FIFTEEN miles of reinforced concrete sea wall to encircle every bit of waterfront on Davis Shores will be started this week under the direction of W. N. McDonald, former United States engineer and builder of the famous Malecon sea wall and drive at Havana, Cuba.

The Davis Shores sea wall will cost $1,486,000, and will be completed in one year. With the sea wall now being built about Davis Islands in Tampa, this constitutes the biggest bulkheading engineering job now in progress in the world!

The sea wall about Davis Shores will be built of many thousands of slabs of concrete and steel, each of which weighs nearly two tons. These slabs are 18 feet long, 27 inches wide and eight inches thick. They are set upright with a crane and jettied into place by high-pressure pumps.

On the ocean side of Davis Shores the sea wall will be 10 feet high, insuring forever the integrity of Anastasia Island and the historic harbor of St. Augustine. Engineers studied weather and tide charts of St. Augustine for 50 years back before designing the wall.

Such intensity of development operations, the $5,000,000 building program for 1926, and such immensity of engineering plans are making Davis Shores known throughout the land. With Davis Islands it is the most fascinating engineering project ever attempted.

Sales totaled $18,714,600 in one day when the last of this magnetic property was placed on the market. It is the most-sought property in Florida today—the type that will always be in great demand—that will bring big profits to its owners through re-sale for years to come!

Food Corporation Merger Strides Snag As Federal Anti-Trust Suit Is Filed

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The food corporation merger has fallen through and Wall Street had an uneasy market in food stocks today as an aftermath of a federal anti-trust suit filed yesterday in Eastern district court. The suit charges that the Continental Baking Corporation, which has 108 bakeries in 21 States, has conspired with other bakers to fix prices and divide territory.

Wall Street financiers in a symposium have expressed opinions as to the value of large mergers. George E. Roberts, vice president of the Quaker Oats Company, said: "The American people are gradually learning that, so far as successful practices are concerned, the size of the concern has no relation to its business ability. It would be much easier to watch a few big business men than thousands of small dealers."

Charles Dillon, head of the National Baking Company, said that in big operations, machine-like impersonal administration must be prevented. George E. Roberts, vice president of the National City Bank, said: "We have done too long to the economic absurdity that large corporations are bad for the community. Just because they are large."

WIDENING OF CITY STREETS TO BEGIN SOON

City Engineer's Plans Meet At Commissioner's Office; Work On Principal Avenues Will Be Finished By Fall

Telephone Wiring Will Be Changed

First Street Will Be Repaved And Improved From Railroad Alley To Sanford Avenue

FRONT—last edition

Widening of the streets in the downtown district will, in all probability, get under way about the first of May, according to City Engineer W. B. Williams, who today gave out a list of the streets to be widened and improved, and who also stated that the work is expected to be completed by late fall, possibly during the first week of November.

First Street is to be improved and repaved from the railroad tracks near Railroad Avenue east to Sanford Avenue. Second Street is to be widened to 40 feet east of the pump branch west to Oak Avenue. Ninth Street, widened to 40 feet from Park to Atlantic Coast—no Depot.

Cak and Magnolia Avenues are to be widened to 60 feet, from First to Fifth Street; Park Avenue to 50 feet from Fulton to Ninth Street and Tenth Street; Commercial Avenue, Second Street, from Commercial Avenue will be 40 feet from First to Fifth Street.

Park Avenue, the street designated as the Dixie Highway route, will be 60 feet wide, beginning where the new paving just south of the city hall and will be lined with white lamps on each side of the street.

Water System Changed.

Mr. Williams stated today that notifications will be mailed to the public utilities companies now operating in the city, to advise them of the changes in the water system which will be made in the future, to be made in accordance with the plan of the city, and no poles or wires will be allowed to stand on the main streets, it is said. City officials say this will be one of the greatest improvements in the appearance of the city possible to make at this time.

The property owners along the streets to be widened are to be notified that all existing gas and water connections will be removed by the city at the latter's expense, so that in case of leakage, or trouble in connection, it will not be necessary to tear up the streets to get at the source. This is to be a plan which will meet with the general approval.

DELaware TOWN QUIET FOLLOWING CHARGE OF MOB

National Guardsmen Leave Georgetown After Fight In His Sentences To Death

GEORGETOWN, Del., Feb. 9.—(AP)—The populace of this country seat, which yesterday caused Delaware National Guardsmen to use tear gas during the trial of Harry Butler, 21 years old negro, had quieted down today.

Butler, who attacked a 12-year-old girl, and another negro, was sentenced to the State Penitentiary for life. The jury returned a verdict of guilty on the charge of murder.

During the trial 2000 persons gathered about the brick court yard, at times demanding that the authorities surrender the negro and release James charging the barred wire barricade was taken state guardsmen had thrown up about the court house, in vain efforts to get to the negro.

Scores of tear gas bombs, scattered in the throng by state militiamen on the ground and from the court house roof, drove the crowd back.

Men and women, inflamed by the story of Butler's attack on the girl, had vowed that justice would be served.

With the speedy conviction and sentence, tension subsided and the prisoners were taken to the New Castle workhouse, near Wilmington, without demonstration.

The soldiers dismantled their machine guns, which have been bristling from the court house roof and from sand bag nests erected in the circular park in front. The barred wire barricade was taken down and the guardsmen left. Butler was the only witness for the defense. He admitted having attacked the girl in her home at Bridgeville, near here, Jan. 21.

He confessed to beating her with a board and having taken her to a nearby timber plot, where she was found by her parents, semi-conscious, and bleeding from skull wounds. She is now in a hospital.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Price movements in the bond market early today were mainly toward higher levels although irregularities still cropped out. Most of the activity centered in high grade industrial transaction with copper, oil and sugar issues giving good demonstrations of group strength. Announcement that a new copper export association was being formed to coordinate foreign selling apparently accounted for the buying activity in copper. The market opened with a new peak in the price of copper at 104 1/2. The price of sugar was also up under the leadership of American Beet Sugar and Camaguey 7a.

Rails attracted little attention aside from minor declines in Florida East Coast 5s and Willamette 4s and 5s. Strength of Brazilian 6s which sold at a new high of 104 1/2. The price of the U. S. government group was featured by the rise in treasury 4 1/2 to a new peak.

Action Particularly Unfortunate Since German y Is Seeking League Membership

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—There has been no lessening of the belief by some portions of the public and among some of the newspapers that the attack upon Germany by President Mussolini of Italy, came at an unfortunate time.

It is considered by the newspapers as particularly unfortunate because of Germany's announced intention to seek membership in the League of Nations and it apparently has not abated even though Germany yesterday decided to make formal application to become a member and the application is now in its way to Geneva.

There is much interest here over what will be the reply of Foreign Minister Stresemann to the Reichstag. Although the members of the cabinet and of the Reichstag are angry over the news, the belief prevails that Dr. Stresemann will deliver only a temperate response.

Much agitation in Vienna. Advice from Vienna indicate much agitation, particularly in Tyrol over the situation.

It is in southern Tyrol where all the trouble is. In fact, the Italian government is making a dramatic attack on Germany for alleged preparation of the anti-Italian frontiers and counter-attacks. SENATE VEToes PUBLICATION OF TAX PAYMENTS

Upper Body Upholds House Provision Repealing Act And Rejects Norris Move To Open Returns To Public

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9.—Repeal of the law allowing publication of the amounts of income tax payments was approved last night in the Senate and this provision written in the tax reduction bill passed by the House.

Before accepting by acclamation the repeal provision the Senate rejected 49 to 23 an amendment by Senator Charles McNary, Republican of Oregon, to open the books, proposing to make all income tax returns subject to public investigation.

The McNary amendment, which would have required the publication of the names of one of the principal points of controversy in the revenue bill and which developed a four-day fight between Senator McNary, Republican of Oregon, and Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee, in charge of the bill.

Senator McNary charged Senator Smoot with engaging in "sharp practice" in obtaining an agreement from him on a bill for a public utility provision and then "tricking him out" on the promised time in which to speak.

After Senator McNary had been denied the floor on a point of order raised by Senator Reed, Democrat of Missouri, who said he was violating Senate rules, "by imposing the majority of a senatorial majority on McNary," McNary withdrew the amendment.

Later, when offered an opportunity in which to speak, Senator McNary said he felt "too contemptuous to make any statements which will be within the Senate rules."

Both advocates and opponents of the McNary amendment denounced the present law allowing publication of the amounts of income tax payments and no attempt was made to support the bill to provide for its continuance.

Opponents of the repeal of the inheritance tax, comprising about the same group who fought for public utility returns, have promised a "long fight" and managers of the bill were prepared today to continue the program of long day and night sessions. Wednesday had been set as the dead line of the bill.

ROTARY CLUB IS BEHIND $2,000,000 CITY BOND ISSUE

Organization Pledges Support To Measure Following Talk By Commissioner Chase At Weekly Luncheon Meeting

City Commissioner E. F. Householder appeared before the Sanford Rotary Club today at its regular noon luncheon meeting and spoke on behalf of the proposed $2,000,000 bond issue for the city.

At the conclusion of his talk, the club went on record as favoring the issue and pledged the support of the members at the election to be held on March 19.

Mr. Chase gave a detailed account of the projects to be benefited from the funds derived from the bond issue, which would be expended in making the various improvements under way.

A financial statement of the city, which the commissioners had prepared a short time ago, disclosed the fact that the net bonded indebtedness of the city at the present time amounts to only $1,068,237.98 and has not approached the limit set by law.

Outstanding bonds are listed by the city to the amount of $2,568,000, which bonds are payable by the city, and are for the purchase of paving, sewers, funding, public improvement, public utility and special assessment bonds.

The public utility bonds of $535,000 and the special assessment bonds of $10,000, under the charter of the City of Sanford are not deemed a part of the bonded debt. These bonds are payable by the income and revenue derived from the operation of the utility plants and by special assessments against property holders of the city.

The 1925 assessed valuation of the city is given as $11,550,648 and is said to be far below what the 1926 assessment will be. The rapid rise in property values during the past year is expected to increase the assessed valuation to at least $20,000,000.

The law allows a bonding limit of 15 per cent of the assessed valuation. Under the issue planned at present and the expected 1926 tax figures, the city will be in a better financial condition than the majority of the cities in the state, according to city officials.

Mayor Forrest Lake will appear before the Kiwanis Club tomorrow at noon in the interest of the bond issue.

D. M. Bremer and Mr. W. H. Baker, the two men associated with the syndicates in the enterprise, are said to be the largest apple and peach growers in the state of Pennsylvania.

Abstinence Is Applauded and Who Warns Dry Leaders

Although it has been made clear a thousand times that we will work with separated brethren as temperance men but not as tools of those whose professed policy is world-wide prohibition by initiative, whose aims are being made to entangle us.

Dr. Empringham said that Bishop Manning, of New York, three weeks ago in prohibition, but did not believe in prohibition, but did believe in enforcement of the law. The bishop said this statement was in error and that his strong prohibition sermon of Sunday represented his attitude.

Support of the society's stand came yesterday from Bishop White of Springfield, Ill., who characterized the present law as "largely a relic" which he believed cannot be enforced without a "standing army." Bishop White said he favored a more conservative decision than a more restrictive one.

Lake Monroe School Bond Election Put Off

The Lake Monroe school bond election scheduled for Feb. 13 has been postponed to some time during the month of April, according to Dr. F. W. Wilson, attorney for the school board.

Dr. Wilson said that this action had been taken because of the present law as "largely a relic" which he believed cannot be enforced without a "standing army." Bishop White said he favored a more conservative decision than a more restrictive one.

West Palm Beach Cops Get Alleged Dope Ring Leader

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 9.—(AP)—With the arrest of B. S. Edwards, in a local hotel and confiscation of $10,000 worth of jewels and an outfit of imported narcotics, police detectives believe they have broken a narcotic ring which had been operating here for the last month.

Edwards, according to chief of detectives H. T. Verner, is the same man reported to police and the sheriff less than two weeks ago that he had been "blown" out of $2,500 and a diamond ring.

He is being held in the city jail for the United States narcotic inspector, Manassas police of Lexington, Ky., advise they want him for carrying with a small fortune in diamonds after going into the hands of a receiver as a jeweler.

Mississippi Solons Considering Bill On Evolving Teaching

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Evolution is the principal subject of discussion as the house of representatives preparation to vote on a motion to reconsider the passage yesterday of a bill prohibiting the teaching in state supported schools of the theory that man descended or descended from a lower order of animals. It is generally believed that the measure will be defeated and be passed to the senate.

Replying to friends of the measure, Representative B. G. Windsor, of the first district, declared that the bill makes it a crime to teach in any school that man is descended from a lower order of animals. He charged there had been lobbying in favor of the anti-evolution legislation by persons who had failed to register with the secretary of state as required by law.

The pending speaker rule order or an amendment offered by Representative Windham provides that persons convicted of the teaching of the theory be barred at the state.

Representative Evans of Lumberton, the bill's author, formed the theory "communist." He said that his bill makes it unlawful for any teacher or official to select for use in a tax supported school, books that teach theories that man descended or descended from a lower order of animals. The penalty for violation is a fine not exceeding $500 and cancellation of contract.

2 Million Municipal Bond Issue Proposed By City Commission

Municipal Water And Gas Plants Will Be Improved And New Sewers Installed

Mayor Lake Asks Citizen's Support

Issue Will Go Before Voters March 19, Campaign Planned

Plans calling for a municipal bond issue to the amount of $2,000,000 were discussed this morning at an extra session of the City Commission which was attended by a number of leading business men and bankers interested in assisting the commissioners in drafting the measure and sponsoring it before the voters of the city.

The issue is expected to provide funds with which to carry on the improvement projects now under way and also to provide for other improvements contemplated for the immediate future.

Included in the list of projects which are to be aided by the funds from the sale of the bonds are extensions and equipment for the water plant and for the sewerage plant, utilities owned by the city of Sanford which are said to be overloaded at the present time.

The capacity of both plants is expected to be enlarged so that not only will they be able to take care of the city at present, but will also provide for increased growth in population for a number of years.

Mayor Forrest Lake, together with Commissioners S. O. Chase and E. P. Householder, and leading citizens, are expected to go before various civic organizations immediately and ask for support of the bond issue at the election which is expected to be held about the middle of March. Several organizations have already gone on record as approving the issue.

"Issue Must Be Approved"

In commenting on the coming election Mayor Lake stated this morning that "if the city is to progress, it is necessary to have citizens in the way they should be served. If Sanford is to take its deserved niche among the metropolitan cities of Florida and attract the thousands of new residents, this bond issue must be approved. Our future depends on our success in developing along a safe and sound basis, and the money derived from the proposed sale of municipal bonds will go far toward putting Sanford in the limelight among the really substantial cities of the entire south."

The improvements, with the amounts necessary for their building are stated to be as follows:

- Fire alarm and police phone systems, $40,000.
- Extensions of water way, $75,000.
- Water front improvements, including yacht basin and city property near the lake, $35,000.
- Bulkhead, $40,000.
- Sewers, $25,000.
- Paving of city streets, $100,000.
- Purchase of city property $100,000.
- New fire station and equipment, $150,000.
- Expenditures for enlarging and new equipment for gas plant, $200,000.
- Water works extensions and improvements, $325,000.
- Condolence, $275,000.

At the regular meeting of the City Commission held this afternoon in the City Hall, the proposed appropriations were unanimously adopted upon, and March 19 was designated as the day on which the election will be held.

In the intervening period the necessity for the passage of the issue will be stressed, Mayor Lake said, and the wholehearted support of Sanford citizens sought.

Body Of Man, Wanted For Killing East Coast Woman Found At Haines City

HAINES CITY, Fla., Feb. 9.—The body of Thomas Bowers, sought for the alleged slaying of Mrs. Nellie Zeigler, young New Smyrna woman, was buried today in the Davenport cemetery. Bowers' body was found late Saturday in his automobile at the edge of the Green Swamp, near Davenport. The body was not claimed. Bowers came to his death by taking poison, a coroner's jury, summoned by Justice of the Peace J. H. Ferrill, decided. The condition of the body indicated death occurred several days ago, authorities said.

Discovery of the body was made by E. Holly, bus driver, on Saturday, six days after Bowers was alleged to have killed Mrs. Zeigler by cutting her throat. Holly noted the automobile at the edge of the swamp when he made his daily trip to a grove development company's office and became suspicious. He recognized Saturday.

CONDITIONS IN US AIR SERVICE TO BE PROBED

Davis Will Ascertain Whether Fliers Are Exciting Agitation For Separate Corps

Two Inquiries Are To Be Conducted

Disciplinary Action Depends On Evidence Asserts Secretary

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Investigation of conditions in the army air service has been ordered by Secretary Davis of the War Department. The secretary wants to know whether air service officers still are opposing the air policies of President Coolidge, and are employing methods in carrying forward the agitation for a separate air corps.

To establish the facts, two separate inquiries have been ordered by the secretary. One phase has been placed in the hands of Maj. Gen. E. A. Heinkel, inspector general of the army. Another has been entrusted to Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the air service.

Decline To Give Evidence

While Mr. Davis and other department officials decline to disclose the evidence, which led to the decision of a sweeping investigation, it is known the War Secretary has in his possession copies of a number of documents received by some departmental authorities to have been misappropriated and distributed through the country in an attempt to influence air service officers on duty with national guard and reserve organizations through the country, to "get busy" in their support of the air corps bill.

Reported activities of air officers in furnishing congressional and public assistance in their efforts also will be carefully inquired into by the investigators.

It is well understood by all army officers that President Coolidge's concern in the controversy of his air board which recommended against the separate air service advocated by Mitchell and proposed that air personnel be placed either in the army or navy, with war and remain an integral part of the army.

Nevertheless, Gen. Patrick recently went in before a public committee and reiterated his advocacy of a separate corps. A bill embodying his recommendations was introduced immediately after his return and now is before the house.

"Educational Work" Urged

One of the anonymous circulars now in Secretary Davis' possession and represented as having been distributed from air service headquarters declares there must be more "educational work" in Congress and in public opinion. The circular, "to get busy" with senators and representatives in the interest of a separate air corps.

War Department officials are considering this law in the light of the declaration of President Coolidge, when he approved the Mitchell court martial findings.

"The theory of government," said the president, "implies that every official so long as he retains office shall purport himself with respect towards his superior. This is especially true of those in the military service. Unless this rule is applied there can be no discipline in the army and navy, without which these two forces would not only be without value as a nation's defense, but would become actually a menace to society. Discipline in the whole basis of military training."

Johnson, of Daytona Beach, and accepted a position as superintendent of development work now being pushed at Sanford Park, a new subdivision where the country farm and convict camp were formerly located.

Sanford Park is being developed along high class lines in keeping with its owners' intentions to create a home that will appeal strongly to lovers of unique and beautiful surroundings. Add public utilities will be furnished.

Building activity is said to be well advanced and a number of attractive colonial style residences have already been completed.

Sanford Park will be located on the Mark E. Ph. 22 according to present plans.

ANCIENT BLUE LAW ENFORCED IN TENNESSEE

Stores And Other Business Houses Closed In Various Parts Of State On Sabbath

Newspaper Publishers Seized With Citations

Enforcers Are Mentioned In Edict But No Arrests Of These Violators Are Made In 123 Year Old Law

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 8.—(AP)—A Sunday Blue Law, 123 years old, kept motorists at home, closed cigar stores and other establishments in parts of the state yesterday, while others reported business as usual. Sixteen persons were cited for violation of the law which provides a forfeiture for "any merchant, officer, tradesman, farmer, or any other person found guilty of doing or executing any of the common avocations of life or of causing or permitting the same to be done by his children or servants—acts of real necessity or charity excepted."

Among those receiving citations here was J. G. Stahlman, executive director of the Nashville Banner, and Luke Lea, publisher of the Nashville Tennessean, and J. P. W. Egan, manager of the Nashville Railway and Light Company, and the managers of engine filling stations, news stands, automobile companies, and cigar stores, were also included.

Various attitudes reported. Other cities throughout the state reported various attitudes as to the law. Independent gasoline dealers in Chattanooga continued business, while Standard Oil and Gulf Refining Companies closed. No arrests were recorded. Memphis, Knoxville and Bristol reported gas and tire stations closed but cigar, candy and lunch stands were open as usual.

No citations were noted. Bristol, on the Virginia-Tennessee line reported an unusual problem with the filling stations on the Tennessee side of the town, closed, while those on the Virginia side remained open.

Warrants for the arrest of those charged with violation of the law, passed in 1803, were sworn out by a Nashville attorney. The penalty is $1 for each citation, half to go to the state, and half to the person making the complaint.

Golfers And Fishermen Included

A court charge of $1 would be added to each fine, Magistrate Henderson who will hear business, announced that would apply to golfers and fishermen.

those pleading guilty. Those pleading not guilty would be bound over to criminal court.

Hunters, fishermen and golfers were included in the edict but none were arrested, although deputy sheriffs patrolled the streets looking for such violators.

Some evaded the law by purchasing sandwiches with their soft drinks, thereby classing the service as "food" and "thing of necessity."

The law, after its many years of unenforcement, came to light when the state supreme court handed down a decision recently in the case of a filling station owner charged with violating the law. He obtained an injunction to prevent further arrests but it was dissolved by that body on the grounds that he was operating an unnecessary business on Sunday.

Coral Gables builds

THIRTY of the leading contractors in America are building $147,800,000 worth of property in Coral Gables. Lesser organizations are daily swelling this total. $50,000,000 has already been spent in civic improvements. Twice this sum has just been pledged.

ONE bank started three years ago with a capital of $25,000. Today its deposits total more than $3,000,000. The Coral Gables Corporation is at present completing a three and a quarter million dollar road building contract. It is dredging at a cost of $250,000 the great canals which wind through the city. It is constructing a new high-speed rapid transit line costing $500,000. It is building a superb yacht basin.

During four months alone last year, more than $1,500,000 went into public buildings. Among private enterprises, a single corporation is erecting 1000 homes at a valuation of $75,000,000.

Among many hotels, two are outstanding of their kind throughout the world: The Miami-Biltmore, recently completed at a cost of $6,500,000, with additions which will bring the total up to $10,000,000—and the Towers, a rest hotel that will cost $8,700,000.

Industry combined with beautiful surroundings. Adjoining Coral Gables on the north and east is Miami, whose population has grown in four years from 40,000 to 250,000. A magnificent harbor is being created at a cost of $2,000,000. Where manufacturing and agriculture are in a flowering of development. The countryside is perhaps the most fertile in Florida, producing crops of valuable tropical vegetables.

These facts speak for Coral Gables. They prove that Coral Gables is already famous throughout the country—is just entering its triumphant course of development.

Send for more facts. We have illustrated booklets with statistics—a great fund of information that proves the value of an investment in Coral Gables. Let us send you one.

is a recognized authority on canaries and other song birds. He gives an interesting account of the history of the canary which will be of interest to the many who will view his exhibit for the next 10 days. Mr. Myers's account follows: "The canary has first been known as a household pet since the sixteenth century. It is a native of the Canary Islands, Madeira, Azores and other small islands near the western coast of Africa. The Canary Islands are in about the same latitude as

Florida and have somewhat of a tropical climate but this is varied by the high mountains. The history of this charming pet began when a merchant ship trading with the Canary Islands took as a part of her cargo several thousand canaries which had been trapped in the Canary Islands, thinking that they could be sold for a good price to the Europeans. The ship containing these birds was wrecked near the coast of Italy but, by the kindness of some sailor, the cage was opened and the birds liberated and flew to the nearest land which happened to be the island of Elba. Here they found the climate so propitious that they multiplied rapidly. It was not long until their superior song was recognized and they were trapped in large numbers and their domestication soon began. "The Italians were the first to attempt to breed canaries in captivity, but with little success. They were then purchased by the Germans of central Germany which is the vicinity of Hartz mountains and St. Andressburg, where they soon found much favor.

Feed The Brute—But Not Too Much

According to an article which appeared recently in the New York World there are too many young married women who take seriously the time honored advice that the best way to handle husbands is to "feed the brute." A British scientist declares that the result of a strict adherence to this rule is the ultimate ruination of the man's health, making it in the long run more difficult than ever to get along with him.

"The brute overfed is the puppet and plaything of woman's diplomacy," declares Dr. Leonard Williams, famous diet specialist. "I mean that an overfed brute does not possess keen, critical faculties. If he is overfed his powers of observation are dimmed and he becomes in short a 'fat-head.' This may be all right for the woman whose only aim is to 'rule' her husband, but it can only be so for a short time, and it is shockingly bad for the 'brute' and in the long run bad for the family."

There is little doubt but that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. If his appetite is properly satisfied little else can matter. But it is quite as important not to overfeed as to feed enough. It is the truly clever wife who knows just when her husband has had enough to keep him healthy and strong and in an amiable disposition.

So important was this knowledge to the wife considered to be by a Boston millionaire that in his will he set aside one thousand dollars to be expended in giving his son's bride-to-be a course in domestic science and especially in dietics and cooking.

Wise man he was who realized that real health and happiness can come only from proper care of the body.

Another Transportation Problem

Sanford has reached the stage in its development when some steps should be taken to provide those who live in the suburban sections with transportation facilities enabling them to go to and from the center of the city with ease. In other words, Sanford is in need of a bus system of some kind in order that people who live on Celery Avenue, in the southern part of the city, and in the western section may, without difficulty, come to the business section to do their shopping, or to attend to business matters.

As conditions are now, it is almost impossible for those who do not own automobiles to live in the suburban districts if their work is in town. This is resulting in congestion in housing accommodations in the downtown section and is hindering the development in those subdivisions that are just a few miles out. We have heard many people say that they would like to build their homes in some of the outlying districts now under development, but they could not afford to do this, and also purchase an automobile with which to go back and forth to their work.

There is an opportunity for some far-sighted individual who can work out a satisfactory bus system for Sanford and put it into operation. It looks to us as if a thing of this kind could be made to pay from the very start, with reasonable rates charged and with a regular schedule in effect.

The Herald would like to see someone come along with a good suggestion along this line. It would like to see some method provided so that the outlying sections of the city might be developed even more rapidly, and that the thousands of persons who live out of the downtown section might be given transportation service.

ACCORDING TO THE calendar it is six months to June. By the through trains of the Pennsylvania railroad and connections it is only 36 hours to June. For it is June now in the great southern resorts of Florida. Florida—where the birds are singing and the flowers are blooming, where the fisherman revels in real sport—where, summer breezes through rustling palms make all days dream days. From the menu cards of the Pennsylvania Railroad dining cars.

THE CAUSE OF civil liberty must not be surrendered at the end of one or even one hundred defeats. . . If there is anything that is the duty of the whole people never to trust to any hands but their own, that thing is the preservation and perpetuity of their own liberties and institutions. . . I fear you do not fully comprehend the danger of abridging the liberties of the people. A government had better go to the very extreme of toleration than do aught that could be construed into an interference with or to jeopardize in any degree the common rights of the citizen.—Abraham Lincoln.

Sanford's Forum

Editor The Herald: The Sanford Herald of February 6 carried an editorial called "War Declared on 'Petting Parties'" in which the statement was made that "Mrs. Caesar's wife had her 'affaires du coeur.'" This most amazing piece of slander comes as rather a shock after the vast number of centuries that this vicious lady has walked the dusty corridors of history unmolested by the most illustrious litterateur. After an indignant and industrious morning in the local library, I find nothing to prove that Calpurnia ever did anything more indecorous than begging her lord to "play sick" and stay home from the office on the well-known day of March. Perhaps she might have been guilty of embroidering a lavender or two on the pocket of his imperial toga—but then

TIRED OF DEALING WITH CROOKS

A rugged person, who had acquired a considerable fortune in the "wet-goods" business and kindred lines of endeavor in the old west, decided to spend some of his savings in oil and mining stocks. From this beginning he presently progressed to the point where he became an active partner in a stock-brokers' establishment in Chicago. The venture, so far as he was concerned, did not prove a success. Between two years both of his partners vanished and he was left to face a large deficit. Expensive litigation ensued. While the wreckage was being cleared away by legal methods, the disillusioned ex-miner heard his inner feelings to his lawyer. It was the lawyer who told me what the client, speaking in all seriousness, had confided to him. "Hal," said the old fellow, "I'm through with this game. I'm going to take what's left—of so there is anything left—and go back out west where I belong. This here stock-dealing ain't for Gold that brought the forty-pipers to California, represents a small part of the state's wealth. Besides "Associated Oil" there are many California oil companies. If the right "to control" or a little more than half of them is worth one hundred and sixty five million, how much must all the oil of California be worth?

INVESTIGATING brokers loans in New York shows $3,518,174,154 borrowed by the brokers to "carry" stocks for their customers, "on margin."

Three thousand five hundred and thirteen million dollars is a large sum. But it is small compared with this country's total wealth. The brokers borrowing was used vainly by the bears in an effort to injure stock prices. The three and a half billions represent only six per cent of the total stock values, listed on the exchange.

This is no time to "sell short" in this country but don't gamble. That always ends badly.

In Italy he saw newspapers suppressed, men elected, then thrown out of office by force, but, says he, the Italian people like it and prosper under it.

"Italy is prospering, mills and factories are throbbing with life, new works are springing up everywhere, old industries are reviving."

THE WORLD has often seemed "to lose its ideals," when it has only mislaid them, temporarily. A respectable gentleman in a rough and tumble fight, rolling into the gutter, loses his dignity as he straightens out his collar, necktie, etc.

But he is alright after awhile. The nations of Europe have been rolling in the gutter, cutting each other's throats. Now a reversion to order and respectability is the order of the day.

Nations and individuals all return gradually to old ways of thinking and living.

Italy's deputies, delighted, greeted Mussolini with thunders of applause and "long live the duke."

European nations want peace as we do, and hope to maintain it. But any one of them ready to go to war under certain conditions.

War questions would go before the world court. We are in the court, and shall not know until the time comes what may be expected of us.

You may say "we are not compelled to pass that army, perhaps. But we may reach a decision that will offend Europe. Then Europe could and probably would say: 'in view of this disloyal action by the United States, we decline to pay our debts.'"

THE REAL ESTATE SAINT

MIAMI HERALD

Is there a patron saint here who protects those who buy real estate rashly, knowing little and caring less what experienced dealers think of its value but taking a tip from some one who has had little or no experience in land deals than themselves? A long-established realtor maintains that if his religion did not forbid he would believe in the existence of such a guardian.

"People come to me," said he, "asking for land on which they can make 100 per cent profit in a month or two and when I frankly say that I do not know for sure what there is any such in the great quantity listed with me, they leave. They will not listen to my suggestion of what should double in value in a year, but they learn slow for them. The thing I learn is that they have bought a lot somewhere from somebody who had to get a guide to find it. I feel sorry for them—and in a few weeks feel sorry for myself when I find they have indeed doubled their money in a month. And this number have done just that the words of the prophet Isaiah are fulfilled and then a flock of buyers appears and their bidding runs up values like magic."

Such a situation is now duplicated in California and Florida. The Miami Herald tells of a man who a dozen years ago hit at the "get-rich-quick" scheme of a land company and bought 40 acres in the Everglades at $15 an acre, with three lots in Fort Lauderdale thrown in as a bonus. When he came to Florida later he found his Everglades land knee-deep in water and worthless in value and while Lauderdale was on the map it was nowhere else in actuality.

The real estate promoters were as in his erudite sucker kin? THE REAL ESTATE SAINT, not in jail or long terms for swindling this poor man and other who he went back home and tried to forget his sad experience. He did forget his land ownership until he heard of the Florida boom but doubtless he considered this another fake until he began to get letters, telegrams, and long-distance messages asking prices on his land.

Then he waked up and went down to take another look at his Everglades property and $175,000 for his three bonus lots. He can still for $195,000 had that cost him $600. And the joke is that while this poor swindled victim had dragged into a fortune, by pure good luck, the promoters who swindled him into prosperity are in jail.

The supposed "sucker" does not always get sympathy—and sometimes he does not need it.

THE ARMS CONFERENCE

LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL

Though Italy maintains its antagonistic attitude and Russia remains aloof, there will be no postponement of the preliminary conference on disarmament. Foreign and Premier Chamberlain of Great Britain and Premier Laval of France are in complete accord on this point. Efforts at delay, they declare, have been for the purpose of shelving the discussion, though any valid reasons that any nation may make for deferring the session, now little more than two weeks off, will be considered.

On the day this decision was reached Premier Mussolini indulged in one of his spread eagle performances. With his customary rhetoric and queerly distorted metaphors he told the Chamber of Deputies to pass the arms agreement. "Italy desires peace," he said. "I was at Locarno and I shall return there, but while the words of peace gladden the horizon I must recognize that the skies have become populated with prodigious airplanes and that new and deadly arms are appearing within the sea. Therefore I think I must say that, as in the Garden of Islam, peace is only sure who under the shadow of the sword."

It is not a particularly good omen, but nothing perhaps can do more to teach Italy its proper place than this discussion, which will begin on the 16th of the month. The words of peace at Geneva will do considerably more than will no doubt be said of the conference having become "populated with prodigious airplanes" with a conceivable menace. With the opinion of the world favoring disarmament and the aims of the conference to settle the questions of security, Italy can ill afford to withdraw or maintain a solitary swatback attitude.

Russia's presence would make for unanimity. Let Russia have a pretext for remaining aloof. Because a Soviet envoy was assassinated in Switzerland several years ago by an anarchist, Moscow declares it will not participate in a conference on disarmament. Anyway, Russia, like Italy, is contemplating a larger fighting force and its mind is filled with dreams of Oriental conquests. It is not in sympathy with Western ideas, least of all disarmament, though its depleted treasury will not allow it to become a considerable menace to its European neighbors.

The date for the preliminary conference may therefore be regarded as settled and America's participation, since the House and Senate have both approved the appropriation bill, waits only on the appointment by the President of America's representatives.

Visitors Are Honored By Delightful Party Given At The Hotel Forrest Lake

Exquisite in every detail was the dinner party given on Monday evening by Mrs. Harry B. Lewis at the Hotel Forrest Lake, honoring Mrs. G. P. Drummond of Chicago, Ill., the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Drummond, and Mrs. Roy Collier of Atlanta, Ga., the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George A. DeCottis.

The elegantly appointed dining room, the central decorations were three silver baskets filled with golden calendulas and yellow and white flowers, and the tables were covered with white cloths and set with silver and glass. The menu was a most delicious one, and the evening was a most enjoyable one.

Placed at intervals were cathedral chandeliers tied with butter fly bows of yellow and blue tulle, holding lighted yellow tapers. Marking the places of the guests were place cards of floral designs carrying out the "french" color scheme of gold and blue.

Carriage Boots Come Into Prominence Among Fashionable Women Who Remain North.

Here's a knotty problem for students of racial psychology—why it is that the Russian boot—Wellington boot, if you prefer—has established itself so firmly in the hearts of fashionable England and has become one of the outstanding London fashions of the season, while the Parisian will have none of it? The English woman thinks it looks very smart—despite the fact that it is not of a Paris-born aristocracy—while the Parisian cannot see why she should display an ankle made thick and clumsy by shapeless leather casing when she might show it in her fine silk stockings.

Substitute Religion For Jazz In Housewarming Urges Boston Educator

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 9.—If you are an American home-maker and you want your home to stay made—Beware of noisy, jazzy, "house-warmings," warns Prof. H. Augustine Smith, Boston educator.

For the modern "housewarming," lasting until the milkman's hour and setting neighbors to moaning for the police, is the first psychological step toward the divorce.

The newlyweds, thinks Prof. Smith, who want to remain wedded as they get farther and farther away from the altar, will warm their new homes with a formal dedication ceremony rather than with liquor and hilarity.

He has just exemplified his belief with dedicatory rites at his new home in Newton Highlands, Boston suburb.

Home dedication would help fend off divorce and a multitude of other unwholesome phenomena which have attended the loss of the home's one-time sanctity.

Simple solemn consecration of every home and family circle to the high spiritual purposes which the home life of tradition served is the formality which he suggests.

His own new home was dedicated to "love, warmth and beauty."

It is an unmaterialistic age which presents the problem of slack home ties and of home fires which flicker and sputter, the educator concedes. Formula and formality, he admits, have lost many of their powers of restraint.

But in the home dedication rites he proposes, he sees the possibility of a peculiarly effective appeal, cultivating the idealism which home life of old inspired as well as reinforcing the marriage vow.

"The modern house warming," he says, "too often has just the opposite effect," Smith observes.

If you want to dedicate your home, here is a sample program: Invite your friends and pastor; Form a circle, with your family in the center, for discussion and readings on "love"—parental, brotherly, and mating varieties included.

Light fires in fireplaces to symbolize the warmth and radiance of family relationships.

Unveil paintings to suggest the beauty in marital happiness and the rearing of children; if there are children in the family choose some pictures which will impress them strongly.

A benediction.

An hour of social informality, with music, songs, and games.

ARE YOU REALLY DOING YOUR OWN THINKING?

Do you think you are a "thinking man?"

In other words, do you class yourself as a person who is moved by reason rather than by prejudice?

Sit down and ask yourself a few questions before you answer. Suppose that some one sets forth a little argument that is distasteful to you—calls for a course of action, let's say, that goes counter to your own ideas. Do you read what he has to say carefully to see just what his notions are, or do you announce that he is a "bolshhevik" (or a Republican or a Ku Kluxer or a plain sap, as the case may be) and let it go at that, without trying to refute his reasoning?

When some big issue like a political campaign confronting you, do you stop to figure the whole thing out as well as you can, informing yourself accurately, as possible about the points of fact involved, before you reach a conclusion on one side or the other?

Or do you go into it blindly and let yourself be carried off your feet by a catch phrase or slogan? (Here are a couple, picked at random: "He kept us out of war," and "Back to normalcy.")

In other words, are you kidding yourself when you think you're really a thinking man?

The only possible danger this country can ever face lies in the growing willingness of so many of us to let others do our thinking for us. So long as we all study our problems and honestly try to think our way out—we may make a few mistakes, but we won't go wrong in the end.

Swedish churches hold a national fortune of about $27,000,000 in art treasures.

FAMOUS FEATS

COLLEGE STARS

BY ART CARLSON

HANGS UP RECORD

First-class weightmen aren't so overly plentiful in collegiate athletics just as greats there are a few outstanding ones, however.

One of these is Ralph Hills, Princeton's great athlete. Hills ranks right along with those two California celebrities, Hartranft and Houser.

Hills differs a bit from the westerners, though, in that his events are the shot and hammer, while the others compete in the pill and discus pastimes.

It was in the 1925 eastern inter-collegiate that Hills made one of his most notable showings. He had a bitter contest with Houser on that occasion for shot-putting honors.

The pair fought one of the greatest battles ever waged in the seven-foot circle. Hills finally won out by some six inches. He was forced to heave the leaden ball 49 feet, 7 1/2 inches for a new inter-collegiate record.

The year before Hills whipped Houser also, but was himself defeated by Hartranft. The winner's toss was almost two inches less than Hills hung up last season. That campaign Hills added to the Princeton total by getting fourth in the hammer throw.

Hills was a member of the American Olympic team in 1924. He got a third in the shot-put, being out-done by both of his old rivals, Houser and Hartranft in that class. His best effort was just a little over 48 feet.

What Does He See In Her! By FANNIE HURST

The World's Highest Paid Short Story Writer

Author of "Lumox",
"Humoresque"

Henshaw was one of those men about whom other men say, "everything." At thirty-seven, at a salary of seventy-five thousand dollars a year, he occupied an important executive position on one of America's most powerful newspapers. He was an intellectual gattling gun.

Henshaw had everything.

Other men said until they met Lilian Henshaw. She represented a mystery—the mystery of "what does he see in her?"

What DID Henshaw see in Lilian his wife?

Henshaw was one of those men about whom other men say a little wistfully, "has everything."

In a way, as men measure, there is a certain amount of truth in that.

Even Henshaw, at a salary of seventy-five thousand dollars a year, occupied an important advisory position on one of the most powerful newspapers.

When he entered a room, it was as if the room had been touched by the time of his arrival.

He was an intellectual gattling gun. Quick. Short. Concise.

Physically bigger than most men, with a great blonde head of hair and wavy hair that made women look through it.

He was a personage. Every inch. You could feel his voice vibrate through you. His presence was more than they feared him.

There was no telling how far he would go. Political parties had already come to him. A billion-dollar corporation had come to him from his executive position with the lure of a yearly salary more than doubled the seventy-five thousand dollars.

The President of the United States had come to him for a position on an important commercial scope. His editorials of the day were by-words.

He was a great person by way of nature.

There usually is a but. So far as his admirers were concerned, the but was small.

Nothing and all that! Harmless. Utterly colorless and pallid. In his own way, he was the equal of any man. She had none. It was rather like sitting about here and there in the company of Henshaw. She was so pale for his sake.

He had married her when he was thirty. There were no freckles and wore side combs. The pale hair was perpetually in the expensive clothes she wore. Some wag put it, like a clothes pin on her.

Apparently one of those cases where a man is so big that he is big enough to Henshaw to know the difference. Henshaw was something of a glittering man, with many friends at his feet, but the mountain side which not one of his closest, had scaled.

One of those men, doomed by very nature, to a certain kind of solitude. There was no telling from Henshaw's exterior what he realized that this marriage was the only deterrent to what might be a career without limitation.

Henshaw received his friends on those occasions when he threw open his home to the rightful role of the one who shared the public functions together.

When the formal nature of the occasion required it, but, more often than not, Henshaw, who had a glitter and a magnificence that were diamond like, went about alone. Even, up to a certain decorous limit, tolerated some of the flirtatious advances of women.

He had always, in his large, impervious and dynamic way, been a woman's man, as well as in every sense of the word a man revered, feared, admired and envied by his own sex.

A dangerous and alluring combination. A woman's man. A man's man. You expected to see a man like Henshaw appear upon the scene with a wife to match his magnificence.

Instead when Lilian Henshaw appeared, with her hair that was graying in its perpetual straggle, her rounded back, carrying to disadvantage the elegance of her plumage, she represented mystery. The mystery of "what does he see in her?"

It was pathetic in its way. Particularly the rather ostentatious deference that Henshaw displayed to her on all occasions. If it hurt him, as it must inevitably have done, to behold this poor little crow of his in among the bird-of-paradise wives, daughters and sweethearts of his associates, he protested it did not, a bit too loudly.

Protested by a special deference to Lilian Henshaw. By seeming a little insolent to the bird-of-paradise women, in order that his deference to Lilian might be more marked.

She did not dance and he remained beside her.

Her tongue was apt to clog in conversation of nervousness and, with one ear cocked, even while he talked to some one else, he was always ready to leap in to help her. She smiled in the rather poor, uncertain way she had socially and he bowed like a cavalier.

There was something quite matchless about the manner in which Henshaw met this one and only defect in the consistency of his magnificence.

As if by virtue of the irrefutable dynamic force of his personality he would disarm all criticism.

But there were limits even to the extent of Henshaw's intellectual dominance of his friends.

Lilian Henshaw was regarded as a dowd. A hopeless impediment in the way of her husband's progress.

"What did he see in her?"

This is what he saw in her, as evidenced by just a casual conversation that took place between them, after Henshaw had returned home from a late public banquet to a visiting dignitary, from which Lilian had begged off.

She was waiting for him in a little room that adjoined their bed room. A small square box of an affair in rather marked contrast to the pleasant luxury of the rest of the house.

It had been an idea of Lilian's that Henshaw needed a room of this kind of stark plainness. To rest his nerves. A room entirely unadorned which she herself had contrived for him.

"The room does for you what I do for you, Henshaw. Rest your nerves."

"You dear!"

This night, when Henshaw came home, Lilian was waiting for him in this room. And yes, it must be admitted, in a gray flannelette wrapper with black frogs down the front.

"Come in here, Hen. I've your ginger beer waiting."

At home and away from the cowering influence of the bird-of-paradise women and their appraising eyes, Lilian's voice was no longer lifeless.

"Good Lord, Lilian, what would I do without you?" said Henshaw, and threw himself down in the straight chair that was designed just to his proportions and stretched out his legs in a way he enjoyed and let his chin sink down in his dress-shirt front and his left arm dangle until he touched the floor.

She gave him his glass of ginger beer and sat down on a plain little stool at his feet.

"I sometimes wonder—Henshaw," she said—"what you would do without me."

There was nothing of humility in Lilian's voice. But humor and assurance and gaiety.

"Without you, Lilian, and your good common sense and your darlingsness about my weaknesses and your brilliant help in writing my editorials and speeches—I know what I'd be—"

"What, you darling old spoiled child, you?"

"I know what I'd be, Lilian. I'd just be the husband of Lilian Henshaw—the most brilliant woman executive in America!"

"Darling boy, you—maybe you would!"

Jack Dempsey May Meet Harry Wills in Quaker City, Is Champ's Latest Remark

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Harry Wills, negro and former stevedore, has again forged ahead of Gene Tunney in the race for the next chance at Jack Dempsey's heavy weight crown, and Philadelphia is in the limelight as the city most highly favored for the battle. This was the result of conferences held here yesterday between Dempsey and two Philadelphia boxing promoters.

Dempsey here for an exhibition match tonight, after conferring for 30 minutes with Herman Taylor and Bob Gunnis, Philadelphia, issued a statement to the Associated Press in which he declared the Quaker city promoters had convinced him that Philadelphia "is the logical place for the match." Dempsey's statement also mentioned Harry Wills as the opponent, and "some time in September, 1926," as the date.

"Something over $500,000," was suggested by the promoters as Dempsey's end of the purse. Taylor and Gunnis told newspapermen after the conference.

Declaring that Floyd Fitzsimmons already has contracts signed by himself and Harry Wills, Dempsey, in his statement, asserted that he would attempt to convince Fitzsimmons that Philadelphia "is the logical place" and that Philadelphia promoters could either buy the contracts from Fitzsimmons or bring Fitzsimmons to Philadelphia to share in promoting the match.

Dempsey said that he was impressed by the fact that the big new arena in Philadelphia would seat over 100,000.

The champion seemed definitely to sidetrack Gene Tunney as his next opponent and to accept Wills as the man who will get the chance.

"I believe the popular demand is for a match between Wills and me," he said. "I am not placing myself in the attitude of picking my next opponent, but the public seems to have been clamoring for a meeting of Wills and me for some time and now I am ready to satisfy them."

Taylor and Gunnis, who expressed themselves as optimistic over Philadelphia's success in securing the match, for a second conference with Dempsey in the Quaker city Feb. 20. Dempsey stressed in his statement the fact that the promoters have assured him there would be no interference with the "mixed" match in Philadelphia.

Following his match tonight, Dempsey, accompanied by his wife, the former Estelle Taylor, moving picture actress, will depart for Denver. They spent their first wedding anniversary here yesterday.

University Athletes Proud Of Four Merrin Boys Who Played For Orange, Blue

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Dartmouth and other colleges may boast of twins on their football teams, but Florida is proud of her four brothers, students of the state institution who have won the highest honors in football.

The name of Merrin in the annals of University of Florida football history will always stand out. Since the season of 1919, every football machine that the university has put out has had, on the regular lineup, one of the four brothers.

Jim Merrin, the oldest, began his football career with Florida in 1919 and won the coveted "F" for two years. He was followed by "Little Joe," who played end on the Gator machine until the close of the 1924 season.

Both Jim and Joe were on the coaching staff of the freshman squad this past season. Jim is assistant pastor of the Gainesville Presbyterian Church, and a graduate student of the university. Joe is in the Engineering College, in the junior class.

This year finds George Merrin with the Gators. He won a numeral. The younger brother, Phil, was awarded a numeral on the freshman outfit.

George will be eligible two more years for the varsity and Phil three, and both will no doubt hold a regular berth.

Hopes For Pennant

Nothing but a pennant will satisfy Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics this year.

The tall leader of the Athletics doesn't take to heart the manner in which the Athletics exploded last season when all the experts had picked the team to win.

"I feared just such a happening," said Mack recently in discussing the failure of his club last year after a great showing to the home stretch.

"The team simply didn't believe strongly enough in itself. Finishing in the cellar for so many years had a psychological influence that handicapped the club severely when the crisis came. It will profit as a result of that experience. I don't think we can be stopped in 1926."

Good Fight Card Promised Fight Fans At National Guard Armory Tonight

Fight fans are expected to turn out in great numbers tonight to witness the card which Henry Godale is putting on at the local armory.

The feature of the evening's milling will be the scrap scheduled between Ted Goodrich, of New Orleans, and Kid Gerner, of Hartford, Conn., wound up to go 10 rounds. The main bout will be preceded by a semi-final between Kid Irving, well known in these parts, and Kid Parlin, who admits coming from Georgia but now claims Sanford as his voting place.

In one of the preliminary bouts "Gob" Scherpe and K. O. Tanner will come together in what is promised to be an interesting match. Another preliminary and a battle royal will start the show.

Goodrich will be appearing in a English ring for the first time, and from the advance publicity he has received in other cities he is expected to show his wares before a large crowd. If Godale's promise is true, the customers are in for a lively evening.

The bout in which some action is almost sure to be seen is the one between Kir Irving and Kid Parlin. Some times and the fans know his ability. He can use his fists at long range and on the infighting, and packs a wallop in either hand. Irving and injured his hand, causing the bout to be stopped in the sixth frame. The milling was about even up to that point with a shade of favor going to Irving. The Sanford boys is having his hand cared for and is being taught more inside fighting and is expected to do some good punching when he gets back in the ring.

"Gob" Scherpe has also appeared here before and was well liked by the folks who bought the paste boards.

Helpful Hints By Golfing Stars

By Special Arrangement with Golfers Magazine Chicago.

Walter Hagen—Begins With Putter

It has been suggested that the ideal way to learn the game is to begin with the putter and work backward to the driver. The beginner would undoubtedly learn a lot faster in this manner and a lot better, too.

For example, if you were to take a person who had never had a golf club in his hand before and place a ball a foot away from the hole and tell him to make the putt, the chances are he would do it. Then gradually lengthen the distance until you had him standing at the edge of the green and you would find that inside of a week he would be a very good putter. Then take up the mashie and teach him how to hit the ball with the club and you would soon have him working to perfection in the art of approaching, and all before he had ever hit a ball from the tee.

When he began to use the wooden club he would know that it was absolutely essential in their use to keep the head down and to follow through. He would also know, if he learned the other shots with the iron clubs, that the club must do the work instead of the body.

Golf Is Recommended By Chicagoan As Aid To Excellent Health

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The artist who paints "The Picture of Health" is golf, according to Dr. Albert F. Henning, surgeon of Olympia Fields Country Club, which has 1,250 members and four 18 hole courses.

As official physician of the club with its great clinical facilities, he has made a study of the health benefits of the game, because, he said there was little else for a golfer's doctor to do.

Dr. Henning has found that the game has proved beneficial to those who get into the game before functional and organic diseases would them.

The only fatal case among the large membership in 10 years was due to a stroke of lightning two years ago and that caused the death of a caddy who did not play golf. The most popular prescription among doctors today is golf, even at an advanced age.

Southern Association Heads Adopt Schedule After All-Night Meet

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 9.—(AP)—After an all-night executive session directors of the Southern Association early today adopted an official 1926 playing schedule.

Each team in the association will play 154 games, half of that number on home fields. The season will start April 13 and will, in most instances, end Sept. 9.

All during the night the executives discussed the suggested schedule which has been presented by a schedule committee for their consideration. Numerous changes were made from time to time until at 2:15 o'clock this morning a vote for adjournment was defeated and the conference again took up what was understood to be minor complaints of a number of teams.

At 4:15 o'clock the question before the meeting was the adoption of the revised schedule. The vote, it was understood, was six to two, which was the necessary three-fourths majority. The meeting then adjourned.

James Cox, farmer, of White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., had a severe coughing spell and coughed up a needle.

Loughran of Philadelphia beat A. D. Stone of Philadelphia, 10; Bobby Marlett of Baltimore, knocked out Steve Ketchel of New York, 1; Bout between Vic McLaughlin of New York and Rocky Smith of Battie Creek, stopped in seventh round.

BILLY EVANS Says

Michigan Centers

In football, Michigan has always been noted for turning out high-class centers. It seems to be a habit.

In recent years two Michigan centers have been All-American choices. I have reference to Jack Blott and Ernie Vick.

Great players, they deserved all the honors handed them, yet I am convinced that a certain amount of luck goes with even so mythical an honor as the All-American eleven.

Last year in Zob Brown Michigan had a center whom I regarded as the equal if not the superior to Blott or Vick, yet Brown did not attain the prestige that went to the other two stars.

Some western critics gave Tim Lowrey the preference over Brown in Big Ten circles, while McMillen of Princeton was generally rated higher in the All-American selections.

In addition to being a great center, Brown was the ideal fighting captain, who inspired a never-say-die spirit that did much to make the 1925 Michigan team an outstanding eleven.

Coach Yost regards it as the best team he ever coached; quite some compliment when you consider the many famous teams he has turned out.

ALL-AMERICAN SELECTION

Recently in discussing football with Coach George Little, who had such a big first year at Wisconsin, I brought up the play of Bob Brown.

Little, who formerly assisted Yost in football at Michigan, is familiar with the play of Vick and

LENGLEN ODDS DROP 2 POINTS SINCE SUNDAY

Soft Lobbing Shots By U. S. Star Have Given Way To Shots With Plenty Steam

CANES, France, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The odds on Suzanne Lenglen to defeat Helen Wills in singles have dropped. Last week odds were one was being offered with few takers, that Miss Lenglen would prove unbeatable.

Miss Wills dropping the soft lobbing shots to which many spectators attributed her defeat in the mixed doubles at Nice Sunday against Suzanne yesterday put so much steam on the ball that when she had defeated Miss Ethel Fisher of England, in two love sets, she also had knocked off two points in the odds. The best that anyone could hear whispered last night was five to one.

Suzanne did not grace the stands to see Miss Mills serve sizzling shots. The French Flash had drawn a bye and remained away from the courts.

Not a single game went to deuce, Miss Wills lost only 13 points, five in the first set and eight in the second, and yet she apparently did not extend herself to defeat the English girl. After the match was played Helen was pleased with her showing and naively said she expected to reach the top of her playing form around Wednesday or Thursday.

It is the expectation of the concessionaire of the Carlton Tournament to make a bit of money out of the tournament, aside from the gate receipts. He has sold the motion picture rights to the expected match Saturday between Miss Wills and Mills. Lenglen to an American firm for a sum said to exceed $100,000.

Miss Wills said that the deal was news to her. "I never bother about moving pictures," remarked Miss Lenglen.

How to stop BOILS!

There's only one way to stop boils. Stop the cause of boils! That's common sense—let's try it! All right. Boils thrive because the blood gets so weak in healthy, red cells that it can't throw off the impurities that get into the body. There's not enough rich, red blood to purify the system.

Now—S. S. S. builds back the blood to fighting strength. S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells—builds them by the millions! Boils dry up!

S. S. S. is the thing. Impurities that cause boils and other skin eruptions can't stand up against the rich, healthy, red blood that S. S. S. builds. That's all there is to it.

Stop boils with S. S. S. It's the way. Get it at any druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

America's Athletes 'Clean Up' In International Games At Madison Square Gardens

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(P)—Hubert Houben, of Germany, Adrian Paulen, of Holland and German and Don Goodwin, of England, were defeated by American athletes at the Milrose A. A. games in Madison Square Garden last night.

Charles Hoff, stern black haired performer from Norway, eclipsed the indoor mark for the pole vault of 13 feet made by Nelson Sherill, of Pennsylvania in 1925. After winning the event at 12 feet, 9 inches Hoff made one successful record attempt, the bar being placed at 13 feet, one inch. He cleared it easily.

Hoff placed third in the Milrose 300 yard run, finishing behind Alan Helffrich, former Penn State star, and Johnnie Gibson, of Fordham. Paulen finished fourth.

Gordon Goodwin, of England, was outclassed by the American champion, Willie Plant, in a three mile walk, but got third place after Plant had dropped out due to a strained ligament in his right leg. Harry Henkle and Mack Weiss of New York were too much for the Englishman.

Adventures of the Twins

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NO. 1—THE LAND OF THE BLUE CHERRY

THE Fairy Queen telephoned for the twins to go to her palace at once as she had a very important errand for them to do. So they lost no time in hunting up her secret dwelling place, which was south of the Dingle Dell, north of the Windy Wold, west of the Blistering Glade and east of the Sizzling Sun.

“How do you do, my dears!” said the Fairy Queen when they arrived. “I’m very happy to see you.”

“Can’t he stop?” asked Nick. “It seems not,” said the Fairy Queen. “He’s written the A. B. C. in twenty languages, the dictionary twice, and added up all the numbers in the telephone book. I’m ever so afraid that he’ll begin on ‘Forty-nine Blue Bottles—Hanging-on-the-Wall.’ If he does all is lost, for that poem has no end.”

He just sits with a pen in his hand and writes and writes and writes all the time.

“Yes, indeed,” said the Fairy Queen quickly. “That is why I sent for you, Doctor Pulsen Pills and Doctor Sniffles, the two fairy doctors for whom I sent at once, say that there is a cure for ink drinking. It is a blue cherry.”

At that minute Doctor Sniffles himself walked into the room. And upon hearing the Fairy Queen’s last words, he remarked, “Yes, a blue cherry is the only cure for our poor friend, as it was blue ink he drank, he had drunk red ink, any cherry would do to cure him. But unfortunately it was blue ink. Even black ink would have been less difficult to cure, for there are black cherries in plenty. Or green ink would have been—poof!—nothing at all!”

Dear Ed: I hold no brief for suspenders that from time immemorial have been a more or less important part of man’s wardrobe. I agree with the man who claims that suspenders are a nuisance, especially if a man is fortunate enough to own two pairs of pants. In fact, for many years my idea of great wealth and prodigal opulence has been for a man to be able to have a pair of suspenders for every pair of pants that he owns. I recognize the drawbacks of the suspenders as well as their uplifting service for men. But I am not any enthusiastic advocate and defender of the suspender. If a man wants to wear a belt

(AP)—In value of the plot for steel mill purposes since it was impractical to build furnaces around the Chicago street, leaving open a pathway to the street, and the land still is empty.

Drawn into the army of Blucher, who beat Marshal Ney in the race for Waterloo, Andreus, then 18 years old, lost an arm in the historic struggle to overthrow Napoleon.

A few years later he followed many of his countrymen to America, and, a fisherman by trade, resumed his livelihood at Chicago.

In the early '50s, fishing seems to have been a fairly prosperous business, for he soon was able to purchase considerable property in South Chicago, besides caring for a growing family.

The Civil War started his sons in the Union army, after his death, and the great Chicago fire in 1871 wiped out whatever legal trace there was of his ownership of the land—except for the weather-stained wooden marker surmounted by a cross which still testifies that Andreus Zirngibl is buried there.

Engine development has progressed toward its ultimate goal of one pound per horse power. New water-cooled engines weigh one and a small fraction pounds per horse power. A valuable contribution to this branch of air navigation was the air-cooled Liberty engine.

Bombing under conditions formerly considered unfavorable both as to height and clarity of the atmosphere was improved by a new bomb sight. Effective results can now be obtained at a height of from 10,000 to 20,000 feet, well above the present actual danger zone of anti-aircraft guns.

High-powered incandescent lights have been developed to supplant carbon arcs in aerial beacons, airdrome floodlight and landing field illumination.

Three new instruments, the earth induction compass, the drift sight and the flight indicator are being perfected for course flying through fogs and above clouds. A sensitive altimeter has been developed for aiding in aerial photography work.

New aerial map-making centers have been invented and developed. Night aerial pictures are now being taken with the aid of flashlight powder dropped from planes. Mapping of air mail lanes and photographing of agricultural fields for crop reports has been successfully undertaken.

FOSSILIZED FISH RESPONSIBLE FOR TEXAS INDUSTRY

Shale Discovered in What Is Believed To Be Ancient Sea Bed Has Oil Extracted Which Is Used In Medicines

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 9. (AP)—Fossilized remains of prehistoric fish, from which is produced the strange chemical called ichthyol, are to supply Texas with an ultra-modern industry.

In what is believed to be an ancient ocean bed, pushed to the surface by geological action, near Burnet in West Texas, has been discovered a particular shale from which ichthyol is extracted. This substance is a fossil fish oil used in medicine, especially in ointments and in treatment of skin diseases.

The bulk of the world's supply previously came from Austria, where the industry flourished prior to the World War. An ichthyol corporation has been organized and has leased 800 acres near Burnet. The shale lies close to the surface so that the burden of earth may be removed with steam shovels. Where unexposed, the shale is plastic, having the appearance of asphalt. On the surface it resembles rock.

The company expects each acre to bear about 20,000 tons of shale. Each ton will produce about 125 pounds of ichthyol. The officials expect their plant to reach 1,000 pounds a day by July 1. They estimate the probable demand for the chemical in the United States at about 600,000 pounds a year. By-products, such as shellac, paint, and disinfectant, are to be produced. The chemical, compounded of sulfonated hydrocarbons, has sold as high as $80 a pound.

Paris Salon Where Donkey Exhibited In Danger Of Losing All Members

PARIS, Feb. 9. (AP)—Nine of the twenty members forming the committee of the Independents' Salon have resigned, bringing this body's existence into a critical state.

The "Independents" have gathered most fame or perhaps notoriety as the home of every freak school of painting and the haunt of the "fauves" or savages who recognize no rules, and observe no traditions. It was at their salon that a picture painted by a donkey once was shown.

Several young artists, tied a paint brush to the donkey's tail and encouraged the animal to swish it over a canvas, conveniently placed, the brush being dipped into various paints from time to time.

Such a trick was possible as no jury passes on the pictures shown by members at their annual salon, so that the donkey's effort only had to be sent in as the work of "Monsieur Aliboron" whose subscription and the small fee exacted from exhibitors were duly paid.

There are some 3,000 inscribed members and an Independents' Salon presents between 6,000 and 7,000 pictures at this Salon, 5,000 can be left aside as of no real interest and then the remaining 100 should be carefully sorted.

Jersey Authorities Find Body Of Young Woman In Sea Of Ice

PAULBORO, N. J., Feb. 8. (AP)—County authorities were today trying to establish the identity of a young woman whose body, clad in a union suit and one stocking, was found encased in a cake of ice in the Delaware River yesterday.

A post mortem examination revealed that the young woman whose age was believed to have been between 25 and 35 years, was murdered.

The skull was fractured. The forehead was gashed. Other evidence tended to show that the woman was dead before the body was thrown into the water. The coroner suggested that perhaps she had been thrown overboard from a vessel, after a terrible beating.

John Koehler, a youth, discovered the body while walking along the river with two companions. It was necessary to use axes to free the body from the ice. A religious emblem hung about the neck, but no other mark of identification was found.

Smocks With Underskirt of Velvet Approved By Bandel

To the left you see Miss Foster wearing turban of metal cloth and on the right she wears one of the new long tunics that are so very practical.

is exceedingly smart and may be worn for formal wear.

The one photographed on Claireborne Foster is of metal cloth in shades of coral and gold worn over black velvet. Smocking at either side of the waistline gives the slim young silhouette and achieves the belted appearance about the hips which is so very youthful and slenderizing.

The smocking is repeated on the sleeves and forms the new bell shape that is rivaling in popularity the fitted sleeves.

To achieve that "different" effect in an evening frock, I find tulle a valuable agent. It lends itself to many original arrangements, and is so illustrative and feminine that it makes any young woman more interesting.

The evening frock shown today of flame colored moire is very slim and narrow with a shallow yoke of tulle. About the hem is added a width of tulle that gives the transparent effect this season sponsors so enthusiastically.

Many yards of tulle are used in this bouffant effect which frames a huge coral rose at the hip. The frock of today does not overlook the decorative. If there is not a sash at the side or a bustle in the back there is an ornament, somewhere to focus the attention.

The evening wrap is always important and the newest ones for Palm Beach give us a very good idea of what the summer wraps will be like.

I always urge upon women to realize the importance of the sheer wrap as an adjunct to style. The gown for daytime or evening is always more elegant and smarter when accompanied by a wrap even when the wrap is no more than a filmy bit of chiffon or brocade that adds no warmth whatever.

And even on the warmest days, the smart woman has a semblance of a wrap to complete her ensemble. The evening wrap photographed is a Palm Beach model, which will also be used this spring and summer. It is of deep coral and silver tulle outlined with beige marabout. The cape is on circular lines and has the easy graceful swing that the spring wraps will have.

With this cape one naturally selects the turban of dull cloth of gold as an accompaniment. chasers of homes and property. "If you want your community to become and remain really active, you must eliminate your pestiferous mosquitoes. Well directed mosquito elimination is an investment that pays excellent returns and increases the income of the city and county.

"In 1925 two more railroads have started mosquito control campaigns because it pays and because it has increased the profits of other railroads that undertook similar work before."

Lone Civil War Veteran In Congress Pays Honor To Confederate Officer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—A stirring tribute to Major General J. E. Stuart, the great cavalry leader of the confederate army, was paid in the house today by Representative Stedman, of North Carolina, who wore the gray and is the only civil war veteran in Congress.

Major Stedman, himself accorded an ovation in the house a few days ago on his 85th birthday, took the occasion of the 83rd anniversary of General Stuart's birth to deliver the eulogy.

Major Stedman gave a sketch of General Stuart's career, which ended in death from wounds, suffered at Yellow Tavern, near Richmond, in the spring of 1864.

"My heart prompts me," said Major Stedman, "on this, his 83rd birthday, to express my admiration for a man, whose memory I shall ever cherish, whose life was one of unflinching courage, of unswerving heroism, of rare self-denial—life without stain and without reproach.

"The forces of moral power have controlled during all ages the destinies of nations. From their influence comes a supreme sense of duty. Without this the legions of Lee would not have struggled in vain for so long a time to roll back the tide of invasion across the banks of the Potomac and the marvelous campaign of Stonewall

Jackson would have found no place upon the pages of history to read forever with a romantic luster the beautiful valley of Virginia. Without it the great charge at Chancellorsville led by General Stuart would not have brought victory, but only disaster and ruin.

"As a military commander he had all the qualities requisite for success. As a commander of cavalry he had no superior and few equals, if any in either army. General Sedgwick, an officer of high repute in the United States army, said, 'Stuart is the best cavalry officer ever born in North America.'

"During the war between the states in the two campaigns most disastrous to the federal army—that of General McClellan in his unsuccessful attempt to capture Richmond and that of General Pope—Stuart contributed largely to the final result. He made the entire circuit of both armies and furnished information of the highest importance to confederate headquarters.

"Military critics have pronounced the battle of Chancellorsville the most brilliant of the many victories won by General Robert E. Lee. It has been called the tactical masterpiece of the nineteenth century. This battle will never be blended with the name and fame of General Stuart."

St. Lucie County May Vote Expenses To Rid Sections Of Mosquitoes This Week

FORT PIERCE, Feb. 9.—(AP)—National as well as state-wide attention will be focused on St. Lucie county this week when property owners vote on the proposed $500,000 bond issue to finance the eradication of mosquitoes. Those in charge of the war on the "winged pest" say that the bond issue will carry by an overwhelming majority and that this county will be the first in Florida to wage an active campaign against the mosquito.

"Tell the world that we have got mosquitoes—plenty of them, but we are going to get rid of them," was the editorial advice of the Fort Pierce News-Tribune several months ago. Leaders of the community saw the wisdom of the advice and, in less than a week a large fund was raised to finance a survey.

Expert Employed Col. William D. Wrightson, son-in-law of General Gorkas, who cleaned up Panama, was brought to Fort Pierce. He designated the peninsula across the Indian River as the breeding area of the mosquitoes. He slashed them as salt water mosquitoes.

Since that time a survey of the entire island in the county limits has been made by Col. Wrightson and he reports that at several times during the year a considerable portion of the island would be flooded by high tides. As the water receded it left pools and in these pools the mosquitoes hatched, he explained. He recommended that a dike of sufficient height be erected along the western contour of the island to stop the overflow. The water inside the dike would be connected by ditches into a main center and pumped out. He was confident of the best results.

Col. Wrightson was recommended by leading men throughout the country. J. LePrince, of Memphis, Tenn., says: "Wrightson was with me in Panama where his work was most creditable. His associates spoke highly of his accomplishments in South America. His work during the war gave us a health record in our southern camps that is a credit to the nation. In Alabama, where others failed, he promptly got the desired results at a low cost."

"I am leaving the city directly after the picture is finished, going immediately to the station from the mill. I wonder if you'll let me tell you how very much I esteem your friendship, Mrs. Prescott? There's nothing in this world I value so much. You have been the one woman who has not disappointed me."

"Surely, Miss Perier, you could not be disappointed in yourself! You have been so brilliantly successful!"

"I think I am most disappointed in myself, Mrs. Prescott. I have done those things always which I ought not to have done and left undone those things which I ought to have done."

"I'm sure you don't mean all that, Miss Perier."

"Yes, every word of it. They have come after me, so I'll have to say good-bye. Will you tell Mrs. Atherton how little Jack is from day to day until he is completely recovered? I'm sure Sally will wire me about it. Good-bye, Mrs. Prescott."

"Good-bye. I hope you'll get through beautifully today and your life forever after will be passed in pleasant places."

"Thank you, Mrs. Prescott."

Telephone Conversation Between Mr. John Alden Prescott and Leslie Prescott

"We're just going into the mill, dear. How is little Jack?"

"He's much better, John. Doctor Savage says he's surely going to be all right."

"I wish the damn thing were all over, Leslie."

"Why, what is the matter with you, Jack? Surely you know that you have everything at the mill in readiness and you said you had everything inspected very carefully."

"Yes, I know, Leslie, but I rather wish you'd come down. You are always just a comfort to have around, dear."

"Now, don't be nervous, Jack. Call me up as soon as you get everything over. I just had a telephone call from Miss Perier. She's leaving directly after the sequence is finished."

"I really wish she could have gone before. I don't know what made me give my consent to this silly performance."

"Don't be grouchy, dear. Go on and do your little work and I'll be here waiting for you at dinner time."

"Thank God, Leslie, I always find you waiting for me. If I did not know you were there I do not think I would want to live."

Work Begins This Week

to encircle every bit of ocean, bay, river and inland waterway frontage at

FIFTEEN miles of reinforced concrete sea wall to encircle every bit of waterfront on Davis Shores will be started this week under the direction of W. N. McDonald, former United States engineer and builder of the famous Malecon sea wall and drive at Havana, Cuba.

The Davis Shores sea wall will cost $1,486,000 and will be completed in one year. With the sea wall now being built about Davis Islands in Tampa, this constitutes the biggest bulkheading engineering job now in progress in the world!

The sea wall about Davis Shores will be built of many thousands of slabs of concrete and steel, each of which weighs nearly two tons. These slabs are 18 feet long, 27 inches wide and eight inches thick. They are set upright with a crane and jettied into place by high-pressure pumps.

On the ocean side of Davis Shores the sea wall will be 10 feet high, insuring forever the integrity of Anastasia Island and the historic harbor of St. Augustine. Engineers studied weather and tide charts of St. Augustine for 50 years back before designing the wall.

Such intensity of development operations, the $5,000,000 building program for 1926, and such immensity of engineering plans are making Davis Shores known throughout the land. With Davis Islands it is the most fascinating engineering project ever attempted.

Sales totaled $18,714,600 in one day when the last of this magnetic property was placed on the market. It is the most-sought property in Florida today—the type that will always be in great demand—that will bring big profits to its owners through re-sale for years to come!

Modern Check Of Assessed Valuation Of Sanford Will Be Finished At Early Date

That the assessed valuation of the city will be increased to a nearly exact figure possible to assemble, owing to the fact that the city sometimes ago employed an expert to check up on the increased building operations and the new additions to the city, was the opinion expressed today by L. Phillips, city clerk. Mr. Phillips said today that the great increase in building, the rising property values, and the new additions to the city required an amount of time necessary to do an assessment roll which he found it impossible to handle alone. The man whom the city put on the job has almost completed the task, it is said, and the results will appear on the rolls for 1926.

have been erected on lots which, under the 1925 assessment rolls, were rated as vacant. Dr. Phillips said, "It was necessary for the city to check the lots against the building permits issued during the past year in order to get the correct assessment on the new buildings."

The new assessed valuation will be of great help to the city in floating the $2,000,000 bond issue, provided the voters of the city accept it at the polls on May 19, it is believed by officials and leading business men.

The law allows a limit of 15 per cent on the assessed valuation for the purpose of issuing the municipal bonds, and the increase this year will allow ample margin between the law's allowance and the valuation, it is said.
