 P. M.

Full Employment Local Youth Is Bill Suffers Big Reverse In House

Measure Is Revised To Make It Mere Shadow Of Former Self

What started out eleven months ago as the so-called "full employment" plan has dwindled to a mere shadow of its former self, as it rests now with the House committee in Congress.

President Roosevelt favored the plan in principle when he offered it in the House in 1944. It is the Senate almost a year ago. President Truman was for it, too. Shortly after the Murray bill, Representative Patman, Democrat from Texas, introduced an identical measure in the House.

Both these bills read: "All Americans able to work and seeking work have the right to useful, remunerative, regular, and full-time employment and it is the policy of the United States to assure the existence at all times of sufficient employment opportunities to enable all Americans who have finished school and who do not have full-time household responsibilities freely to exercise this right."

After kicking around in the Senate for months, the bill finally was passed in a greatly watered-down version. One was the phrase, "the right" to full employment. Now, the bill reads, people were "entitled" to an "opportunity" for full-time employment.

But even so, the house expenditures considered the bill at bit too strong. This week they approved a version far less fulsome, even than the measure passed by the Senate.

In general the bill passed by the Senate and the one pending in the House would do this: provide federal jobs as a last resort to prevent wide unemployment. This could be done through a "If the House passes its version, House and Senate will have to get together and make their two bills like. But the House won't be doing anything about it now until next year."

Power Of Veterans Must Be Recognized

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., Dec. 6, (AP)—The Deputy Chief of the Army Air Force, General Carl Spaatz, says that this country must recognize the political power held by 13,000,000 veterans and their families.

Spaatz told a conference of Army Air Force officials and representatives of civilian organizations yesterday that it must be remembered that ex-servicemen are young and susceptible. They will listen to those who promise them what they want, said the General, or to those who promise to remedy their real or imagined wrongs. Spaatz added that discontentment makes for trouble waters in which unscrupulous politicians like to fish.

FBI MAY INVESTIGATE
MIAMI, Dec. 6, (AP)—South Florida OPA Director Dr. James Thomas has requested FBI investigation of charges that the OPA in Miami had "called off" probes on matters "bordering on the criminal." In a letter to National OPA Administrator Chester Brown, Dr. Thomas has suggested investigation by the administrator or any other government agency designated, such as the FBI.

High Ranking Japs Named As War Criminals

Prince Konoye And Marquis Kido Are Among Nine Under Arrest By Allies

TOKYO, Dec. 6, (AP)—General MacArthur reached up to high level today to tag two of Japan's most powerful political figures as war criminal suspects—Prince Fumimaro Konoye and Marquis Kido. Both men are being named by many Japanese themselves as top war criminals.

MacArthur directed that the Japanese government arrest both men and turn them over to Allied authorities. Other high-ranking Japanese also were ordered arrested by MacArthur.

The Japanese had hardly recovered from the shock of MacArthur's announcement when they received another. The Japanese Communist party announced it would release its own list of war criminals Saturday. This list includes Emperor Hirohito and his empress.

Konoye has been premier of Japan three times and was regarded as one of Nippon's most prized "front men" for the militarists. Kido was Hirohito's right hand man and was instrumental in naming many premiers, including General Hiroki Tojo who succeeded Konoye just before Japan attacked Pearl Harbor.

The others ordered by MacArthur are: Vice Admiral Takuo Goto, unofficial Japanese envoy to Germany; Shigen Oshio, long time political economist; Taketora Ogata, a leading Japanese journalist and vice president of the Tokyo newspaper Asahi; Viscount Hasegawa Gohki, industrialist; Lieutenant General Hiroshi Oshima, former Japanese ambassador to Germany who just got back to Tokyo today from internment in the United States; Count Tetsu Maeda, member of the House of Peers; and Yachiyo Suma, a long time diplomat.

In the Japanese diet, meanwhile, Premier Baron Aijuro Shiyanara admitted that his government was the Allied target of war criminal suspects. And he said he had no information on how many persons the occupation authorities intended to indict or try.

Infantile Paralysis Tag Day Will Be Held Saturday

Under the sponsorship of the Pilot Club members of the Junior Class of Seminole High School will have charge of the "Tag Day" for the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, to be held on Saturday, Dec. 8.

The Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation is operated by a non-political, non-sectarian Board of Directors of national scope, consisting of public spirited business, medical, and professional men and women from many walks of life, giving freely of their time without compensation. The Foundation in Minneapolis, founded by Sister Elizabeth Kenny, who works many hours daily without compensation, is supported through public generosity only.

Fifty percent of the collection from the tags will be sent to the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation in Miami to further the work there and help in purchasing additional hospital beds, in the training of qualified registered nurses to become expert Kenny technicians, in defraying the cost of treating some child stricken with the disease by the advanced Kenny Method, or of moving him to the Institute from some distant state.

The other 50 percent of all funds raised is to be used by local committees, to give all possible aid to local medical and health authorities and to establish local Elizabeth Kenny Clinics.

Tags will be sold at or near the Touchton Drug Co., at Houlliman and Anderson Drug Store and in the vicinity of the Post Office. Persons are urged by Mrs. Chapman to buy a tag and to help in this worthy cause.

DOES IT PAY?
CORTLAND, N. Y., Dec. 6, (AP)—Here is a story that concerns two hunters. It seems that they both saw a deer. The conversation between the two nincompoops was something like this: "You saw him first," said the first hunter. "No," replied the other, "I insist that I have the honor of the first shot." Meanwhile another hunter—not so polite—saw the stag and shot him.

Santa Claus Scheduled To Arrive In Sanford Dec. 15

Santa Claus is coming to town! Not only is it expected that Santa will visit Sanford on Dec. 15, but he is also expected to arrive here on Dec. 15.

The first time that Santa would come to Sanford was reported from John Evey, local shoe merchant, following a meeting of the Sanford Merchants' Association last Friday, in which it was planned to give Santa a hearty welcome when he arrives here on Dec. 15. Due to the fact that there has not been a good show in Florida since 1899 when Fred Wilson, local attorney, got in a snowfall fight in front of the court house in Bradenton, Santa will arrive by motor, rather than by sleigh.

Santa will enjoy seeing the colored lights in downtown Sanford and hearing music from a band and speakers unit operated by J. E. MacAlexander, and sponsored by the Merchants' Association.

From now until Christmas merchants have been urged by the Association to keep windows lit during evenings, according to Frank Shames, secretary.

In regard to the 1830 snowfall in Florida, Mr. Wilson recently said that not only was the snow several inches deep, but that it remained on the ground for about three days, during which time Florida boys took full advantage of it to have snowball fights.

Herman Goering's Mercedes Will Be Displayed Monday

The powerful Mercedes Benz that once belonged to the German Luftwaffe Chief, Marshal Hermann Goering, will be on display in Sanford next Monday afternoon, 3:30 o'clock at the corner of First Street and Magnolia Avenue.

The display is sponsored by the Florida War Finance Committee to encourage participation in the Victory Bond Drive by citizens of this state.

The car is a convertible sedan, bullet-proofed with armor plate and thick non-fracturing glass. It weighs 8,200 pounds and is powered by an eight cylinder, twin ignition, 160 horsepower motor and is capable of a speed of 125 miles an hour.

The car was captured at Laufen, Germany, by Sgt. Joe Azara of the 29th Armored Force Ordnance detachment.

NO FUR COAT
CHICAGO, Dec. 6, (AP)—Delphine Futek started saving nickels 12 years ago when she was 13 years old because she wanted a fur coat. Yesterday Delphine staggered into the Steel City Bank under a load of four sugar sacks and two quart jars full of nickels. Bank clerks counted 16 thousand coins. But Delphine had changed her mind about getting a fur coat. She used the nickels for a $1,000 victory bond.

Reginald Goodie and his Provincetown Players, Blat Goodie and Kennet Pains, will repeat their performance of Lee Thompson's mystery play, "Murder Without Crime," in their improvised little theater in the Pico Hotel lobby Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 P. M. and Saturday at 8:00 P. M.

Mrs. Ida Diehl of Route 2, has received word that her son, Pfc. Ralph Diehl, has arrived in the States after serving two years with the Army in the south Pacific theater.

Pearl Harbor Facts Given By Marshall

Chief Of Staff Saw Need For Greater Air Power In Hawaii Early In '41

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6, (AP)—Spokenmen for churches, labor unions and veterans' organizations, appeared before the House Military Committee today to oppose legislation for peacetime compulsory military training. They recommended that an attempt be made to outlast universal military training throughout the world.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6, (AP)—General George C. Marshall told the Pearl Harbor Committee today how for many months before the Japanese attack he had tried to build up the defenses in Hawaii. The former Chief of Staff said that early in 1941 he decided to send almost all the P-36 fighter planes available in this country to the Pacific outpost. As early as February, 1941, he had forewarned at meetings of Army and Navy men that Hawaiian defenses were not all they should be.

Marion County Service Officer Addresses Group

Seminole County Vet Committee Plans To Extend Service

A meeting of the Veterans Committee of Seminole County was held yesterday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of discussing methods to improve the type of service now rendered to returning veterans by the committee.

Chairman Ned Smith introduced Edmund H. Martin, Service Officer of Marion County. Mr. Martin related the experiences he has had since being connected with the OPA office and outlined the various types of service now being furnished veterans returning to Marion County.

Mr. Martin recommended the employment of a full time service officer for Seminole County at a salary large enough to attract a capable man since assisting the veterans is a large task in the work to be taken seriously.

Mr. Martin answered numerous questions regarding the benefits and services available to the veterans.

Mr. Smith pointed out that though the service rendered to veterans of Seminole County has been handled by Senator Lloyd F. Boyle with no compensation, however, the County Commission did appropriate $2,000 for the salary of the service officer's secretary and other office expenses for a period of one year.

A discussion was held as to the extent of services that could be made available under the present part-time method.

The committee passed a motion to establish a sub-committee to study plans for a more extensive program of service to the veterans and submit recommendations at the next meeting. It was stated that only 38 checks in every million are forged. "If every merchant exerts the care he should in cashing checks for strangers, this figure could be brought even lower," said Chief Williams.

GM And CIO Resume Negotiations Today

DETROIT, Dec. 6, (AP)—Officials of General Motors and the CIO United Auto Workers are resuming their negotiations this afternoon, and th outlook generally is optimistic. CIO President Philip Murray says that all points in dispute will be covered. A citizens committee that was invited by the union to look into the dispute issued a report today, saying that the full possibilities of collective bargaining had not been exhausted.

Resumption of negotiations follows announcement in Washington of a new government wage-price policy allowing manufacturers to apply for price increases to offset wage boosts.

Meanwhile, President Truman's strike-prevention legislation is before the House Labor Committee today. Public hearings likely will be held and approval is expected.
