Technically, the ceiling was not imposed on refined sugar, the kind the housewife buys, but on 96-degree raw sugar, it was set at 2.5 cents a pound, three tenths of a cent under Monday's prevailing quotations. Price administration officials said the ceiling was equivalent to a retail price level of about 5.8 cents a pound for refined. The ceiling becomes effective Thuraday.

A Momentous Conference

With three days having elapsed without any word from the presidential yacht Potomac and with almost a week gone by since the first rumors, which have not yet been denied, that President Roosevelt was going to meet Winston Churchill in mid-Atlantic, the public may safely assume, it seems to us, that a momentous conference is being held and that it portends startling developments for the immediate future.

Of course this conference may be between Mr. Churchill and Joseph Stalin and it stands to reason they have as fill and Joseph Stalin and it stands to reason they have as much, or almost as much to talk about these days as Mr.
Roosevelt and the British Prime Minister. The absence from Washington of the President and his highest aides, from Washington of the President and his highest aides, as well as the secrecy surrounding his trip, may be just a stall to help Mr. Churchill confuse his enemies and throw the Germans off the track until after he has safely returned to London.

However, we rather incline to the former view that Roosevelt and Churchill are staging a Breuner Pass conference in the large of the Atlantic and that the events which will follow will be quite as stupendous as anything which ever came out of a meeting of the Axis partners. Both Roosevelt and Churchill have a flare for the spectacular, possibly accounting somewhat for their popularity, and what could be more spectacular than the meeting now presumably being held in submarine infested waters where the destiny of the entire world is being decided.

This meeting is not controlly a submarine infested waters where the destiny of the entire world is being decided.

This meeting is not entirely a case of the British.

Anyway, here's what Mr. Breadon has to say:

"I had census figures compiled for all major league clubs. In compiling these figures I took the major league cities and the population within a radius of 100 miles. St. Louis had a 2,600,000 population within this radius. The city closest to us in population was Cincinnati, and within the same radius Cincinnati had 50 percent more population than St. Louis, or 3,900,000. I think when these facts are taken into consideration that St. Louis fans, with two major league clubs to support, are probably the most loyal in the major league circuita. Pool Start Of Hurst Tourney

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13.—

(P)—A needed wire fenes, $5000 won in a golf poot. a 74-year-old scifer and Bobby Jones combinded to fashion a big-money golf tournament which its sponsor declared last night will give spectators their biggest break in years.

It started two years age when Henry A. Hurst, Philadelphia anen dealer, won $5000 on Jimmy Demaree in a golf pool at the Augusta Masters Tournament.

Back home, L. A. Diamond, 74, Hurst's fellow member at Torreadale Country Club, told Hurst he knew a good use for the $5000. The club needed a fence of the standard he had a better idea to raise the $15,000 for the 14,000 foot fence—a tournament with $7500 prize money, a low admission for spectators and a grandstand for those whose legs give out on the 72-hole grind.

Dut of these plans came the Thuffit invitation tournament and a grandstand for the plans came the Thuffit invitation tournament.

Bobby Jones helped Hurst correct Henry Pleard, Sammy Spead.

Bobby Jones helped Hurst corral Henry Picard, Sammy Snead, Craig Wood and a host of other top ranking pros. as well as crack amateurs.

Jones cancelled an exhibition to play in two days of practice rounds preceding the tournament. Hurst put up $2000 additional money for the practice sessions.

And, Hurst says, a Scotchman at the club has offered $250 for anyone who shoots a hole-in-one during the tournament.

For next year, Hurst has even bigger plans. He hopes to hoist the prize kitty to $12,000—one of the highest levels in golf.
